Churchill, who with President Truman is struggling with Premier Stalin at the moment over the badly tangled Polish situation, also caught attention here with these words:

"On the continent of Europe we have yet to make sure that the simple and honorable purposes for which we entered the war are not brushed aside or overlooked in the months following our success, and the words freedom, democracy and liberation are not distorted from their true meaning as we have understood them."

Foreign Minister T. V. Soong of China has been in Washington but is expected back for most or all of the conference, and Secretary of State Stettinius likewise will see it through, though he may have to go to Washington briefly.

A dispatch from the Chinese capital said that Soong might visit Moscow to try to ascertain Soviet intentions in Eastern Asia.

Problems of the Pacific are cropping up, particularly true with respect to trusteeships. The United States, with an eye on future Pacific bases in islands captured from Japan, is opposing the Soviet suggestion that the security council would have to approve such developments.

A solution of the other big conference problem—how to tie regional defense systems into a world league—appears much closer. It is recognized that the Pan-American system will have to be given power to act in emergency but that the authority of the world council will remain supreme.

Nations Rule Out Discussion Of Palestine

Conference Committee To Keep Represented Countries From Prejudicing Jews' Status.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 14—(AP)—Palestine has been ruled out as a topic of discussion at the United Nations conference, it was revealed today by Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand.

Fraser, who heads the trusteeships committee, told a news conference, however, that the countries represented here would guard carefully against prejudicing the status of Palestine during their talks aimed at setting up new mandate machinery.

"No power wants to alter the situation of any mandate without consulting the people directly concerned," he assured.

Received Documents

Fraser said he had received several documents asking that Palestine's status be protected at the conference here.

Strong objections have been lodged with the British government by Jewish organizations to the invitation just issued by the new league of Arab states for Palestine to join their bloc.

Dr. Nahum Goldman, representative for the Jewish agency for Palestine at the League of Nations, said today a majority of the world's Jewish organizations fear that any move by the Arab league to recognize Palestine as an Arab state might prejudice the Jewish desire to gain Palestine as a free Jewish homeland.

He told a news conference the Jews wish to protect the unique mandate under which Palestine was ruled during the life of the old League of Nations. The Palestinian mandate, Goldman said, specifically states, that Palestine should be ruled for the benefit of Jews outside Palestine, rather than for the people inside it.

To Safe-guard Rights

The conference also is being asked to safe-guard the rights of Jewish people to immigrate into Palestine, in whatever trusteeship program is written here. A British white paper of 1939, Goldman said, has practically stopped their immigration rights.

The Jewish organizations are asking further that whatever "temporary mandate" for Palestine is set up shall carry provisions for "reciprocal" trade arrangements. Goldman said the old mandate left Palestine open as a world market with the result that Japan and Germany dumped cheap goods.

Goldman said he spoke for these organizations: the Jewish Agency for Palestine, the World Jewish Congress, the American Jewish Conference, the Board of Deputies of British Jews, the Canadian Jewish Congress, the Central Jewish Committee of Argentina and the Central Jewish Committee of Mexico.

Prague In Running For World Capital

San Francisco, May 14 (AP)—The Soviet Union was reported today to have suggested that the Czechoslovakian capital of Prague become the seat of the new United Nations organization.

A municipal delegation from Philadelphia will reach San Francisco tomorrow to press the claim of that cradle of American independence to be the new world capital.

U.S. Cities Ambitious

The question of a permanent location for the international organization is expected to come up for a decision by the United Nations conference after all amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks proposals have been cleared.

Reports circulated that the Russians had indicated they favored Prague, although they were understood earlier to support Vienna. The Czech delegation said it had heard Prague mentioned in general conversation, but had received no instructions from its Government and had taken no position on the subject.

A United States official estimated 45 American cities wanted to become the new "Geneva," but, Philadelphia was apparently putting on the strongest campaign.

POWER OF COURT PARLEY PROBLEM

San Francisco, May 14 (A. P.).—The statute of a new international court of justice may be presented to the United Nations Assembly for approval within ten days.

Members of the Drafting Committee said today that all points had been agreed on tentatively with the exception of "obligatory jurisdiction." Thus far, committee delegates have been unable to agree on whether the court's decisions will be binding or merely advisory.

The "obligatory jurisdiction" question, which would force a nation to bring its disputes to the court, occasioned another showdown. The small nations favor compulsory jurisdiction. The big powers have hedged on this point. Small nation delegates on the committee contend that if this article is not included in the statute, the new court will have no power. The small nations insist that it is their right to bring a big power into court.

The committee has agreed to propose to the conference that the new court be established at The Hague, site of the old court.

London, May 14 (AP)—The brussels radio said tonight a strike of coal miners had created a fuel shortage compelling the restriction of street cars, regional railway service and industrial operations throughout Belgium.

a proclamation by the minister of communications said the "present stocks of coal do not allow the maintenance of street cars either in brussels or in the provinces on a normal scale."

beginning tomorrow, street cars, regional railways and electric

OKINAWA, MAY 14-(AP)-SINCE APRIL 26 PRIVATEER PLANES OF FLEET AIR WING ONE HAVE SUNK 23 SHIPS AND DAMAGED 30 OTHERS, CMDR. ARTHUR F. FARWELL REPORTED TODAY.

MANY OF THE SHIPS LISTED AS DAMAGED PROBABLY WERE SUNK, SAID THE SQUADRON LEADER, WHO LIVES AT (531 SOUTH SECOND ST) PENSACOLA, FLA.

MAY 15 1945

LT. MARK V. MONTGOMERY, OF TUNNEL HILL, GA., AND MEMPHIS, TENN., HAD A JAPANESE FREIGHTER BLOWN UP 500 FEET AHEAD OF HIM WHILE HE WAS AT A 200 FOOT ELEVATION. HIS TRACERS TOUCHED OFF AMMUNITION OR FUEL ON HER DECK. THE DEBRIS CUT ONE GASOLINE LINE. WHEN HE LANDED HE FOUND PIECES OF WOOD AND A JAPANESE KINGPIN WITH EIGHT FEET OF HAWSER IN THE PLANE.

OPERATIONS OFFICER LT. EDWIN KYLE, OF NEW IBEIA, ALA., SAID THE PRIVATEERS ARE GETTING MUCH MORE AA-FIRE THAN WHEN THEY FIRST STARTED -- SURPRISE BEING ONE OF THE ADVANTAGES OF THE EARLIER RAIDS. AERIAL INTERCEPTION IS NEGLIGIBLE.

THE PRIVATEERS HAVE AN ADDED TOP TURRET AND TEARDROP SIDE TURRETS SO THEY CAN FIRE DOWN, UP, FORWARD AND BACKWARD.

"WE PACK THE SAME WALLOP AS THE B-29S AND THE JAPS KNOW IT," SAID FARWELL.

FARWELL'S PLANE WAS DITCHED, MAY 9, ALONG THE KOREAN COAST AFTER HE LEFT A MEDIUM-SIZED CARGO SHIP LISTING FROM TWO BOMB HITS, DAMAGED A MEDIUM OILER, SHOT DOWN A JAPANESE PLANE AND DROPPED A 500-POUND BOMB ON AN OILER.

THE SHIPS' ANTIAIRCRAFT FIRE KNOCKED OUT TWO ENGINES AND SET A THIRD AFIRE AND FARWELL LANDED TEN MILES OFF THE COAST. ALL MEN GOT OUT AND THE PLANE SANK IN 30 MINUTES. A PBM, FLOWN BY LT. PAUL HERBOLD, MINNEAPOLIS, PICKED THEM UP IN 25 MINUTES.

TWO DAYS EARLIER, MAY 7, FARWELL AND LT. NORMAN KEISER, OF BINGHAMTON, N.Y., FLEW UP THE KOREAN COAST MARKING TARGETS THEY'D HIT ON THE WAY BACK. AT KUNSAN FU AIRFIELD, THEY SAW A JAPANESE TRANSPORT PLANE GOING IN FOR A LANDING. BOTH PRIVATEERS MACHINEGUNNED IT AND SAW IT FLATTEN AND EXPLODE; A TWIN-ENGINE NICK WAS JUST TAXIING TO THE RUNWAY AND THEY GOT IT; THEY SHOT DOWN ANOTHER, AND ON THE WAY HOME SANK TWO SHIPS TOTALLING 9,000 TONS AND DAMAGED THREE TOTALLING 12,600 TONS FOR A DAY'S WORK.

OTHER PRIVATEER PILOTS WHOSE 12-MAN CREWS SHOT DOWN A JAPANESE PLANE EACH INCLUDE LTS. PHIL PETTES, CHICAGO AND AUGUST M. LODATO, BROOKLYN, N.Y. (STREET ADDRESSES NOT AVILABLE).

SAN FRANCISCO, MAY 14-(AP)-WAVES OF CARRIER PLANES FROM TWO U.S. TASK FORCES SWEPT OVER AIRDROMES ON SOUTHERN JAPAN TODAY FOR THE SECOND STRAIGHT DAY, TOKYO RADIO REPORTED AS A RECORD FORMATION OF SUPERFORTS BOMBED INDUSTRIAL NAGOYA.

UNCONFIRMED JAPANESE BROADCASTS, RECORDED BY THE FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION IN SAN FRANCISCO, SAID THE TWO-DAY CARRIER STRIKE WAS PRECEDED BY AND COORDINATED WITH LAND-BASED AERIAL SORTIES AGAINST KYUSHU, SOUTHERNMOST ISLAND OF JAPAN.

SEABORNE AIRCRAFT BEGAN THEIR ATTACK AT 5:30 A.M. SUNDAY, THE BROADCASTS SAID, AND FOR EIGHT AND A HALF HOURS 900 AMERICAN PLANES IN 14 WAVES HAMMERED AT KYUSHU AIRDROMES. THEY WERE BACK AGAIN EARLY TODAY. EXTENDING THEIR RAIDS TO AIRFIELDS ON NEIGHBORING SHIKOKU AND SOUTHERN HONSHU ISLANDS.

THEY CAME, TOKYO SAID, FROM TWO NAVAL TASK FORCES MANEUVERING SEVERAL HUNDRED MILES SOUTHEAST OF JAPAN. EACH WAS REPORTEDLY BUILT AROUND TWO OR THREE CARRIERS AND A LIKE NUMBER OF BATTLESHIPS.

NIPPONESE PROPAGANDISTS CLAIMED COUNTERATTACKING JAPANESE PLANES INFLICTED "CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE" ON U.S. NAVAL UNITS YESTERDAY, "AND ARE AT PRESENT CARRYING OUT A FIERCE ATTACK ON THE ENEMY GROUP OF CARRIERS AND BATTLESHIPS."

THE CARRIER PLANE STRIKE, RADIO TOKYO REPORTED WAS PRECEDED BY AN ATTACK SATURDAY NIGHT BY 30 FIGHTERS AND PATROL BOMBERS, BELIEVED TO BE FROM OKINAWA. "A SMALL FORMATION" OF B-29S REPORTEDLY HIT KYUSHU SUNDAY, SIMULTANEOUSLY WITH THE SEABORNE RAID.

ANXIOUS TO BE THE FIRST TO ANNOUNCE THE ATTACKS, JAPANESE PROPAGANDISTS WERE EVEN MORE EAGER TO BELITTLE THE EFFECTS OF AMERICAN AIR BLOWS.

AN IMPERIAL COMMUNIQUE ADMITTED MANY FIRES WERE STARTED TODAY IN NAGOYA BY 400 SUPERFORTS (B-29 HEADQUARTERS SAID THERE 500 SUPERFORTS) BUT CLAIMED MOST OF THEM WERE EXTINGUISHED BY NOON.

THE HEAVY CARRIER RAIDS ON KYUSHU WERE EXPLAINED BY THE TOKYO NEWSPAPER YOMIURI HOCHI AS NECESSARY "TO ASSIST THE HARD-PRESSED ENEMY IN THE OKINAWAS" BECAUSE "THERE IS NO EFFECTIVE DEFENSE AGAINST OUR AIR RAMMERS EXCEPT TO POUND AT THEIR BASES BEFORE THEY HOP OFF."

MAY 15 1945

YOMIURI HOCHI TOLD ITS READERS, WHO HAVEN'T HEARD AMERICAN COMMUNIQUES REPORTING SLOW BUT STEADY U.S. ADVANCES ON OKINAWA, THAT "THE ENEMY ON THE OKINAWAS ARE ALREADY SO EXHAUSTED THAT THEY WILL BE GREATLY IMPERILED IN CASE JAPANESE REINFORCEMENTS LAND ON THE OKINAWAS."

GOVERNORS OF JAPAN'S 46 PREFECTURES CONFERRING IN TOKYO WITH PREMIER KANTARO SUZUKI AND HIS CABINET WERE QUOTED BY THE NEWSPAPER MAINICHI AS MINIMIZING THE EFFECT OF U.S. RAIDS.

FUMIO TAKUWAUE SAID THAT SINCE HE BECAME GOVERNOR OF KAGOSHIMA PREFECTURE IN KYUSHU "THERE HAS NOT BEEN ONE DAY DURING WHICH AN AIR RAID SIREN HAS NOT SOUNDED" BUT INSISTED THERE WAS "NO CONCERN OVER THE ENEMY AIR RAIDS" BECAUSE DESTRUCTION HAS BEEN CONFINED TO "MINOR DAMAGES SUFFERED IN THE VICINITY OF AIR BASES."

TADAYOSHI OBATA, GOVERNOR OF AICHI PREFECTURE WHICH INCLUDES NAGOYA, WAS DESCRIBED AS FEELING "VERY HAPPY TO FIND THAT DAMAGES SUFFERED FROM ENEMY AIR RAIDS IS FAR SMALLER THAN AT FIRST ESTIMATED."

TODAY'S MIGHTY BLOW AGAINST JAPAN BY MORE THAN 500 SUPERFORTRESSES REFLECTS RAPID GROWTH IN THE SIZE OF B-29 FLEETS THROWN AGAINST NIPPON SINCE THE FIRST SUPERFORT RAID ON JUNE 14, 1944.

AT THAT TIME A PRE-DAWN FLIGHT OF B-29S, FLYING FROM BASES IN CHINA, CONCENTRATED ON THE BIG YAWATA STEEL WORKS ON KYUSHU. THERE WAS NO REPORT ON THE SIZE OF THE FORCE, BUT IT PROBABLY DID NOT EXCEED 40 PLANES.

THREE WEEKS LATER, ON JULY 7, B-29S HIT THE SASEBO NAVAL BASE, THE YAWATA PLANT AND THE OMURA INDUSTRIAL CENTER, ALL ON KYUSHU. THIS FORCE LIKELY WAS ALSO ABOUT TWO-SCORE SUPERFORTRESSES IN STRENGTH.

THE RAIDS STEPPED UP IN STRENGTH LAST AUG. 20, WITH 77 PLANES HITTING KYUSHU IN 10 WAVES. THE FIRST LARGE B-29 FLEET TO HIT JAPAN RAIDED KYUSHU NOV. 11. THIS FORCE WAS BY 100 TO 150 PLANES.

ON NOV.24 THE B-29S BEGAN OPERATING FROM NEWLY-CONQUERED BASES IN THE MARIANAS.

SINCE THEN SUPERFORT FLEETS OF 150, 200, 250 AND 300 PLANES HAVE BEEN COMMON. THE RAID BY MORE THAN 400 SUPERFORTS ON HONSHU AND KYUSHU ISLANDS MAY 7 HAD BEEN THE LARGEST FORCE YET THROWN AGAINST NIPPON--UNTIL TODAY.

WASHINGTON, MAY 14-(AP)-CHAIRMAN ANDERSON (D-NM) OF THE HOUSE FOOD COMMITTEE DECLARED TODAY CUBA HAS REFUSED TO SELL ITS 1946 SUGAR CROP TO THIS COUNTRY UNLESS THE GOVERNMENT AGREES TO BUY 1947 PRODUCTION AS WELL.

ANDERSON MADE THE ASSERTION DURING THE TESTIMONY OF MANUEL RIONDA, CUBAN SUGAR BROKER, WHO APPEARED IN THE COMMITTEE'S INVESTIGATION OF A U.S. SUGAR SHORTAGE.

RIONDA SAID HE KNEW OF NO CURRENT NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THIS COUNTRY AND CUBA FOR THE PURCHASE OF CUBA'S 1946 SUGAR CROP, BUT SAID THE MATTER HAS BEEN DISCUSSED WITH REPRESENTATIVES OF THE COMMODITY CREDIT CORP.

"CUBA CAN SELL ITS 1946 CROP TO THE UNITED STATES TOMORROW IF IT WANTS," ANDERSON DECLARED, "BUT IT IS HOLDING OUT FOR 1947 AS WELL." BY THEN, HE ADDED, WAR-RAVAGED SUGAR AREAS MAY BE BACK IN PRODUCTION, LESSENING THE IMPORTANCE OF CUBA'S OUTPUT TO THE WORLD MARKET.

"THE U.S.GOVERNMENT IS READY TO BUY CUBA'S 1946 CROP AND THE CUBAN PEOPLE WON'T SELL IT," ANDERSON CONTINUED. "WHOSE FAULT IS THAT? IS THAT THE FAULT OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT?"

"I DON'T KNOW," RIONDA REPLIED. "I KNOW CUBA IS DISPOSED TO SELL IT. IT IS A QUESTION OF TERMS."

DISCUSSING THE POTENTIAL SIZE OF CUBA'S OUTPUT, RIONDA SAID:

"THE MERE ANNOUNCEMENT OF THE DESIRE ON THE PART OF THE UNITED STATES TO NEGOTIATE FOR INCREASED SUPPLIES COULD GIVE A SUBSANTIAL STIMULUS TO (CUBAN) PRODUCTION, EVEN IN THE 1946 CROP IN CUBA."

WILLIAM C.DOUGLAS, ANOTHER CUBAN SUGAR DEALER, TOLD THE COMMITTEE THE LONG-RANGE SUGAR SITUATION COULD BE CORRECTED BY "THE ESTABLISHMENT OF A POLICY BY THE U.S. GOVERNMENT OF UNDERWRITING THE MAINTENANCE AND ENLARGEMENT OF CUBA'S CANE FIELDS SO THAT ONCE THE EMERGENCY HAS CEASED TO EXIST CUBA WOULD NOT BE PLACE IN THE SAME POSITION IN WHICH HER INDUSTRY WAS PLACED SUBSEQUENT TO THE TERMINATION OF WORLD WAR ONE."

WASHINGTON,MAY 14-(AP)-FOLLOWING IS THE TEXT OF A STATEMENT BY UNDERSECRETARY OF STATE JOSEPH C.GREW ON LEND-LEASE (ABOUT 800):

THE LEND-LEASE ACT PROVIDES THAT THE PRESIDENT, WHEN HE DEEMS IT TO BE IN THE INTEREST OF OUR NATIONAL DEFENSE, MAY AUTHORIZE THE HEAD OF ANY DEPARTMENT OR AGENCY OF THE GOVERNMENT TO LEND-LEASE DEFENSE ARTICLES TO THE GOVERNMENTS OF FOREIGN COUNTRIES. HE MAY MAKE SUCH DETERMINATIONS UNTIL JUNE 30TH, 1946 OR UNTIL A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION OF THE TWO HOUSES OF CONGRESS BEFORE JUNE 30TH, 1946 DECLARES THAT THESE POWERS ARE NO LONGER NECESSARY TO PROMOTE THE DEFENSE OF THE UNITED STATES.

FOR THREE YEARS AFTER JUNE 30TH, 1946, OR THE PASSAGE OF SUCH A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION, THE PRESIDENT'S POWERS MAY CONTINUE TO BE EXERCISED TO THE EXTENT NECESSARY TO CARRY OUT A CONTRACT OR AGREEMENT PREVIOUSLY MADE WITH A LEND-LEASE COUNTRY.

THE ACT MAKES IT CLEAR THAT THE PRESIDENT MUST DETERMINE WHAT SUPPLIES AND SERVICES SHALL BE FURNISHED AS VITAL TO THE DEFENSE OF THE UNITED STATES, AND HE MAY CONTINUE TO MAKE THIS DETERMINATION DURING THE EXISTENCE OF THE LEND-LEASE ACT.

THE WAR WE ARE ENGAGED IN IS ONE WAR. NOT TWO SEPARATE WARS, AND THE END OF ORGANIZED RESISTANCE IN EUROPE IS NOT THE END OF THE WAR. OCCUPATION AND MILITARY CONTROL IN ENEMY AREAS ARE REQUIRED IN EUROPE AND CANNOT BE EFFECTIVELY CARRIED OUT ON AN UNSTABLE AND A DISORDERLY CONTINENT. THE PRESENCE OF AMERICAN FORCES IN WAR DEVASTATED EUROPE, THEIR SUPPLY, AND THEIR REDEPLOYMENT IN CONNECTION WITH CONTINUING MILITARY OPERATIONS WILL ALMOST CERTAINLY REQUIRE LEND-LEASE SHIPMENTS. IF THE PRESIDENT DETERMINES THAT LEND-LEASE SUPPLIES MUST CONTINUE TO MOVE TO EUROPE FOR

AN ADDITIONAL PERIOD BECAUSE THE PROSECUTION OF THE WAR REQUIRES IT, HE IS AUTHORIZED TO DO SO UNDER THE ACT. OF COURSE, HE IS ALSO AUTHORIZED TO FURNISH NECESSARY SUPPLIES TO FOREIGN COUNTRIES ON THE BASIS OF CONTINUING HOSTILITIES IN THE PACIFIC.

DELIVERIES OF SUPPLIES UNDER CURRENT LEND-LEASE PROGRAMS WILL BE ADJUSTED IMMEDIATELY TO TAKE ACCOUNT OF THE END OF ORGANIZED RESISTANCE IN EUROPE. FUTURE SUPPLY PROGRAMS WILL ALSO BE DESIGNED TO MEET NEW MILITARY SITUATIONS AS THEY ARISE.

B27WX

THE LEND-LEASE SUPPLY PROGRAM FOR THE UNITED KINGDOM, INDIA, AUSTRALIA, NEW ZEALAND AND BRITISH COLONIES FOLLOWING THE DEFEAT OF GERMANY HAS BEEN AGREED UPON IN DISCUSSIONS BETWEEN BRITISH AND AMERICAN REPRESENTATIVES. IT IS PROPOSED THAT THIS PROGRAM BE CARRIED OUT WITH SUCH ADJUSTMENTS AS SUPPLY CONSIDERATIONS, FROM TIME TO TIME, MAY REQUIRE.

SINCE 1941 THE UNITED STATES HAS AGREED WITH THE SOVIET UNION UPON ANNUAL SUPPLY PROGRAMS WHICH HAVE BEEN EMBODIED IN PROTOCOLS. IN VIEW OF THE CHANGED MILITARY SITUATION, PROGRAMS OF SUCH DURATION ARE NOT NOW REQUIRED. INSTEAD IT IS PROPOSED THAT LEND-LEASE SHIPMENTS TO THE SOVIET UNION BE REVIEWED AND CONTINUED WHERE THEY ARE JUSTIFIED ON THE BASIS OF ADEQUATE INFORMATION REGARDING THE ESSENTIAL NATURE OF SOVIET MILITARY SUPPLY REQUIREMENTS AND IN THE LIGHT OF COMPETING DEMANDS, AS IS THE PRACTICE WITH RESPECT TO OTHER LEND-LEASE COUNTRIES. IT IS ANTICIPATED THAT, ON THIS BASIS, SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTIONS IN CURRENT PROGRAMS FOR THE SOVIET UNION WILL BE MADE.

THIS YEAR, IN EXTENDING THE LEND-LEASE ACT, THE CONGRESS ADOPTED AN AMENDMENT WHICH PROVIDES THAT THE GRANTING OF POWERS TO THE PRESIDENT TO CARRY OUT LEND-LEASE AGREEMENTS FOR A THREE-YEAR PERIOD AFTER THE EXPIRATION OF THE ACT SHALL NOT BE CONSTRUED TO AUTHORIZE THE PRESIDENT TO ENTER INTO OR CARRY OUT AN AGREEMENT FOR POST-WAR RELIEF, POST-WAR REHABILITATION OR POST-WAR RECONSTRUCTION. THE AMENDMENT FURTHER PROVIDES THAT AN AGREEMENT ENTERED INTO IN ACCORDANCE WITH THE ACT, IN WHICH THE UNITED STATES UNDERTAKES TO FURNISH TO A FOREIGN GOVERNMENT DEFENSE ARTICLES, SERVICES OR INFORMATION FOR USE IN THE PROSECUTION OF THE PRESENT WAR AND WHICH PROVIDES FOR THE DISPOSITION OF SUCH ARTICLES, SERVICES OR INFORMATION ON TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE AFTER THEY ARE DETERMINED BY THE PRESIDENT TO BE NO LONGER NECESSARY FOR USE BY SUCH GOVERNMENT IN PROMOTING THE DEFENSE OF THE UNITED STATES, SHALL NOT BE DEEMED TO BE AN AGREEMENT FOR POST-WAR RELIEF, POST-WAR REHABILITATION OR POST-WAR RECONSTRUCTION.

AGREEMENTS HAVE BEEN CONCLUDED WITH FRANCE, BELGIUM, AND THE NETHERLANDS WHICH PROVIDE THAT AT SUCH TIME AS THE PRESIDENT DETERMINES THAT SUPPLIES TO BE FURNISHED THEREUNDER ARE NO LONGER NECESSARY TO THE PROSECUTION OF THE WAR STRAIGHT LEND-LEASE WILL CEASE AND DELIVERIES THEREAFTER WILL BE MADE ON AGREED PAYMENT TERMS. SUPPLY PROGRAMS UNDER THESE AGREEMENTS ARE UNDER REVIEW AND MAY BE REVISED IN THE LIGHT OF THE PRESENT SITUATION. THE PRESIDENT'S DETERMINATION WITH RESPECT TO THE NECESSITY OF CONTINUING SUPPLIES ON A STRAIGHT LEND-LEASE BASIS FOR THE PROSECUTION OF THE WAR WILL DEPEND UPON THE USE OF THESE AREAS IN THE SUPPLY AND REDEPLOYMENT OF AMERICAN FORCES AS WELL AS THE OTHER GENERAL CONSIDERATIONS I HAVE MENTIONED.

OF COURSE, DURING THE PERIOD THAT STRAIGHT LEND-LEASE AID IS FURNISHED TO A FOREIGN COUNTRY, REVERSE LEND-LEASE OF SUPPLIES AND SERVICES WILL CONTINUE TO BE RECEIVED BY THE UNITED STATES FROM THAT COUNTRY.

(END TEXT).

SAN FRANCISCO, MAY 14-(AP)-A BRITISH OBJECTION TO SPECIFIC DESIGNATION OF PAN-AMERICA'S ACT OF CHAPULTEPEC IS THE CHIEF STUMBLING BLOC, TO BIG FIVE AGREEMENT ON REGIONAL ARRANGEMENTS TO KEEP THE PEACE.

RUSSIA HAS NOT YET MADE HER FINAL POSITION CLEAR. BUT OTHER MAJOR POWERS OF THE UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE ARE REPORTED NEAR AGREEMENT TODAY ON THE PRINCIPLE THAT ANY NATION OR GROUP OF NATIONS SHALL BE FREE TO DEFEND ITSELF FROM ARMED ATTACK WITHOUT CONSULTING FIRST THE SECURITY COUNCIL OF THE PROJECTED WORLD ORGANIZATION.

PROPOSED BY THE AMERICAN DELEGATION, THIS PRINCIPLE HAD THE APPROVAL OF THE BRITISH AND THE CHINESE. THE FRENCH ARE REPORTED INCLINED TO GO EVEN FURTHER IN THE DIRECTION OF REGIONAL FREEDOM. THERE WERE INDICATIONS OF RUSSIAN ACCEPTANCE.

BUT THE BRITISH MADE IT PLAIN THAT THEY DO NOT WANT THE AMENDMENT, TO BE OFFERED AS AN ADDITION TO THE DUMBARTON OAKS PEACE-KEEPING FORMULA, TO MENTION SPECIFICALLY ANY ASSOCIATION OF NATIONS.

THE AMERICANS ARE PARTICULARLY ANXIOUS, HOWEVER, TO HAVE THE AMENDMENT INCLUDE A REFERENCE TO THE ACT OF CHAPULTEPEC AND THE HISTORIC MONROE DOCTRINE.

IN THE ACT OF CHAPULTEPEC SIGNED AT MEXICO CITY MARCH 3, THE AMERICAN REPUBLICS AGREED UNDER THEIR WARTIME POWERS TO ACT IN MUTUAL DEFENSE IF ANY IS ATTACKED. UNDER THE AMENDMENT PROPOSED BY THE U.S. DELEGATION, THIS RIGHT WOULD BE FULLY PRESERVED.

HERE IS HOW THE REGIONAL ARRANGEMENTS WOULD WORK UNDER THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT:

COUNTRIES A AND B ARE HAVING A DISAGREEMENT OVER A BOUNDARY. THE REGIONAL ORGANIZATION TAKES NOTICE OF THIS DISPUTE AND ATTEMPTS TO GET THE TWO COUNTRIES TO ARBITRATE AND SETTLE BY PEACEFUL MEANS.

COUNTRY A EITHER DECLINES TO ARBITRATE, OR ACCEPT THE DECISION AFTER IT IS MADE. THE INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE'S SECURITY COUNCIL DECIDES THIS PREVIOUSLY LOCALIZED DISPUTE HOLDS A THREAT TO WORLD PEACE.

IT CALLS IN BOTH COUNTRIES A AND B IN AN ATTEMPT TO RESOLVE THE DISPUTE WITHOUT WARFARE. IT MAKES A DECISION THAT COUNTRY A IS IN THE WRONG AND COUNTRY B IN THE RIGHT.

AT THIS POINT, IF COUNTRY A STILL REFUSES TO ACCEPT THE DECISION, THE SECURITY COUNCIL MAY ORDER ECONOMIC OR OTHER SANCTIONS IMPOSED.

A17UN

COUNTRY A SUDDENLY DECIDES TO STRIKE AND LAUNCHES AN ARMED ATTACK ON COUNTRY B. AT THIS POINT COUNTRY B AND ALL OF ITS ALLIES GO INTO ARMED DEFENSIVE ACTION IMMEDIATELY, NOTIFYING THE SECURITY COUNCIL OF THE MEASURES BEING TAKEN. THE SECURITY COUNCIL THEN DECIDES WHETHER THE WORLD ORGANIZATION'S ARMED FORCES ALSO SHALL BE TURNED UPON COUNTRY A.

UNDER THE AMENDMENT, NO REGIONAL ORGANIZATION COULD ACT WITH FORCE EXCEPT AS A RESULT OF DIRECT ARMED ATTACK. IT WOULD NOT HAVE THE POWER TO IMPOSE SANCTIONS, OR TO TAKE ANY OTHER PUNITIVE ACTION. THAT AUTHORITY REMAINS EXCLUSIVELY WITH THE SECURITY COUNCIL.

WASHINGTON, MAY 14-(AP)-NORWAY WILL NEED 2,680,000 TONS OF SUPPLIES FOR REHABILITATION PURPOSES DURING THE NEXT SIX MONTHS, ACCORDING TO AN ESTIMATE FILED WITH THE VARIOUS INTERNATIONAL ALLOCATION AGENCIES.

INCLUDED IN THE LIST OF REQUIREMENTS DRAWN UP BY THE NORWEGIAN GOVERN

MENT ARE 300,000 TONS OF FOOD; 100,000 TONS OF LIVESTOCK FEED; 380,000 TONS OF CHEMICAL AND ALLIED PRODUCTS; 210,000 TONS OF FERTILIZER; 1,200,000 TONS OF COAL AND COKE; 180,000 TONS OF PETROLEUM, OIL AND LUBRICANTS; 250,000 TONS OF IRON AND STEEL, AND 60,000 TONS OF VEGETABLE FATS AND OILS.

ALTHOUGH THE NORWEGIANS ARE PREPARED TO PAY FOR THE GOODS, THERE IS NO GUARANTEE THAT MORE THAN A FRACTION OF THE TOTAL REQUIREMENTS CAN BE MET, OFFICIALS SAID.

AVAILABILITY OF REQUIRED GOODS AND SHIPPING SPACE WILL BE THE CHIEF DETERMINING FACTORS, ~~ALTHOUGH ALLOCATION DECISIONS BY UNITED NATIONS SUPPLY AUTHORITIES, BASED ON THE NATION'S NEEDS AND ECONOMIC OUTLOOK WILL ALSO INFLUENCE THE SITUATION.~~

SUPPLIES FOR NORWAY WILL BE DRAWN FROM ALL OVER THE WORLD.

WASHINGTON, MAY 14-(AP)-LT.GEN. JAMES H. DOOLITTLE PROBABLY IS HEADED FOR A PACIFIC COMMAND--WITH HIS FIRST JOB TO SET UP BASES FOR THE MULTITUDE OF B-17 AND B-24 STRATEGIC BOMBERS ON WHICH HE IS A SPECIALIST.

OFFICIALLY, THERE WAS NO COMMENT HERE ON THE LONDON ANNOUNCEMENT THAT DOOLITTLE WOULD COME TO WASHINGTON TO RECEIVE A "NEW ASSIGNMENT."

IT WAS RECALLED, HOWEVER, THAT DOOLITTLE'S LONG EXPERIENCE IN STRATEGIC BOMBING HAS BEEN CONFINED TO THE B-17S AND B-24 AND THAT SO FAR AS IS KNOWN HE HAS HAD NO OPPORTUNITY TO OBSERVE THE OPERATIONS OF THE SO-CALLED "VERY HEAVY BOMBARDMENT" AIRCRAFT OF THE B-29 AND B-32 TYPE.

THE FULL WEIGHT OF AMERICAN AIR ATTACK ON JAPAN AND ITS SEA LANES WILL UTILIZE BOTH THE VBS AND "MEDIUM" BOMBERS OF THE B-17 AND B-24 TYPES. THE GENERAL ASSUMPTION HAS BEEN THAT THE 20TH AIR FORCE WOULD RETAIN CONTROL OF THE VHBS, WITH EXISTING AND FUTURE AIR FORCES IN THE PACIFIC DIRECTING THE OPERATION OF THE SMALLER BOMBERS.

OPERATING AGAINST JAPANESE INSTALLATIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS IN THE PACIFIC ARE SEVERAL AIRFORCES USING THE B-24S INCLUDING THE FIFTH AIRFORCE IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, THE SEVENTH IN THE CENTRAL PACIFIC, THE 11TH IN THE NORTH PACIFIC, THE TENTH IN THE INDIA-BURMA AREA AND THE 14TH IN CHINA.

UNTIL NOW FEW IF ANY B-17S HAVE BEEN USED IN THE PACIFIC THEATER. THE REDEPLOYMENT OF THE EUROPEAN AIR FORCES, HOWEVER, WILL MEAN THAT THE B-17S WILL GO TO THE FAR EAST TO AUGMENT STRATEGIC AIR UNITS IN THAT AREA. DOOLITTLE'S 8TH AIRFORCE, AS WELL AS THE 15TH AIRFORCE BASED IN ITALY, INCLUDE B-24S AS WELL AS B-17S.

EDITOR'S NOTE: KING LEOPOLD'S DECISION NOT TO RETURN TO BELGIUM IMMEDIATELY FOCUSES ATTENTION ON THE CHANCES OF EUROPE'S OTHER EXILED MONARCHS TO RESUME THEIR THRONES. JOHN A. PARRIS, JR., OF THE LONDON ASSOCIATED PRESS BUREAU WHO DURING THE PAST FOUR YEARS CAME TO KNOW INTIMATELY MOST OF THE EXILED ROYALTY, REPORTS ON THE OUTLOOK. PARRIS MAINTAINED CONTACTS ON THE CONTINENT DURING THE WAR YEARS. AFTER THE LIBERATION OF BELGIUM, GREECE AND YUGOSLAVIA, HE DISCUSSED THE MONARCH QUESTION WITH NATIONALS OF THESE COUNTRIES, EITHER ON THEIR HOME SOIL OR IN LONDON AND SAN FRANCISCO WHERE THEY ARE ATTENDING THE UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE.

-O-

BY JOHN A. PARRIS, JR.

SAN FRANCISCO, MAY 14-(AP)-FORCED INTO EXILE BY GERMANY'S ILL-FATED QUEST FOR WORLD POWER, EUROPE'S CROWNED HEADS ARE CAUGHT IN AN IDEOLOGICAL STRUGGLE BETWEEN THE LEFT AND RIGHT WHICH THREATENS TO DEPRIVE THEM OF THEIR THRONES FOREVER.

THE WAR SENT INTO EXILE QUEEN WILHELMINA OF THE NETHERLANDS, KINGS HAAKON OF NORWAY, GEORGE OF GREECE, PETER OF YUGOSLAVIA, AND ZOG OF ALBANIA. LEOPOLD OF BELGIUM BECAME A PRISONER OF THE GERMANS AT LAAKEN CASTLE OUTSIDE BRUSSELS.

NOW THAT PEACE HAS COME TO EUROPE, THE CROWNED HEADS OF THESE COUNTRIES ARE, FOR THE MOST PART, STILL IN EXILE.

EUROPE HAS SWUNG TOWARD THE LEFT, AND THE LEFTISTS--AND EVEN SOME OF THE RIGHTISTS--ARE OPPOSED TO RE-ESTABLISHING MONARCHIES.

OF ALL THE CROWNED HEADS, ONLY QUEEN WILHELMINA AND KING HAAKON SEEM ASSURED OF RETURNING HOME UNOPPOSED.

WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE NETHERLANDS AND NORWAY, THE OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES WHICH HAVE HAD MONARCHIES RESENT THE FACT THAT THEIR ROYAL HEADS DID NOT REMAIN WITH THEIR PEOPLES DURING THE HARD, BITTER YEARS OF TRIAL, SUFFERING AND DESPAIR.

GREECE'S KING GEORGE, WHO TWICE HAS BEEN FORCED INTO EXILE, ADHERRED TO THE WISHES OF HIS PEOPLE. A REGENCY WAS ESTABLISHED TO ACT FOR HIM UNTIL THE PEOPLE DECIDE.

GREEK OFFICIALS WHO ARE ATTENDING THE UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE SAY THAT GEORGE'S CHANCES OF RETURNING TO THE THRONE ARE ABOUT 50-50. BUT THEY FEEL THAT WHEN THE FREE ELECTION VOTES ARE IN, GEORGE WILL FIND HIMSELF A KING WITHOUT A CROWN OR THRONE.

THE PEOPLE OF YUGOSLAVIA HAVE DEMANDED THAT KING PETER GIVE ASSURANCE HE WOULD NOT RETURN HOME UNTIL ELECTIONS WERE HELD, AND APPARENTLY HIS HOPES OF RETURNING AS A KING HAVE WANED. SOME MONTHS AGO HE PURCHASED A HOME IN ENGLAND, WHERE HE IS LIVING WITH HIS YOUNG WIFE, PRINCESS ALEXANDRE OF GREECE.

WHEN KING LEOPOLD WAS RECENTLY LIBERATED BY THE ALLIED ARMIES, THE BELGIAN PEOPLE BELIEVED HE WOULD RETURN IMMEDIATELY TO BRUSSELS. THIS CAUSED A CRISIS. FOREIGN MINISTER PAUL HENRY SPAAK FLEW HOME HURRIEDLY FROM THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE. BELGIAN PREMIER ACHILLE VAN ACKER HAS ANNOUNCED THAT LEOPOLD WOULD NOT RETURN TO BRUSSELS FOR SOME TIME. HE GAVE ILL HEALTH AS THE REASON.

LEFTIST GROUPS ASSERT THAT UNDER THE CONSTITUTION IT IS UP TO PARLIAMENT TO DECIDE WHETHER LEOPOLD IS IN A POSITION TO FULFILL HIS CONSTITUTIONAL DUTIES.

LONG BEFORE ALBANIA WAS LIBERATED, KING ZOG ANNOUNCED THAT HE WOULD NOT RETURN HOME UNLESS THE PEOPLE SO DESIRED. IN RECENT WEEKS, ALBANIANS OF THE NATIONAL LIBERATION FRONT HAVE DENOUNCED THE KING AND MADE IT CLEAR THEY DON'T WANT ZOG HOME UNTIL THE PEOPLE HAVE HAD A CHANCE TO VOTE.

THE SITUATION IS DIFFERENT IN THE NETHERLANDS AND NORWAY. DUTCH OFFICIALS HERE CONTEND THERE IS NO DOUBT ABOUT WILHELMINA

RETURN.
LIKEWISE, HAAKON OF NORWAY, WHO STAYED ON WITH HIS PEOPLE UNTIL THE VERY LAST WHEN THE GERMANS INVADED THE NORTH, HAS BETTERED HIS CHANCES OF REMAINING ON THE THRONE BY WORKING DILIGENTLY AND QUIETLY IN EXILE.

U. S. CARRIER FLIERS SMASH 284 PLANES IN 3-DAY STRIKES AT SOUTHERN JAPAN: ANOTHER KEY HILL IS WON ON OKINAWA

'CHOCOLATE DROP' HILL SEIZED IN BITTER STRUGGLE

Nipponese Airfields Hammered, Trains Blown Up by Planes.

SHIPS ARE SUNK

Caves on Hillside Sealed by Americans, Flamethrowers Used.

MAY 16 1945

GUAM, Wednesday, May 16. — (AP) Carrier planes hammered 18 Nipponese homeland airfields and destroyed, damaged or strafed 357 enemy planes in a sweep beginning Saturday night and continuing through Monday.

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, announcing the carrier raids on the fields from which Japan has been staging aerial onslaughts on the American forces at Okinawa, said fierce ground fighting continued there today.

A strong Japanese counter-attack on the west flank was beaten back by the 22nd Marine regiment of the Sixth divisions, veterans of Eniwetok and Orote peninsula, while 77th divisions troops captured "Chocolate Drop" hill about 1,800 yards northeast of fortress Shuri after five days of bitter fighting.

The three-day attack on Kyushu and Shikoku was the first American carrier strike in force since the inland sea raid of March 19. Radio Tokyo previously had reported 900 planes were involved.

It started with a torpedo plane strike on Kyushu Saturday night. Twelve enemy planes were shot down.

Sunday and Monday 272 Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged and an additional 73 were brought under machinegun and rocket attack with unobserved results.

A barrage balloon was shot down.

10 U. S. Planes Lost

A preliminary check revealed that 10 U. S. planes were lost.

Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier planes also struck targets of opportunity during the two-day sweep.

Railroad installations in Kyushu were heavily hit. An oil train, four locomotives, a railroad station, a chemical plant and a number of large buildings were destroyed or seriously damaged.

Planes also struck buildings, barracks and aviation installations at airdromes in Saeki, Oita, Miyakonojo, Kikuchi, Ashiya, Gannosu, Kofuji, Usa, Izumi, Tachiarai, Chiran, Omura and Hitoyoshi on Kyushu; and at airfields in Kochi and Matsuyama on Shikoku.

Airfield installations at Kokubu, Kanoya, Chiran and Kagoshima on Kyushu were bombed Saturday night.

Two motor boats and two luggers were sunk and repair ship, seven torpedo boats, four luggers, a small cargo ship, four small craft and a tug were damaged.

The carrier strikes occurred while a great fleet of more than 500 Marianas-based Superfortresses fire-bombed Nagoya, on Honsu, third largest city in Japan and its chief aircraft production center.

On the second day of the carrier strike, Monday, escort carrier aircraft attacked airfield installations in the oft-bombed Sakishima group and struck enemy positions on Kume island, west of Okinawa.

Night fighters of the second marine aircraft wing struck targets in the Amami group, northern Ryukyus.

Hurl Back Jap Assault

On Okinawa, at the suburbs of Naha, the 22nd regiment of the Sixth Marine division, hurled back an enemy assault in hand to hand fighting. The attackers were finally driven back into the interior of Takamotoji town with heavy losses.

An attempt to land small craft behind the Marine lines in the bitterly gained Machinato airfield sector was broken up by naval gunfire.

The 383rd regiment of the 96th division, which completed capture of Conical Hill Monday, consolidated its hold on the 480-foot peak. The Americans were in position to move downhill against Shuri, less than a quarter of a mile to the west.

Shuri was also threatened by the 77th Infantry and First Marine divisions, closing in from the north and west of the defense center.

The Sixth Marine division was in Naha's northern outskirts, using flame-throwers to burn Japanese from concealed positions in the ruins. The Asto river still lay between the leathernecks and the main part of the ruined city.

Doughboys of the 96th division also captured Yonabaru airfield on the east coast Monday after seizing Conical Hill and were at the edge of Yonabaru town. Yonabaru was the fourth airfield to fall into Tenth army hands.

The fighting all along the heavily fortified four-mile line, crossing the southern part of the island from Naha to Yonabaru, was bitter.

Retreating Japs Slaughtered

Associated Press War Correspondent Al Dopking, with the Tenth army reported that Japanese first tried frontal and then flanking counterattacks on Conical Hill. The latter assualt was broken up by a platoon commanded by Lt. Owen R. O'Neill of Doniphan, Mo. As the Japanese retreated across open ground on the southern slope of the hill, they were slaughtered by artillery fire.

In two days of fighting for the strategic hill, the 96th sealed 75 caves around the base. Some American artillery was hoisted up the slopes by pulley and hand power.

Dopking reported that the battle terrain was so rugged tanks had replaced trucks to move supplies to the front lines. Rations and ammunition also were being dropped by planes in some sectors.

Even tanks could not move over one deeply ridged area. Armored bulldozers, guarded by infantrymen with flamethrowers, were sent forward to level tank paths.

One ranking officer said the battle for the southern quarter of Okinawa would be a "downhill pull" once the Shuri line is breached.

OKINAWA HILL AND AIRFIELD WON BY YANKS

Capture of Conical Height Enables Americans to Move Into Base.

COUNTER-BLOWS REPULSED

U. S. Forces Square Away for Final Drive on Shuri Line —Naha Battle Rages.

Guam, May 16 (A. P.).—American forces captured the strongly defended Yonabaru airfield yesterday and squared away today for the final drive on Okinawa's inner Shuri defense area.

Yonabaru and Conical Hill, chief remaining Jap obesrvation point, fell to the Ninety-sixth Infantry Division. Two rifle companies which gained the hill's 480-foot summit late Sunday, cling to their position despite Jap counter-attacks. Yesterday the 383d Regiment of the Ninety-sixth completed the hill's capture and paved the way for the mile and a half gain to Yonabaru, fourth airfield to fall to the Americans in the Okinawa campaign.

Meanwhile the Sixth Marine Division was fighting in northern Naha, Okinawa's capital city which has been leveled by weeks of naval gunfire and artillery. The Yanks still have to cross the Asato River to reach the main part of Naha.

One reason why the approaches to Naha had been so tough was an elaborate tunnel system on a ridge before Naha which had been bored from one concrete tomb to another. There was a narrow gauge track on which the Japs could roll their artillery around underground to new firing positions.

High Cost of Naha.

Looking across the muddy Asato estuary, commanding officer Col. Merlin F. Schneider, of the Twenty-second Marine Regiment, said: "We'll take her but the cost may be high."

Conical Hill lies about 420 yards east of the final Shuri defense line and its seizure will provide a good toehold for the final assault on Shuri fortifcation. A ranking officer said the breaching of the Shuri line will be the climax to the gory fight on the island threshold on Japan's homeland and that the rest of the Okinawa campaign will be a "downhill pull."

Associated Press War Correspondent Al Dopking reported that as the battle raged along the eastern sector, with little gain reported in the center and west, a battleship stood off shore bombarding Shuri Castle. One Marine observer reported it scored twenty-five hits on this fortress but "they seemed to bounce off like a rubber ball."

Tanks and planes are being used to supply American troops in the center where enemy artillery and rugged terrain are hampering truck lines to the front.

In renewed air attacks on the American fleet, Jap aircraft Sunday evening and Monday morning damaged a major unit and two light units at a cost of forty-six planes—eight of them downed by one destroyer's guns.

Since the first wave of Lieut.-Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner's Tenth Army hit Okinawa's beaches on April 1, the Americans have captured or destroyed 386 enemy guns of 70-mm calibre or larger.

London Gives Eisenhower Hero's Welcome on Return

By DON DOANE

LONDON, May 15 — (AP) Gen. Eisenhower came back to London today for a personal belated victory celebration and was given a hero's welcome by cheering throngs which surged about his car, crowded up to shake his hand and applauded his appearance at a theater and night club.

The surprise visit of the Supreme commander and Gen. Omar N. Bradley was not officially announced and no official reason given. However, word spread quickly and when the big staff car appeared in downtown streets crowds gathered fast.

"This is the general's own private V-E day celebration," a member of the party told a reporter at a night club where the general went after seeing a musical comedy, "strike it again," at the Prince of Wales theater.

"It's his first night out since before the war," the aide said.

Eisenhower, Bradley and several aides flew here this morning and were joined by a few friends for an evening of relaxation which his official duties kept him from enjoying on the day when most people did their celebrating. With the group was the general's son, Lt John Eisenhower.

The general was quickly recognized by the theater audience when he entered dressed in his service uniform. At the end of the performance with the entire cast on the stage side field, star of the show, led the audience in thunderous applause for the general who led the victorious Allied army.

Thanks Audience

Eisenhower rose in his box to thank his audience and the cast for "a most wonderful evening."

"I wonder if you people realize what it means to me to be back here among friends," he said, and then drew laughter by adding "among people whose language I can almost speak."

Dozens of soldiers and civilians shook hands with the beaming general on the way outside the theater where he found thousands of people in the street waiting to see him.

Indulgent military police and British bobbies let many crowd close enough to the car to shake the general's hand through the window.

"Good old Ike," the spectators shouted. "Fine work." "Good show."

"We gave the Hun hell, didn't we, general," yelled one American soldier.

From the theater the general's party of ten went to Ciros for dinner and dancing. There, too, the entrance was the signal for cheers.

The general's first dance was with his personal secretary, Lt. Kay Summersby, who wore her WAC uniform.

No one would say how long Eisenhower planned to stay in London—which he left nearly a year ago to follow his armies advancing into Germany—nor would they indicate what official business he planned here.

It might be coincidental that Field Marshal Montgomery also is in town—avowedly for a "rest"—placing three of the top Allied military leaders in London simultaneously.

Eisenhower sat smiling, talking and nodding his head to well-wishers from a big table against the wall at Ciro's. Others at the table in addition to Bradley, his son and his secretary were group Captain Sir Louis Grieg, staff officer to Air Secretary Sinclair, and Lady Greig; Col. James Gault, Eisenhower's British military assistant, and Mrs Gault.

CHURCHILL HOPES FOR NEW MEETING OF THE BIG THREE

By JAMES M. KING

LONDON, May 15.—(AP) Prime Minister Churchill told Commons today he hoped to have a meeting soon with President Truman and Premier Stalin and sidestepped a direct answer on whether he believes Hitler is dead.

Asked if a Big Three meeting was planned in the near future, Churchill replied, amid laughter:

"I devoutly hope so. It would be very odd if such a long, fierce war ended without any settlement even among the victors."

President Truman told a press conference in Washington that the three leaders probably would meet soon, but not immediately.

An effort by members to pin the Prime Minister down on the question of Hitler's reported death brought the cautious observation:

"I really do not feel that any particular duty lies upon me to make guesses. When we have anything particular, I shall be quite ready to announce it. In the meantime, I must say I incline to the general opinion."

The Germans announced that the fuehrer died in the ruins of Berlin, and, though the victorious Russians have not identified his body, there has been no indication that he escaped from the city. Captured Nazi leaders have expressed the unanimous opinion that Hitler is dead.

Declaring that Europe was in a state of "frightful confusion at the moment," Churchill said the question of repatriation of refugees who fled to Britain during the war still was up in the air. He agreed that it would be cruel to compel Jewish refugees who had been persecuted by the Nazis to return to "the scene of these crimes."

A new flareup developed in the always touchy subject of British-Irish relations when it was suggested that the government move for the arrest of members of the German legation staff in Dublin with a view to trying them as war criminals.

There were shouts of "where is Lord Haw Haw?" and "Is Mr. De Valera harboring Herr Hitler?"

Paul Emrys-Evans, the British undersecretary for Dominions, asserted that the "general question of the position of German missions in neutral countries is under consideration," but added that the British government so far had "no evidence of complicity in war crimes, either in the German legation in Dublin or elsewhere in Eire."

GOERING HIGH ON CRIME LIST

Commission Reveals He Has Had Top Priority From Start

London, May 15 (AP)—Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering has had a top priority since last November on the United Nations No. 1 list of war criminals, the War Crimes Commission disclosed today.

While new protests sounded in the House of Lords over treatment accorded Goering after his surrender to American troops in Austria last week, the Luxembourg radio reported the German frontier had been closed to prevent escape of other war criminals and "wanted persons."

The commission in a formal statement said: "With reference to recent discussions in the press the United Nations War Crimes Commission desires to state that Hermann Goering's name was placed in November, 1944, on the first list of persons charged with war crimes which was adopted by the commission."

Charges Not Specified

Previously the commission had disclosed only that five lists of Germans, headed by Adolf Hitler, had been prepared. Today's announcement did not specify the charges against Goering.

Lord Addison told the House of Lords that he regarded Goering as a criminal and that "the sooner he is brought to judgment the better." Lord Woolton, Reconstruction Minister in Churchill's Cabinet, added that the Germans, especially generals, must be made to understand that "war is not a game that ends in handshaking."

"No one who has seen the wrecked homes of this country or the concentration camps abroad can sit happily with those who from foul and deliberate choice have systematically despoiled and ravaged the continent of Europe," Woolton said.

No Chicken Dinners

General Eisenhower yesterday warned his commanders that he would not permit treatment of Nazis and German generals on a "friendly enemy basis." The United States 7th Army issued a formal statement today asserting that there "were no handshakes or chicken dinners at headquarters of the 7th Army" for Goering.

Field dispatches at the time of Goering's surrender to the 36th Division of the 7th Army said there were handshakes and that Goering ate the regulation army food for that day which included chicken. No dispatches referred to such incidents at 7th Army headquarters.

The Luxembourg radio broadcast an official announcement to border residents that a chain of frontier command posts had been established along the Dutch, Belgian, Luxembourg and French frontiers and that "all civilian travel into or from Germany is herewith and henceforth forbidden" without special authorization. Violators, the radio said, run the risk of being shot.

Warning border residents to stay near their homes and avoid hostile acts against Allied military authorities, the broadcast said "to give food or shelter to war criminals is considered a hostile act."

Churchill Evades Questions on Hitler Death

Refuses to Commit Himself—Parries Inquiry as to Whether Fuehrer Might Be in Eire.

London, May 15 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Churchill refused to commit himself definitely in Commons today on the question of whether Hitler is dead.

Asked whether the death had been established "beyond all shadow of doubt," Churchill said he knew no more "than any other member who reads the newspaper."

"There I have only my own opinion to go by," he said.

"What is that?" a member shouted.

"I really do not feel that any particular duty lies upon me to make guesses," the Prime Minister replied. "When we have anything particular, I shall be quite ready to announce it. In the meantime, I must say I incline to the general opinion."

At another point, Churchill was asked whether Hitler was being hidden by Prime Minister de Valera's Eire Government, and drew laughter with the remark that he would have "inquiries made on that."

Sharp protests against the attitude of De Valera's Government arose in the House. One member suggested the Government move for arrest of the German legation staff in Dublin with the view of trying them as war criminals.

Others protested De Valera's expression of condolences to the German Minister upon Hitler's death, and complained that the Eire Government had sent only a minor official to make apologies for the breaking of windows in the British Government office there by a crowd on V-E day.

The Eire Minister of External Affairs apologized for the window smashing at both the British office and American consulate in Dublin during demonstrations both by crowds cheering the victory in Germany and by others who were anti-British.

The British Under-Secretary for Dominions, Paul V. Emrys-Evans, said: "The general question of the position of German missions in neutral countries is under consideration," but that the British Government had "at present no evidence of complicity in war crimes either in the German legation in Dublin or elsewhere in Eire."

There were shouts of "Where Is Lord Haw Haw?" and "Is Mr. De Valera harboring Herr Hitler?"

The Under-Secretary did not reply.

Commander Oliver Locker-Lampson asked whether the Government was aware the German Minister had bought a house in Dublin in which he had stored a large amount of valuables," and questioned whether they would be available for reparations to the British Government.

"I have seen that report in the press," was Evans's only reply.

GEN. MONTGOMERY RESTING

Reported Exhausted by Campaign; Seeing Only Personal Friends

London, May 15—(AP)—Field Marshal Montgomery is resting at the home of Major T. Reynolds, headmaster of Amesbury School at Hindhead, Surrey. It was reported that the Field Marshal, exhausted from the European campaign, was seeing only personal friends, and that he would remain several days before returning to duty.

London, May 15 (A. P.).—R. A. F. bombers flew in 4,500 more liberated prisoners of war today from Germany.

Gen. Koenig's Command Extended To Normandy

London, May 15 (AP)—Brig. Gen. E. F. Koenig, commander of the United States Army United Kingdom base, has also assumed command of the Normandy base section in France as part of the general policy of scaling down operations in the European theater, it was announced today.

Koenig has assigned Col. Donald S. McConaughy, of New York city, chief army transportation officer in England, as his deputy commander for the United Kingdom base.

German Bomb On Roof Of London House 2 Years

London, May 15 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John Conn spent nearly two years blissfully unaware that an unexploded German anti-personal bomb was hanging over their heads.

The bomb, a relic of the Nazi air Blitz on London, was found today on the roof of their house.

Churchill's Son Returns To His Commons Seat

London, May 15 (AP)—Major Randolph Churchill, Prime Minister Churchill's son, returned to Commons today after serving with the British Army in the Middle East.

The younger Churchill, who is a Conservative party member from Preston, was at one time a liaison officer with Marshal Tito's forces in Yugoslavia.

Ruthenian Regime Held Seeking To Join Russia

London, May 15 (AP)—The Czechoslovak Press Bureau announced tonight that an autonomous government had been formed in Carpatho-Ukraine (Ruthenia) and was seeking union with Russia.

For the present, the bureau said, this group still is recogninzing the authority of the Czechoslovak Government, whose leaders already have expressed belief an amicable agreement could be reached with Moscow in line with the wishes of the population.

About 500,000 persons live in the mountainous area, described by one Czechoslovak Government official here as the poorest in the country.

London, May 15 (A. P.).—The War Crimes Commission today announced that Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering's name was placed on the first list of war criminals in November, 1944.

Tonight the Luxembourg radio said that the Allied military authorities had closed the German frontier to prevent the escape of war criminals and other wanted persons. Anyone attempting an unauthorized crossing will be shot, Luxembourg added.

Meanwhile today new warnings were sounded in the House of Lords that the Allies must treat Goering as a criminal. Lord Woolton, the Minister of Reconstruction, declared: "There was no chivalry in the sinking of the Athenia . . . or in German soldiers sending weapons of destruction without warning to kill women and children." Referring to the remark attributed to one German general that the end of the war was like the end of a football game, when the opponents shake hands, Lord Woolton declared: "We tell the German general and his kind that this war has not been a game that ends in handshaking."

New Hamburg Mayor Named

LONDON, May 15 (AP)—The Hamburg radio announced tonight that Rudolf Petersen had been appointed Mayor of Hamburg by the Allied Military Government, succeeding Karl Vincent Kroggman, a Nazi who temporarily stayed in office after British entry into the city. Petersen was not otherwise identified.

WHEELER IN BRITAIN

London, May 15 (A. P.).—A Senate Interstate Commerce subcommittee, headed by Chairman Burton K. Wheeler (D.-Mont.) reached London today after a trans-Atlantic flight to investigate the Army's vast communications network here and on the Continent.

With the party came Paul Porter, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, and high ranking officers of the Army and Navy Signal Corps. The other Senate members are Hawkes (R.-N. J.), McFarland (D.-Ariz.) and Capehart (R.-Ind.).

McFarland said the group "wants to see what the Army has got in the way of equipment and what is going to be available."

The group may go to Italy as well as to France and Germany.

CZECHS INVITE U. S. ENVOY

Premier Says Bids Will Also Go to Britain and France

LONDON, May 15 (AP)—The Czechoslovak Government plans to invite diplomatic representatives of the United States, Britain and France to Prague shortly, Premier Zdenek Fierlinger was quoted today as saying in an interview in Prague.

The Czechoslovak press bureau here quoted M. Fierlinger as saying that only Russia had a diplomatic representative when the Czech Government was at Kosice because it was impossible to accommodate the entire diplomatic corps there.

ENGLAND FACES CUT IN RATIONS

London, May 15 (A. P.).—There is little possibility of Britain's war-thin waistlines expanding within the next year, Col. J. J. Llewellin, Minister of Food, warned today, hinting at further reductions in rations.

Llewellin has just returned from Washington, where he planned with American and Canadian officials some steps to meet world food shortages.

"I am discussing with my colleagues how the food economies which are, I fear, inevitable," he said at a press conference. Llewellin said he expected food difficulties for a year or so.

GOLD MEDAL TO CHURCHILL

London, May 15—(AP)—Prime Minister Churchill will receive the Albert Gold Medal, highest annual award of the British Royal Society of Arts, it was announced today. President Roosevelt received the award in 1942.

Surrender Concluded, Red Communique Says

London, May 15 (AP)—Moscow announced tonight in a fourteen-word communiqué that "the reception of surrendered German officers and men on all fronts has been concluded."

There was no mention of Field Marshal Ferdinand von Schoerner and Col. Gen. Otto Woehler, who commanded the German forces which held out in Czechoslovakia after the official surrender.

12,770,000 KILLED OR TAKEN BY REDS

London, May 15 (A. P.).—The Red Army has slain or captured 12,770,000 enemy troops in almost four years of war, according to figures announced by Moscow today. More than 1,230,000 Nazis have been taken prisoner since Germany's unconditional surrender, the Soviet Information Bureau said. The figure included 101 generals.

The announcement did not say whether the Russians had captured Field Marshal Ferdinand Schoerner or Col.-Gen. Otto Woehler, commanders of the troops in Czecho-Slovakia and Northern Austria who fought on despite the Nazi capitulation.

Yesterday's roundup of 170,000 Germans brought to 3,030,000 the total killed or captured since the Red Army began its spring offensive on January 12.

FOUR U-BOATS SURRENDER

Sail into Loch Foyle, Ireland, Led By Canadian Frigate

Londonderry, Ireland, May 15—(AP)—The Canadian frigate Thetfordmines sailed into Loch Foyle on the way here today at the head of a column of four surrendered German U-boats. The Thetfordmines was doing escort duty and was not involved in accepting the actual surrenders at sea.

RICH BAG ON CHANNEL ISLES

Allies will take Weeks to Total Materiel Left by Germans

St. Helier, Jersey, May 15—(AP)—Unconditional surrender of German forces on the Channel Islands yielded so much materiel that it will take weeks to count it. Several small vessels were included in the bag.

The enemy surrendered his arms and various other equipment at various dumps set up over the Islands. Such weapons as the guns of 15-inch coastal batteries, field pieces and anti-aircraft weapons will remain where they are, however, until they can be dismantled.

Three E-boats fell into the bag, along with at least two heavily-armed flak-ships and several small freighters, coasters and tugs.

Skeleton German crews remain aboard these vessels.

Much U.S. Equipment in Europe Will Be Shipped to the Orient

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, PARIS, May 15.—(AP) All usable American war material no longer needed in Europe will be transferred to the Pacific theater as quickly as possible, most of it being shipped directly, Brig. Gen. Morris W. Gilland, deputy chief of staff for supply in the European theater of operations, disclosed today.

Calling this theater a major base for the Pacific, Gilland outlined a broad program of redeployment of equipment, material and supplies which his organization must handle while still supporting troops remaining on the continent.

Troops going directly to the Pacific will take all their equipment with them, Gilland said. Those going to the United States will carry only their maximum essential equipment, leaving the rest behind to be serviced and then sent directly to the Pacific.

The end of the war in Europe found the American armies with more than 5,500,000 tons of supplies on the continent. This included 700,000 tons of ammunition and more than a million separate items ranging from locomotives to watch repair tools.

Gilland's organiaztion is faced with the problem of rehabilitating, packing and shipping much of this material. As an example of the tremendous task, he pointed out that the program calls for repair of 94,000,000 pieces of clothing by the Quartermaster Corps, 160,000 motor vehicles by the Ordnance department, 255,000 radios by the Signal Corps, 21,000 pieces of construction equipment by the Engineer Corps, 2,000,000 gas masks by the Chemical Warfare Division and 23,000 pieces of electro-medical equipment by the Medical Corps.

American armies in Europe have roughly 3,000,000 small arms, 11,000 medium and light artillery pieces, 350,000 automatic weapons and mortars, 62,000 combat vehicles and 271,000 general purpose and special purpose vehicles among their equipment, it was disclosed for the first time.

The entire supply policy in the future will be based on needs in the Pacific. It is up to the War department to decide the disposition of the excess—all above the needs in this theater; as well as the surplus—all over and above the need of the War department for all theaters. Normal procedure is for the surplus to be offered for sale.

The bulk of all the equipment in Europe will need some repairs, Gilland said. Most of the repair work as well as the packaging, weatherproofing and the like will be done by army personnel.

Gilland said that as early as last fall a code system was worked out to halt the flow of war material to Europe as soon as possible after victory. Under this code, everything shipped to Europe was marked either "STO," meaning stop in case of V-E day, or "SHP," meaning continue shipment because it will be needed anyway. These markings appeared on all requisitions.

Venereal Disease Rate Increase Is Forecast

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, May 15 (AP)—The head of the venereal disease control section in the office of the chief surgeon said today that venereal diseases among American troops in Germany likely would double within six months despite the army rule against fraternization.

The officer, who declined to allow use of his name, said this increase would be due simply to the end of the war and not attributable to the non-fraternization policy, as has been suggested in published reports.

He discounted the theory that soldiers purposely avoided physical checkups for fear of being fined for fraternizing. The officer said that the venereal disease rate is normally four times as high among rear area troops as among those in the front lines.

War Outlasted Eisenhower's Guess

Unexpected Length Attributed to Nazis' Fighting Till Reich Was Destroyed.

Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, May 15 (A. P.).—As swiftly as the war was won, it can now be disclosed that it took longer than Gen. Eisenhower and his staff had expected—longer by as much as five months. But that was because of the Nazis' decision to fight on after military defeat and till the final collapse occurred in the heart of a wrecked Germany.

On the basis of strategy and military success, the campaigns from the African landings to the final victory averaged up to or ahead of schedule. In Africa, in Italy and on the western front, three great gambles were taken, each of which might have shortened the war by months. They were the task force effort to seize Bizerte, the effort at Anzio to crop off all of Italy south of Rome, and the Arnhem effort to outflank the German line in the west. None succeeded fully.

How the Time Table Worked

This was the time pattern: The African campaign, begun with the November 7 landing in 1942, was cleaned up in the spring of 1943 almost to the week when it had been expected—but Eisenhower had hoped for something even better. "I'm an incurable optimist," he once told the correspondents.

Hopes for a quicker cleanup were based on the chance that Bizerte might be won quickly with a small task force. It was regarded only as a gamble-worth trying. But even though it failed, it put the Allies in a position to strike their spring blow and knock the props out from under the final Axis stand there.

Sicily went well ahead of schedule, largely because of Gen. Patton's long dash into Messina. The capture of that city set the stage for the swift carrying of the campaign onto the tip of Italy.

But from that time on the whole campaign went more slowly than correspondents believed it had been planned. In the ridge and mountain country the Germans fought furiously and progress was slow and hard.

It had been hoped to reach and take Naples in three days. That would have been on September 12. Actually it took until October 1.

The Anzio landing was undertaken on the chance that it would collapse the whole enemy line south of Rome, but it did not do so and the war dragged into the winter on lines the Allies had hoped to have well behind them.

The drive against Rome, when it did come, surged ahead faster than planned—but bogged down again in the Po Valley.

In its final stage, the last Allied attack still met more resistance than had been expected at that stage in the deterioration of the German force, but once that resistance began to crack, the foldup and the surrender came more quickly than many official observers had hoped.

It touched off the series of surrenders. The last shredded remnants of the Wehrmacht gave up and final victory was won.

But it was west of the Rhine and east of the Oder that the Wehrmacht received its death blow, though it did not topple until all Germany was overrun.

It was obvious early that Eisenhower hoped at least that the job could be done and over the same year as the D day landings. He said before leaving Africa that the war might be brought to a victorious end in 1944. As he put it later, he learned a lesson from that prediction and made no more.

But from a purely military viewpoint he had been right—Germany lost her battle in France and only Hitler's throttlehold on the German people kept her in the war to its ruinous end.

480 SHIPS FOUND IN GERMAN PORTS

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, May 15 (A. P.).—At least 480 German ships, perhaps half of them sunk, damaged or scuttled, have been found in German ports surrendered to the Allies, Supreme Headquarters disclosed today. The vessels include the liners Europa and Bremen and two cruisers. The 49,746-ton Europa is in relatively good condition but silted in, and the 51,731-ton Bremen is a total loss. The 8-inch-gun cruiser Hipper was found satobaged in her dock at Kiel, and the 6-inch-gun cruiser Emden was stranded and burned out. A dozen submarines were found scuttled at Kiel.

At least thirty-one U-boats were taken over fairly intact, while at least twenty-one were scuttled or damaged.

WITH THE SIXTH ARMY GROUP IN GERMANY, May 15—(AP) The first steps towards rehabilitating the German power industry have been taken at a conference between German representatives and Allied military government officials at Heidelberg, it was announced at Sixth Army group headquarters tonight.

TALKS WITH NAZI CAPTIVES BANNED

SHAEF Must Now Grant Permission For Interviews

Augsburg, May 15 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's crackdown on senior army officers for reported friendly treatment of captured Nazi big shots was followed today by a ban on press conferences for German prisoners unless specific permission is granted by supreme Allied headquarters.

"The line right now is that there just won't be any interviews," said a public-relations officer at United States 7th Army headquarters.

Previously the 7th Army had arranged interviews with Field Marshal Karlgerd von Rundstedt, Reichsmarshal Herman Goering, Field Marshal Albert Kesselring and Admiral Nicholas Horthy, the former Hungarian regent.

World-Wide Rumpus

Reports of Goering's reception at headquarters of the United States 36th Division kicked up a world-wide rumpus because the former No. 2 Nazi ate chicken and shook hands with a general.

All attempts to see King Leopold III of Belgium, meanwhile, were frustrated by an armed guard being maintained around the area where the monarch is held. Correspondents were told that if they were caught in the area they would be arrested.

quarters that day. The menu both for the officers' mess and the GI chowline was chicken, peas, mashed potatoes, fruit salad and coffee.

Goering surrendered to a Thirty-sixth Division detachment on May 8, was held under guard in Fischorn Castle that night and brought to Kitzbuehel by automobile the following day. After eating lunch, he was flown to Seventh Army Headquarters.

The Seventh Army statement today added that "as for special quarters for Goering, upon arrival at the Army he was confined at a Seventh Army detention camp."

Nazi General Says Leadership Faulty

WITH THE U. S. SEVENTH ARMY, May 15—(AP) Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian, captive former German chief of staff, was quoted by Stars and Stripes today as saying he could have stopped the Allied landings in Normandy if he had been commanding the Western front instead of Field Marshal von Rundstedt.

The Germans still had more than 5,000 tanks operating on all fronts at the end of the war, he said. Guderian blamed the German army's defeat on poor leadership, although he expressed loyalty to Hitler.

Guderian rated the German Tiger as best among the world's tanks, the Russian Stalin as second and the U. S. Sherman as third.

Army Denies Coddling Goering, Bans Unauthorized Interviews

WITH THE UNITED STATES SEVENTH ARMY, May 15 (AP)—An official statement was issued by the Seventh Army today asserting that "there were no handshakes or chicken dinners at Headquarters of the Seventh Army" for captured Reich Marshal Hermann Goering.

The statement followed a declaration by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower yesterday that he regretted reported instances in which senior officers had treated captured Nazi and high German officials on a "friendly enemy" basis. The reception accorded Goering had been criticized widely in British and American newspapers.

The meal served Goering by the Thirty-sixth Division was the same as that served to every American soldier on duty at division head-

BRITISH SEEKING HIMMLER HIDE-OUT

Flensburg, Germany, May 15 (A. P.).—British security police and intelligence officers, acting on rumors submitted by Danish underground organizers, are leading a search for Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler in the Flensburg area.

Germans also have been alerted to watch for Himmler. It is believed that Himmler and his reported bodyguard of several hundred fanatical SS men, might nave come to Flensburg because the heavily wooded area and numerous small islands provide excellent cover. The region also is close to the Danish, Swedish and Norwegian borders.

Rumors have circulated that Himmler recently got in touch with Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, who has a headquarters in Flensburg, and asked his protection. According to these accounts Himmler was told that if the Germans found him he would be turned over to the Allies.

A mission from Supreme Allied Headquarters now is quartered on the German liner Patria at Flensburg. American generals aboard the ship are in constant touch with Doenitz, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel and Col.-Gen. Gustav Jodl, as well as other high German military and naval men and diplomats.

The communications of a German signal school, including a power radio transmitter, give Doenitz contact with the remainder of Germany. The Patria has direct communications with Supreme Headquarters.

Doenitz has not been recognized as the head of the German State and his position has mystified diplomatic circles around the world. In discussing this matter one Allied officer said that Doenitz "is the only man who has the authority and the power to carry out our orders."

Thus, word of the Army's penalty obviously filtered into Germany. That at least some Nazi-minded frauleins heard of it and made their plans is now a matter of record. Others perhaps "innocently"—if that word is fitting—fell into the scheme.

But suddenly in Germany the military police began to be approached by numbers of women crying "Rape!"

Three Admit Racket.

Arrests were made immediately, but investigations prior to courts-martial began to unearth many discrepancies, for instance:

Out of three such complaints to one division, medical investigation revealed that two of the girls were virgins, and civilians testified that the third was a known prostitute.

All three finally admitted they had been prompted by the departing Germans to try the rape racket as a means of harassing the conquerors.

Several cases of German girls found fraternizing with doughboys first appeared as sex cases. The frauleins realized they had been found out and, mistakenly thinking they too would be punished for such fraternizing, they immediately cried "rape" in hopes of saving themselves.

The soldiers were punished for such fraternizing — but there's a difference between a $65 fine and hanging.

Frauleins' Phony Rape Yells Fail as Sabotage

With the AEF in Germany, May 15 (AP).—Early as it is in the occupation of Germany, the American Army already appears to have won one major battle against an evil which might have seriously undermined its authority. It was the battle of the fake rape cases.

As yet, few level-headed high Army officials are certain whether it was an organized campaign of subtle sex sabotage or merely a sort of individual feminine guerrilla campaign.

Hanging the Penalty.

Whatever its origin—either individual or collective—it has pretty definitely failed.

To understand the seriousness of the original situation when American troops first swept into Germany it must be realized that, for both moral and disciplinary reasons, our Army views rape as civilian courts view murder.

American soldiers have been hanged for rape in several European countries where this war has been fought.

German Miners Organize

AACHEN, Germany, May 15 (AP) — The Free German Workers Union, started two months ago with permission of the American Military Government at Aachen, has completed its organization with a membership of 125 hard coal miners in this region. At a meeting dedicated to "the late President of the United States—a great friend of labor," the miners this week elected a first World War veteran as president. He denounced the help given in the past to the Nazi party by German capitalists. Two official observers, Maj. Donald B. Hussey of Columbus, Ohio, and Maj. Jack Bradford of St. Paul, Minn., attended the election.

Japan's Envoy in Custody

Ambassador to Germany and 130 Aids Called "Untouchable"

WITH THE UNITED STATES 7TH ARMY, May 15 (AP).—The Japanese Ambassador to Germany, General Hiroshi Oshima, and 130 of his assistants are in the 7th Army custody, but an official statement today said all were protected and, "as diplomatic personnel, practically untouchable."

The 101st Cavalry group of the 7th Army seized the residence at Bad Gastein in which Oshima and his staff were housed. The official statement said the Japanese did not surrender to the Americans. They include members of the Japanese diplomatic staffs for Germany, France, Italy and Austria.

rest of us to the Burgomeister's house. We were lined up there, and women and kids threw stones as us for half an hour. The padding of our flying clothes saved us a lot of bruises. Then Hitler Youths clubbed us on our backs.

"We protested to our Volkssturm guard, but he just laughed. Then the burgomeister got a rope with a noose and told the town folk they could hang us. About that time some Luftwaffe officers came along and broke up the necktie party and took us to a headquarters in Berlin for questioning. We were in a dungeon there for three days. Finally they took us elsewhere for questioning and then we wound up at Barth."

Other liberated American airmen who arrived in Luensburg from Barth today were Lieut. Michael V. Duslarowitz of 408 Georgia avenue, Brooklyn, shot down by flak i nthe north of Italy on December 26, 1944; and Sergt. Joseph J. Maer of 1430 60th street, Brooklyn.

Yank Declares Mayor of Berlin Suburb Gave Crowd a Rope to Hang Americans.

Lueneburg, Germany, May 15 (A. P.).—A liberated American prisoner, Sergt. Emmanuel Pappas of Omaha, Neb., said today that some airmen shot down over Berlin were lined up by German civilians and stoned in public.

Pappas, a gunner, 24 years old, was in a Flying Fortress shot down over Berlin on October 6, 1944. He was eventually taken to a prison camp at Barth, and when the camp was overrun by the Russians he made a two-weeks' journey on foot to the Lueneburg clearing center, whence he was sent by plane to the United Kingdom.

"We had dropped our bombs on the center of Berlin and were turning for home when the Folkewulfs jumped us," he said. "They knocked out our engines and we spiraled down. Most of us bailed out and finally landed in a town on the outskirts of Berlin. No sooner had we landed than a civilian came after me from 100 yards away. He was armed with a hunting rifle with a telescopic sight. I didn't run after I saw how he was armed.

"They rounded all of us up. Our tail gunner was wounded, but got down safely. The pilot was giving him first aid. Civilians with clubs knocked the pilot on the head and shot the wounded gunner. They took the

Far Eastern Force will Use American Equipment in War on Japs

With the Canadian Forces in Europe, May 15—(AP)—A Canadian Far Eastern force will be organized on American lines, will use American equipment and will serve with the Americans, it was learned here.

Terms of service in the Far East have not yet been received from Ottawa but Canadians who intend to volunteer hope they will receive American rates of pay.

In Ottawa the Canadian press said it had been learned reliably that the Cabinet would meet tomorrow to approve a scale of pay for the Canadian Far East force and that it was understood the rate would increase with each six months of service, although no figures were disclosed.

DOENITZ REGIME FACES ACTION

SHAEF Attitude Is That It Is Not a Government.

Paris, May 15 (A. P.).—Clarification of the status of the Doenitz government in conquered Germany is believed imminent, but until it comes there is no tendency here to regard the Flensburg group as anything more than an instrument of surrender. The word here is that the Doenitz government is not ruling Germany—the Allies are doing that and are going to continue it for some time—but is serving at least in some respects as a central authority representing the German Army and guaranteeing its submission to the Allied Powers.

Grand Admiral Doenitz, successor to Hitler; Field Marshal Ernst Busch, last commander in the north, and the rest are still in Flensburg, near the Danish frontier. Pending an announcement which is expected to clear up the situation, headquarters is reluctant to comment on steps being taken there.

But it seemed an obvious conclusion that the next step would be either (1) to abolish any form of German government other than an Allied military regime until conditions are right to set up a council of control, or (2) to take over the Flensburg Government, direct it completely and build upon it as a basic structure.

In the first case, probably no action would be taken until the surrendered Germany Army is disposed of, its arms and ammunition collected and its personnel placed in camps under its own officers, but under Allied supervision. This task is believed nearing completion.

In the second case, action might be taken immediately by moving into Flensburg, taking the present surrender government into custody and setting up a military government.

In either case, moves are expected soon.

DE GAULLE REVIEWS WAR FOR ASSEMBLY

PARIS, May 15 (AP) — France gambled her existence in the European war and won, Gen. Charles de Gaulle told a cheering victory session of the Consultative Assembly today, but he added that he foresaw a long road ahead.

"This victory is the beginning of the Fourth Republic," he said. "We did not wait to be attacked and invaded before accepting the greatest risk of our history. We did it without illusions of conquest or passion for revenge. We did it in reply to the eternal law that has placed us in the vanguard of a civilization founded on the rights of peoples and respect for the human person."

General de Gaulle told the Assembly that "the lightning surprise inflicted by the German mechanized force on our military system, the impotence of a political regime inadequately fitted to face a great trial, the surrender masked by senile glory—these contributed to plunging France to the depths of oppression."

AIRMAN HAS 267 POINTS

Bombardier of Marauder Leads Enlisted Men in French Area

Paris, May 15—(AP)—Technical Sergeant Stanley C. Farr, a U. S. Ninth Air Force Marauder bombardier, is en route home with the highest discharge point total yet found among enlisted men in this theater—267 points.

Farr, of North Hoosick, N. Y., has flown 160 combat missions in Marauders and Havocs in the Mediterranean and European theaters, for which he received the Air Medal and 31 Oak Leaf Clusters, giving him 160 points.

He has seven battle stars for participation in campaigns in Algeria-French Morocco, Tunisia, Sicily, Italy, Normandy, northern France and Germany, giving him 35 more points. He has 48 points for total service since enlisting April 22, 1941, and 24 points for overseas service.

Farr is a bachelor.

480 NAZI SHIPS FOUND IN PORTS

Liner Europa in Fairly Good Shape, Bremen Is Total Loss.

PARIS, May 15—(AP) Supreme Allied headquarters in a preliminary report today said at least 480 German ships, including the passenger liners Europa and Bremen and two cruisers, had been found in ports surrendered to the Allies and that perhaps half of them were sunk, scuttled or damaged.

The report said 110 warships, ranging from destroyers to gunboats and minesweepers were found in fairly good shape, along with 65 merchant ships of various sizes.

The 49,746-ton Europa was in relatively good shape except for silt but the 51,731-ton Bremen was a total loss.

The 8-inch-gun cruiser Admiral Hipper was found sabotaged at Kiel and the 6-inch-gun cruiser Emden was stranded and burned out. A dozen submarines were found scuttled at Kiel where devastation to dock facilities by Allied bombs was found to be greater than expected.

Thirty-one U-boats were taken intact by the Allies and in addition 16 prefabricated submarines were found on the ways. Nine had been completed but sabotaged. Twenty-one other U-boats were found scuttled or damaged.

In addition to the cruisers, passenger liners, and U-boats the Allies found merchantmen, minesweepers, escort vessels, ferries, landing craft, flak-ships, R-boats, and depot ships—some usable and some not.

The Royal Navy's white enisgn or American colors were hoisted over all vessels found in the surrendered harbors.

While damages to port installations were found extensive at Kiel destruction to dock facilities at Bremerhaven, Wesermuende, Brunsbuettelkoog, Wilhelmshaven, Luebeck and Cuxhaven were found to be far less than had been expected.

The damage at heavily-bombed Hamburg was not as severe as expected although 50 large and medium merchantmen, 19 floating docks and many small vessels were reported sunk. However, a number of deep-water berths were clear.

Harbor works at Bremen were badly damaged but berths for eight Liberty ships were immediately available.

The last previous report on the liner Bremen which made a spectacular dash to Germany at the start of the war was begun on March 18, 1941, when the Germans said the big liner had been heavily damaged by fire the previous day.

The Berlin report then said "An investigation of the conflagration has not yet been concluded."

British Unit, Tito Partisans Both Seek to Rule Same City

By LYNN HEINZERLING

WITH THE BRITISH EIGHTH ARMY, Klagenfurt, Austria, May 15.—(AP) Marshal Tito's partisans issued a new proclamation today demanding that every Austrian worker here report his former job to them under threat of punishment, and the delicate situation created by the presence of two distinct military administrations grew steadily more difficult.

The Yugoslav military authorities were operating seemingly as though the British Eighth Army did not exist, although British military police are at almost every important street intersection and the overwhelming military strength in this area is British.

Today's proclamation followed one yesterday which said the Yugoslav army had entered Carinthia, of which Klagenfurt is the provincial capital, "to guarantee for the entire Slovene Austrian population true and popular democracy, freedom and prosperity in a new victorious and strong greater Yugoslavia."

Side by side with the Yugoslav proclamations on many walls is a proclamation of the British military government prescribing the conduct of local inhabitants under the British military administration.

British authorities today extended the curfew from 8:30 p. m. to 10 p. m.

The Yugoslav work proclamation apparently was inspired by the flight of many workingmen to the hills.

British Assume Burdens

While the partisans are issuing proclamations in the name of the Yugoslav military administration they are not assuming the innumerable burdens which such administration entails.

The problems of feeding the thousands of refugees in Klagenfurt and providing elementary necessities for the tens of thousands of surrendered German troops passing through the city and camped in the hills in the area are being carried out by the British.

British military authorities here have expressed no opinions as to the rightful owners of the disputed Carinthia territory but are attempting to establish a workable military administration in the territory presumably agreed upon as their occupation area by the three victorious powers. Their efforts, however, are seriously hampered by the sudden intrusion of this ancient political squabble.

In Klangenfurt partisan sentries stand guard at many places alongside British sentries and the newspaper plant of the Carinthia Zeitung was in partisan hands while the British held a small radio station.

The partisans pasted a proclamation in Klagenfurt yesterday morning announcing they had established military law in the area and that the population was obliged to obey their instructions.

It is impossible to obtain accurate figures on the percentage of Slovenes and Austrians now in the areas of Carinthia and Styria which Tito claims for Yugoslavia.

BONOMI CABINET MAY RESIGN SOON

New Government To Be Held To Truce On Monarchy

Rome, May 15 (AP)—Premier Ivanoe Bonomi's Government is expected to resign shortly and it was learned today that the Allied Commission for Italy has been advised by Washington and London that any new government must obey the armistice terms and also observe a truce on the monarchy.

Resignation of the Bonomi Government in accordance with a preliberation pledge is expected after the ministers and representatives of the Committee of National Liberation complete a tour of northern Italy where they will examine the political situation. The political leaders expect to leave Rome Thursday.

Signed By Two Groups

The pledge to observe a truce on the monarchy was signed by both Bonomi governments—the first time when Bonomi succeeded Pietro Badoglio following the liberation of Rome, and again when Bonomi formed a new Cabinet after the December crisis.

The Allied decision to hold any new government to that pledge is almost certain to be bitterly received by Leftist groups who have held up to this time that the "truce was only a means of giving the monarchy time to prepare itself for a showdown battle."

The pledge required of the previous governments was not to raise the monarchy question until all Italy was liberated and until the Italian people had had a full opportunity to decide for themselves whether they wanted a king or a republic.

To Safeguard Lines

The Allies, it is understood, are taking the position that the situation in the country is still warlike in view of the large armies stationed in Italy and the necessity of safeguarding communication lines which might be endangered by any political battle.

It was also undecided whether the Allies would favor a plebiscite or a constitutional assembly to determine the fate of the monarchy. Republican left-wingers want the issue decided by a constitutional assembly, while monarchists favor a plebiscite.

All the terms of the armistice still are secret, and there is no indication here when, or if ever, they will be made public. However, last winter Harold MacMillan, acting president of the Allied Commission, announced a liberalized interpretation of the terms that removed Allied control from large sections of liberated Italy and also limited Allied veto power on cabinet appointments to the ministries of war, navy and air.

Trial Of Germans Asked

Meanwhile, the Government announced that Italy had asked the War Crimes Commission in London that Germans responsible for the Ardeatine caves massacre March 24, 1944, be turned over to Italian authorities for trial in Rome.

More than 300 hostages were slain in the caves near Rome's ancient Appian Way in reprisal for the bombing of a German SS column which cost the lives of 33 Nazis.

Pietro Caruso, Rome's police chief who was executed for his part in the massacre, testified at his trial that the reprisal order came from Marshal Albert Kesselring's command.

German Prisoners Placed

Meanwhile, an Italian communiqué announced that the Allies had placed German prisoners held in Italy at the disposal of the Italian Government for reconstruction work during the time they are detained in Italy.

The prisoners will be fed and maintained by the Allies but guarded by Italians and used for work planned by Italians, the announcement said.

Bonomi in Plea for Decision Without Force in Trieste Area

By GEORGE BRIA

ROME, May 15—(AP) Premier Ivanhoe Bonomi said today that the territorial question of the Trieste area should be discussed by the Italians and Yugoslavs "when the passions of war are spent," and that the issue must not "be prejudiced by acts of force."

Talking to a group of national liberation committeemen who arrived recently from disputed Venezia Giulia province, the Italian leader said his government had repeatedly asked that Allied military government be established in the area—now jointly occupied by Allied forces and the Yugoslavs, with the latter reported exercising civil control at Trieste, Gorizia, and other localities.

Bonomi asserted that "every unilateral decision, every act of force, every occupation contrary to the will of the peoples. . . is cause for future wars," and added: "If we are severe with the nationalism we had in our own homes and from which we freed ourselves we must be just as severe with that born elsewhere which threatens to disturb peace among peoples."

The Premier talked to the committeemen in the presence of foreign and Italian press representatives, the latter loudly cheering him. One committeeman, a priest who refused to disclose his name on the grounds that it might cause reprisals to his relatives in the disputed area, thanked Bonomi and declared all the area, including Fiume, desired to be reunited to Italy.

Bonomi said the present Italian boundaries were not established by "right of conquest," but were agreed upon by three Italian representatives and three Yugoslav delegates at Rapallo following the first World war.

"I can say with a sure conscience that at Rapallo the will of the two peoples fused freely in a cordial accord which should have born the fruits of understanding and reciprocal friendship," he added.

Acknowledging, however that the Fascist regime "sterilized our work by ideas and methods founded on force"—a reference to Fascist oppression of the Slovenes—Bonomi said Italy now was therefore willing to reexamine the question with the "elected representatives of a Free Yugoslavia."

KING ISSUE BARRED IN ITALY

Allies Warn Leaders not to Open Political Argument

Rome, May 15—(AP)—The Allied Commission has been notified by London and Washington that any new Italian Government to succeed that of Premier Ivanoe Bonomi must pledge itself not to open a political battle on whether Italy shall retain the monarchy, it was learned today.

Himmler's Wife, Daughter Believe Gestapo Chief Dead

By SID FEDER

BOLZANO, Italy, May 15—(AP) Heinrich Himmler's wife and daughter have not heard from him since mid-April and actually have believed him dead for the past few weeks, Frau Margaret Boden Himmler told the Associated Press today.

Wan and sickly looking, the Gestapo chief's wife added that she felt death would be the best thing for all Nazi leaders now.

She and her 15-year-old daughter, Gudrun, said they had not seen Himmler since last November, have had no word from him since about April 15 and had no idea of his present whereabouts. As a result, she said she was somewhat surprised to hear rumors that he was a prisoner.

Frau Himmler, her daughter and her sister were found Sunday in a splendidly-appointed mountain chalet in the Italian Tyrol some 15 miles north of Bolzano by members of the 88th division.

One of Himmler's three personal aides, Capt. Erich Schnitzler, who had come down from Munich with them April 24 to see that they were comfortable, led Capt. Harry Riback, Chicago, and Lts. Clark B. Keeler, Washington, D. C.; Philip Rossi, Barre, Vt.; and Tom A. Lucid, Jersey City, N. J., up a narrow Alpine trail to the chalet after he had been picked up in the Bolzano headquarters of Gen. Karl Wolff, chief of the SS forces.

One German soldier standing guard at the mountain hideaway offered no resistance.

Like members of the family, Schnitzler—who was dressed in civilian clothes when taken—said he had no knowledge of Himmler's whereabouts. He also said he had not seen his boss for months.

Relating her last contacts with her husband, Frau Himmler said she saw him for three days near Munich in mid-November.

"After that Himmler wrote several times—I believe from near Berlin," she said. "His last letter came by special messenger the middle of April. He also communicated with me by phone several times up to some time in February."

The 51-year-old woman, who with her daughter is to be classed by American authorities as "displaced persons," not prisoners, came to Bolzano April 24. She went to Wolff's headquarters because of the bombings and approaching threat of capture to Munich.

It was known that Himmler had been in the Colle Isarco headquarters of the Gestapo a few miles south of the Brenner Pass about a month ago.

"I believe he was killed with the other Reich leaders such as Hitler in the fighting for Berlin," Frau Himmler insisted. Then she shrugged. "He's better off dead—they're all better dead."

Both she and her daughter continually referred to him in the third person as "Himmler" or "Reichsfuehrer." She explained that was the custom but that among the family they called him "Bopie."

The first question she asked when the 88th's men entered the chalet was: "Are we going to be killed?"

Lucid explained they would not be executed "merely because you are the wife and daughter of Himmler." He told them they would be treated well by the Americans—"better than the Germans treated similar persons under similar circumstances."

He left them then, but a few minutes later Frau Himmler burst into tears and called him back.

"I am thankful to be captured by Americans," she sobbed. "Thank you for your kindness."

States Eighty-eighth Division "permission" to set up a command post, driving through the streets in powerful cars, fraternizing with civilians or eating in restaurants catering almost exclusively to German soldiers. But now the honeymoon is over.

Col. W. C. Fry of Washington, D. C., Assistant Commander of the Eighty-eighth, took over yesterday as commandant of the town and within a few hours he had ended one of the most fantastic situations which had grown out of the German surrender. He tolr the Nazis bluntly that they were a defeated army and that from now on they would be treated as such.

Still Sing Hitler Song.

I had written a story last week about what was going on in Bolzano—headquarters of both SS troopers and the German Army—after spending two days looking over the town and listening to our soldiers by the dozen asking: "What the hell's cooking—who won this war?" But the story was stopped. There has been no official explanation of why the situation was permitted to exist for ten days after the German surrender in Italy on May 2.

Until today Gen. Karl Wolff, head of the SS in Italy and of Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler's personal staff, and Gen. Heinrich von Vietinghoff-Scheel, German commander in the north of Italy, retained elaborate headquarters here. The officers and men of their outfits paraded around the streets and had everything just about their own way. The Eighty-eighth was told to keep its hands off.

For at least three nights groups of fifteen or twenty local youngsters—obviously holdovers from Hitler's Youth Organization—goose-stepped down the main streets in the early evening singing "Hitler Is My Fuehrer" and the "Horst Wessel." It amused the sidewalk-watching German soldiers and shocked the G. I.'s.

What is more a German paper was printed here for several days after the surrender and our occupation.

Time Bombs Still Bursting.

Today Capt. Milton Weingart of 96th street, New York, investigated a German military hospital here in a building covered with red crosses. He found not only 1,400 German military patients—only half of whom had anything wrong with them—but also enough rifles, machine pistols, hand grenades, and small mortars in one cache to fill a two and one-half-ton truck.

Not far from here a time bomb went off in a former Gestapo headquarters at Colle Isarco, where one of our battalions had set up headquarters, and wounded twenty-two men four days after Germany's surrender. Yesterday in Bressanone, which is even closer to Bolzano a huge building the Germans had moved out of only twenty-four hours before, leaving stores of ammunition behand, blew up just as "chow time." No Americans were injured but an Italian woman said that three of her children were in the building.

Col. Fry has cleaned up most of the situation now, but his broom is still busy. Wolff has been placed in confinement and was evacuated today, along with most of his staff. The Germans still around have been ordered to keep off the streets unless they have passes signed by Fry's headquarters. The Germans have also been told to stop fraternizing with the civilians and have been told bluntly that they will be thrown in jail for any violations and tried by an American court.

German Aide Continues As Minister To Holy See

Vatican City, May 15 (AP)—Baron Ernst von Wiezsaecker continues to serve formally as German Minister to the Holy See, it was learned reliably today, although his functions practically have ceased and his position is more that of a guest than a diplomatic representative.

The Vatican is not expected to raise the question of his official status and he probably will remain in his present capacity until a new German government is formed.

ATHENS, May 15—(AP) Archbishop Damaskinos has assured the people of the Dodecanese they will be forever part of Greece.

Paying tribute in an address at Rhodes to Greek and British troops who liberated the island from Italian control, the Greek Regent said:

"You have been given liberty and you will never be deprived of it. My pilgrimage to Rhodes is official recognition of the spiritual and intellectual ties uniting the Dodecanese with Greece. The message of liberty I am bringing you is guaranteed by the justice of our great friends and Allies."

NAZIS BUILT CITY UNDER BERLIN

MAY 16 1945

Many Killed Themselves and Families in Fort below Tiergarten

GILMORE

By The Associated Press

Moscow, May 15.—The fortress beneath the Tiergarten where the defenders of Berlin made their last stand was in reality a great underground city. It housed many residents of Berlin long after vast portions of the German capital were reduced to rubble, the Soviet army newspaper Red Star said today.

Scores of Nazi officials killed themselves and their families there rather than submit to capture, the paper declared.

"Only by careful examination of this underground city is one able to comprehend what force was needed to make Germany run up the flag of surrender," a Red Star correspondent wrote from Berlin.

"Here in Charlottenburger Strasse we see ruins around a gray stone house. It seems as if there had been no life there for a long time. But a narrow passage runs along the wall. Around a pile of bricks there is a strange construction made of concrete. By removing one large stone, one sees a descending staircase.

"Five to six meters under the ruins begins the opening to the huge underground layout with a tremendous corridor, massive doors, electricity and telephones. Obviously civilians lived here earlier.

Special Unit

"There is fine furniture in many of the side wings. Underwear is scattered all over the floors of the rooms. There are even baby buggies. When the front came close a German military unit moved into here. Documents show it was a special sapper battalion of the Berlin garrison.

"We discover a German family. Our captain explains some German official poisoned his entire family and hanged himself. He left just this note: 'Here's where the Hitler regime has brought us.'

The Soviet correspondent was conducted by an officer and a German who speaks Russian.

"We saw a long corridor lighted by candles and kerosene," he wrote. "On both sides of the corridor stood many women and children. 'They've lived here since 1942, said the German."

The correspondent reported the Germans said all in this underground city had worked in a grenade factory to pay for their shelter. They were specially favored families.

The main government institutions were concentrated deep underground, the writer said.

Quisling's Hearing Postponed Indefinitely

Oslo, Norway, May 15 (AP)—Vidkun Quisling's preliminary hearing, set for yesterday, has been postponed indefinitely while Quisling idles in a cell demanding treatment "commensurate with my position."

The reason for the postponement was not disclosed. Persons in daily contact with Quisling describe him as alternately weeping and raving at the turn of his fortunes. He has no visitors except those coming in an official capacity.

Leon Degrelle, Belgium Quisling, Held In Spain

Brussels, May 15 (AP)—The entire family of Leon Degrelle, Belgian quisling held in custody in Spain, has been arrested upon returning from Germany, it was disclosed today.

Spanish authorities are holding Degrelle at San Sebastian, to which he fled from Germany.

Among those under arrest here are his father, Elward Degrelle; his mother; his sister, the wife of Charles Raty, manager of the Rexist Presses, and a sister-in-law. All had fled to Germany when the Allies conquered Belgium.

DANISH SHIPS ARE REPAIRED

300 Sabotaged Vessels Expected to be Seaworthy in Two Weeks

Copenhagen, May 15—(AP)—Some 300 ships of Denmark's merchant fleet are expected to be seaworthy within two weeks.

Most were rendered useless during German occupation through sabotage. Danish seamen stripped engines of essential parts during the Nazi rule. Now the parts are being brought from hiding and replaced.

One gets the impression that if Denmark had more coal, life would be normal. One assignment of the ships will be to take surplus butter and dairy products to England in exchange for coal. The curfew now imposed is in effect only because electric current is short.

American cigarettes have a bartering value of about $25 a carton among the smoke-loving Danes.

SAVAGE BATTLING NEAR DAVAO CITY

Bayonets, Knives and Fists Used in Bitter Hand to Hand Fighting.

MANILA, Wednesday, May 16—(AP) Fighting so savage that Americans attacked Japanese with bayonets, knives and their fists, with at least two Yanks drowning enemy troops by holding their heads below waters on a river, raged west of Davao City on Mindanao island today.

The Japanese had fled westward from Davao toward rugged mountains inland but their retreat was slowed by two rivers, the Talamo and Davao, between which Maj. Gen. Roscoe B. Woodruff's famous 24th division trapped them.

Meantime, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced in today's communique that Mindanao was 90 per cent liberated. Mindanao, with 36,906 square miles, is the second largest island in the Philippines.

The General also said Mindanao's population was 95 per cent liberated. Zamboanga, third largest city in the Philippines, has 140,000 population and Davao, fourth largest, 100,000 before the war. The island probably exceeded 400,000 in population, much of the remaining civilians living along the north and northeast coasts and in the Del Monte airfield, liberated a few days ago.

On the Davao Gulf front, the 24th division infantry was locked in a roaring battle with the Japanese. So fierce was the fighting that the 24th, Leyte's famed Victory Division battlers, killed Japanese with bayonets and knives, slugged them with helmets and grappled, wrestler fashion.

There were reports that some combatants rolled into the river, where at least two Yanks killed their adversaries by holding their heads under water. Woodruff's veterans slowly were squeezing the enemy back but the Nipponese were going all out in the savagery of their battling.

So determined are their infiltrations that land mines which the Yanks had unearthed and disarmed were recaptured by the Japanese, rearmed and replanted.

Fighting is raging mostly at the base of Hills in the fields of Cogon grass, which stands 12 feet high. Pvt. Robert A. Hatton, Stanton, Ky., narrowly missed death when a suicidal Japanese ran beneath his Cub plane and blew up himself and the plane in the center of an American position. Cpl. John W. Kelly, Arlington, Va., won the nickname "two-gun" when he used both his carbine and a pistol to explode another suicider strapped with dynamite.

7,000 JAPS KILLED IN LUZON PASS

U. S. Losses 'Sobering,' but Rest of Battle Lies Downhill

By The Associated Press

Manila, May 15.—Bloody Balete pass fell to Americans of the 25th and 37th Divisions Sunday after weeks of bitter fighting, General Douglas MacArthur announced today. Doughboys were fighting down the 80-mile mountain road leading to the extensive Cagayan valley of northern Luzon, a Japanese stronghold.

Yanks counted 7,000 enemy dead in the narrow 75-foot defile between towering mountains, Associated Press correspondent James Hutcheson reported from the field. The toll is expected to mount to 20,000 when Japanese dead sealed in the network of caves interlacing the pass walls are counted.

It was from these caves, many of them large enough for an entire company, that enemy troops held off the Yank drive into Luzon's breadbasket.

Sobering Losses for U. S.

The enemy exacted sobering losses on our troops, Major General Charles L. Mullins, Jr., reported.

But the way now lies downhill. When doughboys reach the valley floor, tanks, heavy artillery and flame-throwers can be brought to bear.

The 25th and 37th were driving toward Santa Fe and juncture with the 32d Division pushing along the Villa Verde trail from the west. They were two miles apart.

East of Manila, the 43d Division, preparing for the final assault, tightened its ring around Japanese near Ipo Dam, which supplies one-third of Manila's water.

On Mindanao, Japanese fiercely resisted the Yank drive near Davao City between the Talomo and Davao Rivers. Americans hurled back six banzai charges in company strength Saturday and Sunday. Japanese naval guns on the northern tip of nearby Samal Island, invaded by doughboys, shelled American lines on the mainland.

Jap Pocket Eliminated

The 31st Division liquidated a reinforced company of by-passed Japanese between Kibawe and Maramag in north central Mindanao. Sixty miles up Sayre highway, near the north coast, the 40th Division consolidated the captured Del Monte air center. Guerilla forces seized Cagayan port, bringing the entire north coast under American control.

The three divisions are fighting to bisect Mindanao and break up an estimated 50,000 Japanese troops.

On Tarakan Island, off Borneo, Australian and Dutch troops scored local gains. Aneta, Netherlands news agency, said 300 tons of paraffine refined from Tarakan oil was being used in repairing an airfield on the island.

Australian troops drove three miles inland from Wewak village on northeast New Guinea in their mop-up of this by-passed Japanese core of resistance.

MANILA TO GET U. S. TRUCKS

Army Will Help Restore Shattered Transportation System

Manila, May 15—(AP)—Revival of the shattered Philippines' transportation system will begin with delivery by the Army of 137 trucks for Luzon bus companies.

The vehicles mostly are American owned, and partly replace the more than 700 taken over by the U. S. Military in pre-Bataan days of the war. Fifty other vehicles have been assigned to Commonwealth Government operation in Manila as all buses and streetcars were destroyed by the Japanese.

Also assigned to the Commonwealth are more than 50 motor landing craft for conversion as food-carrying lighters for Manila.

Pilots in Mightiest Raid by Superforts Tell of 'Perfect Bombing'

Guam, May 15—(AP)—Newly scarred stretches of Japan's third largest city, burned and blackened by more than a million jellied gasoline fire bombs, testified today to the power of yesterday's unprecedented raid on Nagoya by 500 Superforts.

Huge columns of black smoke mingling with dense clouds prevented accurate observation of the full extent of damage from the greatest of the multiple blows rained on Japan by Army, Navy and Marine Corps airmen.

Returning pilots described it as perfect bombing. Two B-29s were shot down over the target, and a third lost near Iwo Jima, but its crew parachuted and was picked up.

There was no American confirmation of Tokyo reports of raids on southern Japanese airdromes by 900 carrier planes Sunday and 500 Monday. Admiral Chester W. Nimitz did announce one major U. S. warship in a fast carrier task force was damaged by Japanese aerial attacks.

Japanese propaganda despatches claimed persistent attacks were pressed against two fast U. S. carrier forces which shot the planes over Kyushu, Shikoku and southern Honshu Islands.

A total of 46 attacking Nipponese planes were shot down Sunday night and Monday morning as they attacked the carrier force and fleet units off Okinawa where two light U. S. fleet units were damaged. Eleven more enemy aircraft were brought down by Marine Corsairs sweeping across the East China Sea.

Rocket-firing land-based naval aircraft interrupted rail traffic on southern Honshu, main island of Japan, sank three enemy ships and damaged six others. The ships were bagged off Korea and Honshu. Three more were left in flames off the Indo-China coast where Philippine-based bombers smashed at rail traffic.

B-29 spokesmen anticipated heavy casualties from the Nagoya raid, directed at a densely populated nine-square-mile area in the northern section of the city.

Target areas included ammunition and artillery factories, a major electric power plant, and thousands of home production units.

As the great parade of Superforts loosed 3,500 tons of incendiaries on the area, airmen said "the entire city was covered by smoke" with some columns rising more than three miles.

B-29 Crew Beat Fire and Japs

Newark Flyer's Men Put Out Blaze in Open Bomb-bay and Bagged 4 Fighters.

Guam, May 15 (A. P.).—The crew of a B-29 commanded by Lieut. Harold E. Deskowitz of 603 Central avenue, Newark, N. J., battled fire in their bomb-bay and shot down four Jap fighters in the 500-plane raid on Nagoya yesterday. Two Superforts were lost over the target area, where crews reported dense clouds of smoke and many fires.

Another B-29 was lost near Iwo Jima because veteran pilot Col. Robert E. (Pappy) Haynes could not land in thick weather. Haynes Hermosa Beach, Cal., veteran of seventy-eight missions in Europe before he came to the Pacific, parachuted safely with his crew and Col. Walter Sweeney of San Francisco, Saipan chief of staff. They were brought ashore at Iwo.

The bravery of Gunner Sergt. H. A. Burgett of Guntersville, Ala., and Lieut. H. G. Klauke of Winnetka, Ill., in going into the bomb-bay to smother a flaming incendiary bomb, saved Lieut. Deskowitz's plane and the lives of all the crew.

With the bomb-bay doors still open Burgett and Klauke went into the bomb-bay with fire extinguishers. They smothered the fire in seven minutes and closed the bomb-bay doors. Burgett's .45 automatic pistol and Klauke's flak helmet dropped through the open doors while they were fighting the flames.

Complete damage estimates on the Nagoya raid cannot be made until photographs are studied, but crewmen agreed it must have been highly successful.

Lieut. Joseph O'Grady of 47 Elder street, Brooklyn, said "for about fifteen square miles there was just solid black smoke up to 12,000 feet. When our element made its bombing run five formations crossed the target abreast. It looked as if one giant bomb-bay opened to let bombs fall."

ERROR COSTS 3 JAPS' LIVES

Soldiers Steal Moro Boat, But Sail it Backward

Jolo, Philippine Islands, May 15—(AP)—Three Japanese soldiers committed a serious faux pas in the eyes of Moro guerillas today and it cost them their lives.

During the night the Nipponese stole a Moro vinta, one of the swiftest sailing boats in the world. They set out for the east coast of Borneo.

But the sea-going Moros were not fooled.

"Those Japanese didn't know the bow from the stern and were sailing it backward," Lieutenant Colonel Alejandro Suarez, guerilla leader, said.

DOZEN FIRES BLAZE IN HEART OF NAHA

Ruined Okinawa Capital is Dying Hard, Writer on Scene Relates

By AL DOPKING
Associated Press Correspondent

With the Sixth Marine Division at the outskirts of Naha, May 15.—Great plumes of black and white smoke billowed skyward from the smoldering ruins of Naha and the stench of death was heavy along the dusty road as elements of the Sixth Marine Division consolidated positions on the northern outskirts yesterday.

This capital of Okinawa, a city of 66,000 population before the war, was in its death throes—and it was dying hard.

As the marines forged ahead to the deadly music of clattering machine guns and rifles, I could see a dozen fires in the heart of Naha.

The whole countryside looked stark and ghastly against the horizon, as though it had been razed by a giant forest fire. Pine trees on the hillsides stood bare and gaunt.

It had been a painful advance to Naha, and now the veteran 22d Marine Regiment had reached the northern banks of the Asato estuary, choked with mud at low tide.

Their sandy-haired commanding officer, Colonel Murlin F. Schneider of Clatskaine, Ore., knew the battle for Naha still lay ahead. It had been tough getting through the outskirts. It could get tougher.

Schneider's men now have virtually burned down what is left of the suburbs of Naha north of the Asato with flamethrowers mounted on tanks and packed by leathernecks.

Troops led by Captain John P. Lanigan, of London, O., who has been overseas 37 months, were the first to enter northern Naha.

Lieutenant Dennis Chavez, Jr., of Albuquerque, N. M., found one reason why the approaches to Naha had been so tough. It was an elaborate tunnel system on a ridge before Naha which had been bored from one concrete tomb to another. There was a narrow gauge track on which the Japanese could roll their artillery around underground to new firing positions.

Most of Naha's fires were started by incendiary shells but Captain Charles S. Robertson, of Rome, Ga., and his company hit a refinery this morning and it went up in a huge black mass of smoke.

Musicians Halt Concert to Wipe out Jap Sniper

At an advance base, Philippines—(Delayed) — (AP)—The 25th Division's band was entertaining 63d Portable Surgical Hospital patients near a Luzon front. The music was punctuated by a staccato passage from that most familiar of Japanese instruments—the sniper .25.

The medical corpsmen sped the patients to cover, the musicians swapped their instruments for rifles and fanned out in patrol fashion. The infiltrating snipers were quickly dispatched by band director's Warrant Officer Raymond Rike's (Dallas, Tex.) and Ralph Hunter's (Wethersfield, Conn.) musicians, and the concert resumed.

Jap Plane Felled By Ossining Flyer

Okinawa, May 13 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Corsair pilots of the Second Marine Air Wing shot down eleven Japanese planes over the China Sea late this afternoon as pilots of bombing planes bombed Shizato village near Naha, Okinawa capital, out of existence. Among those destroying one Jap plane was Capt. Ernest F. Chase of Ossining, N. Y.

BATTLE RAGES IN FOOCHOW

Chinese Also Report Capture Of Chenghsien

Chungking, May 15 (AP)—The Chinese high command said tonight that fierce street fighting was continuing in the east coast seaport of Foochow, which the Chinese entered Friday, and both sides were suffering heavy casualties.

The communiqué said Chinese troops had recaptured Chenghsien, communications center in Chekiang province north of Fukien province and 120 miles southwest of Shanghai. The communiqué said local militia aided the Chinese troops in retaking the city last Friday. The Japanese offered only slight resistance.

Follows Fall Of Sinchang

The reoccupation of Chenghsien followed earlier recapture by the Chinese of Sinchang, 10 miles southeast.

In Hunan province, where the Chinese stopped a Japanese drive on the American airbase at Chihkiang, the high command said enemy units were surrounded in the vicinity of Kaosha, 50 miles west of Paoching, main base of the Japanese Hunan offensive. The communiqué said the Japanese had made futile attempts to break out of the cordon.

An enemy unit falling back from a point southeast of Kaosha was caught and engaged near Lungtangoy, a highway town 36 miles east of Paoching, the war report said.

Documents Show Losses

The high command said two Japanese regimental commanders were killed during fighting Sunday and Monday and announced that captured enemy documents showed that the Japanese 109th Regiment of the 116th Division had suffered heavy losses since the start of the Japanese drive in Hunan on April 9.

After a month's fighting only 304 men of the regiment were left and they are now surrounded northwest of Shanmen, north of Kaosha.

CHINESE BATTLE INSIDE FOOCHOW

Other Units Closing on Jap Base in Hunan.

Chungking, May 15 (A. P.).—Chinese troops are fighting in the streets of Foochow today after entering that old treaty port on the east coast of China, opposite Formosa, on Friday.

In Hunan twin Chinese columns were reported closing in on Paoching, the base from which the Japanese last month launched an unsuccessful drive toward the Chihkiang air base. By Sunday one Chinese column was fifteen and one-half miles north of Paoching, while the other, driving down the main highway, was nineteen miles west of the city. Far behind these columns, the Chinese High Command said today, one trapped enemy force had been wiped out, and another had been chopped into five pockets, ripe for annihilation.

In an order of the day yesterday Chiang Kai-shek commended the American and Chinese air forces for their help in smashing the Hunan drive.

An 11 P. M. curfew for American and Chinese military personnel in China went into effect tonight. Exceptions are Saturdays and holidays, when the deadline will be midnight.

Gen. Wedemeyer, commander in chief of United States Army forces in China, decreed the curfew for the Americans and persuaded Chiang to apply it to the Chinese Army also.

In giving notice of the curfew Wedemeyer said its purpose was to assist in the maintenance of health and maximum efficiency in the furtherance of the war effort.

It was revealed meanwhile that there have been a number of instances of anti-foreignism involving Americans. In some cases Chinese girls accompanying Americans to restaurants have been insulted by hooligans. Some Chinese newspapers have been inveighing against "jeep girls," a derisive term which they apply to Chinese women, assumed to be easy going, who would accept rides in jeeps. These newspapers have urged the Chinese authorities to appeal to Wedemeyer to forbid jeep drivers to give rides to Chinese girls.

CHINESE ASK BIG 3 TO MEET IN ASIA

Chungking Paper Wants Truman and Churchill to Visit Chiang

Chungking, May 15—(AP)—The Chinese Herald, which often reflects the views of the Chinese Foreign Office, today advocated a meeting somewhere in Asia of President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

The newspaper said such a meeting could deal with outstanding Far Eastern problems and perhaps organize a combined Allied chiefs of staff body for the war against Japan.

The newspaper said that the grand strategy for defeating Japan should be discussed thoroughly from standpoints of co-ordination of manpower and operations.

The question whether the Allies should invade Japan or the Chinese mainland first also should be decided, the newspaper said.

On China's eastern seaboard, Chinese troops now are fighting in the streets of Foochow, after entering the old treaty port opposite Formosa on Friday.

In the Hunan counter-offensive, meanwhile, twin Chinese columns were reported closing in on Paoching, the base from which the Japanese last month launched an unsuccessful drive toward the Chihkiang air base. By Sunday, one Chinese column was 15½ miles northwest of Paoching, while the other, driving down the main highway, was 19 miles west of the city.

Far behind these columns, the Chinese high command said, one trapped enemy force had been wiped out. Another had been chopped into five pockets, ripe for annihilation.

In an order of the day yesterday, Chiang commended the American and Chinese air forces for their help in smashing the Hunan drive.

China Frees Korean Prisoners

CHUNGKING, Wednesday, May 16 (AP)—China's National Military Council ordered release today of all Korean prisoners of war and said they may, if they wish, join the Korean Independence Army—a handful of Korean patriots being trained in free China. Freedom was granted to both men and women.

JAP ALL-OUT NOT EVEN FAIR

Tokyo Radio Tells People Why the War Goes Unfavorably

San Francisco, May 15 — (AP) — Radio Tokyo offered this gem today to explain why the war "is still running unfavorably" for Japan:

Nippon's "all-out national might is actually not only far from being all-out, but cannot even be considered fair."

The explanation was the creation of General Jiro Minami, president of the political association of great Japan.

By The Associated Press

San Francisco, May 15.—Another shakeup of Japanese admirals, former commanders of Nippon's vanishing fleet, was reported today in Tokyo press despatches.

At least eight admirals were involved, and there was only one sea command among the lot.

Vice Admiral Takao Tada, chief of the Naval Affairs Bureau, was appointed Vice Minister of the Navy, succeeding Vice Admiral Shigeyoshi Inouye who was raised to full admiral and seated on the Supreme War Council.

Vice Admiral Ryozo Fukuda, commander of the Takao Naval Station, was reported appointed commander-in-chief of the China Seas Fleet, replacing Admiral Nabutake Kondo, who was elevated to the War Council.

Vice Admiral Misao Wadao was named chief of Naval Aviation Headquarters. Vice Admiral Zenshiro Hoshina was made chief of the Navy's Military Affairs Bureau. Read Admiral Toshitane Takata became chief of the Military Affairs Bureau.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15—(AP)—An appeal for an "immediate boost in aircraft production" was made today by Japan's munitions minister Adm. Teijiro Toyoda, the Domei News agency reported in an overseas dispatch recorded by the FFC.

Australian Broadcast Reports Wewak Gains

San Francisco, May 15 (AP)—The Melbourne radio reported today gains by Australian troops in the Wewak area of northern New Guinea, but added that heavy rains and high tides were hindering the Tarakan operations on Borneo.

The broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said the Aussies were attacking Wiru mission, described as the "key point" of the west Wewak area, against stubborn Japanese opposition.

Australians were still fighting for Sauri village, inland from the Wewak peninsula, and had moved to Forak village, on the eastern approach to Wewak.

The Tarakan invasion report, based on an Australian Army communiqué, was the first disclosure of adverse weather conditions there. Rain, the report said, had put the Tarakan airstrip out of use.

Japan Abrogates Treaties With European Countries

San Francisco, May 15 (AP)—Japan cut loose from Germany and other European countries today, radio Tokyo announced, abrogating all treaties with them including the tri-partite Axis pact.

This unanimous action by the Cabinet, bearing the Emperor's approval, brought a peace-feeler reaction in Anglo-American circles when it was forecast last week by Shigenori Togo, Foreign Minister.

Ambassador Notified

Today's decision, which was communicated without delay to Heinrich Stahmer, German Ambassador to Japan, was reported in a series of wireless dispatches and broadcasts from the Domei news agency and Radio Tokyo and recorded by the FCC.

Domei said the Government's decison to denounce the pacts and agreements came after Togo had given a "full report on the matter." The action was preceded by numerous conferences last week between Togo, Premier Kantaro Suzuki and Japan's elder statesmen, and Cabinet sessions at which Togo reported on the European situation.

Surrender of Germany later was denounced by Togo as a "flagrant violation" of the tripartite pact between Japan and Germany because Nippon was not consulted.

Argued For Soft Peace

A significant note was tossed into the discussion of Japan's diplomatic activities by a Domei broadcast last week. The agency, in effect, appealed for a soft peace for Germany This, intended for American consumption, said the United Nations were "repeating the mistake" of Versailles by imposing a "harsh peace" on Germany.

This preparation and propagandizing for today's cabinet decision on the part of Japan's leaders, influential newspapers and commentators brought a denial from the Nippon Times that they were putting their house in order for a peace move.

Tokyo broadcasts today also announced another shuffle of Nippon's admirals and reported the appointment of 24 Diet members as parliamentary vice ministers or councillors to the cabinet.

PREMIER'S TALK OPENS CAMPAIGN IN CANADA

VANCOUVER, B. C., May 15 (AP)—Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King will open a campaign for re-election with a nation-wide radio address from here tomorrow night, swinging into one of the toughest political battles of his long career.

Mr. King's Liberal party, now holding a powerful majority in the Parliament at Ottawa, is fighting with its back to the wall against a resurgent Progressive Conservative party and the Cooperative Commonwealth Federation. Election day is June 11.

Reflecting the intense interest in the election, a record field of 965 candidates had entered for the 245 House of Commons seats when nomination lists were closed last night. The previous high was 892 in 1935. The Liberals have entered 238 candidates, the CCF 206 and the Progressive Conservatives 204. The remaining candidates are scattered among independents and members of various small parties.

WHERE AMERICAN DIVISIONS OPERATE

The following summary of action covers only those Associated Press reports in which divisions were specifically mentioned:

PHILIPPINES.

24th Infantry—Beats off six Jap attacks in north central Mindanao.

25th and 37th Infantry—Capture Balete Pass, northern Luzon.

31st Infantry—Wiped out reinforced enemy company in northern Mindanao.

32d Infantry—Advanced along Villa Verdee trail toward Santa Fe in Balete Pass, Luzon.

40th Infantry—Consolidated capture of Del Monte airfield, Mindanao.

43d Infantry—Tightened circle around Japs near Ipo Dam, east of Manila.

RYUKYUS.

6th Marine—Fought in suburbs of Naha, Okinawa capital.

96th Infantry—Took summit of important Conical hill 2,500 yards east of Shuri, Okinawa, allowing elements on left flank to advance 2,400 yards and seize Yonabaru airstrip.

BERGE CHARGES DRUG CARTELS RETARD HEALTH

Finds Low Income Groups Suffer Because of High Price of Medicine.

URGES ACTION BY CONGRESS

Control of Vitamin D Cited as Example of How Monopoly Restricts Its Purchase.

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—Assistant Attorney-General Wendell Berge asserted today that drug cartels and domestic monopolies have seriously retarded the "promotion of better health for the nation.

In a statement read to a House labor sub-committee investigating aid to the physically handicapped, the chief of the justice departments anti-trust division declared:

"Monopoly control of industries affecting the physical welfare of the people is one of the most serious aspects of the monopoly problem in our economy."

He said that monopoly practices in the medicinal and pharmaceutical field led to suppression of research data, prevented the introduction of improved processes and products, and kept outsiders from engaging in research.

"Because of the maintenance of artificial and exhorbitant price structures," he continued, "the low-income groups in particular have been unable to obtain the benefits of advances in science or better physical aids.

"Monopoly groups have in several instances contemplated the adulteration of products in order to perpetuate their privileged position or to impose their monopoly restrictions upon consumers.

He said that quinine had been controlled by a Dutch cartel and when our supplies were cut off by Japanese invasion of Java the Government learned that atabrine, a quinine substitute, was controlled by a German cartel.

"It required strenuous effort to inaugurate large - scale production of this vital drug," Mr. Berge asserted.

Names Other Products.

In the domestic field, he said vitamin D, insulin, eye glasses, a plastic used in dental plates, and other drugs had been involved in monopoly restrictions.

"One of the outstanding examples of monopolistic control of an industry affecting health is that involving vitamin D," he stated. "The effects of monopoly in this case are magnified by the circumstances that it is the poorer section of the community which has the greatest need for this product."

"Vitamin D is controled by the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation. It should be noted that the University of Wisconsin has no control over the policies or practices of this organization.

"A summary of facts disclosed by investigation indicates that the foundation has been the vehicle for creating a monopoly resulting in division of fields, price fixing, control of container size and limitation of potency of vitamin products."

Tells of Price Schemes.

Mr. Berge said that monopoly control of "fields, production, patents and research has at times led to schemes and proposals which have contemplated the deliberate use of health hazards."

"Although the following plan may not have been placed in actual effect," Mr. Berge said, the Vernon-Benshoff Company, "a member of the monopoly clique" had suggested in a letter to Rohm & Haas the adulteration of a plastic material used in airplane windshields so that it could not be "bootlegged" for dental plates.

Mr. Berge said that at the time Rohm & Haas and the du Pont company were indicted for alleged price fixing of this material, methyl methacrylate, industrial users were paying 85 cents a pound for it and dental users $45 a pound.

Likened to Nazis.

After Mr. Berge completed his statement, Representative Kelley (D.-Pa.), chairman of the subcommittee said:

"The people who would deny to the sick and disabled proper medicines and drugs are not far removed from those who constructed and operated the notorious Nazi concentration camps."

"It's the most shocking thing I ever heard of," commented Representative Patterson (D.-Cal.). I didn't realize we had fallen so low as to permit such things in this country."

Representative Adams, (R.-N. Y.), asked Berge to "recommend what Congress can do."

The Assistant Attorney-General said he would when he appears again before the committee on a later date.

Berge declared "vitamin D is controlled by the Wisconsin Alumni Research Foundation" and that "a summary of facts disclosed by investigation indicates that the foundation has been the vehicle of creating a monopoly resulting in division of fields, price fixing, control of container size and liquidation of potency of vitamin products."

FOUNDATION DENIES VITAMIN D CARTEL

CHICAGO, May 15.—(AP) Ward Ross, general manager and counsel for the Wisconsin Alumni Research foundation, declared today that "we disagree with the government on the charge that the foundation has been guilty of any improper practices."

"In reference to the government's charge of maintaining high prices, today vitamin D, on the basis of the human requirements for it, is the cheapest of the known vitamins," he declared.

Ross' statement was in answer to a statement before a House Labor subcommittee by Wendell Berge, assistant attorney general, that drug cartels and domestic monopolies have "seriously retarded" the "promotion of better health" for the nation.

LEND-LEASE HELP TO REDS FACES CUT

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—Substantial reductions are ahead for Russian lend-lease programs.

The State Department announced this last night, with the explanation that future shipments are to be "justified on the basis of adequate information regarding the essential nature of Soviet military supply requirements and in the light of competing demands."

This is the practice followed with other lend-lease countries, the statement said. It noted that since 1941 annual Russian supply programs have been carried out but "in view of the changed military situation, programs of such duration are not now required."

Russia is not at war with Japan.

Amplifying an earlier announcement that the lend-lease program is being reviewed and that some shipments to Europe have been halted, the statement by Acting Secretary Grew said that the presence of American forces, their supply and redeployment will almost certainly require continued European shipments.

DISCHARGE SOUGHT FOR ARMY FATHERS OF MORE THAN 3

Rep. Engel would Force Release by Holding up Payments to them

ASKS FUND BILL CHANGE

By The Associated Press

Washington, May 15.—A move to force the Army to discharge all men with more than three children began on Capitol Hill today.

It is under the leadership of Representative Engel (R-Mich), who said he will seek a House vote on the proposition when the annual War Department appropriation bill reaches the floor within several weeks.

As a member of the Appropriation Committee, Engel will seek a ban against payment of funds to any service man who has more than three children. Its acceptance, he said, would necessitate the discharge of such men, since no one can be compelled to serve without compensation.

Should the committee turn him down, Engel added, he will submit the amendment to the House itself.

Representative May (D-Ky), chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, said he would resist any such move because "we must have confidence in the judgment of the Army's leaders."

Engel said it was unsound economically to keep such men, because of allotment and allowance payment.

He said he believes that legislation is necessary because the Army's point system for handling discharges fails to deal adequately with men having more than three children.

The point system allows twelve points for each of the first three children but none for additional children. A total of 85 points is required to make a man eligible for discharge consideration.

"A man with five children would have to serve 49 months in this country, or 25 months here and 12 abroad, before he could acquire 85 points," Engel asserted.

Engel said he was unable to understand why the War Department decided to limit to 36 the number that may be scored through dependency.

PRESIDENT WARNS ANTHRACITE COAL MUST BE MINED

WASHINGTON, May 15 — (AP) A warning by President Truman that anthracite must be mined stirred talk tonight of possible sanctions to end the hard coal strike.

Mr. Truman told a news conference the government would take whatever steps are necessary to get the coal out. He did not elaborate, beyond emphasizing that the coal must and will be mined.

With the strike of 72,000 miners now in its third week, possible courses of action open to the administration included:

1—The President might appeal directly to the patriotism of the miners, urging them to get back on the job.

2—Solid Fuels Administrator Harold L. Ickes might ask William H. Davis, economic stabilization director, to enforce sanctions against the individual miners, such as lifting gasoline and tire allotments based on occupational driving.

3—The President could order the Army to enforce the mining of coal—a step regarded as extremely unlikely and only a last resort.

The anthracite mines, located in Pennsylvania, already are under U. S. control. The miners made no move to resume work after the President ordered the mines taken over May 3 by Ickes. Hoisting of the American flag was the only ostensible development resulting from the seizure.

The miners have not worked since expiration of their old contract April 30th. Negotiations between John L. Lewis and the operators, which began in New York, April 4, have been deadlocked over the mine leader's demand for $1.50 per day underground travel pay. Attempts by Ickes to bring them together thus far have failed, and meetings between the parties were halted last Friday.

TRUMAN ASKS PREVENTION OF FOES' REARMING

President Says Insurance Against It Comes First in Reparations.

BELIEVES THAT ALLIES AGREE

Announces Members of Staff Who Will Accompany Pauley and Lubin to Moscow.

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—President Truman declared today that "absolute insurance against German or Japanese rearmament—ever again—comes first with us" in working out a settlement of reperations.

In a formal statement made to his news conference, the President said that he believed our Allies are of one mind with the United States on this point.

At the same time he made public a list of more than twenty staff members who will accompanying Edwin W. Pauley, United States member of the Reparations Commission, and his associate, Dr. Isador Lubin, to Moscow for the meeting of the commission.

He described the staff as the most "eminently qualified" to do the job. Included in the list was Dr. Robert Gordon Sproul, president of the University of California, as adviser on the human aspects of reparations.

President's Statement.

The President's statement, of which he read only excerpts to his news conference, was given out later in full as follows:

"A fair and workable settlement of reparations poses some of the most difficult problems of the entire post-war adjustment. These questions are closely related to the task of insuring a lasting peace. For that reason, the right answers will be vital to the security of America and the world.

"I personally concur in the general view of our own objectives as shared by Ambassador Pauley and Dr. Lubin. Absolute insurance against German or Japanese rearmament—ever again—comes first with us.

"I believe, further, that our Allies are of one mind with us on this point and that with such a basic agreement, the way will be clear for a just and equitable schedule of German reparations—reparations 'in kind' which will provide the maximum of rehabilitation and restoration of overrun territory.

"The men chosen for this vital misison should inspire the confidence of all Americans. They are eminently qu[illegible]d to do the job."

Besides Dr. Spr[illegible], the members of the staff include:

Jubal R. Parten, Houston, Tex., industrial adviser; Dr. Luther H. Gulick, New York, adviser in political science and public administration; Ernst Mahler, Neenah, Wis., adviser on plant and equipment appraisal; J. Howard Marshall, Ashland, Ky., counsel; Richard B. Scandrett Jr., New York city, international law.

George Johnson, Wisconsin, expert on machine tools and metals; Lawrence Richardson, Massachusetts, expert on rolling stock; Col. E. E. Fogelson, Texas; Capt. N. L. McLauren, San Francisco; Capt. John Faile, S. Stone, Thomas W. Wilson Jr. (none of these further identified); George Luthringer and Abraham Bergson, State Department, German economy and industry; Seymour Rubin, State Department, legal phases of reparations; Moses Abramovitz, State Department, specialist on German industry; Josiah Dubois, Treasury, expert on German investments abroad; Richard Durham, New York city, chief of the mission's secretariat; Major G. S. Carter and J. Berger.

U.S. SUBS SINK NINE JAP SHIPS

WASHINGTON, May 15—(AP) Nine more enemy ships, including five combatant vessels, have been sunk by U. S. submarines in Far Eastern waters, the Navy announced today.

Combatant craft claimed in the latest toll included a destroyer, two small escort vessels, and two patrol vessels.

Non-combatant vessels included a large tanker, a medium cargo vessel and two small cargo vessels.

The announcement raised to 1,128 the total Japanese vessels of all types sunk by United States submarines since the start of the war, including 131 combatant ships and 997 non-combatants.

POSTAL EMPLOYES PAY RAISE VOTED

Bill Passes 360 to 1 in House; Sent to the Senate.

WASHINGTON, May 15 — (AP) With only one dissenting vote, the House passed and sent to the Senate today legislation raising the pay of postal employes.

The lone dissent on the 360 to 1 roll-call came from Rep. Smith (R.-Ohio).

The bill increases the base pay of most postal employes $400 annually, provides for longevity pay in many branches of the service, allows time and one-half pay for overtime work, grants employes 15 days leave of absence annually with pay and ten days sick leave each year, and provides a bonus of ten per cent above the normal hourly wage for most employes required to work at night.

Representative Clare Boothe Luce, (R-Conn.), who voted for the bill, said in a brief statement before the vote that "these employes have not had a raise since 1925." She said they had stuck to their jobs during the war "and saw that the mail got out, while others were seeking war jobs with higher pay." If any worker in the government service deserves recognition the postal worker does, Mrs. Luce declared.

AMG CAN SENTENCE GERMANS TO DEATH

Full Meaning of Stern Control Shown in List of Penalties Provided

Washington, May 15—(AP)—The full meaning of the "stern" military government the United States is imposing on Germany in the American occupation zone is found in penalties provided for infractors.

In more than a dozen instances, the death sentence may be imposed. Long imprisonment and heavy fines are provided in others.

General Dwight D. Eisenhower drew up the list of ordinances and penalties as his armies moved into Germany. It is assumed these are the codes under which American occupation is operating. They do not necessarily represent the precise policies of the other Allies in their respective zones.

Three types of military government courts are set up. A general military court may impose any sentence, including death. An intermediate military court may impose imprisonment up to ten years or fines up to $10,000. A summary court can sentence up to one year or fine up to $1,000.

The offenses for which death may be imposed include:

Espionage; communication of information which may be dangerous to the security or property of the Allied forces; acting in defiance or or contravention of terms imposed upon Germany; acts or conduct in support or aid of the Nazi party and its various agencies; killing or assaulting any member of the Allied formes; unlawful possession of firearms and ammunition; aiding in the escape of any person detained by Allied authority or concealing any such person; sabotage; looting; incitement to or participation in riot.

Heavy sentences, other than death, also await those who disobey curfews, offer bribes to a member of an Allied force, spread rumors calculated to alarm or excite the people or undermine the morale of the Allied forces or who lie to or refuse to give information required by the military government.

Collective fines upon a community also are made possible.

The military government may designate officers to consider petitions for review.

A death sentence can not be executed until confirmed by General Eisenhower.

WPB WILL RETAIN METALS CONTROL

Moves to Insure against Civil Output Cutting War Production

Washington, May 15—(AP)—The Government bulwarked itself today against the chance that a tide of civilian manufacturing might wash out production for the Japanese war.

The War Production Board reportedly has decided to retain its mechanism for allotting metals, the controlled materials plan, CMP, throughout 1945.

In addition, WPB planners now tentatively plan to replace the existing freeze on civilian production programs with a higher ceiling, but not to discard it.

These reports came from persons well-acquainted with WPB policy plans. Further details were expected today at a news conference set by Chairman J. A. Krug, his first since V-E Day.

Meanwhile WPB and OPA spokesmen said that yesterday's increase of 500,000 tires in the May passenger car tire allotment would be followed by another increase in June. The May allotment is now 1,500,000 tires.

However, even if the June increase is forthcoming, officials said holders of A cards can not expect new tires until a heavy backlog of demand from B and C motorists is whittled down. B and C motorists must get ration board certificates if present tires cannot be recapped.

Retention of WPB's CMP would permit Krug to steer the basic metals—steel, copper and aluminum—into war and essential civilian channels, regardless of any limitations removed on the manufacture of less essential goods.

CMP will be opened July 1, Krug has announced, to permit civilian manufacturers without priority ratings to obtain supplies of metals from the mills. The mills, however, first must take care of all priority orders.

Originally it was agreed that CMP would be dropped entirely within a short time after this partial relaxation. Officials said that this plan still might be adopted next fall, if munitions cutbacks are deep enough.

Alarm Clocks Held Back

Alarm clocks and galvanized ware are two new examples of controllifting that means little so long as WPB keeps the whip hand over materials. Restrictions on both were dropped yesterday, but officials said little increase in production would result until steel comes into better supply and until the clock makers are relieved of a heavy load of war contracts.

The civilian goods freeze, ordered into effect last December 7, forbade WPB officials to increase their civilian production programs above the low last-quarter level of 1944.

The relaxation now under study would permit a considerably higher production rate, but still would not permit any civilian goods program to consume more metal than the highest quantity allotted for that product while the country was engaged in its two-front war.

HANNEGAN OUTLINES HIS VIEW ON SPOILS

WASHINGTON, May 15 — (AP) Chairman Robert E. Hannegan of the Democratic National committee believes in recognizing and rewarding those who have helped the Democratic party when it needed help.

Addressing a group of Democratic legislators here last night, Hannegan said if rewarding those who support the party constitutes "spoils politics, when I am a spoils politician."

His remarks were made extemporaneously to a group which gave a dinner in honor of his appointment as postmaster general and the appointment of Edwin W. Pauley, former Democratic committee treasurer, as American member of the reparations commission.

Speaker Rayburn presided at the dinner. Others present included House Leader McCormack, Senator McKellar, senate president protempore; Senator Hill of Alabama, and Representatives Drewry, Virginia; Ramspec, Georgia, and Sikes, Florida.

WASHINGTON, May 15—(AP) Charles G. Ross, high school classmate of President Truman, took the oath as presidential press secretary.

Ross kissed the bible used when Mr. Truman was sworn in as President, then turned and kissed Mrs. Ross.

The White House ceremony, witnessed by newspapermen with whom Ross worked as contributing editor of the St. Louis Post Dispatch, was conducted by Justice Wiley Rutledge of the Supreme court. Ross is on leave from the newspaper.

NO TAX REDUCTION BEFORE JAPS QUIT

WASHINGTON, May 15—(AP) President Truman issued emphatic notice today that he will fight any attempt to reduce wartime taxes until Japan is beaten.

The President told a news conference he wanted it distinctly understood that there can be no reduction until the war is over.

He repeated that he wanted that position thoroughly understood, and added that the country still has a war to win in the Pacific.

The executive thus took sharp issue with congressional advocates of tax cuts. Later he reiterated his views when chairman Doughton (D-N.C.) of the tax raising House Ways and Means committee called at the White House.

The President said at the news conference that people can talk about taxes all they want to but that we have got to make good on obligations of the United States of America and you can only make them good by taxation.

Every one in the country, he said, is a partner in the government of the United States. There are 85,000,000 individual bond holders, he continued, and they must be protected.

GROUP IN SENATE BACKS LILIENTHAL

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—David Lilienthal's nomination for a new term as TVA director was approved by the Senate Agriculture Committee today, 13 to 2.

Voting to recommend against confirmation were Senators Stewart (D.-Tenn.) and Connolly (D.-Tex.). Senator Stewart cast a proxy for Connally who is attending the United Nations Conference at San Francisco.

Voting for confirmation were Chairman Thomas (Okla.); Senators Wheeler (Mont.), Bankhead (Ala.), Ellender (La.), Lucas (Ill.), Downey (Cal.), and Hoey (N. C.), Democrats, and Capper (Kan.), Aiken, (Vt.), Bushfield (S. D.), Wilson (Iowa), Cordon (Ore.), and Young (N. D.), Republicans.

M'KELLAR OUT OF FIGHT

He and Stewart to Drop Active Opposition to Lilienthal

Washington, May 15—(AP)—Senators McKellar and Stewart, Tennessee Democrats, bowed out of an active fight against confirmation of David Lilienthal's nomination as TVA director today.

In a 500-word joint statement they accused him of unscrupulous double-dealing and of joining a political fellowship with Silliman Evans, publisher of the Nashville Tennessean.

"Lilienthal is personally and politically obnoxious, offensive and objectionable to each of us," they said.

"But the President, upon whose successful administration at this critical time the success of our beloved country depends, has sent in his nomination for reappointment.

"We have, therefore, concluded simply to make this statement and to vote against his confirmation and leave the matter there."

Truman Is Not Planning Veterans' Staff Shake-Up

He Also Denies He Has Post Ready for Clark

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP).—A reporter at President Truman's news conference today asked if there was to be "any immediate shake-up in the Veterans' Administration, and received a reply in the negative.

The same reporter, apparently referring to published reports that former Senator Bennett Champ Clark, of Missouri, might be brought into the veterans set-up, also asked if Mr. Clark was due for a top post in government. Mr. Truman said he did not plan such an appointment.

The President said he did not want to have it appear that he has any intention of immediately discharging anybody and asked reporters to be lenient with him and not to press for details.

Meanwhile, wrangles over how a veteran got a black eye and the credibility of accusations by a mental patient marked today's session of an investigation of the Veterans Administration.

Representative Tom Pickett, Democrat, of Texas, member of the House Veterans Committee, shouted an accusation that Representative Philip J. Philbin, of Massachusetts, had based charges against the veterans agency on "hearsay evidence."

SECOND U-BOAT YIELDS TO U.S.

Submarine Arrives At Portsmouth Under Escort

Washington, May 15 (AP).—Approximately two thirds of the German U-boats believed to have been in the Atlantic on V-E day have been accounted for, a naval spokesman disclosed today.

No deadline has been set for the surrender of the estimated ten to twenty remaining, he said, but undoubtedly one will be set in due course, and any U-boat failing to meet it will be hunted down and treated as a pirate.

The second to surrender at a United States port reached Portsmouth, N.H., today. She was the U-805, which arrived in custody of two destroyer escorts. She and her crew were taken to the Portsmouth Navy Yard.

The U-858 surrendered yesterday off Cape May, N.J., and was taken into Lewes, Del.

13 Are En Route To Ports

In addition, two have surrendered in Newfoundland and Canadian ports, and eighteen in British ports. The navy spokesman said escorts have thirteen others en route to surrender ports, three headed for North America and ten for Britain.

For the present every precaution is being taken to notify every enemy submarine which legitimately might have failed to receive the surrender order, because of submersion, damaged radio gear or other cause. The surrender instructions are transmitted periodically over the German high command radio.

The spokesman said it was estimated there were approximately 50 at sea on V-E day, about one third of the number which ranged the Atlantic during the height of the U-boat campaign in 1942 and 1943.

Since normal U-boat operations permit from a fourth to a third of the total fleet to be out at one time, that would indicate the German sub fleet's peak strength was from 500 to 600 ships.

Hope To Get One Of Each Type

The naval spokesman expressed the hope that at least one of each of the various types of German submersibles will fall into American hands for purposes of study. He expressed doubt that any of them would be useful to the United States Navy in the Pacific.

In addition to those at sea, a number of submarines were found in captured German bases, many of them scuttled. At Kiel alone ten scuttled subs were found.

Dispatches from Supreme Allied Headquarters said preliminary, incomplete and unofficial counts showed at least 31 U-boats were taken over fairly intact in captured German ports, and at least 21 were scuttled or damaged.

Truman Reverses Elmer Davis

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—President Truman said today that he and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower are in agreement that a free press should prevail in Germany "in a manner consistent with military security."

This is a reversal, the President told his news conference, of the position taken last week by Elmer Davis, chief of the Office reverses the Davis announcement. Davis acted in good faith, Mr. Truman told reporters, but misunderstood the policy agreed upon.

Davis, upon being informed today of the President's stand, said: "I have nothing to say."

Germany will be given a full free press.

Reached by reporters after the President's conference, Davis said: "I have nothing to say."

militarists so that they can misuse democratic rights in order to attack democracy as Hitler did."

When the time is right, he said,

The text of the President's statement follows:

"Gen. Eisenhower has advised me that he has issued no policy or order dealing with the importation of publications into Germany. The General has expressed the personal opinion that a free press and a free flow of information and ideas should prevail in Germany in a manner consistent with military security.

Gen. Eisenhower has emphasized, however, that there can be no restoration of a free German press in Germany until the elimination of Nazis and militarist influence has been completed. We are not going to lose the peace by giving license to racialist pan-Germans, Nazis and militarists, so that they can misuse democratic rights in order to attack democracy as Hitler did.

"I agree with Gen. Eisenhower."

Truman Favors Free Flow Of Information in Germany

WASHINGTON, May 15 — (AP) President Truman, reversing an announcement by OWI Director Elmer Davis, declared today that he favors a free flow of information in Germany, consistent with military security.

On May 10, Davis said information reaching the German public would be strictly controlled, and foreign newspapers and magazines (including American) would be barred for an indefinite period during military occupation.

He said "Germany is a sick man" and "can have only what the doctors prescribe" adding that the policy was arranged by the psychological warfare division of General Dwight D. Eisenhower's Allied headquarters.

President Truman at a news conference today, however, said General Eisenhower had informed him he "had issued no policy or order dealing with the importation of publications into Germany."

Mr. Truman said in a statement that he and General Eisenhower agree that while Germany cannot have full restoration of a free German press until Nazi and militarist influences have been eliminated, it should have freedom of press and information "consistent with military security."

The President said this position of War Information, who contended that information reaching the Germans should be strictly controlled.

Davis acted in good faith, the President said, but had misunderstood the policy agreed upon. In a statement last Thursday, the OWI chief said Allied newspapers and magazines would be barred from circulation in Germany for an indefinite period, asserting:

"The reason is very simple—Germany is a sick man. He now can have only what the doctors prescribe."

Today President Truman read a statement asserting "Gen. Eisenhower has advised me that he has issued no policy or order dealing with the importation of publications into Germany," and adding "the General has expressed the personal opinion that a free press and that a free flow of information and ideas should prevail in Germany in a manner consistent with military security."

No Comment by Davis.

At the same time he added: "We are not going to lose the peace by giving license to racialists, to Pan-Germans, Nazis and SS and Gestapo.

"It is the opinion of your committee that these practices constituted no less than organized crime against civilization and humanity," the report said, "and those who were responsible for them should have meted out to them swift, certain and adequate punishment."

The investigators conferred with war crimes commission in London and the French commission, praising the steps already taken for prosecution of war criminals in Germany. This work is well underway, the report said, and thus there is no need for the committee to recommend any action.

The 12 legislators visited Buchenwald, Nordenhausen and Dachau, the most notorious camps for political prisoners. They saw the dead, they saw the dying. Barkley said some helpless captives died while the American investigators were there.

Dachau was overrun so fast by the American troops, the report said, that none of the evidence of the atrocities could be destroyed. This was largely true of Buchenwald too. At Nordenhausen U. S. forces had had three weeks to put things in shape but the story was the same, traced back through witnesses.

Planned Starvation

It was a story of planned starvation, of use of German criminals to destroy the mentality "of all those who opposed the master race." of huge ovens for cremating victims, and of torture devices.

Probers Say Nazi Public Knew About Horror Camps

WASHINGTON, May 15 — (AP) In shocked silence, Congress heard from its own eyewitnesses today the gruesome story of Germany's torture camps where thousands of slaves lived like cattle and died like beasts.

The report of six Senators and six representatives who visited three notorious concentration camps was read simultaneously in the two chambers by Senator Barkley (D.-Ky.) and Rep. Thomason (D.-Tex.).

It was a bitter denunciation of the German government—an indictment on the high charge of mass murder. It did not spare the German public.

Senator Barkley did not spare the German army either. He said it was inconceivable that the General staff would not have known about the savage practices of the Barkley said the magnitude of the horror could be understood only "by the stench" of the places, and "smell of death."

The report said everywhere there was evidence that the German civilian was fat and well clothed.

The twelve concluded that the contrast pointed to "a calculated and diabolical program of planned torture and extermination on the part of those who were in control of the German government."

Joining in the report with Barkley and Thomason were Senators George (D.-Ga.), Thomas (D.-Utah), Brooks (R.-Ill.), Wherry (R.-Neb.), and Saltonstall (R.-Mass.); Reps. Richards (D.-S. C.), Izac (D.-Calif.), Vorys (R.-Ohio), Mott (R.-Ore.), and Short (R.-Mo.).

Congressional Group Reports On Nazi Prison Camp Horrors

Says Inspection Tour Forces Conclusion That 'a Calculated and Diabolical Torture Plan' Was Carried Out.

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—A congressional mission reported today that its inspection of German concentration camps forced the conclusion that the Nazis carried out a "calculated and diabolical program of planned torture and extermination."

The mission, composed of six Senators and six members of the House of Representatives, flew to Europe April 22 and spent most of a fortnight looking over the notorious camps at Dachau, Buchenwald and Nordhausen, Germany.

In their report, the group termed the Nazi program of starvation, torture and unhonored death for slave laborers and political prisoners "no less than organized crime against civilization and humanity."

"Those who were responsible should have meted out to them swift, certain and adequate punishment," the report advocated.

In view, however, of the existence of the Allied War Crimes Commission, the committee said it did not believe any additional agency need be created. "The agencies now dealing with the problem are responsible and competent and will approach the subject from the standpoint of practical justice in every area and in all categories of crimes that may be involved," the report said.

In general, it recounted the same shocking story of calculated misery and degradation made familiar by scores of articles from the scene. Treating in detail on the establishment at Buchenwald, the lawmakers said: "Pictures and descriptions of the conditions at this camp cannot adequately portray what we saw there, and it is only when the stench of the camp is smelled that any one can have a complete appreciation of the depths of degradation to which the German Nazi Government and those responsible for it . . . had dropped in their treatment of those who have failed to embrace the doctrines of the 'master race.'"

A macabre detail of the Dachau camp was related. There "prisoners of distinction," including those with military records, were permitted to kneel on a small boardwalk as they were executed by gunfire. Women and common political prisoners knelt on an earthen bank to receive their death bullets.

"Since we had seen no coffins at other camps visited, we inquired why coffins were used at Dachau, and were informed that these coffins were reserved for prisoners of distinction."

Bodies Laid in Rows.

The committee visited Dachau within forty-eight hours after its liberation by American forces. "When we arrived there were many prisoners lying dead between the inner and outer barbed-wire fences," the legislators said, "apparently shot by the guards. . . . Lying in rows were about 300 bodies of those who had died and had been collected that morning from the various barracks."

Concluding its recitation of the damning evidence, the report asserted: "The committee feels that out of it all justice will emerge, and that through the sickening spectacle which we have witnessed of the degradation to which human beings have been subjected, will come ultimately a firmer realization that men of all nations and all tongues must resist encroachments of every theory and every ideology that debases mankind, and that a more just and enduring peace may arise upon the ruins and from the sacrifices which the human race has endured through one of the most crucial periods of its history."

Those making the trip were Senators Barkley, (D.-Ky.); George, (D.-Ga.); Thomas, (D.-Utah); Brooks, (R.-Ill.); Wherry, (R.-Neb.), and Saltonstall, (R.-Thomason, (D.-Tex.); Richards, Mass.), and Representatives Thomason, (D.-Tex.); Richards, (D.-S. C.); Izac, (D.-Cal.); Vorys, (R.-Ohio); Mott, (R.-Ore.), and Short, (R.-Mo.).

Visited Three Camps.

The committee reported this general conclusion after visiting the three camps:

"At each of these camps we found four general classifications of prisoners: (1) Political prisoners, (2) habitual criminals, (3) conscientious or religious objectors, (4) persons who were imprisoned for failure to work.

"Although differing in size, they all carried into effect the same pattern of death by hard labor, starvation, hanging, strangulation, disease, brutality, gas chambers, gallows, and filthy and unsanitary conditions, which meant inevitable death eventually to every imprisoned person.

"We found, in each case, that the supervision of the camps was carried out by the criminal tactics of SS troops, who, in addition to their own brutality, assigned some of their punitive duties to the prisoners, especially the habitual criminals who had charge of the barracks, in which all types of prisoners were subject to their vicious and inhuman methods.

"We found that this entire program constituted a systematic form of torture and death administered to intellectuals, political leaders, and all others who would not embrace and support the Nazi philosophy and program. We found the extent, devices, methods and conditions of torture almost beyond the power of words to describe.

Fury Turned on Jews.

"We found, from all the evidence available, that in these camps the Jews and Russians and Poles were treated with a greater degree of severity than other nationalities. We are of the opinion that a colossal scheme of extermination was planned and put into effect against all those in occupied countries who refused to accept the principles of Nazism, or who opposed the saddling of the Nazi yoke on their countries. The Nazi leadership in the pursuit of this policy found especially expedient the use of various forms of terrorism calculated to reduce the opposition and to render futile all efforts to throw off the yoke.

"The over-all pattern of the scheme varied but little. First, vast numbers of nationals of overrun countries were abducted and brought into Germany—sometimes whole families, sometimes just the men. The number of these persons is variously estimated at between twelve and twenty million people. These people were forced to labor long hours by their Nazi masters and for slight infractions they were placed in concentration camps.

"Likewise, the intelligentsia, college professors, Army generals business leaders and professional men of the occupied countries were taken captive and placed in these camps, unless they agreed to spread the doctrines advocated by the Nazis.

Crowded in Camps.

"The treatment accorded to these prisoners in the concentration camps was generally as follows: They were herded together in some wooden barracks not large enough for one-tenth of their number. They were forced to sleep on wooden frames covered with wooden boards in tiers of two, three and even four, sometimes with no covering, sometimes with a bundle of dirty rags serving both as pallet and coverlet.

"Their food consisted generally of about one-half a pound of black bread per day and a bowl of watery soup for noon and night, and not always that. Owing to the great numbers crowded into a small space and to the lack of adequate sustenance, lice and vermin multiplied, disease became rampant, and those who did not soon die of disease or torture began the long, slow process of starvation. Notwithstanding the deliberate starvation program inflicted upon these prisoners by lack of edequate food, we found no evidence that the people of Germany as a whole were suffering from any lack of sufficient food or clothing. The contrast was so striking that the only conclusion which we could reach was that the starvation of the inmates of these camps was deliberate."

SENATE COMMITTEE WANTS FOOD CZAR

Is Sharply Critical of OPA, Saying Agency 'Has Failed Miserably to Enforce Price and Ration Control.'

MAY 16 1945

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—Creation of "a supreme administrator for food" was recommended by the Senate Agriculture Committee today in a report sharply critical of the OPA's administration.

The committee approved the report by a 13 to 2 vote. Senators Lucas (D.-Ill.) and Ellender (D.-La.) dissented on the ground that the report was too critical of the administration.

"The committee believes," the report said, "that the Office of Price Administration has failed miserably to enforce price and ration-control regulations."

The committee said that when any commodity "becomes plentiful, so that the law of supply and demand can operate to keep the prices within reason," all control prices and restrictions should be removed.

Recommendations on Meat.

As steps to improve the supply and distribution of meat, the committee recommended:

"1. A forthwith increase in the return to feeders of AA and A grades of cattle through a fair and sufficient subsidy to feeders to encourage them to feed out range cattle to the maximum degree, thereby encouraging the feeding of more cattle and increasing not only the quality but the weight of AA and A grades of cattle.

"2. An immediate incentive program to encourage, during the spring and early summer, the marketing of more grass and unproductive dairy cattle.

"3. Raising the support price of hogs and extending support prices to cover all weights of hogs.

"4. That assurance be given producers that support prices and ceilings for livestock will not be lowered unless adequate notice of such change be given.

"5. That the Price Control act be amended to require and direct the Office of Price Administration to give processors of livestock a reasonable margin of profit for processing each species of livestock.

"6. The withdrawal of all slaughtering licenses and permits and a sharp reduction in the number re-issued, together with restrictions on slaughter by use of quotas so that meat will be directed into the normal interstate channels of distribution. The refusal to issue new slaughtering licenses and permits to known violators of Governmental regulations and the concentration of enforcement efforts on fundamental major problems instead of marginal technicalities.

Would Limit Lend-lease.

"7. The limiting of lend-lease purchases of meat products consistent with domestic civilian supply.

"8. That a supreme administrator for food be created to have supervision and jurisdiction over both the Office of Price Administration and the War Food Administration."

Senator Lucas issued a statement saying that he agreed with some findings and recommendations but thought the report on the whole "too drastic, too severe, and too far-reaching."

"It is in keeping with the dangerous theory now being advocated by certain special interests in this country to the end that the price control act be repealed," he said. "If these recommendations and finding were adopted, they would go a long way in aiding the beginning of a spiral of inflation that will ultimately wreck the financial structure of the nation."

Asks Sugar Figures.

The House Food Committee insisted today that the administration remove secrecy bans from figures on amounts of world-scarce sugar promised Allied and neutral countries.

Representative Anderson (D.-N. M.) committee chairman, renewed his request for publication of world quota figures as the committee completed a lengthy public investigation of the growing sugar shortage.

The figures, stamped "restricted," were given to Anderson by Leo T. Crowley, Foreign Economic Administrator.

"That doesn't help any," Anderson said. "There's no point in my having them. We want to put them in our record."

PRESIDENT HOPES 'BIG 3' SESSION CAN BE ARRANGED

Truman Not Ready to Talk About Time and Place of Meeting.

FOR FREE PRESS

MAY 16 1945

Declares Prime Objective Is Insurance against Axis Rearming.

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

WASHINGTON, May 15 — (AP) President Truman expressed the hope today that a meeting with Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin could be arranged in the not far distant future to discuss the coming peace program. He was not ready, however, to talk about the time or place.

The Chief Executive made the statement in reply to a news conference question. On the foreign news front, he also:

1—Declared that the prime objective in working out a reparations policy is "absolute insurance against German or Japanese rearmament—ever again."

2—Said General Dwight D. Eisenhower favored, with the President's support, a "free press and a free flow of information and ideas" in Germany consistent with military security.

3—Favored repeal of the Johnson act which bars loans to nations in default on their First World War debts to this country.

Domestically, the President spoke out emphatically against any reduction of taxes until Japan is defeated. He also asserted the country is going to have anthracite coal by whatever steps are needed to get it, and said the Veterans administration is going to be modernized and expanded, but that no immediate discharges of personnel are in sight.

Discussed Meeting with Eden

The President said he discussed prospects of a Big Three meeting yesterday with British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden. He then expressed the hope that it will be possible for these three leaders to meet and discuss the coming peace program around the conference table.

(Prime Minister Churchill also asserted in the house of commons today, that he "devoutly hoped" for an early Big Three session).

Mr. Truman was asked whether it would be possible for them to convene in San Francisco before the world security conference ends. He answered in the negative and gave no hint when the meeting might be held.

If one is held, he said, it will not be immediately nor will it be in the far distant future.

The whole problem of peace would be expected to come up at such a meeting, including territorial disputes, of which there are more than 30 already; the Polish government reorganization, treatment of war criminals, reparations, and a host of related problems.

As for reparations, the President issued a formal statement reiterating his position against German or Japanese rearmament and stating he believed that "our Allies are of one mind with us on this point."

PRESIDENT SAYS ALLIED LEADERS ARE TO CONFER

But Not Until Conference at San Francisco Has Been Concluded.

OPPOSES ANY TAX CUT NOW

Would Continue Rate as High as Possible, Citing Obligation to Nation's Bondholders.

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—President Truman and Prime Minister Churchill expressed hope today that a Big Three meeting can be arranged soon. It would be Mr. Truman's first get-together with Mr. Churchill and Marshal Stalin since he succeeded the late President Roosevelt in the White House.

The President told his news conference that he discussed such a meeting with the British Foreign Minister, Anthony Eden, yesterday but said no definite decision was made.

At almost the same time Mr. Churchill told a meeting of the House of Commons in London that he "devoutly hoped" that a Big Three session could be arranged soon.

President's Chief Announcements.

At his news conference, President Truman:

1. Declared that "absolute insurance against German or Japanese rearmament—ever again—comes first with us" in working out a settlement of reparations.

2. Said he and Gen. Eisenhower agreed that a free press should prevail in Germany "in a manner consistent with military security." He said OWI Director Elmer Davis, while acting in good faith, had misunderstood the situation in announcing last week that Allied newspapers and magazines would be barred from circulating in Germany.

3. Declared himself opposed to any reduction in taxes until after Japan has been defeated.

4. Called for repeal of the Johnson act, which places restrictions on private loans to countries in default on world war I obligations.

5. Disclaimed any plans for an immediate shakeup in the Veterans Administration. He did say, however, that the organization will have to be expanded and modernized.

6. Declared the Government will take whatever steps are necessary to end the anthracite mine work stoppage, now in its third week.

The President's usual punctuality was broken by a meeting that delayed his news conference fifteen minutes. The meeting that held over its allotted time was with Senators Guffey (D.-Pa.) and Kilgore (D.-W. Va.).

Big Three Meeting Prospects.

In expressing hope for a Big Three meeting, at which a peace program could be discussed, Mr. Truman said it would not be immediate or in the far distant future. It will not be before the close of the San Francisco conference, he said.

The Big Three will have the meeting, he added later.

He declared that there can be no reduction of taxes—no possible reduction—until after the whole war is over. He said 85,000,000 bondholders had to be protected and that the only protection lay in continued high taxation.

The President was asked whether he had seen a statement by Senator George (D.-Ga.), chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, suggesting a plan for the gradual reduction of taxes. He replied that there can be no reduction in taxes while the war is on. There is no possible way to reduce taxes until the war with Japan has been ended, he added, and as long as the nation is obligated to levy taxes to meet its debts.

Feels Strongly on Taxes.

The President left no doubt in the minds of reporters that he felt rather strongly on the question of continuing the rate of taxes as high as possible as long as the economy could stand it. He said it was foolish to even think of cutting taxes in the midst of war.

When a reporter asked whether Gen. Charles de Gaulle of France would attend if the Big Power conference could be arranged, the President said the Big Three will have the meeting. The reply apparently limited the prospective get together to the heads of the British, American and Soviet governments.

VINSON MOVES IN MEAT CRISIS

Truman Said To Want Controversy 'Straightened'

Washington, May 15 (AP)—Fred M. Vinson, war mobilizer, was reported tonight to have stepped into the Capitol Hill-OPA controversy over meat-price controls with instructions from President Truman to straighten things out.

Congressional sources, saying this was their information, added that they expected an order from Vinson or the OPA tomorrow or Thursday which would meet some of the criticisms voiced in a report by Senate food investigators.

This report called for a "fair and sufficient subsidy" to encourage feeding of cattle to heavier weights, price changes to give meat packers "a reasonable margin of profit for processing each species of live stock," higher suport prices for hogs and removal of price controls whenever any commodity is in sufficient supply "so that the law of supply and demand can operate to keep the price . . . within reason."

Supreme Command Urged

Finally, it recommended that "a supreme administrator for food be created to have supervision and jurisdiction over both the Office of Price Administration and the War Food Administration."

The report was issued today by the Senate Agriculture Committee after a two-hour closed session during which Senators Lucas (D., Ill.) and Ellender (D., La.) argued futilely with the other members that it should be "toned down." They cast negative votes as the report was approved, 13 to 2.

Lucas issued a statement describing the report as "too drastic, too severe and too far-reaching."

Inflation Feared

"It is in keeping with the dangerous theory now being advocated by certain special interests in this country to the end that the Price Control Act be repealed," he said.

"If these recommendations and findings were adopted they would go a long way in aiding the beginning of a spiral of inflation that would ultimately wreck the financial structure of the nation."

The majority report said Federal agencies "deliberately discouraged" feeding of cattle to top grades in 1943 because of a feed shortage and have failed to change policies, although "adequate feed supplies" are now available.

Says OP. Failed Miserably

It also asserted that OPA "has failed miserably to enforce price and ration-control regulations," expressed belief its enforcement staff is "inexperienced and unqualified," and has concerned itself "too much with petty and technical violations of legitimate operators rather than concentrating on an effort to criminally punish those who have been engaged in diverting meat from normal channels in total disregard of price and rationing restrictions."

Without voicing any criticism of past deliveries of meat under lend-lease, the report said "reasonable requirements" for lend-lease should recognize and be consistent with existing civilian shortages in meat supply.

On the point of taking off price ceilings when a commodity is in plentiful supply, the report said "retail merchants often times construe ceiling prices to be selling prices."

CIVILIAN-GOODS HOPES CHECKED

Armament Cutbacks Are Less Than Expected, Krug Says

Washington, May 15 (AP)—The War Production Board put a damper on hopes for quickly soaring civilian-goods manufacture today, declaring materials will be insufficient for "anything like mass production" until after September.

Chairman J. A. Krug, at his first news conference since V-E day, said the WPB "will stay in business as long as need be to safeguard the Japanese war program and the war-supporting civilian economy."

Vacation Suggestion

Krug also:

1. Suggested a one-week vacation for war workers this summer to let them "relax and prepare for the tasks that lie ahead before the Allies have attained complete victory. Plants should not close down, he said, and should arrange vacation schedules so as not to disrupt production.

2. Reported that more than 200 B-29 bombers are being built every month; that 2,000 have been delivered so far, and that Japan can expect raids bigger than this week's 500-plane assault on Nagoya.

Reporting that armament cutbacks have been less than anticipated, Krug gave this forecast on the release of various consumer items:

1. Manufacturing controls to be revoked before July 1, permitting "substantial manufacture" in July, August and September: vacuum cleaners, washing machines, sewing machines, electric toasters and other household appliances.

2. Manufacturing controls to be retained after July 1: refrigerators, stoves, furniture, radios and building activity.

The WPB chairman left the question of passenger cars unsettled, but indicated Detroit would not get its "go ahead" until after midyear. No final decision has been made, he added, and reports that July 1 is the long-awaited date are "unfounded."

Manufacturing Controls

Some 90 manufacturing controls have been revoked in the past few weeks. They included, today, office machinery, cameras and photographic equipment, and food-manufacturing machinery. A total of about 200 will have been dropped in the next two or three months, he said, leaving some 200 in force.

But controls over the flow of basic materials—steel, copper and aluminum — will be retained throughout 1945 in all probability, Krug said, to prevent the possibility that an upsurge of civilian manufacturing might divert needed metals from war production.

Pool Of Unrestricted Metals

The system of materials control known to industry as the "controlled materials plan" or CMP will be opened up on July 1 to provide a pool of unrestricted metals for civilian manufacturers.

Any of the industries which by that time have been released from manufacturing limitations will be able to dip into the free metal supply without priority standing. Until manufacturers get access to this pool, however, the revocation of manufacturing controls will do little to increase civilian output.

Krug estimated that only 500,000 tons of steel would be available for civilian, nonpriority manufacturing in July, August and September. This will take care of the lighter household goods but is insufficient for unlimited output of automobiles, refrigerators and other articles requiring heavy tonnage of steel, Krug said.

War contracts will drop off more rapidly toward the end of the year, the WPB chairman said, and he held to his prediction that civilian production would hit the 1939 rate within a year.

HOUSE UNIT FIGHTS SECRECY ON SUGAR

Asks Figures for Record on Amounts Promised to Foreign Nations

Washington, May 15—(AP)—The House Food Committee insisted today that the Administration remove secrecy bans from figures on amounts of world-scarce sugar promised to Allied and neutral countries.

Representative Anderson (D-NM) renewed his request for publication of world quota figures as the committee completed a lengthy public investigation of the growing sugar shortage.

The figures, stamped "restricted," were given to Anderson by Leo T. Crowley, Foreign Economic Administrator.

"That doesn't help any," Anderson said. "There's no point in my having them. We want to put them in our record."

The committee particularly is after quotas granted to Spain, Franze, Italy and Switzerland, which in normal times use sugar industrially for the same purposes it is used by United States manufacturers.

"This committee feels some responsibility to American industrial users of sugar to make certain that the requirements of other countries are held at the lowest practical level," Anderson said.

Earlier testimony before the committee indicated that American industrial users of sugar will be cut to 45 or 50 per cent of their prewar supply before the year is over.

The committee began work on its sugar report today with indications that it may be filed early next week. It is expected to urge the release of materials and manpower to step up sugar beet plantings in this country and to urge increased plantings in Puerto Rico and other outlying sugar areas.

Meanwhile, a subsidy for cattle feeders was reported today to be included in a new OPA meat pricing-subsidy schedule, expected to be issued this week.

Congressional sources said that they understood that the proposed order also includes additional subsidies for meat packers and a promise that no subsidies will be withdrawn without six months' notice.

A subsidy for feeders is among the major recommendations in a tentative majority report of the Senate Agriculture Committee on its food investigations.

Feeders buy lean range cattle and fatten them by pen-feeding. They have protested that they cannot carry out this 90-day-to-six-month operation under present price ceilings.

NAVY SUPPLY BILL PASSED

Measure of $23,603,775,000 Goes to Conference With House

WASHINGTON, May 15 (AP)—A naval supply bill of $23,603,775,000 was passed by the Senate today by voice vote. It goes to a Senate-House committee for conference on Senate changes which added $203,000,000 to the appropriation as approved by the House.

Senator Overton, of the Naval Appropriations Committee, urged that a powerful force be maintained afloat after hostilities cease, and said compulsory military training would be needed to do this.

"We shall have largely wrought and fought and won in vain," he added, "if we do not retain under our own control and ownership the strategic islands of the Pacific which we have captured from the Japanese Empire through the blood and sacrifice of thousands upon thousands of young Americans and which are ours by the right of conquest and of occupation."

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—American policy in the handling of the Nazi High Command and other war leaders in Germany is in the hands of Justice Robert Jackson, President Truman said today.

When asked whether he had formulated a policy of dealing with these leaders, the President replied that that was a matter for determination by Justice Jackson, whom he appointed on May 2 to be chief counsel of the United States on the proposed International Tribunal to prosecute the major war criminals of the Axis Powers.

CAMP VICE BILL EXTENDED

Senate Sends Restrictions for another Year to White House

Washington, May 15—(AP)—The Senate has sent to the White House a bill extending for another year a Federal ban on commercial vice in the vicinity of Army camps.

The special restrictions were imposed by request of the armed forces in an act that would expire today unless renewed.

Turner Is Named To Be Full Admiral

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—President Truman today nominated Vice-Admiral Richmond K. Turner to be a full admiral.

Admiral Turner was born in Portland, Ore., and now makes his permanent home at Carmel-by-the-Sea, Cal. Since August, 1943, he has been commander of an amphibious force of the Pacific fleet.

SHIFT OF TROOPS MAY DELAY MAIL

Washington, May 15 (A. P.).—The reshuffle of troops from Europe to the Pacific is going to give the Army Postal Service its biggest job of the war, a War Department spokesman said today.

As a result, he said, some mail may take weeks to reach the soldiers.

There will be periods, while the soldiers are en route either to the Pacific or this country when there will be no regular mail service for them. The burden of forwarding and reforwarding mail is expected to tax postal facilities to the utmost.

The service, however, has worked out plans to handle the mail as expeditiously as possible, a spokesman said.

Because of the acute transportation problems that still remain despite the end of the war in Europe, there will be no lifting of restrictions on the mailing of packages to soldiers overseas. No package can be mailed except during the Christmas mailing period, unless the individual soldier has requested it.

The same ban applies to subscriptions for periodicals. A similar Navy restriction will be placed in effect July 1 for subscriptions to publications addressed to Navy personnel overseas.

GEN. ARNOLD NAMED BISHOP

WASHINGTON, May 15.—(AP) Maj. Gen. William R. Arnold, former chief of chaplains of the United States Army, has been named a bishop by His Holiness Pope Pius XII, the Apostolic delegation here announced tonight.

General Arnold, recently named assistant inspector general of the army, will serve as titular bishop of Phocaea and as delegate of military ordinariate.

Sweden Converts U.S. 'Forts' To Air Liners

Washington, May 15 (AP)—Three American Flying Fortresses, forced down and interned in Sweden during the war, will be used by Swedish airlines in passenger-mail service to Paris starting Friday. Service between Sweden and Britain will start May 21.

Officials of the Surplus Property Board said the Swedish lines had leased the four-engined 8th Air Force "forts" from the United States Army.

It cost the Swedes $100,000 each to convert the bombers into fourteen-seat passenger transports, compared with the 46-seat capacity of a regular Douglas four-engined transport.

Freed Papers Held Needy

New York, May 15 (AP)—Dean Carl W. Ackerman, of Columbia University, who recently returned from a world tour sponsored by the American Society of Newspaper Editors, said today he found that "the political freedom of newspapers is not as critical as their economical freedom."

"The starved or battle-wrenched stomachs of newspaper plants need sustenance as urgently as people need food," the dean of Columbia's graduaate school of journalism said at a service in St. Paul's chapel.

Need Materials

"Newspapers from Holland to the Philippines need printing presses, linotypes, ink, typewriters, electric power, newsprint and every material necessity for rebuilding printing industries," he said, adding that the United States, Great Britain and Russia would be able to provide those essentials.

Asking what the price to the needy countries would be "for the restoration of the economic liberty of the press," Ackerman said:

"Will ou rprice be money only? Will we sell on a business basis or will we expect or exact some form of potiiical allegiance or servitude? That we will have to decide in our own country, as the people and governments of Great Britain and Soviet Russia will have to decide in their countries.

"The freedom of the press of the world and the restoration of family life both depend upon the same thing."

U-Boat Reported Sunk This Month Off Coast

New York, May 15 (AP)—The New York Times in a special dispatch from Boston said yesterday that the last German U-boat destroyed off the East Coast was snared by United States warships, which dropped more than 200 depth bombs in 125 feet of water.

The story said the underseas raider was apprehended within minutes after it had torpedoed and sunk the American collier, Black Point, in a daylight attack off Point Judith, R.I., on May 5. Twelve lives were lost in the sinking.

The Nazi craft was bagged about ten miles at sea by a destroyer, two destroyer escorts and a frigate, after one of the escorts had located dived to the bottom.

BRACKX CONVICTED OF CODE VIOLATION

NEW YORK, May 15 — (AP) Laurent H. J. Brackx, 51-year-old former U. S. Navy reserve lieutenant, was convicted in Federal court today on charges of engaging in wartime espionage and violation of the censorship code.

The jury of seven women and five men was out just two hours.

Former U. S. Attorney John J. Dowling, defense counsel, after hearing the verdict, moved to set it aside as contrary to "the evidence and to the law." It was denied by Judge Mortimer W. Byers.

Brackx, who will be sentenced May 25, faces a possible death penalty.

Brackx was accused of conspiring with Axis agents in Italy. The government contended that he had told Commander Max Ponzo, chief of Italian naval intelligence, that he would try to get information about radar and airplane construction when he returned to this country in 1941.

Brackx maintained throughout the trial that he only pretended to cooperate with the Axis agents so that he could get his Italian fiancee, Luisetta Gherardi, out of Italy. He testified that he had cooperated with the U. S. Navy on several occasions by furnishing information on foreign shipping while he was employed as harbor master for the Iraq Petroleum company in Tripoli, Syria, in 1938 and 1939.

The defendant was arrested last fall largely, it was said, as the result of information turned over to the F.B.I. by Sergeant Mario Wax, a shipmate of Brackx on a voyage to the United States in June, 1940. Wax and Commander Ponzo were the government's principal witnesses.

STILWELL IS WARY ON SOVIET PLANS

Buffalo, May 15 (A. P.)—Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell, commander of the Army Ground Forces, was quoted today by the Buffalo Courier-Express as saying: "No one can tell what action Russia might take once she gets her house in order, but if she decides to make war on Japan I do not think there will be any immediate military sensations."

"It must be remembered," Gen. Stilwell said in an interview with the newspaper, "that Japan has a huge force in Manchuria, and this army will serve for a time to immobilize whatever organization the Reds will be able to concentrate in easternmost Siberia."

The General, who participated in last night's formal opening of the Seventh War Loan drive, predicted that the Japanese "will fight to the bitter, suicidal end."

"We've probably disposed of about 1,000,000 Nip fighting men—dead, wounded and isolated on islands—but there are still millions left, and those millions will be the cream of the crop," Gen. Stilwell said.

SUB SURRENDERS, ON FIRST VOYAGE

German U-Boat Reaches Portsmouth, Had Never Fired Torpedo.

By LEO TAFFE

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 15—(AP) On her first mission, during which not one torpedo had been released from her tubes, the German submarine U-805 formally surrendered to the American Navy today, the second to give up in a United States port.

As the enemy craft was moored to a pier, Naval officers told newsmen that one and possibly two more German U-boats probably would be surrendered here tomorrow.

Capitalenleutenant Richard Varnardelli, the sub commander, conned his vessel into the harbor under the watchful eye of a U. S. Navy sailor who had a tommy gun at the ready and aiming at the German officer.

Varnardelli, whose navy rank is equivalent to that of an American senior lieutenant, told Naval intelligence officers that the vessel he was yielding to the United States was 15 months old and that her completion was delayed several times by Allied bombing raids. She was built at Swinemunde.

American Navy officers, reporting that the undersea craft "appeared intact," said she carried a crew of seven officers and 47 enlisted men.

The Navy removed all the Germans except three officers from their sub and brought them into the Navy yard on an American vessel.

They were lined up on the pier and each was asked, in turn by a German speaking American officer:

"Do you care to be interviewed by the press?"

In each case the answer was "nein."

Up spoke varnardelli—in German—from his now moored vessel:

"I told them to say no."

That ended it as far as the newsmen were concerned.

The vessel, arrived under escort of two U. S. Navy destroyer-escort vessels, which had taken her into "protective custody" several hundred miles at sea a few days ago.

After Commander Alexander Moffat, U.S.N.R., accepted surrender and a complete examination had been made of the ship, she was taken with her crew to Portsmouth, N. H., Navy yard.

Her arrival was delayed because of a northeast gale that swept the previously appointed "surrender area" last Thursday night and Friday, a storm that made impossible operation of the "surrender ship," a patrol craft, and an accompanying patrol ship which carried the press

Press Unit on Navy Vessel Battered by Atlantic Storm

By LEO TAFFE

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., May 15—(AP) The six newsmen and two newsreel camera men, who comprised what the Navy officially designated as "press pass unit number one," in covering the surrender of a German submarine off the Maine coast today spent just a week in waiting, at one time, thought they were on their final assignment.

Last Thursday night a howling northeast gale hit the surrender area in which they were waiting, in company with a Navy patrol boat. The press boat once was the property of a New York millionaire. It was a yacht—and yachts love to roll.

The sleek little lady that was sent out early in the war to do the work of a draft horse is known in Navy circles as "roughest rough rider of the North Atlantic patrol."

That, newsmen agreed, must be true.

As the storm increased in intensity the little lady heaved and tossed. At times she rolled over to a 52 degree angle. The wind rose to a consistent 60 miles per hour with gusts hitting 70 miles. Waves from 35 to 45 feet high pounded incessantly.

Lt. R. T. F. Larson, former Wisconsin State university football coach, and commander of the little lady, whose name still must remain anonymous for security reasons, first ran his ship with the storm.

Lost Headway at Full Speed

He raced more than a hundred miles from shore. Fighting her way back, the little lady put on "full steam ahead" and lost two knots an hour, because of the blow.

Three small dories were smashed. Salt water entered into the ships fresh water system. Water came in through loosened hatches. The crew, called to "general quarters," fought back desperately however and kept the little lady from disaster.

The landlubbers aboard still don't know how.

A misstep on the blacked out ship meant trouble, or worse.

One newsman made that error.

The sudden roll of the ship catapulted him against a bulkhead with such force that he suffered a badly sprained knee and was forced to use crutches for most of the remainder of the trip.

One sailor suffered a gashed eye. Others reported bruises and cuts. Earl Moore, Pharmacist's Mate first class, formerly of Caspian, Mich., and now of Watertown, Mass., the only medical corps man aboard, was kept busy throughout the night.

Not until Friday afternoon did the storm subside enough to make trip on deck safe for the members of "press pass unit number one."

Then for the first time since the storm broke, cooks were able to prepare something besides cold sandwiches. The traditional Navy coffee reappeared. The cooks had quenched their fires to prevent trouble from that source.

One of the officers aboard said "I never saw her react so badly, but remember, she has been bucking this North Atlantic through three winters and when the North Atlantic goes haywire it doesn't fool."

And as one man, the voyage is past, members of "press pass unit number one asked:

"Are you telling us?"

Library to Honor Roosevelt

PHILADELPHIA, May 15 (AP).—The memory of American-Filipino friendship during the war against Japan will be perpetuated in the Philippines by a memorial library, named in honor of the late President Roosevelt, Philippine President Sergio Osmena announced on a visit to this city. During a ceremony at Independence Hall, he and Mayor Bernard Samuel exchanged flags of the two countries.

About 3,000 Troops Arrive From Europe

Newport News, Va., May 15 (AP)—Some 1,800 Americans who have been in prison camps in Germany, 600 rotational troops home on leave, and more than 550 wounded men, 90 of them litter cases, landed at the Hampton Roads port of embarkation in Newport News today.

The soldiers were taken by bus, train and ambulance to Camp Patrick Henry for processing.

New Type B-29 Is Tested

DAYTON, Ohio, May 15 (AP).—Successful flight tests of a B-29 Superfortress equipped with in-line liquid-cooled engines was announced today by the Air Technical Service Command at Wright Field. Dubbed the "XB-39," the plane is essentially the same as a B-29 with the exception of engine mountings. The object of the experiment was to obtain additional flight data and experience in use of in-line liquid-cooled engines as applied to heavy bombardment aircraft. This type of engine has been used for the most part, on fighter aircraft, the A. T. S. C said.

SURPLUS AIRCRAFT HELD 'EXPENDABLE'

Wilson Urges "Courageous Disposal" Of Planes, Plants

Chicago, May 15 (AP)—Eugene E. Wilson, president of the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce, tonight advocated a "courageous disposal" of surplus aircraft and plants, asserting that the excess of both must be considered "just as expendable" as shells.

"It is entirely possible that an old company or a new enterprise would do better in the long run to abandon war-surplus plants and build new ones designed for economical peacetime operations," he said.

Argument Against Salvage

Urging that war surpluses "be disposed of in a manner designed to foster American air power rather than throttle it," Wilson said in an address prepared for delivery to the Chicago forum on aviation:

"The public generally looks at war products as possessing a salvage value. They feel the same way about the surplus plants. . . . The excess of aircraft and plants which constitutes practically all of our surplus must be considered just as expendable as the shells that hurtled across the Rhine or as the rockets that zoomed into Iwo Jima and Okinawa.

"If we attempt to salvage this property, and in the process halt normal production, we will quench the spark of technological development and extinguish American air power."

For Air Commerce Development

Wilson asserted no second-place weapon is any good and "if we fail to keep in the forefront of technical development we will be just as helpless next time out" as the nation was at the start of this war.

Wilson, also vice chairman of the United Aircraft Corporation, called for uninterrupted procurement and replacement, long-term program of industrial research and development and an expanding program of development of air commerce.

He declared that unless positive steps were taken promptly "the American manufacturing industry, the cornerstone of American air power, is threatened with extinction."

General Motors Plans to Build New Light Car

Model Still in Idea Stage; Chevrolet to Handle It at End of Japanese War

DETROIT, May 15 (AP).—The General Motors Corporation plans to produce a lighter weight and more economical automobile in the post-war period.

This was disclosed today by C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, who said that the car would be manufactured by the Chevrolet division and distributed through Chevrolet dealers.

Details of the new vehicle were not disclosed.

A statement from General Motors offices here said that because of the necessity of putting war production first, the contemplated new car still was in the idea stage. Therefore, the statement went on, it cannot be placed in production until a considerable period of time after the close of the war with Japan.

The disclosure from General Motors pointed up the likelihood of a keen competitive battle between Chevrolet and Ford in the lower price car field. The Ford Motor Company has already announced its plans for a new lighter and more economical vehicle to be priced at about 20 per cent below the standard Ford car. It was emphasized that the retail list price would be below the post-war cost of the standard Ford, yet to be determined.

In 1941, the last full year of production before car output ceased, Chevrolet delivered more than 1,300,000 cars and trucks to its dealers; in the decads preceding the war its production totaled close to 10,000,000 units. This made Chevrolet the leading producer and distributor of passenger automobiles during ten of the eleven years immediately preceding the war.

Ford produced 1,027,292 Ford and Mercury models in 1941. Ford has already designed the new lighter vehicle, but has emphasized it is not intended to replace any of the models produced before the war.

Coincident with announcement of plans for the new Chevrolet unit, Mr. Wilson announced today that General Motors has purchased approximately 300 acres in Jackson County near Kansas City, Mo., for possible use after the war as the site of a plant to assemble Buick, Oldsmobile and Pontiac automobiles.

Further details or developments in connection with this plant, Mr. Wilson said, will necessarily await the finish of the war and governmental decision on availability of plants, material and labor for civilian automobile production.

FORD ASSAILS HOUSING PLAN

Accuses FPHA of Going to Needless Expense.

Detroit, May 15 (A. P.).—The Ford Motor Company today assailed the logic of a $3,500,000 Government housing project in the area of the Willow Run bomber plant and the River Rouge factory.

In a prepared statement the company accused the Federal Public Housing Administration of a "high-handed attempt" to put through at taxpayers' expense a project "which is not needed in the war effort and has no connection with it."

Federal Judge Ernest O'Brien yesterday granted the Government immediate possession of 100 acres of Ford property for the project. It was the second time the Government had taken over company-owned land for housing under the war powers act.

The FHA plans to construct 1,410 unrestricted temporary housing units. Ultimately seventy-two additional acres may be included.

Calling attention to cutbacks in war production, the company said that "unless we have been badly misinformed" the Willow Run bomber plant will close "not later than August" and that "daily" layoffs are being made at Rouge. "The FPHA is the same alphabetical bureau that wanted to spend millions of dollars on a Bomber City near Willow Run," the statement said. "There were visions of 20,000 houses, hospitals, shopping centers and other community buildings.

"The Ford Motor Company's protests and the investigation of the Truman committee stopped tthat. A similar investigation of this new housing proposal would result, we are sure, in a similar result.

"The same visionaries who participated in the Bomber City dream are involved in this one. Perhaps the real purpose of the project is retaliation because we once before stopped waste of the taxpayers' money."

THICKER ARMOR, HEAVY GUNS ON NEW U.S. TANKS

DETROIT, May 15—(AP) Thicker armor, a high-velocity 90 millimeter gun with a "muzzle brake," torsion bar spring suspension and improved traction are hitherto secret details of America's new heavy tank, the 45-ton M-26, it was desclosed today by Fisher body division of General Motors corporation.

Fisher division designed, engineered and built the vehicle in collaboration with Army ordnance development engineers.

The big vehicle, described by Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of War, as "the most powerful tank we have ever built," is being turned out in quantity at Fisher Body's Grand Blanc, Mich., plant. Other Fisher plants in Detroit, Flint, Grand Rapids and Cleveland are producing major assemblies and parts.

The M-26, designed the "General Pershing" but called the "Tiger Tamer" by the men who build it, has a top speed of 25 miles an hour and can negotiate grades up to 60 per cent.

The "muzzle brake" on the long barrel of the 90 millimeter gun deflects the flash and reduces air wash to reduce the posibility of enemy detection of the gun's position.

Other armament includes a coaxial 30-caliber machine gun in the turret, a 30-caliber machine gun in the front and a 50-caliber anti-aircraft gun atop the turret.

The tank is powered with an eight-cylinder, V-type, liquid cooled, gasoline engine, and a new combat vehicle type hydraulic transmission eliminates the need for a clutch. It has dual controls so that the driver's assistant may drive the vehicle on a moment's notice. It is equipped with two sets of two-way radios. The commander's cupola is provided with glass prisms affording clear vision in all directions.

The tracks are nearly two-feet wide.

U.S. PLANS BID FOR HEMISPHERE DEFENSE TREATY

Other American Republics to Be Invited to Join in Pact.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS

Great Powers Clinch Control of Projected World Organization.

By JACK BELL

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15—(AP) Secretary of State Stettinius announced tonight the United States plans to invite other American Republics to join in a mutual defense arrangement under supervision of a proposed world peacekeeping organization.

In a statement proposing regional arrangement amendments to the Dumbarton Oaks formula, Stettinius said this government would ask its western hemisphere neighbors to join in negotiating a treaty "consistent with the charter of the world organization."

He said this action would be taken at the conclusion of the United Nations conference here.

Stettinius' announcement implied approval by the Latin American nations of a formula under which the wartime inter-American defense agreement would be placed in operation under the proposed world organization. Future treaty agreements of the same nature would be carried out under the wing of the international league.

Unanimous Support

The charter amendment to be offered with the unanimous support of the American delegation would provide that nothing in the new league's charter should impair "the inherent right of self defense, either individual or collective, in the event that the security council (of the world organization) does not maintain international peace and security and armed attack against a member state occurs."

Measures to be taken under this self-defense authority would be reported immediately to the council and would "not in any way affect the authority and responsibility of the security council under this charter to take at any time such action as it may deem necessary in order to maintain or restore international peace and security."

It was not made clear immediately whether this proposed amendment has the support of others of the big five powers. There was doubt whether Russia had given its final approval which could come only from Moscow.

Great powers appeared tonight to be clinching control of a projected world organization for peace when small nations lost three significant test votes in the United Nations conference.

sia and the United Nations—made some conciliatory gestures toward small nation views. But even these were so designed as to knock some of the props from under bids of lesser nations for more authority in shaping the pattern of the post-war world.

These were the key decisions, taken in various conference committees:

1. A Mexican proposal to lift an all-nation general assembly to the level of a proposed 11-member security council in approving action involving military or economic sanctions was defeated 23 to 7.

2. A New Zealand amendment to require a concurring vote or a review by the assembly—except in case of extreme urgency—in instances in which the council would apply force, was rejected. It mustered only four votes.

3. Also turned down was the question whether the assembly should be able on its own initiative to make recommendations on any matter relating to maintenance of peace being dealt with the council.

Committee decisions, of course, must be approved by the entire conference. Dozens of other small-nation amendments still are pending. They may produce plenty of argument. But today's ballots evidenced the ability of the great powers virtually to write their own ticket in this conference and to play the dominant roles in a new world league.

Referred to a sub-committee for clarification was still another important amendment—a Canadian proposal that any nation whose armed forces would be used to repel aggression sit in on meetings when the security council was considering use of force.

The United States supported the Canadian plan in principle, but Russia wanted it sent to a sub-committee to clear up whether a nation merely should participate or whether it also could vote.

The swift round of balloting in committees took place while efforts were under way to produce agreement among the big five and among the Latin American Republics on another big issue of the conference: an American formula for welding a region security system into a world organization while retaining the effectiveness of each.

Secretary of State Stettinius met with nine Latin American statesmen to explain the latest version of the regional security plan. Then he huddled with representatives of the big five on the same question.

Spokesmen for all the nations below the Rio Grande called a meeting for tonight to make a final decision on the American proposal. In general, the Latins were reported favoring it. But Colombia and Cuba still had to be sold and Mexico was described as on the fence.

Cuba, in particular has been demanding autonomy for the inter-American system in handling international disputes in the western hemisphere.

STETTINIUS FOR INTERNATIONAL BILL OF RIGHTS

Says Framing It Should Be First Task of New World Body.

ON BASIS OF 4 FREEDOMS

Secretary Reaffirms U. S. Stand for Helping Dependent People to Self-government.

San Francisco, May 15 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Stettinius proposed today that drafting of an international bill of rights based on the Four Freedoms become the first task of a new world organization of United Nations.

At a news conference the leader of the American delegation declared that the issue of human rights may wel be the most important raised in the San Francisco conference. It was the first pronouncement since Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov spoke of this question more than a week ago. Mr. Stettinius voiced the opinion that the Economic and Social Council of the new league should act to establish standards for freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want and freedom from fear.

Explaining that the Big Four had agreed that the enumeration of individual and collective human rights could not be attempted at this conference, he said a "commission on human rights" under a social and economic council should draft a code which could be accepted by member nations and made "an integral part of their own systems of law."

Seek Off-stage Agreements.

Mr. Stettinius simultaneously reaffirmed the American position in favor of giving dependent peoples self-government when they are ready for it.

The Secretary of State met the press as the Big Five Powers—Russia, Great Britain, China, France and the United States—tried off-stage for agreements that would cross the trusteeship and regional security issues off the list of conference problems. But they had to wait for guidance from London and Moscow for the British and Soviet delegations.

Mr. Stettinius used the interval for another consultation with Latin American Foreign Ministers on the question of blending a Pan-American security plan into a world peace-keeping organization.

Conference committees, clogged with scores of proposed amendments to a world charter for peace, continued a fast pace of day and night sessions. Some were debating issues on which they had argued for days. Some were near votes on important segments of a charter.

Otto Is Reported Seeking Allied Backing on Austria

Pretender's Brother Promotes Cause at San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15 (AP). Archduke Otto, pretender to the Austrian throne, was reported in United Nations circles today to be seeking Allied backing for the monarchy in Austria.

This coincided with the Austrian radio report that the Soviet-sponsored government of Austria in Vienna had proclaimed the country's independence and restored republican laws.

Well-informed European sources said that Otto's agents in Europe and America have been sounding out for the last six months Allied attitudes toward the restoration of the monarchy.

Archduke Felix, brother to the pretender, has been inconspicuously circulating among conference delegates here.

Otto, meanwhile, is in Lisbon, where he has been for several months waiting for the liberation of Austria. Persons in contact with him have reported that he held "high hopes" of returning to Vienna. They said he believed the house of Hapsburg would be recognized.

Stettinius Statement on Human Rights

SAN FRANCISCO, May 15 (AP).—The complete text of the statement by Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius today on human rights in a world organization follows:

The provisions on human rights proposed by the four sponsoring governments for the charter of the international organization represent a long step toward the realization of social, economic and political justice for the peoles of the world.

It is a far-reaching step because it would pledge the members of the world organization to co-operate effectively in promoting human rights and fundamental freedoms for all individuals and peoples, regardless of race, language, religion or sex.

These provisions are essential if we are to build peace on the basis of justice and freedom for all. Never before have the destruction, the turmoil and the hatreds of war affected the lives of so many people in all parts of the world. Millions of men, women and children are homeless and destitute. Established customs and long-standing habits have been broken down. Racial tensions have been built up since the rise of nazism and fascism by systematic campaigns of hatred and prejudice. Every nation must overcome the severe dislocations of war in the transition to peace.

Nor are these the sole reasons why the provisions on human rights and freedoms are essential. From malnutrition, disease, ignorance, unemployment, low wages, bad housing and racial and religious persecutions arise many of the conditions that lead to war.

People Seek Peace

The people of the world will not be satisfied simply to return to an order which offers them only worn-out answers to their hopes. They rightly demand the active defense and promotion of basic human rights and fundamental freedoms. It is a matter of elementary justice that this demand be answered affirmatively.

That is the compelling purpose of the amendments on human rights which the four sponsoring governments propose.

These provisions are not mere general expressions in a preamble; they are woven through and through the document. Moreover, they are closely tied to the all-important provisions on economic and social development.

There are four amendments on human rights. The first would establish the promotion of human rights and freedoms as one o fthe fundamental purposes of the organization stated in Chapter I of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals.

From this amendment stem three other amendments. These provide the constitutional basis upon which the members of the world organization can build as they work toward translating these purposes into reality.

One of these amendments—in Chapter V—would give the general assembly the power to assist in the realiziation of these rights and freedoms.

Theother two amendments are in Chapter IX, covering international economic and social co-operation. By these amendments the assembly's responsibilit yon human rights will be exercised through the economic and social council, which will, in turn, establish a commission for the promotion of human rights. This commission represents the heart of the matter.

U. S. Position Restated

The amendments on human rights and fundamental freedoms are closely linked with the amendments establishing equal rights and self-determination of peoples as one of the fundamental purposes of the organization. Both have a significant relationship to the legitimate hopes of peoples of dependent areas.

There can be no misunderstanding where the United States stands on this issue as a nation which has been devoted throughout its history to the cause of liberty, the United States will continue to exert its full influence in behalf of the right of all peoples to govern themselves according to their own desires whenever they are prepared and able to assume the responsibilities of freedom as well as to enjoy its rights.

We are proud of our own record in the Philippines, which have stood so valiantly beside us against the Japanese and are soon to become independent. This record is only one manifestation of the long-standing and frequently demonstrated policy of the United States.

We believe, furthermore, that it is a special obligation of the greater and more powerful nations to respect the right of self-government, not only in their relationship with the peoples of dependent areas, but in their relationship with the peoples of small nations who are already independent and wish to remain so.

The provisions proposed for the charter will not, of course, assure by themselves the realization of human rights and fundamental freedoms for all people. The provisions are not made enforceable by any international machinery. The responsibility rests with the member governments to carry them out. We can here make only a beginning, but I believe it is a good and substantian beginning.

Through the charter we can place in the hands of the international organization both the possibility and the responsibility of using powers of report and recommendation with great potentialities for the benefit of humanity. Whether the opportunity is used effectively or not will depend, as it must, upon the governments of the member nations and upon the peoples who elect them to office.

Likened to Bill of Rights

The Bill of Rights was written into the Constitution of the United States over 150 years ago. It is not yet fully realized, but we have made good progress and its effect upon our history has been decisive.

The four sponsoring governments agreed that an enumeration of individual and collective human rights and fundamental freedoms in the charter could not be attempted at this conference. It would take much too long to obtain agreement upon such an enumeration among more than two-score nations of differing social systems, environments and traditions. I believe that when the organization is established the economic and social council, through the commission on human rights, should promptly undertake to prepare an international bill of rights which can be accepted by all the member nations as an integral part of their own systems of law, just as our bill of rights has been an integral part of our system of law.

The four freedoms stated by President Roosevelt—freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want and freedom from fear—are, from the point of view of the United States, the fundamental freedoms which encompass all other rights and freedoms.

Freedom of speech, for example, encompass freedom of the press, freedom of information and freedom of communications.

Freedom from want encompasses the right to work, the right to social security and the right to opportunity for advancement.

Freedom from fear encompasses the protection from persecution or discrimination of all men and women, regardless of race, language, religion or sex, and the protection of their equal right to enjoy all other fundamental rights and freedoms.

Need for Vigilance

The United States government will work actively and tirelessly, both for its own people, and—through the international organization—for peoples generally, toward the protection and promotion of these rights and freedoms.

We must be eternally vigilant against assaults upon them. We must also act affirmatively to eenlarge the scope of their protection and to nourish their growth. As long as rights and freedoms are denied to some, the rights and freedoms of all are endangered.

Everything possible must be done to bring to effective life not only the commission of human rights, but the other vital agencies and functions of the economic and social council.

I believe the charter and the structure and procedures of the world organization should and will provide the means for full consideration of the views and interests of all branches of organized labor, and of agriculture and business. Without such full consideration, effective performance by the organization in economic and social matters would obviously be impossible.

It is my conviction that the foundation which we are laying here for the economic and social collaboration of nations in the cause of fundamental human rights and freedoms may well prove to be the most important of all the things we do here for the peace and advancement of the peoples of the world.

BIRMINGHAM, ENGLAND, MAY 15-(AP)-COUNCILLOR A.F.BRADBEER TOLD THE CITY COUNCIL TODAY THAT MILITARY AUTHORITIES HAD BANNED AMERICAN NEGRO WACS FROM A BATH IN BIRMINGHAM.
HE CITED THIS AND ANOTHER CASE OF COLOR BAN IN AN UNSUCCESSFUL ATTEMPT TO HAVE THE COUNCIL NOTIFY CORPORATIONS THAT PERSONS WERE TO BE SERVED IRRESPECTIVE OF RACE OR COLOR.
THE OTHER CASE, HE SAID, AROSE WHEN A BIRMINGHAM HOSPITAL GAVE A NEGRO MEDICAL OFFICER WHO ANSWERED ITS EMPLOYMENT ADVERTISEMENT A MONTH'S SALARY AND NOTICE OF DISCHARGE WITHOUT ALLOWING HIM TO WORK.

LONDON, MAY 15-(AP)-A STAFF WRITER FOR THE ARMY NEWSPAPER STARS AND STRIPES DECLARED LAST NIGHT THAT AN ATTEMPTED GERMAN BOMBARDMENT OF NEW YORK LAST ELECTION DAY "FAILED WHEN THE V-BOMB EITHER FELL SHORT OF NEW YORK OR WAS SHOT DOWN BY FIGHTER PILOTS ALERTED TO WATCH FOR SUCH PROJECTILES."
AN EDITOR'S NOTE PRECEDING THE STORY SAID THE WRITER, ANDY ROONEY, WAS ON TEMPORARY DUTY WITH THE NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE PAPER IN NOVEMBER, AND THAT THE STORY WAS WITHHELD UNTIL AFTER GERMANY'S FALL.
IN NEW YORK A SPOKESMAN FOR THE EASTERN DEFENSE COMMAND SAID: "WE HAVE NO INFORMATION ABOUT IT. WE WOULD HAVE KNOWN IF SUCH AN ATTACK HAD TAKEN PLACE."
A SPOKESMAN FOR THE THIRD NAVAL DISTRICT SAID THERE WAS "NO FOUNDATION" FOR THE ARTICLE, AND AN OFFICIAL OF THE NEW YORK POLICE DEPARTMENT DECLARED THAT IF A ROBOT BOMB HAD BEEN LAUNCHED AT NEW YORK FROM A U-BOAT AND HAD NEARED ITS OBJECTIVE, "WE WOULD HAVE BEEN INFORMED."

THE NAVY DEPARTMENT IN WASHINGTON DENIED ANY SUCH BOMBING ATTEMPT HAD BEEN MADE. REPORTS OF A BOMB LANDING SOMEWHERE IN CONNECTICUT, AT ABOUT THE SAME TIME, ALSO PROVED FALSE, A SPOKESMAN SAID.
ROONEY WROTE THAT THE BOMB, "PRESUMABLY A JET OR ROCKET-PROPELLED PROJECTILE, WAS REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN LAUNCHED FROM THE DECK OF A GERMAN SUBMARINE LYING OFF THE ATLANTIC COAST."
"SOLDIER OPERATORS AT MITCHEL FIELD SAID THEY DETECTED THE PROJECTILE ON ITS COURSE TOWARD THE CITY AND DECIDED THAT IT HAD DROPPED INTO THE SEA," THE ACCOUNT SAID.

TRIESTE MAY 16 1945
BY EDWARD J.DENNEHY
LONDON, MAY 15-(AP)-A BRITISH SPOKESMAN TODAY LABELLED AS "EXAGGERATED" REPORTS PUBLISHED IN LONDON THAT MARSHAL TITO OF YUGOSLAVIA HAD BEEN ORDERED PEREMPTORILY TO WITHDRAW HIS TROOPS FROM ISTRIA AND THE ADRIATIC PORT OF TRIESTE.
BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES HOLD THAT TRIESTE WOULD REMAIN UNDER ALLIED CONTROL UNTIL THE PEACE CONFERENCE SETTLED ITS STATUS. THE SPOKESMAN SAID THIS POLICY HAD BEEN COMMUNICATED TO THE YUGOSLAV GOVERNMENT THROUGH ENVOYS AT BELGRADE IN AN ATMOSPHERE OF FRANKNESS AND FRIENDSHIP. HE DECLARED THERE WAS NO QUESTION OF A CRISIS OR OF AN ULTIMATUN.
HIS STATEMENT WAS SIMILAR TO ONE ISSUED SATURDAY IN WASHINGTON BY ACTING SECRETARY OF STATE JOSEPH GREW, WHO SAID THE YUGOSLAV GOVERNMENT HAD BEEN INFORMED THAT TRIESTE WOULD BE CONTROLLED BY THE ALLIED MILITARY GOVERNMENT UNTIL ITS STATUS WAS SETTLED IN THE ORDERLY MANNER PLEDGED BY THE UNITED NATIONS FO THE S
UTION OF SUCH MANNER PLEDGED BY THE UNITED NATIONS FOR THE SOLUTION OF SUCH PROBLEMS.
IN BELGRADE, EDVARD KARDELJ, SECOND VICE PRESIDDENT OF THE YUGOSLAV GOVERNMENT, SAID "CERTAIN FOREIGNERS ARE REPEATING A SLANDER TO THE EFFECT THAT YUGOSLAVIA IN OCCUPYING THIS TERRITORY WISHES TO PLACE BEFORE THE WORLD A FAIT ACCOMPLI."
"THESE ALLEGATIONS HAVE NO FOUNDATIONS WHATSOEVER," KARDELJ SAID. "THESE CALUMNIES ARE INSPIRED BY THE SAME IMAGINATION WHICH IN THE PAST ACCUSED THE YUGOSLAV ARMY OF COMMITTING CRUELTIES UPON THE TRST (TRIESTE:,8,8-785-,5'. YUG
ACCUSED THE YUGOSLAV ARMY OF COMMITTING CRUELTIES UPON THE TRST (TRIESTE) INHABITANTS. YUGOSLAVIA HAS NEVER REFUSED TO CONFER AND EXPRESS ITS REQUESTS AS CONCERNS FRONTIERS AT THE PEACE CONFERENCE."
KARDELJ SAID THE YUGOSLAV ARMY HAD "LIBERATED THE SLOVENE LITTORAL, ISTRIA AND TRIESTE AT THE COST OF MANY LIVES." HE ADDED, HOWEVER, THAT "THE YUGOSLAVS CANNOT BE DENIED THE RIGHT TO ORGANIZE A MILITARY OCCUPATION AUTHORITY IN ORDER TO ASSURE LAW AND ORDER UNTIL THE PROBLEM OF FIXING FRONTIERS IS SOLVED BY DIRECT AGREEMENT BETWEEN ITALY AND YUGOSLAVIA."
THE BRITISH SPOKESMAN ISSUED HIS STATEMENT AFTER THE PUBLICATION OF STORIES IN LONDON NEWSPAPERS SUGGESTING AFFAIRS MIGHT TAKE A SERIOUS TURN.

LONDON, MAY 15-(AP)-LT.GEN.JAMES H.DOOLITTLE WAS HEADED TODAY FOR THE U.S. ARMY AIR FORCES' HEADQUARTERS IN WASHINGTON, PROBABLY TO RECEIVE A PACIFIC COMMAND ASSIGNMENT THAT WILL ASSURE TOKYO OF BLOWS FAR MORE STAGGERING THAN THE ONE HE DELIVERED PERSONALLY ON APRIL 18, 1942.

AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT SAID THE STOCKY, 48-YEAR-OLD COMMANDER OF T E U.S. EIGHTH AIR FORCE IN ITS VICTORIOUS BLASTING OF GERMANY WOULD RETURN TO WASHINGTON "FOR A NEW ASSIGNMENT."

THERE SEEMED LITTLE DOUBT, HOWEVER, THAT THE SPECIAL TALENTS OF THE MAN WHO ORGANIZED AND LED THE FIRST AIR ATTACK ON TOKYO BY B-25 MITCHELL MEDIUM BOMBERS MORE THAN THREE YEARS AGO WOULD BE UTILIZED IN THE PACIFIC.

IN WASHINGTON IT WAS BELIEVED HIS FIRST TASK WOULD BE TO SET UP BASES FOR B-17 AND B-24 STRATEGIC BOMBERS, ON WHICH HE IS A SPECIALIST.

DOOLITTLE'S SUCCESSOR IN THE EUROPEAN THEATER IS MAJ.GEN.WILLIAM KEPNER, 52, A NATIVE OF INDIANA AND FORMER COMMANDER OF THE EIGHTH AIR FORCE'S SECOND BOMBER DIVISION. KEPNER, A PIONEER IN WORK WITH ZEPPELINS AND BALLOON ASCENSIONS IN THE STRATOSPHERE, HAS BEEN IN SOME BRANCH OF THE FIGHTING SERVICE EVER SINCE HE RAN AWAY FROM HOME AT THE AGE OF 16.

DOOLITTLE DECLARED AT A PRESS CONFERENCE LAST FRIDAY THAT THE MAIN BURDEN OF BOMBING JAPAN WOULD BE CARRIED BY SUPERFORTRESSES, WITH B-17 FLYING FORTRESSES AND B-24 LIBERATORS DOING THE WORK USUALLY DONE BY MEDIUM BOMBERS.

HE ASSERTED THAT THE BASIC STRATEGY AGAINST JAPAN WOULD BE "THE WEAKENING OF THE ENEMY FROM THE AIR TO ENABLE OCCUPATION OF THE LAND BY GROUND FORCES."

HIS ABILITY TO CARRY THROUGH THAT STRATEGY AS EIGHTH AIR FORCE COMMANDER WAS CONCEDED EVEN BY SOME ENEMY COMMANDERS TO BE OF THE CHIEF REASONS FOR GERMANY'S SWIFT AND CRUSHING COLLAPSE.

NIGHT LEAD DOENITZ (140)
BY JAMES M.LONG
PARIS, MAY 14-(AP)-OBSERVERS HERE FEEL THAT THE REASON THE ALLIES HAVE NOT TAKEN OVER OR ABOLISHED THE GOVERNMENT OF GRAND ADMIRAL KARL DOENITZ IN GERMANY HAS BEEN THE WISH TO TAKE ADVANTAGE OF ITS CONTROL OVER THE SURRENDERING NAZI FORCES.
THERE IS NO TENDENCY HERE TO REGARD THE DOENITZ GROUP AS ANYTHING MORE THAN AN INSTRUMENT OF SURRENDER. IT IS NOT GOVERNING GERMANY, BUT IT IS SERVING AT LEAST IN SOME RESPECTS AS A CENTRAL AUTHORITY REPRESENTING THE GERMAN ARMY AND GUARANTEEING ITS COMPLIANCE WITH SURRENDER TERMS.
SPECIFICALLY, IT WAS REGARDED AS DESIRABLE TO GET GERMANY'S U-BOAT FLEET OUT OF THE ATLANTIC AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE. AS DOENITZ WAS COMMANDER OF THE SUBMARINE FLEET, IT SEEMED LIKELY HIS ORDERS THAT THE CRAFT SURRENDER AT DESIGNATED PORTS WOULD BE OBEYED.
ALLIED HEADQUARTERS HAS BEEN RELUCTANT TO COMMENT ON THE STATUS OF THE DOENITZ GROUP, BUT IS EXPECTED TO MAKE AN ANNOUNCEMENT SOON THAT WILL CLARIFY THE SITUATION.

PARIS, MAY 15-(AP)-EARLY IN THE WAR THE GERMANS BOASTED OF A WEAPON WHICH THEY SAID COULD RAZE GREAT AREAS OF THE BRITISH ISLES. A GERMAN GENERAL INDICATED IT WAS A SUPER-GUN BUT APPARENTLY IT WAS JUST ANOTHER "SECRET WEAPON" THAT FAILED TO PRODUCE THE RESULTS THE GERMANS HOPED FOR.

LATE IN 1939 I AND TWO OTHER AMERICAN NEWS AGENCY REPRESENTATIVES WERE TAKEN ON A TOUR OF THE SIEGFRIED LINE. IN A WOODED SECTION SOUTH OF TRIER, KNOWN AS THE SCHWARZWALDER HOCHWALD, WE APPROACHED CERTAIN GUN POSITIONS.

BEFORE THE GENERAL COMMANDING THE CORPS AREA COULD SHUT HIM UP, THE LIEUTENANT IN CHARGE SNAPPED TO ATTENTION AND YELLED: "TWENTY-SIX MEN PRESENT AND ACCOUNTED FOR."

THE GENERAL TOLD US THE FIGURE 26 MUST BE OFF THE RECORD AS IT INDICATED THE NUMBER OF MEN ATTENDING THIS SUPER-GUN. IT WAS THE BIGGEST CONSTRUCTION OF ITS KIND I HAD EVER SEEN WITH ATTENDANTS AT SEVERAL LEVELS, BUT THE GENERAL WOULD NOT DIVULGE ITS SIZE.

THE GENERAL SAID, HOWEVER, THAT IT "IS CAPABLE OF SHOOTING FROM HERE DIRECTLY INTO LONDON." FROM BRIGHTON AND EASTBOURNE NORTHWARD TO SOME DISTANCE BEYOND THE BRITISH CAPITAL, EVERYTHING COULD BE RAZED, THE GENERAL CLAIMED.

(TRIER IS 325 MILES FROM LONDON.)

THROUGHOUT THE REST OF THE WAR I WATCHED FOR SOME INDICATION OF THIS GUN PERFORMING THE MIRACLES CLAIMED FOR IT BUT THEY NEVER CAME.

(IN HIS SPEECH LAST SUNDAY, PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL SAID THE ALLIES FOUND THE GERMANS WERE PREPARING TO USE NOT ONLY ROCKETS AND FLYING BOMBS BUT "MULTIPLE LONG-RANGE ARTILLERY" AGAINST LONDON. HE DID NOT EXPLAIN THE ARTILLERY FURTHER.)

WITH THE 25TH DIVISION AT BALETE PASS, MAY 13 (DELAYED)-(AP)-TWENTY-FIFTH DIVISION DOUGHBOYS STOOD TODAY ATOP LOFTY BALETE PASS, A MURDEROUS MOUNTAIN CORRIDOR PAID FOR WITH BLOOD AND COURAGE IN DAILY INSTALLMENTS OVER A PERIOD OF MANY WEEKS.

WHEN THE LAST OF THE JAPANESE WHO FOUGHT TO THE DEATH HAD BEEN ROOTED FROM ROADBLOCKS AND CAVES, THE DOUGHBOYS COUNTED 7,000 ENEMY DEAD. THEY BELIEVE THAT WHEN ALL THE NIPS SEALED IN CAVES ARE COUNTED THE TOLL WILL BE 20,000.

THE JAPANESE FOUGHT AT EVERY TERRAIN VANTAGE POINT, ROAD BENDS, BRIDGES, HILLSIDE PEAKS, JUNGLE PATCHES AND GULLIES. ON THE LAST DAY THE YANKS LIQUIDATED A HILLCREST CONTAINING 30 MACHINEGUNS, ANTITANK GUNS AND A FIELD OF RIFLE PITS.

BALETE IS THE SOUTHERN DOOR TO CAGAYAN, THE BREADBASKET VALLEY EXTENDING 180 MILES TO THE NORTHERN TIP OF LUZON. THE BATTLEFIELD WILL BE THE VALLEY FLOOR, WHERE AMERICAN MECHANIZED EQUIPMENT CAN BE BROUGHT TO BEAR.

MAJ. GEN. CHARLES L.MULLINS, COMMANDER OF THE 25TH, THINKS BALETE WAS THE BITTEREST FIGHT IN NORTHERN LUZON. IT EXACTED SOBERTING AMERICAN LOSSES, BUT TO QUOTE LT. COL. JAY D.VANDERPOOL OF WETUMKA, OKLA., "NOTHING TO COMPARE TO THE JAPS' LOSSES."

THE DOUGHBOYS FOUGHT CLEVERLY. THE 161ST REGIMENT, FORMERLY THE WASHINGTON STATE NATIONAL GUARD, GOT ON ONE PLATEAU IN DEAD SECRECY AND SEIZED A FEARSOME TUNNEL NETWORK, INCLUDING AN UNDERGROUND HOSPITAL, WITH NEGLIGIBLE LOSS.

THE FIFTH AIR FORCE'S SUPPORT OF THE DOUGHBOYS IN SOME OF THESE BATTLES WAS EPIC. SOMETIMES THE GI'S IN THE COCKPITS WENT SO LOW TO SMASH AT CAVES WITH STRAFING GUNS AND BOMBS THAT THEY BRUSHED TREES ON THE PULLOUT. THEIR FIRE BOMBS DENUDED MANY A HILLSIDE AND LEFT THE NIP POSITIONS BURNED OUT OR EXPOSED.

FREQUENTLY FORWARD ELEMENTS WHICH WERE ISOLATED HAD TO DRAW THEIR RATIONS FROM BISCUIT BOMBERS OR FROM TIRELESS FILIPINO CARRIERS, WHO LUGGED SUPPLIES OVER SECRET TRAILS. FILIPINO LITTER BEARERS SOMETIMES NEEDED TWO DAYS TO BRING OUT THE WOUNDED.

THE FIRST DOUGHBOY TO REACH THE BALETE REST HOUSE ATOP THE PASS WAS PFC J.PATRICK O'LEARY OF LOS ANGELES. LT. COL. THORNTON JONES OF SPOKANE, WASH., RODE UP IN THE FIRST JEEP.

500 Big Superforts Shower Fire Bombs On Nagoya in Record-Breaking Assault; Marine Patrols Cross River, Enter Naha

MILLION BOMBS RAINED ON CITY; PLANE PLANT HIT

Low Flying B-29s Add to Fires Kindled in Monday Attack.

RIP 16-MILE AREA

Cascade Bombs on Part of City Not Hit in Previous Raids.

ERICKSON

GUAM, Thursday, May 17.—(AP) Striking again with more than 500 Superforts, 21st Bomber Command squadrons showered 3,500 tons of fire bombs on the Japanese arsenal city of Nagoya shortly after midnight today, adding more devastation to fires kindled in a raid Monday.

The big planes, carrying more than a million six-pound gasoline jelly bombs, flew low over the target area harboring the giant Mitsubishi aircraft assembly plant, the Atsuta factory of the Nagoya arsenal and other war industries.

Fliers returning today said they observed fires still burning in the northern section of the city in the big daylight attack Monday.

Second Raid in 68 Hours

Besides being the second record-breaking assault on Nagoya in 65 hours, the raid was the 14th demolition and fire bomb effort to put the industrial might of Nippon's third largest city out of production since the B-29s started flying from Marianas bases last November.

NIGHT

Today's attack was centered in the area adjoining the city's inner harbor and estuary docks. Nagoya, with a prewar population of 1,500,000, also is a big port on Japan's inland sea.

There was no immediate report of any American planes being lost in the post-midnight attack. Two B-29s were shot down in Monday's raid.

The Superforts today struck at a 16-square mile target area, cascading their incendiaries on the only remaining part of the city not hit with the fire bombs in previous raids.

Biggest Plant in World

The Mitsubishi Aircraft assembly plant, bigger than the Willow Run factory near Detroit, has been called the largest of its kind in the world.

Another unit of the huge Mitsubishi interests, the aircraft engine factory in northeast Nagoya, was 95 per cent destroyed in a series of B-29 demolition bomb raids several months ago, and the electric plant of this same firm was in the target area of Monday's attack.

The incendiary attacks also strike at Japan's industrial setup through destruction of small shops set up in homes and smaller buildings for the production of parts for Nippon's vast war machine.

The Aichi Aircraft company's engine factory, also are in today's target area, along with aluminum, locomotive and munitions factories, and warehouse and storage facilities.

Major plants in the target area, in addition to the aircraft assembly plant and the arsenal factory, include:

Steam and electric cars; locomotives; munitions and ordnance; a vehicle company plant, second largest of its type in the empire; the Aichi Aircraft company's Mizuko plant, producer of aircraft component parts; Aichi's aircraft's Atsuta plant, producer of engines and other aircraft components; the Sumitomo Aluminum company works; the Hokuku Machinery company's Atsuta plant; the Yahagi steel plant; the Okamoto Aircraft company's Showa plant; the Osaka Machinery works; the Okamoto aircraft's Casadera plant; the Hokuku's Kasadera plant; the Tokushu Light Metals company's Atsuta plant and the Nagoya steam power plant.

The Mitsubishi assembly plant, which was marked for destruction in today's raid, is the third Nagoya factory of Japan's largest aircraft producer to be hit by Marianas-based B-29s.

Engine Plant Knocked Out

The first Mitsubishi plant knocked out was the engine factory in the city's northeast section. This plant was regarded as 95 per cent destroyed after a series of daylight precision demolition attacks.

The Mitsubishi electric plant was in the target area of the May 14 raid. An exact estimate of damage to the electric plant was not yet available.

Buildings in the better constructed industrial southern Nagoya may be more difficult to burn than the flimsy residential northern section hit three days ago.

Damage inflicted, however, will cause greater hurt to Japan's war industry because the objective plants are larger and more important than northern Nagoya's factories and "shadow" production benches in workers' homes

The second Nagoya strike in four days shows the quick return of LeMay's Superforts to the strategic bombing task of destroying Japanese industry, after being called on for direct support of the Okinawa invasion in a series of neutralization raids against enemy airfields on Kyushu.

CARRIER RAIDS HIT 357 JAP PLANES

Guam, May 16 (A. P.).—Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today that carrier plane raids destroyed or damaged 357 enemy aircraft and pounded eighteen enemy airfields on the Jap home islands of Honshu and Kyushu. Nimitz listed 176 aircraft destroyed, 108 either destroyed or damaged and seventy-three machine-gunned without observed results.

DAY

Incomplete returns indicated that ten American planes were lost in the two days and one night's carrier operation. Radio Tokyo said more than 900 American planes were involved.

Vice-Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's planes struck buildings, barracks and aviation installations at airdromes in Saeki, Oita, Miyakonojo, Kikuchi, Ashiya, Gannoshu, Kofuji, Usa, Izumi, Tachiarai, Chiran, Omura and Hitoyoshi on Kyushu, and at airfields in Kochi and Matsuyama on Shikoku. Airfield installations at Kokubu, Kanoya, Chiran and Kagoshima on Kyushu were bombed Saturday night. One barrage balloon was shot down—the first mentioned in a Nimitz communique.

The heavy strikes were the first in force since the Inland Sea raid on March 19.

As the carrier force entered its second day's strike, Monday, escort carrier planes attacked airfield installations in the oft-bombed Sakishima group and struck enemy positions on Kume Island, west of Okinawa.

Big U. S. Air Fleet Returns to Scene of Sunday's Devastating Blow.

BLOODY BATTLE ON OKINAWA

American Casualties Are High as Leathernecks Break Up Jap Counter-attack.

Washington, May 16 (A. P.).—Another mighty force of more than 500 Superfortresses today cascaded fire bombs on Nagoya, DAY still smouldering from a giant attack last Sunday.

The raiders swept in on the city, one of Japan's chief aircraft production centers, shortly after midnight (May 17, Japanese time) at low levels.

Several of the largest Japanese aircraft plants are located in the target area, a Twentieth Air Force announcement said. Sunday's attack was aimed at targets in the northern section of the city.

The Twentieth Air Force headquarters said the attack rivaled Sunday's blow in strength, indicating that more than a million gasoline jelly fire bombs were dumped on the enemy. Nagoya, 150 miles west and south of Tokyo, is Japan's third largest city.

Further details on the raid will be given out, the Twentieth Air Force said, when the bombers return to their bases in the Marianas.

U.S. CASUALTIES REACH 20,950 IN ISLAND CAMPAIGN

Leathernecks Smash into Okinawa's Capital City after Stiff Battle.

JAP LOSSES HEAVY

Infantry Division Maneuvers to Within Few Hundred Yards of Shuri.

ERICKSON

GUAM, Thursday, May 17—(AP) Marine patrols crossed Asato river estuary and entered Okinawa's capital city, Naha, today, as Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported the island campaign had cost the lives of 3,781 American troops and total U. S. ground casualties of 20,950.

Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland radioed from Okinawa that a patrol of the Sixth Marine division entered the main part of Naha after bitter fighting. Leathernecks had been battling savagely counterattacking Japanese in the suburbs four days.

NIGHT

Close In On Fortress

Haugland also reported that the 96th Infantry division's 382nd regiment maneuvered slowly to within a few hundred yards of Shuri's northeast boundary. This placed the regiment closer to that fortress city, key of the southern defense line, than the 77th Infantry division, which was about one mile north of Shuri.

An estimated 34,000 Japanese troops remain on Okinawa, Haugland said.

Japanese losses on Okinawa were 46,505 killed and 1,038 captured through Tuesday's fighting.

Total U. S. casualties on that far western Japanese bastion, only 325 miles south of the enemy's homeland, exceed American losses on Iwo Jima (19,938) by 1,012. However, more Americans were killed on Iwo, 4,189, than so far have fallen on Okinawa. The Okinawa battle is far from ended.

Report Covers 45 Days

America's Okinawa casualty report, through Monday, was for 40 days of savage battling on an island of some 300 square miles. Iwo figures were for the 26 days it required to capture that volcanic heap of only eight square miles.

Japanese casualties on Okinawa are nearly double their losses on Iwo, where 23,244 were killed and 1,038 taken prisoner. These figures include some 2,000 killed since Victory-Day on that island.

U. S. casualties for the Okinawa-Ryukyus campaign, including carrier plane raids on Japanese home islands, are 27,803, including 6,853 Navy officers and men dead, wounded or missing. Navy figures, March 18 through May 9, were 1,2 3 killed, 3,498 wounded and 2,072 missing. Nimitz has not estimated Japanese casualties resulting from naval strikes, including sinking of the super-battleship Yamato and other ships.

U. S. casualties on Okinawa reported today by Nimitz were:

Killed—2,771 soldiers; 1,010 marines.

Wounded—11,675 soldiers; 5,329 marines.

Missing—129 soldiers; 36 marines.

These figures were evidence of the fierceness of the fighting on the southern Okinawa line the past week, where Doughboys and Leathernecks are fighting desperately to smash the "little Siegfried Line."

Make Small Gains

The Sixth Marine division yesterday made small gains around Naha, the island's capital city, on the west coast but the front lines remained "substantially unchanged," Nimitz's communique stated.

Fighting for Naha and Shuri, considered the key to cracking the Naha-Shuri-Yonabaru line extending four miles across a waist on the island, cost the Americans 1,087 killed in the past week alone. Total casualties for the week were 4,425. Thus, in that seven days from May 7 to May 14, American dead were a far greater proportion of total casualties than for the full Okinawa campaign, now in its 47th day.

Reflecting the effectiveness of Vice Adm. Marc A. Mitscher's carrier task force neutralizing raids on 18 Japanese homeland airfields Saturday night through Monday, the Okinawa area was virtually free of enemy aircraft.

About 12 Japanese planes approached shipping off Okinawa Tuesday evening. Nine were destroyed by escort carrier and land-based Marine planes and the others were forced to retire without causing any damage. A few bombed American-held Yontan and Katena airfields, Okinawa, Wednesday morning, causing slight damage. One was destroyed.

Although Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr.'s 10th Army was supported, by tanks, airplanes, field artillery and naval gunfire as it continued to carry the attack to the Japanese on Okinawa, they were able to make only slight gains.

Throwing back one Japanese counterattack on its position in the Naha suburbs, Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shephard, Jr.'s Marines were so hard pressed that only two men survived out of a company of 240. Cooks and bakers were forced to seize rifles or any other available weapon and join battle.

Big Guns Shell Shuri Castle

The 10th Army was supported by tanks, airplanes, field artillery and naval gunfire.

Shuri, medieval-like walled and moated castle fortress, was subjected again to heavy naval bombardment. Front line reports earlier today reported even the heaviest navy and military shells had little effect on its thick walls.

The 77th Infantry Division engaged in an uphill drive against tombs and caves in the center of the line and on the east coast, the 96th Infantry Division attacked westward through rugged country around conical hill.

Free Of Jap Planes

Reflecting the effectiveness of Vice Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's carrier task force neutralizing raids on eighteen Japanese homeland airfields Saturday night through Monday, the Okinawa area was virtually free of enemy aircraft.

About 12 Japanese planes approached shipping off Okinawa Tuesday evening. Nine were destroyed by escort carrier and land-based marine planes and the others were forced to retire without causing any damage. A few bombed American-held Yontan and Katena airfields, Okinawa, Wednesday morning, causing slight damage. One was destroyed.

Renew Island Attacks

Escort carriers renewed their attack on Ishigaki and Miyako islands of the Sakishima group, southern Ryukyus, destroying five planes.

Navy Privateers, Liberators and Venturas sank two medium freighters and heavily damaged a medium freighter-transport and a small cargo ship off Korea, and south of Honshu sank a small oiler, a small cargo ship and five fishing craft. They also damaged three Honshu railroad tunnels.

In the Central Pacific, Marine and navy planes attacked Yap, the Palaus, Wake and the Marshalls and for to the north, navy search planes attacked trawlers and fishing craft off Kokutan Cape, Shimushu Island, in the northern Kuriles.

Bloody Battle on Okinawa.

Guam, May 16 (A. P.).—United States Marines battled furiously on the edge of Naha, capital of Okinawa Island, today after retaking ground lost in the bloodiest Jap counter-attack of the offensive.

[A British broadcast of a Reuters dispatch heard by CBS in New York said Naha had fallen to the Americans. There was no confirmation from American headquarters.]

[Apparently trying to soften the blow of approaching defeat on Okinawa, the Jap Domei news agency announced bitterly today that defenders of Naha, island capital, were facing overwhelming odds. American troops, said the radio dispatch monitored by the FCC, are being continuously reinforced.]

American Losses High.

The Jap launched their counter-attack about midnight Monday after a heavy artillery barrage, said Al Dopking, Associated Press correspondent. At dawn one Twenty-second Marine Regiment officer said, "We've been fighting like maniacs since midnight." Before the battle was over one American company had only two men left out of 240. Another company had only eight survivors.

"We don't know how many men we have had wounded," an officer said. "We couldn't even take time to take their names."

The favorite Jap battle trick of infiltration also was used in the savage, all-out enemy attack. At one command post thirteen Japs were killed trying to slip through the lines. Pfc. Odell Griffith of Pensacola, Fla., a Marine combat correspondent, told of this incident.

"I figured it would be a quiet night and dug in. Along about midnight I woke up to find Japs crawling within ten feet of me. I flattened out on the ground. Pfc. Howard T. Englhard was sitting at a switchboard when he turned and saw a Jap charging him. Englhard shot him just in time."

Corpsman George W. Perrault of Evanston, Ill., heard some one yell, "Corpsman." He rushed to help, and saw four Japs on the ground, apparently dead. Perrault thought he saw the eyes of one flicker as a flare went up. He turned back for a second look and saw the Jap reach for a grenade. Unarmed, Perrault knocked the enemy soldier out with a metal flask filled with plasma.

Cooks and Bakers in Action.

As the Jap attack grew Marine cooks, bakers and other rear echelon troops were trown into the battle. Hand grenades flew about like baseballs and the dead were strewn on both sides of the valley.

It was perhaps the most determined enemy attack of the Okinawa campaign and the Jap soldiers for a time held the upper hand. Then the Twenty-second—veterans of Eniwetok and Orote Peninsula—absorbed the shock and literally made a step-by-step advance. At least 400 enemy dead were counted by noon.

American headquarters said the Marines not only beat back the Japanese but also drove the enemy into the interior of Takamotoji town with heavy losses.

Brig.-Gen. William T. Clement of Richmond, Va., assistant commander of the Sixth Marine Division, of which the Twenty-second is a part, said: "We are well bled but we'll crush those damned buzzards before it's over."

By afternoon following the night assault the Marines had regained lost ground, but fighting still was furious around Sugar Loaf Hill, a strategic mound guarding approaches to Naha, the capital city.

The counter-attack was a full scale attempt by the enemy to turn the tide of the campaign, in the opinion of one officer.

"We've killed so damned many of them we know they are throwing a full-scale blow at us," he said.

Okinawa ground action was highlighted by the seizure, after five days of hard fighting, of strategic 'Chocolate Drop' Hill in the central sector by the Seventy-seventh Infantry Division. The promontory provides the doughboys with a valuable observation point.

Artillery Duel Fierce, Too.

The artillery duel has become more or less a contest of observation, Dopking reported. Both the Japanese and American observers hold good positions and they take turns looking down each other's throats. This duel is far from one-sided. Lieut.-Col. Alonzo C. Hyde of Los Angeles, Cal., a field artillery battalion commander, minced no words about that.

"The Japs are the best knee mortar fighters in the business," he said. "And believe me, we have learned that the hard way. The other day we brought one Long Tom up here, and the Japs spotted it the first time we fired. They kicked hell out of it."

At times Hyde's artillers throws as much as 360 rounds from two guns in two and a half hours.

"The boys are really earning their money on Okinawa these days."

Yanks Use Big Howitzer.

Eight inch howitzers are being used by the Yanks for the first time in the Pacific war. Capt. David L. Jackson of Columbus, O., an artillery observer, said the eight inch shells, weighing 200 pounds, literally bury the enemy alive. The Japs are using shells charged with phosphorous as a harassing factor. The white smoke billows over supply lines winding up mountain roads at night.

The Japs again made an abortive counter-landing attempt near hard-won Machinato Airfield behind Sixth Marine Division lines. Naval gunfire smashed the landing boats. A Jap attempt to drive the Ninety-sixth Infantry Division off Conical Hill was repulsed.

In addition to aircraft and air installations' damage, the carrier planes destroyed or seriously damaged an oil train, four locomotives, a railroad station, a chemical plant and a number of large buildings. No large ships were found and pilots had to content themselves with two motor boats and two luggers sunk, and a repair ship, seven torpedo boats, four luggers, a small cargo ship, four small craft and a tug damaged.

Continuing their search into Korean waters, Okinawa-based patrol bombers damaged a small freighter-transport and two small cargo ships.

SHURI IS MYSTERY TO OKINAWA YANKS

Okinawa, May 16 (A. P.).—Shuri, one of the objectives of American soldiers and Marines in the fierce fighting on southern Okinawa, is a word of mystery on this island.

A sign along the road says "Shuri, two miles," but it may take days for the Yanks of the American Tenth Army to get there. The Jap opposition to the American advance has been most bitter.

No Americans—at least none on this island—have ever been inside Shuri. It is supposed to be an ancient castle built by a Jap of royal blood who was kicked out of his homeland and came to Okinawa to set himself up as a sort of king.

Flyers who have scouted this mysterious Shuri castle report they saw a moat around it. Many artillery and naval shells merely bounce off its aged walls, so naval gunners try to put their shots in the castle's apertures.

Most Okinawans never have seen the castle, since the natives of the island travel little. They are content to stay close to their own tiny, tile-roofed wooden homes.

To American troops Shuri castle is more important than the capital city of Naha, since it represents the heart of the Jap death stand. Once the defense of Shuri is broken, most top-ranking officers here believed Jap organized resistance will be broken, despite the rough terrain to the south.

Navy Seaplanes' Ship Bag Big

Advanced United States Naval Air Base, Ryukyus, May 15 (AP)—Navy search bombers flying from this recently established base near Okinawa have struck into Japan's "private waters"—the East China and Yellow Seas and the Sea of Japan—to sink or damage more than 140,000 tons of enemy shipping in the last three weeks.

Fleet Air Wing One describes this, its part in the Okinawa campaign, as the greatest seaplane operation of record.

Said Commander Alexander Heyward, Jr., of Camden, S.C., the Wing's chief of staff: "Our search planes operating from this part of the Ryukyus have sunk or damaged considerably more than 140,000 tons of Japanese shipping, which is a very high per cent of the empire's estimated building program for a year." Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz officially credited the Wing with sinking 71,900 tons and damaging 70,150 tons through May 13.)

Mariners Take Part

"This was done by a few four-engine Privateers and such few twin engine PBM Mariners as could be spared from local patrol duty."

Lieut. Com. Ben Griffith, Wing staff officer, added:

"This Okinawa assignment is the biggest seaplane operation ever attempted anywhere, any time. It's the only one to my knowledge in which the nearest shore facilities are 1,200 miles away and which is supported entirely by seaplane tenders. There are no shore facilities at this base whatever—this is a mobile war."

"In the Okinawa operation patrol bombers for the first time have been near swarms of Jap aircraft, and for the first time they have been finding an exciting wealth of targets—more shipping targets than they can handle. As a result our pilots are forever tearing off after Jap planes and have to be reminded strongly to watch for submarines or continue whatever other regular patrol duty they are one."

FIGHTING RAGES IN PHILIPPINES

Trapped Japanese Being Slowly Routed on Mindanao Fronts.

MANILA, Thursday, May 17—(AP) Trapped Japanese continued to fight savagely Tuesday on two of three Mindanao fronts but doughboys slowly were rooting them out of intrenched positions.

The veteran 24th Infantry Division was locked in close combat with a major force north of Davao. It repulsed another heavy counter-attack.

The 31st Division, fighting northward on Sayre highway in central Mindanao, pushed within eight miles of the Valencia airbases. Less than 60 miles to the north, the 40th Division was meeting strong resistance below captured Del Monte air center [illegible] only slight progress.

Destroy 6 Torpedo Boats

PT boats, crossing Davao gulf in daylight Tuesday, destroyed six 70-foot Japanese torpedo boats and one barge, fired four fuel and ammunition dumps and knocked out a pillbox at a small enemy naval base on Pisco Point.

Earlier the speedy PT boats destroyed a Japanese marine railway at Mapanga Bay in Davao gulf.

A Marine divebomber knocked out a Japanese naval gun, one of several which have been harassing the 24th.

A shore to shore operation, in which Dutch troops landed on the southernmost tip of Tarakan island, off northeast Borneo, also was announced. Activity in other sectors on oil-rich Tarakan were limited.

Navy Supports Advance

On Luzon, the American First Cavalry Division pushed north along the east coast to within three miles of the port of Lampon, an enemy seaplane anchorage south of Infanta. Light naval units supported the advance, bombarding enemy shore concentrations near the port.

East of Manila, units of the 43rd Division near the Ipo Dam were reported "pressing in from all sides on the enemy's isolated forces."

Medium, attack and fighter bombers continued their raids on Nipponese communications and defenses in the Cagayan Valley of northern Luzon, dropping more than 150 tons of bombs.

Blast Airdromes

In support of the Tarakan invasion, heavy, medium and fighter bombers expended 125 tons of explosives. They blasted airdromes at Balikpapan, the great oil refining center on Borneo, and at Jesselton, Kudat and Elntulu. Thousand-pound missiles left great holes in runways, destroyed buildings and started fires. Air patrols sank six small enemy ships.

The communique reported night harassing attacks on Formosa, followed by day raids in which 145 tons of bombs were cascaded on enemy installations. Large fires and explosions were observed in the target areas, which included fuel storage, airdrome repair shops and an alcohol plant.

90 Per Cent Liberated

Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced in today's communiqué that 90 per cent of Mindanao, second largest island in the Philippines, had been liberated. He also said 95 per cent of the population, probably exceeding 400,000, was freed from Japanese domination.

But the Japanese salient west of Davao resisted fiercely. Their retreat cut off, the Nipponese resorted to suicide attacks.

Yanks and Japs fought with bayonets and knives, slugged with helmets and grappled like wrestlers. Some combatants rolled into a river, where at least two Yanks held the heads of adversaries under water until they were drowned.

Five times in one night a group of crazed Japs—seventy-five at the start—rushed a vehicle concentration. After the last charge only a dazed handful was left to flee into the hills. One Jap ran beneath a Cub plane in the center of an American position and blew up himself and the plane. Another, wearing a girdle of dynamite, was detonated by carbine and pistol fire. Even land mines, disarmed by Yanks, were recaptured, reset and replanted by Japs who stole through American lines.

Fortieth Division Gains.

To the northwest Fortieth Division Infantry attacked an enemy force in the Mangima River area east of captured Del Monte air center. The division is driving south along the nine-foot wide graveled Sayre Highway toward the Thirty-first Division, about sixty miles away. The Thirty-first won an airfield one mile north of Maramag. Between the two columns Japs are using 90-millimeter dual purpose anti-aircraft guns salvaged from Del Monte.

On Luzon the Forty-third Division pressed to within 400 yards of Ipo Dam east of Manila, source of one-third of the capital city's water. A ring almost is closed around a strong enemy force in the area.

In north Luzon the Thirty-second Division destroyed twenty more enemy cave defenses in its drive toward Imugan town beyond newly won Balete Pass. Four miles beyond Imugan lies the road junction of Santa Fe.

Australians Push on.

The First Cavalry Division drove across the south Luzon coast to Dinangonan on the east shore, a section previously untouched by Yank troops. They were advancing north on Infanta, supported by light naval units.

Australian and Dutch troops on Tarakan Island off the Borneo coast were pushing the Japs into the hills. Supported by air and naval units, they successfully attacked an enemy position overlooking the Pamoesian oilfields. On northeast New Guinea, Australians cleared the northern portion of the Sauri villages.

Planes harassed transportation lines, airfields, shipyards and other war installations from Formosa to the tip of French Indo-China and in the Dutch East Indies. They hit ten bridges, five locomotives, seven freighters, a number of coastal craft and fired several planes.

Gen. Kreber Back in Action.

Manila, May 16 (A. P.).—Brig.-Gen. Leo M. Kreber of Columbus, Ohio, artillery commander for the Thirty-seventh Division, returned to duty this week almost a month after he was injured on the Baguio battlefront of northern Luzon Island. Japanese shell fragments struck Kreber in the right arm April 17.

Regiment Fought 100 Days

MANILA, May 16 (AP)—In one of the longest periods of continuous fighting in the Southwest Pacific theatre, the Twentieth Regiment of the Sixth Division fought 100 consecutive days before it was relieved. The regiment landed on Lingayen Gulf of Luzon island and fought southward to the Shimbu line east of Manila, where it was relieved late in April.

The Twentieth was credited with killing more than 4,000 Japanese and destroying fifty-two tanks. Other elements of the Sixth Division fought a comparable length of time.

The regiment, some units of which are back in action, is commanded by Col. Henry A. Mucci of Bridgeport, Conn., who led the Sixth Rangers in the rescue of Bataan and Corregidor heroes from the Cabanatuan prison camp.

Battle On Mindanao Is Mounting In Fury

MAY 17 1945

SCHOLER

Manila, May 16 (AP)—Trapped Japanese troops fought a savage hand-to-hand battle today with Americans of the 24th Infantry west of Davao City on Mindanao.

Maj. Gen. Roscoe B. Woodruff's battle-seasoned veterans attacked with knives, bayonets and even flailing fists as the struggle mounted in savage fury. The battle raged in twelve-foot cogon grass in foothills between the Talomo and Davao rivers.

To the northwest, the 31st and 40th Infantry Divisions were clamping a pincer on a large enemy garrison in Bukidnon province, where the bulk of an estimated 50,000 Mindanao Japanese were believed

International Conference To Begin May 31 In London

London, May 16 (AP)—Amid rising criticism of the "coddling" of German prisoners of war and demands for a speedy trial for top-flight Nazi war criminals, the United Nations War Crimes Commission announced today that an international conference on German war crimes would begin in London, May 31.

The commission also announced that it had arranged for "certain governments" to send investigating officers into Germany to help military authorities gather evidence of war crimes there.

In Paris, supreme headquarters said ten-man teams from the war-crimes branch of the European theater judge advocate section were conducting widespread investigation of crimes committed by the Nazis against Allied military personnel as well as civilians.

New Chance of Escape

The teams, supreme headquarters said, went into operation more than a month ago under the direction of Brig. Gen. E. Betts and evidence of atrocities and violations of the Geneva convention which they are gathering will be used in the trials of indicted German war criminals.

The commission said that "new opportunities for detecting war crimes and identifying their perpetrators" had been provided by "the liberation of occupied countries, establishment of military control in Germany, the overrunning of concentration camps and repatriation of Allied workers."

The conference, the commission announcement said, "will enable the commission to discuss with the national officers the best methods for promoting mutual aid between the offices and closer contact between them and the commission."

By Local Authorities

In Commons today Prime Minister Churchill declared he had no information as to the whereabouts of the Gestapo chieftain, Heinrich Himmler, but said "I expect he will turn up somewhere in this world or the next and will be dealt with by appropriate local authorities."

The British Minister of State, Richard Law, said he hoped Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering, now a prisoner of the American 7th Army, would be hanged.

Law described the German people as "not only an incredibly silly people but a dangerously silly people."

"They are cruel people," he said, "Belsen, and Buchenwald (concentration camps) are not propaganda . . . and unfortunately they are not isolated cases."

Clamor against the Allied treatment of German war criminals continued in the British press with the News Chronicle declaring that "public indignation is now hardening into public consternation."

Another Frameup

"Remembering Darlan, remembering Badoglio," the editorial said, "the people are asking can it indeed be that the Allied authorities are preparing another and even more cynical frameup."

The News Chronicle said Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's rebuke to officers treating the Germans as "friendly enemies" had not ended the tolerance shown to the defeated Nazis.

The Daily Mirror complained about the "coddling" of Willy Messerschmitt, once Germany's top plane designer, who was brought to London four weeks ago to make his technical knowledge available to the Allies.

"He is having a grand time in London—at British taxpayers' expense," the Mirror said.

Himmler Aide Taken

The editorial also complained about the treatment afforded Luftwaffe Field Marshal von Milch and Panzer General Hasso Eccard von Manteuffel in the British-controlled prison camp at Lueneberg, Germany.

The News Chronicle reported in a dispatch from the 3d Army front that Col. Gen. Ernst V. Kaltenbrunner, successor to the assassinated Reinhard Heydrich and Himmler's No. 1 agent, had been captured.

Conference to Take Up Nazi War Crimes May 31 in London

United Nations Commission Will Send Investigators Into Germany to Help Army Get Evidence.

MAY 17 1945

London, May 16 (A. P.).—An international conference on German war crimes will start in London May 31 it was announced today by the United Nations War Crimes Commission. The commission also announced that it had arranged for certain European governments to send investigation officers into Germany to help military authorities gather evidence of war crimes there.

The text of the announcement follows:

"As a result of the invitation addressed by military authorities in Germany to the United Nations War Crimes Commission, the commission has arranged for certain European governments to send war crimes investigation officers to Germany. It will be the duty of these officers to assist military authorities in collecting evidence of war crimes in concentration camps as well as elsewhere in Germany.

"The commission has invited representatives of national war crimes offices of the member governments to send representatives to a conference in London which is to begin May 31. The function of these offices is to investigate war crimes committed within their national territories or against their nationals and submit evidence of such crimes to the commission.

"The liberation of occupied countries, establishment of military control in Germany, the overrunning of concentration camps and repatriation of Allied workers are providing wholly new opportunities for the detection of war crimes and identifying their perpetrators.

"The conference will enable the commission to discuss with the national ofices teh best methods for promoting mutual aid between the offices and closer contact between them and the commission."

PLAN TO PERMIT GERMANS TO RUN OWN GOVERNMENT

Idea Subject to Allied Direction; Churchill-Eisenhower Confer on Matter.

By ALEX SINGLETON

LONDON, May 16—(AP) Prime Minister Churchill, after a conference with General Eisenhower, told the House of Commons today that the Allies intended to permit the Germans to administer their own country "in obedience to Allied directions."

Churchill appeared in Commons amid demands from many quarters for Allied disclosure of the exact role being performed by Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz and his followers.

"I am not sure whether any machinery of government, whether central or regional, can be said to exist at present in Germany and in any case I should prefer in replying to this question to speak of administration rather than government," said the Prime Minister without mentioning Doenitz directly.

"In general, it is our aim that the Germans should administer their country in obedience to Allied directions. We have no intention of undertaking the burden of administering Germany ourselves."

There was no official disclosure of the subject of the Churchill-Eisenhower conference which also was attended by Field Marshal Montgomery and Gen. Omar Bradley. London political quarters suggested the meeting was designed to work out some of the immediate problems arising from Germany's surrender.

War Prisoner Problem

Among them were believed to be the questions of the disposition of prisoners of war, transportation home of missions of displaced persons and the custody of Nazis listed as war criminals by more than one nation.

The conference between Churchill and Eisenhower—the first since the end of the war in Europe—came as major long range issues piled up for consideration at the meeting expected soon between Churchill, Marshal Stalin and President Truman.

Facing action by the Big Three are more than 30 territorial disputes, the still deadlocked Polish issue and the setting up of machinery for the trial of war criminals.

The previous disposition of the major powers was to postpone settlement of territorial squabbles until the general peace conference. In some quarters, especially among the smaller nations, belief has developed that it might be better to eliminate them more speedily.

With the probability that Germany will be the chief country involved in the territorial realignment of Europe spokesmen for the small countries argue that it would be better to hasten the settlement of the minority problems and speed up the necessary economic readjustments.

Delay Polish Problem

An attempt to reach an agreement on Poland has definitely been laid aside until the next meeting of the heads of the Big Powers.

Meanwhile the question of method for trial of major war criminals has been left up in the air despite editorial suggestions here and in the United States and official demands from Moscow that they be brought to speedy justice.

In Commons British Foreign Under-Secretary George Hall said there were still more problems to be ironed out among the major powers as to the occupation zones in Austria and Germany and that "some aspects of the matter are still under consideration by the Allied governments concerned."

Allies Plan Only To Supervise Reich Rule

MAY 17 1945

HAWKINS

London, May 16 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill declared today that in general it was the Allied intention that "the Germans should administer their country in obedience to Allied direction."

The Allies have "no intention of undertaking the burden of administering Germany ourselves," Churchill asserted.

He appeared before Commons against a background of demands voiced in many quarters for the Allies to disclose the exact role of the regime of Grand Karl Doenitz. But the Prime Minister made no direct mention of Doenitz.

Speaks Cautiously

Weighing his words carefully, Churchill said he wanted time to cast the form of his reply before answering one member's question as to what was "the authority which purported to broadcast from Flensburg in the name of the Government alleged to be led by Admiral Doenitz."

"I am not sure whether any machinery of government, whether central or regional, can be said to exist at present in Germany, and in any case I should prefer in replying to this question to speak of administration rather than government," Churchill said.

Aims In General

"In general, it is our aim that the Germans should administer their country in obedience to Allied directions. We have no intention of undertaking the burden of administering Germany ourselves."

Some of the British press wrote of the meeting as relating directly with the administering of Germany, dealing with war criminals, and handling displaced persons.

An Associated Press dispatch from Paris yesterday said a clarification of the status of the Doenitz Government was believed imminent, but that meanwhile there was no tendency at Supreme Allied Headquarters to regard the Flensburg group as anything more than an instrument of surrender.

Ship Allied Headquarters

An AP correspondent who went to Flensburg said the German liner Patria docked there, was the headquarters of an Allied mission in contact with Doenitz.

Foreign Under Secretary George Hall told the House that the major powers still have some matters to iron out as to occupation zones in Germany and Austria.

Pressed to outline the zones, specifically how Berlin and Vienna are to be controlled, Hall declined.

"Some aspects of the matter are still under consideration by the Allied governments concerned," he explained.

When one member contended the zones of demarcation could easily have been settled a year ago, Hall replied that "the hostilities have only just come to an end and troops are still necessarily in their operational positions and cannot take up zones."

Laborite Unanswered

Laborite Moelwyn Hughes suggested the zones were drawn up some time ago, but that the actual physical occupation did not coincide with those zones and "no adjustment to coincide with them has been made."

Hall made no reply.

Earlier, some members expressed concern whether a decision had been reached regarding the future of the Dodecanese Islands, which were under Italian control before the war.

The Greek Regent, Archbishop Damaskinos, was reported to have planted the Greek flag on Rhodes during a recent visit to congratulate residents of that island upon its liberation.

Hall said the Regent had visited Rhodes after obtaining permission and that "the future status of the island must be held over for the peace settlement."

Two members of Parliament said today they would seek to question the Prime Minister further tomorrow on the status of the regime of Doenitz and his Nazi associates.

The London News Chronicle headlined a Page 1 story with the query: "Why Is the Flensburg Group Still Tolerated?"

The News Chronicle asserted that General Eisenhower's rebuke to high ranking officers for treating the Germans as "friendly enemies" had not ended the tolerance shown to defeated Nazis. Other British newspapers carried similar protests.

To Ask If He's Arrested

Hugh Lawson, Commonwealth party member of Commons, said he would ask Churchill tomorrow "if Admiral Doenitz is to be tried as a war criminal and if he has yet been arrested."

Dr. Edith Summerskill, a Laborite, said she would ask "why well-known war criminals such as Goering are given superior accommodation and treatment to that enjoyed by prisoners of war."

The Daily Mirror declared that Willy Messerschmitt, once Germany's top airplane designer, "is having a grand time in London—at the British taxpayers' expense." The Mirror said he was brought to London four weeks ago to make his technical knowledge available to British authorities.

"He has a luxury flat in St. John's Woods," it added. "He gets free seats at West End shows and a car when he wants it."

Broadcasts Attacked

The Laborite Daily Herald joined the News Chronicle in attacking radio broadcasts and statements by Count Lutz Schwerin-Krosigk, "Foreign Minister" in the Doenitz regime.

"These suggest that the new Führer and his new Government will be recognized by the Allies and entrusted with the administration of postwar Germany under Allied control," the newspaper said.

The Communist Daily Worker asserted "Doenitz and his Werewolves are working according to plan," and demanded clarification of the admiral's status.

Clay Says Allies Plan Military Reich Rule

London, May 16 (AP)—An international conference on German war crimes will start in London May 31, it was announced today by the United Nations War Crimes Commission.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, May 16 (AP)—The Allies do not recognize the Doenitz regime as the constitutional government of Germany and are planning a long, strict military occupation of the Reich, it was made plain here today.

Maj. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, General Eisenhower's deputy for the occupation of Germany, said the American aims were to smash all vestiges of Nazism and Germany's war-making potential, and to see that all war criminals are caught and punished.

No "Puppet Government"

Supreme headquarters said formally of the Germans who succeeded the Hitler régime just before the unconditional surrender:

"Admiral Doenitz and certain other selected Germans are being used temporarily to carry out duties in connection with the feeding, disarmament and medical care of German armed forces. These German officials are full controlled and are there solely to carry out instructions of the Allied Expeditionary Force.

[In London, Prime Minister Churchill said that in general it was the Allied intention that "the Germans should administer their country in obedience to Allied direction." He said the Allies have "no intention of undertaking the burden of administering Germany ourselves." There was no immediate explanation of the apparent divergences of views by the British leader and officers at SHAEF.]

No "Puppet Government"

Sources at supreme headquarters said the German high command will be dissolved and that there would be no national puppet government for the present. Such German administration as there is will be on a very low level, it was said.

Clay said accused war criminals such as Goering were being gathered in prison areas where they would be less comfortable. [A Reuter dispatch quoted Clay as saying Doenitz also was being held as a prisoner of war.] German offenders will be used as laborers in rebuilding devastated European areas. He said food would be scarce in Germany this winter but that none would be imported unless starvation conditions exist. He also stated that exact zones of American, Russian, British and French occupation areas probably would be announced within a few days.

Schools to Reopen.

Brig.-Gen. Frank J. McSherry of the SHAEF Military Government section said that the first four grades of German schools would be reopened and that textbooks purged of militarism, were being printed.

Doesn't Mean Recognition

Ambassador Robert Murphy, political adviser to General Eisenhower, said the use of Doenitz and others in no way meant a recognition of the "Flensburg group" as the Government of Germany.

Count Ludwig Schwerin von Krosigk, so far as the Allies are concerned, does not exist officially as Doenitz's foreign minister.

His recent broadcast was wholly unauthorized and made before the Allies seized the radio station and there will be no repetition of such propaganda, the Ambassador said.

Military Government

General Clay declared that "the Allied government in Germany is going to be military and the Germans are going to know it's military."

"The United States is going to stay in Germany in all probability for a long time," General Clay said.

He explained carefully that SHAEF is still operative and that he was speaking for the United States group council which will take over after SHAEF finishes.

Clay was the main speaker in one of the longest and most detailed press conferences ever given at SHAEF. Brig. Gen. Frank J. McSherry, chief of staff of the military government section of SHAEF, and Brig. Gen. Robert A. McClure, chief of the publicity and psychological warfare division of SHAEF, answered specific questions.

High Spots Brought Out

These high spots came out of the half-hour meeting:

It will be Allied policy to turn over to any Allied government anyone wanted by that government as a war criminal.

Four grades of German schools will be reopened with text books purged of militarism being used.

German civilian machinery will be established only on a very low civil-service level to keep essential functions going.

The only industries being re-established in Germany are those essential for relief problems and transport needed by the military.

Replying to questions on displaced persons, Clay said that under the present policy plans were being worked out to exchange all displaced persons. He added that displaced persons such as Poles who might not want to go home would stay where they were. He added that it is possible that these zones would come under Russian occupation and that they would be absorbed anyway.

Eisenhower's deputy, in a long discussion of the possible conflicts in policy in the zones of Germany occupied by the Americans, Russians, British and French, said:

"More important than just the occupation of Germany is whether the four nations can stand together to punish Germany. If they cannot, what hope is there for the United Nations? We will have to give and take and probably do lots of things that the people of the United States may not like."

Long-Range Program

General Clay said long-range plans for the regeneration of the German people were being formulated.

He conceded that some Nazis were in power under the military government and explained that their purging would be a long and continuous process and would go on "until completely finished."

In reply to assertations that only on the war-criminal list such as Reichsmarshal Goering and others were living in luxury, the General said that on General Eisenhower's orders, these are now being gathered into prison areas where they will be much less comfortable. He said there would be an announcement on this in a few days.

Trials Soon As Possible

Clay said the hope was to start the trial of war criminals as soon as possible.

In explaining what is to be done about assigning prisoners to help rebuild war-damaged areas, Clay said the policy would be laid down by the tripower reparations commission in Moscow and executed in the American-occupied zone by the reparations department under his command.

CLAY APPOINTS KEY OFFICIALS

Reich Control Commission Assistants Named.

Paris, May 16 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's deputy military governor for Germany, announced today these key officials who will help carry out the United States' control policies in Germany.:

Assistant Deputy Military Governor, Brig.-Gen. Cornelius W. Wichershaw, who has been acting deputy of the United States Group Control Council; Adviser to the Deputy Military Governor, Lewis W. Douglas, former Arizona Congressman and director of the budget in 1933-34; Naval Division, Vice-Admiral Robert L. Ghormley, who was commander of United States naval forces in the South Pacific from June, 1942, to March, 1943.

Air Division, Major-Gen. Robert W. Harper, former assistant chief of the air staff for operations and training; Political Division, Ambassador Robert Murphy, who has been Gen. Eisenhower's diplomatic and political adviser since before the invasion of North Africa; Internal Affairs Communications Division, Major-Gen. Oliver P. Echols, former assistant chief of air staff materiel and service; Transport Division, Brig.-Gen John A. Appleton, Gen. Eisenhower's adviser on the operation of military railway services; Economics Division, Brig.-Gen. William H. Draper, chief of the Army service forces contract termination branch, readjustment division.

Gen. Clay also announced the appointment of Joseph B. Keenan, Washington, D. C., deputy chief of the War Production Board, as deputy director of the man-power division, and John Nicholas Brown, Providence, R. I., member of the advisory committee of the Federal Works Project, as special adviser to Gen. Clay on monuments and fine arts.

NAZIS RENEGED ON AIR SMASH

Goering's Pilots Got Cold Feet, So His Plan Failed

London, May 16 (AP)—At one of the most crucial stages of the war last winter, the Germans planned a desperate aerial battle in hopes of knocking the American air force out in one blow, but it never was fought because Nazi pilots refused to go through with it.

It was to have been the greatest air battle of all time involving 5,000 planes. The Nazi high command, which hatched the do-or-die plan, set a quota of between 750 and 1,000 American planes to be shot down—at least 500 bombers and 250 fighters.

The purpose was to stop the great armadas of the United States 8th Air Force precision bombers from their daily hammering of German railroads and oil refineries.

Details Pieced Together

Details of the scheme have been pieced together today from various authoritative documents and interrogation of high-ranking German air force officers.

At a press conference last week, Lieut. Gen. James H. Doolittle, who has just relinquished command of the 8th Air Force, said Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering warned his Luftwaffe pilots that "unless you bring down at least 500 Flying Fortresses you will go to the trenches."

Goering was to have thrown every available combat fighter—probably about 3,000—into the sky at once in the final great gamble. For weeks prior to the day set, German pilots were ordered to cut their normal operations in half to conserve gasoline.

Nazis Figured O nSurprise

All serviceable fighter planes were moved to convenient bases in northern Germany. They were to strike in mass formation as the American bomber and fighter fleet crossed into Germany south of Bremen.

Surprise was counted upon as a big factor. The Nazis hoped to catch the American fleet as it was splitting up into small forces for attacks on various objectives and to charge in from all sides, firing rockets, cannons and machine guns.

Planes equipped with special ramming "knives" on the wings also were to be used by suicide squadrons.

Nazi Pilots Got Cold Feet

Pilots were given special training in the tactics to be used, but as the time approached they began to get cold feet. Many of them had tangled at close range with Flying Fortresses and Liberators and their fighter escort before. They were not eager to do it again.

German pilots had never learned to fight in formation like the Americans, with the result that they were knocked off in large numbers every time they tried it. All this, in addition to continued heavy losses on days when the Luftwaffe did accept battle, plus frequent bitter arguments among German staff officers, caused the morale of Nazi pilots to drop to an all-time low.

Several pilots reportedly were court-martialed for refusing to obey orders. There no longer appeared to be any unified command, and less and less interest was shown in the scheme for the big battle.

As a result, the date was postponed three times. Some outfits returned to their old bases. Finally, the Luftwaffe chiefs lost their nerve and abandoned the plan altogether.

Pershing Tanks A Match For Nazis' Best

Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force, Paris, May 16 (AP) — A partial test of the new General Pershing tanks in the closing stages of the war apparently showed the latest American armored heavyweight was capable of dealing with German Tigers and Panthers.

By the time the 45-ton Pershings entered the battle in any quantity, German armor had been so mauled by enemy forces that it was unable to put up any great resistance.

But in small engagements, road tests and gun power, the Pershing showed it was the best tank the United States or Britain has put in battle.

Japanese Armor Poorer

Most Allied and many German military men express contempt for Japanese armored vehicles and do not expect the Japanese to produce anything capable of matching the older Sherman, let alone the Pershing.

It is unlikely, however, that the American heavyweight will go into action in the Pacific on any large scale until there is plenty of land room. The Pershing's weight offers problems in amphibious landings.

Gun Power Liked

Two of the better features of the Pershing, according to American tankmen, have been road performance and the hitting power of its new 90-mm. gun.

The Pershing has answered the plea of such veteran tank fighters as those of the 2d Armored Division, who said: "Give us a gun and we will carry it around on a truck."

The 90-mm. gun in one engagement ripped off the turret of a 60-ton King Tiger in one shot. Near Wollersheim a shell ripped through eight houses.

Wide Tracks Helpful

The new wide tracks helped in muddy terrain, although there was not a full chance to test the Pershing on this score.

The 2d Armored Division, which established a new record with a 57-mile daylight-to-dark dash to the Elbe, found the Pershings could keep up with a minimum of breakdowns with the supposedly higher road performance of the Shermans.

The 9th Armored Division, which took the Remagen bridgehead, also found the Pershings outstanding.

"Hardly Felt A Jar"

Harold V. Boyle of the Associated Press quoted Corporal Kenneth Gleason, of Merril, Wis., who was in a Pershing when it was hit by a high velocity shell, as saying: "We hardly felt a jar. The thing dented our armor a little, but that was all."

The only major criticism tankmen had of the Pershing was directed at the powder, rather than the tank itself. They said there was too much flash and smoke from the 90-mm. which blinded them and pointed out their position to the enemy.

LAST OF NAZI NAVY LISTED

Feeble State Of German Fleet Is Described

London, May 16 (AP)—The feeble state to which Germany's Navy had been reduced by Allied sea and air attacks was disclosed today by the Admiralty's report on disposition and condition of ships taken into Allied custody since the Nazi surrender.

The official summary of ships now in Allied hands in various ports showed:

Two battleships (one sunk, the other scuttled).

One pocket battleship (sunk).

One battle cruiser (sunk).

One aircraft carrier (damaged.)

Seven cruisers (only two of them still effective).

Twenty-four destroyers.

Twelve torpedo boats.

Approximately 1,200 smaller craft.

Many craft were sunk or damaged in ports which took terrific poundings from fleets of bombers.

Where Rest Are

Here is where the remaining main naval units are and the condition they are in:

KIEL—Eight-inch cruiser Admiral Hipper and 6-inch cruiser Emden, both stranded. Elevel destroyers.

COPENHAGEN—Eight-inch cruiser Prinz Eugen and 6-inch cruiser Nuernberg, both effective. Three destroyers, two topedo boats.

WILHELMSHAVEN—Six-inch cruiser Koeln, lying on bottom. One torpedo boat.

AABENRAA — Six-inch cruiser Leipzig, damaged.

SWINEMUENDE—12,000-ton pocket battleship Leutzow, lying on bottoh, and the old 13,000-ton battleship Schlesien, sunk.

STETTIN—25,000-ton aircraft carrier Graf Zeppelin, incomplete and damaged.

GYDNIA—26,000-ton battle cruiser Gneisenau, sunk as a blockship. Old 13,000-ton batleship Scheswig-Holstein, scuttled or used as a block-ship.

KOENIGSBERG—Eight-inch cruiser Seydlitz, blown up.

In addition, the Admiralty said, about ten more destroyers and nine torpedo boats, as well as approximately 1,200 small craft were scattered in various ports. Thase small vessels include E-boast and R-boats, minesweepers, speerbrechers, escort vessels, landing craft and trawlers.

A Moscow radio commentator declared today that Nazi bigwigs in Allied custody "are spreading propaganda whose purpose is to break the unity among the three great Powers that defeated Hitler's army." Reichsmarshal Goering and Field Marshals von Rundstedt and Kesselring were referred to specifically as "disciples of Goebbels."

The commentator charged that American and British correspondents have been "only too eager to take down and disseminate whatever stuff" Marshal Goering, Gen. Nikolaus von Falkenhorst, Nazi commander in Norway, or Karl Hermann Frank, German "Protector" of Bohemia-Moravia, wanted to be disseminated. Analysis of the statements by the captured Nazis, the commentator said, "shows that there's system in what they're doing with a stock of deliberate falsehoods; Kesselring speaks about how absurd it was for two Germanic races to fight each other, while Rundstedt proceeds to develop the utterly false and poisonous theory that Germany's defeat was not the fault of the army, but of the country's political leadership alone."

A dispatch from Augsburg said that a ban had been placed upon press conferences for German prisoners unless specific permission is granted by Supreme Allied Headquarters.

Britain May Free 750,000 Veterans

London, May 16 (AP)—Reallocation of Britain's manpower may permit release of 750,000 men from the armed forces before the end of the year, Labor Minister Ernest Bevin told the House of Commons today.

Announcing inauguration of the program which he cautioned was not a "demobilization" scheme, Bevin said the country no longer will call men over 30 for military service, and women will not be called for the auxiliary services.

Controls To Continue

Job controls will continue to hold all covered workers to their tasks and transfers can be made only with Government permission unless the worker is a man over 65 or a woman over 50. Bevin said, however, that only in rare cases would women who have reached the age of 50 be forced to continue working.

The Government has exempted from the factory draft women—either married or single — with household responsibilities and married women whose husbands are eligible for discharge from the armed forces.

Still Period Cut

A "standstill period" originally intended to last for three months after V-E day, Bevin said, has been reduced to six weeks.

"Our programs have, of course, taken account for a long time of the needs of the Japanese war," Bevin said. "We don't know precisely what our future commitments will be. We will do nothing to prevent our full weight being brought to bear on Japan and we will have to maintain our forces in Europe for some time."

Bevin said that most of the discharges would be from the army because special responsibilities in the Far East would be shouldered by the navy and RAF.

Britain May Cut Army 750,000, Bevin Says

London, May 16 (AP) — Britain hopes to be able to release 750,000 from the armed forces before the end of the year, Labor Minister Ernest Bevin announced today in presenting a broad "manpower reallocation" program to Commons.

Releases will start June 18, Bevin said.

He cautioned against calling the program a "demobilization" scheme, declaring it was merely a beginning of a reallocation of manpower in this country, which has been one of the most heavily mobilized in the world.

Bevin announced relaxations in the National Service Act whereby men over 30 would be exempt from the armed forces, and women no longer would be called up for auxiliary services.

Cites Jap War Needs

"Our programs," Bevin said, "have, of course, taken account for a long time of the needs of the Japanese war. It has been necessary to make continuous scrutiny over the past two years of our probable Japanese war requirements after the German war ended in relation to the changing background."

While expressing hope that 750,000 troops could be discharged this year Bevin said: "We don't know precisely what our future commitments will be.

"We will do nothing to prevent our full weight being brought to bear on Japan," he said, "and we will have to maintain our forces in Europe for some time."

ECONOMIC WAR WARNING GIVEN

Two Courses Open To Britain And U.S., Says Richard Law

London, May 16 (AP)—Richard K. Law, Minister of State, warned today that differences in economy and trade might arise between the United States and Britain which would make their "political unity worthless."

"There seems to be two courses open to us," he told a luncheon of the American and British Commonwealth Association in London.

"America and Britain can cut each other's throats or we can increase each other's markets.

Britain's Expansionism Policy

"I don't think any reasonable man has any doubt as to which is right. More and more it is being recognized on both sides of the Atlantic that the only way we can solve these tremendous economic problems which face us both, and which if unsolved will mean the wreckage of our hopes, is by what is called the expansionist economic policy."

Law said Britain had definitely "rejected a restrictionist view of trade" and whatever the result of the coming election "this policy of expansionism will continue to stand."

Political Unity Jeopardized

The Minister of State said that during the last year or two the average personal expenditure on clothes in Britain was only half of what it was in 1938 and the average personal expenditure on domestic goods was about one fifth of the 1938 figure.

"It has been a problem of no lesser degree in the United States," he continued, "but if there is in either country a mad rush to fill up the gap it is going to disrupt and disorganize our whole economic plan and make it very difficult to finish off the Japanese and get any economic stability in the postwar world. . . .

"There is no doubt there is complete political unity, and unity of a kind which nothing can break. Man is a political animal, and we are just beginning to realize that man is an economic animal, and there is the rub. Nothing can disturb our political unity, but it is possible that differences might arise in the economic sphere and it would make that political unity worthless."

V-bombs Killed 5000 in Antwerp

London, May 16 (A. P.).—German V-weapons killed 5,000 persons, injured 21,000 and destroyed 10,000 homes in Antwerp during the Nazi campaign to knock out the port city, the Brussels radio said today. Antwerp had a pre-war population of about 247,000.

Dutch Premier Offers to Resign

London May 16 (A. P.).—The Netherlands Cabinet announced today that Premier Dr. Pieter S. Gerbrandy had offered its resignation to Queen Wilhelmina and that she had asked the members to remain pending formation of a new government. Dr. Gerbrandy had announced last December that his government would resign the moment all Holland was free of the German invader, saying that the life of the parliament which was elected in 1937 had expired and that consequently Holland actually was without a governing body.

British Minister Would Hang Goering

London, May 16 (A. P.).—Minister of State Richard K. Law told a meeting in London today that he hoped Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering would be hanged.

"He is full of arrogance and posturing, and I don't believe for a moment that even now Goering understands what it is all about," Law said. "I do believe that, when the hangman's noose is fastened about his neck, he will just go on saying that the British are jolly good people, and the Germans are jolly good people and that war is war."

Capture Of Aide To Himmler Reported

London, May 16 (AP)—A dispatch from the United States 3d Army front to the London News Chronicle reported today the capture of Col. Gen. Ernst V. Kaltenbrunner, chief aide to Gestapo Chieftain Heinrich Himmler.

The dispatch said that Kaltenbrunner was taken by American troops and Austrian Patriots in a fortified [illegible] at Ault Aussee in the Tirol. A special agent of the American 80th Division led the hunt, the dispatch said.

Kaltenbrunner and his personal adjutant, Arthur Scheidler, surrendered without firing a shot, the dispatch added.

Kaltenbrunner was the successor to the assassinated Reinhard Heydrich, notorious Reichsprotector of Bohemia and Moravia.

1,877,500 Tons Bombs Hit Reich

London, May 16 (AP)—American and British bombers based in England and Italy dropped 1,877,500 tons of bombs on Germany and German-occupied [illegible] during the war, Air Minister Archibald Sinclair said today in Commons.

Well over 1,000,000 tons of bombs were dropped by the bombers in the last two years alone, he said, excluding the tonnage dropped by the tactical air forces.

The RAF bomb tonnage totaled 986,000 and the American Air Force totaled 891,500.

Beginning with 1,500 tons dropped in 1942, the Americans unloaded 578,500 in 1944 and 263,000 this year. The remainder of the tonnage was dropped in 1943.

Censorship End In Some Countries Is Promised

London, May 16 (AP)—Brendan Bracken, Minister of Information, announced today that all internal censorship in Britain now had ceased and that within 30 days censorship of mail to the United States, Canada and Gibraltar would be lifted.

He told Commons, however, that censorship of mail to Eire and other overseas countries would continue.

Bracken said that "Allied censorship in Germany and Austria and other parts" of the Continent were counted on to check the activities of war criminals. He did not elaborate, but presumably meant that hunted war criminals would not be able to arrange through normal channels for a hideout in another country or to send out loot.

General Patton in London

LONDON, May 16 (AP).—Gen. George S. Patton jr., commander of the United States 3d Army arrived in London today.

Allies Conferring on Trieste

Anglo-American Officials Trying to Reach Settlement With Tito Regime.

London, May 16 (A. P.).—The American and British governments are conferring with the Yugoslav regime in an attempt to settle the dispute over Trieste, Foreign Under-Secretary George Hall told Commons today.

Hall gave few details, saying he did not "wish to prejudice these discussions." He said earlier conferences between the chiefs of staff of Field Marshal Alexander and Marshal Tito "failed to reach a satisfactory result."

Yugoslavs are occupying the Adriatic port and have expressed a desire to keep it. The Italians seized Trieste after the last war from Austria, a country from which part of Yugoslavia was created. The Italians have protested the Yugoslav occupation.

New Wire Service

London, May 16 (AP)—Public telegraph services between Great Britain and Norway and Denmark have been restored for personal messages. No commercial telegrams are accepted yet, however.

HIMMLER FACING M. P.'S OR IMPS

London, May 16 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Winston Churchill told the House of Commons today that he had no information as to Heinrich Himmler's whereabouts.

"I have a great deal of work to do," said the Prime Minister. "I expect he will turn up somewhere in this world or the next, and will be dealt with by appropriate local authorities."

Mr. Churchill drew laughter with the observation that the latter world probably would be "more convenient to his Majesty's Government."

BRITAIN'S BIGGEST PLANE REVEALED

London, May 16 (A. P.).—Britain's biggest airplane—the fifty-eight-ton Shetland with a 110-foot hull—emerged from wartime secrecy today. The huge flying boat, designed for worldwide patrol and reconnaissance, was described by Sir John Buchanan of Short Brothers as faster than the American air giant, Mars, although "not quite so big."

It was disclosed that one Shetland had been completed and successfully flown. A second, still under construction, is being redesigned into a seventy-passenger trans-Atlantic airliner—a two-decked cruiser with a promenade and a cocktail bar among its features.

The plane's four engines give it a cruising speed of 185 miles per hour. It is approximately twice the size of Pan American's clippers. Overnight trips between Britain and New York are planned for the plane.

British Open U.S. Air Run, Schedule 4 Trips a Week

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, May 16—The British Overseas Airways Corporation announced today that it had begun a summer service of four flights weekly between Britain and the United States, using forty-ton flying boats described as the largest in the world in commercial service.

The American terminus of the 3,724-mile, 30-hour trip will be Baltimore, with a refueling stop at Newfoundland.

Soon joining Britain's race to win her share of the rich trans-atlantic air traffic will be a 58-ton, 70-passenger air cruiser with two decks, a promenade and a cocktail bar.

It is being built by Short Brothers and will be a commercially modified version of Britain's biggest plane, the Short Shetland.

The huge flying boat has a 110-foot hull and was described as "not quite so big but faster" than the American air goliath, the Martin Mars.

Overnight service between Britain and New York is planned.

LONDON CHEERS GREET PATTON

His Welcome Similar To That Accorded Eisenhower

London, May 16 (AP)—Hard-hitting Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., of the United States 3d Army flew to London from southwestern Germany today for a little delayed victory celebration of his own.

"Back to my friends," he grinned as London crowds recognized him on West End streets and gave him a welcome similar to that shouted at Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower last night.

He Sees Lunts In Play

Patton went to see "Love in Idleness," the Alfred Lunt-Lynn Fontanne play at the Lyric Theater, commenting:

"I wanted to see the Lunts in this play not only because they're friends of mine but because the first time I was in London last year I attempted to attend their other play. I was sorry to hear their theater had been damaged by a flying bomb."

Beween acts the audience recognized Patton and he received an ovation. He visited the Lunts in their dressing room after the performance. Lunt congratulated the general on his healthy appearance and Patton replied: "Yes, war seems to agree with me."

The Lunts will take their play and company to the Continent to entertain troops and Patton invited them to appear before the 3d Army.

Touched By Reception

Several hundred persons cheered Patton as he left the stage door.

"Where are your guns, general?" asked one, referring to Patton's famous pistols.

"I don't carry them now the war is over," Patton answered with a grin.

Cheering crowds blocked the roads as the general was driven back to his hotel following the show. The car had difficulty moving as people ran out to peer at him. Patton smiled and waved to them. Another crowd jammed the hotel entrance.

Patton told reporters he was greatly touched by the warmth of London's reception.

London Acclaims Eisenhower

Allied Commander Has a Night Out for First Time in Three Long Years.

London, May 16 (A. P.).—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has had his first "night out" in three years. In his own words, last night was "the nicest night I've had since the war started."

In high good humor, the Supreme Allied Commander exchanged banter with cheering West End throngs. People tugged at him, patted him on the back, shook his hand and shouted repeatedly: "Good old Ike."

At Musical Revue.

Those who got near enough to shake hands with him received hearty "good luck" greetings from the buoyant chief of the victorious Allied armies, who was nattily attired in a light tropical uniform and garrison cap. Gen. Eisenhower attended the musical revue "Strike It Again" in company with Gen. Omar N. Bradley, commander of the Twelfth Army Group, who received his own share of the thunderous ovations.

The supreme commander spoke briefly after Sid Fields, a comedian, told the audience that two generals were there, and after flights had been turned on the , Gen. Eisenhower bowed and ved repeatedly to the cheering lience.

"I wonder if you people realiz what it means to me to be back here among friends," he said, drawing laughter when he added "among people whose language I can almost speak.'

Later, Gens. Eisenhower and Bradley and the former's son, Lieut. John Eisenhower, visited the cast backstage.

"Speaking on behalf of five million fighting men," he told the cast, "we admire you Londoners very much. You bore the brunt of the attack. Yours was a terrible burden."

He told the cast that he was in London for a holiday and that he was "enjoying it immensely." The General's party then left for Ciro's for dinner, but there was a delay en route when crowds stopped his car.

Thousands of Londoners saw Gen. Eisenhower during the evening and he shook hands with many Allied service men and civilians. Gen. Eisenhower spent the night in his London house and he is expected to fly back to the Continent soon.

CHURCHILL CHARGE HIT BY DEVALERA

DUBLIN, May 16.—(AP) Prime Minister De Valera, commenting on Churchill's criticism of Eire's stand during the war said in a speech tonight that the British leader had "advanced the cause of international morality" by resisting a temptation to break Southern Ireland's neutrality.

Churchill, in a world-wide broadcast Sunday, said that because of Northern Ireland's friendship to Britain the Empire had refrained from violence on Erie and "left the De Valera government to frolic with German and later with Japanese representatives to their hearts' content."

"It is indeed fortunate that Britain's necessity did not reach the point when Mr. Churchill would have acted," De Valera said in a broadcast.

"All credit to him that he successfully resisted the temptation which I have no doubt many times assailed him in his difficulties and to which I freely admit other leaders might have easily succumbed."

Speaking in a moderate tone, the Irish leader said he knew what sort of a reply he should have made to the Churchill speech "a quarter of a century ago, but I have deliberately decided that that is not the reply I shall make tonight."

Avoiding Hatreds

"I shall strive," he said, "not to be guilty of adding any fuel to the flames of hatred and passion which if continued to be fed promise to burn up whatever is left by the war of decent human feelings in Europe. Allowances can be made for Mr. Churchill's statement, however unworthy, in the first exuberance of his victory."

Referring to the long struggle for unity of Southern and Northern Ireland and complete independence of the island, he said once he had little hope for success except that —as Churchill had phrased England's position in the war — "The tyrant would make some ghastly mistake which would alter the whole balance of the struggle."

"I sincerely trust, however, that it is not thus our ultimate unity and freedom will be achieved, though as a younger man I confess I prayed even for that and indeed, at the time, saw no other course," De Valera said.

"In the latter years I have had a vision of a nobler and better ending for both our peoples and for the future of mankind.

Hits Churchill's Aims

"For that I have now long been working. I regret that it is not to this nobler purpose that Mr. Churchill is lending his hand rather than by abusing a people who have done him no wrong, trying to find in a crisis like the present excuse for continuing the injustice of the mutilation of our country.

"I sincerely hope that Mr. Churchill has not deliberately chosen the latter course, but if he has, however regretfully we may say it, we can only say 'be it so'."

"Meanwhile, even as a partitioned small nation, we shall go on and strive to play our part in the world, continuing unswervingly to work for the cause of freedom and for peace and understanding between all nations. . . .

"We shall endeavor to return thanks to God by playing a Christian part in helping so far as a small nation can to bind up some of the gaping wounds of suffering humanity."

3d Candidate for Eire President

DUBLIN, May 16 (AP)—The Labor and Farmers party today nominated Dr. Patrick McCartan as its candidate in the June 14 presidential election. Other candidates for the post held by 84-year-old Dr. Douglas Hyde, who is retiring, are Sean T. O'Kelly, Deputy Prime Minister and Finance Minister, nominated by Premier de Valera's Fianna Fail party, and Lieut. Gen. Sean MacEoin, nominated by William T. Cosgrave's Fine Gael group.

ADMIRAL DOENITZ PRISONER OF WAR

Served Only as Stop-Gap Allied Supreme Command Announces.

PARIS, May 16 — (AP) Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, who has been directing the process of German capitulation under orders from the Supreme Allied command, is a prisoner of war, it was stated officially today.

Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, deputy in charge of the American occupation of Germany, when asked whether Doenitz and Reichsmarshal Goering were prisoners of war, said succinctly:

"They are."

Clay did not specify what, if anything, has yet been done about placing Doenitz in confinement.

Sweat and Discipline

A program of sweat and discipline under which Germany will have to earn her way back into the community of nations under strict military control was laid down by the Allies today.

The so-called German government of Doenitz was declared officially to be only a temporary stop-gap, "fully controlled" by the Allies while it fulfills a useful purpose.

A Supreme headquarters statement said Doenitz "and certain other selected German officers" were being used only temporarily as an instrument for facilitating the surrender and disarmament of German forces and were acting under complete Allied control.

The formal statement made clear that there was no thought of recognizing Doenitz and his "Flensburg group" as a German government. So far as the Allies are concerned, Count Ludwig Schwerin von Krosigk "does not exist" as Doenitz' foreign minister.

Plan Military Government

This was underscored by Lt. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Gen. Eisenhower's deputy for the occupation of Germany. "The Allied government of Germany is going to be military, and the Germans are going to know it is military" declared Clay.

Asked specifically whether Doenitz and Hermann Goering were prisoners of war, Clay replied "they are." He did not specify what had been done with Doenitz —if anything, yet—but he said a special place or places of confinement for prisoners of this sort—Germany's military government party—(six words censored) had been prepared and indicated some prisoners already had been taken there.

NAZIS SENTENCED U. S. FLYER TO DIE

Paris, May 16 (A. P.).—Col. Henry R. Spicer of San Antonio, Tex., former United States Eighth Air Force fighter group commander, said today he had been sentenced to death by a German military tribunal and spent six months in solitary confinement before being freed by Russian troops who overran Stalag Luft 1 at Barth. He was one of 9,000 Allied prisoners, most of them American airmen, evacuated from Barth in three days by Eighth Air Force Flying Fortresses operating under a co-ordinated Russian-Allied plan.

Spicer said he parachuted into the English Channel March 5, 1944, when his Mustang fighter was damaged by flak during a train strafing mission on the Cherbourg peninsula. He drifted ashore in a dinghy after forty-eight hours, during which his feet were frozen. The Germans took him into custody.

After eight months in the Barth Camp, Spicer, who had been placed in command of 1,400 men, gave them what he described as a "pep talk for morale."

"There were several German officers present," he said. "I merely told the men what they were up against and that I wanted them to keep up their fine morale. I guess some of the things I said made the Germans sore."

He said that Nazi camp authorities filed charges against him and sentenced him to death after a trial at Anklam. Col. Hubert M. Zemke, ace flyer and senior Allied officer commanding the camp at the time, took immediate steps to oppose the death order, Spicer related. Representations were made to German officials and to protecting Powers. Spicer, meanwhile, was confined in a six-by-eight cell.

Trip To U.S. Begins June 1

SHAEF, Paris, May 16 (AP)—The first group of American veterans—more than 15,000 strong—with scores above the 85 critical discharge points to their credit will head for the United States June 1, supreme headquarters announced today.

Composed almost entirely of men with combat experience, the group will include 12,000 from the 12th Army Group (United States 1st, 3d and 9th armies), 3,000 from the 6th Army Group (United States 7th Army and French 1st), and 500 from the Air Forces. Less than two per cent of the total will be officers.

Restricted This Month

"The number is restricted this month because of transportation shortage but will be increased substantially next month," the announcement said. "The Army Service Forces and more men from the Air Forces will be included in next month's quota.

Headquarters said each division was assigned its proportionate share of this month's quota. The divisions deepest in Germany will fly their men to the processing centers if necessary.

Troops will start arriving at the staging area, near Le Havre, May 26. Within six days the entire 15,000 will be assembled and organized into groups according to the reception stations to which they wish to be sent on their arrival in the United States.

Shipment Already Started

Shipments will be arranged so that all members of a unit arrive in the United States on the same ship, however. All will have embarked by June 1, headquarters said.

The last of 8,000 men returning to the United States this month for rehabilitation and recuperation leaves also are scheduled to depart. These men were selected for leaves before the point system was announced and there are many among them who have scores above 85. These may be discharged when they reach the United States. Few of them expect to return to the European theater.

Shipment of men over 42 has started already and it is expected that by the end of June all 11,000 enlisted men over that age will have been sent home for discharge.

FIRST '85 POINT' VETS TO HEAD HOME JUNE 1

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, May 16—(AP) More than 15,000 American troops, comprising the first group of veterans over the interim critical score of 85 points to be released from the European theater of operations, will head for the United States June 1, headquarters announced today.

The group is composed almost entirely of men with combat experience. Officers constitute less than two per cent of the total. Twelve thousand of the men are from the 12th army group, 3,000 are from the Sixth Army group and 500 are from the Air Forces.

Two U.S. War Correspondents Are Reaccredited By SHAEF

Paris, May 16 (AP) — Seymour Freidin and John Groth, two of four American correspondents discredited by supreme headquarters public relations for going through Russian lines to Berlin and filing their stories, have been reaccredited, although they will not be permitted to file any stories until June 6, it was announced tonight.

Freidin represents the New York Herald Tribune and Groth the American Legion magazine and the magazine Parade. Groth's Berlin story was carried by the Associated Press.

"Violations of SHAEF regulations by John Groth, of Parade, and Seymour Freidin, New York Herald Tribune, war correspondents, have been reviewed," said a formal SHAEF statement. "Disciplinary action of disaccreditation has been modified and in place of disaccreditation a suspension of one month from date of original suspension has been imposed. The suspension is in force until June 6, 1945, and the two correspondents have been ordered to the United Kingdom with no military facilities until that date."

Virginia Irwin, of the St. Louis Post Dispatch, and Andrew F. Tully, of the Boston Traveler, also were disaccredited for making the Berlin trip, but no mention was made of their cases.

Ernie Leiser, of the army newspaper Stars and Stripes, and Mack Morris, of the army magazine Yank, were both suspended temporarily for the same reason.

U.S. WRITERS STILL BARRED FROM BERLIN

PARIS, May 16 — (AP) Correspondents accredited to Supreme headquarters were told today that neither Allied troops nor newsmen could be expected to go to Russian-held Berlin for some time.

Arrangements have not been completed for troops under Gen. Eisenhower to enter the German capital, headquarters said. It is unlikely that correspondents will be permitted to visit Berlin until the troops go.

The correspondents had protested the disaccrediting of four of their colleagues for making unauthorized trips to the German capital, and appointed a committee to review the penalties. The same committee was instructed to seek clarification of the policy regarding entrance of Allied correspondents into Russian zones.

There has been some criticism by newsmen of SHEAF's failure to obtain permission from the Russians for their entrance into Red army territory.

Correspondents Curbed On Censorship Criticism

With U.S. 6th Army Group, May 16 [AP—Delayed] — Censorship regulations have been handed down from high levels curbing corresponrents in the field in writing stories critical of field press censorship.

Heretofore, censors have been strict in censoring field copy on the grounds of military security, but have been tolerant in passing dispatches criticizing the way stories had been slashed.

Now that military security is hardly a vital issue, more and more questions of political censorship have arisen. These have brought orders from the SHAEF (supreme Allied headquarters) level that any criticism of censorship must first be submitted to SHAEF in Paris before being transmitted for publication.

Naval Appointments in Europe

PARIS, May 16 (AP)—Several commanders and flag officers have been appointed for duty on the continent under Admiral Sir Harold M. Burrough, Allied Naval Commander in Chief, for naval control and disarmament, Supreme Headquarters announced today. The appointments are:

Vice Admiral Robert L. Ghormley, commanding United States naval ports and bases in Germany.

Vice Admiral Sir Gerald C. Dickens, Royal Navy, flag officer, Netherlands.

Rear Admiral H. T. Baillie Grohman, Royal Navy, flag officer in charge of Kiel.

Rear Admiral G. C. Muirhead-Gould, Royal Navy, flag officer in charge of Wilhelmshaven.

Rear Admiral R. V. Holt, Royal Navy, flag officer, Denmark.

Vice Admiral Alan G. Kirk, United States naval forces in France.

Rear Admiral F. E. P. Hutton, flag officer in Belgium.

Commodore H. T. England, Royal Navy, commodore in charge at Hamburg.

Naval port parties have entered a number of ports to carry out clearance work and the initial stages of rehabilitation as necessary, headquarters said.

PETAIN IS QUESTIONED ON NAZI CONNECTIONS

PARIS, May 16.—(AP) Marshal Petain was questioned at length today by the President of the high court on his alleged relationship with the anti-republican hood-wearing Cagoulards before the war and with Adolf Hitler and Generalissimo Franco.

The Marshall's trial on charges of intelligence with the enemy probably will start next month, court authorities said.

In the presence of his attorneys, Petain underwent a long preliminary examination from Pierre Bouchardon, president of the high court.

The official asked him about Hitler and Franco, to whom he was sent as ambassador before the war, and Pierre Laval.

Petain said he himself had had some doubts about Laval. Bouchardon asked him why, then, he had summoned Laval to power after the fall of France.

"In the hope he would mend his ways and improve himself in office," Petain replied.

He said he had no happy memories of either Hitler or Franco. The latter kept him waiting long in his ante-chamber on one occasion, he related.

Petain's responses to questions about the Cagoulards were not disclosed by the court authorities.

CALL GENERAL STRIKE IN FRENCH RHONE AREA

PARIS, May 16—(AP) A general strike was called by the Federation of Labor Unions today in the Department of Rhone, affecting police and prison guards as well as factories, shops and utilities.

Both Associated Press dispatches from Lyon and local representatives there of the Agence France Presse reported the strike was called to enforce demands for social reform.

Cafes, stores, movies and shops closed in Lyon. Street cars halted. Employes of municipal electricity and water power works were called on to leave their posts this evening.

Police and prison guards "remained at their posts but aren't working," an AP representative said, and were refusing to open the doors so prisoners could not be admitted and authorities could not take men on trial to and from the courts.

DR. LEY, ARCH NAZI, SEIZED IN GERMANY

Hitler Labor Front Chief Tries to Deny Identity—Found in Mountain Hideout

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, May 16 (AP)—Dr. Robert Ley, 55-year-old arch-Nazi and Hitler's Labor Front leader, was captured tonight by the 101st Airborne Division, acting upon a tip from the German underground.

He was identified beyond doubt by two high Nazi party leaders, who also are American prisoners, and by an American counter-intelligence officer, who said: "This capture may be even more important than the surrender of Goering because we have proved indisputably that Ley is the mastermind behind the werewolf movement."

Dull-eyed and sullen, perhaps from fatigue and terror, the man who goaded German workers into their all-out effort for Hitler tried to deny his identity when captured at a mountain hideaway forty-five miles south of Berchtesgaden. Cloaked behind a four-day growth of beard and wearing blue pajamas, he said he was "Dr. Ernst Distelmeyer." But when members of a United States counter-intelligence team started to question him he reached for a vial and tried to swallow its contents.

Still in pajamas, but wearing an overcoat, a green hat and thick-soled shoes, he was brought in a jeep to division headquarters, where his shoes were searched for razor blades. At headquarters identification was made by Frank Xaver Schwarz, treasurer of the Nazi party, and his son, Franz, as well as by the American officer who had known him for thirteen years.

Dr. Ley was unable to produce papers showing himself to be "Dr. Distelmeyer" and mumbled that they had been lost. He was confronted with his pictures in a Nazi party roster book, but still denied his real identity. Then the younger Schwarz was brought into the room where Ley was slumped in a chair. Schwarz gasped, "Herr Doctor Ley!"

Then as Ley was being taken from the room, the American officer, who cannot be identified because of his counter-intelligence work, walked in with the 80-year old elder Schwarz, who has been suffering from heart trouble.

"Dr. Ley, I have been looking for you for years and I've found you at last," said the American.

The elder Schwarz also confirmed the identification.

The myth of "Dr. Distelmeyer" ended for good, Ley shuffled out to a jeep an dstarted on the trip to higher headquarters, his head rolling his eyes bleary, and his hat pulled down tight around his ears.

When brought to division headquarters, Ley was guarded in the jeep by Lieut. Walter Rice, Elmira Heights, N.Y.; Pfc. Robert Guggenheim, New York city, and Pfc. John A. Smith, of Beattyville, Ky., all members of the 101st Airborne Division.

He sat in the jeep with his coat pulled up around him while pictures were taken and afterward as I was taking down the names of those in the picture. I asked him his name as a matter of routine and he replied, "Dr. Ernst Distelmeyer." I asked him for his home address and he said, "Cologne."

The army interrogation started a few moments later inside a building. A member of the counter-intelligence team thrust in front of Ley's face a book containing the pictures of all the Nazi hierarchy and demanded:

"Here is your picture. Why try to tell us you aren't this man?"

Ley's answer was a heavy-lidded stare and a slight rolling of his dull, blue eyes.

Sweetheart Entered Suicide Pact with Hitler in Berlin

By A. I. GOLDBERG

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, May 16 — (AP) Hitler's sweetheart, Eva Braun, virtually entered a suicide pact with the Fuehrer when she elected to stay with him at Berlin during its final siege, Gerhardt Herrgesell, chief of the Nazi leader's secretarial staff, told me today.

The sharp-eyed aide who had been in Hitler's entourage for years, asserted that both Eva and Hitler knew they would die in a bunker shelter under the Reichschancellery.

Hitler, resigned to his fate for several days beforehand, Herrgesell said, became dreamy and impatient of suggestions that all defense against the Americans be pulled back and hurled against the Russians. Eva, he said, wept and wrote a long letter in which she enclosed her favorite piece of jewelry and sent it back to Hitler's castle here. The letter and the jewel have not been found.

Herrgesell, a precise civil servant and law student with a rank equivalent to that of a circuit judge in the United States and not merely a stenographer, told how Hitler and his aides held a series of meetings April 20-22 during which Hitler decided that he would stay in Berlin to meet death. The secretary said he was convinced that Hitler was dead and that the death story had not been staged nor a double used in place of the Fuehrer.

Recalls "Last Chapters"

Almost whispering, occasionally closing his eyes as he recalled exact times and dates, he filled in some chapters of the last days before Hitler was reported to have died. But he made it plain that he left Berlin April 22 and did not personally see the "last stand" in the chancellery. His story differed in some important details from that told by Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering following his surrender last week.

Goering said he last saw H[itler] April 22. Herregesell said Goe[ring] left Berlin April 20 but that he left it was with the under[stand]ing that he would take ove[r] government duties from some in Southern Germany.

Among those who stayed with Hitler, Herrgesell said, were Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel—who was under orders to leave Berlin; Martin Bormann, Eva Braun, a Mrs. Christian, a Mrs. Junge, Paul Joseph Goebbels and his family, and a General Krebs.

All personnel had been ordered by Hitler to leave Berlin April 20 unless they were indispensable and Hitler reached his decision to remain there April 22. Herrgesell said the Fuehrer based his action on two points:

1—"I have lost all faith in the Wehrmacht and I have lost all faith in the Waffen SS (Elite Guard)."

2—"I always have given orders not to retreat. Now I can only follow my own command."

The secretary said four men sat in on the last decisive parley at 5:30 p.m., April 22. They were Hitler, Keitel, Bormann and Gen. Jodl.

"I now make the final decision that I stay and die," Herrgesell quoted Hitler as saying.

Keitel and Bormann both protested, he said, quoting Bormann as saying: "My Fuehrer, this is contrary to what we taught. We wanted to fight to the last to defend the last corner of Germany."

Jodl Obeys Command

Only Jodl obeyed the command to leave, he said, going to Nauen, near Berlin, where he was still in contact with his army.

Keitel and Bormann argued and said they would not leave. Hitler repeated that it was a command and Bormann said: "My Fuehrer, that is the first command of yours I will not obey."

Herrgesell said Keitel asserted, 'I could never show myself to my wife and children." Bormann repeated his arguments along a similar line but Hitler told them to get out and arrange for some form of new government headed by Goering to negotiate a peace.

Herrgesell said, however, that Hitler did not make it plain whether his reference to Goering [an] order, a p[roc]al or me[re] thought. He described it as a typical Hitler equivocation in handling a crisis of that sort.

During the early talks, Herregesell said Jodl was "icy cold," and commented: "I am not going to stay and get killed in this mousetrap."

Jodl said, however, the secretary added, that he would be willing to turn the German army against the Russians, pulling them back from the American and British fronts Bormann and Keitel kept arguing with Hitler that he still had sizeable forces and could continue to fight.

Herrgesell said he never heard the name of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz mentioned during the conversations.

"Himmler wanted to see the Fuehrer," Herrgesell said. "The Fuehrer said he did not want to see him, declaring 'he can't influence me.'"

When Hitler made his final decision to stay and die, he was absolutely certain that he would meet his end in from two to seven days, Herrgesell said. The chancellery was then under artillery fire.

Heinz Buchholtz, another member of Hitler's secretarial staff, said he was within 7 to 9 feet of Hitler last July when the assassination bomb went off at a conference. Buchholtz said he suffered temporary deafness and bruises about the body while Hitler suffered impaired hearing and contusions on the arms.

Herrgesell said he left Berlin on Hitler's orders at 10 P.M. April 22 and flew to Berchtesgaden. He said he did not know why Hitler reportedly changed his mind about Goering and ordered the Reichmarshal's arrest when Goering telephoned from Berchtesgaden asking that he be allowed to take over the reins.

Herrgesell said about eight others flew with him to Berchtesgaden.

Buchholz, discussing the July assassination attempt, said a second bomb had been prepared and that it was found unused in a forest nearby afterwards.

He said that the bomb that went off was not in a metal case, indicating it had been prepared for use in a concrete bunker, but he asserted that there never had been a change in plans which called for a meeting in the wooden shack where the bomb went off—a fact which he believed saved Hitler's life because the wooden building gave way to the blast. He also said that Col. Count von Stauffenberg, who planted the bomb, believed Hitler was dead when he quit the conference room.

Top Himmler Aide Taken

With U.S. 3d Army in Southern Germany, May 16 (AP) — An anti-Russian resistance movement may have been nipped in the bud with the arrest in Austria of Ernst Kaltenbrunner, Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler's right-hand man.

Kaltenbrunner, captured by the 80th Infantry May 12 at Alt Aussee, is known to have admitted he planned "some sort" of action against the Russians, but he would not go so far as to say it would be a full-scale resistance movement.

Secret Police Taken

However, at about the same time he was arrested the 80th also seized several members of the SS secret police at Bad Aussee. Their presence in the same general area was regarded as hardly coincidental, because all are known experts on southeastern European intrigue.

Members of the Gestapo dressed in civilian clothes have been surrendering voluntarily, but such is not the case with members of the German military intelligence staff.

Kaltenbrunner, who tried to disguise himself by shaving his mustache, said he intended to remain in seclusion "until things were a little more settled," then launch an underground movement.

Preparations Extensive

Gen. George S. Patton's intelligence agents uncovered considerable other evidence that the most fanatical Nazis not only planned a long-range resistance program but had made extensive preparations. Already numerous caches of explosives and weapons have been found. Many arrests have been made and confessions obtained.

For a long time before Germany's capitulation, schools in sabotage and other underground activities were held in scattered areas.

Patton's agents have been somewhat handicapped because they are comparatively few in number. They believe they have only scratched the surface and that the Germans may lay low for a year or more before starting their terrorism.

Had Forged Papers

Although saber-scarred Kaltenbrunner carried forged papers of an obscure physician supposedly discharged from the Wehrmacht medical corps, 80th Infantry agents found his authentic papers in the same room in which he was trapped with his personal adjutant, Arthur Scheidler, at an Alpine hideaway.

Both vigorously denied their identity at first, but Kaltenbrunner later broke down when confronted with his mistress, already the mother of his twins and now expecting a third child.

At no time during his subsequent questioning did he inquire about his wife or their two legitimate children who were arrested by the 80th two days previously.

Chalet An Arsenal

Led by Austrian patriots, the American agents started out shortly after midnight and climbed for two hours to reach a cliff-top chalet by early morning.

They hammered at its heavy doors with rifle butts until Kaltenbrunner admitted them. Neither Kaltenbrunner nor Scheidler offered any resistance although they were fully armed and the chalet was a virtual arsenal.

Also in the chalet were several thousand Reichsmark bills of high denomination, one gold bar and considerable quantities of United States currency, large quantities of chocolate, several cartons of American cigarettes of a popular brand and a single bottle of gin.

Chief of the dreaded Sicherheitsdienst which directed all of the Reich political and international intelligence and which spied for and on even the Gestapo, Kaltenbrunner also headed the criminal police force, making him automatically a member of the Ministry of the Interior.

Carinthia Situation Tense.

Klagenfurt, Austria, May 16 (A. P.).—Yugoslav demands in the Austrian province of Carinthia presented the Allied Powers today with a confused and extremely delicate situation.

Two distinct military administrations are functioning here, with Yugoslav military authorities operating seemingly as if the British Eighth Army did not exist, although British military police patrol the streets and the military strength in the area is predominantly British.

The situation has not reached the tenseness of that in Trieste, but obviously some agreement must be reached so the Eighth Army either will turn its job over to Marshal Tito's Partisans or carry out the task it entered Austria to do.

Proclamations Side by Side.

Yugoslav proclamations are pasted beside British announcements throughout Klagenfurt. One demands that every Austrian worker here report his former job to the Partisans, under pain of penalties. Another, announced

Yugoslav entry of Carinthia "to guarantee for the entire Slovene Austrian population true and popular democracy, freedom and prosperity, in a new, victorious and strong greater Yugoslavia."

The scope of Yugoslav claims in Carinthia is not known, since the Partisans have not announced how much of Austria they hope to include in a "greater Yugoslavia." After the first world war the Slovenes of the area voted to remain part of defeated Austria rather than join the Slovenes in Yugoslavia.

7TH DEFENDS GOERING CARE

Declares Geneva Convention Followed In Treatment

MAY 17 1945

Rosenheim, Germany, May 16 (AP)—The United States 7th Army asserted tonight that its treatment of captured Reichsmarshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering "has been strictly in accordance with the Geneva convention."

An official statement issued by a spokesman for the 7th Army said, "Newspaper reports that the 7th Army received ex-Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering with open arms have caused a certain amount of righteous indignation here."

"Goering's treatment since his capture by the 36th Infantry Division has been strictly in accordance with the Geneva convention, which provides that even the most notorious prisoners of war must be fed, watered and clothed until such time as his ultimate fate is decided by process of law," the statement said.

No Mention Of Reception

It made no mention of Goering's reception at the division command post, where he was reported to have shaken hands with a general and eaten chicken and peas, which happened to be on the menu for all personnel at division headquarters, privates and generals alike, that day.

But it declared "the portly German's reception at 7th Army headquarters was calculated to deflate him mentally if not physically." Goering's present living quarters were described as "a building of modest proportions set aside for the housing of prisoners who can give important information."

"Food and other niceties vary with the degree of co-operation shown, but have never been such as might arouse enthusiasm," the statement said.

PATTON HAD CLOSE CALL IN TINY PLANE

With the United States Third Army, May 16 (A. P.)—Gen. George S. Patton Jr. had a number of close calls jeeping and flying about the front, but the closest one came in April when a tiny Raisch plane in which he was flying near Regensburg was pounced on by a German Messerschmitt. Patton's pilot "hit the deck," diving close to the ground as the Messerschmitt closed in for the kill, and the luckless German crashed as he followed the plane down. Patton's plane made a rough but safe landing. Third Army correspondents wrote the story at the time, but field censors would not pass it for security reasons.

SWISS HEAR ALLIES ARE ARMING ITALY

Berne, May 16 (A. P.).—Although Swiss newspapers were commenting extensively upon dangers in the Polish and Trieste questions, the Government was proceeding today with demobilization of the Swiss Army.

The newspaper Berner Tagwacht said in a front page editorial that the fear of a new war had prompted the western Allies to arm Italy with equipment the British and American armies left behind. Tagwacht said Russia was now establishing a cordon sanitaire on her western borders even as the western Powers after the last war erected buffer States against Communism.

The Zurich Die Tat published a letter saying that many Swiss in the summer of 1940, when Hitler's armies were victorious, leaned toward National Socialism and that many Swiss were now leaning toward the victorious Russians. It described this as "a shame and disgrace."

The Government said about half of the Swiss army had been demobilized to meet the needs of agriculture and industry for man power. It said some forces still were needed for border patrols, guarding of refugees and quelling of Fascist disturbances.

Some 250,000 refugees interned during the war, including 20,000 Italians, are still in the country awaiting transport to their homelands.

Although American military attaches said no definite commitments had been made, the Swiss are preparing to accommodate 10,000 American soldiers on furlough monthly, including some wounded and convalescents.

Swiss Deny Report.

Berne, May 16 (A. P.).—The Swiss Telegraph Agency said today that, contrary to published reports, Yugoslavia had not asked Swizerland for custody of Count Guiseppe Bastianini, former Fascist diplomat. Bastianini, former Ambassador to Britain, Turkey and Poland and former secretary of the Grand Fascist Council, fled to Switzerland in April, 1944.

Leopold's Physician On Way To See King

Brussels, May 16 (AP)—King Leopold's personal physician, Dr. Rahier, left by plane today for Salsburg to see the King, and Belgians took it as an indication that some anxiety was felt about Leopold's health.

Belgians have been struck by his change of appearance in recent published photographs.

RUSSIAN PRISONERS REBEL IN HOLLAND

DEN HELDER, Holland, May 16 —(AP) Russian prisoners whom the Germans forced to fight as part of the garrison of the Dutch Frisian island of Texel were reported here today to have rebelled, killing their officers and inflicting at least 900 casualties on German troops in bitter fighting still continuing.

Texel is the southernmost of the West Frisian islands.

Advices from the island said 250 Texel buildings had been laid waste.

Clearing Trieste Port

Rome, May 16 (AP)—A statement from the Allied naval command said today Allied naval units were operating in the Trieste area "in the course of their normal duties and for the opening of the heavily mined port."

The statement was issued following publication of reports that several Allied warships had arrived at the Adriatic shipping center, as a tense situation arose over Yugoslavia's announced aim to take control of the city and adjacent areas of the Venezia Giudia region.

WIFE BELIEVES HIMMLER DIED INSIDE BERLIN

Gestapo Chieftain's Spouse and Daughter Questioned In Italy.

THEY ARE NOT PRISONERS

Patrol From 88th Division Takes Charge of Party Hiding in Alpine Refuge.

Bolzano, Italy, May 16 (A. P.).—Frau Margaret Boden Himmler believes that her husband, Heinrich Himmler, Gestapo chief, "was killed with the other Reich leaders such as Hitler in the fighting for Berlin." Frau Himmler, her 15-year-old daughter, Gudrun, and her sister were found on Sunday in a well-appointed mountain chalet about fifteen miles north of Bolzano, in the Italian Tyrol, by members of the United States Eighty-eighth Division.

Pale and sickly looking, Frau Himmler told the Associated Press yesterday that her husband would be "better off dead—they're all better dead." She and her daughter referred to Himmler in the third person, as the Reichsfuehrer, or simply as Himmler.

The first question she asked when the Americans entered the chalet was: "Are we going to be killed?" When told that she would be treated fairly, she burst into tears, and sobbed that she was "thankful to be captured by Americans."

Henchman Acts as Guide.

Capt. Erich Schnitzler, one of Himmler's three personal henchmen, who had accompanied Frau Himmler's party from Munich on April 24, led the Americans up the narrow Alpine trail to the chalet, after having been picked up in the Bolzano headquarters of SS. Gen. Karl Wolff. Like members of the family, Capt. Schnitzler said that he had no knowledge of Himmler's present whereabouts, and that he had not seen him for months.

Himmler's wife and daughter also said that they had not heard from the Gestapo chieftain since mid-April, and Frau Himmler said that she had not actually seen her husband since mid-November, near Munich. It is known, however, that Himmler had been in the Colle Isarco headquarters of the Gestapo, a few miles south of the Brenner Pass, about a month ago.

The 51-year-old woman and her daughter will be classified by American authorities as "displaced persons," and not as prisoners. The American party which found the former Gestapo chief's wife and daughter included Lieut. Tom A. Lucid of Jersey City.

Margotti Received By Pope Pius

Vatican City, May 16 (A. P.).—Pope Pius today gave a private audience to Archbishop Carlo Margotti of Girizia, who was understood to have reported on his recent arrest by Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans.

SPANISH PLANE CRASHES

MADRID, May 16.—(AP) A military transport plane reported to be carrying 12 officers of the Spanish Air Force crashed in flames today while taking off from the Maestranza airfield on the outskirts of Leon. All the occupants were believed to have perished.

QUISLING TO BE TRIED BY SELECTED JURY

OSLO, Norway, May 16 — (AP) Vidkun Quisling, Nazi puppet premier of Norway, will be tried before a special jury composed of three judges and four laymen, Paal Berg, Norwegian chief justice and head of the Norwegian underground during the war, said today.

The judges will choose the laymen to sit with them. Date for the trial has not been set. The unusual arrangement whereby judges will sit on the jury was made possible by the government changing the jury statute.

Oslo, May 16 (A. P.).—Vidkun Quisling, head of the puppet Norwegian Government under the Nazi occupation, is confined in a prison cell but not made to work, a Norwegian authority said today. Because no one can see Qusling except on official business a Norwegian officer has been assigned to keep correspondents informed of developments in his case, which is expected to come to trial shortly. This officer said Quisling was being treated like any other prisoner and shown no favors. He denied reports published abroad that Quisling had been made to clean the prison toilets.

Danes Ratify Greenland Pact

Copenhagen, May 16 (AP)—The Danish Parliament today ratified a treaty of defense with Greenland. The treaty was agreed upon during the war, with the Danish Minister to Washington, Henrik Kauffman, acting for Denmark.

None Of Four Bodies Hitler's

Moscow, May 16 (AP)—The Russians continued today to examine closely the bodies of Nazis found in the underground city discovered in Berlin, but there was no official announcement that the corpse of either Hitler or his Propaganda Minister, Paul Joseph Goebbels, had been identified.

Of six bodies found in the Reichchancellery, four have been declared definitely as not being the Führer. A meticulous recheck is taking place on the other two.

The Russians are leaning more and more to the idea that the Nazis might have planned some gigantic hoax in reporting the death of Hitler in Berlin, and all military men have been asked to exercise the greatest diligence in the identification of dead Nazis.

At any rate, the Russians want to be absolutely sure of any identification of the bodies of either Hitler or Goebbels, and will make no official declaration until they are convinced beyond doubt.

A Berlin dispatch to the army newspaper Red Star yesterday described Goebbels' quarters in the underground city:

"Goebbels and his family moved from his gorgeous castle to a depth seventy feet underground. A microphone was installed there and it was from there that Goebbels shouted his last speeches."

This Red Star dispatch, however, said nothing about finding the bodies of Goebbels and his family. Elsewhere it did say that scores of Nazi officials killed themselves and their families in the underground city rather than submit to capture, but Goebbels was not mentioned in this connection.

NORSE PATRIOT SAFE IN MOSCOW

Moscow, May 16 (A. P.).—The former commander of Norwegian military forces, Gen. Otto Ruge, has been freed from a German concentration camp by the Red Army and has arrived in Moscow. Gen. Ruge was imprisoned by the Nazis when he refused to sign a document saying he would not resist them. He was rescued from Luckenwalde, in poor health, but is recovering. Gen. Ruge is at the Norwegian legation.

5,700,000 Communists Listed

MOSCOW, May 16 (AP).—Membership in the Communist party has risen to more than 5,700,000, the highest in the history of the party, the newspaper "Pravda" said today in an editorial.

NOTHING DEFINITE YET ON 'BIG THREE' CONFAB

MOSCOW, May 16—(AP) Informed Allied sources in Moscow said today that while a meeting between Marshal Stalin, Prime Minister Churchill and President Truman might well take place sometime in the future, nothing definite had been decided about such a gathering yet.

Patton Honored By Russians

Moscow, May 16 (AP)—The Soviet Government has awarded Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., the Order of Kutuzov, first class. Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin, commander of the 3d Ukrainian Army, pinned the award on the commander of the United States 3d Army at a spontaneous ceremony near Linz, Austria.

A dispatch from Tolbukhin's front said today that awards also were given to General Eisenhower's representative, Maj. Gen. Everett S. Hughes, Maj. Gen. H. R Gay, chief of staff of the 3d Army, and others

Corporal James J. Bekker, (no home town given) was given the Order of Glory, third class, for heroic actions.

The dispatch said there was a most cordial atmosphere at the meeting of the Russians and Americans, with Patton's men shouting "Hail Stalingrad!" and the Red Army men shouting "Hail Normandy; hail Munich!"

CHIHKIANG VICTORY IS WON, SAYS CHINA

Big Japanese Force Reported to Have Been Trapped East of Air Base

CHUNGKING, China, May 16 (AP)—The High Command announced tonight that the Japanese drive on the United States Fourteenth Air Base at Chihkiang in Hunan Province had been completely smashed in one of the most important Chinese victories of the war and that a considerable enemy force had been trapped.

Heavy street fighting was continuing in Foochow, with severe casualties on both sides. The Chinese broke into the town last Friday and bitter fighting has raged since. The High Command gave no further details.

A large force of enemy troops, cut off from their main base at Paoking, from which the Hunan offensive started April 9, was reported by the Chinese to be attempting to escape through the Chinese lines. The Japanese are trapped in a pocket stretching roughly from an area twenty-two miles northeast of Tungkow, fifty-five miles west of Paoking, to a point thirty-one miles southeast of the Paoking-Chihkiang highway town. Most eastward escape routes were reported by the combat command to be firmly held by the Chinese.

The High Command said two important heights and numerous villages in the area had been taken by the Chinese and some 400 Japanese killed or wounded in futile assaults on the Chinese lines.

Chinese forces southeast of Yangchi, forty miles north-northeast of Paoking, continued their attacks against Japanese units retreating southward, the High Command said. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the enemy.

In Honan Province severe fighting was reported west of the Hsihsiakow, possession of which by the enemy constitutes a potential threat of an invasion of Shensi Province. Several Japanese counter-attacks were foiled, the High Command said.

Fighters and bombers of the United States Fourteenth Air Force slashed at Japanese forces in Hunan and bombed and strafed enemy transport and storage facilities in the Hankow-Yochow area northeast of Tungting Lake, a communiqué from Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer's headquarters said.

A Chinese dispatch said that Allied warplanes damaged a Japanese transport carrying more than 3,000 evacuated persons from Formosa April 17.

Japs Try To Break From China Trap

Chungking, May 16 (AP)—A large force of Japanese troops cut off from their main base at Paoching after an unsuccessful attempt to retake Rungkow, 55 miles to the west, are attempting to fight their way through Chinese lines in Hunan province, headquarters of the Chinese Combat Command said today.

The Combat Command, under Maj. Gen. Robert B. McClure, said the Japanese pocket stretched roughly from an area 22 miles northeast of Tungkow, which is on the Paoching-Chihkiang highway, to a point 31 miles southeast. Most escape routes to the east toward Paoching, main base of the abortive Japanese drive in Hunan, are in Chinese hands.

Fighting in Foochow

The Chinese high command said street fighting was continuing in the treaty port of Foochow, which Chinese forces entered last Friday.

The communiqué said the enemy drive in Hunan was completely smashed and that more than 400 Japanese troops had been killed in the enemy pocket west of Paoching.

The high command said attacks against Japanese forces southeast of Yangchi, 40 miles north-northwest of Paoching, were continuing, with the enemy suffering numerous casualties.

In Honan province, the communiqué said, severe fighting continued west of the enemy-held town of Hsihsiakow. Several Japanese counterattacks were reported foiled by Chinese trops with the aid of local militia.

Civil War Warning Voiced In China

Chungking, May 16 (AP)—Communist Leader Mao Tze-tung has declared that civil war will result in China if the Kuomintang rule is not replaced immediately by a democratic coalition government.

Mao spoke at the seventh Communist Congress held in Yenan the latter part of April. Texts were delivered to correpsondents in Chungking today.

He said that the Chinese Communists possessed 910,000 regular troops and more than 200,000 People's Volunteer Corps members and controlled nineteen liberated areas in China and Manchuria with a population of 95,500,000.

Criticizes "Ruling Clique"

Declaring that China needed a coalition government not only during but after the war, Mao accused the "ruling clique within the Kuomintang" of preparing to launch a civil war and said this group was "only waiting until certain Allied troops have driven the Japanese from certain parts of China."

He contended the Kuomintang—the party of the Central Chinese Government headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek—wanted Allied commanders in China to enact the role of Lieut. Gen. R. M. Scobie in Greece.

Mao urged the Kuomintang to change what he contended was its "attitude of enmity toward the Soviet Union and swiftly to improve Sino-Soviet doplomatic relations."

The Chinese Communist party, Mao asserted, has 1,200,000 members.

Chinese See No Jap Doenitz Regime

Chungking, May 16 (A. P.).—Wang Shih-chieh, Information Minister, warned today against hope that a Doenitz Government would take over Japan. "It is our firm conviction," he said, "that no Japanese Government or Japanese individual can be expected to surrender until the Japanese are put in a position there they cannot fight in their homeland, or on the Continent."

KOREANS SET FREE BY CHINA

Chungking, May 16 (A. P.).—China's National Military Council ordered release today of all Korean prisoners of war and said they may, if they wish, join the Korean Independence Army—a handful of Korean patriots being trained in Free China. Freedom was granted to both men and women.

The Military Council also declared that all Koreans taken prisoner in the future would be sent to Free China as free men.

TO SEIZE NAZI FIRMS

Buenos Aires, May 16 (A. P.).—The Department of Industry and Commerce announced last night that the Argentine Government would take possession of the German-owned Thyssen Lametal Manufacturing Company and two affiliated firms accused of violating measures against commercial intercourse with enemy countries. The Government will operate the concerns.

Bootblacks Organize In Buenos Aires

Buenos Aires (A. P.).—Buenos Aires' bootblacks have organized for greater recognition, petitioning the government for minimum pay, severance pay, sick leave benefits and vacations with pay. A spokesman for the newly formed union declared: "We, too, would like to go to the seashore for a few days each summer, with some pesos in our pocket, and be able to have someone else shine our shoes."

21 Million Gone From Police Fund

Mexico City, May 16 (AP)—The disappearance of $21,000,000 from the Police Department savings was reported to Mayor Javier Rojo Gomez yesterday by Police Chief Ramon Jimenez Delgado. The fund had been built up with deductions from policemen's salaries.

The police chief reported that the savings fund, started in 1896, should total 105,000,000 pesos (about $21,000,000), but that he can find only 114,000 pesos (about $23,000). He suggested an investigation to determine whether the money may have been diverted to other channels without leaving records.

Comforts for Home Front Approved by Some GI's

By The Associated Press.

HONOLULU, May 16—Stars and Stripes, the new service newspaper published here for the Pacific area, today voiced approval of more comforts for people on the home front.

Noting that, because the European war is ended, civilians in the United States are likely to get more tires and gasoline, can go to horse races and can be dazzled again by billboard signs, the newspaper said:

"We are glad. We don't want the people back home wearing hair shirts just to prove they know there is a war on.

"They are our people and we want them to have that new car and more gas and a better radio and any other comfort that doesn't interfere with the defeat of Japan.

"The prospect of an uncomfortable America doesn't appeal to us. After all, we are fighting to get back there just as fast as we can."

Curb Sought On Buying Of Meat In Canada

Windsor, Ont., May 16 (AP)—The Windsor City Council last night adopted a resolution urging federal government action to curb unrestricted purchases of meat and other food on this side of the border by residents of Detroit.

"We have here a city of 120,000 provisioned for 120,000 people and we can't provide for a city of millions," said Alderman Ernest Davenport.

The Windsor meat supply situation is becoming increasingly serious as a result of the influx of shoppers from the United States, said Alderman Thomas Brannagan. He said he had no objection to people from Detroit buying in Canada, but he did object to the fact that their purchases left Windsor short of stock.

PAN-AMERICAN DEFENSE PLAN APPEARS SAFE

System Goes Before World Security Council for Approval.

RUSSIA'S STAND IN DOUBT

Military Bases Formula Still Remains to Be Decided by Peace Conference.

San Francisco, May 16 (A. P.).—A United States plan guaranteeing to any group of United Nations the right to organize for collective defense goes before the world security conference today backed by enough votes to assure its eventual approval.

The plan is designed primarily to give the Pan-American defense system a strong and permanent position within the proposed world security organization.

Secretary of State Stettinius announced, on authority of President Truman, that the United States would invite the other American nations to negotiate a long-term mutual defense treaty following the conference here.

Formulation of the American plan, with the approval of virtually all the Latin-American States and most of the big powers—Russia remains to be heard from—puts this conference over one of its biggest hurdles.

Bases Chief Obstacles.

The greatest obstacle remaining, in the opinion of United States authorities, is the development of a formula for setting up international trusteeships that will allow the United States and other Powers to develop military bases they believe necessary to security.

This country is especially concerned about retaining Pacific bases captured from Japan. The British delegation last night received London approval of a tentative Anglo-American trusteeship formula. But on this, too, Russia remains to be heard from.

The Pan-American conference to draw up a long-term treaty to replace the wartime pact made at Mexico City in March probably will be held at Washington in November.

The heart of the United States proposal is that any group of nations has the right to plan collectively for its own defense so that if the projected world security council fails to prevent an armed attack on one of them all the others can go to its assistance.

Accept Formula.

Latin American leaders originally had wanted the hemisphere system exempted from control of the world council entirely. But yesterday they agreed to accept this formula, which keeps the authority of the council intact.

The United States formula was scheduled to go before a meeting of the conference committee on regional arrangements last night but was delayed. A sub-committee was called for today, with the prospect that it would pass over any formal action on the amendments until another full committee meeting tomorrow.

American officials said that the plan would not modify the status of the Monroe Doctrine as it has recently developed. They considered that at Mexico City in March, when the American States first created a mutual defense system, the concept of protecting this hemisphere against intrusion ceased to be an exclusive United States responsibility and became the joint responsibility of all the American nations. It was at that time that the doctrine underwent its greatest change. Many authorities contend that the other parts of the doctrine laid down by President Monroe 125 years ago, which provided that the United States should hold aloof from European affairs, was modified when the late President Roosevelt agreed at the Yalta conference to formal commitments giving this country a continuing responsibility in immediate post-war European settlements.

Now that the collective defense theory has been advanced with assurances of acceptance, fears of small nations about Big Power veto control of peace-keeping machinery apear to be vanishing.

Senator Vandenberg (R.-Mich.) yesterday submitted to a committee on powers of the assembly a Big-Five proposal designed to meet some, but not all, of the small nation demands for more power.

This would let the assembly recommend to the Security Council actions for maintaining peace and security, disarmament and armament control and call the council's attention to dangerous situations threatening peace. But it would not let the assembly take up a dispute on which the council was already working.

COMMITTEE VOTES TO STAND PAT ON 'BIG-POWER' RULE

Hammer Down Proposals of Small Nations for More Authority.

TRUSTEESHIP PROGRESS

Permanent Places in Security Council to Be Held by Big-Five.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—(AP) A United Nations conference committee voted today to stand pat on a big-power plan for enforcing peace through a compact security council of eleven member nations.

In the process, it hammered down in rapid-fire order a host of small and middle power proposals for more authority for themselves in this all-powerful agency of a proposed world organization.

But as the conference entered its fourth week, big and little countries were in substantial accord on most points, and the American delegation decided it was time to press for a speedy wind-up of the job of drafting a world charter.

Some progress was achieved on the biggest issue still before the conference—trusteeships—although whatever is decided about establishing guardianship for dependent or strategic areas of the world may turn out to be somewhat meaningless in individual cases.

The reason is that under present plans a country having a mandate left over from the last war, or one assigned a mandate at the peace table after this world conflict, would have the right to say whether the area should be brought under supervision of a new league.

Nevertheless, a conference committee accepted, as something on which it could go to work, an American-drafted combination of all the trusteeship ideas of the Big Five—France, Britain, China, Russia and the United States.

Any country, including the Big Five, can propose changes in it.

Four Major Points

The trusteeship system would be pegged to four fundamental points: 1. Maintenance of international security: 2. Maintenance of the security of the administering country; 3. Social, economic and political advancement of the native populations; 4. Safeguarding of the area's natural resources.

As a result of action in another committee, the composition of the security council will be what the four countries sponsoring the conference have recommended—subject, of course, to later approval by the entire conference.

It will have five permanent members—France plus the sponsors (China, Britain, Russia, America).

An all-nation general assembly will fill the six remaining seats, electing countries for two-year terms with due regard "to the contribution of members of the (world) organization towards the maintenance of international peace and security and towards the other purposes of the organization, and also to equitable geographical distribution."

Scrap Many Proposals

Before that set-up was approved, the committee scrapped a host of proposed changes. The most votes mustered by any amendment were the dozen lined up for a Canadian suggestion that the general assembly "adopt rules" for election of the half dozen non-permanent members of the council, while giving due weight only to contributions to peace and performance of their obligations to the United Nations.

Canada figured that any mention of geographical qualifications would work against her and Mexico, since they border on a permanent member—the United States.

Australia would have made any country ineligible for non-permanent seats unless it definitely had pledged itself to chip in on an international police force.

Mexico didn't want any permanent members of the council. Her idea was that the Latin state should be [illegible] nent members, serving for eight years, and that other Latin countries should have two of the six non-permanent seats.

While the committee balloting was going on, United States delegates ran off a series of meetings of their own during the day. They were ready to urge statesmen of other countries to vote as soon as possible on the bulky list of amendments offered to the Dumbarton Oaks plan for a world organization

Big Five's Trusteeship Plan

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16 (AP).—Following is the complete text of the United States-drafted combination of the trusteeships ideas of France, Britain, China, Russia and the United States, as accepted today as a working base by the United Nations Conference committee on trusteeships:

A. General policy.

1. States members of the United Nations which have responsibilities for the administration of territories inhabited by peoples not yet able to stand by themselves under the strenuous conditions of the modern world accept the general principle that it is a sacred trust of civilization to promote to the utmost the well-being of the inhabitants of these territories within the world community, and to this end:

(I) To insure the economic and social advancement of the peoples concerned;

(II) To develop self-government in forms appropriate to the varying circumstances of each territory; and

(III) To further international peace and security.

2. States members also agree that their policy in respect to such territories, no less than in respect to their metropolitan areas, must be based on the general principle of good-neighborliness, due account being taken of the interests and well-being of other members of the world community, in social, economic and commercial matters.

B. Territorial trusteeship system.

1. The organization should establish under its authority an international system of trusteeship for the administration and supervision of such territories as may be placed thereunder by subsequent individual agreements and set up suitable machinery for these purposes.

2. The basic objectives of the trusteeship system should be: (A) to further international peace and security; (B) to promote the political, economic and social advancement of the trust territories and their inhabitants and their progressive developments toward self-government in forms appropriate to the varying circumstances of each territory; and (C) to insure equal treatment in social, economic and commercial matters for all members of the United Nations, without prejudice to the attainment of (A) and (B) above ,and subject to the provisions of Paragraph 5 below.

3. The trusteeship system should apply only to such territories in the following categories as may be placed thereunder by means of trusteeship arrangements: (A) Territories now held under mandate; (B) territories which may be detached from enemy states as a result of this war; and (C) territories voluntarily placed under the system by states responsible for their adminisration. It would be a matter for subsequent agreement as to whether territories would be brought under a trusteeship system and upon what terms. The trusteeship system should not apply to territories which have become members of the United Nations.

4. The trusteeship arrangement for each territory to be placed under trusteeship should be agreed upon by the states directly concerned and should be approved as provided for in paragraphs 8 and 10 below.

5. Except as may be agreed upon in individual trusteeship arrangements placing each territory under the trusteeship system, nothing in this chapter should be construed in and of itself to alter in any manner the rights of any state or any peoples in any territory.

6. The trusteeship arrangements in each case should include the terms under which the territory will be administered and designate the state which should exercise the administration of the territory or designate the United Nations organization itself to exercise the administration of the territory.

7. In addition, there may also be designated, in the trusteeship arrangement, a strategic area or areas which may include part or all of the territory to which the arrangement applies.

8. All functions of the organization relating to such strategic areas, including the approval of the trusteeship arrangements and their alteration or amendment, should be exercised by the security council. The basic objectives as provided for in paragraph B 2 above should be applicable to the people of each strategic area. The security council may avail itself of the assistance of the trusteeship council provided for in paragraph 11 below to perform those functions of the organization under the trusteeship system relating to political, economic and social matters in the strategic areas, subject to the provisions of the trusteeship arrangements.

9. It shall be the duty of the state administering any trust territory to insure that the territory shall play its part in the maintenance of international peace and security. To this end the state shall be empowered to make use of volunteer forces, facilities and assistance from the territory in carrying out the obligations undertaken by the state for the security council in this regard and for local defense and the maintenance of law and order within the territory.

10. The function of the organization with regard to trusteeship arrangements for all areas not designated as strategic should be exercised by the general assembly.

11. In order to assist the general assembly to carry out those functions under the trusteeship system not reserved to the security council, there should be established a trusteeship council which would operate under its authority. The trusteeship council should consist of specially qualified representatives, designated (a) one each by the states administering trust territories, and (b) one each by an equal number of other states named for three-year periods by the general assembly.

12. The General Assembly, and under its authority, the trusteeship council, in carrying out their functions, should be empowered to consider reports submitted by the administering state to accept petitions and examine them in consultation with the administering state, to make periodic visits to the respective territories at times agreed upon with the administering state, and to take other action in conformity with the trusteeship arrangements.

13. The administering authority in each trust territory within the competence of the General Assembly should make an annual report to the General Assembly upon the basis of a questionnaire formulated by the trusteeship council.

Jews Blame Britain For No Frisco Seat

San Francisco, May 16 (AP)—The British Government was blamed today by the World New Zionist Organization for preventing Jewish representation at the United Nations conference.

Speaking for the organization, Major William R. Friedman told a news conference:

"Responsibility for the fact that the Jews are not represented at the San Francisco conference must be laid entirely at the door of the British Government, and is part of a deliberate and calculated policy to prevent the Jewish people from developing positions which would strengthen their claims to Palestine.

'Imperialistic Policy'

"It is Britain's imperialistic policy with regard to Palestine and the entire Middle East that stands in the way of Jewish national rehabilitation and the solution of the Jewish problem."

Friedman said his organization had suggested these proposals to the conference:

The British mandate over Palestine should be abolished and the country placed under the control of the United Nations.

For a period of no more than five years—during which the transfer of all homeless Jews to Palestine should be effected—Palestine should be placed under international guardianship of trustees appointed by the United Nations assembly, with the consent of the Jewish people.

Not later than the end of this five-year period, Palestine should be declared an independent Jewish state to be governed "on the basis of a democratic constitution guaranteeing equal rights to all citizens."

PRESIDENT WINS CONGRESS TEST ON TRADE PACTS

House Ways and Means Group Favors Giving Him Tariff Power.

COMMITTEE DIVISION 14 TO 11

Republicans Oppose Legislation Solidly—Measure Will Be Debated Next Week.

Washington, May 16 (A. P.).—The House Ways and Means Committee voted today to give the President new authority to reduce the tariffs in trade agreements with other nations.

The administration victory in the first major congressional test on post-war international legislation was by a vote of 14 to 11. Committeemen reported that all ten Republican members voted solidly against the legislation and were joined by one Democrat, Representative West of Texas.

The legislation, which has lined the two parties up on an ancient duelling ground, will go to the House floor for debate next Tuesday.

Representative Knutson (R.-Minn.), minority leader on the Ways and Means Committee, said after the committee's action: "The majority voted today to create unemployment when the war is over."

Republican Amendments Beaten.

He said the committee rejected, 14 to 11, Republican amendments that would have (1) stipulated court review privileges by any citizen who felt aggrieved by treaty provisions; (2) provided that no article shall be brought in at less than the cost of production in this country, and (3) given the Senate ninety days in which to exercise a veto over any trade treaty.

The Republican leader said: "We will make a better showing when the bill gets on the House floor."

The strong Democratic vote for the bill came as a surprise to some observers, as four Democrats had been regarded as doubtful by the administration. However, the party strength was organized at a caucus called by Chairman Doughton late yesterday.

President Plans Consolidation Of Agencies

Washington, May 16 (AP)—President Truman plans a sweeping Government reorganization to absorb independent agencies into regular departments.

Senators made this disclosure of the President's plans today.

These Senators, close to Mr. Truman when he served in the legislative branch, said the Chief Executive is moving slowly and that it may be weeks before the first steps become apparent.

The revisions will include Cabinet changes, possibly in Labor, Treasury and Justice.

On A Vertical Basis

One Senator, especially acquainted with Mr. Truman, said:

"The President always has believed that Government should operate on a vertical basis. He is an old army man accustomed to a logical chain of command.

"The Government operated on that basis for many years and it was the most effective."

Independent agencies mushroomed in the depression years as the Government stepped into new regulatory capacities.

Growing Demand

There has been a growing demand in Congress for established departments to take over the functions of these agencies, a demand in which Mr. Truman is said to be heartily in accord.

The principle upon which the President is said to base his programs to have one responsible head for each department, with supervisory and advisory duties spread out to a group of subordinate executives.

The streamlining idea, it was reported, would merge such agencies as OPA and WFA within the Agriculture Department. Banking duties all would wind up eventually in the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Action In Senate

In that connection, the Senate Banking Committee yesterday approved legislation transferring the functions of five subsidiary corporations to RFC.

Another agency that may be within RFC before long is the Rural Electrification Administration. It now is in agriculture, and the Senate passed a bill making it independent. But there are reports that the House leadership plans to transfer it to RFC. The Senate majority is not against that.

Administration Tariff Winner

Washington, May 16 (AP)—The House Ways and Means Committee voted today to give the President new authority to reduce tariffs in trade agreements with other nations.

The Administration victory in the first major congressional test on postwar international legislation was by a 14-to-11 vote.

Committeemen reported all ten Republican members voted solidly against the legislation and were joined by one Democrat, Representative West, of Texas.

The legislation, which has lined the two parties up on an ancient dueling ground, will go to the House floor for debate next Tuesday.

Knutson Criticizes Vote

Representative Knutson (R., Minn.), Ways and Means minority leader, said after the committee action "the majority voted today to create unemployment when the war is over."

Knutson said the committee rejected, 14 to 11, Republican amendments that would have:

1. Stipulated court review privileges by any citizen who felt aggrieved by treaty provisions;
2. No article shall be brought in at less than cost of production in this country, and
3. The Senate should have 90 days in which to exercise a veto over any trade treaty.

The Republican leader said: "We will make a better showing when the bill gets on the House floor."

Strong Majority Surprising

The strong Democratic vote for the bill came as a surprise to some observers, as four Democrats had been regarded as doubtful by the Administration. However, the party strength was organized at a caucus called by Committee Chairman Doughton (D., N.C.) late yesterday.

The measure would extend the 1934 Reciprocal Trade Act for three years, with an amendment giving the President authority to trim tariffs up to 50 per cent of January 1, 1945 rates.

POLL TAX PETITION MAY FORCE VOTE

MAY 17 1945

Washington, May 16 (A. P.).—Signatures of fourteen members are all that stand today between the House and its biennial poll tax battle.

They are expected to be affixed by week's end to a petition to force floor action on the controversial legislation outlawing poll tax payment as a prerequisite to voting in elections at which Federal offices are at stake.

Disclosing that the signature of 204 members already have been obtained, Representative Bender (R.-Ohio) predicted the remaining fourteen would be obtained by the end of this week. At least eleven members who have not yet signed the petition, Mr. Bender said, have promised to do so.

There will be no difficulty getting the other three, he said in an interview, and even southern leaders conceded Mr. Bender was right. Seven southern States require a poll tax—Alabama, Arkansas, Mississippi, Texas, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia.

Under House rules, the earliest the legislation could be considered would be May 28, and that is the day, he asserted, on which he will demand action.

Reconversion Data Given

Washington, May 16 (AP)—The automobile industry says it will need eight months after its war contracts are canceled to build enough passenger cars to make money. Its output then would be at a rate of 2,000,000 cars a year.

Reporting today on a reconversion survey of 72 major industries, the War Production Board said the auto makers figured fifteen months as the period needed to hit full postwar stride—presumably 6,000,000 cars a year. This would be nearly 2,000,000 more than were turned out in any prewar year.

72 Industries Consulted

All 72 of the industries consulted—now turning out war and essential civilian goods at a $14,000,000,000 annual clip, estimated their full-scale postwar output at around $10,000,000,000. To break even, financially, WPB said, they will have to get production up to $5,200,000,000 annually.

For such a production rate $36,348,000 worth of construction will be required for plant expansion and reconversion alterations, the survey showed, and for "all-out" production a total of $234,664,000.

Priority Aid Promised

WPB has agreed to grant priority aid for construction and machine tools necessary to achieve the "break-even" production rate.

The industries' bill for bottleneck machine tools and equipment which must be provided to prevent delay in reconversion was estimated at $61,582,000. The cost of

Bill Asks Shift In Succession To Presidency

Monroney Measure Would Make Speaker of House Third in Line for Post

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—Congres was urged by one of its members today to pass a law making the Speaker of the House third man in the order of Presidential succession.

Under the present law, the Chief Executive passes to the Secretary of State in the event both the President and Vice-President should die or become unable to serve.

Declaring there are "glaring loopholes in our present succesion machinery," Representative A. S. Mike Monroney, Democrat, of Oklahoma, introduced legislation to create a twelve-member commission to study all the problems relating to the Presidential chair and recommended a fixed order of succession.

In the mean while, his bill provides that the Speaker resign from Congress and be sworn as President in the event death or disability should strike both the President and the Vice-President.

"That would keep the Presidency in the hands of a man elected by the people," Representative Monroney said.

In the event the House was not in session at the time the Presidency became vacant a second time, the President pro tem of the Senate would become Chief Executive only long enough for the House to convene and elect a Speaker. The latter would promptly resign and take over the White House.

Representative Monroney recommended that the study commission be composed of four Supreme Court justices, four Presidential appointees, two Senators and two Representatives and that it report to Congress by July 1, 1946.

In addition to recommending the order of Presidential succession, the group also would:

1. Define Presidential disability, and decide who shall say whether a President is unable to serve. Now the President himself is the only judge of his ability to perform the duties of his office.

2. Consider changes in the methods of electing Presidents with the possible abolition of the Electoral College.

3. Decide who would be President should both the President and Vice-President be unable to take office on Inauguration Day.

QUICK TRIALS OF NAZI CRIMINALS SOUGHT BY U.S.

American Prosecutors Named, Await Action of Russia, Britain.

WASHINGTON, May 16 — (AP) The United States signified today that it is anxious to get started on sorting out of the Axis culprits who will be tried for European war crimes before an international court.

It has named its top prosecutors and the White House expressed hope that Great Britain, Russia and France will appoint theirs as soon as possible.

Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, recently designated by President Truman as this country's chief war crimes prosecutor, announced selection of three assistants: Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, Sidney S. Alderman and Francis M. Shea.

Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, voicing the White House hope that the other Allied powers would appoint their prosecutors soon, added in a statement:

"In the opinion of our government, the determination of who are the top criminals to be tried, by an international court should be left to the prosecuting lawyers."

The difference between the trial body yet to be created and the War Crimes Commission now sitting in London was noted by Ross as it was earlier by President Truman in announcing Jackson's appointment.

Ross explained that the present war crimes group is sitting as a sort of grand jury returning indictments against suspects. The international tribunal being formed will try only the major criminals, he said, those like Goering and Himmler, whose crimes have no particular geographical location.

"Most of those indicted," he said, "will, under the terms of the Moscow agreement, be returned to the country where the crime was committed."

Donovan, a lawyer-soldier who has been a government trouble shooter intermittently since the Coolidge administration, presently is chief of the highly secret Office of Strategic Services.

1946 OUTPUT MAY RISE TO TWO MILLION

Board Official Says Big Production Will Come In Last 3 Months

Washington, May 16 (AP)—A good prospect for 200,000 passenger cars in the latter months of this year was held out today by the War Production Board after conferences with manufacturers.

Output probably will climb to 400,000 cars for the first three months of 1936, Henry P. Nelson, WPB's automobile reconversion chief, told a news conference.

This compares with about 4,000,000 produced in 1941, the last prewar year.

Nelson said the prospective production rate, recommended by the industry, is based on the current supply outlook. He could not estimate when manufacturers will get a go ahead on production, but said it will not come before July 1.

Prefer To Develop Substitutes

Car producers have decided, Nelson reported, that they do not want to wait until adequate materials are assured. They prefer, he said, to depend on their ingenuity to develop substitutes and are confident this can be done without lowering the quality of cars.

The industry and WPB are in agreement, Nelson stated, that it would not be wise to wait until the materials situation has cleared up entirely.

This decision, he added, is based on recognition that serious unemployment might develop in Detroit and other car-production centers if resumption of automobile manufacture were delayed too long.

"There is universal understanding," Nelson said, "that something must be done to release passenger cars at as early a date as possible."

Heavy Output Late In Year

He said there may be a few cars produced this summer, but that most of the output expected this year will come in October, November and December.

Nelson reported also that trucks, particularly lightweight units, are going to be "pushed ahead" of passenger cars in the reconversion schedules.

Nelson disclosed, too, that WPB will revoke all limitations on production of repair parts in a few days. This is to help keep on the road as many old cars as possible until output of new ones reaches mass production volume.

George Romney, managing director of the Automotive War Council, said the new cars "are going to be different from 1942 models."

Revokes Control On 1,200 Items

WPB also revoked its controls on an array of civilian products ranging from golf clubs and juke boxes to house trailers, but gave manufacturers no metal to make them.

One sweeping action expunged controls on 1,200 of the commonest civilian items, while the juke-box revocation also released pinball machines, coin-operated amusement devices and the so-called "one-armed bandits"—slot machines for gaming.

The omnibus order dropped from the WPB books has been a keystone of its controls for almost three years. It forbade the use of iron and steel—and thus in most cases ended production—of 400 types of goods embracing some 1,200 individual products.

Some Products Covered

It covered coat hangers, bath tubs, compacts, flashlight tubes, laundry trays, ice-cream freezers, house numbers, parking meters, automatic pencils, match boxes, mop wringers, pie plates, shower stalls, ice and roller skates, and a host of other familiar things.

When the order, known throughout industry by its official designation "M-126," was issued by former WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson, along with a curtailment of civilian construction, he said the actions together would "change the face of American industry."

The revocation has that effect only potentially. Until WPB's announced creation next July 1 of an uncontrolled pool of steel, copper and aluminum for civilian use, manufacturers must get along with such idle, surplus, or second-hand steel as they can find.

Revocation Planned Before

WPB previously has been on the verge of revoking "M-126" during temporary lulls in war demand for steel, but the military reverses of last winter resulted instead in materials controls being clamped on even more tightly.

The publishing industry will benefit from two more revocations, one lifting restrictions on the manufacture of new printing machinery and the other removing limits on the amount of copper and zinc which may be used in producing printing plates.

WPB will not make a policy of granting priority aid for printing machinery except in unusual cases, it was stated. It probably will take eight or nine months to provide printing items that have been discontinued completely.

Material Restraints Still On

Similar warnings that improved production cannot be expected immediately—in most cases not until after materials restraints are removed on July 1 — accompanied other revocations. They included:

Removal of the ban which prohibited manufacture of golf clubs except for the Army, Navy and Veterans Administration; WPB warned golfers not to expect new clubs soon.

Revocation of controls on production and sale of house trailers and expansive mobile houses. The latter are trailer-type dwellings with collapsible sections which permit expansion when the unit is stationary.

Special Warnings Given

Cancellation of the rules regulating manufacture of jacks, whether operated mechanically, electrically, hydraulically or by air.

Special warnings accompanied the revocation of "M-126." Some of the items were regulated by orders other than the omnibus measure and a few of these have not been lifted. In addition, WPB said, the controls on stainless steel, which formerly were included in the order, are continued, having been incorporated in another regulation.

WPB LIFTS BARS ON JUKE BOXES AND GOLF CLUBS

MAY 17 1945

Government, However, Fails to Allow Concerns Metal to Make Them.

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(AP) WPB today revoked its controls on an array of civilian products ranging from golf clubs and juke boxes to house trailers, but gave manufacturers no metal to make them.

One sweeping action expunged controls on 1,200 of the commonest civilian items, while the juke box revocation also released pinball machines, coin-operated amusement devices and the so-called "one-armed bandits"—slot machines for gaming.

The War Production Board simultaneously predicted manufacture of 200,000 passenger cars late this year with output rising to 400,000 in the first three months of 1946 and reaching an annual rate of 2,000,000.

The automobile industry advisory committee, meeting here today, recommended the 200,000 figure for this year and Henry P. Nelson, coordinator of reconversion for the industry, said it looked like "a pretty good approach."

Bar Steel-Iron Use

The omnibus order dropped from the WPB books has been a keystone of its controls for almost exactly three years. It forbade the use of iron and steel—and thus in most cases ended production—of 400 types of goods embracing some 1,200 individual products.

It covered coat hangers, bath tubs, compacts, flashlight tubes, laundry trays, ice cream freezers, house numbers, parking meters, automatic pencils, match boxes, mop wringers, pie plates, shower stalls, ice and roller skates, and a host of other familiar things.

When the order, known throughout industry by its official designation "M-126," was issued by former WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson along with a curtailment of civilian construction, he said the actions together would "change the face of American industry."

The revocation has that effect only potentially. Until WPB's announced creation next July 1 of an uncontrolled pool of steel, copper and aluminum for civilian use, manufacturers must get along with such idle, surplus, or second-hand steel as they can find.

WAR COMMITTEE STUDYING CURTISS

Washington, May 16 (A. P.).—Senator Mead (D.-N. Y.) announced today that the Senate War Investigating Committee, of which he is chairman, has conducted a preliminary examination into charges concerning the Curtiss-Wright Corporation airplane plant at Buffalo and now is obtaining additional information.

Senator Langer (R.-N. D.), in repeated speeches on the Senate floor, has charged that defective planes were "okayed by production and inspection departments" at the Buffalo factory and turned over to the Army. Senator Mead issued the following statement:

"The committee has carefully considered the report of its chief investigator, who made a preliminary investigation into the charges concerning the Curtiss-Wright Corporation airplane plant at Buffalo, N. Y. The committee's investigator spent approximately two weeks interviewing witnesses at Buffalo, inspecting records and looking through the plant.

"On the basis of the investigator's report, the committee concluded that certain additional information is necessary before final determination can be made concerning the committee's next steps. This information includes a check of the accident record of the Curtiss planes built at the Buffalo plant and of the accident records of comparable aircraft under comparable conditions. This has been requested of the War Department and will be available in the near future.

"The committee also desires to await the result of an inspection now being made of the plant by the War Department. It has been the committee's practice, where the procurement agency involved has instituted such an investigation, to wait a reasonable time for its findings and action. The committee is informed that the War Department investigation is proceeding expeditiously.

"On the conclusion of these phases of the investigation the committee will determine its own further action."

White House Promises Fullest Possible News

Specific Day May Be Fixed for Weekly Press Conference

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—The White House said today that President Truman had given his full approval to a news policy calling for the complete flow of all possible information to the press and radio.

Charles G. Ross, the President's new press secretary, told his morning news conference: "There is going to be from this office, with the full approval of President Truman, the fullest possible flow of information to the press and radio."

Mr. Ross told reporters that he planned to answer all the questions that he could and that he would say so when he didn't have the information or couldn't disclose it.

Mr. Ross added that to the very fullest extent possible the news would be given out through the press secretary's office, and that "every effort will be made to give everybody a square deal."

He said there had been no change in the President's plans to hold a Presidential news conference once a week. Mr. Ross said he would look into the question of fixing a specific day each week for these conferences if a poll of today's reporters indicated that prevailing sentiment favored that course.

Previously, the President has called his conferences when he has had important news to disclose.

Mr. Ross also said he would try to see that advance notices of the President's conferences are given. Yesterday's conference was announced only a little more than an hour in advance.

Urges Truman to Aid Ending OWI

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Representative Rankin of Mississippi asked President Truman today to recommend abolition of the Office of War Information. In a House speech he said the entire country was "applauding President Truman's action of yesterday in setting down on OWI" by reversing the controlled news policy for Germany which had been announced by the director, Elmer Davis. "The time has come when we should pay attention to our military leaders and not a lot of flannel - mouthed propagandists," Mr. Rankin said.

New Testament for Truman

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—Representative Augustus W. Bennet, Republican, of New York, presented to President Truman today a pocket edition of the New Testament. Representative Bennet told reporters that he acted for the Pocket Testament League, of New York.

Snyder Reports On RFC Loan To Britain

Washington, May 16 (AP)—John W. Snyder, Federal Loan Administrator, reported today on the status of th e$390,000,000 which Great Britain borrowed from the RFC to pay for prelend-lease war purchases in this country.

Through April 30, the Reconstruction Finance Corporation had received payments totaling $160,278,569. Of this, $111,976,077 has been applied as principal, $32,842,488 as interest, and $15,460,004 is held in reserve accounts.

The total amount came from the collateral securing the loan. Interest, dividends and other income from this collateral produced $142,933,923 of it and the rest was the proceeds of the sale by Britain of a small amount of the collateral.

The loan was authorized in 1941 in the amount of $425,000,000, but only $390,000,000 has been disbursed. The collateral consists of securities of American corporations, the capital stock of 41 British-owned insurance companies in this country and assignment of the earnings of the American branches of British insurance companies.

Biddle Says Government Is 'Stymied' in Coal Strike

All Efforts Fail to Get Miners Back to Work

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—Attorney General Francis Biddle conceded today after a talk with President Truman that the government was "stymied" in efforts to get striking hard-coal miners back to work.

The President yesterday said flatly, however, that the government would take whatever steps were necessary to get the coal out of Pennsylvania's idle mines.

Mr. Biddle, the government chief enforcement officer, reiterated what he told newsmen last week, that no violations of the Smith-Connally war labor disputes act had been discovered in the eastern Pennsylvania coal field since the strike started May 1.

Operations were halted when the old cantract between John L. Lewis's United Mine Workers and operators expired April 30 without extension of the agreement despite an order by the National War Labor Board.

Solid Fuels Administrator Harold L. Ickes took over the mines May 3, directing the 72,000 miners to return to work May 7. They did not go back and Mr. Lewis has remained silent. Negotiations toward a new contract, started in New York April 4, are deadlocked over Lewis's demand for $1,50 a day underground travel time.

KNUTSON ASKS NLRB INQUIRY

MAY 17 1945

Accuses Board Of Favoring CIO In Decisions

Washington, May 16 (AP)—An investigation of the National Labor Relations Board was demanded in Congress today by Representative Knutson (R., Minn.), ranking members of the Ways and Means Committee.

Knutson introduced a resolution to authorize the House Speaker to name five legislators to a select committee to study NLRB's record "in handling labor disputes, labor elections and other activities." He has accused NLRB of favoring the CIO.

The Minnesotan particularly criticized NLRB decisions which he said barred employés away in the armed forces from participating in collective - bargaining elections, terming such a stand "indefensible."

"Used As A Cat's-Paw

"There are probably several million similarly situated employés now in the service and they most assuredly should be permitted to have a voice in determining who is to represent them in bargaining with their employer," Knutson said.

"There is a general feeling that the NLRB has permitted itself to be used as a cat's-paw by certain labor interests."

Knutson read a statement he said had been made by Robert A. Olson, president of the Minnesota State Federation of Labor, and George W. Lawson, secretary, contending that NLRB had "twisted the Wagner Act into a CIO recruiting agency and should be investigated."

Ceased To Be Fair

"It has been the contention of the AFL for many months," this statement quoted by Knutson continued, "that the NLRB has ceased to be a fair, impartial Government agency, has favored the CIO and virtually forced employés to accept CIO conditions or else."

The statement charged NLRB had "tried every means it could to force a group of workmen to join a union in which they had no interest" in connection with a dispute at St. Paul breweries. Knutson also criticized NLRB's methods of handling a dispute at the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company, St. Paul.

RUBBER QUOTA IS SET BY RRC

Synthetic Production Mark for 1945 Is Milhon Tons.

St. Louis, May 16 (A. P.).—The synthetic rubber industry must produce 124 per cent of the overall rated capacity of the nation's plants for 1945 and 145 per cent for 1946 to meet demands of the armed services, civilian uses and for export purposes.

These figures were presented today by S. T. Crossland, Washington, executive vice-president of the Rubber Reserve Company, a subsidiary of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, before a safety conference attended by rubber company representatives.

He asserted that 1,000,000 long tons of synthetic rubber will be required for this year and 1,000,000 tons for 1946.

"Notwithstanding the application of drastic conservation measures and acceleration of conversion to the use of synthetic rubbers, the total stock of natural rubber in the United States on December 31, 1942, was reduced from 422,714 long tons to 139,594 long tons on December 31, 1943," Crossland said. "At the beginning of this year our stock of natural rubber had dropped to 93,650 long tons.

"Between June, 1942, and May 1 of this year the amount of synthetic rubber produced for the account of the Rubber Reserve Company in Government-owned facilities totaled 1,211,125 tons. Of that amount 3,599 tons were produced in 1942; 207,864 tons in 1943, and 737,092 tons in 1944. Production in the first four months of this year totaled 296,045 long tons.

"The synthetic rubber production in the Government's program already has attained a rate which far exceeds the total annual quantity of natural rubber ever consumed in this country prior to the war.

"It is now being relied upon to produce in the future at a rate which exceeds the total annual quantity consumed in the entire world during any one of the ten years preceding the war."

Gen. Donovan Named To War Crimes Staff

MAY 17 1945

Washington, May 16 (AP)—Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan, chief of the highly secret Office of Strategic Services, will help prosecute Europe's war criminals.

Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson, designated by President Truman as this country's chief war crimes prosecutor, today announced the selection of Donovan and two other top assistants:

Sidney S. Alderman, general solicitor for the Southern Railway, and Assistant Attorney General Francis M. Shea, both of Washington.

Jackson's announcement, issued by the War Department, referred to the three as "experienced trial lawyers."

Called "Mystery Man"

Donovan, a Congressional Medal of Honor winner in World War I as leader of the famous "Fighting 69th," long was referred to as the "mystery man" of World War II. The title grew out of his extensive European travels in 1940-41 and the hush-hush air surrounding OSS.

Returning from one trip abroad in the summer of 1940, he said he had been looking into the technique of the Nazi Fifth Column. The following spring he visited England, the Balkans and the Near East.

In July, 1941, President Roosevelt named Donovan Co-ordinator of Information bearing on the defense program. From there he took over OSS. Now 62, he was an assistant attorney general in the Coolidge administration.

Jackson, in announcing the appointments, said he was setting up only a small staff "because of the work already going on in Government departments on the subject of war crimes."

"This staff," the announcement added, "includes personnel familiar with the problems and the available data, and the selections were made in furtherance of Justice Jackson's determination that the trials of the leading war criminals must be held without delay."

Alderman, 52-year-old native of Greensboro, N.C., served overseas as a captain in the last war and spent four months after the armistice in graduate study at Sorbonne University in Paris. He has been granted leave by the Southern Railway.

Had Been Legal Specialist

The 39-year-old Shea, who was born at Manchester, N.H., has been an Assistant Attorney General since 1939 in charge of the claims division. He previously served as a specialist in the legal division of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Jackson also announced appointment of Navy Lieutenants James B. Donovan and Gordon Dean, both of Washington, as members of his staff.

Lieutenant Donovan, no relation to the general, is OSS general counsel. Dean was a special assistant to Jackson when he was Attorney General.

Hopes Other Powers Will Act

The White House expressed hope that the other Allied powers would appoint their prosecutors "as soon as possible." Charles G. Ross, newly appointed presidential press secretary, issued this statement:

"In the opinion of our Government, the determination of who are the top criminals to be tried by an international court should be left to the prosecuting lawyers, and the United States has appointed as its lawyer, Mr. Justice Jackson, of the United States Supreme Court.

"It hopes the other three powers —Great Britain, Russia and France —will appoint theirs as soon as possible."

Sort Of A Grand Jury

Ross, as the President also has done in naming Jackson, pointed to the difference between the tribunal yet to be created and the War Crime Commission now sitting in London.

The secretary explained that the commission is sitting as a sort of grand jury returning indictments.

Most of those indicted will, under terms of the Moscow agreement, be returned to the country where the crime was committed."

He said the international tribunal being formed would try only the major criminals—those whose crimes have no particular geographical localization like Himmler and Goering.

3 Generals Aboard Captured Nazi Sub

Jap-Bound U-Boat Surrenders to Yanks in Atlantic.

WASHINGTON, May 16 — (AP) A huge German submarine, Japan-bound with three Luftwaffe generals, surrendered Sunday to a U. S. destroyer escort, the Navy revealed today in a stirring account of the long and victorious battle of the Atlantic.

Capture of the big craft 500 miles east of Newfoundland was announced simultaneously with a disclosure that Japanese subs have been prowling the Atlantic and that one was sunk off Iceland last summer.

Admiral Jones Ingram, Atlantic fleet commander, made the announcements at a "now it can be told" news conference.

In addition to the three Luftwaffe major generals aboard the 1,600-ton German submarine, Ingram said, the boarding party found the bodies of two Japanese who had committed hari kari just before the surrender. The submarine also carried German aviation plans and equipment, Admiral Ingram said.

First Naval district headquarters at Boston said the submarine, the U-234, is expected to arrive at the Portsmouth, N. H., Navy Yard, Saturday.

The victorious conclusion of the battle of the Atlantic, which whipped the German submarine menace and had a major share in turning the tide of the European war permitted these further disclosures.

1. The U. S. Navy sank at least 126 German U-boats during the war.

2. The Nazi submarine U-505 was captured intact off French West Africa last June by the crew of the baby carrier Guadalcanal, the first U. S. Navy capture of a foreign enemy warship on the high seas since the War of 1812.

3. Admiral Ingram, who warned of the possibility of German buzz bomb attacks on the East coast last winter, declared today "I don't take back a word I said," although no attacks materialized.

Admiral Ingram said two Japanese submarines were known to be operating in the Atlantic last summer. One was damaged but got away. Later another was found destroyed south of Iceland and was identified by articles which came to the surface.

The admiral said he was confident the number of U-boats sunk far exceeded the 126 officially credited, adding with a chuckle that Washington would not give them credit "unless we bring in a German ear pickled in alcohol."

Including sinkings by the Allies, he said, the Germans list more than 500 submarines in the battle of the Atlantic.

He estimated the German U-boat fleet reached a peak of 450 by March 1, 1945.

Intercepted Wolfpack

Only three weeks before Germany surrendered, he said, a "formidable wolfpack" of U-boats was intercepted and "badly mauled by one of the most powerful forces of carriers and destroyer escorts ever to operate in the mid-Atlantic.

"From prisoners," he said, "we learned that this pack had orders to blanket the East coast from Maine to Florida. We sank five U-boats in this blitz of the Nazis."

He revealed that only 24 hours before Germany surrendered a U-boat was sunk off Block Island. Another was sunk south of Nova Scotia in mid-April and another probable was claimed off Cape Hatteras just two weeks before the surrender.

in Washington we have to bring in a German ear pickled in alcohol."

The conference also revealed the story of Capt. Daniel V. Gallery, commanding officer of the baby flat top Guadalcanal, who in June 4, 1944, hunted down, attacked, boarded, and captured intact the Nazi submarine U-505, 150 miles west of the French West African coast.

A 'First' Since War of 1812.

The submarine was towed 2,500 miles to the Bermuda naval operating base, and marked the first time since the War of 1812 that a foreignenemy man of war was captured on the high seas by the United States Navy.

Admiral Ingram noted that only twenty-four hours before Germany surrendered a U-boat was sunk off Block Island.

"We also got another sub south of Nova Scotia in the middle of April," he said. "And we had a probable kill off Cape Hatteras just two weeks before the surrender."

Admiral Ingram said Japanese submarines have been operating in the Atlantic and one was sunk late last summer just south of Iceland. He said it was identified by flotsam which rose to the surface.

Admiral Ingram recalled how he "shot off his mouth" some months ago about the possibility of buzz bomb attacks on the East Coast and added vigorously, "I don't take back a word I said."

The reason such attacks did not materialize from specially equipped U-boats, he said, was because the Atlantic Fleet was hounding them down with four carriers and seventy-five destroyers and none was able to get through.

The large submarine which surrendered Sunday about 500 miles east of New Foundland also contained the bodies of two dead Japanese who apparently had just committed hara kiri before the Navy capture crew boarded her.

U-boat Taken on Way to Japan

U. S. Navy Reveals Surrender of Big Craft Carrying Luftwaffe Officers.

MAY 17 194

Washington, May 16 (A. P.).—A giant 1,600-ton German submarine carrying three German Luftwaffe officers and aviation plans and equipment and which was headed for Japan surrendered Sunday in the Atlantic.

Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commander of the Atlantic Fleet, revealed the U-boat's surrender today in line with a general lifting of the secrecy which has surrounded the battle of the Atlantic against submarines since the start of the war.

Admiral Ingram told a news conference that from the time of our entry into the war "we know definitely that we sink 126 U-boats, most of them far from our shore." Including those sunk by the British Fleet, he said, the total German U-boat losses exceeded 500.

He said he was personally confident that United States Navy sinkings far exceeded the 126 with which it was credited, but, he added with a laugh, "in order for us to get credit from these guys

10-Year-Battery Withholding Is Laid To Firms

MAY 17 194

New York, May 16 (AP)—The Government today accused two of the nation's leading storage-battery manufacturers of withholding a long-life battery and said operation of American war equipment had been affected greatly as a consequence.

An anti-trust civil action filed by the Department of Justice in Federal court said the battery, known as the nickel-cadmium battery, had a reported ten-year life span, whereas average batteries last but three years.

Named in the complaint were the Electric Storage Battery Company, of Philadelphia, a New Jersey corporation, said by the Government to be the world's largest makers of electric storage batteries, and its wholly owned subsidiary, the Willard Storage Battery Company, of Cleveland, one of the largest manufacturers of storage batteries in the United States.

Used By Other Countries

The Justice Department said the defendants and coconspirators prevented manufacture in this country or the importation of the nickel-cadmium battery, used by German, French and English armed forces.

"Cadmium batteries," the complaint said, "have not been made, used or sold in this country and have not been used in the armed forces of the United States.

"As a result of the conspiracy herein alleged, the United States has had neither the commercial experience nor the manufacturing facilities necessary to determine the advantages of cadmium batteries over other batteries for commercial and military uses."

Cartel Agreements

The complaint said the defendants maintained international cartel agreements, dating back to 1891, to divide world markets and eliminate competition in the manufacture and sale of electric storage batteries.

Named in the suit as alleged coconspirators were:

Chloride Electrical Storage Company of London, which the Government described as the world's second largest manufacturer of electric storage batteries and said 49.77 per cent of its voting stock is held by Electric; Accumulatoren-Fabrik Aktiengeselischaft of Berlin, known as A.F.A. and described as the largest manufacturer of its type in Germany; and Exide Batteries of Canada, Toronto, described as a wholly owned subsidiary of Electric and as one of the largest manufacturers of its type in Canada.

Voiding Of Contracts Sought

The suit asked that the alleged contracts between the defendants and alleged co-conspirators be declared illegal and that the defendants be prevented from maintaining or carrying out any of the contracts described or any similar agreements; that Electric dispose of its holdings in Chloride Electrical and be prevented from exercising any influence or control of the English firm, and that Electric be prevented from continuing the use of trade-marks or trade names which the Government says Electric used to carry out the division of markets.

$160,278,569 Is Repaid On War Loan to British

Synder Reports on Status of Original $390,000,000 Grant

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—John W. Snyder, Federal Loan Administrator, reported today on the status of the $390,000,000 which Great Britain borrowed from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to pay for pre-lend-lease war purchases in this country.

Through April 30 the R. F. C. had received payments totaling $160,278,569. Of this, $111,976,077 has been applied as principal, $32,842,488 as interest and $15,460,004 is held in reserve accounts.

The total amount came from the collateral securing the loan. Interest, dividends and other income from this collateral produced $142,933,923 of it, and the rest was the proceeds of the sale by Britain of a small amount of the collateral.

The loan was authorized in 1941 in the amount of $425,000,000 but only $390,000,000 has been disbursed. The collateral consists of securities of American corporations, the capital stock of forty-one British-owned insurance companies in this country, and assignment of the earnings of the American branches of British insurance companies.

House Hearings Are Set For Oswego Refugees

MAY 17 194

DicksteinFavorsAllowingThem to Stay in U. S.

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—A House Immigration subcommittee will open hearings June 11 in Oswego, N. Y., to determine the future of foreign citizens now confined to the Fort Ontario Refugee Shelter, Representative Samuel Dickstein, Democrat, of New York, chairman, said today.

Representative Dickstein, observing that the camp is scheduled to close shortly, said that the refugees—numbering more than 950—should be permitted to remain in this country of they so desire.

"They do not wish to return to their native lands," Representative Dickstein said, "because many—in fact, most—have relatives in this country."

It is the New Yorker's contention that legal means for their permanent residence in the United States can be found by deducting their number from the immigration quotas of their native lands.

This would not affect existing quotats, he emphasized, nor would it indicate that "we are trying to smuggle them in."

Members of the committee, in addition to Representative Dickstein, include Representatives John Lesinski, Democrat, of Michigan; O. C. Fisher, Democrat, of Texas; Wat Arnold, Republican, of Missouri, and Edgar A. Sharp, Republican, of New York.

Lay-Offs Not Required In Rehiring of Veterans

W. M. C. Asserts Non-Veteran Replacements May Be Kept

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—Business firms under War Man-Power Commission employment ceilings can meet their obligation to rehire veterans without laying off non-veterans to compensate.

A War Man-Power Commission spokesman, so stating today, said that while the selective service law guarantees a service man his former job, there is nothing in man-power regulations requiring the discharge of workers who replaced these men.

This is true, he said, even in areas where limits are fixed of the number of workers individual plants may employ.

All veterans, the spokesman explained, are exempt from employment ceiling provisions. This means, he added, that besides veterans previously on its pay roll, a firm may hire any number of other discharged service men.

However, if a non-veteran later quits where a service man has been rehired, the plant's employment ceiling is automatically reduced by one worker. In effect, this means that the quitting power may not be replaced by non-veteran as long as the ceiling progrom is in froce.

Where more than one veteran has been hired, the ceiling would continue to be reduced each time a non-veteran quit while a plant's total number of workers was over the limit set.

MORE CIGARETTES SEEN FOR CIVILIANS

MAY 17 194

Manufacturers Forecast Improvement In Few Months

New York, May 16 (AP)—Cigarette manufacturers said today an improvement in the civilian supply could be expected within two to three months.

The most bearish comment came from the National Association of Tobacco Distributors: "The situation will ease during the rest of 1945, but civilians still will have to stand in line."

In Washington the Army and Navy announced that the armed forces will ration cigarettes, cigars and smoking tobacco at military and naval establishments and prisoner-of-war camps in the United States starting June 3.

6 Packages Per Week

Ration cards will enable military personnel, their dependents and authorized civilian employés to receive six packages of cigarettes or 24 cigars or four ounces of smoking tobacco weekly. War prisoners will get only tobacco.

Cigarette makers and other trade circles outlined the current supply situation like this:

Normally it takes three weeks for cigarettes to travel from the manufacturer through the distribution network to the customer.

But for the armed services in Europe this "pipeline" extended to from five to seven months—about three months' stocks in the United States, a month in transit and one to three months' inventories overseas.

Only One Pipeline

In the wake of V-E day the supply line is expected to be reduced considerably. A similar stream of cigarettes to the Pacific will be expanded, but this one already is established. The net effect is to change from two pipelines to one only.

The most recent burley crop set a new record and the 1944 fluecured tobacco yield was the second highest in history after the Government authorized a 20 per cent increase in acreage.

Good weather enabled farmers to hit the new peak. Although the tobacco must age two to four years, it will permit a slight increase in withdrawals of aged stocks now for making smokes.

A shortage of manpower recently has been a big factor in curtailing supplies for civilians. Now that cutbacks are showing up and the Army has announced that 2,000,000 men will be demobilized in the next year, cigarette output may be advanced by more help.

The smaller tobacco manufacturers reported that an increase of 5,000 workers in cigarette territory around Richmond, Louisville, Philadelphia and Winston-Salem, N.C., virtually could end the shortage in about 60 days. It said male mechanics especially were in demand.

Manufacturers still ration cigarettes to wholesalers—a system in effect since late 1943—but some sources expected this to be relaxed in the future. One large company said it still turned over 60 to 70 per cent of its output to the armed services.

Rations Coming On GI Smokes

Washington, May 16 (AP)—The armed forces will start rationing cigarettes, cigars and smoking tobacco at all military and naval establishments and prisoner-of-war camps in this country June 3.

Supplementing an earlier announcement by the War Department, the Navy said identical orders would be issued covering all Navy, Marine and Coast Guard Stations.

As announced by the War Department, military personnel, their dependents and authorized civilian employés will be allowed six packages of cigarettes, 24 cigars or four ounces of smoking tobacco weekly. Ration cards will be issued to all eligible persons.

Navy Orders

The Navy announced that orders covering the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard services are now being prepared and will be promulgated immediately.

Members of Italian service units will be limited to one half the amount allowed military personnel while prisoners of war may purchase only two ounces of smoking tobacco per week.

Swiss to Hand Over Nazi Property in U. S.

Washington, May 16 (A. P.).—Swiss Minister Charles Bruggmann called on Acting Secretary of State Grew yesterday to inform him that the Swiss legation was prepared to hand over all German premises, archives and property in this country as requested by the United States last week.

TO SECURE PHILIPPINES

Forrestal Says U. S. Is Negotiating for Strategic Areas

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Secretary Forrestal said today that the United States "will continue to bear responsibility for the security of the Philippines and will have to have bases and strategic areas supporting those bases to carry out that responsibility."

At a news conference he said negotiations "are now under way to that end."

Norweb Nomination Approved

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—The Senate Foreign Relations Committee approved today the nomination of R. Henry Norweb, of Ohio, to be Ambassador to Cuba. He has been Ambassador to Panama.

Printing Controls Lifted

W. P. B. Revokes Curbs on Production of Machinery

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—The War Production Board revoked today an order controlling production and delivery of printing trades machinery. The agency also removed limitations on the amounts of copper and zinc that manufacturers may use in producing printing plates.

Buyers of printing machinery now are free to accept delivery and manufacturers are free to deliver equipment without obtaining W. P. B. authorization.

The agency said, however, that it will be eight or nine months before items that have been completely out of production will be available. Manufacturers who have been engaged in limited production of other types of machinery must fill their present rated orders first.

Navy Clarifies Stand on Mailing

Washington, May 16 (A. P.).—Miniature overseas editions of newspapers and periodicals still may be mailed to Navy personnel overseas by individual friends or relatives, the Navy said today.

The Navy said that its recent order restricting mailing of periodicals and newspapers to overseas personnel does not apply to mailings of such miniature publications which may continue to be sent without a request from the man himself.

The restriction, effective July 1, applies only to mailings direct from the publisher. It prohibits publishers from mailing newspapers or periodicals except to fill a written request from a serviceman for a subscription or a renewal.

200,000 NEW CARS LIKELY THIS YEAR

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP) A good prospect for 200,000 passenger cars in the latter months of this year was held out today by the War Production Board after conferences with manufacturers.

Output probably will climb to 400,000 cars for the first three months of 1946, Henry P. Nelson, WPB's automobile reconversion chief, told a news conference.

This compares with about 4,000,000 produced in 1941, the last prewar year.

Nelson said the prospective production rate, recommended by the industry, is based on the current supply outlook. He could not estimate when manufacturers will get a Go Ahead on production, but said it will not come before July 1.

Car producers have decided, Nelson reported, that they do not want to wait until adequate materials are assurred. They prefer, he said, to depend on their ingenuity to develop substitutes and are confident this can be done without lowering the quality of cars.

He said there may be a few cars produced this summer, but that most of the output expected this year will come in October, November and December.

Nelson reported also that trucks, particularly lightweight units, are going to be "pushed ahead" of passenger cars in the reconversion schedules.

Nelson disclosed, too, that WPB will revoke all limitations on production of repair parts in a few days. This is to help keep on the road as many old cars as possible until output of new cars reaches mass production volume.

Some Medicine, Drug Radio Ads Criticized

Washington, May 16 (AP)—Radio advertisements for some drugs and medicines were criticized today by Representative Patterson (D., Cal.), but a Federal Trade Commission official said the FTC lacked funds adequately to police health advertising.

"Cut out two thirds of radio advertising in medicines and drugs and you will do a great service to the public," Patterson told Richard P. Whiteley, FTC assistant chief counsel.

"Most Sounds Phony"

"Most of it," Patterson added, "sounds phony."

Testifying before a House labor subcommittee investigating aid to the physically handicapped, Whiteley had reviewed FTC procedure against misleading advertising claims—"cures for whatever ails you"—and unfair trade practices in health and related products.

He said that despite an inadequately staffed division, the FTC is studying hundreds of thousands of advertisements annually to see if they contain false claims. Because of fund troubles, he said only the "most serious cases" can be marked for full investigation.

"A Vast Field Here"

"You don't seem to be making any headway from the noise we hear over the air," Patterson mourned. "There is a vast field here—if you had the funds."

The witness agreed.

Another FTC official, Henry Miller, director of the agency's trade practices conference, said 150 industry groups had joined with the FTC to formulate codes of ethics and to "clean up their own houses."

Prostitution Ban Is Renewed

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP).—President Truman today signed legislation extending until May 15, 1946, a 1941 law prohibiting prostitution in naval and military areas prescribed by the War and Navy Departments. The original law expired yesterday. Its extension was requested by both departments as necessary to make more effective agreements with state health authorities.

SIGHT-SEEING OUT ON TOUR

Senators Announce Program For European Inspection

Washington, May 16 (AP)—A six-man squad of the Senate War Investigating Committee, leaving soon for a European inspection trip, has requested the War Department to make "no plans for sight-seeing tours or formal entertainment."

Disclosing their request today, Committee Chairman Mead (D., N.Y.) announced a seven-point program for the mission. It will be asked to report upon:

1. The nature and amount of American supplies which have been shipped overseas to the European theater of operations.

2. The nature and cost of installations erected by or at the expense of this nation in Europe, and plans for the disposition of such facilities.

3. The plans for deployment of material now in the European theater of operations to the Pacific theater, and for occupation of conquered countries.

4. Plans for disposition of all material which will become surplus.

5. Transportation, shipping, loading and unloading of American supplies in the ETO.

6. Activities of civilian agencies, and particularly any confusion among them as to functions.

7. Arrangements for distribution of American supplies among civilian populations and plans for rehabilitation and reconstruction.

Senators assigned to the trip are Kilgore (D., W.Va.), Tunnell (D., Del.), Mitchell (D., Wash.), Brewster (R., Maine), Ball (R., Minn.) and Ferguson (R., Mich.).

DESTROYER ESCORT SUNK NEAR WAR'S END

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The recent sinking of the destroyer escort Frederick C. Davis by an enemy submarine in the Atlantic was announced by the Navy today. While the announcement did not disclose the exact date of the sinking, a Navy spokesman said it occurred "some days" before Germany's surrender.

Casualties among the ship's complement of about 200 were "heavy." The vessel's skipper, Lieut. James R. Crosby, son of Irving E. Crosby of Seattle, Wash., was reported missing in action.

The announcement raised to 308 the total of United States naval vessels of all types lost since the war began.

The Frederick C. Davis operated from April to September, 1944, in the Mediterranean area, engaging in anti-aircraft and anti-submarine work, as well as in traffic control and convoy escort. She took part in the Anzio and southern France invasion operations.

Built by the Consolidated Steel Corporation, Ltd., Orange, Tex., and commissioned July 14, 1943, she was named for Ensign Frederick C. Davis, killed in the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor, Dec. 7, 1941.

NAZI SUB CAPTURED INTACT LAST JUNE

WASHINGTON, May 16—(AP) One of the war's best kept secrets—how a German submarine was captured intact last June—was revealed today by Admiral Jonas H. Ingram, commander of the Atlantic fleet.

It was the first time the United States Navy had boarded and captured a foreign enemy naval vessel in battle on the high seas since the War of 1812.

An escort carrier task group, consisting of the baby flattop Guadalcanal and five destroyer escorts under command of Captain Daniel V. Gallery of Chicago and Vienna, Va., hunted down, attacked, boarded and captured the U-505, 150 miles west of Cape Blanco, French West Africa, June 4. The prize capture was towed 2,500 miles to the Bermuda naval operating base.

New York, May 16 (AP)—The Moscow radio broadcast today a message from Turkish Premier Sukru Saracoglu congratulating Premier Marshal Stalin on "the great victory of the heroic Soviet Army" over Germany.

Stephen Early Becomes Pullman Vice President

New York, May 16 (AP)—Stephen Early, secretary to the late President Roosevelt, has been elected a vice president of Pullman, Inc., it was announced today.

In making the announcement, David A. Crawford, Pullman president, said Early would assume his new duties on June 1. He will devote himself to the corporate and business functions of Pullman and of certain of its subsidiaries, including sales of the products of such subsidiaries.

From 1927 to the time he went to the White House with President Roosevelt on March 4, 1933, Early was the Washington representative for Paramount-Publix Corporation and Paramount News.

GENERAL DALTON KILLED

Dies in Pacific Action a Month After Promotion

ESSEX CENTER, Vt., May 16 (AP)—Brig. Gen. James L. Dalton, 35, assistant comamnder of the Twenty-fifth (Tropic Lightning) Infantry Division, has been killed in action, the War Department notified his widow tonight.

One of the youngest general officers in the Army ground forces, his promotion from colonel came only last month, twelve years after he was graduated from the Military Academy at West Point.

Holder of the Silver Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Bronze Star Medal for personally leading reconnaissance and combat patrols on Guadalcanal and New Georgia, he formerly commanded the 161st Regiment of the Twenty-fifth.

A son of Mrs. Gladys Dalton of Kennebunkport, Me., he was graduated from Naugatuck, Conn., High School in 1927.

His widow is the former Miss Katherine Starbird, a poet, daughter of Brig. Gen. and Mrs. A. A. Starbird of Jericho. Mrs. Dalton and their two daughters reside in Essex.

Naha Odds Bad: Japs

San Francisco, May 16 (AP)—Apparently trying to soften the blow of approaching defeat on Okinawa, the Japanese Domei news agency announced bitterly today that defenders of Naha, island capital, were "facing overwhelming odds."

American troops, said the radio dispatch, recorded here, are being continuously reinforced.

"Our garrison units are now putting up very stubborn resistance," the broadcast added.

A little sugar coating was added to the bitter pill in the claim that "at least two out of six" American divisions have been "destroyed."

TRAGEDY IN CHINA

San Francisco, May 16 (A. P.).—A great tragedy is in the making in China—tragedy that can be averted only by hundreds of shiploads of grain from her Allies, according to W. H. Donald, Australian-born adviser to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Donald arrived here yesterday among 254 civilians rescued from Japanese internment in the Philippines. He was freed from Santo Tomas prison camp by Gen. MacArthur.

En route from China when the Japanese struck, he was interned in Manila. He registered as William Donald, age 68, born in Scotland, retired. Though the Japanese searched everywhere for him but never discovered he was the man. That, he said, was because of their "fundamental stupidity."

4 Nazi Subs In U.S. Hands

[By the Associated Press]

With four German submarines now in American hands, the Navy today awaited word from an estimated ten to twenty more fugitive or missing Nazi undersea raiders still sailing in Atlantic waters.

Naval officials predicted a deadline would be set for the U-boats to give up and that those failing to run up the black flag of surrender would be hunted as pirates.

Will Shoot At Sight

Allied patrols, the Navy said, will shoot at sight if they encounter any submarine not flying the surrender flag.

Two Nazi submarines already are in United States ports, the U-858 at Cape May, N.J., and the U-805 in Portsmouth, N.H. Crews have been interned.

The U-1228 and the U-873 have yielded in the North Atlantic to American naval units and are heading for Portsmouth under escort.

350 On V-E Day

The Navy said its estimate of unaccounted submarines was based on the assumption that between 50 and 60 were prowling the Atlantic when Germany fell.

Eighteen U-boats have been brought into British ports and two into Canadian harbors. Others have surrendered to British warships and are en route to ports.

LONDON, THURSDAY, MAY 17-(AP)-DENYING PUBLISHED REPORTS THAT WILLY MESSERSCHMITT, ACE GERMAN PLANE DESIGNER, IS LIVING A "LIFE OF LUXURY" IN A LONDON FLAT, THE AIR MINISTRY SAID TODAY THAT HIS LIVING SCALE IS THAT OF AN ORDINARY NON-WORKING PRISONER OF WAR.

THE AIR MINISTRY ALSO SAID IT HAD "NO WORD" OF A DAILY EXPRESS REPORT OF A STRIKE AMONG 25 WAAFS (WOMEN'S ARMY AUXILIARY FORCE) WHO WERE WAITING TABLE AT THE RAF MESS WHERE MESSERSCHMITT AND MORE THAN 100 OTHER HIGH-RANKING GERMANS EAT DAILY.

THE AIR MINISTRY SAID MESSERSCHMITT SHARES A ROOM WITH TWO OTHER GERMAN PRISONERS AND ASSISTS IN CLEANING HIS ROOM AND MAKES HIS OWN BED.

THE DAILY MIRROR, IN AN ATTACK YESTERDAY ON "CODDLING" OF GERMAN WAR PRISONERS, SAID MESSERSCHMITT "IS HAVING A GRAND TIME IN LONDON--AT THE BRITISH TAXPAYERS' EXPENSE."

THIS STORY SAID THE 47-YEAR-OLD MESSERSCHMITT, A MEMBER OF HITLER'S WAR COUNCIL, HAD BEEN BROUGHT TO LONDON A MONTH AGO TO MAKE HIS TECHNICAL KNOWLEDGE AVAILABLE TO BRITISH AUTHORITIES.

"HE HAS A LUXURY FLAT IN ST.JOHN'S WOOD," THE MIRROR SAID. "HE GETS FREE SEATS AT WEST END SHOWS AND A CAR WHEN HE WANTS IT."

HOWEVER, A DAILY MAIL REPORTER WHO VISITED THE ST.JOHN'S BLOCK WHERE MESSERSCHMITT IS QUARTERED, SAID HIS ROOM HAS "NO CARPETS OR EASY CHAIRS. THE ONLY FURNISHINGS ARE A TRESTLE TABLE AND AN IRON BEDSTEAD WITH (BISCUITS' (ARMY BEDDING) FOR A MATTRESS."

THE DAILY MIRROR FOLLOWED WITH ANOTHER STORY ON MESSERSCHMITT THIS MORNING UNDER THE HEADLINE, "EARLY MORNING TEA FOR WILLY." THE PAPERS SAID AN RAF CORPORAL AWAKENS THE DESIGNER AT 8 A.M. EACH MORNING AND PROVIDES HIM AND HIS COMPANIONS WITH TEA IN BED, ADDING THAT "THE ATMOSPHERE IS THAT OF A FIRST CLASS HOTEL WITH RAF PERSONNEL AS BELLHOPS."

LONDON, MAY 16-(AP)-THE DAILY MIRROR, IN AN ATTACK ON THE SO-CALLED "CODDLING" OF GERMAN WAR PRISONERS, TODAY DECLARED THAT WILLY MESSERSCHMITT, ACE GERMAN PLANE DESIGNER, "IS HAVING A GRAND TIME IN LONDON--AT THE BRITISH TAXPAYERS' EXPENSE."

THERE WAS NO OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION OR DENIAL OF THE STORY WHICH SAID THAT THE 47-YEAR-OLD MESSERSCHMITT, A MEMBER OF HITLER'S WAR COUNCIL, WAS BROUGHT TO LONDON A MONTH AGO TO MAKE HIS TECHNICAL KNOWLEDGE AVAILABLE TO BRITISH AUTHORITIES.

"HE HAS A LUXURY FLAT IN ST.JOHN'S WOOD," THE MIRROR SAID. "HE GETS FREE SEATS AT WEST END SHOWS AND A CAR WHEN HE WANTS IT."

MESSERSCHMITT IS A SHARP-NOSED SANDY-HAIRED NATIVE OF AUGSBURG. HE BEGAN FLYING WHEN HE WAS 15 AND DESIGNED HIS FIRST PLANE IN 1916. IN 1923 HE FOUNDED THE MESSERSCHMITT FIRM, BEING ITS DIRECTOR AND CHIEF ENGINEER. HE BECAME CHAIRMAN OF THE GERMAN INSTITUTE FOR RESEARCH IN AVIATION IN 1936, AND RECEIVED THE GOLD MEDAL OF THE ASSOCIATION OF GERMAN ENGINEERS AND THE LILIENTHAL PRIZE FOR AVIATION RESEARCH THE FOLLOWING YEAR.

089 AMERICAN SOLDIERS DEBARKED THERE IN TWO AND A HALF YEARS, HEAD-QUARTERS OF THE UNITED KINGDOM BASE DISCLOSED TODAY.

BEFORE THE WAR GOUROCK WAS A QUIET LITTLE HAVEN FOR FISHING VESSELS AND COLLIERS. IT IS AN INLET OF THE FIRTH OF CLYDE. ITS LOCATION ON THE COMPARATIVELY SAFE NORTHERN ROUTE TO BRITAIN AND ITS NATURAL HARBOR DEFENSES MADE IT A STRATEGIC HARBOR FOR AMERICAN AND BRITISH TROOPSHIPS.

ITS APPROACHES WERE MINED AND NETTED AGAINST SUBMARINES AND SURROUNDING WATERS WERE PATROLLED BY PLANES. TROOP DEBARKATIONS BEGAN THEE MAY 11, 1942.

BETWEEN THAT DATE AND THE END OF 1944, 339 TROOPSHIPS AND LUXURY LINERS UNLOADED HUGE ARMIES AT GOUROCK. MUNICIPALLY OWNED FERRIES TRANSPORTED THE TROOPS FROM VESSELS TO THE SHORE. THE PEAK WAS IN JULY, 1944, WHEN 35 SHIPS ARRIVED WITH 97,373 SOLDIERS.

LONDON, MAY 16-(AP)-IN AN ATTEMPT TO SETTLE THE ITALIAN-YUGOSLAV DISPUTE OVER THE ADRIATIC PORT OF TRIESTE THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN GOVERNMENTS ARE NOW CONFERRING WITH YUGOSLAV REPRESENTATIVES, FOREIGN AFFAIRS UNDER-SECRETARY GEORGE HALL TOLD COMMONS TODAY.

IN ROME THE ALLIED NAVAL COMMAND IN AN OFFICIAL STATEMENT SAID BRITISH AND AMERICAN NAVAL UNITS WERE OPERATING IN THE TRISTE AREA "IN THE COURSE OF THEIR NORMAL DUTIES." THE COMPOSITION OR STRENGTH OF THE UNITS WERE NOT GIVEN.

THE STATEMENT WAS ISSUED FOLLOWING PUBLISHED REPORTS IN ROME NEWSPAPERS THAT ALLIED WARSHIPS HAD BEEN RUSHED TO THE ADRIATIC PORT BECAUSE OF THE TENSE SITUATION WHICH AROSE AFTER THE YUGOSLAVS ANNOUNCED THEIR INTENTION TO TAKE CONTROL OF THE CITY AND ADJACENT AREAS OF THE VENEZIA-GIULIA PROVINCE, AND HOLD THEM.

ITALY TOOK TRIESTE FROM AUSTRIA AFTER THE FIRST WORLD WAR. THE CURRENT ACTION OF THE YUGOSLAVS HAS BROUGHT A PROTEST FROM THE ITALIANS.

UNDER-SECRETARY HALL, IN REPLY TO A QUESTION, DECLINED TO GO INTO DETAILS OF THE NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN THE BRITISH AND AMERICANS AND THE YUGOSLAVS ON THE GROUND HE DID NOT "WISH TO PREJUDICE THESE DISCUSSIONS."

HALL SAID EARLIER DISCUSSIONS BETWEEN THE CHIEFS OF STAFF OF FIELD MARSHAL SIR HAROLD ALEXANDER AND MARSHAL TITO HAD "FAILED TO REACH A SATISFACTORY RESULT."

SOUTHAMPTON, ENGLAND, MAY 16-(AP)-FIFTEEN U.S. NAVY SAILORS WHO FOR MONTHS WERE REPORTED MISSING FROM SEA ACTIONS HAVE BEEN FREED FROM A GERMAN PRISON CAMP IN THE CHANNEL ISLANDS AND ARE EN ROUTE HOME, U.S. NAVY ADVANCED BASE HEADQUARTERS IN SOUTHAMPTON ANNOUNCED TODAY.

ALL THE MEN ARE SURVIVORS OF HITHERTO UNDISCLOSED ACTIONS IN WHICH SMALL AMERICAN PATROL CRAFT FOUGHT IT OUT WITH LARGER GERMAN VESSELS BASED ON THE CHANNEL ISLANDS. THE ISLANDS WERE LIBERATED LAST WEEK.

FOURTEEN ARE FROM ONE PATROL CRAFT WHICH ENGAGED THREE NAZI FLAK BARGES IN AN ATTEMPT TO BREAK UP A DARING GERMAN RAID ON THE FRENCH MAINLAND PORT OF GRANVILLE MARCH 9.

THE FIFTEENTH MAN IS BELIEVED TO BE THE SOLE SURVIVOR OF A TORPEDO BOAT WHICH RAMMED A GERMAN MINESWEEPER AFTER FAILING TO SINK HER BY TORPEDOES LAST AUGUST. HE IS RADIOMAN THIRD CLASS JOHN L.PAGE OF NORTH DARTMOUTH, MASS.

THE OTHERS ARE: BOATSWAIN'S MATE SECOND CLASS JOSEPH F.DENEHY OF CHARLESTOWN, MASS.; SEAMAN FIRST CLASS ARIVINE L.ANDERSON OF 533 COFFEY ST., INDIANAPOLIS, IND.; MACHINIST'S MATE THIRD CLASS FELTON S.BULLOCK OF COLUMBIA, MISS.; SEAMAN SECOND CLASS HOWARD LAIRD OF 2829 SOUTH 60TH ST., PHILADELPHIA; SIGNALMAN SECOND CLASS RALPH L.SHAFFER OF SHREVE, OHIO;

IN THE BATTLE OFF GRANVILLE THE PATROL CRAFT, WITH A CREW OF 66 ABOARD, WAS PINNED IN BETWEEN FLAK BARGES. IT FOUGHT GALLANTLY BUT IN VAIN, THE SURVIVORS REPORTED. THE FIRST HIT SCORED BY THE NAZIS FELL ON THE PILOT HOUSE AND KILLED ALL ITS OCCUPANTS OUTRIGHT.

"THREE ORDERS WERE GIVEN TO ABANDON SHIP," SAID HARRELL, WHO WAS IN CHARGE OF THE GROUP AT THE PRISON CAMP. "NOBODY LEFT THE FIRST TIME. A FEW LEFT WITH THE SECOND ORDER AND THIS GANG SCRAMBLED OFF AT THE THIRD ORDER, SPLITTING UP INTO THREE LIFE RAFTS."

THIRTEEN OF THE ORIGINAL 66 CREWMEN WERE KILLED AND EIGHT OTHERS WERE WOUNDED. A SKELETON CREW, STAYING ABOARD AFTER ALL THE OTHERS HAD BEEN ORDERED OVER THE SIDE, MANAGED TO WORK THE CRAFT INTO THE ROCKY FRENCH COAST WHERE THEY LATER WERE PICKED UP BY FRIENDLY FRENCH FISHERMEN.

EACH OF THE FREED SAILORS AVERAGED ABOUT 10 POUNDS UNDERWEIGHT. THEIR CHIEF COMPLAINT WAS THE SHORTAGE OF FOOD IN THE PRISON CAMP. CABBAGE SOUP AND DARK BREAD WERE THE MAIN DISHES, THEY SAID.

"THE LOCAL RED CROSS ON THE ISLANDS WAS ALLOWED TO GIVE US PARCELS FOR A WHILE," SAID DENEHY, "BUT LATER WHEN TWO U.S. ARMY OFFICERS ATTEMPTED TO ESCAPE THE GERMANS EVIDENTALLY SUSPECTED A TIE UP OR SOMETHING AND IT WAS STOPPED. THAT WAS WHEN WE BEGAN TO LOSE WEIGHT. WE NEVER REALLY GOT RELIEF UNTIL A RED CROSS SHIP PULLED IN LATER ON."

CIVILIANS ON THE ISLAND WERE NOT ALLOWED NEAR THE CAMP BUT THE SAILORS SAID BRITISH GIRLS MANAGED TO GET CLOSE ENOUGH OCCASIONALLY TO DROP NOTES OVER THE STOCKADE FENCE CONTAINING THE LATEST WAR NEWS.

PARIS, MAY 16 (AP)--MINISTER OF FINANCE RENE PLEVEN IN A TRIBUTE TO THE AMERICAN HOME FRONT SAID TODAY THE IMMENSITY OF THE UNITED STATES' WAR EFFORT "WAS ALMOST BEYOND THE COMPREHENSION OF THE FRENCH DELEGATES TO THE SAN FRANCISCO WORLD SECURITY CONFERENCE.

HE URGED THE FRENCH PEOPLE TO DEMONSTRATE THEIR GRATITUDE TO THE UNITED STATES IN GESTURES TO DEPARTING YANK TROOPS.

"I KNOW FROM PERSONAL EXPERIENCE," HE TOLD HE FRENCH NEWSPAPERMEN IN AN INTERVIEW, "THAT NOTHING WOULD TOUCH THE HEARTS OF THE AMERICANS MORE DEEPLY THAN FOR THEIR SONS AND RELATIVES TO BE RECEIVED IN FRENCH HOMES AND SHOWN FRENCH HOSPITALITY BEFORE THEY LEAVE. WE MUST LET EACH SOLDIER KNOW WHAT HIS EFFORT HAS MEANT TO US."

PLEVEN DISCLOSED THAT AN AGREEMENT HAD BEEN REACHED BETWEEN FRENCH AND AMERICAN MILITARY AUTHORITIES TO PUT THE SAAR COAL MINES INTO OPERATION IMMEDIATELY. HE EMPHASIZED THE ACCORD DOES NOT AFFECT THE EVENTUAL CONTROL OF THE MINES NOR EVEN THE DISPOSITION THAT WILL BE MADE OF THE COAL WHEN IT IS BROUGHT TO THE SURFACE.

A COMMISSION TO DECIDE THIS POINT IS MEETING IN LONDON FRIDAY, HE SAID. IT IS COMPOSED OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN, FRANCE AND BELGIUM.

PLEVEN DECLINED TO DISCUSS DETAILS OF THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE OR OTHER POINTS RELATING TO INTERNATIONAL POLITICS/

TURNING TO THE SUBJECT OF THE AMERICAN HOME FRONT HE SAID HE HAD NOT SEEN THE UNITED STATES SINCE 1941 AND THE CHANGES HE FOUND ASTOUNDED HIM.

"IT WAS ALMOST BEYOND OUR COMPREHENSION," HE SAID. "THE AMERICAN ARE MOBILIZED INDIVIDUALLY AND COLLECTIVELY. THEIR EFFORT IS STAGGERING."

(MORE - NEXT SHEET)

PLEVEN SAID HE FOUND COMPLETE UPPORT FOR PRESIDENT TRUMAN ON ALL SIDES REGARDLESS OF PARTY LINES AFTER THE DEATH OF PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

HE BROUGHT WITH HIM A POSTER ADVERTISING THE SEVENTH WAR BOND DRIVE AND TOLD THE NEWS CONFERENCE THAT 85,000,000 AMERICANS WERE ENROLLED IN THESE DRIVES CONTRIBUTING EVEN NICKLES AND DIMES.

PLEVEN REMARKED OVER THE LENGTH OF THE PRINTED LISTS OF AMERICAN CASUALTIES AND THE FRENCH NEWSMEN SEEMED STARTLED WHEN HE SAID THERE WERE FOOD SHORTAGES--HE CALLED IT "CRISIS"--EVEN IN AMERICA.

NEVERTHELESS, HE SAID, HUGE SHIPMENTS OF VITAL COMMODITIES HAVE BEEN COMING TO FRANCE FROM THE UNITED STATES. A TOTAL OF 508,000,000 TONS OF VARIOUS CARGOES ARRIVED IN THE FIRST FOUR MONTHS OF THE YEAR, HE SAID. THEY INCLUDED NEWSX METALS, TEXTILES, LEATHER, SULPHUR, PAPER, STRUCTURAL STEEL AND BUILDING MATERIAL "MUCH OF WHICH WAS USED FOR AIDING OUR REFUGEES."

MAY 17 1945

PLEVEN REITERATED THAT FRANCE'S PRIME REQUISITE FOR RECOVERY WAS COAL TO SET THE INDUSTRIAL MACHINE IN OPERATION.

HE SAID NEARLY 16,000,000 TONS OF COAL WOULD BE BROUGHT FROM THE UNITED STATES AND CANADA WITHIN THE NEXT FOUR MONTHS.

PARIS, MAY 16-(AP)-SUPREME HEADQUARTERS' ANNOUNCEMENT THAT GRAND ADMIRAL KARL DOENITZ AND SEVERAL OF HIS COLLABORATORS ARE BEING USED TEMPORARILY FOR LIMITED MILITARY PURPOSES EMPHASIZES THAT GERMANY'S POSITION IN 1945 IS AS DIFFERENT FROM HER POSITION IN 1918 AS NIGHT IS FROM DAY.

FIRST, WHEN THE IMPERIAL GERMAN REGIME ABDICATED IN NOVEMBER, 1918, THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT ERECTED UNDER LEADERSHIP OF FRIEDRICH EBERT WAS REGARDED; BEFORE HACTED PRESIDENTHINDER ZOETHE ALLIES. THERE IY CONCERNED, AS A POST-HITLEV

THE REPUBLICAN GOVERNMENT ERECTED UNDER LEADERSHIP OF FRIEDRICH EBERT WAS REGARDED AS THE DE FACTO OPPOSITE NUMBER TO THE ALLIES. THERE IS NO SUCH THING, SO FAR AS THE UNITED NATIONS ARE CONCERNED, AS A POST-HITLER GOVERNMENT HEADED BY DOENITZ.

SECOND, THERE WAS AN ARMISTICE AT THE END OF THE FIRST WORLD WAR UPON THE CONCLUSION OF WHICH VON HINDENBURG COULD LEAD HIS DEFEATED BUT UNSURRENDERED ARMIES BACK INTO THE REICH. THIS TIME THERE IS UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER AND EVERY ARMS-BEARING GERMAN HAS HAD TO GIVE HIMSELF UP AND IS REGARDED AS A PRISONER OF WAR.

THIRD, THE ARMISTICE WAS PRECEDED BY NEGOTIATIONS OVER TERMS, SOME OF WHICH THE GERMAN NEGOTIATORS WERE ABLE TO MODIFY. THIS TIME THE GERMANS WERE NOT PERMITTED TO DO ANYTHING ABOUT THEIR CAPITULATION. THEY HAD TO ACCEPT IT WITHOUT AS MUCH AS A SINGLE CONDITION.

FOURTH, THERE WAS TALK IN 1918 ABOUT TRYING THOSE GUILTY OF BRINGING ON THE WAR. BUT ONE INDICATION THAT THE PROPOSAL WAS NOT MEANT SERIOUSLY LAY IN THE FACT THAT GERMAN COURTS WERE ASKED TO HANDLE THE WAR GUILT CASES. THIS TIME MANY MONTHS OF WORK HAS BEEN DONE BY AN INTERALLIED COMMISSION TO ESTABLISH MACHINERY FOR HANDLING WAR CRIMINALS AND THERE IS EVERY INDICATION WORLD OPINION WILL INSIST ON PUNISHMENT OF THE GUILTY.

FIFTH, GERMANY CONTINUED TO CONDUCT HER OWN FOREIGN POLICY AFTER 1918. EMBASSIES AND LEGATIONS ALL OVER THE WORLD FUNCTIONED. THE NAZIS' LAST FOREIGN MINISTER, COUNT SCHWERIN VON KROSIGK, A SHAEF SPOKESMAN STATED EMPHATICALLY, DOES NOT EXIST AS FAR AS THE UNITED NATIONS ARE CONCERNED.

B27

SIXTH, EVEN WHILE AMERICAN, BRITISH AND FRENCH ARMIES OCCUPIED CERTAIN SECTIONS OF GERMANY IN 1918, THERE WAS NO QUESTION OF INTERFERRING WITH LOCAL OR NATIONAL ADMINISTRATIONS SO LONG AS THEY CARRIED OUT THE ARMISTICE AND VERSAILLES TREATY TERMS. THIS TIME, EVERY GERMAN WILLING OR DESIROUS TO WORK UNDER THE MILITARY GOVXMTMTHTUS THE ONLY WAY HE CAN BE AN OFFICIAL--MUST UNDERGO A THOROUGH SCREENING AND CAN BE EMPLOYED ONLY WITH AMG APPROVAL.

SEVENTH, AFTER THE FALL OF THE IMPERIAL REGIME IN 1918, THE FIRST THING ESTABLISHED WAS A REPUBLICAN NATIONAL GOVERNMENT PLUS REPUBLICAN STATE GOVERNMENTS. MUNICIPAL OFFICIALS AND LOWER LEVELS WERE LEFT INTACT UNTIL A GRADUAL WEEDING OUT COULD BE UNDERTAKEN. IN MANY CASES THERE WAS NOT EVEN ANY WEEDING OUT. THIS TIME THERE WILL BE GERMAN ADMINISTRATION ONLY IN THE LOW LEVELS, CERTAINLY NOT HIGHER THAN "REGIERUNGSBEZIRK" WHICH CONSTITUTES AN AREA SMALLER THAN A PROVINCE OR A STATE.

EIGHTH, GERMANY AFTER THE 1918 DEFEAT WAS PERMITTED A PROFESSIONAL ARMY OF 100,000, AND A NAVY OF 15,000 MEN, ALSO CERTAIN TYPES OF WEAPONS. THERE WILL BE NO GERMAN ARMY HEREAFTER. AT LEAST SO LONG AS THE UNITED NATIONS CONTROL GERMANY, DISARMAMENT WILL BE COMPLETE.

NINTH, WHILE THE GERMAN AIRFORCE WAS SUPPRESSED BY THE TERMS OF THE VERSAILLES TREATY, COMMERCIAL AVIATION CONTINUED. AIR DISARMAMENT THIS TIME APPARENTLY INCLUDES BARING ALL CIVILIAN FLYING.

TENTH, ALTHOUGH THE VERSAILLES TREATY PROHIBITED CONTINUATION OF THE GERMAN GENERAL STAFF, NO OBJECTION WAS RAISED TO EXPERIENCED MILITARY LEADERS BECOMING OFFICERS OF THE REPUBLIC'S SMALL REICHSWEHR. THEY CONSTITUTED A VIRTUAL GENERAL STAFF ALTHOUGH SUCH A STAFF T TECHNICALLY WAS NON-EXISTENT. THIS TIME GENERAL STAFF OFFICERS WILL BE CALLED TO ACCOUNT FOR WAR CRIMES. EVEN IF ACQUITTED, THEIR CAREERS DEFINITELY WILL BE OVER.

ELEVENTH, ALTHOUGH MANUFACTURE OF HEAVY ARMS WAS PROHIBITED, NOTHING WAS DONE IN 1918 ABOUT THE VAST INDUSTRIAL CONCERNS SUCH AS KRUPP, THYSSEN, KLOECKNER AND VEREINIGTE STAHLWERKE TO MAKE SURE THEY COULD NOT RESUME ARMAMENTS MAKING. THIS TIME EVERY PRECAUTION WILL BE TAKEN TO RENDER GERMANY INNOCUOUS INDUSTRIALLY.

PARIS MAY 16-(AP)-MAX SCHMELING, FORMER WORLD HEAVYWEIGHT BOXING CHAMPION WHO WAS REPORTED SEVERAL TIMES TO HAVE BEEN KILLED IN THE WAR, SNEERED AT THE MENTION OF JOE LOUIS WHEN HE WAS SEEN IN A PRISON CAMP, STARS AND STRIPES REPORTED TODAY.

THE ARMY NEWSPAPER SAID MAJ.CLEMENT WHEELER, USAAF OFFICER FROM SAN ANTONIO, TEX., TALKED WITH "DER MAXIE" FOR MORE THAN TWO HOURS RECENTLY WHEN HE VISITED A PRISON CAMP BEHIND AMERICAN LINES TO WHICH SCHMELING FLED.

"MAX WAS WEARING CIVILIAN CLOTHES AND HE LOOKED PROSPEROUS," WHEELER SAID. "HE TOLD ME HE WAS MAKING A TOUR OF ALLIED PRISON CAMPS (OPERATED BY THE GERMANS) AFTER HAVING COVERED NAZI ARMY INSTALLATIONS.

"I GUESS YOU WOULD COMPARE IT TO A U.S.O.TOUR BY JOE LOUIS OR JACK DEMPSEY. BUT HIS JUNKET DEFINITELY WAS SANCTIONED OFFICIALLY BY THE NAZI PARTY AND HE SAID SOMETHING ABOUT WORKING OUT OF THE GERMAN PROPAGANDA DEPARTMENT."

WHEELER SAID WHEN HE MENTIONED JOE LOUIS, THE LAST WORLD CHAMPION HEAVYWEIGHT AND NOW A U.S. ARMY SERGEANT, SCHMELING SNEERED AND LEFT THE IMPRESSION THAT HE CONSIDERED THE AMERICAN NEGRO "JUST LUCKY" IN KNOCKING HIM OUT IN THEIR SECOND MATCH.

IN A SLAP AT AMERICAN SPORTSWRITERS, SCHMELING WAS QUOTED BY WHEELER AS SAYING:

"THEY NEVER GAVE ME A SQUARE DEAL IN ALL THE TIME I WAS IN YOUR COUNTRY. EVEN WHEN I WON, THEY EITHER SAID I WAS LUCKY OR A BIG BUM WHO COULD KNOCK DOWN A BIGGER BUM. THE ONLY TIME THEY GAVE ME ANY SPACE IN THE PAPERS WAS WHEN (JACK) SHARKEY FOULED ME."

THAT WAS HOW SCHMELING WON HIS TITLE.

WHEELER SAID SCHMELING TOLD HIM HE WAS "THROUGH FOR GOOD" AND THAT HIS CAREER AS A FIGHTER ENDED WHEN HE JUMPED ON CRETE WITH GERMAN PARACHUTISTS IN 1942.

"I BROKE MY BACK WHEN I LANDED AND ALMOST DIED," WHEELER QUOTED SCHMELING AS SAYING. "I WAS IN A HOSPITAL THERE FOR SEVERAL MONTHS AND FINALLY PULLED THROUGH, BUT MY BACK WILL NEVER BE THE SAME.

"THEN I GOT BACK TO GERMANY FROM THAT LONG TIME IN THE HOSPITAL AND THEY LET ME OUT OF THE ARMY.

"WHEN YOU GET HOME, IF YOU EVER DO," SCHMELING TOLD WHEELER ARROGANTLY, "BE SURE AND TELL THE SOFT-LIVING YANKEES MAX SCHMELING IS STILL ALIVE. HE DOESN'T DIE THAT EASILY. PERHAPS HE'LL EVEN MAKE A TRIP TO AMERICA SO THE PEOPLE CAN SEE FOR THEMSELVES THAT HE IS ALL RIGHT."

WHEELER SAID HE SUGGESTED THAT SCHMELING'S NEXT VOYAGE TO THE UNITED STATES MIGHT BE IN IRONS AND THIS EVOKED A DISDAINFUL SNORT.

"HE'S A NAZI THROUGH AND THROUGH, NO BETTER THAN HITLER, GOERING AND THE REST," WHEELER TOLD STARS AND STRIPES. "MAYBE HE'S EVEN WORSE."

PARIS, MAY 16-(AP)-THE GIGANTIC TASK OF PREPARING MILLIONS OF TONS OF WAR MATERIEL FOR QUICK SHIPMENT FROM EUROPE TO THE PACIFIC THEATER FELL TODAY TO THE U.S. ARMY.

BRIG. GEN. MORRIS W. GILLAND, DEPUTY CHIEF OF STAFF FOR SUPPLY IN THE EUROPEAN THEATER, WHOSE ORGANIZATION MUST SUPERVISE THE JOB, SAID THAT V-E DAY FOUND THE AMERICAN ARMIES WITH MORE THAN 5,500,000 TONS OF SUPPLIES ON THE CONTINENT.

IT IS A PROBLEM OF REHABILITATING, PACKING AND SHIPPING MUCH OF THIS MATERIEL, WHICH INCLUDES 700,000 TONS OF AMMUNITION AND MORE THAN A MILLION SEPARATE ITEMS RANGING FROM LOCOMOTIVES TO WATCH REPAIR TOOLS.

THE TROOPS GOING DIRECTLY TO THE PACIFIC WILL TAKE ALL THEIR EQUIPMENT WITH THEM. THOSE GOING TO THE UNITED STATES WILL CARRY ONLY ESSENTIAL EQUIPMENT, LEAVING THE REST BEHIND TO BE SERVICED AND SENT DIRECTLY TO THE ACTIVE WAR THEATER.

GILLAND SAID THE TRANSFER OF ALL WAR MATERIEL NO LONGER NEEDED IN EUROPE WILL BE DONE AS QUICKLY AS POSSIBLE, WITH THE MAJOR PORTION GOING BY DIRECT ROUTE. BUT THESE FIGURES DISCLOSED BY GILLAND INDICATE THE IMMENSITY OF THE JOB:

THE QUARTERMASTER CORPS MUST REPAIR 94,000,000 PIECES OF CLOTHING, THE ORDNANCE DEPARTMENT MUST REVAMP 160,000 MOTOR VEHICLES, THE SIGNAL CORPS MUST WORK OVER 255,000 RADIOS, THE ENGINEER CORPS 21,000 PIECES OF CONSTRUCTION EQUIPMENT, THE CHEMICAL WARFARE DIVISION 2,000,000 GAS MASKS AND THE MEDICAL CORPS 23,000 PIECES OF ELECTRO-MEDICAL EQUIPMENT.

GILLAND DISCLOSED FOR THE FIRST TIME THAT THE AMERICAN ARMIES IN EUROPE HAVE ROUGHLY 3,000,000 SMALL ARMS, 11,000 MEDIUM AND LIGHT ARTILLERY PIECES, 350,000 AUTOMATIC WEAPONS AND MORTARS, 82,000 COMBAT VEHICLES, AND 371,000 GENERAL PURPOSE AND SPECIAL PURPOSE VEHICLES AMONG THEIR EQUIPMENT.

THE BULK OF ALL THIS WILL NEED SOME REPAIRS, IN ADDITION TO PACKAGING AND WEATHERPROOFING.

HE EDITED TWO NEWSPAPERS, ONE OF WHICH HAS BEEN DESCRIBED AS "THE WILDEST, MADDEST ANTI-SEMITIC PUBLICATION WHICH EVER MADE USE OF THE GERMAN LANGUAGE."

HE WAS INVOLVED IN MANY ACTS OF VIOLENCE AND FREQUENTLY WAS IMPRISONED. BUT HIS EFFORTS WON HIM DISTINCTION IN THE PARTY AND IN 1932 HE BECAME ITS ORGANIZATION LEADER FOR THE ENTIRE COUNTRY. HE WAS MADE HEAD OF THE LABOR FRONT IN 1933.

IN THIS CAPACITY HE WIPED OUT ALL LABOR UNIONS, BRUTALLY AND RUTHLESSLY. ALL UNION MEMBERS EXCEPT JEWS WERE TOLD THEY WERE AUTOMATICALLY MEMBERS OF THE NEW LABOR FRONT AND THOSE WHO OBJECTED EITHER WERE KILLED OR THROWN INTO CONCENTRATION CAMPS.

GUAM, THURSDAY, MAY 17 (AP)-THE BATTLE OF SOUTHERN OKINAWA NEARED ITS CRISIS TODAY WITH U.S. 10TH ARMY SOLDIERS AND MARINES STRIKING FIERCELY UNDER HEAVY ARTILLERY SUPPORT AT THE KEY JAPANESE DEFENSES AROUND NAHA AND SHURI (CORRECT).

(AN UNCONFIRMED BRITISH REUTERS DISPATCH BROADCAST FROM LONDON SAID THE AMERICANS HAD CAPTURED NAHA. THE RADIO REPORT WAS HEARD BY CBS IN NEW YORK.)

THE 22ND REGIMENT OF THE SIXTH MARINE DIVISION FOUGHT BACK OVER FIELDS LITTERED WITH ITS DEAD AND JAPANESE BODIES, TO RECAPTURE GROUND LOST IN A NIPPONESE COUNTERATTACK AND DRIVE INTO THE TOWN OF TAKAMOTOJI, AMERICAN HEADQUARTERS SAID YESTERDAY.

TAKAMOTOJI IS IN THE SUBURBS OF NAHA, CAPITAL OF OKINAWA AND JAPANESE NAVAL BASE. ONCE A CITY OF 66,000 POPULATION, NAHA HAS BEEN REDUCED TO RUINS.

IN THE CENTER OF THE FOUR-MILE LONG BATTLELINE ACROSS THE NARROW ISLAND, THE CASTLE AND TOWN OF SHURI WERE 1,500 YARDS SOUTH UNDER THE SIGHTS OF GUNS OF THE 77TH INFANTRY DIVISION AND FIRST MARINE DIVISION, FRONT DISPATCHES SAID YESTERDAY.

SHURI CASTLE, MOATED AND HEAVY-WALLED, IS BEING POUNDED BY 16-INCH GUNS OF NAVAL VESSELS AND EIGHT-INCH LAND HOWITZERS. THIS WAS THE FIRST USE OF THE BIG FIELD HOWITZERS IN THE PACIFIC WAR, SAID AL DOPKING, ASSOCIATED PRESS WAR CORRESPONDENT.

JAPANESE AIRCRAFT STRENGTH AND AIRFIELDS ON KYUSHU AND SHIKOKU ISLANDS OF THE ENEMY'S HOMELAND SUFFERED HEAVILY IN STRIKES SUNDAY AND MONDAY BY U.S. REAR ADM. J.J. (JOCKO) CLARK'S TASK FORCE PLANES.

CLARK, INTERVIEWED ABOARD HIS FLAGSHIP OFF JAPAN, TOLD ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT GRANT MACDONALD THE TWO-DAY STRIKE

"BY OUR BOLD FORCES WAS THE MOST DAMAGING EVER MADE BY FAST CARRIER TASK FORCES."

AMERICAN FLEET HEADQUARTERS SAID THE CARRIER PLANES DESTROYED OR DAMAGED 357 NIPPONESE AIRCRAFT, DAMAGED 18 AIRFIELDS, HIT RAILROAD FACILITIES AND ROLLING STOCK AND SERIOUSLY DAMAGED A CHEMICAL PLANT.

TOKYO RADIO TOLD THE ENEMY HOMELAND THAT JAPANESE DEFENDERS OF NAHA ON OKINAWA WERE FACING "OVERWHELMING ODDS." THE BROADCAST APPARENTLY WAS PREPARING THE NIPPONESE FOR NEWS OF THE FALL OF THE CITY.

THE JAPANESE COUNTERATTACK BEFORE NAHA MONDAY NIGHT WAS BELIEVED BY AMERICAN FIELD OFFICERS TO HAVE BEEN AN ALL-OUT EFFORT TO TURN THE TIDE OF THE BITTER CAMPAIGN.

THE MARINES FOUGHT "LIKE MANIACS" AND WHEN THE NIPPONESE CHARGED IN AFTER A HEAVY BARRAGE, SAID MAJ.GLEN E.MARTIN, 2845 BENTON ST., COUNCIL BLUFFS, IOWA.

A200KX

LEATHERNECK COOKS, BAKERS AND OTHER REAR UNITS SEIZED THEIR RIFLES TO HELP MEET THE JAPANESE ATTACK AND PUSH IT BACK.

DOPKING SAID THAT BEFORE THE MARINES HAD TRIUMPHED ONE DEVILDOG COMPANY HAD ONLY TWO MEN LEFT OUT OF 240 WHILE THE STRENGTH OF ANOTHER COMPANY WAS CUT TO EIGHT SURVIVORS.

WHILE THE FALL OF NAHA WOULD BE A GREAT VICTORY FOR THE MARINES, FIELD OFFICERS SAID THEY BELIEVED THE CAPTURE OF SHURI AND ITS ANCIENT CASTLE WOULD BREAK THE BACK OF JAPANESE RESISTANCE.

THE DIFFICULTIES IN TAKING SHURI, HOWEVER, WERE ILLUSTRATED IN REPORTS THAT HEAVY ARTILLERY AND NAVAL GUN SHELLS MERELY BOUNCED OFF THE CASTLE'S THICK WALLS.

THE 77TH DIVISION SEIZED AND HELD "CHOCOLATE HILL," OBSERVATION POINT ON THE CENTER OF THE LINE, WHILE ON THE EAST COAST FLANK THE 96TH DIVISION CLUNG TO CONICAL HILL AND THREW BACK JAPANESE COUNTERATTACKS.

WHILE THE 31ST AND 40TH YANK DIVISIONS PUSHED THE HARD-PRESSED NIPPONESE INTO RUGGED TERRAIN, TROOPS OF THE FAMOUS 24TH INFANTRY DIVISION FOUGHT BLOODY HAND-TO-HAND BATTLES WITH FORMIDABLE AND FANATICAL JAPANESE FORCES STILL IN THE 12-FOOT TALL COGON GRASS ON FOOTHILLS WEST OF AMERICAN-CAPTURED DAVAO CITY.

THE CLOSE FIGHTING WAS BETWEEN THE TALOMO AND DAVAO RIVERS, WHERE THE VETERAN YANK TROOPS WENT INTO THE SAVAGE FRAY WITH KNIVES AND BAYONETS. THEY USED STEEL HELMETS TO BASH THE HEADS OF SOME OF THE JAPANESE. A NUMBER OF NIPPONESE DROWNED WHEN YANK FIGHTING MEN TUMBLED INTO A RIVER WITH THEM AND HELD THEM UNDER.

ON THE NORTHERN MINDANAO FRONT DOUGHBOYS OF THE 40TH DIVISION PUSHED THE ATTACK IN THE MANGIMA RIVER SECTOR EAST OF THE YANK-CAPTURED DEL MONTE AIR CENTER. THE 31ST TOOK ANOTHER AIRFIELD NORTH OF MARAMAG.

GEN.DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S ANNOUNCEMENT THAT 90 PER CENT OF THE MINDANAO REGION HAS BEEN CLEARED OF JAPANESE AND 95 PER CENT OF THE POPULATION LIBERATED INDICATES THAT THE JAPANESE GARRISON ON THE ISLAND--EARLIER ESTIMATED AT 50,000--HAS BEEN BACKED INTO AN AREA RUNNING 50 MILES EAST-WEST AND 40 MILES NORTH-SOUTH. IN THE CENTER OF THIS AREA ARE THE KATANGLAO AND KALATUNGAN MOUNTAINS.

VANCOUVER, MAY 16-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER MACKENZIE KING TONIGHT APPEALED FOR THE RETURN OF THE LIBERAL ADMINISTRATION TO OFFICE ON THE BASIS OF ITS RECORD OF "PERFORMANCE" AND ON THE STATEMENT THAT NO OTHER PARTY COULD WIN AN OVER-ALL MAJORITY IN THE COMING FEDERAL ELECTION NOR PROVIDE A GOVERNMENT REPRESENTATIVE OF EVERY PROVINCE OF CANADA.
HE OPENED HIS RE-ELECTION CAMPAIGN WITH A 30-MINUTE SPEECH BEFORE A CROWD WHICH OVERFLOWED THE BALLROOM OF VANCOUVER'S LARGEST HOTEL AND WAS BROADCAST OVER THE NATIONAL NETWORK OF THE CBC.
AS EVIDENCE OF THE GOVERNMENT'S PERFORMANCE IN THE RECORD OF ITS LAST FIVE YEARS, THE PRIME MINISTER READ BRITISH PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL'S MESSAGE TO HIMSELF ON THE OCCASION OF THE SURRENDER OF GERMANY. HE PREFERRED, HE SAID, TO LET MR.CHURCHILL'S WORDS SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES RATHER THAN ATTEMPT TO STATE THE RECORD.
IN READING THE CHURCHILL MESSAGE OF "HEARTFELT CONGRATULATIONS OF CANADA'S MAGNIFICENT CONTRIBUTION TO OUR COMMON VICTORY," KING SAID HE DID NOT CLAIM THE WAR EFFORT WAS ONLY THE EFFORT OF THE GOVERNMENT AND NOT OF THE PEOPLE. BUT IT WAS THE GOVERNMENT WHICH MANAGED AND DIRECTED THE WAR EFFORT AND WOULD HAVE BEEN BLAMED HAD IT NOT BEEN A SUCCESS.
IN ESSENCE, KING'S SPEECH WAS A QUESTION DIRECTED TO THE ELECTORS AS TO WHETHER THEY WISHED TO CHANGE A GOVERNMENT OF PEROFRMANCE, OF EXPERIENCED MEN FOR ONE OF UNTRIED MEN WHO HAD NO RECORD OF PERFORMANCE. HE SAID HE INTENDED TO RESERVE FOR LATER SPEECHES A DISCUSSION OF THE GOVERNMENT'S POLICIES AND PROGRAM FOR THE FUTURE.

SAN FRANCISCO, MAY 16-(AP)-SECRETARY OF STATE STETTINIUS SAID TODAY HE WAS HOPEFUL THE NEW INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION BEING FORMED HERE WOULD UPHOLD IN ITS CHARTER THE "FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS" OF SPEECH, PRESS, COMMUNICATION AND EXCHANGE OF INFORMATION.

HE ALSO EXPRESSED OPTIMISM THAT THE CONFERENCE WOULD ALSO PROVIDE FOR CREATION OF A COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS AS PROPOSED BY THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION TO THE UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE.

THE STATEMENTS OF THE SECRETARY WERE DISCLOSED BY THE CIVIL LIBERTIES UNION WHICH RELEASED A LETTER WRITTEN BY HIM TO A LEADING NEWSPAPER, BOOK AND MAGAZINE PUBLISHERS, RADIO REPRESENTATIVES, EDUCATORS, AND OTHERS IN THE COMMUNICATIONS FIELD.

THEY ALL--IN A JOINT LETTER--WROTE STETTINIUS MAY 1, URGING THAT THE VARIOUS FREEDOMS BE UPHELD BY THE CONFERENCE IN ANY CHARTER--RULES AND REGULATIONS--WHICH IT SET UP FOR A NEW WORLD LEAGUE.

THE CONFERENCE IS BUSY NOW AMENDING THE DUMBARTON OAKS PLAN--THE BASIC, WORKING BLUEPRINT FOR THE LEAGUE--TO WHIP A CHARTER INTO SHAPE.

THE PROVISIONS FOR THE FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS WOULD BE IN THE FORM OF AMENDMENTS TO THE DUMBARTON OAKS PLAN. STETTINIUS SAID THESE AMENDMENTS WOULD BE OFFERED TO THE CONFERENCE. HIS LETTER SAID:

"GENTLEMEN: I HAVE READ WITH GREAT INTEREST YOUR MEMORIAL OF MAY 1. THE ATTACHMENT OF THIS GOVERNMENT TO THE PRINCIPLE OF FREEDOM OF SPEECH AND TO ITS ENCOURAGEMENT AND PROMOTION EVERYWHERE IN THE WORLD IS, AS YOU POINT OUT, A MTTER OF RECORD.

"THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION, AS YOU DOUBTLESS KNOW, HAS BEEN LARGELY INSTRUMENTAL IN PROPOSING TO THE CONFERENCE CERTAIN AMENDMENTS, TO WHICH THE AGREEMENT OF THE FOUR SPONSORING POWERS HAS ALREADY BEEN OBTAINED, WHICH WOULD REQUIRE THE NEW ORGANIZATION TO PROMOTE HUMAN RIGHTS AND FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS FOR ALL.

"THESE AMENDMENTS CONSTITUTE AN IMPORTANT ADVANCE FROM THE DUMBARTON OAKS PROPOSALS.

"IN MY OPINION, AND IN THE OPINION OF THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION, FREEDOM OF SPEECH IS ONE OF THE FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS REFERRED TO IN THESE AMENDMENTS.

"IT IS FURTHERMORE OUR UNDERSTANDING THAT FREEDOM OF SPEECH ENCOMPASSES FREEDOM OF THE PRESS, FREEDOM OF COMMUNICATIONS, AND FREEDOM OF EXCHANGE OF INFORMATION.

B88

"WE ARE HOPEFUL THAT THE CONFERENCE WILL NOT ONLY ADOPT THESE AMENDMENTS ON THE FUNDAMENTAL FREEDOMS BUT WILL ALSO PROVIDE IN THE CHARTER FOR THE CREATION OF A COMMISSION ON HUMAN RIGHTS AS PROPOSED BY THE UNITED STATES DELEGATION.

ZSUCH A COMMISSION WOULD BE ABLE TO DEVELOP THE OBJECTIVES OF THE ORGANIZATION IN THIS FIELD IN DETAIL.

"YOU MAY REST ASSURED THAT WHEN SUCH A COMMISSION IS ESTABLISHED, I WOULD EARNESTLY URGE, ON BEHALF OF THE UNITED STATES GOVERNMENT, THAT IT SHOULD EXAMINE MEANS OF PROMOTING FREEDOM OF COMMUNICATIONS, FREEDOM TO TRAVEL, AND FREEDOM OF ACCESS TO SOURCES OF KNOWLEDGE OF INFORMATION.

"SINCERELY YOURS,

"ED. STETTINIUS."

NEW YORK, MAY 16-(AP)-THE NEW YORK TIMES SAID TODAY IN A SUPREME HEADQUARTERS DISPATCH THAT THE VIEW WAS EXPRESSED AT A MEETING OF SHAEF CORRESPONDENTS THAT AMERICAN OFFICIALS "HAVE DONE ENOUGH KOWTOWING TO THE RUSSIANS" ON THE ENTRY OF ALLIED WAR CORRESPONDENTS INTO RUSSIAN-OCCUPIED TERRITORY.

THE CORRESPONDENTS APPOINTED A COMMITTEE TO REVIEW WITH SHAEF THE WHOLE QUESTION OF THE CIRCULATION OF CORRESPONDENTS IN THE RUSSIAN ZONE IN GERMANY THE DISPATCH SAID. IT QUOTED LAWRENCE FAIRHALL, A CORRESPONDENT FOR THE BRITISH KEMSLEY NEWSPAPERS, AS SAYING: "I THINK WE'VE HAD ENOUGH NONSENSE FROM OUR RUSSIAN ALLIES. WE ARE NOT ALLOWED IN VIENNA OR PRAGUE OR BUDAPEST. IT'S TIME SOMETHING WAS DONE ABOUT IT."

FAIRHALL'S STATEMENT, THE DISPATCH SAID, SUMMED UP RAPIDLY MOUNTING DISSATISFACTION OF THE MAJORITY OF THE CORRESPONDENTS WITH SHAEF'S JOURNALISTIC NEGOTIATIONS WITH THE RUSSIANS.

POINTING OUT THAT SO FAR ONLY NINE ALLIED CORRESPONDENTS HAVE BEEN ALLOWED IN THE RUSSIAN ZONE ON AN AUTHORIZED ONE-DAY TRIP TO BERLIN THE DISPATCH SAID THAT NONE HAD REGULARLY BEEN WITH THE RUSSIAN ARMIES DURING THE WHOLE WAR, ALTHOUGH A HALF DOZEN RUSSIAN CORRESPONDENTS HAVE BEEN CIRCULATING IN SHAEF'S TERRITORY FOR MONTHS.

THE COMMENTATOR, WHOSE BROADCAST WAS RECORDED HERE BY THE FCC, SAID THAT PEOPLE WHO CRITICIZE THE SOVIET UNION'S "EFFORTS TO ORGANIZE A FIRM PEACE IN EASTERN EUROPE" HAD FORGOTTEN THAT BRITAIN WITH THE ENGLISH CHANNEL AND THE UNITED STATES WITH TWO OCEANS HAD "A MUCH GREATER SECURITY EVEN IN OUR CENTURY THAN THE NATIONS ON THE CONTINENT OF EUROPE OR ASIA."

"THE STARVED OR BATTLE-WRENCHED STOMACHS OF NEWSPAPER PLANTS NEED SUSTENANCE AS URGENTLY AS PEOPLE NEED FOOD," THE DEAN OF COLUMBIA'S GRADUATE SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM SAID AT A SERVICE IN ST.PAUL'S CHAPEL.

ASKING WHAT THE PRICE TO THE NEEDY COUNTRIES WOULD BE "FOR THE RESTORATION OF THE ECONOMIC LIBERTY OF THE PRESS," ACKERMAN SAID:

"WILL OUR PRICE BE MONEY ONLY? WILL WE SELL ON A BUSINESS BASIS? OR WILL WE EXPECT OR EXACT SOME FORM OF POLITICAL ALLEGIANCE OR SERVITUDE? THAT WE WILL HAVE TO DECIDE IN OUR OWN COUNTRY, AS THE PEOPLE AND GOVERNMENTS OF GREAT BRITAIN AND SOVIET RUSSIA WILL HAVE TO DECIDE IN THEIR COUNTRIES.

BOSTON,MAY 16-(AP)-THE LAST KNOWN U-BOAT SINKING OF THE WAR--ONLY 24 HOURS PRIOR TO THE GERMAN SURRENDER--WAS ALMOST WITHIN SIGHT OF THE RHODE ISLAND SHORE.

THE NAVY TONIGHT TOLD A DRAMATIC STORY OF THE VESSEL'S END AT THE HANDS OF A DESTROYER ESCORT WHOSE SKIPPER--LIEUTENANT COMMANDER LEWIS ISELIN OF 432 EAST 84TH ST., NEW YORK CITY--IS A TALL, MILD-MANNERED MAN WHOSE PEACETIME PURSUIT IS SCULPTURING.

IT WAS PRECEDED BY THE SINKING OF AN OLD COLLIER, WHICH WAS TORPEDOED OFF POINT JUDITH, R.I., AS SHE LUMBERED ALONG THE COAST ON MAY FIFTH.

BEFORE GOING DOWN THE COLLIER GOT OFF HER DISTRESS SIGNAL AND A GROUP OF DESTROYER ESCORTS THAT HAD JUST COMPLETED A CONVOY JOB SWUNG BACK FOR THE COLLIER'S POSITION AT FULL SPEED.

AS DUSK CAME, LIEUTENANT COMMANDER ISELIN'S SHIP, THE USS ATHERTON, PICKED UP THE SOUND OF THE U-BOAT'S PROPELLERS AND SHOWERED DEPTH CHARGES INTO THE SHALLOW WATER.

THE NEXT DAY NAVY DIVERS FOUND THE U-853 LYING ON HER SIDE, HER CONNING TOWER BLASTED OPEN.

DEBRIS AND THE DIVERS' REPORTS GAVE AMPLE PROOF OF THE SINKING, BUT THERE'S A SAYING IN THE ATLANTIC FLEET THAT YOU DON'T GET CREDIT FOR SINKING AN ENEMY SUB UNLESS YOU BRING BACK THE CAPTAIN'S HAT

WELL--LIEUTENANT COMMANDER ISELIN DID JUST THAT. HE GRABBED THE HAT AS IT FLOATED UP FROM THE WRECKED CONNING TOWER AND BOBBED TO THE SURFACE.

THE TOKYO BROADCAST REPORTING THE PREMIER'S ADDRESS DID NOT MAKE CLEAR WHETHER THE SPIRIT OF JAPAN'S SMALL MAN IS SAGGING UNDER THE IMPACT OF AMERICAN AIR RAIDS.

A DOMEI NEWS AGENCY WIRELESS DISPATCH, RECORDED BY THE FCC, DID EMPHASIZE, HOWEVER, THE NECESSITY OF RALLYING THE PEOPLE BEHIND THE WAR EFFORT.

SUZUKI WAS QUOTED AS URGING THE NEW APPOINTEES TO SEE TO IT THAT THE PUBLIC "BE GIVEN FULL EXPRESSION AS MUCH AS POSSIBLE" SO THAT THE GOVERNMENT'S AIM OF "COMPLETE COOPERATION WITH THE PEOPLE" WOULD BE REALIZED.

ONLY TWO DAYS EARLIER THE PREMIER TOLD A CONFERENCE OF JAPAN'S PREFECTURE GOVERNORS THAT THE PEOPLE'S "COOPERATION AND CONFIDENCE" WERE THE "KEY TO VICTORY." HE URGED THEM TO EXERT EVERY EFFORT TO OBTAIN THE "PEOPLE'S FAITH" IN THEIR WORK OF SPEEDING ORGANIZATION OF THE CIVILIAN VOLUNTEERS DEFENSE CORPS WHICH WILL DEFEND THE HOME ISLANDS AGAINST INVASION.

Big Carrier Franklin Blasted Off Japan, 1,100 Casualties as Own Bombs Explode; Vessel Limps Here After Daring Rescue

MAY 20 1945

Flames Sweep Deck of Crippled Ship as Rockets, Bombs Explode.

(The following story was written by Alvin S. McCoy, the Kansas City Star's Pacific war correspondent, who was aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin when it was attacked by a Japanese plane.)

ABOARD THE U.S.S. SANTA FE IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC, March 19—(delayed)—(AP) Japanese bombs struck the huge Essex class carrier, the U.S.S. Franklin, March 19 off the southern coast of Japan causing one of the most appalling losses of American lives in our naval history when the carrier's own bombs and 100 octane gasoline blasted the ship for hours.

Official losses will be announced by the Navy department, and by the time this is published, next of kin of the wounded and dead all will have been notified. (Unofficial figures at the time showed 949 dead; more than 221 wounded.)

Scores Drown in Sea

Scenes of indescribable horror took place on the flat top, a ship almost as long as three city blocks. Men were blown off the flight deck into the sea, burned to a crisp in a searing, white-hot flash of flame that swept the hangar deck, or trapped in comparatments below and suffocated by smoke. Scores drowned in the sea. Other scores were torn by jagged chunks of shrapnel.

I was the only war correspondent aboard, a dazed survivor of the holocaust only because I was below decks at breakfast at the time in an area that was unhit.

The rescue of the crippled carrier, towed flaming and smoking from the very shores of Japan, and the saving of more than 800 men, fished out of the sea by protecting cruisers and destroyers will be an epic of naval warfare. Heads bobbed in the water for miles behind the carrier. Men floated on life rafts, or swam about in the chilly water to seize lines from the rescue ships and be hauled aboard.

Refuse to Abandon Ship

Countless deeds of heroism and superb seamanship saved the carrier and about two-thirds of the ship's more than 2,500 men. The tenacity of the Franklin's skipper, Capt. L. E. Gehres, who refused to abandon it, and the aid of protecting ships and planes virtually snatched the carrier from Japanese waters to be repaired and fight again. Fire and damage control parties who stuck with the ship performed valiantly.

The carrier was all but abandoned, although the "abandon ship" order never was given. The air group and about 1,500 of the crew were sent to the U.S.S. Santa Fe a light cruiser, which came alongside or were picked out of the sea. A skeleton crew of some 690 remained aboard to try to save the ship, as it listed nearly 20 degrees. The Franklin's planes already aloft alighted safely on other carriers.

Navy men said the Franklin took more punishment than any other carrier ever received—and still remained afloat. It was her own terrifically destructive bombs and rockets, loaded on planes and decks for a strike against the empire that created havoc. The Jap plane sneaked in, swept across the deck, and launched its bombs at the precise moment when they would cause the most destruction. It never has happened before, and probably never will happen again.

The Franklin, one unit of the mighty task force smothering Japanese airpower, was participating in her first combat action since last October. Her planes joined the strike against Kyushu island at the southernmost tip of Japan March 18. Their first day's operation ran up a score of seventeen Japanese planes shot out of the air, seven destroyed on the ground, and twelve damaged, offset by the loss of four planes and three pilots.

66 Miles off Japan

The next morning the Franklin stood sixty-six miles off Japan. Combat patrol planes and fighters had been launched long before dawn. A powerful striking force of planes, loaded with all the munitions they could carry, began launching about 7 o'clock, almost an hour after sunrise. The sky was dull, leaden and overcast, as if glowering forbiddingly. Eight Corsair fighters and eight or nine Helldiver bombers already had roared off the flight deck.

Massed after on the flight deck, engines roaring for the warmup, wings still folded like those of misshapen birds, were more planes—Corsairs, Helldivers and thick-bodied Avenger torpedo planes. Each was loaded with 500-pound bombs, 250-pound bombs, or rockets, missiles of great destructive power. This was the moment, about 7:08 o'clock, that the Japanese plane skimmed in undetected and flew the length of the ship.

I was spared seeing the bombs hit. Details were obtained by interviewing witnesses. Most on the upper decks, who survived, were knocked flat by the blasts that followed and were so stunned that few could tell exactly what happened. Standing several thousand yards away on the U.S.S. Santa Fe, 2nd Lt. R. T. Jorvig, Minneapolis, Minn., Marine gun crew officer, saw the Japanese plane make its run.

Bomb Hit Amidships

"The Franklin had just launched a Helldiver," he said, "When I saw the Jap plane, probably a single-engined Jill, coming in. He dived out of an overcast at a 30-degree angle, made a perfect bomb run, skimmed about 100 feet over the deck, and dropped his bombs amidships. A great ball of orange flame and smoke shot out of the hangar deck. There were more explosions, and I saw men jumping off the fantail and going down lines."

One bomb crashed through the flight deck forward of the "island" and exploded on the hangar deck below, and wrecking the forward elevator. Another big hole was just aft of the "island" structure.

The initial blast set fire to gasoline and some 22 more planes on the hangar deck below. Each gassed and armed with bombs and rockets. Instantly the hangar deck became a raging inferno, snuffing out the lives of virtually every man at work on the planes. Bombs and rockets exploded with shattering

Crew Not at Stations

The crew was not at battle stations. No Japanese planes had been reported in the vicinity. General quarters condition had been eased and many men, dog-tired from nights of alarms, had been released to go to breakfast. One of the tragedies was the long line of enlisted men, dammed up on the hangar deck to enter a hatch leading to their mess hall below. Presumably all were killed instantly when the white-hot flash swept the deck. Their bodies remained in the area for hours. Many with their clothing burned off and even dog tags melted.

Fifteen minutes after there was another series of heavy explosions that jarred the carrier to her keel. Planes on the flight deck blew up some minutes after the bomb hit, sending rockets arching off the deck like a giant fireworks display. Some of the pilots escaped by leaping overboard to swim to destroyers. Ens. W. S. Richardson, Providence, R. I., member of a navy torpedo plane group, jumped from his cockpit, crawled along the deck to the "island" and miraculously escaped being hit.

Saw Jap Plane Come In

"I was on the port side ready to take off next," he said. "I saw the Jap plane come in, drop his bombs and pass over my head. I don't know how many he dropped. It was all over in a flash. Instinctively, I cut off my engine and got out. My canopy was closed—it was cold—and I guess that saved me from the blast. I got to the deck somehow and crawled to the starboard by the island. Smoke was so thick I hardly could breathe. Planes began blowing up and big chunks of stuff filled the air. I was knocked flat. I saw one big orange flash and a rocket whizzed about five feet over my head. Then I got to the catwalk and stayed low."

The "island" controll structure was riddled with shrapnel, killing many men. Lt. William A. Simon, Jr., Wilmington, N. C., an air operations officer, was one of several men out of some thirty who escaped from one compartment.

"The first blast stunned me," he said. "When I recovered consciousness I had to push some plotting boards and radio equipment off to get up. The deck had buckled and had jammed the hatch. Finally I forced open the hatch enough to push my way through, then went out on the flight deck to help fight fire for about thirty minutes. Men were screaming: 'Let's go over the side!' Through the darkness of smoke I saw about twenty five jump. Smoke was so thick it was more night than day. Then I realized I had been injured."

Lt. H. C. Carr, Carmel, Calif., member of a Navy Torpedo plane squadron, went to the hangar deck about an hour after the first explosion when it had cooled enough to permit fire fighting. Engines smouldered about the deck and the forward elevator had collapsed in its pit.

Push Bomb Over Side

"When I came out on the deck," he said, "I saw about twenty bodies burned almost beyond recognition. I had to step over one to get down the ladder. One man actually was hanging from his neck from a rafter, where he had been blown from the deck. I also saw Lt. Comdr. George Stone and six men take a dolly and push a 500-pound bomb over the side."

Below decks conditions were even worse. Hundreds of crewmen were locked in water-tight compartments, the doors being slammed shut instantly when the ship was hit. Added to the horror of the explosions and the overwhelming fear that the carrier was sinking, while being trapped below decks, was the dense suffocating smoke that filled many compartments. Many died from want of air. A great many more were led to safety by courageous members of the crew wearing rescue breathers. Lines of men crawled on hands and knees through smoke filled compartments below decks to find egress at some welcome scuttle.

About 150 enlisted men were locked in an after mess hall on the third deck below when their compartment filled with smoke. Choking, they wrapped damp handkerchiefs or towels over their nostrils and waited, praying. Lt. Comdr. J. L. Fuelling, Indianapolis, a ship doctor, calmed them. Several gave way to panic. An hour and a half later Lt. (jg) Donald Gary, Oakland, Calif., fuel and water officer, entered the compartment. He led them out by groups, taking the men to a still lower deck to the engine room so they might climb out an escape vent to the top deck.

Saved by Flashlight

A lucky flashlight saved Warrant Electrician J. J. Wolf, Boston, Mass., who was on duty at the switchboard below decks.

"It was so black I couldn't see," he related. "One man went up the escape hatch and an explosion blew him back down. Two more men followed, and were blown back. One man died holding on to me, his hands slipping away as he fell. I passed out as I started up. My flashlight was on and I was told later that someone saw it from above and went down and hauled me out."

Each man's escape was a bit of drama, although the majority of the casualties occurred in the initial blast. Rescue scenes were taking place all over the ship and one saw only what was occurring in his own circumscribed area.

This correspondent, who had left the riddled "island" structure fifteen minutes before the bombing, was led out to the forecastle deck with a party of twenty-five others about forty minutes after the blasts began. There were 400 or 500 men huddled on the deck. Fear showed in their faces.

The remark, "I've never been so scared in my life," became so common that everyone grinned when he heard it. Wounded were carried to the deck on litters and covered with blankets. Everyone donned lifejackets from a pile on the deck, while seamen slashed ropes, dropped life rafts and lines over the side. Then the group stood about, waiting interminable hours for orders.

The public address system was blown out immediately making communication impossible. Shivering in the chill air, men began wrapping blankets around them, or went into an officers' area and helped themselves to coats. For some time the ship made headway at eight knots, then finally stood dead in the water.

Destroyers Circle Flattop

One man, sliding down a line at the fantail of the carrier, caught his leg near the water line and hung head down, drowned, dipping under and out of the sea as the carrier rolled in the swells. He hung there for several hours. Destroyers and cruisers circled the wounded flattop protectingly while friendly planes droned overhead.

The fight to save the mighty carrier began immediately, although commanding officers on other ships believed it impossible. Damage and fire control parties labored indominately amidships playing fire hoses on the flames while shrapnel burst around them. Capt. L. E. Gehres, standing on the bridge at the time, was knocked down by the blast and almost suffocated by smoke. He was uninjured.

"I won't abandon this ship," he told his commanding officers.

Cmdr. Joe Taylor, executive officer, standing on the flight deck, also was floored by the blast. He immediately began fighting fires, jettisoning ammunition, assisting the wounded and visiting various parts of the ship to serve as an inspiration to the men aboard, Lt. Cmdr. David Berger, Elkins Park, Philadelphia, the ship's public relations officer, reported.

Each succeeding explosion appeared to make the loss of the ship inevitable. The captain, alone, could make the decision and his faith held fast. Two flag officers aboard shortly were transferred to a destroyer by "travelers."

Capt. Harold C. Fitz, commanding the U.S.S. Fanta Fe, a light cruiser, was ordered to assume command of the rescue operations within an hour after the bombing. Four destroyers were detailed to assist.

Blast Rocks Ship

The Santa Fe took some lines and came alongside once, its fire hoses playing on the flaming carrier deck, then cast off when there was doubt whether the carrier's magazines had been flooded. The carrier rocked with a mighty explosion at the stern about 10 o'clock, three hours after the bombing. Circling quickly, the cruiser charged in across the bow, turned starboard, and stopped, almost rubbing the carrier's decks. The wholesale evacuation began, as the ships pounded together in the swells.

A broken 3- or 4-inch gasoline line in the after part of the hangar deck spilled flaming 100-octane fuel for several hours, turning that part into a cauldron of fire. Burning gasoline spilled over the side of the carrier and blazed on the sea below. Fire hoses from the cruiser would not reach this area.

"I was watching and saw three men go into that fire and smoke and shut that line off," L. E. Blair, chief carpenter on the cruiser, related. "It was about three hours after the ship was hit. It wasn't until then that they were able to begin to bring the fire under control. I don't know who they were, but if those boys are alive, they deserve a medal."

Blair said that 40-millimeter shells were going off "like firecrackers" and finally, 5-inch shells on one of the after gun mounts began exploding, cutting two of the cruisers' five fire hoses. Flames blazed around the mounts, even coming out gun muzzles. A final explosion at the stern of the carrier rocked it again about 11 o'clock, four hours after the attack.

Wounded Removed

By this time the Franklin was listing so steeply to starboard toward the cruiser that it was difficult to keep one's footing on the decks. Once the wounded were across, men began scrambling to get aboard the cruiser. Some ran frantically over a projecting radio antenna from the carrier to leap to the decks of the cruiser. One lost his footing and fell between the ships, but quickly was hauled up the cruiser's sides on a line. Others swung agilely across on other lines.

Non-swimmer Harry Inberg, ordnanceman third class, Utica, N. Y., was in a hurry. Slipping in a carrier passageway, he fell two decks, ran up again, and leaped overboard without a life jacket. He thrashed around in the water, seized a line from the cruiser and was pulled aboard after only a brief wetting.

A catwalk was finally placed between the flight deck of the carrier and the top of one of the cruiser's turrets. The hundreds massed on the flight deck streamed across until the crowd seemed to melt away. Within two hours and a half the Santa Fe had taken 826 persons aboard, including this correspondent, leaving only the skeleton crew to battle for the ship. About 12:30 o'clock the cruiser cast off, ending a ticklish time when both were vulnerable to Japanese air attacks.

The still-smoking Franklin took a line from another cruiser and was placed in tow, limping along south at 3 knots. Destroyers and cruisers continued to circle.

Jap Planes Return

About 1 o'clock the first Japanese plane slipped through the protecting air patrol and made a bomb run on the carrier. Its bombs set up a geyser of water at the stern of the ship only thirty minutes after the transfer of personnel was completed. Survivors aboard the Santa Fe, still clinging to life jackets and steel helmets, dashed below decks as the anti-aircraft fired.

Two hours later another Jap plane appeared in the skies, but did not make a bomb run. Both were reported shot down by protecting combat air patrol planes, as was the Japanese plane which bombed the carrier.

The tortuous tow picked up speed gradually to put nautical miles between it and the empire. The impossible was happening. The unsinkable Franklin was heading toward safely almost from the shores of Japan.

Pearl Harbor, April 7 [AP—Delayed]—Darting from a cloud dead ahead of a fast carrier task force only 63 miles from Japan, a Japanese dive bomber struck the United States aircraft carrier Franklin and set off one of this war's great episodes of heroic action.

In the next ten hours almost 100 tons of explosives and many thousands of gallons of aviation gasoline were fired and shook the great carrier as she steamed out of control straight for Japan.

341 Dead, 431 Missing

She suffered 1,102 casualties or more than one third of her men, and she was attacked five more times by Japanese dive bombers attempting to "finish off the cripple."

But she escaped and finally reached an American port to have her hurts repaired, to "convalesce" and to get ready to fight her enemies again.

[In New York Capt. Leslie E. Gehres, of Coronado, Cal., skipper of the carrier, said the casualties included 832 men killed and missing and 270 wounded. The Navy revealed that the repair job is being done at the Brooklyn Navy Yard.]

Individual Bravery High

To explain the miracle of this to an American who never has seen one of his nation's great carriers in battle action is difficult. The miracle is that any ship could live through three days of such terrific pounding and fires. For a carrier—a mass of metal and a maze of delicate instruments packaging an arsenal of explosives and high-octane gasoline—to achieve it is a testimonial to the ruggedness of American ships and the courage of the men who man them.

There probably will be no greater story written of individual bravery in this war than those of the men of the Franklin who defied the bursting bombs, the blazing gasoline and the Japanese; declined to abandon ship and finally brought the Franklin through, battle-scarred and flame-seared on every inch of her upper decks, but with her band playing "The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used To Be."

Her beloved chaplain, Lieut. Com. Joseph Timothy O'Callahan, "that Irishman from Boston," and Lieut. (jg) Donald A. Gary of Oakland, Cal., both performed almost superhuman feats of bravery during three days and nights that virtually were without sleep.

Captain Shows Bravery

And Captain Gehres, who calls Father Timothy "the bravest man I've ever known," himself displayed a brand of courage that saved his ship under conditions that threatened to kill every man aboard.

"She should be taken on a tour of the United States, if that were possible, to show people back home what one or two tiny enemy bombs can do, for that was what started this," said Marine Major Herbert Elliott, of Pueblo, Col., of the Franklin's Marine detachment, as he directed a party of correspondents through the tangle of debris on the flight deck.

"They've been working at this mess for three weeks and still haven't got it cleared away."

All Elevators Jammed

"We found another body only today," said Captain Gehres. "There may be others in the wreckage but I believe this was the last."

All elevators of the Franklin were jammed; there were huge holes torn in the flight deck. There were battered pieces of airplane motors, all that remained of the ship's many planes after the flames consumed them. The flight deck was charred from bow to stern.

Captain Gehres said the attack occurred at 7.07 A.M. March 19, about 63 miles east of the Japanese Inland Sea as the Franklin prepared to launch its planes against the Japanese mainland.

The Franklin's planes were on the flight deck, loaded with bombs and gas for takeoffs. The Japanese plane came out of the cloud so fast it escaped the Franklin's guns and dropped a bomb that pierced the top deck and exploded below.

One Explosion After Another

"We were heavily loaded with bombs, torpedoes and fighter rockets and flames shot almost immediately from the hangar deck and enveloped the whole forward flight deck," said Captain Gehres.

"There was another big explosion and I saw we were hit amidships and two or three minutes later the bombs and gasoline tanks of the planes on the flight deck began exploding."

From then until almost mid-afternoon there was one explosion after another as the planes and then the magazines blew up.

"We had about 50 tons of bombs, torpedoes and rockets and about 50 tons of other stuff aboard and it went up," the captain said.

"The first explosion knocked me down and when I got to the bridge the flames were shooting out of the hangar deck and enveloped the whole forward flight deck.

130 Degrees In Engine Rooms

"All the explosions shook the ship pretty badly and knocked a lot of people off into the water. Some of the stuff dropped through to the hangar deck and one explosion killed everyone forward on the hangar deck.

"The smaller stuff, the 20 and 50 mm. machine-gun ammunition, was popping around the bridge like strings of firecrackers going off.

"About 8 o'clock we transferred Admiral Ralph Davidson and his flag staff to another ship. By that time the men in the engine rooms were collapsing; it was about 130 degrees down there and filled with smoke.

"I told them to set all instruments so that we could keep steaming, and get out. We were heading straight for Japan and couldn't do anything about it because we couldn't steer but we had to keep moving.

Cruiser Comes To Aid

"We kept right on running for about 45 minutes, although there was nobody in the engine rooms. Then we went dead in the water.

"Many of the men jumped overboard or were blown overboard and some were picked up by other ships. The cruiser Santa Fe had come up and we were transferring the stretcher cases and others who were badly wounded. We got the last of the stretcher cases over about noon. The Santa Fe backed away as the two ships were banging together in the rough seas and causing some damage. We had a list of about fourteen degrees. Later the Santa Fe came back and helped fight the fire, even though it was a very dangerous thing for them to do. One magazine blew up and threw fragments over the Santa Fe's decks.

Worst Of Fires Out

"I want to be sure Capt. H. C. Fitz of the Santa Fe gets credit for what he did. It took nerve."

Some time later the cruiser Pittsburgh came alongside but it took four hours to get a towline secured on the Franklin.

During this operation a Japanese plane attacked again, making a low-level strafing run and bombing attack that missed the mark.

"By this time the worst of the fires were out, but some of the rockets still were exploding," said Captain Gehres. "Some of them roared across the decks, killing the people in their paths, and shooting out to sea, where they narrowly missed other ships. Many men were killed or injured by them. It was a nightmare."

Catholic Chaplain Brave

The Japanese sent out many other planes to "finish off" the crippled Franklin.

"There was only one twin-gun mount, forward, operating," said Captain Gehres. "Many of the gunners had been killed, but this gun was manned by a Marine orderly; two Marine aviation mechanics, a mess cook, a messenger, a bugler and two gunner's mates.

"They had to operate the mount by hand, but they swung it around on a Jap that attacked, and despite all handicaps they forced the Jap off his course, and his bombs went into the water, 100 feet off the stern, without damage.

During the early hours of the attack Captain Gehres said the Catholic chaplain, who is a Jesuit, was "everywhere," helping wounded, fighting fires and administering last rites to the dying.

Man Killed On Each Side Of Him

"He always was where the situation was the toughest, and I saw him in front of a huge billow of smoke, holding a fire hose and encouraging others to go in with him while he extinguished flames," said the captain. "He didn't hesitate a moment to go where nobody else would go. I even saw him go into an ammunition magazine, where there was a fire.

"There was a man killed on each side of him, but he was unhurt. A turret began smoking and I yelled down to get a hose and wet down the ammunition locker before it exploded. The chaplain couldn't hear me, in the noise, and he came over and asked what I wanted.

"With another Irishman, Lieut. Com. McGregor Kirkpatrick, he got a hose and stood there and wet the locker, which might have blown up any moment, killing the both of them.

"After that the chaplain went to another gun mount and started jettisoning ammunition.

Sleeps Like A Baby

"Five men had been trapped for hours under a hatch with 10 feet of water over it but we finally got them out. I'd been trying to make the chaplain get some rest but he wouldn't. Well, we got a big slug of whisky down each of the rescued men, because they needed it, and I got the chaplain to take it, as medicine, and he took a big drink.

"It put him to sleep and he slept like a baby for several hours and then he was up and going again. The next day there was another fire aboard the ship and he went in and fought it himself. He is the most fearless man I've ever seen.

"Then we had to clear out some bodies, and that is a job most men are very reluctant to undertake. The chaplain led the men and directed them and they made no complaint."

Lieutenant Gary found about 300 men trapped in a mess compartment where they would have suffocated. The lights all were out and they became panic-stricken.

"In navy slang they were beating their gums (screaming and shouting) and they also were beating their heads against the bulkhead," said the captain. "Lieutenant Gary found them, quieted them and then told them he would find a way out. He crawled around and found a means of escape and then came back and led the others up. He went back three times, at the risk of his life, and got everyone out."

Another hero was Dr. James L. Fuelling. Captain Gehres said he "was all over the ship, fighting fires." Still another was Lieut. (jg) Robert Wassman, who rescued the five men trapped under a hatch.

Besides rescuing the 300 trapped men, Lieutenant Gary volunteered to lead a party down to the boiler rooms, where it was 130 degrees, to fire the boilers. They got them started again and the Franklin was able to make several knots under her own power, despite many steam leaks and ruptured pipes. This happened during the night of March 19 and by 10 A.M. next morning the Franklin could make 16 knots and so it cast off from the Pittsburgh.

70 Officers Unfit For Duty

The ship was under attack from the Japanese several times the first day after she was hit and it wasn't until three days later that the last of the attacks was made.

In all this time there was little food and water but Father O'Callahan found some sausage and bread the first day and a destroyer came alongside and threw over a sack of bread. Later the men were able to get the mess galley operating and found some unspoiled food aboard.

When muster was taken the first night after the attack only 250 persons answered for many still were trapped under decks. There were 70 officers unfit for duty. The next morning there were 350 men and 101 officers and by the next day 603 men and 103 officers.

Captain Gehres said almost 800 people were killed or missing and about 250 were wounded but the casualty list might change when a final check was received from all ships that had picked up survivors.

Even the ship's band proved themselves heroes. With most of their instruments destroyed, they improvised and used a galley tub for a drum; a galvanized bucket for a snare drum; a glass jug for a bass fiddle.

"It was a pretty hot band, recruited from big name bands in the States," said the captain.

They helped the wounded and they fought fires until the afternoon of the twenty-second when things began to cool. Then they went to the captain and asked permission to play.

Use Improvised Instruments

"It had been the custom for them to serenade destroyers that came alongside the Franklin on errands for destroyers have no bands, of course," said the captain.

"There was a destroyer alongside trying to help us, and so they wanted to serenade it. I gave them permission and with their improvised instruments they played several pieces, including 'Roll Out the Barrel.'"

When they came into harbor they also were playing, as was their practice.

This time it was "The Old Gray Mare Ain't What She Used to Be."

Japan's Oil Refineries, Tanks Blasted by B-29s

Lindsey

GUAM, Friday, May 18.—(AP)—Japan's largest oil storage area and one of her largest oil refineries were put out of operation along with two important military landing stations in a 400-Superfortress strike May 10 on her oil resources.

The damages was disclosed today by photographs.

Targets in the first full scale Superfort attack on the Nipponese oil industry were Otake oil refinery on the western shore of the Inland sea; Tokiyama naval fuel station and Tokyuama coal yards and synthetic fuel factory on southwest Monshu, and the Oshima naval oil storage center on an island in Tsushima strait outside the Shimonoseki entrance to the Inland sea.

12 Tanks Destroyed

In the attack on Tokiyama, only 15 per cent of the total target area escaped damage. Twelve storage tanks were included in installations destroyed.

Tokyuama targets included the empire's No. 1 naval fuel depot for the Japanese army. The two fuel bases adjoin each other.

Only five of 65 storage tanks at Oshima remain usable. Storage capacity of this small island base constituted the Japanese navy's greatest oil storage area.

At Otake oil refinery, only two small pockets in extreme corners of the plant area escaped damage. Bomb damage was distributed over the entire area, closing down operations of one of Japan's largest oil refineries.

Post-raid photographs for accurately estimating damage done on two 500-plane B-29 incendiary bomb attacks on Nagoya Monday and Thursday are not yet available, but crewmen are confident they almost knocked out Japan's third largest city as a war producer.

Crewmen reported yesterday's 3500-ton fire bomb raid left the 16-square mile Nagoya target area a huge, flaming smokepot.

"By the time we left Nagoya, smoke was billowing thousands of feet into the air," said Lt. W. C. Loehner, Milwaukee, Wis.

(The 20th Airforce reported at Washington that the entire southern area of Nagoya "was in flames including the Mitsubishi aircraft plant and the big dock area" after the heavy attack).

The communique said that smoke from the ruins of a previous attack on Nagoya, made last Monday, rendered complete reconnaissance impossible but that visual observation indicated the target area was well covered and large fires started.

(There were no losses of Superfortresses to enemy action on the latest attack, the Washington communique said).

The great B-29 strike, centered on aircraft, arsenal and other war industry plants in a 16-square mile area adjoining the waterfront, was the second incendiary raid on the city in 68 hours by planes exceeding 500 in strength.

Nagoya has been hit 14 times by Superfort squadrons in demolition and fire bomb raids since last November, when the B-29s started attacking Nippon from their Marianas bases.

Sgt. Ray Karpowicz, Madison, Ill., radioman and veteran of all 14 raids on Nagoya, said "I don't believe there's much left of the city."

But contrasting with the Japanese claim of quick mastery of the flames, the American fliers said that when they came over the city at low level for their bomb runs yesterday they could see fires set in the previous Monday raid still burning.

Promises Daily Raids

In Washington, Undersecretary of War Patterson promised Japan almost daily bombing raids, supporting forecasts by high ranking aviation officers that Nippon soon will feel increasingly shattering blows as European squadrons add their strength to Pacific air bases.

"I guess its safe to predict that from now on there will be almost daily strikes against Japanese industry," said Patterson.

In the Nagoya attack yesterday, more than 1,000,000 pounds of six-pound gasoline jelly incendiaries were dropped on such plants as the Aichi Aircraft company, the Atsuta Engine company, the Mitsubishi Aircraft assembly plant, reputedly the world's largest of its type, and aluminum, locomotive and munitions factories.

Also swept up in the flames were great numbers of small home factories which employ a large portion of Nagoya's 1,500,000 residents in turning out parts for Nippon's war machines.

OKINAWA BATTLE IS NOW NEARING DECISIVE STAGE

Sixth Division Enters Capital after Crossing Asoto River.

CITY IN RUINS

Yanks Reach Outskirts of Fortress after Surprise Night Attack.

GUAM, Friday, May 18 — (AP) The battle for Okinawa was reaching a decisive stage today as troops of the 10th U. S. army battled in the capital city, Naha, and closed in from three sides on Shuri, keystone of the Japanese "little Siegfried line."

Asato River

Elements of the Sixth Marine division penetrated to the heart of debris-cluttered Naha yesterday after throwing a small bridgehead across the Asato river estuary on the west coast, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported in today's communique.

A surprise night attack by the 77th Infantry division drove through rough ground to the outskirts of Ishimmi town, within 2,000 yards of the heart of walled and moated Shuri in the center of the line.

Bitter Battle Rages

In bitter, bloody battling, the 96th Infantry division fought westward toward Shuri, Okinawa's second largest city. The 96th was fighting for Love Hill, which is 1,400 yards due east of the fortress.

First Marine Division troops drove into Wana town with a tank-led spearhead. This action, between the Sixth Marine and 77th Division sectors, helped straightened out a sharp Japanese salient into American lines northwest of Shuri. Wana town is about 500 yards east of the northern fringes of Shuri.

Entry of the Sixth division Marines into Naha marks the beginning of a tough fight to clear the ruined city, which had a population of 66,000 before Vice Adm. John S. McCain's fast carrier task force made the first American bombing attack on it last Oct. 10.

Naha has been the major goal of Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr.'s 10th Army troops since the Okinawa battle settled into a slow, grinding siege five days after the virtually unopposed Yank landings April 1.

Big Airfield Near City

Beyond Naha to the south lies Naha airfield, largest and best on Okinawa.

Units of Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr.'s Sixth Marine division in the late afternoon fanned out to capture Sugar Loaf Hill, 700 yards northeast of Takomotoji village. This indicated the leathernecks who fought into the very heart of Naha had bypassed a Japanese garrison, leaving fellow Marines to clean up behind them. Takomotoji is at the northern suburbs of Naha.

On the left flank of the Third Marine Amphibious corps, between Naha and Shuri, Nimitz said troops of the First Marine division reached Wana town. This advance by Maj. Gen. Pedro De Valle's troops also had been chronicled in front line dispatches by Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland.

Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th Infantry division encountered strong resistance in the hill masses around Ishimmi and in ridges around Conical hill as it moved westward from the east coast to assist the 77th and First Marine divisions in their assault on Shuri.

The 96th made some progress in the destruction of Japanese strongholds, Nimitz said.

Haugland reported that near Conical hill, one company of the 96th division engaged in a grenade throwing contest with Japanese, then was attacked by an estimated 200 enemy soldiers who exposed themselves to rifle fire as they appeared at the top of a ridge.

Attack Repulsed

The attack was led by an officer wearing polished boots and white gloves. After the attack was repulsed, doughboys counted 46 Japanese bodies, including that of the booted officer.

Pfc. Robert Coy, Petoskey, Mich., killed eight of these attackers.

Escort carrier planes joined land-based Marine aircraft, heavy artillery and naval gunfire in support of this ground action.

Nimitz reported that 25,000 tons of shells ranging from destroyers' 5-inches, through cruisers' 6 and 8 inchers and battleships 14-inch guns were poured into the Japanese Okinawa fortifications through Tuesday. Heavy naval bombardment preceded the April 1 invasion and was resumed some days later as the depth and strength of the southern Okinawa defenses became apparent.

That tonnage represented possibly a quarter-million rounds.

Mustang fighters from the Army's 7th Fighter command on Iwo Jima took over the task of sweeping to the Japanese homeland for the day, making low level attacks on Atsugi airfield near Tokyo. They destroyed seven aircraft, probably destroyed two and damaged 33. Intense antiaircraft destroyed one Mustang.

The British Pacific fleet returned to its periodic attacks on the Sakishima islands, southernmost of the Ryukyus, Wednesday and Thursday after several days of silence as to its whereabouts.

British carrier planes destroyed two small craft, left a coastal cargo ship and a lugger in a sinking condition and damaged two small cargo ships, two luggers and six barges.

They also created a large explosion in Ohama town, fired an oil dump, strafed motor vehicles loaded with troops and damaged seven airplanes.

Army Liberators strafed a small cargo ship or escort vessel between Paramushiro and Shimushu in the northern Kuriles and damaged two enemy fighters which attacked them. Marine fliers attacked the Marshalls and Palaus.

One Marine patrol roamed the Naha ruins for five hours and encountered only one living human—a Jap soldier who tossed a grenade that wounded two Marines.

"Nearly every building in Naha is leveled," one member of the patrol told Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland. "In the doorways lay charred bodies of Jap soldiers. Once we had to crawl around a mound of debris and stinking corpses."

Edge Closer to Shuri.

At the other end of the Jap four-mile Shuri Line across southern end of [illegible] tank unit of the Ninety-sixth Infantry Division fought to within 200 yards of the eastern defense anchor of Yonabaru.

Shuri, castle-like fortress in the center of the line, was being assaulted in yard-by-yard advances by other elements of the Ninety-sixth and by the First Marine and Seventy-seventh Infantry divisions. A Tenth Army spokesman said that once the inner ring of Shuri's defenses are penetrated, the end of the Okinawa campaign will be in sight.

Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's Thursday communique said the troops were being supported by tanks, aircraft, field artillery and naval gunfire and that Shuri was subjected to heavy bombardment through Wednesday.

He announced that 46,505 Japs had been killed in Okinawa and 3,038 captured through May 15, in a month and a half of fighting. Tenth Army losses, through May 14, were 3,781 killed, 165 missing and 17,004 wounded.

Some 36,000 Japs and Okinawan troops, many of them probably wounded, are believed still fighting—on the basis of estimates by Lieut.-Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., Tenth Army commander.

Jap Planes Attack.

Twelve Jap planes approached shipping off Okinawa Tuesday evening. Nine were shot down and the others were forced to retire without inflicting damage. A few others bombed American-held airfields on Okinawa Wednesday morning, causing slight damage. One plane was destroyed. Escort carrier planes, attacking the Sakishima group, southern Ryukyus, destroyed five Jap planes.

Privateers, Liberators and Venturas sank two medium freighters and heavily damaged a medium freighter-transport and a small cargo ship off Korea.

YANKS CLOSING MINDANAO TRAP

Hampson

MANILA, Friday, May 18—(AP) Forward elements of the 40th and 31st divisions narrowed to 45 road miles Wednesday the jaws on a trap closing on a sizable force of Japanese in central Mindanao, southern Philippines. Today's headquarters communique disclosed the gains.

The Yank divisions squeezed tighter the trap along the Sayre highway. The 31st pushed six miles north to the edge of Valencia, an air center, after putting into operation the captured Maramag airstrip for transport planes.

The 40th, driving south after emerging on the high plateau around Del Monte air base center, made slight progress against a powerful concentration of enemy defenses based on Mangima canyon. This canyon runs through sweeping plains and its hillsides are covered with 12-foot Cogon grass. The 40th underwent mortar artillery fire.

The 24th division carried on the gruelling job of compressing a trapped enemy force around Davao and Talomo rivers.

In central Luzon island, an enemy force of at least regimental strength, well supplied with artillery, mortars and small arms, has been enveloped by the 43rd division pressing in on Ipo dam, Manila's chief water source. This marks the first time in the Philippines campaign that a force of this size has been surrounded. The doughboys beat off one counter attack, killing 14 Nips.

Australian invasion forces on Tarakan island, off Borneo have advanced to within less than a mile of the east coast.

DAY

On the west coast of Borneo, patrol planes destroyed 15 warehouses at the oil center of Balikpapan. They also attacked shipyards on the southeast coast.

On the northwest coast of Formosa, the major Japanese air base at Shinchiku was blanketed with 183 tons of explosives. The airdrome, rail yards, the town's business district, rolling stock and many buildings were smashed.

Patrol bombers ranged along the Asiatic coast. They hit the University airdrome at Canton and rail facilities in French Indo-China.

Troops of the veteran U. S. 25th infantry division today assaulted enemy positions on formidable ridges at the north side of Balete pass in their push toward the Japanese Cagayan valley stronghold in northern Luzon.

Torrential rains that paralyzed traffic on steep roads winding through clay hills slowed the advance. The immediate objective was Santa Fe, on the north side of the pass and four miles distant.

A dispatch from Associated Press War Correspondent James Hutcheson, who is with the 25th, disclosed that the skillful defense of Balete pass, captured earlier this week, had been conducted by bespectacled Colonel Hayashi. It was Hayashi who left the Santo Tomas internment camp under American escort last February in exchange for the safety of several thousand internees.

The division reported 10,000 Japanese dead and 120 prisoners had been counted during the 120-day fight for the pass.

Yanks Advance Five Miles On Mindanao

schedler

Manila, May 17 (AP)—American 31st Division doughboys drove 5 miles along Sayre Highway in mountainous north central Mindanao while another veteran outfit, the 24th Division, was still locked in close combat today with fanatical Japanese trapped near Davao City.

The push north of captured Maramag put the 31st within 8 miles of the Valencia air fields and 55 miles from the 40th Infantry Division. The latter is driving south from Del Monte along Sayre Highway. Between these two forces the bulk of an estimated 50,000 enemy troops on this second largest Philippine island was preparing for a last-ditch stand in wild hill country of Bukidnon Province.

Battling Powerful Force

Veterans of the 40th Division, who landed a week ago at Macajalar Bay on the north coast, were battling a powerful force south of Del Monte. Gen. Douglas MacArthur and [illegible] today's communique. They advanced slightly against strong resistance.

NIGHT

Northwest of Davao, the 24th slowly dug enemy troops out of entrenched positions between the Talomo and Davao rivers. Deep grass permitted the Japanese to steal through Yank lines and guns often were abandoned for knives, bayonets and fists in fierce infighting.

A Marine dive bomber silenced one of several troublesome Japanese naval guns across Davao Straits and speedy P-T boats, in a daring daylight crossing of Davao Gulf, destroyed six 70-foot torpedo boats and one barge, fired four fuel and ammunition dumps and knocked out a pillbox at Pisco Point, Japanese secret naval base.

Halted By Rains

On Luzon, guerrilla forces harassed Japanese garrisons at Tuguegarao and along Highway Four in Southern Cagayan Valley, but the doughboy drive down the road from Balete Pass was halted by heavy rains.

East of Manila, two prongs of a powerful 43d Infantry Division pincers closed to within 1,000 yards of each other and compressed a strong enemy force near the Ipo dam watershed, source of Manila's water.

The 1st Cavalry Division pushed up the east coast toward a small, unused Japanese seaplane base south of Infanta.

Dutch troops landed unopposed on the southern tip of Tarakan island off the Borneo coast and captured some ammunition dumps. Inland, on the island, Australians cleaned out a strong Japanese position.

Say British Destroyer Was Sunk Near Singapore—New Link-Up North of Rangoon

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17 (AP)—Domei, Japanese news agency, reported today that Japanese surface units engaged a British task force in Malacca Strait at dawn yesterday.

One British destroyer was sunk, said the Japanese-language broadcast, beamed to occupied Asia. It said the British force was composed of two cruisers and three destroyers. The strait lies between Malaya and Sumatra.

There was no Allied confirmation of the report. If true, it would be the first British penetration so close to Singapore since the port fell to the Japanese early in 1942.

The broadcast was recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

Japs Preparing People For Defeat on Okinawa

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17—(AP) Japanese newspapers did spade-work today preparing the national mind for word of defeat on Okinawa and erecting a bulwark against war jitters.

Radio Tokyo [illegible] matter which we pick [illegible] American offensive on Okinawa was pictured as "extremely severe and concentrated" and warned that "there is no room for optimistic thinking forever."

The broadcast, heard by the FCC, quoted a writer of the newspaper Mainichi as cautioning the Japanese against losing their "presence of mind" while faced with "unfavorable developments."

Everyone "from the highest to the humblest" should maintain an attitude of "stout-hearted self-composure," said the editorial.

A home radio commentator, speaking against the background of devastation wrought by 500-plane Superfortress raids on Nagoya Monday and Thursday, said that with the Axis crushed in Europe the Japanese should expect bombs to drop "not only on our factories but on our farms as well."

"We have the feeling that we are now on board a huge battleship," the commentator said.

Other broadcasts said 17 Superforts sewed mines today in the strait between southwestern Honshu and northern Kyushu islands of the Japanese homeland, and 10 or more other "enemy planes" planted mines in the Bungo strait between Kyushu and Shikoku island.

The mining reports were not confirmed by American sources, but several days ago U. S. Superfort headquarters on Guam said such operations were under way with the intent of blocking Japanese merchant and naval shipping.

Another unconfirmed Tokyo broadcast said 14 bombers from American Aleutian bases raided Japanese installations at Paramushiro in the Kuriles, northeast of the Nipponese home island, and claimed two Liberators were shot down.

Unofficial Jap Peace Feelers On Increase

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Under Secretary of War Patterson was asked at a news conference today about a report that the Office of Strategic Services had received a peace overture from Japan. He replied that he hadn't heard of it and added:

"My only comment would be that I don't believe it, but they might surprise me."

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Japanese diplomats and business men in neutral capitals are stepping up their efforts to find some loophole in the Allied formula of unconditional surrender.

Diplomatic quarters, emphasizing the unofficial nature of these activities, reported today that the number of individual and purely private peace feelers has grown markedly since the fall of Manila and the invasion of Okinawa.

The usual technique is for a Japanese to request a neutral to inquire around among Americans for their "real ideas" on peace terms. There is nothing definite about these inquiries except the suggestion that Japan might consider almost anything except unconditional surrender.

No Definite Offer

Not a word has been heard through official channels about specific terms, it is learned. Current reports that a definite offer had been received by the office of strategic services were discounted here by high officials conversant with Japanese affairs.

Each private inquiry wafted toward Washington is given careful study here according to what seems to be its merits and possibilities. One appeared, for instance, to have originated among the zaibatsu or wealthy families of Japan, but could never be positively identified as such. There was some suggestion that another might have originated in court circles, but this was not borne out subsequently.

Officials emphasized that the lack of any official nature in these hints of a Japanese interest in peace make them practically worthless.

Truman Gives Warning

The American attitude was summed up by President Truman in his V-E day warning to the Japanese that the unconditional-surrender formula was their own way out.

"Our blows," said the President, "will not cease until the Japanese military and naval forces lay down their arms in unconditional surrender." He then pointed out that this would not mean the extermination or enslavement of the Japanese people but would mean the end of the war and their present sufferings.

This statement, it is understood, was intended to serve notice on Japanese leaders that vague hints and feelers about peace would avail them nothing until they became official and, therefore, representative of the miiltary clique which today controls Japanese political affairs.

JAPS FISHING FOR PEACE SIGNS

WASHINGTON, May 17—(AP) Individual Japanese in neutral countries are fishing for signs of peace short of unconditional surrender, but thus far no official peace bid has been received from Japan, it was learned today.

Particularly since the fall of Manila, a number of Japanese have urged neutrals to learn the "real American attitude" but these Japanese specify only that unconditional surrender is impossible for Japan and suggest no definite terms. Asked about reports that the Office of Strategic Services had received a definite Japanese peace bid, officials here familiar with Japanese affairs said they knew of nothing of that kind.

They stressed the futility of informal, personal peace feelers, representing as they do no authority from the militarists who still control Japan's destiny. All the evidence in American hands indicates that this element has no self-interest in facing the prospect of unconditional surrender and probably will not face it until Japanese military pride has been brought considerably lower.

The cabinet of Admiral Kantaro Suzuki, the new premier, is a strong one composed of some of the empire's best production experts with emphasis on the development of the war potential in Korea and Manchuria.

Until a peace bid bears unmistakably the stamp of Japan's real rulers, it means nothing except possibly to indicate factional and minority trends in Japan, according to the view here.

While one peace inquiry may have originated with the wealthy classes of Japan and another appeared to have been associated at one stage with the Japanese court, both fizzled out because there was no hint that they represented the intentions of the militarists who run the govenment in Tokyo.

American policy, it is learned, is based on the idea that to give unmerited attention to such unofficial feelers would lead Japanese militarists to believe that this country would actually accept a peace short of unconditional surrender.

Almost Daily Bombings Seen

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—The War Department put Japan on notice today that hereafter the enemy can expect almost daily attacks by United States strategic bombers.

"I guess it's safe to predict that from now on there will be almost daily strikes against Japanese industry," Under-Secretary Patterson said.

He made this observation in discussing the two recent fire attacks on Nagoya by fleets of more than 500 B-29's.

3 SENATORS ATTACK LEND-LEASE TO SOVIET

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Senate Republicans accused the Administration today of a "breach of faith" in continuance of lend-lease to Russia although the Soviet Union is at peace with Japan.

Senator Taft of Ohio told a reporter that all shipments to the U. S. S. R. would cease except those already under contract and those containing arms and supplies for Russian troops pre-occupying 500,000 Japanese on the Manchurian border.

Mr. Taft joined Senators Bridges of New Hampshire and Bushfield of South Dakota in demanding in the Senate that the Administration live up to a pledge against using lend-lease for post-war rehabilitation.

Mr. Bridges charged the State Department with "a studied attempt to continue lend-lease on pretext of a military situation no longer directly connected with the war in Europe."

"We cannot have any diversions of lend-lease for any purpose except to those countries which are vigorously and openly working with us to defeat Japan," Mr. Bridges declared. "This is the clear intent of Congress."

Mr. Bushfield commented that Congressional intent was for lend-lease to go only "to countries aiding the United States in the war and Russia is not at war."

Accepting French Aid Foreseen

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Under Secretary of War Patterson said today he was sure that "any useful French military power" which can be used against Japan "has been or will be accepted by the combined chiefs of staff."

He expressed this view in answer to a news conference question regarding a recent statement by Admiral Barjot, of the French general staff. Barjot said the combined chiefs had rejected repeated requests for use of French forces against the Japanese. Four divisions are ready to go to the Pacific, the Admiral said.

As to these divisions, said Patterson, "the War Department has no knowledge of such an offer, hence no appraisal has been made as to whether this force is equipped, trained, suitable for combat and could be transported to the work of defeating Japan."

All Effective Forces

In concentrating on the defeat of Japan, he said the Allies would use "whatever forces can be used effectively, no matter what their nationality."

He was asked whether Brazilian troops would be redeployed. The Brazilian Expeditionary Force fought on the Italian front.

"So far as I know," Patterson replied, "no provision has been made for redeployment of the Brazilian Expeditionary Force to the Pacific."

"General Clark (the Allied ground force commander on the Italian front) spoke in high terms of the contribution made by the Brazilian Expeditionary Force."

Twelve Okinawa Japs Killed For Each Yank

Erickson

Guam, May 17 (AP)—A total of 46,505 Japanese have been killed on Okinawa by Lieut. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr.'s 10th Army which today pierced the heart of Naha and was fighting on the approaches to Shuri and Yonabaru.

Naha, Shuri and Yonabaru are strongpoints of the four-mile "Little Siegfried Line" across southern Okinawa.

American casualties through Monday were 21,[illegible]

NIGHT

Killed—2,471 soldiers; 1,010 Marine—Total 3,781.

Wounded — 11,675 soldiers, 5,329 Marine—Total 17,004.

Missing—129 soldiers; 36 Marines—Total 165.

The Yanks captured 1,038 Nipponese.

Ratio Of 12 To 1

For the 45 days of savage battling United States forces have lost an average of 84 men killed daily while Japanese have lost an average of 1,011 daily—a ratio of one American to twelve Japanese.

Associated Press Correspondent Alva N. Dopking's frontline dispatch Wednesday indicated United States casualties continued heavy. In a Japanese counterattack Tuesday in the Naha sector one company of 240 Marines had two men left while another had eight.

An estimated 36,000 Japanese remain on the island.

Patrols of Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr.'s 6th Marine Division crossed the Asato Estuary and entered the main part of Naha, rubble-strewn Okinawa capital on the west coast.

Beyond Conical Hill

Across the island, a 96th Infantry Division tank platoon led by First Lieutenant Elon F. Andrews, of Wilmington, N.C., rolled around the left nose of recently captured Conical Hill and drove 800 yards south to within a couple hundred yards of Yonabaru, eastern anchor of the enemy defense line.

Meanwhile, elements of three divisions—the 77th and 96th and the 1st Marine—approached Shuri, a heavy-walled fortress.

After a heavy morning of fighting, the 382d Regiment of the 96th Division gained the top of a near-by hill and worked down the southwest slope slowly to within a few hundred yards of Shuri's moated northeast corner.

Wana Village Entered

Tanks of Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's 1st Marine Division entered Wana village, 500 yards west of Shuri's northern end.

Meanwhile, Shuri, regarded as the key to the whole Okinawa campaign, was given a terrific plastering by Army and Marine artillery and naval gunfire. Once Shuri's inner-ring defenses are penetrated, said a 10th Army spokesman, the end of the Okinawa campaign will be in sight.

Twelve Japanese planes approached shipping off Okinawa Tuesday evening. Nine were shot down and the others were forced to retire without inflicting damage. A few others bombed American-held Yontan and Katena airfields on Okinawa Wednesday morning, causing slight damage.

Escort carrier planes, attacking the Sakishima group, destroyed five Japanese planes. Privateers, Liberators and Venturas sank two medium freighters and heavily damaged a medium freighter-transport and a small cargo ship off Korea.

Men In Foxholes Told They Go Home By Point Plan

Dopking

Okinawa, May 17 (AP)—The war is over for 30 veterans of the Pacific war—tapped on their shoulders in Okinawa foxholes and told by their officers to get ready for home immediately for honorable discharges under the Army's new point system.

They were rounded up after dark last night as the first contingent from the Ryukyus battlefields. They were to leave at once—scheduled to be back in the United States not later than May 24.

News Hard To Believe

Some of the 30 wouldn't believe the good news at first.

NIGHT

First Sergeant Charles W. Laird, of Columbus, Ohio, once he was convinced, tossed his helmet on the ground and whooped. Then he declared: "That damn point system really worked!"

The 30 are mostly veterans of Attu, Kwajalein, Leyte, Guam and Okinawa. None has less than 120 points. The high man was First Sergeant James I. Freshour, 29, of Springfield, Ohio, who has been in the Army almost nine years. He had 138 points.

Cumberland Man In List

Among those to return is Staff Sergeant Charles L. McElfish, of Cumberland, Md.

Most of the talk as the lucky ones leaned on their barracks bags outside the air terminal was about seeing relatives and friends again, sleeping in soft beds and enjoying life.

Some, like T/4 Robert W. Cox, 30, of Grand Island, Neb., were going home to see children. Cox has twin daughters he has never seen, Caroline and Darline, 2-years-old, and three other children. He had just come out of the front line after 39 days of fighting.

General's Farewell Letter

Of the group, 23 are from the veteran 7th Division. The division commander, Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold, sat up until 2 A. M. writing farewell letters to them.

"You've given your full share," he told them. "Now you're returning to our United States to continue your part in the war effort, not as soldiers in uniform, but as soldiers in civilian clothes. You must continue to shoulder the responsibility of making and preserving everlasting peace."

The other men were from the 77th and 96th divisions.

Col. W. H. Biggerstall, adjutant to the 24th Army Corps on Okinawa, said 200 men would be taken from the line and sent home under the point system within the next few days.

EISENHOWER PLOT IS LAID TO CAPTURED NAZI

Skorzeny, Who Rescued Duce, Accused of Scheme to Kill U. S. General.

WAS HIMMLER'S NO. 2 DEPUTY

Meanwhile, Search Is Made of Alpine Passes for Gestapo Chief, Streicher and Von Ribbentrop.

London, May 17—The Luxenbourg radio said today that Lieut.-Col. Otto Skorzeny, one of the chief aids of Heinrich Himmler, had plotted an attempt on the life of Gen. Eisenhower and other high officers before he was captured by the United States Seventh Army.

A giant 6 feet 4 inches tall, Skorzeny was the SS trooper who led the German raiding party that rescued Mussolini after the Italian surrender.

One of the Army's biggest manhunts had been staged for Skorzemy, who was rated as a prize second only to Himmler or Himmler's captured first assistant, Ernst Kaltenbrunner. Skorzeny is suspected of directing the English-speaking Germans disguised as American troops who operated behind American lines during the battle of the Ardennes bulge last winter. One of his bands parachuted at night near Gen. Patton's headquarters during that battle, but the men were rounded up.

Britain Reveals Loss Of 19 More Warships

London, May 17 (A. P.).—The Admiralty announced tonight the loss of the cruiser Curacao, ten destroyers, eight submarines and scores of small craft the destruction of which had been kept secret during the European war.

"Many of these ships became casualties from marine hazards and others as the result of damage sustained by enemy action, including air raids," the announcement said.

QUEEN MARY CUT CRUISER IN TWO

Curacao Hit When Liner Dodged U-Boat Off Ireland

London, Friday, May 18 (AP)—The British cruiser H.M.S. Curacao sank with a loss of 338 officers and men after colliding with the giant liner Queen Mary in the Atlantic Ocean on October 2, 1942, the Admiralty announced today.

The Queen Mary, 84,000-ton Cunard liner in service as a transport, was moving at top speed from the United States toward Scotland with 15,000 American troops aboard and with an escort of two cruisers when the collision occurred in the afternoon approximately 20 miles off the Irish coast at a point northwest of Bloody Foreland county, Donegal.

Two Ships Crash

[Editor's Note—The end of the Curacao was described by Robert B. Cochrane in the first installment of "The Story of the 29th Division," currently running in The Sunday Sun. The Queen Mary was carrying part of the 29th to England at the time of the crash.]

The Queen Mary's lookouts gave an alarm that they had seen a U-boat ahead off the port bow. The giant liner wheeled around to the starboard in an attempt to elude the submarine.

At that moment the Curacao was racing toward the sub at a speed of nearly 30 knots and the two ships crashed.

Cruiser 'Trampled'

An eyewitness declared nothing could have withstood such a shock and the weighty liner "simply trampled" over the light cruiser, which had a displacement of 4,200 tons.

The Queen Mary arrived in the Scottish River Clyde with a great dent in her bows, but the accident did not interrupt the liner's regular sailing schedule.

Survivors from the Curacao, which has a normal complement of about 400 men, were picked up and taken to a hospital near Glasgow. The cruiser's captain, John W. Blackwood, was among those saved.

Curacao Cut In Half

A naval correspondent of the British Press Association said the Curacao was cut in half, with each section being carried a considerable distance on the sides of the huge liner after the ships struck at right angles.

Temporary repairs were made to the Queen Mary at Greenock and a new bow was fitted to the liner when she returned to New York.

Along with the announcement of the loss of the Curacao, the Admiralty disclosed for the first time the loss of ten destroyers, eight submarines and scores of smaller craft the destruction of which had been kept secret during the European war.

One Of War's Worst

Specific details of the collision—considered one of the worst British naval disasters of the war—will be revealed in the Admiralty Division of High Court on June 12.

At that time treasury solicitors acting for the Admiralty will hear claims against Cunard White Star, Ltd., owner of the Queen Mary.

The press association naval correspondent said the collision was the only calamitous incident in the Queen Mary's career as a troop carrier. He added she frequently had dodged U-boat packs and surface raiders and that attempts by enemy agents to smuggle bombs aboard had always failed.

Destroyers lost were the Khartoum, Codrington, Cameron, Gallant, Amori, Legion, Kingston, Punjabi, Lance and Quail.

EDEN BACKS SPEED IN PUNISHING NAZIS

Agrees With Clamor for Quick Action on War Guilt—Hunt for Fugitives Pressed

By The Associated Press.

LONDON, May 17—Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden disclosed today that Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz—Adolf Hitler's successor branded by Moscow as a war criminal—was "under investigation" and, "according to newspaper reports," had been arrested.

His statement came in the House of Commons as both the British and Russian press were clamoring for swift trial of war criminals and demanding that, individually or collectively, the German General Staff be tried along with Nazi gangsters.

A War Crimes Commission official said a decision on what to do with the German military hierarchy probably would be reached at the commission's conference here on May 31.

As history's biggest manhunt for notorious Nazis was pressed from Norway to the Bavarian Alps, the official said the United Nations blacklist of major German war criminals was just about complete.

Mr. Eden also told the Commons that he hoped swift justice would be meted out to Hermann Goering—described by a Commons questioner as "that loathsome criminal." He said he had no information on the whereabouts of Joachim von Ribbentrop, Hitler's Foreign Minister, but said "every step is being taken to arrest Ribbentrop and bring him to justice."

The Foreign Secretary was unable to predict when the trials would begin because "the preparation of charges and the making of necessary arrangements for trial involve consultations with our Allies, and this is bound to take a little time."

Von Ribbentrop, Heinrich Himmler and Julius Streicher were the objects of a search in southern Bavaria and Austria so intense that even American generals of divisions were taking a personal part.

The territory is considered promising, since it has yielded up such top-rung Nazis as Goering and the notorious Dr. Robert Ley, German Labor czar and organizer of the "werewolf" movement, whose capture was announced yesterday.

SS Leader Captured

Today the hunters flushed from that mountainous region Lt. Col. Otto Skorzeny, six foot, four-inch SS trooper who led the German raiding party that freed Mussolini after he was arrested in Rome following the fall of his government.

Max Schmelling, former heavyweight champion, was reported arrested by the British in Hamburg for his activities as a Nazi.

Xavier Schwarz, treasurer of the Nazi party, also was found in the southern mountain territory.

A dispatch from Copenhagen said Karl Schnurre, German Foreign Office trade expert, had been arrested in Denmark. Schnurre appeared in Sweden late in March, ostensibly on a trade mission, but unofficially he was reported bearing peace feelers.

Himmler was known to have been at his summer home east of Berchtesgaden as late as April 27, when it would have been unlikely for him to escape back north by plane, said a Berchtesgaden dispatch by Associated Press correspondent A. I. Goldberg.

Goldberg reported that a concentration of SS men has been huddled for weeks southeast of Berchtesgaden, and it is assumed "they were given an oath to defend their SS Reichsfuehrer, a title Himmler boasted."

Goldberg said that tips from Austrian civilians was believed to have been responsible for most of the more spectacular captures and further tips were speeding the round-up of Nazis still at large.

Xaver Schwarz, treasurer of the Nazi party, also was found in the southern mountain territory now being searched by the U. S. Seventh army.

Of the "Big Five" in the old Nazi gang designated as war criminals by the commission, only Goering is known to be in Allied hands.

Ribbentrop and Himmler are fugitives. Hitler and Propaganda Minister Goebbels both have been reported dead, but the Allies are cautious about pronouncing the deaths official until more conclusive evidence is assembled.

Of the "Big Five" in the old Nazi gang designated as war criminals by the commission, only Goering is known to be in Allied hands.

A reliable source said one reason the commission was refusing to announce the names of others on its war criminal list was that it had not been supplied with the names of those in Allied custody.

Moscow Repeats Changes

In diplomatic quarters here it was taken for granted that Russia would be invited to the coming conference, although the Soviet Union has declined to become a member of the commission and its press has criticized the "slowness" of its operations.

These charges were repeated today. An article in the Army newspaper Red Star, noting that it had taken the commission a long time to prepare the lists of war criminals, commented:

"The question now arises: How much time is going to be required to get these criminals from the lists to the courts?"

The article said Field Marshal Gen. Karl von Rundstedt, Goering and Franz von Papen should be tried quickly, asserting "these are not war prisoners taken on the battlefield," but "seized criminals." The writer declared the Belgians wanted von Rundstedt to answer "for his robbery in the Ardennes" during the German offensive last December, when SS troops shot civilians and burned and looted their homes.

Doenitz War-Guilt Probe On: Eden

London, May 17 (AP) — Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Commons today that the question of war guilt of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, successor to Hitler, was under investigation and that, "according to newspaper reports," Doenitz had been arrested.

He said everything was being done to track down and bring to justice Hitler's Foreign Minister, Joachim von Ribbentrop. He said the Government had no information about his whereabouts.

In reply to another question about whether swift justice would descend upon that "loathsome criminal," Hermann Goering, Eden said firmly: "I hope so."

Refers To War Criminals

The Foreign Secretary, making his first House appearance since returning from San Francisco, declared he could not say at present when war crimes trials would start.

"The preparation of charges and the making of the necessary arrangements for the trials involves consultation with our Allies and this is bound to take a little time," he explained.

His remarks on bringing Ribbentrop to justice were interpreted generally as meaning the former champagne salesman would be tried as a war criminal.

Britain Considering, He Says

One member called Eden's attention to President Truman's appointment of Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson as United States representative and chief of counsel in preparing and prosecuting of charges against war criminals and those responsible for atrocities.

Eden replied that consideration was being given to the appointment of a British representative.

Eden Sees New Peace Charter Better Than Dumbarton Oaks

J. King

LONDON, May [illegible] (AP) Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden confidently predicted today that the San Francisco conference would bring forth a charter better than Dumbarton Oaks, but he solemnly warned that there still were a "number of serious and disquieting issues" clouding the international situation.

Within a few hours after his return from the United States Eden appeared before Commons to make a brief report and to ask for time to consult with Prime Minister Churchill and the rest of the cabinet before going into details of his trip. He appeared tired but confident.

Eden carefully avoided any direct [illegible] issues threatening the harmony of the major powers, but he described some of them as "urgent."

One obviously was the Polish issue, aggravated by Moscow's arrest of 16 Polish leaders, some of whom Britain and the United States had recommended for inclusion in a new and broader Polish government.

Two other issues—a new Austrian provisional government announced by Moscow and negotiations with Marshal Tito over occupation of Trieste—possibly were in Eden's mind as he carefully chose his words.

An indication that Britain and the United States were in complete agreement and acting jointly in approaching these outstanding international problems came from today's terse report.

Cheers came when Eden referred to his talks with President Truman and Joseph Grew, American undersecretary of state, and asserted that these exchanges revealed "how intimate is the understanding between our two countries and how closely similar is our approach to problems of the modern world."

Referring to San Francisco, he said:

"Good progress has been made. Better in many respects than we

PARIS,MAY 17-(AP)-GERMAN PRISONERS OF WAR BY THE THOUSAND ALREADY HAVE BEGUN PAYING IN HARD WORK AND SWEAT THE FIRST INSTALLMENT ON THEIR COUNTRY'S HUGE DEBT TO THE WORLD, AND ONE OF THEIR FIRST TASKS IS AIMED SQUARELY AT THE DEFEAT OF THEIR FORMER ALLY, JAPAN.

AS FAST AS THEY CAN BE PROCESSED THE NAZI CAPTIVES ARE BEING PUT TO WORK UNDER THE EYES OF DOUGHBOY GUARDS TO SPEED THE TREMENDOUS JOB OF TRANSFERRING AMERICAN TROOPS AND SUPPLIES TO THE PACIFIC.

SKILLED GERMAN WORKERS ARE BEING USED TO RECONDITION AND PREPARE MILLIONS OF ITEMS OF EQUIPMENT FOR THE GREAT CHANGE-OVER, WHILE THOUSANDS OF OTHERS ARE REPAIRING ROADS OVER WHICH THE AMERICAN ARMIES WILL FLOW TO EMBARKATION PORTS.

THEY ARE NOT GETTING MUCH IN THE WAY OF PAY, IT IS NOT IN CASH, AND IT IS GERMANY WHICH EVENTUALLY WILL FOOT THE BILL. ENLISTED MEN GET 80 CENTS A DAY IF THEY WORK--OTHERWISE ONLY 10 CENTS. THE 10 CENTS IS IN THE FORM OF A CANTEEN ALLOWANCE. THE REST IS KEPT IN CREDITS, WHICH A DEFEATED GERMANY EVENTUALLY WILL BE REQUIRED TO TAKE OVER AND PAY TO HER FORMER SOLDIERS.

A SUPREME HEADQUARTERS SPOKESMAN POINTED OUT THAT AN ASSOCIATED PRESS STORY FROM HERE APRIL 28 WHICH IMPLIED THAT NAZI PRISONERS WERE BEING PAID THE BASIC DOUGHBOY RATE OF APPROXIMATELY $60 A MONTH WAS ERRONEOUS.

THE PAY RATES FOR PRISONERS OF WAR ARE BASED UPON STANDARDS SET BY THE GENEVA CONVENTION AND U.S.ARMY RULES OF LAND WARFARE. BOTH OF THESE ARE OBSERVED. BUT THEY PROVIDE ONLY THE PATTERN; THE SPECIFIC BASE PLAN FOR PRISONER PAY WAS WORKED OUT AT THE OUTSET OF THE WAR AND THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT WAS NOTIFIED THROUGH A NEUTRAL POWER WHAT WAS INTENDED BY BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES.

THIS IS WHAT THE PRISONERS GET:

MAY 18 1945

ENLISTED MEN--TEN CENTS A DAY, WHETHER THEY WORK OR NOT. SEVENTY CENTS A DAY ADDITIONAL IF THEY WORK.

OFFICERS--LIEUTENANTS, $20 A MONTH; CAPTAIN, $30; MAJORS UP TO FIELD MARSHALS, $40, ALL PLUS AN ALLOWANCE OF SLIGHTLY MORE THAN THE ENLISTED MAN'S TEN CENTS A DAY.

BUT IT IS NOT CASH. THE TEN CENTS A DAY IS IN THE FORM OF A CANTEEN ALLOWANCE. THE REST IS KEPT IN CREDITS. AFTER THE WAR THESE CREDITS ARE CONVERTIBLE INTO CASH--BUT IN THIS CASE, A DEFEATED GERMANY CAN BE CHARGED THE COST OR REQUIRED TO TAKE OVER THE CREDITS AND DO HER OWN PAYING OF THE PRISONERS.

had anticipated. I feel confident that the remaining difficulties will be overcome and that a charter will be agreed upon which will be a better document than that of Dumbarton Oaks."

With frankness, Eden added that "with regard to the general international situation, there are a number of serious and disquieting issues, some of them urgent. I would like an opportunity to talk these over with the prime minister and my colleagues."

Eden Sees Good Prospects.

London, May 17 (A. P.).—Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons today that the San Francisco conference was proceeding "better in many respects than we anticipated."

"I feel confident the remaining difficulties will be overcome and the charter agreed upon will be a better document than that of Dumbarton Oaks," he said.

He told the Commons, however, that "with regard to the general international situation there are a number of serious and disquieting issues, some of them urgent."

"I would like an opportunity to talk these over with the Prime Minister and my colleagues," he added.

He said that the conferences he had with President Truman and Joseph C. Grew, Under-Secretary of State, were "most useful to me . . . and revealed how intimate is the understanding between our two countries and how closely similar is our approach to the problems of the modern world."

PEACEFUL LIVING RETURNS IN EUROPE

London, May 17 (A. P.).—The ways of peace are returning to the people of Europe. Seemingly little things tell the story.

Seven Norwegian Bishops returned to their positions because Nazism no longer throttles their teachings. Trains were running again between Moscow and Warsaw and through Berlin's underground tunnels. Air commerce wes resumed between Stockholm and Oslo. A plane was flown from Britain to Prague today. Soviet families will be able to build new homes under a plan somewhat like the FHA program in the United States. British civilians will start to receive basic rations of gasoline—three gallons monthly—beginning June 1.

Workmen are busy in London tearing down blast walls which kept the force of bomb explosions from sweeping into building and underground entrances. Churches are preparing to restore priceless stained glass which had been removed to vaults for safekeeping.

But there is an undertone of "unfinished business" to the manner in which Europe is picking up the threads of almost forgotten peaceful ways. Publishers and stationery stories in Britain report that they are sold out of maps of the Pacific war theater.

Alliance Of Nations 'Must Continue'

London, May 17 (AP) — King George told Parliament today that the "grand alliance of the United Nations which has brought us victory can and must continue to insure that the peace of the world is not again outraged and destroyed.

"The purposes for which the United Nations have been linked in war do not end in victory," he said. "Mankind looks forward to a time when all nations, under God's good providence, will be able to work together in mutual confidence for these exalted aims."

Wearing a naval uniform, the King appeared before a joint session of the House of Commons and House of Lords to express thanks for the tributes paid the throne and himself in recent sessions and to compliment his people for their fortitude and courage during the war in Europe.

Churchill, Eden Attend

Prime Minister Churchill, in formal morning dress with a white handkerchief fluttering from a breast pocket and carrying a shining silk topper, attended the session. With him was Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who received a rousing cheer on his first appearance before Parliament since his return from the San Francisco conference.

While Britain rejoiced over victory in Europe, the King gave a solemn reminder that Empire forces "still have heavy tasks before them in the Far East."

Refers To War Against Japan

"They will carry on the war against Japan with indomitable courage and constancy and help bring it to a victorious conclusion in true comradeship with the superb forces of the United States and other allies," the King declared.

The Monarch praised the war work of British women.

He expressed thanks for aid "so freely and promptly given by the United States" and lauded "the brotherhood of our armed forces serving together in various theaters under combined commands."

British Bomber Makes Flight Over North Pole

Gathers Arctic Flying Data on Non-Stop Trip

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—The Royal Air Force Lancaster Aries completed today a successful scientific non-stop flight over the geographical North Pole from a base in Iceland, the Air Ministry announced tonight. A flight over the magnetic pole, in Canada, is to follow.

The plane, piloted by Wing Commander D. O. McKinley, who also flew the Aries around the world and on a tour of the United States, Canada and South Africa last year, left Iceland at 5:23 p. m. yesterday. It returned to Iceland at 12:06 p. m. today and was estimated to have passed over the Pole at about 3 a. m. today.

The flight was sponsored by the Empire Air Navigational School of the R. A. F. Flying Training Command for the announced purpose of studying navigation and flying conditions in the polar region.

The plane, which also conducted scientific tests, had a crew of eleven. Members carried Arctic survival equipment with special, lightweight balanced diets for four weeks and were equipped to travel for help in case of mishap.

GERMANS PLANNED LAST BIG AIR BLOW

London, May 17 (A. P.).—Information now in Allied hands has disclosed that the Nazi High Command planned a great do-or-die aerial battle to stop United States Eighth Air Force bombers, but Luftwaffe chiefs lost their nerve and abandoned the project. The plan called for destruction of between 750 and 1,000 American planes—at least 500 bombers and 250 fighters. Every available German combat fighter was to have been thrown into the gamble, striking in mass formation, with surprise as the big factor.

But as the time approached the pilots, many of whom had tangled with American bombers and fighter escort at close range before, apparently began to get cold feet. Several Nazi pilots reportedly were court-martialed for disobeying orders. Finally, as the Germans lost semblance of a unified command, the plan was dropped entirely.

It was disclosed yesterday that American and British bombers based in Britain and Italy dropped 1,877,500 tons of bombs on Germany and German-occupied Europe during the war. The R. A. F. dropped 986,000, and the Americans, 891,500. Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair told the House of Commons that well over a million tons were dropped by bombers in the last two years alone, excluding tonnage dropped by tactical forces.

No 'Luxuries' For Willy

London, May 17 (AP)—The Air Ministry denied today published reports that Willy Messerschmitt, top German plane designer, was living in luxury in London, but said he was being treated as any ordinary nonworking war prisoner.

The statement, replying to an editorial in the London Daily Mirror charging "coddling" of German prisoners, said Messerschmitt shared a room with two other German captives and assisted in cleaning his own room and making his own bed.

Messerschmitt was brought to London a month ago to make his technical knowledge available to the British.

'Ike' Praises Norway Fight

London, May 17 (AP)—General Eisenhower broadcast a proclamation to Norway today in which he said that nation's war effort was a "shining example" of the common struggle against oppression and violence, and promised that non-Norwegian forces would be withdrawn as soon as the country's liberation was complete.

"There remains much to do," the supreme commander said, adding that he took it for granted that orders issued for military reasons would be approved by the Norwegian Government so that "it will not be necessary for me to exercise control on the people's public and private life."

ALLIED TROOPS TOLD NOT TO SALUTE NAZIS

LONDON, May 17 — (AP) Allied troops under Gen. Eisenhower's orders are not to salute German officers or officials under any circumstances, War Secretary Sir James Grigg said today.

Sir James said he had heard a rumor that one British division had been told that it might be appropriate to salute German officers under "certain circumstances." These instructions are now abolished by Eisenhower's order, he said.

The secretary also said an investigation was being made of the rumor, published in a London newspaper.

Yanks In England Want The Homey Touch

LONDON — (AP) Many battle-worn American soldiers on furlough from the western front would rather "rest, mind the baby, and help with washing dishes" in British homes than go out for a "riotous time," says Mrs. Agnes de Paula, director of the Home Hospitality in Britain for American Soldiers.

Mrs. de Paula, who has been placing vacationing doughboys in English and Scottish homes since November, 1943, says they are eager to get a brief taste of family life again and don't require any "formal entertainment." They just want the familiar "homey" atmosphere.

Island (Jap Craft) Sighted And Sunk

London, May 17 (AP)—A British submarine commander sighted an island and sank same.

Lieut. A. G. Chandler reported today he had sighted through his periscope two palm trees, clusters of hibiscus bushes and other foliage moving swiftly trough a calm sea.

He gave the order to surface and opened fire at 1,000 yards.

A heavy explosion blew the stern off of a camouflaged Japanese landing craft, and about 100 Japanese abandoned ship. Chandler reported there probably were no enemy survivors.

PATTON PLAYS GOLF

London, May 17 (A. P.).—Gen. George S. Patton planned a round of golf in Sussex today as part of his delayed victory celebration, which began yesterday when he arrived by plane from southwestern Germany. The United States Third Army commander received a warm welcome last night from crowds on the street. When he went to see "Love in Idleness," starring Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, whom he described as "friends of mine," he was given an ovation by the audience. He visited the Lunts backstage.

Asked about his famous pistols, Patton told the crowds that followed him: "I don't carry them now the war is over."

U-boat Officer Calls Nazism Best for Europe

Portsmouth, N. H., May 17 (A. P.).—A pink-cheeked German submarine officer reaffirmed today his belief in Nazism in an interview which he and a fellow captive gave to newspaper men in the Naval Prison here. The officer, tall, blond, Sr. Lieut. Albert Finster, 29 years old, executive officer of the surrendered U-873, said that he considered Adolf Hitler's policies best for Germany, for Europe and, possibly, all mankind.

"There's no difference between a German and a Nazi," he told reporters, naval and Marine Corps officers and guards. "A Nazi is a good German and a good German is a Nazi."

A fellow captive, Renier Landgraf, ship's cook, from the same vessel, expressed the opinion that the attempt on Hitler's life last July was regarded by all Germans in the armed forces as the turning point of the war and declared that he did not believe that Germans had inflicted atrocities on their prisoners. He is 20 years old.

Pictures Called Faked.

Shown pictures from a popular American magazine, illustrating German horror camps, Landgraf, a tall blond reminiscent of a high school halfback, told his interviewers: "I don't believe Germans would do such things, and the few British prisoners of war I saw were well treated. These pictures could have been easily faked. I would have to put my hands on the bodies to make sure they were real."

During the questioning Lieut. Finster said that his U-boat had been at sea forty-seven days before surrendering, which he termed "very depressing"; that she carried fifteen torpedoes, that he didn't know where six unaccounted for went, that he had relatives in this country, but was ont interested in "contacting them" that he believed the German radio "always told the truth," that he did not know of the death of President Roosevelt until he arrived here yesterday afternoon. His home is in Hamburg, where he visited his wife last Christmas. He said that he thought his parents, in a German town not named, were dead.

Landgraf said that German U-boat crews were not permitted to listen to news broadcasts other than from Germany, and had not been since 1938. He also regarded Admiral Doenitz as Hitler's logical successor; stated that he had been in the Hitler Youth since boyhood, at his home town of Bruna, southern Germany; that there might have been a drop in morale after the attempted assassination of Hitler, and that he hoped "Americans will treat us well. I know the Russians will give us nothing," he said.

The pair and other members of surrendered U-boats crew are being held here, or taken to other prisoner-of-war detention areas.

Hitler's Pianist Held On Isle Of Man

London, May 17 (AP)—Putzi Hanfstaengl, who once played the piano for Hitler, remains interned on the Isle of Man, Home Secretary Herbert Morrison said tonight.

The one-time confident of the Führer has been moved about during the war betwixt detention in the United States, Canada and Britain. He has declared he fled Germany to escape the Nazis.

Hanfstaengl's son left Harvard when the war started to enlist in the United States Air Force. During a visit to the United States in 1936, Putzi's proffer of a scholarship to his alma mater was rejected by Harvard because of his Nazi association.

Russia Sponsors Berlin Paper

LONDON, May 17 (AP)—The Moscow radio announced tonight the inauguration of a Russian-sponsored newspaper in occupied Berlin. The broadcast said that the paper, the Taegliche Rundschau Daily Review, had first appeared on May 15, publishing telegrams of congratulation received by the Russian Government and Premier Stalin from leaders of the United Nations. The Munich radio reported that the first edition of a new newspaper there would be published tomorrow under the direction of the Allied Military Government.

25 Killed In Crash

London, May 17 (AP)—An American officer and 24 Allied prisoners of war were killed May 9 when a plane in which they were being transported from France to England crashed and caught fire. The disclosure today did not list the names.

London, May 17 (A. P.).—An R. A. F. Lancaster completed a successful non-stop flight over the geographical north pole today from a base in Iceland, the Air Ministry announced.

Bomb-Proofed

London, May 17 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Warwick Fedden are living almost directly over a big German bomb. Dropped one night in 1940, it failed to explode. It was covered with sixteen feet of concrete and declared safe.

London, May 17 (A. P.).—The British Government announced today that self-government would be granted to Burma as soon as war conditions permitted the holding of elections. Until that time, the announcement said, it has been proposed that a governor, assisted by a Burmese executive council, should be responsible for getting the country into working order again.

Haakon Speaks in London

LONDON, May 17 (AP).—King Haakon VII of Norway, speaking tonight at an Independence Day dinner in London, said that if his government had not left Norway for England on June 7, 1940, to carry on the fight, its members "would not have been able to look their children in the face."

Actress Finds Sister In Belsen Camp

London, May 17 (A. P.).—Ronald Citrine said in a letter received here today that Actress Marlene Dietrich, who has been entertaining Allied troops in Europe, had found her sister living in the Nazi concentration camp at Belsen. Citrine is the son of labor leader Sir Walter M. Citrine.

cast speech by Churchill last Sunday, in which the British Prime Minister assailed Eire for remaining neutral while Britain was under attack. Churchill declared that but for the friendship of Northern Ireland "we should have been forced to come to close quarters with Mr. De Valera or perish forever from the earth."

"It is indeed fortunate that Britain's necessity did not reach the point when Mr. Churchill would have acted," De Valera said. "By resisting temptation in this instance Mr. Churchill, instead of adding another horrid chapter to the already bloodstained record of relations between England and this country, has advanced the cause of international morality—an important step and one of the most important, indeed, that can be taken on the road to the establishment of any sure basis for peace."

Propounds a Question.

In defending Eire's neutrality policy, De Valera propounded a hypothetical question based on a supposition that Germany had won the war and partitioned England as Ireland has been partitioned.

"Let us suppose that after all this," he said, "Germany was engaged in a great war in which she could show she was on the side of freedom of a number of small nations.

"Would Mr. Churchill, as an Englishman who believed that his own nation has as good a right to freedom as any other—not freedom for a part, merely but freedom for the whole—would he lead this partitioned England to join with Germany in a crusade?

"I do not think Mr. Churchill would."

De Valera's broadcast reply drew from the Irish Press, organ of the Government party, the opinion that the Irish leader had failed to express "the anger that Mr. Churchill's outburst had aroused in the breast of every Irish man and woman."

"There was wisdom as well as dignity in De Valera's restraint," the newspaper declared. "As De Valera said, the very fact that Britain did not molest us in her dire need could be made the bridge for a return to that path of mutual comprehension which before the war had begun to lead the way toward good relations between these two neighboring countries."

The Irish Independent said De Valera had "replied with dignity and reason to Mr. Churchill's criticisms," and added: "Let us now hope that their respective expressions of anxiety to look to the future will be implemented by a common understanding."

Says Eire Must Take Place.

Belfast, May 17 (A. P.).—J. M. Andrews, former Prime Minister of northern Ireland, said today that Great Britain soon may have to tell Eire she must accept her place in the British Empire or get out. Andrews spoke at a meeting here following Prime Minister De Valera's broadcast from Dublin last night.

De Valera Defends His Policy

Replies to Churchill's Attack on Eire's Neutrality in the War.

Dublin, May 17 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Eamon de Valera, defending Eire's foreign policy, declared last night he did not see how Prime Minister Churchill or any other thinking person could "fail to see the reason for our neutrality."

Nazi Plot to Kill Eisenhower Last Winter Revealed by SHAEF

By WES GALLAGHER

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, May 17 — (AP) A winter plot to assassinate Gen. Eisenhower, one of the European theater's top military secrets for months, was disclosed today with the capture of a giant professional political kidnaper, Lt. Col. Otto Skorzeny.

The fact that Skorzeny, 35-year-old Austrian hatchetman for Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler, had been taken prisoner by the U. S. Seventh army was confirmed by SHAEF.

Skorzeny, 6 feet 4 inches tall, leader of the raiding party which freed Benito Mussolini from Allied custody in Italy in September, 1943, was captured in the Ardennes valley by men of the 15th regiment of the Third division. He had been picked up once before in a surrender and then turned loose by a soldier who failed to recognize his importance.

His picked gang of assassins kept the whole Western front in a state of alert for months last winter during and after the Ardennes battle, for the group had the mission of assassinating Eisenhower.

Previously, Skorzeny had won Himmler's attention by planning and carrying out the kidnap-rescue of Benito Mussolini. He also was credited with kidnapping Admiral Horthy during the Hungarian crisis.

Until today, Skorzeny was the top secret on the SHAEF security list. Most of this story except his capture was submitted to censorship last February and was held by authorities until this release.

In preparation for the Ardennes offensive, the Nazis set up a special school near Berlin last September, three months before the attack was scheduled.

Call Sent Out For Soldiers

They then sent a call out through the army for all German soldiers of adventurous character who spoke English, either with an American or British accent.

At the same time they ordered all captured American equipment and uniforms to be sent to the school.

After weeks of training by the SS, the men selected from the army were weeded down to a battalion. All those discarded were threatened with death if they ever revealed a word of what went on.

The selected battalion was headed by Skorzeny on personal orders of Hitler and Himmler.

The battalion was broken up into task forces. The missions of these forces were varied. All had American or British uniforms and American equipment. Some were merely to infiltrate American lines in jeeps with radio and report back troop dispositions.

Other and stronger forces were to come into American lines with American tanks and attack American positions in the rear.

But special small groups of desperate men were sent deep into rear areas with missions to commit major sabotage and assassinate key American generals.

Skorzeny's Job

Skorzeny himself was believed to have the mission of killing the supreme Allied commander.

Luckily, early in the Ardennes battle, American troops captured a small group of these men and in rigid questioning learned the general plan and took steps to thwart it.

The solution was typically American. It was obvious that regular passwords were useless so road blocks were thrown up in every rear area from Belgium to Paris. Guards, instead of asking the password, stuck tommyguns into automobiles and asked such questions as:

"Who sleeps with Jiggs?" "Who is Pruneface?" 'Who is called 'the Voice?'"

Slang The Test

Anything ytpically American in slang or custom was used and the Germans, not up to date on the American comics or swing music, were dead pigeons.

The deepest penetration made by any Germans was by a party of four.

They were picked up in Liège. They carried small vials of acid to throw in their captors' faces but never had a chance to use them.

The Americans also obtained a description of Skorzeny: That he had a duelling scar across his face, that he spoke some Italian but no English.

The captured Germans said it was Skorzeny's plans to have a mixed party of Germans dressed in American and German uniforms and when stopped, those in American uniforms would say they were taking high German officers to SHAEF for questioning.

In this way they hoped to get close enough to Eisenhower to kill him.

The party never turned up and it was presumed that the plan was discarded because Skorzeny found out that it was not succeeding.

Skorzeny, a violent Nazi, fought with the notorious 2d SS Panzer Division on the Russian front.

REICH HELPS TO BEAT JAPS

Prisoners Put To Work Under Yank Guards

Paris, May 17 (AP)—German prisoners of war by the thousands already have begun paying in hard work and sweat the first installment on their country's huge debt to the world, and one of their first tasks is aimed squarely at the defeat of their former ally, Japan.

As fast as they can be processed the Nazi captives are being put to work under the eyes of doughboy guards to speed the tremendous job of transferring American troops and supplies to the Pacific.

Skilled German workers are being used to recondition and prepare millions of items of equipment for the great changeover, while thousands of others are repairing roads over which the American armies will flow to embarkation ports.

Germany Foots Bill

They are not getting much in the way of pay, it is not in cash, and it is Germany which eventually will foot the bill. Enlisted men get 80 cents a day if they work—otherwise only 10 cents. The 10 cents is in the form of a canteen allowance. The rest is kept in credits, which a defeated Germany eventually will be required to take over and pay to her former soldiers.

A supreme headquarters spokesman pointed out that an Associated Press story from here April 28 which implied that Nazi prisoners were being paid the basic doughboy rate of approximately $60 a month was erroneous.

What Prisoners Get

The pay rates for prisoners of war are based upon standards set by the Geneva Convention and United States Army rules of land warfare. Both of these are observed. But they provide only the pattern: The specific base plan for prisoner pay was worked out at the outset of the war and the German Government was notified through a neutral power what was intended by Britain and the United States.

This is what the prisoners get:

Enlisted Men—Ten cents a day, whether they work or not. Seventy cents a day additional if they work.

Officers—Lieutenants, $20 a month; captain, $30; majors up to field marshals, $40. All plus an allowance of slightly more than the enlisted man's 10 cents a day.

Not Cash

But it is not cash. The 10 cents a day is in the form of a canteen allowance. The rest is kept in credits. After the war these credits are convertible into cash—but in this case, a defeated Germany can be charged the cost or required to take over the credits and do her own paying of the prisoners.

Britain pays prisoners she holds on a slightly different scale but the primary pattern is the same.

One of the biggest jobs to which prisoners will be turned as speedily as possible is farming, which holds a priority second only to that of getting American forces on the move toward the Pacific. It will be a close race against starvation in middle Europe this winter.

Don't Want To Feed Them

"We do not want to have to feed these people this winter," an American Military Government officer said. "They are going to have to get out and grow it themselves."

Russia and Britain are using prisoners for reconstruction purposes, and the French are requesting thousands for the task of rebuilding their ruined towns and cities.

The best available information here is that all Nazi troops inside Germany now have been rounded up. Members of the Volkssturm, or People's Army, who were thrown into the fight in its closing stages, have been turned loose almost as fast as they were caught and disarmed.

Hitler In Frenzy As F.D.R. Died

Paris, May 17 (AP)—Adolf Hitler went into a fit of hysteria when the news of President Roosevelt's death reached him in his underground chamber of the chancellery in Berlin at midnight, April 12, his former secretary said in an interview with the Daily Liberation.

The secretary, Gerhardt Herrgesell, said Hitler had presided over the usual night conference and stretched out on a divan after the other German leaders had departed.

Maniacal Expression

"Suddenly Lorenz, one of the press chiefs, burst into the chamber without knocking and ran across the room," Herrgesell said. "He held a DNB bulletin in his hand and cried out: 'Führer, great news. Roosevelt is dead.'

"Hitler leaped to his feet, grabbed the bulletin from Lorenz's hands violently and suddenly flamed with a queer fire. His expression was maniacal. Then he began to laugh. It was hideous. He walked up and down the room waving his arms and laughing. The room echoed with crazy laughter.

Never Smiled Again

"Suddenly he stopped laughing. Then a spasm of laughter gripped him again. And he threw himself around the room, laughing and repeating: 'I knew it. I knew it.'"

Nobody ever saw Hitler even smile again, the secretary said.

PW's In Europe Aid The War On Japs

Paris, May 17 (AP)—German manpower and technical skill already have been put to work by the Allies to help win the war against Japan.

This is one of the top priority jobs for the millions of prisoners in Allied hands.

As fast as they can be screened they are being used in every possible way to speed the task of redeploying American forces and equipment for the cleanup in the Pacific.

Reconditioning Equipment

Skilled German prisoners are being used to recondition equipment to be shipped to the Far East. Others by the thousands are toiling under doughboy guards on every kind of job from crating supplies to repairing roads over which men and material will flow back to the Atlantic ports.

Next to facilitating the American Army's redeployment, the most important job to which German prisoners will be turned probably will be farming—trying to raise enough food to win what obviously will be a close race with starvation in middle Europe next winter.

There is still another job awaiting them—the task of rebuilding ruined Europe.

France Puts In Bid

Russia and Britain already are using war prisoners for reconstruction. France has put in her bid for tens of thousands for this purpose.

It seems likely that the Germans may have to work out much of their reparations in sheer sweat, perhaps for years to come. Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, General Eisenhower's deputy for the occupation of Germany, has said that when the Reich is searched for this labor job the most active Nazis will be placed on top of the list.

Supreme Headquarters is giving out little information on the exact stage which has been reached in the task of rounding up and disarming the surrendered German army.

Job Believed Complete

The best available unofficial information, however, is that the disarming is complete and that Nazi troops inside Germany are all rounded up.

It still is not clear what has been done about getting the Germans out of Norway and Denmark. To all specific questions on this subject officials at advanced SHAEF headquarters at Reims have indicated that no answer will be forthcoming for a week or more.

When the end came, the number of German prisoners already in Allied hands totaled more than those still bearing arms.

Volkssturm Turned Loose

Members of the Volkssturm, the rag-tag "Peoples Army", were turned loose almost as fast as they were caught and disarmed.

As a 3d Army Military Government officer told Associated Press correspondent Thoburn Wiant:

"We do not want to have to feed these people this winter. They are going to have to get out and grow it themselves."

READY TO PROCESS RETURNING TROOPS

Paris, May 17 (A. P.).—American troops leaving Europe will be processed at the rate of 8,000 a day when the new Assembly Area Command is fully organized, Communications Zone headquarters announced today.

The new command, key unit in the redeployment program, is headed by Lieut. Gen. Royal B. Lord. It has taken over a large area in northeastern France where some 350,000 troops can go through the processing at the same time. Headquarters are at Reims.

Lord has set two weeks as the maximum period for individual processing of soldiers going home and twenty-five days for those going to the Pacific. The maximum turnover rate of 8,000 a day is contingent upon ports and staging areas being ready to receive troops as fast as they are processed. The new command will furnish supply, administrative, training, recreational and educational facilities for troops undergoing redeployment. Some 80 per cent of these will head for the United States for redeployment to the Pacific, for domestic duty or for eventual discharge, the announcement said.

Back of Slave Labor Policy.

Paris, May 17 (A. P.).—The Seventh Army capture of Robert Ley last night was a coup of unusual importance because Ley was a power behind the Nazi regime. He was not a member of the official German government but as the Reich's labor leader, he was responsible for the abolition of trade unionism in Germany a dozen years ago.

At Hitler's direction, he formed a compulsory organization of capital and labor which raised gigantic sums of money, since every one who earned a living in Germany had to contribute dues. No accounting wes ever rendered. There was whispering of corruption on a vast scale when Ley built a luxurious villa on the outskirts of Berlin.

He probably was responsible chiefly for the policy of using foreign slave labor and the deployment of German labor in war industries.

He was less well known as Reichleiter, the organizational head of the Nazi party. Nazi political leaders took their directives from Ley. Thus he had much to do with the indoctrination of the German people.

Ley ingratiated himself with Hitler by speaking of him, even in his own presence, in superlative terms.

PARIS, May 17 (AP)—Former Premier Leon Blum said today that he could never forgive the Vichy officials who handed him over to the Germans in 1940.

French Government circles take it for granted that he will testify against Pétain and will enter the Government. But for the time being, he said, he cannot make any statement on these matters. M. Blum said:

"That Frenchmen should have handed me over to the Gestapo is something I can neither understand nor ever forgive. I thought I would never get out alive. They must have thought so too. It is a thing unheard of in the history of France."

M. Blum, who had a lengthy interview with General de Gaulle today, said that he was tired, but he appeared in excellent health. He said that he had received greetings from President Truman and Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius Jr. and that he would like to visit the United States, but that he had been unable yet to plan a trip.

ECKENER NOT MOLESTED

Famed Zeppelin Flier Is Found Living at Friedrichshafen

PARIS, May 17 (AP)—Dr. Hugo Eckener, famed German lighter-than-air expert, is, according to one American who caught a glimpse of him, living quietly, unmolested in his private home in Friedrichshafen.

Friedrichshafen is under French control, and according to information available, they have not molested the famous airman because of his known anti-Nazi sympathies.

Dr. Eckener coined the phrase on nazism: "Nazism brings to the surface all the evil qualities in human character."

There is no information at present on the condition of the famed Zeppelin works over which Dr. Eckener presided for many years as managing director.

Leni Riefenstahl Is Found

Hitler's Favorite Actress Is Ousted From Villa by Hard-boiled G. I.

Kitzbuehel, Austria, May 17 (A. P.).—Protesting she never was Hitler's sweetheart or even a Nazi, Leni Riefenstahl, German film star and producer whose 1936 Olympic picture was virtually boycotted in America, has been moved out of her sumptuous villa. It is now a G. I. rest center.

The emotional actress said today in a nearby farmhouse that one of the first men who talked to her when the American Forty-second (Rainbow) Division reached her lakeside home perched over a lake was a hardboiled Boston Irishman who cannot be identified for several reasons.

"Who are you," he asked.

"Why, I am Leni Riefenstahl," she answered, as if that settled things.

"Never heard of you. What do you do?" he wanted to know.

"Why I write, act, produce films," she said.

"Baby, I've been going to the movies for a long time, and I never heard of you," he retorted.

Turns on the Tears.

Tears welled up at that in the best Hollywood closeup manner, but Leni really started bawling when he added, "and now get going. We need the house."

The house to which she moved once belonged to Joachim von Ribbentrop, Nazi Foreign Minister, but she was vehement about not having seen him lately.

As to Hitler, 46-year-old Leni (who gave her age as 36) said he had only two loves in his life, one a niece who died and the second Eva Braun, whom she described as his only love for the past twelve years.

"I last saw the Fuehrer in March, 1944, after I married Major Peder Jakub, and we were invited to Berchtesgaden to be received," she said.

The major, who recently commanded a German Alpine regiment, sat in a Tyrolean costume on the edge of their bed during the interview in English. He speaks only French and German.

She Is Zee Arteest.

The producer-actress said she thought Hitler pretty wonderful but she had stood aloof from the Nazi party because "I am zee arteest, I cannot take part een politics," talking just like that. Also because "some of my best friends are Jews."

On her bedroom table was an album with pictures, including the American Negro runner Jesse Owens, from the motion picture of the International Olympics over which Hitler gave her exclusive rights. The most prominent photos were stills of Glenn Morris, 1936 decathlon champion.

Showing the album, she wailed about the reception when she went to the United States in 1938 to show the full-length newsreel. She said the American people did not come to see it.

ler, after that would have been welcome in the areas of the German High Command in the north.

Herrgesell said that he himself left Berlin on April 22 and flew to Berchtesgaden after Hitler ordered all persons not considered indispensable to leave the capital. He declared that many persons appealed to Hitler to change his mind, but that Hitler had replied: "I now take the final decision that I stay and die." Hitler's sweetheart, Eva Braun, decided to stay with him to the last, Herrgesell said, but whether she did or not he could not say.

The Nazi propaganda minister, Joseph Goebbels, went to Hitler with "a plea that if nothing else can be saved, let us fight on against Bolshevism," the secretary said. But Hitler, listless and vague, did not seem inte[illegible]

Several high Nazis cal[illegible] protestations of faith and urg[illegible] Der Fuehrer not to die. Field Marshal Wilhelm Kietel wou[illegible] not leave. But Gen. Gustav Jodl, the man who signed the surrender terms for the Germans at Reims, stated, according to Herzgesell: "I am not going to stay and get killed in this rat trap."

At the time [illegible] this announced intention of standing and dying, the secretary said, Hitler was certain he would meet his end within a week.

Says Hitler Rebuffed Himmler

Ex-Secretary Declares Fuehrer Refused to Talk to Gestapo Chief.

Berchtesgaden, May 17 (A. P.).—Adolf Hitler's chief secretary, Gerhardt Herrgesell, says he is convinced Der Fuehrer died in Berlin. He did not witness the Nazis' reported last stand in the Reichs Chancellery, but he declared in an interview yesterday that Hitler had made up his mind on April 22 to remain in Ber[illegible] to the end.

The secretary, a member of the Hitler entourage for years, quoted Hitler as saying: "I have always given orders not to retreat; now I can only follow my own commands."

Herrgesell gave this tip on the probable whereabouts of Heinrich Himmler, chief of the Gestapo: Picturing Hitler as moaning that "I have lost all faith in the Wehrmacht and I have lost all faith in the Waffen SS," Herrgesell said: "Himmler wanted to see Der Fuehrer. Der Fuehrer said he did not want to see him, declaring, 'He can't influence me.'"

It seemed unlikely that Himm-

LENI 'PUT OUT,' SOBS FOR VILLA

Hitler's Girl Photographer Reduced To Ribbentrop House

Kitzbuehel, Austria, May 17 (AP)—Leni Riefenstahl, who will be readily recalled by every athlete who took part in the 1936 Olympic games as the girl who was always in the way, has been thrown out of her villa here, and she doesn't think it's right.

"Some of my best friends are Jews," expostulated the black-haired actress-producer who was given a monopoly by Hitler to photograph the games in Berlin.

Tears In Her Eyes

Volubly protesting that she never, never had been a Nazi, Leni complained that a hard-boiled Boston Irishman who didn't even know who she was tossed her out of her lakeside villa before it was turned into a rest center for men and officers of the 42d (Rainbow) Division.

"Baby," she quotes the unidentified American as having said, "I've been going to the movies a long time and I never heard of you. And now get going. We need this house." Tears welled in Leni's eyes as she told it.

Now, Leni and her husband, Major Peder Jakub, whom she married in 1944, are living in a near-by farmhouse which once belonged to Joachim von Ribbentrop, but she said she had not seen the missing Foreign Minister lately.

American troops occupying her villa swim daily in the muddy waters of the Schwarzse (Black Lake), which are reputed to cure rheumatism.

Leni said there never was any truth in the belief that there was a sentimental attachment between Hitler and herself. For the last twelve years, she said, the Führer's only love was Eva Braun, who has been reported to have been with him in Berlin's last blazing days.

On a table in Leni's bedroom was a volume of ph[illegible]iphs taken from her Olympics [illegible]ncluding a number of pictures [illegible]sse Owens.

Americans Claim Greiser

KITZBUHEL, Austria, May 17 (AP)—Arthur Greiser, former Nazi overlord of Posen, Poland, and SS Lieut. Gen. Heinz Reinefarth, German defender of Kuestrin, were captured today by the Forty-second [Rainbow] Division.

[The Soviet War News Bulletin published in London said on April 4 that Greiser had been captured by the Red Army. A Moscow dispatch on April 12 said he had been turned over to the Poles.]

Acting on a tip from a civilian close to the Austrian underground liberation movement, patrols led by Maj. James Cunningham, 229 Tonnele Avenue, Jersey City, and Maj. B. J. Smith of West Point, N. Y., made the arrests in a hotel in a mountain retreat northwest of Krimml.

Hunt For High Hitler Aides Intensified

Soldiers

Berchtesgaden, May 17 (AP)—An unrelenting search was being pressed today for Heinrich Himmler, Joachim Von Ribbentrop and the notrious anti-Semite Julius Streicher in the Alpine passes, villages and chalets of Bavaria and Austria.

Already in Allied hands are Lieut. Col. Otto Skorzeny, No. 2 man in Himmler's organization; Ernst Kaltenbrunner, Himmler's first assistant, and Dr. Robert Ley, Labor front leader and creator of the Nazi "strength through joy" organization.

Himmler, Ribbentrop and Streicher remained the three more important Nazi bigwigs at large, if it is true that Hitler is dead, and all three may be caught in this area.

No Information, Says Eden

[In London today, Foreign Secretary Eden told Commons the British Government had received no information as to Ribbentrop's whereabouts.]

[A Reuter dispatch said Skorzeny was alleged to have plotted to kill General Eisenhower during the Ardennes offensive.]

Skorzeny headed a select band of saboteurs and special agents who led the German raiding party which rescued Benito Mussolini in September, 1943. Kaltenbrunner admitted undertaking to organize an anti-Russian underground resistance movement. Ley, officers said, was the mainspring of the Nazi Werewolf movement.

Even generals of divisions in this area were taking a personal part in the huge manhunt.

Himmler At Tegensee In April

Himmler is known to have been at his summer home at Tegensee, east of here, April 27. At that time Hitler and his propaganda chief, Joseph Goebbels, possibly were dead in Berlin.

It is known that a concentration of Himmler's SS men has been huddled southeast of here for weeks, and it is assumed they have given an oath to defend him.

Each curtain-covered window in the tiny villages, each chalet high on a snow-covered slope, each man or woman sunning on a distant ledge becomes a subject of curiosity as the hunt is pressed.

The search is being aided by anti-Nazi Bavarians and Austrians who have given tips which led to some of the most spectacular captures in recent days.

Jewess's Help Revealed

Ironically, one of the leading figures in an anti-Nazi band that worked efficiently through the years of Nazi rule within a stone's throw of Hitler's chalet here was a Jewess who cannot now be named.

An American officer, who spent years in Germany before the war and who for that reason was picked for a special task, said the work in which she was engaged was smaller, more compact, more efficient and more deadly than even the Maquis movement in France.

"They never played us false," he said. "They promised to deliver and did."

Dr. Ley Bearded

Sullen, dull-eyed Dr. Ley was bearded when he was captured by the 101st Airborne Division.

Wearing an overcoat over his pajamas, a green hat and thick-soled shoes, he first pretended he was a Dr. Ernst Distelmeyer, but when this disguise was penetrated he reached for a vial and tried to take its contents. His shoes were searched for hidden razor blades.

Red Cross Packages in a Pit

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, May 17 (AP)—A bomb-disposal squad of the United States Tenth Armored Division reported that it had uncovered a cache of 100 Red Cross packages today buried in a pit adjoining a German ammunition dump near the Bavarian village of Garmisch-Partenkirchen. The packages, found in their original cartons, were addressed to Allied prisoners of war and had been sent by the American and Canadian Red Cross, they said.

EHRENBREITSTEIN, Germany, May 5 (Delayed) (AP)—Three displaced foreign persons, thought to be Russians, were shot to death by United States troops guarding a farmhouse where two German civilians had been slain earlier, it was learned today.

De Luce

A small detachment from Battery A of the 209th Field Artillery Battalion, assigned as Military Government police, was stationed last week at a farm five miles from here following an attack by marauders upon two German brothers named Engel, one of whom had been stabbed to death and the other fatally wounded by rifle fire.

Pvt. Everett Waggoner of Reedy, W. Va., said he was standing watch at a second-story window of the farmhouse when a band of about twenty displaced persons approached shortly after 8 A. M. one day. "When they arrived across the road in front of the house, one of them drew back his hand to throw a hand grenade. I shot him," he said.

That evening Corp. Albert M. Baca of El Centro, Calif., who was in command, said he saw men carrying arms outside. "I saw two coming out of a chicken coop, so I hollered 'halt,'" he said. "One was getting ready to toss a hand grenade when I shot him. Another with a sawed-off shotgun was shot by a buddy of mine. About eight others stayed off some distance and fired at random toward our window positions."

Corp. Frederick Warmbier of Detroit said the farmhouse was a target for further sniping the next day, but thereafter a number of displaced Russians were rounded up in the area and placed in a special Soviet camp operated by the United States Army. He said they identified the three men killed by the American guards as of Soviet nationality and explained, "We did not know Americans had taken over the house. We thought they were Germans."

Jitterbugs 'Steal' Party Given Koneff by Bradley

Yarbrough

By The Associated Press.

BAD WILDUNGEN, Germany, May 17—The first entertainment given by Americans for their Russian Allies went over big today with a program including Jascha Heifetz, Mickey Rooney and jitterbug dancing that was especially applauded by Marshal Ivan S. Koneff, commander of the First Ukrainian Army and guest of honor.

NICH

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, Twelfth Army Group commander, was host at the party, attended by a constellation of American and Russian generals. It was put on in return for an elaborate program of food, drink and entertainment for General Bradley and his staff twelve days ago at Marshal Koneff's castle south of Berlin.

The Russians cheered when Mickey Rooney went through a pantomime wrestling act and when Mr. Heifetz played. But the loudest applause greeted three soldiers and their Wac partners dancing to the strains of an orchestra trained by the late Maj. Glenn Miller.

AMG Winks At Love De Luce Once Barred By Nazis

Mayen, Germany, May 15 [AP—Delayed] — A crippled German youth and a sweet-faced Ukrainian girl whose love defied the Nazi theory of the super race have been granted permission by the American military government to marry.

Antonius Kaes, 22, was clearing rubble from the Mayen freight yards and Maria Bilezko, 23, was planting potatoes in a country garden when Capt. Melben W. Nitz, of Ripon, Wis., set a precedent for the AMG.

"I made use of Law No. 6 in our M.G. regulations by which I can authorize the German municipal administration 'to do or omit any act,'" Nitz explained. "The burgomeister had referred the marriage application to me. It wasn't a hard decision. I'm married, too, and my baby son was born about the time I was going into combat at Anzio."

Difficulties Told

In a tiny apartment looking over bomb-shattered Mayen, Frau Christina Kaes tended a 7-month-old granddaughter as she told of the difficulties encountered by Antonius and Maria since they first met in a Rhineland meat factory two years ago.

"Maria's home was in Poltava and she was taken away to work in the German armaments industry," she said. "My son, who has been crippled since childhood, worked beside her. Within a few months he applied for a marriage license. It was refused on the grounds that Maria was not of German blood. The secret police then arrested Antonius and held him for four months while they investigated his 'relations with enemy aliens.'

Born In November

"When Maria learned she would have a baby I obtained permission to have her live in our home. The baby, Christel, was born last November."

Frau Kaes picked up a sheaf of old letters with United States stamps on the envelopes.

"This isn't the first international marriage in our family," she smiled. "My sister married an American soldier in the Army of Occupation in 1922. After he returned home he sent for her in 1923. We have never seen each other since, but until another war came she wrote to me frequently. This was her last address: Mrs. Quick Kall, of 190 North Hoyne avenue, Chicago."

Sister in Chicago Overjoyed.

Chicago, May 17 (A. P.).—When reporters located Mrs. Margaret Quick she was speechless with joy at the first news of her sister, Frau Kaes, she had had in five years.

"Wonderful, wonderful" was all she could say for a moment. Then she spoke of other relatives in Germany. She knew her parents were dead and she said: "I am thankful to God they were spared seeing what happened to the country they knew."

Excitedly, she hoped to resume the correspondence with her sister in Germany, which ended in 1940, and to exchange more family news and gossip.

Good News From Home For Overseas GI—Twins

With American Occupation Forces In Germany, May 17 (AP)—A telegram from home made Private Peter Caperone, of Barberton, Ohio, eligible for demobilization.

Caperone lacked 10 of the 85 points required for discharge until a message announced the birth of twin daughters to his wife, on April 27.

Now this veteran rifleman has 14 points to spare.

Leopold's Health O.K., U.S. General Says

Salzburg, Austria, May 17 (AP)—Lieut. Gen. Wade Haislip, commander of the United States 15th Corps, said tonight that King Leopold of Belgium was in "excellent health" and scoffed at reports that the 43-year-old monarch was unable to return to his homeland because of illness.

"I had dinner with him myself last night," Haislap said, "and there is nothing wrong with him at all."

Haislip said he had not heard the King make any reference to the possibility of his abdicating or of his return to the Belgium throne.

Signs Of Fifth Column In U.S. Found In Italy

Salo, Italy, May 17 (AP)—Indications that a Fascist fifth column functioned in the United States were found today at this lakeside resort, last headquarters of Benito Mussolini's Italian republic.

Moving into a luxurious Lake Garda villa where the Fascist Minister of Popular Culture lived and worked, American 5th Army troops found banners of supposed Fascist chapters in American cities and several confidential files, including one entitled "Fascist propaganda in America."

One banner bore the Fascist emblem and the legend "Fascio Battisti, Wilmington, Del." Other banners bore the names of Philadelphia and Steubenville, Ohio. Investigating officers could not say whether they had been sent here by groups in America, or had been made here to be sent to America.

Red Army Begins Summer Training

Gilmore

Moscow, May 17 (AP)—The Red Army has started wide-scale summer field training, it was announced today, while an editorial in the army newspaper Red Star warned that the Red Army must be equal to any tasks standing before it.

Intensive training has begun in the Lwow area and in the Caucasus where thousands of Red Army officers and soldiers will carry out every kinds of operation, study new tactics developed in the war against Germany and perfect new techniques not yet incorporated into the army.

The Red Star editorial, addressed to all officers, said: "Only he . . . is equal to the tasks standing before the Red Army who keeps standing. . . . Now as always, to stay put in military affairs means to lag behind."

This editorial was interpreted here as being highly important, but observers said it did not reveal any belligerency or any veiled threats, meaning merely that the Red Army should remain constantly on the alert.

Russians Critical.

Moscow, May 17 (A. P.).—The Allied handling of war criminals and the Doenitz administration at Flensburg were viewed critically in Soviet Russia today, with one commentator in Red Star declaring "justice in fact is moving with its brakes on."

"The people want no brakes," said the writer, Prof. Anton Trainin. "They want wings."

Trainin declared the whole accomplishment of the Allied War Crimes Commission in London (of which Soviet Russia is not a member) up to now had been the compiling of seven lists of war criminals. This took months, he said, and "naturally the question now arises: How much time is going to be required to get these criminals from the lists to the courts?"

Interesting to foreign observers was the fact that Trainin, in enumerating the seven lists, included one of Japanese war criminals when he urged a speedy trial.

Another commentator in Izvestia, referring to "incidents" attached to the capture of such prominent prisoners as Hermann Goering and Col. Gen. Heinz Guderian, said the "strange situation" existing in Allied occupation areas had "aroused indignant perplexity among democratic social circles of the world."

"Somewhere in Flensburg the 'German government' of Admiral Doenitz continues to exist, this five-day fuehrer with his cabinet of five Hitlerite ministers," he added. The Soviet press has not yet carried the latest comment by Prime Minister Churchill on the Doenitz administration.

PUPPET PRESIDENT OF BOHEMIA ARRESTED

MOSCOW, May 17—(AP) Emil Hacha, puppet president of Bohemia-Moravia who signed over Czechoslovakia to Hitler in 1939, has been arrested in a roundup of Czechs accused of collaboration with the Germans, a Tass agency dispatch from Prague said today.

(A French yellow book issued in December, 1939, said Hacha signed away Czechoslovakia's independence when he was called to Berlin the night of March 14, 1939, and was so overcome by excitement that he was kept conscious only by injections administered by the Nazis.

(Hacha became president of the republic after President Edouard Benes, now back in Prague, left for London to set up a government in exile).

Romanian Generals Go on Trial

MOSCOW, May 17 (AP).—Tass, Soviet news agency, reported from Bucharest today that three Romanian generals went on trial in a People's Court as war criminals, accused of hanging, burning and shooting hundreds of Russian citizens in Odessa during the German-Romanian occupation. The generals were named as Macic, Trestiorianu and Kalotescu.

NORWEGIANS MARK INDEPENDENCE DAY

OSLO, May 17—(AP) Shouting, cheering thousands jammed the streets of Oslo today as the capital and all Norway celebrated the Norwegian Independence day—the first such celebration since May 17, 1939.

Joyously yelling "Quisling is down! Quisling is down!", more than 25,000 students marched past the palace where Crown Prince Olav stood for two hours receiving cheers.

Officials said virtually the city's entire population augmented by visitors from the surrounding country swarmed the capital for the celebration, gay and prolonged despite a heavy rain.

Vidkun Quisling himself heard the cheering crowds from his cell in the city prison. Thousands of students and townspeople assembled near there and sang the Norwegian anthem.

All students were given frankfurters and white rolls—a special gift from Denmark, although the holiday commemorates Norway's separation from the Danes in 1814.

Cheering Throngs in Oslo Mark Independence Day

Sing Norwegian Anthem Near Prison Holding Quisling

OSLO, May 17 (AP).—Shouting, cheering thousands jammed the streets of Oslo today as the capital and all Norway celebrated the Norwegian Independence Day—the first such celebration since May 17, 1939.

Joyously yelling: "Quisling is down! Quisling is down!" more than 25,000 students marched past the palace, where Crown Prince Olaf stood for two hours receiving cheers.

Vidkun Quisling himself heard the cheering crowds from his cell in the city prison. Thousands assembled near there and sang the Norwegian anthem.

[The United Press said that a proclamation by General Dwight D. Eisenhower declaring military control of Norway would be necessary until its liberation was complete was reported by the Federal Communications Commission to have been read over the Oslo radio.]

Copenhagen, May 17 (AP)—The Danish Government today broke relations with the Japanese Government and announced recognition of the Chinese Government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek.

Allies on Guard in Trieste

Trieste, May 17 (AP)—British troops and Yugoslav Partisans stood guard shoulder to shoulder at important buildings in this troubled "hot spot" tonight while the dispute over Marshal Tito's claims to the city entered diplomatic channels.

The tense air of a week ago, after the Yugoslavs first occupied the city, had disappeared. American and British notes to Tito appeared to have cleared the air, and Allied supplies for forces in northern Italy flow into the port without interruption.

'DEAL' ON AUSTRIA OFFERED BY TITO

Marshal Proposes His Troops Remain There but Under Alexander's Command

BELGRADE, May 16 (Delayed) (AP)—Marshal Tito, replying to an American protest at the Yugoslav occupation of Klagenfurt, suggested today that Yugoslav troops be permitted to remain in Austrian Carinthia but be placed under the command of Field Marshal Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, the Allies' Supreme Commander in the Mediterranean theatre.

Marshal Tito's compromise suggestion answered the first of two protest notes handed to the Yugoslav Premier by the American Ambassador, Richard C. Patterson. The second note asked the withdrawal of Yugoslav troops from the disputed Italian port of Trieste and parts of Venezia Giulia. It was understood that Marshal Tito's Foreign Office had not yet replied.

A Yugoslav Foreign Office note handed to Mr. Patterson today pointed out that Yugoslavia had not received an answer from the American and British Governments to its note of April 2, asking agreement to a proposal that Yugoslav troops occupy a part of Austria. The same note said that Russia had agreed to the proposal and that, in the absence of any Anglo-American reply, the Yugoslavs had gone ahead, occupying territory that had been won in battle. The note expressed Marshal Tito's conviction that the sacrifices of the Yugoslav Army entitled the country to occupy conquered territory.

The two American notes—understood to have the approval of Britain—had restated the American position that boundaries should not be changed by force pending the peace conference. Regarding Italian territory, the American note was reported to have asked that Yugoslav forces be withdrawn from only part of the area occupied by the Yugoslavs.

It was unknown when a Yugoslav reply to the second note would be received by American authorities. It was believed likely, however, that it would be of similar tenor to that asking Marshal Alexander to command the Yugoslav forces remaining in Austria.

SPAIN DENIES REPORTS ON CAMP CONDITIONS

MADRID, May 17 (AP)—Blas Perez Gonzales, Minister of the Interior, issued today a denial of an Associated Press dispatch of May 11 dealing with conditions in the Nanclares de la Oca concentration camp in northern Spain.

The Minister said this account of the camp constituted "such an accumulation of falsehoods and absurdities that it can only be explained by a desire to carry out a stupid campaign to lower Spanish prestige with the evident intention of influencing the satisfactory state of Spain's foreign relations."

The Falange press and propaganda service said the Minister "expressly authorized The United Press to give world publicity" to his denial.

As a sequel to the story and the denial the entire foreign press left Madrid today for personal inspection of the camp, forty miles from Vitoria. Charles S. Foltz, Associated Press correspondent, who sent the criticized dispatch, and Paul Kennedy, NEW YORK TIMES correspondent, who sent a similar story, were kept apart from other correspondents in a separate automobile. An armed major of police rode beside the chauffeur of their car.

Both Mr. Foltz and Mr. Kennedy requested permission to talk to inmates of the camp without the presence of officials.

A message to The Associated Press in New York said Mr. Foltz had signed statements to back his story.

Calcutta, May 17 (A. CHINESE WITHDRAW TO RIM OF FOOCHOW

Give Way to Reinforced Foe in 5-Day Battle—U. S. Fliers Maintain Bombing Pressure

CHUNGKING, China, May 17 (AP)—Chinese assault forces have withdrawn from strategic Foochow, former treaty port on the east China coast and a possible American invasion area, after a bitter five-day street battle, the Chinese High Command said tonight.

Chinese troops broke into the important Japanese-held strong point in the enemy coastal defense system 125 miles northwest of Formosa on Friday, but were forced to fall back after the Japanese hurled large reinforcements into the struggle.

The Japanese reinforcements were rushed from the near-by coastal towns of Lienkong and Mamoi, the Chinese communiqué said.

Relinquishing footholds in the city of 322,725 persons, the Chinese took up new positions on its outskirts on Tuesday, the High Command said. More than 400 Japanese were killed in street fighting.

Fighting continued outside the city.

The Chinese said organized enemy resistancee ended in Hunan Province southeast of Kaosha, a highway town fifty-five miles west of Paoking, and also northwest of Shinmen.

In the maritime province of Chekiang, the Chinese captured the town of Wuyi, less than twenty miles southeast of the important Japanese bastion of Kinhwa on the Chekiang-Kiangsi railroad.

The battle for Wuyi cost the enemy 300 casualties, the High Command said.

Simultaneously, it was disclosed that China's new Sixth Army, which fought valiantly in Burma, was back in the homeland and probably will play a key part in the planned general Chinese counter-offensive. The American-trained and equipped Sixth Army, back since January, had a big role in battles that speeded construction of the Stilwell Road.

Tsai Hung-chung, well-known Chinese war commentator, suggested today that the first big objectives of the Chinese counter-offensive would be Chengchow, key junction on the Peiping-Hankow and Lung-hai railroads, and Ichang the western approaches to the central Chinese metropolis of Hankow.

He forecast another [illegible] southern China toward Kweilin in Kwangsi province, 375 miles southeast of Chungking, for an ultimate push on Hengyang, junction of the Canton - Hankow and Hunan-Kwangsi railroads.

Gaining these objectives, the Chinese would disrupt the Japanese corridor between Manchuria and Indo-China and pave the way for a junction with American forces, whom he predicted might land on the Yangtze delta for an offensive to take Shanghai and Nanking.

United States Fourteenth Air Force bombers and fighters kept up a relentless attack on Japanese supplies and communications in the Japanese north-south corridor and blasted enemy forces retreating from their abortive drive on the American air base at Chihkiang.

River shipping on the Yangtze and docks at Wuchang, across the Yangtze from Hankow, suffered heavy blows from Mitchell bombers and low-flying, strafing Mustang and Thunderbolt fighters. Five enemy vessels were destroyed and five others damaged. No Japanese air opposition was encountered.

An American observer meanwhile said that there was "increasing evidence that Japanese morale has suffered heavily from unexpected reverses" in Hunan province.

The observer said that the aggressive Chinese defensive and counter-offensive tactics came as a surprise to the Japanese.

Chinese morale, the report said, was at its peak, one contribution being the close cooperation given by American planes and American assistance in removing Chinese wounded to rear areas in United States vehicles.

Chinese Withdraw From Port Of Foochow

Chungking, May 17 (AP)—The Chinese Command said tonight that its troops were forced to withdraw from the East China port of Foochow Tuesday night when the Japanese threw large numbers of reinforcements into the five-day battle.

Foochow, an old treaty port, is on a section of the China coast on which American expeditionary forces may land some day. The Chinese said they fought into the city last Friday and inflicted 400 casualties.

Jap Morale Seen Hurt

Earlier, Chinese combat command headquarters said an American observer had found "increasing evidence that enemy morale has suffered heavily from unexpected reverses" in Hunan province.

The American's report praised the morale and fighting spirit of the Chinese who turned back the Japanese drive toward the American airbase at Chihkiang. It said the aggressive Chinese defensive and counteroffensive tactics in Hunan surprised the Japanese and provided a psychological as well as a physical factor in breaking down the enemy advance.

Japanese troops left much heavy equipment and supplies behind, the report said. Chinese troops did not capture much food or ammunition, however, confirming a belief that United States 14th Air Force planes and Chinese infiltration tactics had hampered enemy supply efforts.

U. S. Ob[illegible]ver Says Surprise Chinese Blow Ha[illegible]reat Psychological Effect.

Chungki[illegible] May 17 (A. P.).—Chinese combat command head[illegible]rters said today that an American obser[illegible]er had found i[illegible]creasing evidence that the enemy's [illegible]rale has suffered heavily from unexpected reverses in [illegible]an province.

The American's report praised the morale and fighting spirit of the Chinese, who turned back the Japanese drive toward the American air base at Chihkiang. It said that the aggressive Chinese defensive and counter-offensive tactics in Hunan surprised the Japanese and provided a psychological as well as a physical factor in breaking down the enemy's advance.

The Japanese left behind much heavy equipment and supplies, the report said. The Chinese troops did not capture much food or ammunition, however, confirming the belief that the American Fourteenth Air Force and the Chinese infiltration tactics had hampered the enemy's supply efforts.

One Chinese unit personally observed by the American officer fought hard for seventy-two hours with very little food and was still in good spirits. Members of the unit said that they had been too busy to eat.

American contributions to Chinese morale included the close co-operation given by American planes and American assistance in removing Chinese wounded to the rear in American vehicles. The Chinese Combat Command is under Major-Gen. Robert B. McClure, a veteran of the Southwest Pacific campaign.

Fourteenth Air Force fighters and bombers continued their attacks yesterday over a wide area on Japanese supplies, troops and communications, damaging six locomotives on railroads in the Yellow River area, a United States Army communique said. Five enemy vessels were destroyed and five others were damaged in attacks on river shipping on the Yangtze and in the Siang corridor.

Censorship today permitted the disclosure that the new Chinese Sixth Army, which played an important part in the Burma campaign to open the India-China supply road, has been in China since last January.

DENIES SPLIT OVER POLAND

Stettinius Says U. S. Stand Same as Britain's.

San Francisco, May 17 (A. P.).—Secretary of State Stettinius declared today that there is "no question of any differences" between the American and British viewpoint on the formation of a new Polish coalition government.

The Secretary of State made his statement in response to inquiries prompted by a New York Herald Tribune dispatch from San Francisco which said that the United States position on the Polish dispute, as defined by President Roosevelt before his death in an exchange of letters with Prime Minister Churchill, differed from that of the British.

Asked about this report, Mr. Stettinius authorized this quotation: "There has been no question of any differences between the American and British view of the Crimea agreement as it affects Poland."

No Reply From Moscow.

Mr. Stettinius declined to comment on any possible exchange of letters between Mr. Roosevelt and Churchill. But other State Department officials supplemented his comment with the statement that there never had been any difference between the position of the two countries on the establishment of a new Polish provisional government.

So ar as is known to department officials here, there has not yet been any reply from Moscow on the demand of both the United States and Great Britain for a full explanation of the Soviet arrest of sixteen Poles who had gone to Moscow ostensibly to negotiate with the Russians over the formation of a new government.

At the time both governments sent Moscow notes, Stettinius and Foreign Minister Anthony Eden both said conversations on the Polish question would be suspended and not resumed until an answer was forthcoming from the Kremlin.

It was perhaps in reference to the Polish, among other situations, that Eden told Commons today "there are a number of serious and disquieting issues" in the international situation.

PEACE COUNCIL VOTING FORMULA FACES TEST TODAY

Big Five Insists on System Despite Sharp Opposition.

FRANCE BACKS PLAN

Small Nations Protest Veto Power by Great Powers.

Gornell

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17—(AP)—A United Nations conference committee went one fast round to no decision tonight on the vital question whether any of five great powers should have authority to block peace-enforcement action by a new world league.

Sir Alexander Cadogan, Britain's undersecretary for foreign affairs, said the test vote may come tomorrow.

At stake in that ballot is the fundamental procedure recommended by the great powers for forcible handling of threats to world peace.

Under the Dumbarton Oaks plan for a world organization, as supplemented by a Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin agreement at their conference at Yalta this spring, a proposed security council of 11 member nations would decide whether economic or military sanctions should be applied to prevent war. And it would require the unanimous vote the big five—France, Britain, China, Russia and the United States—plus ballots of two of the other six council members to order use of force.

Hold Vote Power

Any one of the big five could veto such action, against itself or against any other country.

Now it's up to a committee considering the structure of the security council to determine whether the voting formula is to be retained. The big five are insisting on it and most signs pointed to their getting their way, despite sharp opposition.

It became Cadogan's job to explain how the voting arrangement would work in the council. He explained how the Dumbarton Oaks conference in Washington last fall failed to produce agreement on it and how the formula finally was worked out at Yalta.

France spoke in support of the system. But New Zealand's prime minister, Peter Fraser, was said to have shot some decidedly barbed questions at Cadogan. And Australian Foreign Minister Herbert V. Evatt was described as having strongly attacked the veto authority.

Dutch Ask Changes

A Netherlands representative called for changes to meet the Dutch position that "no veto should be given to any state except if this were to be considered necessary in questions of coercion by armed force of third parties, and then only to the great powers directly concerned."

The Dutch feel that if the great powers get the right to veto in cases to which they were a party, the Dumbarton Oaks plan "would only be useful for promoting the orderly settlement of international disputes between smaller states."

The great powers have yielded a measure of control in a plan to let regional defense systems act against any aggressor in case of actual attack, although Russia still hasn't accepted this formula.

Another committee, considering functions of an all-nation general assembly, has taken steps to whittle down big nation authority over selection of a secretary general, who will be the principal official of the world organization. But Russia has complained this committee overstepped its authority, and the question whether it has jurisdiction in the matter has been referred to a conference coordination body for a decision.

Top statesmen of the Big Five hunted for ways of speeding up the conference, continued a discussion of issues, and hoped Moscow would come through soon on Russia's attitude toward letting regional defense arrangements operate alongside the world organization.

A formal meeting of Big Five foreign ministers was suddenly called off, however, amid indications Russia is not yet prepared to state her position.

The Russian position may determine whether the proposed American amendment to give status within the world organization to the inter-American defense system will be offered to a conference committee tomorrow with the support of all five big powers, or under American sponsorship alone.

In a separate meeting, the American delegation heard consultants representing business, labor, agriculture and education urge the strengthening of authority for a proposed council on economic and social cooperation.

While many conference problems still have to be unsnarled, President Truman in Washington and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden in London both spoke of satisfactory progress.

The White House said Truman had talked with Secretary of State Stettinius, American delegation chairman, and was gratified at "the very satisfactory progress." Eden told Commons the conference was getting along "better in many respects than we anticipated."

Frisco Piles Up Problems For The Future

San Francisco, May 17 (AP)—Completion of a new peace-league charter now appears probable in about three weeks, but in the background of the United Nations' conference critical big-power problems are piling up for the months ahead.

The heat is being turned on to get the job here finished. Conference committees, raking over proposed changes in the basic Dumbarton Oaks security plan, are eliminating many amendments.

Their work to date strongly indicates that the plan for an all-powerful eleven-member security council and a general assembly limited to debating peace problems and advising on their solution will go through.

Big Problems Remaining

The work and parallel diplomatic developments here, however, have gone far enough to spotlight the accumulation of problems remaining to be solved after this conference. Among the most important:

1. Agreement among the United Nations, particularly the main military powers, as to what quotas of forces they would place at the disposal of the proposed World Security Council. For the United States this would mean committing at least a part of the peac time army, navy, and airforce the orders of the council.

2. Negotiation of a new, long-ter defense pact among the American nations to carry over the presen wartime alliance into the years o peace. Other collections of nation with common interests also may work out such treaties, assuming that the United States' proposa for fitting them into the world or ganization wins approval here.

Admitting New Members

3. What to do about letting non-United Nations into the new league. This would be a problem for the organization itself but already is developing great political importance. There is widespread opinion among officials here, for instance, that Spain under the present Franco Government could never qualify for membership.

4. Distribution of colonial areas taken from enemy nations in this war and reassignment or confirmation of mandated areas held from the previous World War. This conference has limited itself strictly to setting up machinery for supervising trustee territories, putting off to a future peace meeting the agreement on actual control of territories.

5. Settlement of the Big Three dispute over a government for Poland. This came into the conference picture chiefly because of the presence here of Stettinius, British Foreign Secretary Eden and Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov. It has come to be regarded as symbolic of the difficulties of co-operation among the powers.

Territorial Claims

6. Settlement of conflicting territorial claims among the nations of Europe. Presenting another problem for the future peace conference, these are likely to be among the most difficult questions the victors of this war will have to deal with. This is evidenced by the present Anglo-American differences with Yugoslavia over Trieste.

Japs Take Comfort From Russian Budget

San Francisco, May 17 (AP)—A Domei broadcast from Tokyo said today the recently adopted Russian national budget of 307,714,754,000 rubles for 1945-46 indicated that Soviet authorities, "contrary to enemy wishful thinking," were aiming at economic rehabilitation and not preparing for a war against Japan.

The broadcast quoted an article from the Japanese economic journal Nippon Sangyo Keizai as saying the budget was a tremendous increase over original estimates but attributing the increase to post-war planning.

"It is natural that the Soviet Union will have to spend much for rehabilitation of territories which she recaptured," the article said.

Md. GI Has 145 Points But He Refuses To Quit

San Francisco, May 17 (AP)—Although he has 145 service credits—60 more than he needs for discharge—Staff Sergeant Ernest R. Carter, 23, son of E. R. Carter, R.F.D. 1, Knoxville, Md., refuses to leave the Army.

"I'm going to stick around until the war is over," he announced.

Carter wears the Bronze Star, the Purple Heart with Oak Leaf Cluster and four battle stars on his Pacific ribbon for a total of 35 combat points. He has collected another 110 points for overseas and domestic service credit.

Smith Ejected From Hotel

SAN FRANCISCO, May 17 (AP)—Gerald L. K. Smith, leader of the "America First" party, was quietly ejected tonight from the Mark Hopkins Hotel lobby. He planned to give a speech. He left without protest, but with critical remarks about the Russians and the British. A hotel official said Smith had not asked for a room in which to speak and that he was legally forbidden the use of the lobby.

San Francisco Has Earth Shock

San Francisco, May 17 (A. P.)—A light earth tremor shook San Francisco at 8:08 A. M., Pacific war time, today.

Theological Schools in Pacific

HONOLULU, May 17 (AP).—Three Army-sponsored theological schools in the Pacific war theater are helping American soldiers prepare to occupy post-war pulpits. Colonel Ora J. Cohee, senior chaplain of the Pacific Ocean area, said the schools, at New Caledonia, Tinian and Saipan, were established at the request of soldiers.

U. S. CASUALTIES NEARLY A MILLION

Washington, May 17 (A. P.)—American combat casualties since Pearl Harbor have climbed to within 14,000 of the million mark, the Army and Navy reported today. Under-Secretary of War Patterson placed the Army's losses at 878,939 on the basis of reports through May 7 and covering fighting to about the middle of April. The Navy added 107,275 to make the aggregate 986,214, an increase of 13,560 over last week's report.

Mr. Patterson also reported that up to May 9 Army casualties in the Philippine campaign totaled 46,638, including 10,342 killed, 35,699 wounded, and 507 missing. The Japanese, he said, have lost 237,256 in dead or prisoners during the campaign.

Since the Guadalcanal and the Papuan campaigns, he said, the records indicate that the number of Japanese actually counted killed by Army forces, exclusive of those on Okinawa, amounts to more than 360,000.

A breakdown on Army casualties in all theaters as reported today and corresponding figures for the previous week showed: Killed, 178,854 and 175,168; wounded, 544,249 and 536,029; missing, 66,684 and 74,304; prisoners, 89,152 and 82,208. Of the wounded, 294208 have returned to duty and of the prisoners, 19,876 have been listed officially as having been exchanged or returned to military control.

Similar figures for the Navy were: Killed, 41,986 and 41,458; wounded, 50,421 and 48,858; missing, 10,620 and 10,382; prisoners, 4,248 and 4,247.

PATTERSON FOUND REICH WELL-FED

Washington, May 17 (A. P.).—Under-Secretary of War Patterson, back from Europe, said today that the German people were well fed and well clad and that rural areas of the Reich were untouched by war. Commenting that he could not predict what the situation would be like in the future, he told a news conference that at present there was no sign of a lack of nourishment or clothing among the Germans.

He said there appeared to be ample opportunity for the Germans to grow their own food, but that man power would be a tremendous problem since slave labor is no longer available.

In this connection he said that German demands for agricultural labor will be balanced against Allied needs for German labor in allocating Nazi prisoners of war for work. The allocation of German prisoners will be determined on the "highest level," he said, adding that he could not say what priorities would be established.

In response to a question, Mr. Patterson said he thought it would be "an ideal job" for the Germans to clear farms in France and other Allied countries of mines left by retreating Nazi forces.

DENMARK TO HELP FEED NEIGHBORS

Crowley Says Food Production Can Be Maintained

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Newly liberated Denmark is a possible source of food for other European countries freed from German domination, the Foreign Economic Administration said today.

A statement by the FEA administrator, Leo T. Crowley, reported that the Danes, traditionally exporters of food, have maintained high production during the war, although the Nazis "took for themselves a major share of Danish food."

High output was possible because the Germans provided such necessary materials as fertilizer and oil, Crowley said.

To Supply Allies

FEA estimated that the current

MAY 19 1945

MAY 19 1945 MAY 19 1945 30-24 25865

Danish harvest should produce an exportable surplus of about 17,000 tons of beef, 40,000 tons of bacon, 40,000 tons of butter, 4,000 tons of condensed milk and 1,500 tons of cheese. Supplies of sugar, potatoes and other vegetables and fish also should be available, the agency said.

It added that if Denmark is to produce food for the Allied armies of occupation and the liberated areas, "it will be necessary to provide the country with what they most need to keep up this production—coal, oil, fertilizer, oil seeds, railroad equipment, tires and other raw materials."

FEA said it has developed plans for provision of such supplies, which will be paid for by the Danish Government.

BRIDGES SEES SUBTERFUGE IN LEND-LEASE AID

Says State Department Is Disregarding Intent of Congress.

HE WANTS NO DIVERSIONS

Senator Asserts No Help Should Go to Any Country Not Fighting Japanese.

Washington, May 17 (A. P.).—Senator Bridges (R.-N. H.) said today that the State Department was making a studied attempt to continue lend lease on pretext of a military situation no longer directly connected with the war in Europe.

He declared in a Senate speech that recent pronouncements on lend lease have given him an "uneasy feeling that the clear purpose of the act and the clear intent of Congress is either not understood or is intentionally disregarded."

He asserted that a recent statement of Acting Secretary of State Joseph C. Grew on future lend-lease policy "is clearly intended to lay a foundation for an interpretation of lend-lease as the State Department wishes to interpret it and not as Congress intended the act to be used."

He quoted Mr. Grew as having said: "If the President determines that lend-lease supplies must continue to move to Europe for an additional period because the prosecution of the war requires it, he is authorized to do so under the act." The Senator then declared:

"We cannot have any diversions of lend-lease for any purpose except to those countries which are vigorously and openly working with us to defeat Japan. This is the clear intent of Congress.

"Any country not actively and vigorously and directly aiding the United States in this life and death struggle in the Pacific has, at best, only a secondary claim on our economic resources. No country at all is entitled to economic aid under lend-lease for post-war purposes or on long-term credits."

RANKIN OPENS WAR ON UN-AMERICANISM

Washington, May 17 (A. P.).—Representative Rankin (D.-Miss.) opened a congressional drive today to define and abolish, "un-Americanism."

A member of the House un-American Activities Committee, Mr. Rankin introduced legislation which he described as 'full of dynamite, but necessary, so we can abolish these subversive outfits and so-called liberals trying to wreck our country."

Mr. Rankin said his measure "goes far beyond the present laws on treason."

Under it, those found guilty of "un-American" activity would be subject to:

1. A $10,000 fine or ten years' imprisonment, or both.

2. A ban on holding Federal office.

3. An invalidation of citizenship, if a naturalized citizen.

The measure specifies that those guilty of "un-American" activity are persons who:

"Willfully engage or attempt to engage in any activity intended to accomplish or to aid in accomplishing, in any manner otherwise than by amendment to the Constitution the overthrow, or any change, in the form of Government or any impairment of the rights, privileges or immunities secured or protected by the Constitution."

Roosevelt Dime And Bond Slated

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Two tributes to the memory of Franklin D. Roosevelt were announced by the Treasury today:

1. The dime will bear his likeness.

2. His picture will be on war bonds in the next war-loan drive. Also on the bond—some denomination of "Series E" security—a suitable Rooseveltian utterance, to be selected by Washington newsmen, will be quoted.

Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Secretary of the Treasury, said at a news conference the new dimes will be minted as soon as possible and should be ready for distribution around the end of this year.

The present Liberty-head dime, which has been in existence 29 years, will be discontinued.

Only 3 Others So Honored

Only three other Presidents are honored by the United States Mint. Lincoln is on the penny, Jefferson on the nickel and Washington on the quarter.

No authority from Congress is required to mint the Roosevelt dimes. The law says the Treasury can change the design of a coin every 25 years. Morgenthau said the dimes probably will be produced at the Philadelphia Mint.

Thousands Of Requests

The Secretary said there were "literally thousands" of requests for some kind of memorial to Mr. Roosevelt in the Seventh War Loan drive now in progress, but preparations were too far advanced to do the idea justice. He said a brand new $250 denomination of E bonds may be issued for the purpose but this has not been decided.

Morgenthau offered a personal gift of a $100 war bond to the Washington newsman who suggests the Roosevelt "quote" which is used. He left the decision to a committee of newspaper, radio and magazine correspondents. He also offered $50 and $25 bonds as second and third prizes.

100th G. I. Will Get Honor Medal Monday

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—President Truman will appear before a joint session of Congress Monday to present the 100th Congressional Medal of Honor awarded to an infantryman.

The recipient will be Technical Sergeant Jake W. Lindsey, of Lucedale, Miss., platoon leader in the 16th Regiment of the 1st Division in the 1st Army.

The War Department recently announced that Sergeant Lindsey was being returned from Europe to receive the award for gallantry in action near Hamick, Germany.

The Senate majority leader, Senator Alben W. Barkley, Democrat, of Kentucky, in announcing arrangements for the joint session, said Monday's ceremonies would "do honor to all those awarded the Medal of Honor in the war."

8 Naval Officers Decorated

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP).—Eight officers were decorated today by Ralph A. Bard, Under Secretary of the Navy, for outstanding service against the enemy. Among those decorated, Captain Luis de Florez, of Pomfret, Conn., received the Legion of Merit for services as director of the special devices division of the Bureau of Aeronautics, and Commander Albert B. Stanford, of Cheney Hill, Essex Conn., the Bronze Star Medal for services as officer in charge of a reconnaissance party on a search mission through heavily mined territory in France.

Congress to See Truman Pin Medal on Sgt. Lindsey

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 17—President Truman will appear before a joint session of Congress on Monday to present the 100th Medal of Honor awarded to an infantryman.

The recipient will be T/Sgt. Jake W. Lindsey of Lucedale, Miss., platoon leader in the Sixteenth Regiment of the First Division in the First Army.

The War Department recently announced that he was being returned from Europe to receive the award for gallantry in action near Hamick, Germany.

In announcing arrangements for the joint session, Senator Barkley said that the ceremony would "do honor to all those awarded the Medal of Honor in the war."

Asks Vacation for Eisenhower

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—Senator Lucas of Illinois told the Senate today that General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower deserved a brief vacation in the United States. "I predict the general would get a reception unparalleled in all our history," Mr. Lucas told the Senate. He read a Chicago Daily News editorial which said an Eisenhower trip home would spur bond sales and provide a "seventh-inning stretch" for the general before undertaking his new duties of directing United States occupation in Germany.

Yank Gets 50 Germans, Receives Highest Medal

Washington, May 17 (AP)—An infantry officer who killed a German major in a gun duel and killed or captured some 50 other Nazis has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously.

He is First Lieutenant Victor L. Kandle, of Puyallup, Wash., who lost his life in France about three months after winning the nation's highest decoration for bravery.

Kandle distinguished himself last October 9 while leading a group of sixteen riflemen and machine-gunners in seizing a German strongpoint in a mountain quarry near La Forge, France. The enemy position had held up a battalion advance for two days.

Takes Two Nazis

Shortly after setting out in a fog, the force came upon a house from which Germans were firing. Kandle boldly walked in and brought out two Germans.

Then he took a small reconnaissance patrol and started into a woods. Spotting an enemy sniper, he worked around behind him, fell on him and took him prisoner.

A little later on the road to the quarry, the group sighted a German major and two enlisted men. Kandle called to them to surrender but they flopped into a ditch and the major opened up with a machine pistol. While the pistol bullets splintered trees around him, Kandle calmly returned the fire with his rifle.

Staff Sergeant James Malone, of Sharpsburg, Pa., who witnessed the duel, related:

"Lieutenant Kandle's accuracy with the MI rifle beat the German fire power. The German had enough and he dashed headlong through the trees in an attempt to escape. Firing through the sights at a standing position, Lieutenant Kandle hit the German in the arm and when he kept running two more shots stopped and killed him."

The two enlisted men with the German major surrendered. The trio had been attempting to set up an advanced observation post.

Captures Quarry

Kandle's outfit went on toward the quarry, capturing the outposts and cutting communication wires. Within 15 yards of the quarry, Kandle was discovered by the Germans. He signaled his men to open fire and dashed into the quarry, killing a machinegunner and an assistant while his men killed four and wounded two in another emplacement. Some Germans waved a white towel and surrendered. Others ran.

A large house, core of the enemy position, stood to the front of the quarry. Realizing there was no chance of surprising the occupants Kandle single-handedly rushed the building, hitting the door in a flying leap. By the time the others had come up Kandle had 32 Germans shouting "Kamerad!"

Biddle Indorses Cartels Curb

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Attorney General Biddle today indorsed legislation requiring industry to file for public record all foreign commerce contracts. He said this would strike the first blow at post-war international cartels.

Biddle told a Senate Judiciary subcommittee that all foreign contracts should be exposed to the light of publicity and then, perhaps:

1. "No American company will ever again enter into an arrangement with I. G. Farben whereby I. G. Farben can stop some of the developments of synthetic rubber in this country.

2. "No American firm will ever again make an arrangement with a Japanese company whereby the secrets of submarine propellers being tested by the United States Navy, as well as the results of the tests, will be disclosed."

Revival Planned, He Says

Biddle said "many of the cartel contracts contained terms under which they were to be revived after the war."

He was referring to arrangements between firms doing international trade whereby spheres of influence are set up. It has been charged that Germany's I. G. Farbenindustrie used cartels to clamp restrictive control over many lines of American research and development.

Many American companies have renounced such cartels, Biddle said, but many of the old arrangements are being resumed.

Promises Action

"Meetings have been held, plans have been laid and in some cases agreements already entered into," the Attorney General testified. "As to some of these agreements, my department will have something to say before long."

Never again, he added, should German industry be "permitted to remain in a position to dominate and control the industry of a considerable portion of Europe."

Truman's Visit To Hull Spurs Speculation

Washington, May 17 (AP)—President Truman drove to the Naval Hospital at Bethesda, Md., today for a 50-minute conference with Cordell Hull, former Secretary of State.

The trip prompted speculation that a possible meeting of the President, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin had been discussed.

"No Comment," President Says

Mr. Truman told reporters who accompanied him on the 11-mile trip that he had "no comment" to make on his visit with Hull.

Both Mr. Truman and Prime Minister Winston Churchill have expressed hope of an early meeting with Premier Stalin.

Shortly before the President went up on the elevator to Hull's quarters, W. Averill Harriman, Ambassador to Russia, and Charles E. Bohlen, State Department Russian expert, came down.

Talked With Stettinius

Earlier, Mr. Truman had talked by telephone with Secretary of State Stettinius at San Francisco.

His trip to Bethesda, where Hull has been a patient since last fall, followed conferences at the White House yesterday with Brig. Gen. Elliott Roosevelt and Mrs. Anna Boettiger, son and daughter of the late President Roosevelt, about trips they had made with their father to Big Three meetings.

Congressmen to See World

House Members Say Truman Favors Trips Abroad for Those Interested.

Washington, May 17 (A. P.).—Congress soon may rival the Navy in offering a "see the world" inducement. House members passed the word around today that President Truman believes any lawmaker who wants a trip abroad should have it.

Many already have availed themselves of the Government-financed tours, and many more are overseas or getting ready to hop off in Air Transport Command planes for foreign shores.

Most have headed for Europe, and at one time there were so many House members there that one recently returned with the quip:

"You could get a quorum of the House right in London."

Groups from the House Agriculture, the House Naval, and the Senate Interstate committees already have left Washington for Europe.

Looking Things Over.

Getting set to take off are delegations from the Senate and House Military committees, the Senate War Investigating Committee, and a "miscellaneous" House committee slated to leave next week "just to look things over."

Two "one-man committees" of House members now are abroad: Republican Representatives Earl Wilson (Ind.) and Everett Dirksen (Ill.). A third, Republican Clare Boothe Luce (R.-Conn.), recently returned.

A joint committee of twelve came home last week from an inspection of Nazi concentration camps. Several groups have visited London as guests of the British Government.

Wants All to See Europe.

Representative Dondero (R.-Mich), one of a group planning to leave next week, said after a White House visit that "President Truman is in favor of making it possible for every member who wants to go to Europe to be able to do so."

The President believes, Mr. Dondero said, that "members of Congress will do a better job if they see what is going on in Europe."

There's one new factor:

The program of air evacuation of wounded soldiers may require future traveling legislators to come back by boat.

Some prefer it that way. They can bring home more souvenirs.

Ceiling Prices on Meat May Be Frozen Six Months

WASHINGTON, May 17 — (AP) Members of Congress said tod... the government is likely to freeze all ceiling prices on meat for at least six months.

The price ceiling freeze—requiring six-month notice of intention to raise or lower cash pri...—it described as the keysto... f a revamped program being drafted by War Mobilization Director Fred M. Vinson and other government officials to break the growing meat shortage and black market.

Barring last minute changes, the program as reported by legislators would include these other beef-producing incentives:

1—A 50 cents per hundredweight subsidy to feeders of live cattle as an inducement to hold cattle on feed lots until they develop into prime beef.

2—A requirement that all cattle worth $14.25 a hundred be sold directly to slaughtering plants, intended to keep a supply of good meat moving to market.

Non-congressional sources connected with the planning job said the program outlined was the one most in consideration, but no final decision has been reached yet, particularly on the subsidy proposal.

The new Vinson program — expected before the end of this week —probably will scrap much of a 10-point meat policy issued several weeks ago. The 10-point program failed to break the beef shortage and, Capitol Hill heard, some cattlemen complained that it forced them to take losses on their stock.

Vinson, War Food Administrator Marvin Jones, representatives of the OPA, Commodity Credit Corp. and other government agencies concerned with meat supplies have been working on the new meat program for more than a week.

The ceiling price regulation would require that the government hereafter give six months notice of intention to shift prices at any level of meat marketing from stock ranges to the butcher counters.

Backers of the freeze feel it will serve the two-fold purpose of preventing retail counter inflation and encouraging cattlemen to develop prime beef without fear that the market will crack and leave them with a loss.

The feeder subsidy has been recommended both by Senate and House food investigating committees, but no amount ever has been suggested formally. The proposed subsidy would give feeders 50 cents a hundredweight extra for all beef sent to market, regardless of the weight of animals when bought on the range.

Bowles Clarifies A Puzzler On Meat

Washington, May 17 (AP)—OPA said today its rationing program is only one of a number of ways Americans share in limited food supplies.

In the case of meat, for instance, only about half the estimated amount available to civilians will be accounted for by red points.

Price Administrator Chester Bowles offered an explanation today in response, he said, to many letters from housewives puzzled by official announcements of the per capita supply of different rationed foods.

Much Goes Into Canned Goods

"Without realizing that a considerable part of the total rationed food supply goes to civilians in the form of manufactured products and through restaurants . . . housewives look at the figures, add up the number of ration stamps they have, and then wonder how in the world OPA expects them to obtain their share at present point values," Bowles asserted in a statement.

The "misunderstanding," he said, results from the fact that per capita figures refer to total supplies and cover "not only that part that people get directly with their ration stamps, but also the part it is possible to get indirectly."

Based On Carcass Weight

Citing meat as an example Bowles said that, while the per capita estimate at present is 115 pounds a year, "actually only about half of that meat will move against ration stamps."

Saying the 115-pound figure is based on "carcass" or "wholesale" weight, the price chief added:

"Because of shrinkage and trimming losses there is an average loss of about fifteen per cent before carcass meat is sold over the butcher's counter."

Even Goes Into Medicine

He said that in addition to meals purchased at restaurants "most people get a part of the total supply by buying manufactured products, such as canned soups, baby foods, pork and beans, and even pharmaceuticals."

Many farm families produce their own unrationed meat, Bowles said, adding that finally "some people, unfortunately, get meat in the black market, thus cutting the supply available to housewives and dealers who play fair."

No Rationing Of Tobacco Planned

Washington, May 17 (AP)—OPA said today it has no intention of putting the civilian tobacco supply under rationing.

Responding to an inquiry based on yesterday's announcement that cigarettes, cigars and smoking tobacco will be rationed at Army and Navy post outlets starting June 3, an OPA spokesman said the agency's decision against civilian rationing, made several months ago, still stands.

The reason given then was that it would not be workable.

The Army and Navy post rationing action was taken by the armed services.

Army Cuts Purchases

Army purchases of cigarettes have been cut about one third for May, June and July, a War Department spokesman said. The reduction was estimated at 200,000,000 packages. One factor, he said, is that there is no longer any problem of losses from Atlatic ship sinkings or war operations in Europe.

Army purchases of smoking and chewing tobacco and cigars were not changed.

There'll be some 2,000,000 more books of matches available through tobacco and drug stores this quarter.

Cigarette-Buying Is Cut One-third by the Army

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 17 — Army purchases of cigarettes have been cut about one-third for May, June and July, a War Department spokesman said today. The reduction was estimated at 200,000,000 packages.

The cut was made possible, he said, because of lower requirements resulting from the end of the war in Europe and the redeployment of troops. One factor, he said, was that there was no longer any problem of losses from Atlantic ship sinkings or war operations in Europe.

The reduction also will prevent the accumulation of large stocks that would be subject to deterioration, he added.

Army purchases of smoking, chewing tobacco and cigars were not changed.

Rise In Chicken Supply Seen

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Prospects for some improvement in dressed poultry supplies by late summer and early fall were offered today by an Agriculture Department report of a record baby chick production in April.

The number totaled 346,621,000, or nine per cent more than in April last year. Some will be retained as layers. The sharpest increase was in mid-Atlantic states, an important source of supply for eastern cities.

Total commercial production of chicks for the first four months of this year was 778,745,000, or two per cent less than in the corresponding 1944 period.

Heavy Egg Demand

A shortage of hatching eggs was said to be limiting production this month. The shortage reflects an extremely heavy demand for eggs as a meat substitute and a strong demand for eggs for storage for sale next fall and winter.

The department said many hatcheries producing commercial broilers have their entire output of chicks sold through October and November this year.

The demand for young turkeys was said to be at a record level. April production was 20 per cent above that of the same month last year.

WPB To Lift Farm Machinery Curb

Washington, May 17 (AP)—The War Production Board soon will remove its controls on the production of farm machinery, it was reported today.

The lifting of production controls, however, is not expected to have any substantial immediate effect on increasing the output.

Until July 1, any increased production will have to come from excess and idle materials, but after that date farm machinery manufacturers, along with other civilian producers, are expected to receive additional materials.

Simultaneously, it was learned today, the WPB has prepared an order eliminating the necessity for a priority certificate to purchase wheel-type tractors for industrial use with construction machinery attached.

Flashlights Affected

The WPB's reconversion bookkeeping also reached flashlights and fire extinguishers today.

Restrictions on production and distribution of flashlights and other portable electric lights operated by dry-cell batteries were removed, but all provisions pertaining to dry-cell batteries have been retained.

Another revocation removed production and distribution controls from fire protective signal-and-alarm equipment. Any increased production, however, will depend upon the availability of materials.

COAL OPERATORS, MINERS AGREE ON WAGE INCREASE

WASHINGTON, May 17 — (AP) John L. Lewis and anthracite operators today accepted, as the basis for resuming contract negotiations, a proposal of Interior Secretary Ickes to raise the miner's daily pay $1.37 1-2.

This was mid-way between the operators' original offer of $1.03 and the United Mine Workers' demand of $1.79.

If a contract can be written by the sub-committees of miners and operators which went to work immediately on it, work in Pennsylvania's hard coal mines can be resumed.

The 72,000 miners who dig virtually all of the nation's anthracite have been idle since May 1, when their old contract expired. Ickes took the mines over May 3 after Lewis failed to extend the old agreement at the request of the War Labor board.

Ickes' proposal represented the amount coal experts in his department estimated the industry could stand, and the government could reasonably be expected to approve. Price increases would be sought by the producers to absorb the payroll cost.

Lewis' demands include $1.50 a day for underground travel time, as in the bituminous contract. Under Ickes' "ceiling" this would be shaved to something between $1.12 1-2 and $1.20, coal authorities said.

The balance could be distributed over other "fringe" wage adjustments such as vacations and shift differentials.

Lewis asked for an increase in vacation allowance from $50 to $100. He agreed to a compromise of $75 in the recently negotiated bituminous contract.

Ickes Is Silent On Next Step In Coal Strike

Washington, May 17 (AP)—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes was silent today as to his next step to end the deadlock over a new anthracite contract between operators and John L. Lewis.

Although meetings with operators, and Ickes and his coal experts and other Government agencies have been held since formal negotiations were discontinued a week ago, the Secretary gave no hint as to his plans.

Ickes, as solid fuels administrator, has been in control of the hard-coal mines since May 3. The 72,000 Pennsylvania anthracite miners have been idle since their contract expired May 1, and Lewis has not yet acceded to the War Labor Board's order to extend the old agreement.

'DISCIPLINEFIRINGS' RULED ON BY WLB

Policy on Discharges in War Plants Outlined as Outgrowth of Kelsey-Hayes Case

WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—A policy for speedy disposition of disputes growing out of disciplinary discharges was adopted by the War Labor Board today. It calls for final decisions by compulsory arbitration if necessary.

The statement of principles was an outgrowth of recent firings at the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel plant at Detroit.

Where existing grievance procedure is too slow moving and complicated for rapid adjustment of disputes over such discharges, the board said, special procedure should be set up. If negotiation fails, it added, grievances of that nature should be submitted to an umpire for binding decision. WLB said it ordinarly will order arbitration as a final step in disciplinary discharge cases brought before the board.

Kelsey-Hayes Case Recalled

The Kelsey-Hayes Company dismissed thirteen shop stewards and union committeemen in connection with two incidents at the plant which involved strikes. The last time, seven of the local officials of the CIO-Auto Workers were fired after a foreman was forcibly escorted from the plant, scene of one of the first sitdown strikes of the Thirties.

In stating its views on such discharges, the board did not mention Kelsey-Hayes, although a hearing was held two weeks ago on that dispute.

The board set forth these principles for dealing with disciplinary discharges:

"A disciplinary suspension or discharge alleged to be without just cause should be taken up as a grievance and finally determined under the grievance procedure as speedily as possible. If an existing multi-step grievance procedure has been found to be not adapted to the speedy processing of such grievances, a special shortened procedure should be established for this purpose.

On Unsettled Grievances

"Grievances which cannot be settled by negotiation should be promptly submitted to an arbitrator or umpire for final and binding decision, with power to order reinstatement and back pay in appropriate cases.

"Management has the right, in the absence of agreement to the contrary, to direct a discharged or suspended employe to remain away from work until the grievance has been finally determined. A reasonable opportunity should be provided for the employe, before leaving the premises, to report the details of his grievance to the union official authorized to present it.

"The board does not suggest, and will not direct, changes in procedures heretofore established by agreement or practice, which the parties regard as adequate to meet the problems under consideration. In the absence of such procedures, however, the board and its agencies will, as a rule, follow the principles outlined above.

"The National and the Regional War Labor Boards will make available to the parties lists of persons specially qualiifed to act as arbitrators or umpires in cases of this nature."

Normandie Won't Be Sent to Pacific

Washington, May 17 (A. P.).—The U. S. S. Lafayette, formerly the French luxury liner Normandie, is unlikely to see Pacific war service.

Navy Secretary Forrestal said that the vessel, which burned and capsized in New York Harbor while being converted to a transport, is too large to traverse the Panama Canal and man power and material are lacking to prepare the ship for war service.

Marchildon Released From Prison Camp

Toronto, May 17 (A. P.).—Among 257 Canadian airmen released from German prisoner-of-war camps was Phil Marchildon, the Philadelphia Athletics pitcher from Penetanguishene, Ont.

He won seventeen and lost fourteen for the A's in 1942. Phil enlisted in the R. C. A. F. that fall and subsequently was reported missing, then a prisoner.

GEN. DALTON KILLED

Essex Center, Vt., May 17 (A. P.).—Brig.-Gen. James L. Dalton, 35 years old, assistant commander of the Twenty-fifth Tropic Lightning Infantry Division, has been killed in action, the War Department notified his widow last night.

One of the youngest general officers in the Army ground forces, his promotion from colonel came only last month, twelve years after he was graduated from West Point.

Holder of the Silver Star medal with Oak Leaf cluster and the Bronze Star medal for personally leading reconnaissance and combat patrols on Guadalcanal and New Georgia, he formerly commanded the 161st Regiment of the Twenty-fifth.

A son of Mrs. Gladys Dalton of Kennebunkport, Me., Gen. Dalton was graduated from Naugatuck, Conn., High School in 1927 and West Point in 1933.

Worst U.S. Sugar Famine Is Held In Prospect

MAY 19 1945

New York, May 17 (AP)—Grandma's cookie jar will be nearly like Mother Hubbard's cupboard for the rest of the year.

With sugar supplies the lowest since the war started, American eating habits from breakfast cereal through dessert will feel the pinch.

"The people of the United States face the most critical sugar famine in their history," Ody H. Lamborn, president of Lamborn & Co., sugar brokers, declared.

First Step In Curtailment

The recent cut in consumer sugar rations, effected by extending Stamp 36 through August 31, is just the first step in the general curtailment program.

Industrial users are expected to have their allocations reduced sharply for the last half of 1945—and that means less commercial baked goods, less ice cream, soft drinks and candy.

For example, Ralph Ward, chairman of the War Committee of the American Bakers Association, said "further reduction will have the effect of indirect rationing of bakery products."

Forecast On Ice Cream

Ice-cream manufacturers have indicated that even on a 70 per cent allocation of sugar they would be unable to fill their full civilian needs this year.

Government estimates set sugar available for civilians for all of 1945 at a maximum of 5,000,000 tons—a drop of 1,100,000 tons from last year.

Greatest single factor in reduction of sugar supplies is said to be a drought in Cuba which cut the crop there 600,000 to 700,000 tons below estimates.

Hoover Urges More Bread For Europe

New York, May 17 (AP)—Herbert Hoover says surplus Canadian and United States wheat should be shifted to Western Europe within the next 90 days to feed 100,000,000 liberated people for whom it is now "11.59 on the starvation clock."

In a statement on the Blue Network's headline edition broadcast last night, Hoover said the surplus wheat would see the freed countries through "until next August."

"Unlimited bread after five years of restriction would be a powerful proof of liberation," he declared.

Doctors Protest Reassignment To Vet Units

Chicago, May 17 (AP)—Many physicians expecting to return soon from active service overseas are protesting against possible assignment to the Veterans' Administration, claiming it cannot be considered military service, the Journal of the American Medical Association said today.

The Journal said the committee on postwar medical service, at a meeting here May 12, recommended that Veterans' Administration physicians be obtained by voluntary enrollment of physicians released from the armed forces or from civilian sources.

"Righteousness Of Protests"

The committee, in a statement sent to the War and Navy secretaries and to the House and Senate committees on military affairs, urged that they "recognize the righteousness of the protests made by these medical officers against assignment to the Veterans' Administration," the Journal said.

Surgeon General Norman T. Kirk, of the Army, was quoted by the Journal as stating that medical officers returned to the United States on rotation or redeployment would be "assigned to duty according to their specialties" to "replace officers with similar qualifications who have not had opportunity for foreign service."

The Journal in an editorial said Kirk's statement indicates that returning doctors would be assigned "as long as needed" to "American hospitals and other installations."

Physicians' Viewpoint

"Many physicians who have served with distinction in both the European and Pacific theaters" have written or telegraphed to the A.M.A. indicating "the fear that

SOMEWHERE IN THE WESTERN CAROLINES, MARCH 24-(DELAYED)- THE BATTERED CARRIER, THE U.S.S. FRANKLIN, STEAMED INTO AN ANCHORAGE HERE LATE TODAY AFTER A SAD, BRIEF CRUISE, ITS COLORS FLYING AND ITS FIGHTING SPIRIT UNDIMMED BY THE TRAGEDY OFF JAPAN.

IN HIS FIRST PLAN OF THE DAY TWO DAYS AFTER THE BOMBING, CAPT. L.E.GEHRES HAD SOUNDED THE NOTE, HEADING IT: "A SHIP THAT WON'T BE SUNK CAN'T BE SUNK."

THE CARRIER ARRIVED UNDER ITS OWN POWER, HAVING KEPT PACE IN THE CONVOY AT 21 KNOTS. ENGINES AND HULL APPEARED ALMOST INTACT. PAINT HAD BLISTERED OFF BULKHEADS AND THE HANGAR DECK WAS A FIRE-BLACKENED SHELL.

REMAINING MEMBERS OF THE CREW WORKED PRODIGIOUSLY DURING THE RETURN TRIP, BURYING THE DEAD, CLEANING UP THE SHIP AND MAKING SOME EMERGENCY REPAIRS. CHARRED BODIES WERE FOUND DAYS AFTER THE CATASTROPHE. SOME LIVING WERE FOUND AND RESCUED TWENTY-FOUR HOURS AFTER THE BOMBING.

SEVEN MEN, WHO HAD SOUGHT SAFETY IN THE BILGES UNDER THE EVAPORATORS, ALMOST AT THE KEEL OF THE SHIP, FOUND THEIR WAY OUT UNHARMED THE NEXT DAY. W.E.KNISS, SEAMAN FIRST CLASS, WAS REMOVED FROM A PILE OF WRECKAGE THE FOLLOWING DAY. FOUR TOES HAD BEEN SEVERED, AND HE HAD PLACED A TOURNIQUET ON HIS ANKLE. AS THE BEAMS WERE BEING TAKEN OFF HIM, HE GREETED THE DOCTOR:

"SAY, DOC, WILL YOU PLEASE TAKE THIS TOURNIQUET OFF MY LEG?"

MORE THAN TWO AND A HALF HOURS WERE SPENT IN THE PACIFIC BY LIEUT. C.E.MIKRONIS, BATON ROUGE,LA., AN AIR OFFICER HANDLING LANDINGS SIGNALS WHO RE-JOINED THE CARRIER LATER.

STANDING ON THE FLIGHT DECK, HE WAS KNOCKED OVER BY THE FIRST EXPLOSION. TWO MORE FOLLOWED. LIEUTENANT MIKRONIS, HOLDING TWO LIFE JACKETS IN HIS HAND, GAVE ONE TO A PILOT.

"THEN ONE BIG EXPLOSION CAME RIGHT UNDER ME," HE SAID. "IT BROKE THE ANKLES OF TWO PILOTS STANDING BY ME. I DECIDED TO JUMP, SO OVER I WENT. THE CARRIER WENT ON UNTIL WE MUST HAVE BEEN TEN MILES BEHIND IT. QUITE A FEW OF US WERE HOLDING ONTO A FLOATER NET, INCLUDING THE TWO PILOTS WITH BROKEN ANKLES.

"THE U.S.S. MARSHALL, A DESTROYERR, FINALLY CAME ALONG WITH A CARGO NET OVER THE SIDE. IT PICKED UP ABOUT FIFTEEN OR TWENTY OF US AFTER WE'D BEEN IN THE WATER TWO AND A HALF HOURS. BELIEVE ME, IT WAS PLENTY COLD."

THE HARROWING ESCAPE OF ABOUT 100 MEN FROM A BELOW-DECKS COMPARTMENT WAS RELATED BY R.A.WOOD,JR., SIGNALMAN FIRST CLASS, 136 SAN PABLO, FRESNO,CALIF.

THEN I SAW TWO MEN THROUGH A GLASS PORT ALMOST SUFFOCATING. WE LET THEM IN AND SOME SMOKE CAME IN WITH THEM. TWO MEN WEARING BREATHERS CAME IN JUST BEFORE THERE WAS AN EXPLOSION FORWARD. THEY WENT OUT THREE TIMES, RETURNING FINALLY WITH A BUCKET OF DIRTY WATER SO WE COULD DAMPEN OUR HANDKERCHIEFS.

"THEY THOUGHT THEY HAD FOUND A WAY OUT, IF WE COULD STAND IT WITHOUT BREATHERS. WE CRAWLED FORWARD ABOUT FOUR COMPARTMENTS. THE SMOKE WAS TERRIBLE. ONE BOY IN FRONT OF ME FELL DOWN, BUT WE KEPT OUR HEADS AND GOT HIM GOING. I REALIZED WE WERE IN A MIGHTY TOUGH SPOT. ALL LIGHTS WERE OUT AND THE HEAT UNDER THE FORWARD MESS COMPARTMENT WAS ALMOST UNBEARABLE.

"I TOLD THE MEN FOR GOD'S SAKE NOT TO TAKE A DEEP BREATH. WE'D RETCH EVERY TIME WE DID. BY THE GRACE OF GOD WE FINALLY GOT OUT THE OFFICERS' HATCH ON THE HANGAR DECK."

A.J.RUSSO, SEAMAN FIRST CLASS, BROOKLYN,N.Y., WAS IN THE CHIEFS' QUARTERS WITH ABOUT THIRTY ENLISTED MEN. THE NEARBY SICK BAY HAD BEEN HIT, HE SAID, AND WAS BURNING. HE DID NOT KNOW HOW MANY SICK WERE REMOVED.

"WE SENT UP THREE FELLOWS," HE SAID, "TO FIND A WAY OUT. THEY WENT UP TO THE HANGAR DECK, SAW A SCUTTLE OPEN, AND CAME BACK. THEN WE FORMED A LINE. THERE WERE ABOUT SIX DEAD IN THE COMPARTMENT. WE PRAYED OVER THEIR BODIES, THEN STARTED UP. THE 40-MILLIMETER AND 20-MILLIMETER SHELLS WERE GOING OFF, BURSTING AROUND US, SO ABOUT TWENTY JUMPED OVER THE SIDE."

ABOARD THE U.S.S. SANTA FE IN THE WESTERN PACIFIC, MARCH 20 (DELAYED)-(AP)-A FULL DAY AFTER THE CARRIER FRANKLIN WAS BOMBED, ?9$83' 139-53$?6 7' 8, 5£3 '3-, DROPPED FROM THE CARRIER AHEAD IN A SEEMINGLY ENDLESS STREAM AS BURIAL SERVICES WENT ON INTERMINABLY.

(MCCOY AND 825 OTHER SURVIVORS WERE REMOVED BY THE CRUISER SANTA FE A FEW HOURS AFTER THE DISASTER. MEANWHILE THE FRANKLIN'S REMAINING CREW FOUGHT THE SEEMINGLY IMPOSSIBLE SITUATION TO SAVE THE STRICKEN SHIP WHICH HAD BEEN TAKEN IN TOW AND HEADED AWAY FROM JAPAN)

AT SIX O'CLOCK TONIGHT CAPTAIN FITZ OF THE SANTA FE ANNOUNCED OVER THE PUBLIC ADDRESS SYSTEM.

"TODAY," HE SAID, "THE FRANKLIN CAST OFF ITS TOW. I HAVE JUST RECEIVED A REPORT THAT SHE IS ABLE TO MAKE 21 KNOTS. WE HAVE COME 207 MILES FROM WHERE THE FRANKLIN WAS HIT, BUT WE ARE STILL ONLY 225 MILES FROM PLACES WHERE THE JAP AIRFIELDS ARE LOCATED."

EACH MINUTE THE FRANKLIN'S CHANCES FOR SURVIVAL SEEMED BRIGHTER, CHANCES THAT APPEARED INCREDIBLY SLIM WHEN SHE LAY WOUNDED OFF NIPPON'S SHORES.

THE FRANKLIN WAS BLASTED BY MORE THAN 30 TONS OF ITS OWN BOMBS AND ROCKETS AFTER THE JAPANESE BOMBER STRUCK IT, AND IT ERUPTED FOUR HOURS YESTERDAY OFF THE COAST OF JAPAN TO CAUSE ONE OF THE MOST HORRIBLE NAVAL CATASTROPHES OF THE WAR.

BLOTTED OUT BY SMOKE TOWERING A MILE HIGH WHEN SHE WAS HIT, WRACKED BY INTERMITTENT EXPLOSIONS OF HER OWN AMMUNITION FOR FOUR HOURS, DEAD IN THE SEA SIXTY ODD MILES FROM SOUTHERN JAPAN, AND LISTING ALMOST 20 DEGREES TO STARBOARD, THE FRANKLIN APPEARED A CERTAIN CANDIDATE FOR DAVY JONES LOCKER.

SURVIVING MORE CRUEL PUNISHMENT THAN ANY SHIP EVER HAS TAKEN BEFORE AND STILL REMAINED AFLOAT, THE FRANKLIN ASTONISHED EVERYONE IN THE TASK FORCE GROUP. FIRST PLACED IN TOW AND TUGGED PAINFULLY SOUTHWARD AT THREE KNOTS, THE WOUNDED FLATTOP PICKED UP SPEED WHILE STILL SMOKING, GOT HER ENGINES STARTED, AND A DAY LATER WAS CHURNING TOWARD A FRIENDLY PORT AT 21 KNOTS UNDER HER OWN POWER, THE TOW CAST OFF.

ENGINES AND HULL WERE ALMOST INTACT.

CAPT.L.E.GEHRES, WHO WOULD NOT GIVE UP HIS SHIP, AND HIS SMALL REMAINING CREW BROUGHT THE FIRES UNDER CONTROL. DESTROYERS AND CRUISERS SCOURED THE SEA FOR TEN MILES, PICKING UP THE MEN WHO HAD BEEN BLOWN, DRIVEN OR WHO LEAPED OVERBOARD. IT WAS IN THE AMERICAN TRADITION OF MAKING EVERY POSSIBLE EFFORT TO SAVE HUMAN LIVES, NO MATTER WHAT THE RISK. SUPERB SEAMENSHIP WAS ONE OF THE MAJOR FACTORS IN MAKING THE DUAL RESCUE OF SHIP AND MEN POSSIBLE.

"MOST OF THE CASUALTIES WERE SUSTAINED IN THE FIRST FEW MINUTES AFTER THE BOMB STRUCK, AS GASOLINE AND EXPLOSIVES ON THE FLIGHT AND HANGAR DECKS WENT UP IN BLINDING SHEETS OF FLAME THAT SEARED MANY MEN TO A CRISP IN A FLASH. THE LONE JAP BOMBER DROPPED DOWN OUT OF THE OVERCAST TO PLACE A BOMB ON THE BUSY FLATTOP JUST BEFORE 7:10 A.M., AS PLANES WERE TAKING OFF ON A MISSION.)

(FOR NEARLY FIVE HOURS THE FRANKLIN LAY DEAD AS THE CREW STRUGGLED TO GET THE FLAMES UNDER CONTROL, AND SAVE THE SHIP. MEANWHILE OTHER SHIPS REMOVED ALL BUT A SKELETON CREW. THE SANTA FE TOOK ABOARD 826 PERSONS, INCLUDING 90 WOUNDED. A DESTROYER, THE HUNT, REMOVED OR PICKED UP 417, THE MARSHALL SAVED 212, AND SEVERAL OTHER SHIPS SAVED LESSER NUMBERS. THE FRANKLIN'S PILOTS WHO WERE IN THE AIR LANDED SAFELY ON OTHER SHIPS).

SHORTLY AFTER NOON THE TOW OF THE FRANKLIN BEGAN. JUST THEN A JAPANESE PLANE, THE FIRST TO SLIP THROUGH THE PROTECTIVE COVER OF PATROL PLANES HELPING THE STRICKEN FRANKLIN, DIVED TOWARD THE CARRIER AND RELEASED ITS BOMB. THE BOMB MISSED, SENDING UP A GREAT GEYSER OFF THE CARRIER'S STERN.

SHIPS IN THE CONVOY SENT UP A HAIL OF FIRE. SURVIVORS ON THE SANTA FE, THEIR NERVES SHAKEN, DASHED BELOW, STILL WEARING THEIR LIFE JACKETS AND STEEL HELMETS. A SECOND JAP PLANE APPEARED TWO HOURS LATER, BUT DID NOT ATTEMPT A BOMB RUN. BOTH WERE REPORTED SHOT DOWN BY PATROL PLANES.

A34KX

(THE JAP PLANE THAT BOMBED THE FRANKLIN WAS SHOT DOWN A FEW MOMENTS LATER BY THE FRANKLIN'S OWN AIR GROUP COMMANDER, COMMANDER E.B. PARKER, WHO WAS IN THE AIR 18 MINUTES BEFORE THE BOMBING AND WAS CIRCLING WAITING FOR HIS COMMAND TO COME UP. HIS KILL WAS CONFIRMED AS THE JAP PLANE PLUMMETED STRAIGHT DOWN INTO THE SEA FROM 2500 FEET).

THE CREW OF THE FRANKLIN LABORED PRODIGIOUSLY TO CONTROL THE FIRES AND CLEAN UP THE SHIP. THE CARRIER CRAWLED AWAY UNDER TOW AT THREE KNOTS WHILE CARRIERS AND DESTROYERS SWEPT ROUND IN A CIRCLE. THE FRANKLIN'S ENGINES WERE STARTED AND SPEED WAS STEPPED UP TO FOUR KNOTS, FIVE KNOTS AND THEN SIX KNOTS. EACH TURN OF THE SCREWS SEEMED THAT MUCH CLOSER TO SAFETY.

THE RESCUE OF THE CRIPPLED SHIP AND THE SAVING OF A MAJORITY OF THE CREW'S LIVES PROVIDED ONE OF THE MOST AMAZING EPICS IN AMERICAN NAVAL HISTORY. THE SHIP THAT WOULDN'T BE SUNK COULDN'T BE SUNK.

THE FIGHT TO SAVE THE MIGHTY CARRIER HAD BEGUN IMMEDIATELY, ALTHOUGH COMMANDING OFFICER ON OTHER SHIPS BELIEVED IT IMPOSSIBLE. DAMAGE AND FIRE CONTROL PARTIES LABORED INDOMINATELY AMIDSHIPS PLAYING FIRE HOSES ON THE FLAMES WHILE SHRAPNEL BURST AROUND THEM. CAPT.L.E.GEHRES, STANDING ON THE BRIDGE AT THE TIME, WAS KNOCKED DOWN BY THE BLAST AND ALMOST SUFFOCATED BY SMOKE, BUT WAS UNINJURED.

30-24-25869

"I WON'T ABANDON THIS SHIP," HE TOLD HIS COMMANDING OFFICERS. EACH SUCCEEDING EXPLOSION APPEARED TO MAKE LOSS OF THE SHIP INEVITABLE. THE CAPTAIN, ALONE, COULD MAKE THE DECISION AND HIS FAITH HELD FAST.

CAPT.HAROLD C.FITZ, COMMANDING THE SANTA FE, A LIGHT CRUISER, 2-' 94$343$ 59 -''7.3 :9..-,$ 9! 5£3 43':73 9034-589,' 285£8, -, £974 -1534 5£3 ?9.?8,&. FOUR DESTROYERS WERE DETAILED TO ASSIST.

A35KX

THE SANTA FE TOOK SOME LINES AND CAME ALONGSIDE ONCE, ITS FIRE HOSES PLAYING ON THE FLAMING CARRIER DECK, THEN CAST OFF WHEN THERE WAS DOUBT WHETHER THE CARRIER'S MAGAZINES HAD BEEN FLOODED. THE CARRIER ROCKED WITH A MIGHTY EXPLOSION AT THE STERN ABOUT 10 O'CLOCK, THREE HOURS AFTER THE BOMBING. CIRCLING QUICKLY, THE CRUISER CHARGED IN ACROSS THE BOW, TURNED STARBOARD, AND STOPPED, ALMOST RUBBING THE CARRIER'S DECKS. THE WHOLESALE EVACUATION BEGAN, AS THE SHIPS POUNDED TOGETHER IN THE SWELLS.

A BROKEN 3- OR 4-INCH GASOLINE LINE IN THE AFTER PART OF THE HANGAR DECK SPILLED FLAMING 100-OCTANE FUEL FOR SEVERAL HOURS, TURNING THAT PART INTO A CAULDRON OF FIRE. BURNING GASOLINE SPILLED OVER THE SIDE OF THE CARRIER AND BLAZED ON THE SEA BELOW. FIRE HOSES FROM THE CRUISER WOULD NOT REACH THIS AREA.

"I WAS WATCHING AND SAW THREE MEN GO INTO THAT FIRE AND SMOKE AND SHUT THAT LINE OFF," L.E.BLAIR, CHIEF CARPENTER ON THE CRUISER, WILLIAMSBURG,KAS., RELATED. "IT WAS ABOUT THREE HOURS AFTER THE SHIP WAS HIT. IT WASN'T UNTIL THEN THAT THEY WERE ABLE TO BEGIN TO BRING THE FIRE UNDER CONTROL. I DON'T KNOW WHO THEY WERE, BUT IF THOSE BOYS ARE ALIVED, THEY SURE DESERVE A MEDAL."

BLAIR SAID THAT 40-MILLIMETER SHELLS WERE GOING OFF "LIKE FIRECRACKERS" AND FINALLY, 5-INCH SHELLS ON ONE OF THE AFTER GUN MOUNTS BEGAN EXPLODING, CUTTING TWO OF THE CRUISER'S FIVE FIRE HOSES. FLAMES BLAZED AROUND THE MOUNTS, EVEN COMING OUT GUN MUZZLES. A FINAL EXPLOSION AT THE STERN OF THE CARRIER ROCKED IT AGAIN ABOUT 11 O'CLOCK.

BY THIS TIME THE FRANKLIN WAS LISTING SO STEEPLY TO STARBOARD TOWARD THE CRUISER THAT IT WAS DIFFICULT TO KEEP ONE'S FOOTING ON THE DECKS. ONCE THE WOUNDED WERE ACROSS, MEN BEGAN SCRAMBLING TO GET ABOARD THE CRUISER.

ABOUT 12:30 P.M. THE CRUISER CAST OFF, ENDING A TICKLISH TIME WHEN BOTH WERE VULNERABLE TO JAPANESE AIR ATTACKS. THE STILL-SMOKING FRANKLIN TOOK A LINE FROM ANOTHER CRUISER AND WAS PLACED IN TOW, LIMPING ALONG SOUTH.

THE IMPOSSIBLE WAS HAPPENING. THE UNSINKABLE FRANKLIN WAS HEADING TOWARD SAFETY ALMOST FROM THE SHORES OF JAPAN.

BOMB HIT, TESTIFIED TODAY THAT THEIR PRAYERS WERE ANSWERED BY DIVINE PROVIDENCE AND A LIEUTENANT, (J. G.).

SAFELY ABOARD THIS CRUISER, THE SURVIVORS WERE TELLING THEIR MATES OF THE FRANTIC HOUR AND A HALF THEY SPENT BELOW DECKS ON THE FRANKLIN, WAITING FOR SOMEONE TO SHOW THEM A WAY OUT. FLAMES ON THE DECK ABOVE HAD RESULTED IN THE COMPARTMENT BEING FLOODED WITH WATER.

"I WAS BLOWN OUT OF MY CHAIR," R.V.WHITLEY, RADIOMAN THIRD CLASS, SAVAGE,MINN., RELATED. "SMOKE WAS SO THICK WE ALL PUT HANDKERCHIEFS OR TOWLES OVER OUR NOSES, AFTER SOAKING THEM IN COFFEE. THERE WERE SO MANY OF US IN THERE WE COULDN'T ALL SIT DOWN, BUT WE GOT AS LOW AS WE COULD."

"A DOCTOR WAS WITH US," ADDED B.J.MOORE, SEAMAN FIRST CLASS, CLAREMORE,OKLA., "AND HE REALLY TOOK CARE OF US. HE WAS LIEUT.CMDR. J.L.FUELLING OF INDIANAPOLIS. HE KEPT TELLING US TO KEEP LOW, SAVE OUR STRENGTH, AND NOT TO TALK. FINALLY, HE SAID, 'IF ANYONE KNOWS ANY PRAYERS, HE'D BETTER SAY THEM NOW.'"

THE MEN BOWED THEIR HEADS AND PRAYED, SILENTLY.

IN A FEW MINUTES THE DOOR OPENED AND IN CAME LIEUT. (J. G.) DONALD GARY, OAKLAND,CALIF., FUEL AND WATER OFFICER. HE TOLD THEM HE BELIEVED HE COULD FIND A WAY OUT. HE WOULD TRY IT FIRST AND THEN RETURN AND LEAD THEM.

"THOSE TWO MEN SAVED OUR LIVES," CPL.H.P.WILSON, OAKLAND, CALIF., ASSERTED. "IF ANYONE DESERVES A MEDAL, THEY DO."

BY THIS TIME THE SHIP WAS LISTING SHARPLY TO STARBOARD, AND THE CREWMEN IN THE MESS HALL BELIEVED IT WAS SINKING.

"ONLY TWO MEN SCREAMED IN PANIC," L.S.BOLDUC, SEAMAN SECOND CLASS, SEATTLE,WASH., SAID. "EVERYONE ELSE KEPT THEIR HEADS. ONE MAN WAS DEAD, OVERCOME BY SMOKE."

"WE HEARD MEN TAPPING SIGNALS FROM OTHER BULKHEADS," MOORE SAID.

ABOUT WENTY MINUTES LATER LIEUTENANT GARY RETURNED, TOOK TEN MEN WITH HIM CRAWLING ON THEIR HANDS AND KNEES THROUGH WATER. THEY WENT DOWN A LADDER TO THE ENGINE ROOM A DECK BELOW, AND THEN CLIMBED UP THROUGH AN ESCAPE VENT, COMING OUT BY GUN MOUNTS NEAR THE ISLAND STRUCTURE.

THE REMAINING MEN SAID PRAYERS AGAIN. LIEUTENANT GARY RETURNED AND ESCORTED TEN MORE OUT THE DEVIOUS PASSAGEWAY. THERE WERE MORE PRAYERS, THE LIEUTENANT RETURNED, AND THE ENTIRE REMAINING GROUP DEPARTED, EACH MAN CRAWLING AND HOLDING THE BELT OF THE MAN AHEAD.

"IT SEEMED LIKE EVERY TIME WE PRAYED, SOMEBODY CAME IN THAT DOOR," MOORE SAID.

THEY WERE: SEAMAN 1ST CLASS HENRY J.MOZDZIAK AND MACHINIST'S MATE 3RD CLASS CALVIN F.CORRIGALL, BOTH OF BUFFALO, AND FIREMAN 1ST CLASS GERALD SMITH, OSWEGO.

MOZDZIAK, WHOSE MOTHER, MRS.JULIA MOZDZIAK, RESIDES AT 54 SOBIESKI ST., BUFFALO, WAS ONE OF HUNDREDS OF MEN TRAPPED IN COMPARTMENTS BELOW DECKS WHEN THE JAP BOMB TOUCHED OFF AMMUNITION STORES ON THE CARRIER.

"WE SAT THERE PRAYING," MOZDZIAK RECALLED. "TERRIFIC EXPLOSIONS ROCKED THE SHIP AND MY EARS RANG. IT WAS LIVING HELL."

AN OFFICER LED SOME OF THE MEN TO SAFETY THROUGH AN AIR VENT, AND MOZDZIAK WAS ASSIGNED TO AN ANTIAIRCRAFT GUN. HE DID NOT LEAVE HIS STATION EXCEPT AT SHORT INTERVALS FOR MEALS FOR THREE DAYS.

CORRIGALL FOUGHT HIS WAY TO HIS ENGINE ROOM POST AFTER THE BOMB STRUCK. THE MEN WORE GAS MASKS AS PROTECTION AGAINST POISONOUS FUMES AS THEY WORKED ON THE SHIP'S ENGINES.

MAY 19 1945

"AFTER A WHILE WE GOT USED TO ALL THOSE BOMBS GOING OFF ON THE HANGAR OR FLIGHT DECK," HE SAID, "AND TRIED TO GET OUR ENGINES WORKING AGAIN."

CORRIGALL IS A SON OF MR. AND MRS.JAMES CORRIGALL, 15 POOLEY PL., BUFFALO. HIS WIFE RESIDES WITH HIS PARENTS.

A CRUISER, ATTEMPTING TO COME ALONGSIDE THE FRANKLIN TO REMOVE SOME OF THE INJURED, SEVERED A HOSE LINE WHICH WAS BEING USED TO PUMP WATER ON THE BURNING FLIGHT DECK.

SMITH, WHOSE WIFE LIVES AT 41 PARK ST., OSWEGO, VOLUNTEERED TO REMOVE THE FOULED HOSE. HELD BY THE FEET OVER THE SIDE OF THE SHIP, HE UNFASTENED THE DAMAGED HOSE WHILE THE CRUISER BANGED AGAINST THE SIDE OF THE CARRIER.

LONDON, MAY 17-(AP)-AN OFFICIAL CLOSE TO THE WAR CRIMES COMMISSION SAID TODAY THE COMMISSION HAD NOT BEEN INFORMED--EXCEPT THROUGH NEWSPAPERS--OF THE IDENTITIES OF PROMINENT NAZIS NOW IN ALLIED HANDS.

HE SAID THAT WAS ONE REASON THE COMMISSION HAS NOT OFFICIALLY MADE PUBLIC THE NAMES OF ANY OF THOSE ON ITS LIST OF WAR CRIMINALS, WITH THE EXCEPTION OF REICHSMARSHAL HERMANN GOERING, "AN OBVIOUS CASE."

THE COMMISSION HAD PREVIOUSLY ADOPTED A POLICY OF KEEPING THE LIST SECRET ON THE THEORY THAT PUBLICATION WOULD MAKE APPREHENSION MORE DIFFICULT. THIS SOURCE SAID THAT SOME OF THOSE IN ALLIED HANDS WERE "APPARENTLY OBLIVIOUS" TO THE FACT THAT THEY WERE ON THE LIST, JUDGING FROM THEIR QUOTED STATEMENTS IN THE NEWSPAPERS.

MEANWHILE, THE LONDON DAILY MAIL SAID THE TRIAL OF CHIEF CRIMINALS LIKE GOERING AND NAZI GESTAPO CHIEF HEINRICH HIMMLER WOULD RAISE NUMEROUS PROBLEMS, AND IT ASKED: "WHY TRY THEM AT ALL?"

THE NEWSPAPER SUGGESTED THAT THEY BE DEALT WITH BY A POLITICAL DECISION OF THE ALLIED POWERS AND CITED AS AN EXAMPLE THE CASE OF NAPOLEON, WHO WAS PUNISHED BY INTERNATIONAL AGREEMENT.

LEY'S CAPTURE BY THE 101ST AIRBORNE DIVISION CLIMAXED THESE DEVELOPMENTS:

1. LT.GEN.LUCIUS D.CLAY, GEN.EISENHOWER'S DEPUTY FOR THE OCCUPATION OF GERMANY, ANNOUNCED THAT GRAND ADMIRAL KARL DOENITZ WAS CONSIDERED A PRISONER OF WAR. THE SO-CALLED GERMAN GOVERNMENT WAS DECLARED OFFICIALLY TO BE ONLY A TEMPORARY STOP-GAP FULLY CONTROLLED BY THE ALLIES WHILE IT FULFILLS A USEFUL PURPOSE.
2. A DISPATCH FROM THE U.S.THIRD ARMY IN SOUTHERN GERMANY SAID AN ANTI-RUSSIAN RESISTANCE MOVEMENT MAY HAVE BEEN NIPPED IN THE BUD WITH THE ARREST IN AUSTRIA OF ERNST KALTENBRUNNER, RIGHT-HAND MAN TO GESTAPO CHIEF HEINRICH HIMMLER.
3. IT WAS ANNOUNCED THAT THE 101ST AIRBORNE DIVISION, WHICH CAPTURED LEY, ALSO HAD TAKEN FRITZ SAUCKEL, LEY'S MANPOWER COORDINATOR AND GAULEITER FOR BERCHTESGADEN; AND CAPT. BERNARD STREDELE, KREISLEITER (AREA LEADER) FOR BERCHTESGADEN.

4. THE UNITED NATIONS WAR CRIMES COMMISSION ANNOUNCED THAT AN INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON GERMAN WAR CRIMES WOULD BEGIN IN LONDON MAY 31.

IF IT IS ACCEPTED THAT HITLER IS DEAD, AND WITH HIM HIS DEPUTY MARTIN BORMANN, AND PROPAGANDA MINISTER PAUL JOSEPH GOEBBELS, THE PRINCIPAL ARCH NAZIS STILL AT LARGE ARE HIMMLER, NAZI FOREIGN MINISTER JOACHIM VON RIBBENTROP AND THE NOTORIOUS ANTI-SEMITE, DR. JULIUS STREICHER. HOWEVER, THERE IS STILL A GREAT DEAL OF UNCERTAINTY CONCERNING THE FATE OF HITLER, BORMANN AND GOEBBELS.

AMERICAN AIRBORNE TROOPS, ACTING ON A TIP FROM THE GERMAN UNDERGROUND CAPTURED LEY LAST NIGHT AT BERCHTESGADEN. NAZI LEADERS, ALSO AMERICAN PRISONERS, IDENTIFIED THE FORMER REICHSMINISTER OF LABOR BEYOND DOUBT ALTHOUGH HE TRIED TO DENY IT.

AS THE FANATICAL NAZI LEADER OF THE GERMAN LABOR FRONT, HE HAD CONTROLLED 95 PER CENT OF ALL GAINFULLY EMPLOYED PERSONS IN THE REICH.

SO FAR AS DOENITZ IS CONCERNED, BOTH HE AND REICHSMARSHAL HERMANN GOERING WILL BE TREATED AS WAR PRISONERS, LIKE ANY OTHER GERMAN MILITARY LEADER WHO SURRENDERED.

THE ALLIES MEANWHILE ARE WORKING OUT A PROGRAM OF SWEAT AND DISCIPLINE UNDER WHICH GERMANY MUST EARN HER WAY BACK INTO THE COMMUNITY OF NATIONS UNDER STRICT MILITARY CONTROL. THERE HAS BEEN NO THOUGHT, A HEADQUARTERS STATEMENT SAID, OF RECOGNIZING DOENITZ AND HIS "FLENSBURG GROUP" AS A GERMAN GOVERNMENT.

"HENCEFORTH I'M TAKING IN NOTHING BUT GENERALS," SAID LT. HARRY E.MCARDLE, OF 748 ASHTON AVE., SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH. "I'VE GOT 77 GENERALS ALREADY AND MAY GET A FIELD MARSHAL EVENTUALLY."

WHEN MCARDLE STARTED HIS CAREER AS A MILITARY POLICEMAN EVACUATING JAPANESE FROM CALIFORNIA IN 1942 HE ADMITTEDLY NEVER THOUGHT HE WOULD WIND UP IN 1945 AS HOST TO ENOUGH HIGH OFFICER PRISONERS TO RUN A NEW WEHRMACHT.

NEVERTHELESS, HERE IS ON A GREEN-BANKED TRIBUTARY OF THE RHINE IN CHARGE OF A HOTEL WHICH IRONICALLY WAS ONCE KNOWN AS "RUSSISCHES HOF." (RUSSIAN INN).

"TAKE A LOOK AROUND," HE SAID, "AND THEN YOU WON'T THINK WE ARE PAMPERING THEM."

DINNER HAD JUST BEEN CLEARED AWAY BY THE GENERALS' ORDERLIES AND THE LUCKIER GENERALS WERE PLAYING BRIDGE WITH THE THREE FULL PACKS OF CARDS. THE UNLUCKIER ONES WERE SITTING GLUMLY AT THEIR TABLES TALKING OR STARING INTO NOTHINGNESS AND SMOKING CIGARETTES DOWN TO THE LAST HALF-INCH.

"THEY ARE GETTING OFFICIAL RATIONS OF NONWORKING PRISONERS OF WAR--NO MORE, NO LESS THAN THEIR ORDERLIES," MCARDLE SAID. "I HAVEN'T BEEN ABLE TO GET THE OFFICIAL RATIONS OF SEVEN CIGARETTES A DAY FOR THEM FROM THE QUARTERMASTER YET SO THEY ARE VERY ECONOMICAL IN THEIR SMOKING."

THE GENERALS HAD POLISHED THEIR PLATES WITH THEIR BREAD. THERE WAS NO FOOD LEFT OVER. A SAMPLE MENU, THE DINNER HAD CONSISTED OF SOUP, STEW, BREAD AND COFFEE.

UPSTAIRS IN THIS MODEST, YELLOW-PLASTERED FORMER TOURIST HOSTELRY MCARDLE HAD DISTRIBUTED HIS CHARGES, ONE TO FOUR TO A BEDROOM, DEPENDING ON RANK.

HE SAID HE WAS SHIPPING OFF 27 OF THE 67 ORDERLIES BECAUSE "SOME OF THEM ARE SIMPLY HANGING AROUND WITH NOT MUCH TO DO AND IT SHOULD REQUIRE ONLY ONE ORDERLY PER ROOM FOR MILITARY VALETING."

THE HOTEL HAS ELECTRIC LIGHTS AND COLD RUNNING WATER, BUT SOME GENERALS ALREADY HAVE EXPRESSED DISAPPOINTMENT THAT THERE IS NO LIBRARY, A RADIO IS LACKING AND THEIR PLAYING CARDS ARE WEARING OUT.

MCARDLE POINTED TO A RIGID-FACED GERMAN WHO LOOKED AS IF HE JUST

MARCHED OFF THE PARADE GROUND AND IDENTIFIED HIM AS "THE FLOP-HOUSE MOUTHPIECE."

"HE IS PANZER GENERAL MORTIMER VON KESSEL, COMMANDER OF THE SEVENTH PANZER CORPS," SAID MCARDLE. "OVER THERE IS LT. GEN. HEINZ KRAMPF, CHIEF OF STAFF OF THE NAZI FOURTH ARMY. THE GUY LAYING DOWN HIS CARDS AS DUMMY IS MAJ. GEN. GERHARD REUSS."

HE POINTED OUT PROVOST MARSHAL MAJ. GEN. ANTON DIERMANN, PANZER GEN. FREIHERR HEINRICH VON LUTTWITZ, GEN. HERBERT LEMKE, COMMANDER OF AN ERSATZ DIVISION AND LT. GEN. WALTER LACKNER, COMMANDER OF THE SECOND PARATROOP DIVISION.

"THEY LOOK HARMLESS NOW, DON'T THEY?" MCARDLE ASKED.

IN ONE CORNER OF THE DINGY LOBBY WERE HUDDLED 22 OFFICERS IN MUSTARD COLORED UNIFORMS.

"THEY ARE HUNGARIAN GENERALS," SAID MCARDLE. "THEY DON'T SEEM TO MIX WELL WITH THE GERMAN GENERALS. THEY ARE ALWAYS TRYING TO TALK ABOUT HOW HUNGARY WAS NEVER AN ENEMY OF THE UNITED STATES. THEY THINK THEY ARE BETTER THAN THE GERMANS AND THE GERMANS THINK THE OPPOSITE."

MOSCOW, MAY 17-(AP)-AN ARTICLE IN THE ARMY NEWSPAPER RED STAR, CALLING FOR SWIFT TRIAL OF WAR CRIMINALS, SAID TODAY THE WAR CRIMES COMMISSION IN LONDON HAD COMPILED SEVEN LISTS, INCLUDING ONE OF JAPANESE

THE FACT THAT THE WRITER, PROF. ANTON TRAININ, HAD REFERRED TO THE JAPANESE WHEN HE URGED THEIR SPEEDY TRIAL, WAS INTERESTING TO MANY OBSERVERS HERE. OF AXIS CAPTIVES

MAY 19 1945

NAMING GOERING, FRANZ VON PAPEN, FIELD MARSHAL KARL VON RUNDSTEDT, NAZI PRESS CHIEF OTTO DIETRICH AND OTHERS, TRAININ WROTE:

"THESE ARE NOT WAR PRISONERS TAKEN ON THE BATTLEFIELD. THEY HAVE BEEN CAUGHT OR FELL INTO THE HANDS OF ALLIED TROOP ARE SEIZED CRIMINALS WHO [redacted] BECAUSE OF THE UNCONDITIONAL SURRENDER. THE TRIAL OF THESE AND OTHER CAUGHT CRIMINALS OF WAR IS JUSTIFIED AND URGENT."

TURNING TO THE WAR CRIMES COMMISSION, TO WHICH THE RUSSIANS HAVE NOT SENT REPRESENTATIVES, TRAININ SAID:

MAY 19 1945

"THIS COMMITTEE HAS BEEN BOGGED SOMEWHERE ON THE DISTANT APPROACHES TO TRIAL AND PUNISHMENT. ALL THAT COMMITTEE HAS ACCOMPLISHED THUS FAR WAS THE COMPILATION OF SEVEN LISTS OF CRIMINALS OF WAR, FOUR LISTS OF GERMANS, ONE OF ITALIANS, ONE OF JAPANESE AND ONE MIXED LIST OF

300.24-25879

ALBANIANS, BULGARIANS, HUNGARIANS AND ~~REDDEN~~ ROMAINIANS.

"THE COMMITTEE TOO MANY MONTHS TO COMPILE THESE FIRST LISTS OF CRIMINALS OF WAR. HOW MUCH TIME WILL BE NEEDED THEN FOR THE CRIMINALS TO TRAVEL FROM THOSE LISTS INTO THE DOCK?"

TRAININ ARGUED THAT THE PUNISHMENT OF WAR CRIMINALS WAS "A NECESSARY LINK BETWEEN THE FIGHT FOR LASTING PEACE AND SOUND DEMOCRACY."

"THE PEOPLES HAVE WON A GREAT BATTLE WITH HITLERITE GERMANY," HE CONTINUED. "THEY WILL WIN THE BATTLE FOR JUSTICE. THE HOUR OF RETRIBUTION HAS COME. LET JUSTICE BE ACHIEVED!"

THE WRITER REFERRED TO REPORTS OF THE DEATHS OF "A FEW RATHER PROMINENT WAR CRIMINALS" IN THE FOREIGN PRESS BUT SAID NOTHING ON HIS OWN THAT HITLER AND GOEBBELS WERE DEAD.

MAY 19 1945

THE OBSERVER IN IZVESTIA ACCUSED THE ALLIES OF TREATING GOERING "ALMOST AS A FAMOUS GUEST AND WITH EXCEPTIONAL COURTESY".

"SOMEWHERE IN FLENSBURG," HE CONTINUED, "THE 'GERMAN GOVERNMENT' OF ADMIRAL DOENITZ CONTINUES TO EXIST--~~ENDED~~ THIS FIVE-DAY FUEHRER WITH HIS CABINET OF FIVE HITLERITE MINISTERS."

THE LATEST COMMENTARY ON THIS SUBJECT BY PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL HAS NOT YET BEEN CARRIED BY THE SOVIET PRESS.

THE WHOLE TONE OF THE SOVIET PRESS WAS CONCERN OVER THE ATTITUDE OF THE ALLIES TOWARD THE GERMANS IN OCCUPIED AREAS, AND FEAR THAT PRUSSIAN MILITARISM ~~MIGHT~~ WAS BEING AFFORDED OPPORTUNITIES TO LEAD THE WORLD INTO ANOTHER WAR.

MAY 19 1945

BESIDES CRITICIZING THE LACK OF SPEED IN BRINGING WAR CRIMINALS TO TRIAL, THE SOVIET PRESS WAS CRITICAL OF REPORTS OF FRIENDLY TREATMENT TO HIGH GERMAN OFFICERS AND THE "GOVERNMENT IN SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN" OF GRAND ADMIRAL KARL DOENITZ.

IT IS BELIEVED HERE THAT ANY TENDERNESS TOWARD THE NAZIS BY THE BRITISH OR AMERICANS MAY DO UNTOLD PSYCHOLOGICAL DAMAGE AMONG THE RUSSIANS, ANXIOUS NOW MORE THAN ANYTHING ELSE TO BUILD SECURITY.

REPORTS IN TODAY'S PRESS OF U.S. BUSINESS MEN SEEKING TO GO TO GERMANY IMPRESSED THE RUSSIANS AS SOMETHING WHICH MIGHT LEAD TO THE DOLLAR HELPING TO LAY THE WAY OPEN FOR ANOTHER CONFLICT.

THIS WAS DISCLOSED TODAY AS THE AMERICANS ASSAULTED FORMIDABLE RIDGES ON THE NORTH SIDE OF BALETE IN THEIR PUSH TOWARD SANTA FE, FOUR MILES NORTHWARD. THE PASS WAS SEIZED EARLIER THIS WEEK AFTER 120 DAYS OF FIGHTING.

HAYASHI WAS ALLOWED TO LEAVE MANILA WITH HIS GUARD UNIT FROM THE SANTO TOMAS INTERNMENT CAMP IN EXCHANGE FOR THE SAFETY OF AMERICAN AND OTHER INTERNEES HELD THERE.

HE TOLD MAJ.GEN.WILLIAM C.CHASE, WHOSE FIRST CAVALRY DIVISION TROOPERS SMASHED THE GATES OF THE CAMP EARLY IN FEBRUARY, THAT SURRENDER "IS NOT COMPATIBLE WITH THE JAPANESE MILITARY DOCTINE."

THEY ENCOUNTERED JAPANESE AT THE CREST OF A RISE AND TOSSED GRENADES BACK AND FORTH. THEN ABOUT 200 OF THE NIPPONESE ATTACKED UNDER LEADERSHIP OF THE BOOTED, GLOVED OFFICER.

SAN FRANCISCO, MAY 17-(AP)-THE VICTORS CAN DIVIDE THE CONQUESTS OF WAR, AS THEY HAVE IN THE PAST, IF THE AMERICAN PLAN FOR INTERNATIONAL TRUSTEESHIPS IS ADOPTED BY THE UNITED NATIONS CONFERENCE.

THIS PLAN, UNANIMOUSLY MADE THE BASIS FOR DISCUSSION BY CONFERENCE COMMITTEES, LEAVES TO INDIVIDUAL NATIONS THE CHOICE OF WHETHER THEY SHALL RETAIN TITLE TO ENEMY TERRITORY OR PLACE IT UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF THE WORLD ORGANIZATION.

IN EVENT THE POSSESSOR NATION DECIDES TO SUBMIT THE TERRITORY TO TRUSTEESHIP, HERE IS A WAY THE PLAN MIGHT WORK:

SUPPOSE ISLAND X IN THE PACIFIC IS SURRENDERED BY DEFEATED JAPAN AT THE PEACE TABLE TO THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN AND CHINA.

ALL THREE VICTOR NATIONS THEN HAVE A CLAIM TO THAT ISLAND. THEY MEET AND DECIDE THAT THE UNITED STATES SHOULD HAVE CONTROL OVER THE ISLAND, SUBJECT TO THE PROPOSED WORLD LEAGUE'S SUPERVISION.

THE THREE AGREE THAT ISLAND X HAS STRATEGIC MILITARY VALUE.

THEY DECIDE TO SUBMIT TO THE LEAGUE'S TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL A PROPOSAL THAT THE UNITED STATES BE DESIGNATED TO ADMINISTER THE TERRITORY. THEY PROPOSE THAT IT BE PERMITTED TO MAKE ANY MILITARY INSTALLATIONS DEEMED NECESSARY. THEY SPECIFY THAT THE UNITED STATES WILL REPORT TO THE LEAGUE ON MEASURES BEING TAKEN FOR THE WELFARE OF THE NATIVE PEOPLE.

THE TRUSTEESHIP COUNCIL TELLS THE SECURITY COUNCIL ABOUT THIS PROPOSITION.

IF THE SECURITY COUNCIL DECIDES THE CONDITIONS ARE ALL RIGHT THEN IT CAN APPROVE THAT A TRUSTEESHIP WILL BE SET UP ON THAT BASIS. ITS APPROVAL WILL HAVE TO BE BY A MAJORITY VOTE OF SEVEN OF THE ELEVEN MEMBERS WITH ALL OF THE BIG FIVE VOTING FOR IT.

MAY 19 1945

THE UNITED STATES THEN WOULD BE ALLOWED TO ADMINISTER ISLAND X UNDER CERTAIN BROAD PRINCIPLES LOOKING TO THE MAINTENANCE OF WORLD PEACE, THE SOCIAL, ECONOMIC AND POLITICAL ADVANCEMENT OF THE NATIVES AND THE PRESERVATION OF THE ISLAND'S NATURAL RESOURCES.

THE AIM ALSO WOULD BE TO GIVE THE NATIVES SELF-GOVERNMENT AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.

IF THE SECURITY COUNCIL DOESN'T LIKE THE CONDITIONS, IT CAN NEGOTIATE WITH THE THREE POWERS FOR CHANGES.

AT ANY TIME, OF COURSE, ANY ONE OF THE BIG FIVE COULD PREVENT ACCEPTANCE OF THE PROPOSAL IN ANY FORM.

IF THAT HAPPENED, THE UNITED STATES, GREAT BRITAIN AND CHINA COULD DECIDE THEY WOULDN'T BOTHER ABOUT A TRUSTEESHIP. THEY COULD AGREE AMONG THEMSELVES TO GIVE TITLE TO THE AREA TO THE UNITED STATES.

THUS THE VICTORS IN THE WAR HOLD THE ACES IN THE GAME OF TERRITORIAL DIVISION AND ADMINISTRATION.

IF THE INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION DOESN'T WANT TO PLAY UNDER THEIR RULES, THEY CAN WITHDRAW FROM THE TRUSTEESHIP GAME AND SET UP ONE OF THEIR OWN. AMERICAN DELEGATES HOPE IT WILL NEVER COME TO THAT.

VANCOUVER, B.C., MAY 17-(AP)-CANADA'S ROLE IN THE WAR AGAINST JAPAN APPEARED LIKELY TODAY TO BECOME A MAJOR ISSUE IN THE JUNE 11 FEDERAL ELECTION, WITH PRIME MINISTER W.L.MACKENZIE KING'S GOVERNMENT TANGLED IN A NEW TYPE OF CONSCRIPTION CONTROVERSY.

OPENING HIS CAMPAIGN FOR REELECTION HERE LAST NIGHT, THE PRIME MINISTER, SPEAKING IN A PACIFIC PORT MORE INTERESTED IN THE WAR AGAINST JAPAN THAN ANY OTHER LARGE CITY IN THE DOMINION, DECLARED "CANADA'S WAR EFFORT WILL BE DIRECTED WITH UNREMITTING ENERGY" UNTIL JAPAN IS DEFEATED, BUT HE CAUTIONED AGAINST OVER-EMPHASIZING IT AS AN ISSUE.

THIS APPARENTLY WAS IN REPLY TO OPPOSITION ATTACKS AGAINST HIS ANNOUNCED POLICY OF SENDING ONLY VOLUNTEERS INTO THE JAPANESE WAR, AND OF MAKING THE FAR EASTERN WAR EFFORT MORE CIVILIAN THAN MILITARY.

THE PRIME MINISTER DECLARED THAT "NO GREATER MISTAKE COULD BE MADE THAN TO DECIDE THE ELECTION ON ANY SINGLE ISSUE."

"IT WILL BE WELL TO REMEMBER THAT THE PROSECUTION OF THE WAR AGAINST JAPAN WILL BE ONLY ONE OF THE PRESSING PROBLEMS WHICH HAVE IMMEDIATELY TO BE FACED," HE SAID. "ANY ATTEMPT TO MAKE AN ISSUE OF THE WAR AGAINST JAPAN, OR ANY OTHER SINGLE QUESTION, WOULD BUT SERVE TO BLIND THE COUNTRY TO THE REAL ISSUES WHICH HAVE TO BE FACED IN THE POSTWAR ERA."

MAY 19 1945

KING'S EARLIER ANNOUNCEMENT OF FIGHTING THE JAPANESE WAR ON A VOLUNTARY BASIS WAS RECEIVED FAVORABLY IN ANTI-CONSCRIPTIONIST QUEBEC N FRENCH-SPEAKING PROVINCE HAVING NEARLY ONE THIRD OF THE DOMINION'S POPULATION AND TRADITIONALLY A BULWARK OF STRENGTH FOR KING'S LIBERAL PARTY. THE PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE OPPOSITION, HOWEVER, WITH PARTICULAR SUPPORT IN ONTARIO AND SECTIONS OF THE PACIFIC COAST, CALLED FOR A MORE ENERGETIC PROGRAM AGAINST JAPAN, INCLUDING THE DRAFTING OF TROOPS WHO HAVE BEEN CONSCRIPTED FOR HOME SERVICE BUT WHO HAVE DECLINED TO VOLUNTEER TO FIGHT ABROAD.

IN HIS OPENING CAMPAIGN ADDRESS KING INDICATED THAT HIS MAIN APPEAL WOULD BE BASED ON HIS EXPERIENCE IN OFFICE. HE REMINDED SOME 3,000 PERSONS WHO JAMMED AN HOTEL BALLROOM TO HEAR HIM THAT HE HAD BEEN LEADER OF HIS PARTY FOR 26 YEARS AND PRIME MINISTER OF CANADA FOR 18 YEARS.

B16 E13 S14

HE SAID HE HAD COME TO KNOW "MORE INTIMATELY, I BELIEVE, THAN ANY OTHER MAN IN CANADA, THE INSIDE OF THE WHOLE WAR SITUATION, AND THE PROBLEMS TO WHICH THE WAR HAS GIVEN RISE." HE ASKED HIS AUDIENCE WHETHER THEY WANTED THEIR GOVERNMENT "TURNED OVER TO UNKNOWN AND UNTRIED HANDS."

ASKING FOR A CONTINUATION IN PEACE OF THE PRESENT GOVERNMENT'S POLICIES IN WAR, THE PRIME MINISTER SAID THAT "THE MEN WHO HAVE BEEN DIRECTING THE GOVERNMENTS OF THE ALLIED NATIONS HAVE COME TO KNOW EACH OTHER, TO SHARE EACH OTHER'S CONFIDENCES AND TO TRUST ONE ANOTHER."

(ADVANCE)..WASHINGTON, MAY 17-(AP)-NEWLY LIBERATED DENMARK IS A POSSIBLE SOURCE OF FOOD FOR OTHER EUROPEAN COUNTRIES FREED FROM GERMAN DOMINATION, THE FOREIGN ECONOMIC ADMINISTRATION SAID TODAY

A STATEMENT BY FEA ADMINISTRATOR LEO T.CROWLEY REPORTED THAT THE DANES, TRADITIONALLY EXPORTERS OF FOOD, HAVE MAINTAINED HIGH PRODUCTION DURING THE WAR, ALTHOUGH THE NAZIS "TOOK FOR THEMSELVES A MAJOR SHARE OF DANISH FOOD."

HIGH OUTPUT WAS POSSIBLE BECAUSE THE GERMANS PROVIDED SUCH NECESSARY MATERIALS AS FERTILIZER AND OIL, CROWLEY SAID.

FEA ESTIMATED THAT THE CURRENT DANISH HARVEST SHOULD PRODUCE AN EXPORTABLE SURPLUS OF ABOUT 17,000 TONS OF BEEF, 40,000 TONS OF BACON, 40,000 TONS OF BUTTER, 4,000 TONS OF CONDENSED MILK AND 1,500 TONS OF CHEESE. SUPPLIES OF SUGAR, POTATOES AND OTHER VEGETABLES AND FISH ALSO SHOULD BE AVAILABLE, THE AGENCY SAID.

IT ADDED THAT IF DENMARK IS TO PRODUCE FOOD FOR THE ALLIED ARMIES OF OCCUPATION AND THE LIBERATED AREAS, "IT WILL BE NECESSARY TO PROVIDE THE COUNTRY WITH WHAT THEY MOST NEED TO KEEP UP THIS PRODUCTION--COAL, OIL, FERTILIZER, OIL SEEDS, RAILROAD EQUIPMENT,

WASHINGTON, MAY 17-(AP)-THE U.S. WILL ASK A FORTHCOMING INTERNATIONAL TRADE CONFERENCE TO DRAW UP A PACT AGAINST CARTELS, ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF STATE WILL L.CLAYTON DISCLOSED TODAY.
THE CONFERENCE OF UNITED NATIONS ON POSTWAR TRADE WILL BE HELD NEXT YEAR.
CLAYTON TOLD A JOINT MEETING OF THE SENATE JUDICIARY AND OIL INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE TODAY THAT THIS COUNTRY IS SEEKING THROUGH ITS WAR-BORN TIES TO PROMOTE FREE TRADE, UNHAMPERED BY "RESTRICTIVE CARTELS."
HE TESTIFIED IN FAVOR OF THE O'MAHONEY BILL WHICH WOULD REQUIRE ALL AMERICAN FIRMS TO REGISTER THE TERMS OF THEIR FOREIGN CONTRACTS WITH THE JUSTICE DEPARTMENT.
ATTORNEY GENERAL BIDDLE ALSO TOLD THE COMMITTEES THAT THIS LEGISLATION WOULD STRIKE A BLOW AT THE CARTEL SYSTEM BY WHICH, HE SAID, INDUSTRY GETS TOGETHER, APPORTIONS AREAS AND SPHERES OF INFLUENCE AND THEREBY FIXES PRICES, MARKETING CONDITIONS AND EVEN ACCESS TO TRADE SECRETS.
BIDDLE SAID SOME FIRMS ALREADY ARE TRYING TO RESUME CARTEL ARRANGEMENTS AND HIS DEPARTMENT WILL HAVE MORE TO SAY ABOUT THAT LATER. IN HIS OPINION, THE ATTORNEY GENERAL SAID, EVEN FOREIGN BUSINESS CONDUCTED LIKE THAT IS SUBJECT TO THE ANTI-TRUST LAWS.
CLAYTON SAID THE CARTEL IDEA IS "LARGELY EUROPEAN" AND ISN'T A PART OF THE INHERENT INDUSTRIAL THINKING OF CANADA, SOUTH AMERICA AND OTHER LANDS. GERMANY WAS THE OBVIOUS LEADER, HE ADDED.
ON THIS SCORE, BIDDLE OBSERVED:
"WE MUST SEIZE THE OPPORTUNITY WE HAVE WON TO DESTROY THESE GERMAN CARTELS, TO OPEN UP THEIR PATENTS AND INDUSTRIAL RESEARCH DEVELOPED DURING THE WAR TO ALL THE WORLD. NEVER AGAIN SHOULD GERMAN INDUSTRY BE PERMITTED TO REMAIN IN A POSITION TO DOMINATE AND CONTROL THE INDUSTRY OF A CONSIDERABLE PORTION OF EUROPE."
CLAYTON SAID THE INTERNATIONAL PACT BEING SOUGHT BY THE STATE DEPARTMENT WOULD PROHIBIT COMMERCIAL ENTERPRISES FROM MAKING CONTRACTS OR JOINING IN COMBINATIONS TO "RESTRAIN TRADE, RESTRICT ACCESS TO MARKETS OR FOSTER MONOPOLISTIC CONTROL."
"THERE ARE SIGNS FROM ABROAD," HE SAID, "OF A GROWING POPULAR REALIZATION THAT SUCH INTERNATIONAL BUSINESS PRACTICES AS PRICE FIXING, DIVISION OF MARKETS, LIMITATION OF PRODUCTION AND SUPPRESSION OF TECHNOLOGY HAVE NO PLACE IN AN INTERNATIONAL EFFORT TO EXPAND THE TRADE OF THE WORLD AND TO INCREASE PRODUCTIVITY AND WELLBRING."
THE PROPOSED AGENCY, HE SAID, WOULD BE AN INTERNATIONAL OFFICE FOR BUSINESS PRACTICES, TIED INTO THE UNITED NATIONS ORGANIZATION.
CLAYTON SAID:
"SUCH AN ORGANIZATION COULD ASSIST IN THE PREVENTION OF UNDESIRABLE CARTEL PRACTICES BY SERVING AS A CENTRAL DEPOSITORY OF INFORMATION AND REPORTS FROM PARTICIPATING GOVERNMENTS AND OTHER SOURCES."

DUEL WITH GRENADES

Marines Kill Several Enemy Commanders Preparing for Death Ceremonies.

GUAM, Saturday, May 19—(AP) American troops penetrated sectors of the fiercely-contested southern Okinawa front, Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz reported today, but failed to make appreciable progress toward either Naha or Shuri, their prime objectives.

Nimitz' communique surprisingly reported on ground action only through Thursday. Normally, his reports are only several hours behind the fighting. Illustrating intensity of battling which won small local gains, he cited these instances:

A regiment of the 77th Infantry division captured one hill position three times but was driven off each time, finally yielding to strong Japanese artillery and mortar fire.

Take Sugar Loaf Hill

Elements of the Sixth Marine division assaulted Sugar Loaf hill nine times in one week before securing it. The last three assaults carried them to the crest, but they were forced to yield the crest twice under fanatical counterattacks.

There is evidence that some Japanese commanders realize their eventual defeat is certain and that they characteristically are preparing for a ceremonious death.

Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First division Marines found Japanese officers dressed in ceremonial white in a command post they captured. Presumably the white uniforms were formal mourning dress, worn under Japanese military custom.

NIGHT

Del Valle's Leathernecks overran the command post, broke up the ceremony and meted out the death the white uniformed Japanese officers were expecting.

G Company, 383rd regiment of the 96th Division, engaged in an hour-long grenade duel with Japanese in another instance.

Nimitz in today's communique said the enemy's lines were "being defended with the greatest tenacity of the entire operation" as the 10th army smashed at the strongly fortified "little Siegfried line" stretching acorss Okinawa from Naha on the west coast to Yonabaru on the east.

Destroy Two Battalions

He estimated that Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr's Sixth Division lethernecks destroyed two battalions of fiercely defending and counterattacking Nipponese troops in their advance from the Asa to the Asato river guarding Naha. This advance represented about one mile and required nearly a week, so bitterly did the Japanese fight back. The leathernecks repulsed a number of small but savage counterattacks in this push.

A few enemy planes appeared over the Okinawa area late Thursday and in the early hours of Friday. Nimitz did not say whether they were able to reach their targets, or whether any were shot down.

He reported for the first time that Army fighters supported the ground action, along with escort carrier and Okinawa-based Marine planes and warships. The Army fighter group was identified as the 318th.

Yesterday presumably was a comparatively quiet day in the Ryukyus area outside of the battle torn southern front on Okinawa. Only other activity reported was the sinking of a small freighter south of Korea and damaging of two freighter-transports and an oiler by search planes of Fleet Airwing One.

Hour Grenade Duel

Probably the most spectacular action yesterday on the southern Okinawa front was the one-hour grenade duel in which G company finally drove fanatically counterattacking Japanese off the crest of Conical hill, near the east coast. The company then captured the peak.

The 307th Regiment of Maj Gen Andrew D. Bruce's 77th Infantry Division captured a small hill three times but still was unable to hold it. The Doughboys seized the hill, north of fortress Shuri, twice on Wednesday afternoon but each time were driven off.

Thursday morning they recaptured the ridge but once more were forced to retire under heavy artillery and enemy fire.

Units of Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First Marine Division captured a Japanese command post on the crest of a small hill between Dakeshi and Wana Town only after overcoming strong opposition from cave-hidden Japanese.

Three Divisions Are Closing On Shuri

EDITION

Guam, May 18 (AP)—The Okinawa campaign is slowly shaping into a decisive phase, with the 6th Marine Division battling to broaden a bridgehead in the capital city, Naha, and three divisions steadily closing on the fortress city of Shuri from three sides.

Now 48 days old, the Okinawa campaign already ranks as one of the Pacific war's toughest. There still is no evidence suggesting any collapse in the grim defense by an estimated 34,000 Japanese and Okinawan "home guards," survivors of an original garrison force of 80,000 or more troops.

Tenth Army pressure against the Japanese "Little Siegfried Line" has been sustained and hard-hitting since the Marine 3d Amphibious Corps took over the western half of the southern front and two freshened army divisions went into the line on the 24th Army Corps sector on the east.

To Maintain Strong Pace

It seems probable that field commanders have made a decision to maintain as strong an offensive pace as possible.

The longer the ground campaign lasts, the longer supply vessels and warships will be exposed to persistent Japanese aerial attacks, in which more than two dozen American vessels have been sunk and a material number damaged.

A second consideration is that Okinawa terrain providing the best base development potentialities is the southern sector below Naha and Shuri.

Okinawa's best airfield, Naha airdrome, lies about a mile southwest of Naha, across an inclosed harbor. It undoubtedly will be the primary airfield of many projected for Okinawa to mount growing air strikes against the Japanese homeland.

Bombers Ready For Fields

Bombers are ready and waiting for field room on Okinawa, only 325 miles from the southern Japanese home islands, to start the final air neutralization campaign against the enemy.

American forces already have captured Yontan and Katena airfields in central Okinawa and put them into use, and a few days ago seized Yonabaru airdrome on the east coast. They also acquired a four-strip field when they conquered Ie Island off Okinawa's west coast.

Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd's 6th Marine Division progressed slowly in its costly drive for Naha and Naha airfield yesterday. Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's communiqué today reported elements penetrated to the heart of shell and bomb-torn Naha after forcing a small bridgehead across the Asato River estuary. The leathernecks said the city appeared deserted as far as they probed but tough fighting was expected from Japanese believed to be hiding in the ruins further along.

Sugar Loaf Hill Falls

Other 6th Division leathernecks, co-ordinating an assault with Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's 1st Marine Division, straightened out a sharp Japanese salient into American lines north of Shuri. The former captured Sugar Loaf Hill, 700 yards northeast of Takimotoji village. The latter, their way cleared by tanks, drove into Wana Town, about 500 yards east of Fortress Shuri's northern fringes.

Both army divisions currently in action, the 77th and 96th Infantry, approached Shuri from the north and east.

Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce's 77th Division engineered one of the few American night attacks of the Central-Western Pacific war to reach the outskirts of Ishimmi Town, only 2,000 yards from the heart of Shuri. The assault was made without benefit of a preliminary artillery barrage.

Battle For Love Hill

Turned inland from the east coast, where it captured Yonabaru airfield and helped destroy Yonabaru town, Major James L. Bradley's 96th (Statue of Liberty) Division was engaged in bloody fighting for Love Hill, only 1,400 yards due east of Shuri.

Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland reported that one company of Bradley's division killed 46 Japanese of a counterattacking 200 who exposed themselves to rifle fire as they reached the crest of a ridge. Pfc. Robert Coy, of Petoskey, Mich., killed eight of these Nipponese as they attempted to set up a machine gun on the ridge.

Elements of the 1st Marine Division's 7th Regiment killed 200 enemy troops at a Japanese command post.

All ground troops were supported by aerial bombing and strafing and by continued heavy bombardment by the navy's warships. Nimitz said battleships, cruisers and destroyers had fired 25,000 tons of 5-inch and larger shells into the enemy's fortifications.

Germans Reported Found on Okinawa

Okinawa, May 18 (A. P.).—A strong rumor was circulated on this island today that the Marines had captured three German artillery officers on the outskirts of Naha. A thorough check by Marine press relations officers proved fairly definitely, however, that the rumor was false.

BOMBERS BLAST JAP CAPITAL IN DAYLIGHT RAID

Attack Aimed at Industrial Targets in Western Outskirts of City.

NAGOYA HARD HIT

11.3 Square Miles of City Destroyed or Damaged Photos Reveal.

WASHINGTON, May 18 — (AP) More than 150 Superfortresses struck at Tokyo today (May 19 Japanese time) in a daylight raid with demolition bombs.

The bombing attack today on the Japanese capital was in contrast to the incendiary strikes made during the past week on Nagoya, key industrial city of the enemy's aircraft industry.

NIGHT

The 20th Airforce headquarters said the attack was aimed at industrial targets in the western outskirts of Tokyo. The announcement said a very large task force took off just before dawn from bases of Maj. Gen. Curtis E. Lemay's 21st Bomber command in the Marianas.

Headquarters said further details would be announced after reports are delivered by returning crews.

GUAM, Saturday, May 19—(AP) B-29s have destroyed or damaged 11.3 square miles—nearly one-fourth—of Nagoya, Japan's third largest city and key center of the empire's aircraft industry, Maj. Gen. Curtis Lemay announced today.

New areas burned out or damaged in two 500-Superfortress fire bomb raids Monday and Thursday total 5.9 square miles, complete photo reconnaissance study disclosed.

Hit by 1,000 B-29s

In this week's raids by more than 1,000 B-29s dropping 2,000,000 six-pound incendiaries, three important Nagoya plants were virtually destroyed.

These were Mizuho branch of Aichi Aircraft works, Osaka Machinery works and Nagoya No. 3 plant of Tokai Electrode Co.

More than five square miles of Nagoya was damaged in Superfort raids March 12 and 19.

Study of photos shows the damaged area totals about 22 per cent of the entire city.

Nagoya's 11.3 square mile damage brings to 59.58 the total area destroyed or damaged in six Japanese cities by B-29 incendiary attacks.

In this week's raids, the ancient Nagoya castle fortress, in the heart of the city, was damaged and several buildings in the castle were destroyed or damaged.

33 Targets Damaged

Thirty-three specific military targets and two Mitsubishi aircraft factories, the Mitsubishi Electric Manufacturing Co., three Aichi aircraft works plants and the Atsuta factory of the Nagoya arsenal were heavily damaged in this week's attacks.

Other targets severely damaged included: Nippon Vehicle Manufacturing Co.; Minami plant of Daido Electric Steel Co.; a second plant of Osaka Machinery works; Hokuku Machinery Co.'s Ksadera plant, which had been damaged March 12; Daido Machinery Co.; Tokushu Light Metals Co.'s Otsuta plant; Nagoya No. 2 plant of Tokai Electrode Co.; Hattori Cotton mill; Okamotao Aircraft works, previously damaged March 12; Onade Cement plant; Okuma Iron Works' Hagino plant; Riken Alunite plant, and Hara Silk mill.

Targets classed as damaged were small buildings destroyed in the Mitsubishi Aircraft Engine works, which was called 94 per cent damaged in previous demolition raids; Mitsubishi Aircraft assembly plant on which new damage was inflicted in about 10 per cent of the plant area; Atsuta factory of Nagoya arsenal; Tsukija plant of Daido Electric Steel Co.; Nagoya repair shops; Eitoku plant of Aichi Aircraft works; Tsukiji plant of Aichi Aircraft works; Dai Nippon Cellophane plant about 33 per cent destroyed; Yahagi steel plant about 25 per cent destroyed; Sumitomo Light Metals Co., about 12 per cent destroyed; Nagoya harbor; Mitsubishi Electric Manufacturing Co.; an unidentified shipyard; Sumitomo Light Metals Co.; a second plant about 30 per cent destroyed and another unidentified target.

B-29S SMASHED JAP OIL AREA

Photos Show Storage Zone Knocked Out May 10.

Guam, May 18 (A. P.).—Superfortresses knocked out Japan's greatest oil storage area, including both the army's and navy's biggest concentrations of fuel storage, in just one full-scale raid.

Reconnaissance photographs today disclosed that 85 to 90 per cent devastation was wrought by more than 400 B-29s in their May 10 raid on southeastern Honshu.

Twelve storage tanks were destroyed and 85 per cent of the target area devastated by B-29s which attacked Tokuyama naval fuel station. The adjoining Tokuyama coal yards and synthetic fuel factory—the army's greatest fueling center—were so badly damaged the Twenty-first Bomber Command spokesman termed them "inoperative." Tokuyama is forty-eight miles southwest of Kure.

Sixty of sixty-five storage tanks at the Oshima naval oil storage center, the fleet's largest, were put out of operation. Oshima station is on an island of that name in Tsushima Strait outside the Shimonoseki entrance to the Inland Sea.

Otake oil refinery, one of the Empire's largest, was forced to cease operations. The B-29s covered the target area so effectively that only two small pockets in extreme corners of the plant area remained undamaged. Otake is on the western shore of the Inland Sea, twenty-seven miles northeast of Tokuyama. Not one of the B-29s was lost in those raids.

Crewmen reoprted the latest Superfort attack, on Nagoya yesterday, left the sixteen-square mile target area a huge, flaming smoke-pot. More than 500 B-29s dropped 3,500 tons of fire bombs. Reconnaissance photographs of that attack are not yet available.

RESENT DOENITZ RADIO SPEECHES

London, May 18 (A. P.).—The House of Commons heard warnings today that the Germans had started a campaign to convince their nation that its army was not defeated.

Col. Walter Elliott, Conservative, criticized the recent broadcast by Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz over the Allied-controlled Flensburg radio, saying:

"I can imagine nothing which has done more harm to our cause than allowing Doenitz to have access to the radio and to broadcast to the German people the beginning of a build-up that the German Army was not defeated and that the noble German nation will rise again. I can imagine nothing that has done more harm to our relations with our great ally, the Soviet Union."

Elliott maintained that such things "added to the intense suspicion which existed in Russia."

Dr. Haden Guest, Laborite, demanded that the Allies take command of the radio in Germany and "use our radio here to send to Germany definite views directed to destroying the Nazi disease in Germany."

Ernest Thurtle, Parliamentary Secretary to the Ministry of Information, replied for the Government that German radios were under jurisdiction of the Allied military command.

QUEEN MARY SANK BRITISH CRUISER

London, May 18 (A. P.).—The British cruiser H. M. S. Curacao, cut in half by the giant liner Queen Mary speeding to elude a German submarine, sank in the Atlantic on October 1, 1942, with a loss of 338 officers and men, the Admiralty announced today.

An eyewitness declared that the big troop transport simply trampled the 4,200-ton cruiser, which had a normal complement of about 400 men.

Survivors, among them the cruiser's captain, John W. Blackwood, were picked up and taken to a hospital near Glasgow.

The accident was considered one of the worst British naval disasters of the war. The Admiralty disclosed also for the first time the loss of ten destroyers, eight submarines and scores of smaller craft. At the time of the collision, the Queen Mary, 84,000-ton Cunard liner, was carrying 15,000 American troops from the United States toward Scotland. The two vessels crashed approximately twenty miles off the Irish coast at a point northwest of Foreland county, Donegal.

No Americans were reported hurt and the Queen Mary proceeded to the Scottish River Clyde, where a great rent in her bow was temporarily repaired.

JAP CRUISER SUNK IN MALACCA CLASH

London, May 18 (A. P.).—A force of British destroyers and an aircraft carrier, striking boldly into narrow Malacca Strait between Sumatra and Malaya on the approaches to Singapore, sank a 10,000-ton Japanese cruiser the Nati class on Wednesday, the Admiralty announced today.

The enemy cruiser, carrying eight-inch guns, was sighted by planes from the escort carrier Shah forty miles southwest of Penang, Malaya tin center at the mouth of the strait, the Admiralty said. The carrier had a destroyer in escort.

The carrier's planes succeeded in scoring a bomb hit, while a force of at least five destroyers steamed in pursuit. The enemy cruiser was polished off in a night torpedo attack. The Japanese previously had reported the clash without announcing their losses.

Czechs Add Marshal Keitel To List of 500 War Criminals

LONDON, May 18—(AP) Czechoslovakia has added Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German high command, to its list of more than 500 war criminals, a source close to the Czech government said today.

Others on the list, the informant said, included Walther Funk, Nazi minister of economics; SS Gen. Kurt Daluege, hangman Reinhard Heydrich's successor as "protector" of Bohemia; Karl Herman Frank, who held the same position in Moravia, and Prof. Albert Speer, Nazi minister of production.

A Czech commission will leave for Germany shortly to help collect evidence for trials but will return in time for the conference of 16 nations represented on the war crimes commission here May 31.

Gestapo Files Found

In the British zone of occupation, complete sets of Gestapo files have been found which can be presented as evidence against the Nazis, who now are being successfully rounded up, a staff officer of the British Military Government at Luneburg reported.

"Files were found listing the names of each person who was slain by the Gestapo and a complete account of the crime," said Maj. High Campbell. "The Gestapo had been required to make detailed reports and sign their names, so we know not only who was killed and burned but also who had a part in it."

Chairman Lord Wright of the commission told critics meanwhile that the commission's function was to indict persons accused of war crimes, not to apprehend and try them.

When the commission has decided that evidence exists against persons cited by the various governments, it forwards their names to the military authorities for apprehension and there "the commission's duties end," Wright declared.

Wright issued his statement in reply to "reports from abroad appearing in the British press" and aimed at the commission asserting that the Allies had failed to pursue war criminals vigorously.

Some of this criticism has come from Russia, and in Commons today one member asserted that the broadcasts of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz over the Allied-controlled Flensburg radio had added to Soviet suspicions.

Hit at Broadcasts

"I can imagine nothing which has done more harm to our cause than allowing Doenitz to have access to the radio and to broadcast to the German people the beginning of a buildup that the Germany army was not defeated and that the noble German nation will rise again," said Col. Walter Elliott, conservative.

"I can imagine nothing that has done more to harm our relations with our great ally, the Soviet Union."

Dr. Haden Guest, laborate, demanded that the Allies take command of the radio and "use our own radio here to send to Germany definite views directed to destroying the Nazi disease."

Ernest Thurtle, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of information, said in reply for the government that the German radios were under Allied military command.

Michael Mikhailov, Moscow radio commentator, said in an English-language broadcast today that Germany's "military fascist clique," headed by Doenitz, was "holding up the bugbear of chaos before the eyes of the Allies as a way of blackmailing them into allowing it to retain authority."

BOR SAYS REDS JAIL HIS MEN

Asserts Underground Poles Are Real Patriots.

London, May 18 (A. P.).—Lieut.-Gen. Tadeusz Komorowski (Gen. Bor), the recently liberated commander in chief of Polish forces under the London Polish government, said today that thousands of his former underground soldiers 'are now filling Soviet prisons and concentration camps.'

The bald, one-eyed soldier of two wars expressed the hope that an understanding eventually would be reached between Poland and Russia, denied that the Polish underground army had been hostile to Soviet forces and reviewed the uprising and tragic outcome of the battle of his men for Warsaw.

He declined a direct answer, however, to a press conference question whether he thought civil war would result between the forces under the Moscow-sponsored Warsaw government and those of the London exiled government in the event a solution of their dispute could not be found.

Speaking through an interpreter, he said that as he had been liberated only recently he was "unable to form an opinion whether civil war would result.

He said that he would vouch for the sixteen Polish underground leaders—whom the Russians have said they arrested—as "Polish patriots, good democrats and genuine contributors to the fight against Germany."

In response to questions Komorowski denied the Soviet accusation that he was not in Warsaw during the battle for the city.

He said that he had attempted to establish liaison between his forces and the Red Army, but charged that the officers he dispatched were arrested by the Russians. Komorowski repeated his Government's charges that local Polish underground commanders co-operated with the Russians in clearing the Germans out of their territory only to be arrested after the task was complete.

Shaw's Idea For Hitler: Dublin

London, May 18 (AP)—Playwright George Bernard Shaw said today in a letter to the London Times that, if the report of Hitler's death proved unfounded, there still was a possibility that the German Führer "would end up in the Dublin viceregal lodge like Louis Napoleon in Chislehurst and the Kaiser in Doorn."

The provocative octogenarian praised the "correctness" of Prime Minister de Valera's action in visiting the German minister in Dublin to extend condolences when Hitler's death was reported.

He said that as an Irishman he was proud of de Valera's statement that Eire reserved the right to give asylum to fugitives when justice, charity or the honor or interest of the nation required it—a reply made in 1943 to an Allied demand on neutrals not to admit Axis war criminals.

"Took It Lying Down"

"Portugal refused. The rest took it lying down except Mr. de Valera," Shaw continued. "The voice of the Irish gentleman and Spanish grandee was a welcome relief from the chorus of retaliatory rancor and self-righteousness then deafening us."

He hailed the Prime Minister as a man who had defied both Hitler and the Allies and had got away with it because the Allies had a base in northern Ireland and because the Germans struck to the east instead of toward Ireland.

Following is the text of Shaw's letter:

"The correctness of the Taoiseach's (Prime Minister's) action when the death of the head of the German state was reported has been vindicated.

Rancor And Self-Righteousness

"In 1943 the Allies called upon the neutrals to deny asylum to Axis refugees, described for the occasion as war criminals. Portugal refused. The rest took it lying down, except Mr. de Valera.

"He replied that Eire reserved the right to give asylum when justice, charity or the honor or interest of the nation required it. That is what all the neutrals ought to have said, and Miss Hinkson (not otherwise identified), as an Irishwoman, will, on second thoughts, be as proud of it as I am.

"The voice of the Irish gentleman and Spanish grandee was a welcome relief from the chorus of retaliatory rancor and self-righteousness then deafening us.

Moscow For Galway

"I have not always agreed with the Taoiseach's policy. Before the ink was dry on the treaty which established the Irish Free State, I said that if England went to war she would have to reoccupy Ireland militarily and fortify her ports.

"When this forecast came to the proof the Taoiseach nailed his colors to the top gallant, declaring that with his little army of 50,000 Irishmen he would fight any and every invader, even if England, Germany and the United States attacked him simultaneously from all quarters, which then seemed a possible result of his attitude.

"And he got away with it triumphantly, saved, as Mr. Churchill has just pointed out, by the abhored partition which gave the Allies a foothold in Ireland, and by the folly of the Führer in making for Moscow instead of for Galway.

A Noble Heart

"Later on I hazarded the conjecture that Adolf Hitler would end in the Dublin viceregal lodge, like Louis Napoleon in Chislehurst and the Kaiser in Doorn. If the report of the Führer's death proves unfounded, this is still a possibility.

"It all sounds like an act from Victor Hugo's "Hernani" rather than a page of modern World War history. But Eamon de Valera comes out of it as a champion of the Christian chivalry we are all pretending to admire. Let us recognize a noble heart even if we must sometimes question its worldly wisdom. Signed: G. Bernard Shaw."

MASKS FOR JAPAN

LONDON—(AP) Since the war began 45,000,000 gas masks have been issued as a civilian defence measure. They probably will soon be gathered in as scrap, with the metal and rubber in them used in the war against Japan.

STEWART NAMED WING COMMANDER

London, May 18 (A. P.).—Col. James Stewart, one-time film actor, has been named commander of a Liberator bomber wing, Eighth Air Force Headquarters announced today. An American bomber wing usually is made up of three or more bases having a personnel of approximately 3,000 men.

The Indiana, Pa., commander had been wing operations officer. He came to England nearly two years ago as a bomber pilot and squadron commander with the rank of a captain. Stewart flew several of the toughest missions over Germany, including the first daylight raid on Berlin. Later he was assigned to a desk job.

He replaces Col. Milton W. Arnold of Washington, D. C., who was appointed chief of staff to Brig.-Gen. Walter R. Peck of Seattle, commander of the United States Second Air Division.

Defines Commission's Purpose.

London, May 18 (A. P.).—Lord Wright, chairman of the United Nations War Crimes Commission, declared today that the principal function of the commission is to consider charges and decide whether prima facie cases exist against the accused. Aside from advisory functions, the commission's duties end there, he said in a statement issued in connection with "reports from abroad appearing in the British press."

Michael Mikhailov, a Moscow radio commentator, said in a broadcast today that Germany's military Fascist clique, headed by Grand Admiral Doenitz, is holding up a bugbear of chaos as a way of blackmailing the Allies into allow them to retain authority.

Speaking in English, Mikhailov said the German leaders were pursuing this policy to keep the German people under a Fascist yoke, and to carry on what Hitler began.

Londoners Enjoy Bank Holiday

LONDON, May 18 (AP)—Londoners queued up at railroad terminals tonight for trips to the country and seaside for the first peacetime bank holiday in more than five years. No extra trains were available for the crowds that stood in line for seats in sticky, sultry weather, determined just the same to relax away from home over the Whitsun week-end, which extends Saturday, Sunday and Monday.

Tories Advance 12-Point Program

London, May 18 (AP)—Britain's dominant Conservative party today advanced a twelve-point program pledging support for Prime Minister Churchill in waging war against Japan, urging co-operation with the United States and Russia to keep the peace after final victory, and calling for removal of wartime controls at home as soon as possible.

Lord Marchwood, treasurer of the party, in a statement accompanying the announcement, declared that, with the general election near, "peace has still to be won," and added "there was never a time when it was so necessary that British foreign policy should be expounded to the world by statesmen who are trusted at home and respected abroad."

In urging vigorous development of the empire for the benefit of all its peoples the Conservatives came out for "the fullest opportunity for individual initiative," a determined policy for full employment, and recovery and extension of Britian's essential export trade.

British M. P., 73, Lays 200 Bricks in an Hour

Sir Harry Selley Demonstrates in House of Commons Yard

LONDON, May 18 (AP).—Sir Harry Selley, seventy-three-year-old M. P., laid 200 bricks in fifty-eight minutes today in the House of Commons yard, to support his contention that the government target for bricklayers of 200 to 300 a day was "absurdly small."

Sir Harry, who said he had not done any bricklaying in forty-seven years, exchanged jests with the watching crowd, which included the Parliamentary Secretary for the Ministry of Works, George Hicks.

The lawmaker, his face flushed under his derby, stopped only once during the test. That was to gulp a stein of beer which Hicks thoughtfully had brought along.

Fortresses Evacuate 2,250 Prisoners In Day

London, May 18 (AP)—Flying Fortresses evacuated approximately 2,250 liberated Allied prisoners of war from a German prison camp near Linz, Austria, today, making a total of almost 30,000 brought back to England and France by the United States 8th Air Force in the past nine days.

The prisoners included Americans, Britons, French, Poles, Belgians, New Zealanders and Australians. Although a few were thin and hollow eyed most of the prisoners were described as in good condition and worried mainly about the whereabouts of their families, whom many had not seen in years.

Many prisoners, accustomed to the scarcities of camp life, "refused our cigarettes, fearing we didn't have enough for ourselves," said Capt. James Stewart, pilot from Cambridge, Ohio.

REICH SOCIALISTS FORMING A PARTY

London, May 18 (A. P.).—The Allied-controlled Luxembourg radio said today that German Socialist circles had centered their activity on the university city of Halle and formed a party there, apparently the first in the Reich under military government sanction.

"The activities of the party are at present restricted by the Allied Military Government, but there is no doubt that it has a future," the radio said in a German language broadcast, indicating possibly the beginning of the first political activity in conquered Germany.

The organization has taken in former communist, German front and Catholic party members and a trade union group and is headed by Fritz Mettich, former Communist party leader who was liberated from a concentration camp at Sachsenhausen, the radio said.

"A number of professors at the university had created an anti-Nazi group which assisted the Allies as they entered town" and later formed the nucleus of the new political alignment, it said.

Under close AMG surveillance, the party was reported to have furnished a list of war criminals and drawn up a program calling for "complete cleansing of the German administration from Nazi elements."

Haakon to Return To Norway Soon

London, May 18 (A. P.).—King Haakon of Norway, about to return to his homeland after five years in exile, said in a Norwegian independence day speech last night that if his Government had not gone to England in 1940 its members "would not have been able to look their children in the face."

Dispatches from Oslo said that the streets were jammed yesterday as the people staged the first celebration of independence day since 1939.

British Information Service

LONDON, May 18 (AP).—A government spokesman said today that Britain intends to maintain information services in various parts of the world after the war, but indicated they will not be so extensive as at present. Several members of Commons demanded that every effort be made to get across the British "point of view," especially in publicizing the British war effort.

Congressmen Reach London.

London, May 18 (A. P.).—A five-member Naval sub-committee of the United States House of Representatives arrived today to study the Navy's equipment. Representative Lyndon Johnson (D.-Tex.) heads the group.

More Cigarettes For British Forces

Bristol, England, May 18 (A. P.).—The Imperial Tobacco Company, in response to a British Government appeal, for the first time will put on a night shift in order to supply 250,000,000 extra cigarettes per month for the armed forces, it was announced today.

The Government will release 500 workers from war industries to aid the program. A similar system may be introduced in other tobacco companies.

Eire To Aide Europe

Dublin, May 18 (AP)—Prime Minister de Valera told the Dail today that Eire planned to send about $12,000,000 worth of food, clothes and live stock for relief of Europe before January 1. He said Irish rations might be reduced in some commodities as a result.

Plan To Murder 'Ike' Hushed Three Months

Paris, May 18 (AP)—One of supreme headquarters' top security secrets was made public today with official disclosure that a picked gang of assassins under the leadership of Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler's hatchetman, Lieut. Col. Otto Skorzeny, had plotted last winter to kill General Eisenhower.

Confirming capture of the giant, 35-year-old political kidnapper, headquarters revealed the plot had kept the entire western front in a state of alert for months during and after the Ardennes battle.

Meanwhile, history's biggest manhunt for notorious Nazis still at large was being pressed from Norway to the Bavarian Alps. A War Crimes Commission official said a decision on what to do with the German military hierarchy probably would be reached at the commission's conference May 31.

Himmler Reported Traced

Other developments reported:

1. War Correspondent Henry Standish, of the London News Chronicle, said in a dispatch from Lueneberg that Himmler had been traced, but not yet arrested, and that the British 2d Army could take him into custody at any time.

2. A dispatch from Kitzbuhel, Austria, said the 42d Division of the United States 7th Army had captured Arthur Greiser, former Nazi overlord of Posnan in Poland, and SS Lieut. Gen. Heinz Reinefarth, Nazi defender of Kuestrin, in a mountain retreat northwest of Krimml.

General Von Ihne Taken

3. Maj. Gen. Albert von Ihne, one-time secretary of Adolf Hitler's Chancellery, was captured in the villa of an Italian count near Revoreto, Italy.

4. Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden disclosed in London yesterday that Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz, Hitler's successor branded by Moscow as a war criminal, was "under investigation" and, "according to newspaper reports," had been arrested. He told Commons he hoped swift justice would be meted out to Reichmarshal Hermann Goering.

Held Up Since February

Most of the story about the Skorzeny plot was submitted to censorship last February and was held up by authorities until released last night.

Months before the Ardennes attack was scheduled, the Nazis set up a special school near Berlin and enrolled German soldiers who spoke English either with American or British accents. After weeks of training by the SS, the men were weeded down to a battalion headed by Skorzeny.

Special small groups in American uniforms were sent deep into rear areas with missions to commit major sabotage and assassinate key American generals. Skorzeny himself was believed to have been elected to kill Eisenhower.

U.S. Comics Foiled Plot to Kill Gen. Eisenhower

Nazis Assassins Got as Far as Liege but They Didn't Know About Jiggs and Maggie.

Paris, May 18 (A. P.).—Who is the Voice? Who is Pruneface? Who sleeps with Jiggs? It was questions such as these that broke up the plot of Lieut.-Col. Otto Skorzeny, the captured German leader of a band of kidnapers and assassins, to kill Gen. Eisenhower last winter.

Today for the first time the story can be told.

The 6-foot-4-inch giant Skorzeny led a special battalion of English - speaking desperadoes in American uniform who had been especially trained at a school near Berlin.

When Field Marshal Von Rundstedt began his Ardennes offensive last December, small bands from this battalion infiltrated the American lines, some to report back on troop positions, others to attack the Americans with American tanks, and yet others to roam deep in the rear for the purpose of committing major sabotage and assassinating key American generals. One such party of four penetrated as far as Liege.

Jiggs? The Answer's Maggie.

Since ordinary passwords were useless under the conditions, the Americans resorted to a few unorthodox tricks of their own. Roadblock guards would thrust their tommyguns into automobiles and pop questions that required an up-to-the-minute knowledge of American comic papers, swing music and other Americana. Some of the Germans failed to pass the examination and were captured.

In this way it was learned that Skorezeny had reserved for himself a mission to kill Eisenhower. There was little chance of his disguising himself, however, since he was not only 6 foot 4 inches tall, but had a long dueling scar across his face and spoke no English. Also his description was in the possession of the Americans.

His plan was to go into a mixed party of Germans dressed in American and German uniforms. When stopped those in American uniform would say they were taking high German officers to Supreme Headquarters for questioning. In this way they hoped to get close enough to Eisenhower to kill him.

The party never showed up, however. It is assumed that Skorezeny learned his plan was not working and abandoned it.

LAVAL BELIEVED TO BE IN FRANCE

Paris, May 18 (A. P.).—Pierre Laval was believed to be in France today, but no one was quite sure of the exact whereabouts of the former chief of the Vichy Government or in whose custody he was held.

Official spokesmen were unable to say whether Laval was in Spanish, British or French hands, but they said they believed he was in France.

[The London Daily Mail's Paris correspondent reported that Laval returned to France in a British warship at an unspecified port believed to be on the Atlantic coast, and was waiting transportation to Fresnes prison.]

Laval's return to France from Spain, where he had unsuccessfully sought asylum, stirred up a queer security situation. Spanish authorities presumably placed him aboard a British warship last night, but since unsurrendered German submarines are still believed to be in the channel, the British commander declined to notify the French Government which port he intended to enter.

Fearing lynching attempts, the French wanted to station a heavy police guard at the point where Laval was to come ashore. They finally solved the problem by placing extra guards at every major Atlantic port and a number of minor ones.

300 EX-SLAVES CRY FOR FOOD IN PARIS

Paris, May 18 (A. P.).—Three hundred Frenchmen liberated from slave labor in Germany paraded along the Champs Elysees today shouting "down with the black market." The demonstration highlighted conditions here under which virtually all city dwellers are forced to patronize the wide open black market to live, though rationing with controlled prices theoretically is in effect.

Prices run up to $25 for a decent restaurant meal, $2.50 for a pack of cigarettes, $1.60 for a bar of American chocolate, $4 or more for a pound of butter.

WOMAN-MAN RATIO IN GERMANY 5 TO 2

Spiritual Smashup Of Women From Loveless Life Feared

Wiesbaden, Germany, May 18 (AP)—American officers coming to grips with the task of governing Germany are somewhat startled today by the realization they have on their hands a nation which is largely feminine.

Preliminary surveys show that at the moment there are five women for every two German men in the adult productive years and this was expected to weigh heavily in the postwar behavior of the country, involving psychological considerations with which veteran officers admit they are unfamiliar.

Prisoners Won't Even It Up

Even the return of German prisoners in the undetermined future will not balance the situation until today's children grow up. As a consequence hundreds of thousands of maturing German women face the prospect of a husbandless life if the nation is going to stick to monogamy.

The Nazi slave-labor system released an extraordinarily high proportion of German men for the fronts, where they became casualties or prisoners.

Now the burdens of reconstruction and reparations sacrifices are sure to fall most heavily on women and if, in addition, it is to be a loveless life it may lead, in the opinion of some officers, to a spiritual smashup which could have repercussions far beyond the German frontiers.

Outside Calculation

Lieut. U. C. Biel, of New York city, military government officer making a study of this factor, said if even one frustrated woman was unpredictable the mass of feminine frustration which seems in store for Germany was completely outside the bounds of calculation, and could bring strange unprecedented slants to the postwar mentality.

By and large, German women were charmed by the personality of Hitler and had considerable influence in bringing him to power.

Now, grubbing around in ruined cities and doing double duty on farms, the women generally admit their flyer into politics was a disaster and are turning their thoughts from public affairs. Their deepest yearning is for security and a home, and millions cannot have either of these.

The officers are taking up gingerly the spiritual aspects of defeated Germany, and how to cope with them. For instance, organizations like the Hitler Youth Movement have been abolished, but Germans remain romantic, want to hike and dream in forests and to have organized gymnastics and athletics. Many observers are recommending there be supervised organizations.

HITLER'S LAST VICTORY BID

Eleventh-Hour Attempt To Split Allies Described

Hamburg, Germany, May 18 (AP)—A British security police official said today Heinrich Himmler's whereabouts had been established in the Hamburg area two days ago, but that a patrol which was sent to get him had been unsuccessful.

Southern Germany, May 18 (AP). Adolf Hitler's principal secretary said today the fallen Führer made one last desperate effort to split the Allies by ordering Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels to plant a story that the Russians were arming 200,000 Germans to fight England.

But when the plot fizzled when front communications were broken, Hitler decided on the afternoon of April 22 that all was lost and declared he knew he would die in Berlin, said the secretary, Gerhardt Herrgesell, who believes the Führer has dead somewhere in the capital.

The Inside Story

The secretary said he left Berlin that same April 22 for Berchtesgaden with thousands of pages of notes on the inside story of Germany at war in the last two years.

With a staff of eight, he now is in a southern German city transcribing his shorthand.

After his arrival, Herrgesell claimed that an attempt was made to burn his records—by whom he did not say—but a tremendous amount was recovered to provide the world with an intimate picture of Hitler, his staff, their most secret deliberations and pictures of hangers-on and women friends.

Herrgesell said he wanted to be helpful in translating the notes for their historical value. I saw some of the notes, charred about the edges.

The Delusion

The secretary asserted that even after Hitler abandoned hope in mid-April of splitting the Allies, only a few days before the end, Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop and Goebbels still clung to the delusion that Britain would turn on Russia.

In ordering Goebbels and Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering to put out the story of Russians arming Germans, Hitler was paraphrased by Herrgesell, as follows:

"Let's get this story planted among the British. I am sure they don't realize as we do what the Russian plans are. Maybe we can get the British to thinking the Russians are going beyond the boundaries they promised to keep behind earlier in the war.

Begins To Doubt

"Really, we have something to go on. The English ought to see that the German national movement (of captured generals in Moscow) really is a danger to them, because if the Russians can organize the generals there will be an important fighting body of Germans the Russians can turn against England."

But by mid-April, the secretary said, Hitler himself began to doubt whether the plan would work.

This idea long had run through Hitler's thinking, the secretary continued, recalling the time that Hitler gathered a dozen division commanders and their aides at Berchtesgaden December 12, 1944, just before the ill-fated Ardennes offensive in the west.

Herrgesell said that by this blow Hitler hoped to pin down the British and American forces on the west, then turn on the Russians and perhaps by that time the English would come into the fight against the Soviet.

Remarkable Memory

In those conferences, Herrgesell said, Hitler showed a remarkable memory for unco-ordinated details.

Once he abruptly asked why the eight guns of a ship sunk in the bombardment of Danzig were not being used. Told that the ship was sunk he began ranting because it had not been raised.

While such a memory amazed even Hitler's military staff, Herrgesell said, his failures were due to an inability to co-ordinate his facts.

Still, the secretary insisted, Hitler held all the reins and made most of the decisions up until that April 22 when he decided that the war was lost.

Hurried Conference

After the Ardennes offensive failed and United States armies began chewing up German units all along the front, Hitler called a hurried conference with Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command, and Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl—his military adviser.

The secretary said Hitler would ask about a certain division and would be told "we think it is at this place, but the American radio announced it is surrounded here."

Whereupon the Führer would fall into a deep reflection, then break it off with a query about some other division.

Herrgesell said it became apparent from mid-February onward that Hitler, trying to direct the battle from Berlin or Berchtesgaden, was without important communications either east or west and often was unaware of where his own or the Allied lines were.

Herrgesell and other men closest to Hitler insist that the Führer never had a double. An American officer who before the war was in Berlin and was close to a number of the Germans said most men he knew never took stock in the double theory.

Aide Denies Hitler Had Double

Southern Germany, May 18 (AP)—The much-discussed theory that Adolf Hitler had a double was discredited today by his principal secretary of the last two years of the war.

"Those were just stories—he never had a double and never used one," said Gerhardt Herrgesell, who was perhaps as close to the Führer as any man during that period.

Herrgesell said also that Hitler hoped desperately almost to the very end that there would be a split in the Allies over Russia.

Others Clung To Hope

Even after Hitler abandoned that hope only a few days before German capitulation, Herrgesell said, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Joseph Paul Goebbels clung to the delusion.

He said Hitler, Goebbels and Col. Gen. Gustaf Jodl, among others, spent long hours in the Eagle's Nest hideout above Berchtesgaden discussing means of terminating the struggle with Britain and then joining the battle against Russia.

One of Hitler's last orders to Merman Goering and Goebbels was to plant a story with British intelligence agents that the Russians had outfitted 200,000 Germans to use in a war against England, Herrgesell said.

Substance Of Order

The substance of Hitler's order went something like this:

"Let's get this story planted among the British. I am sure they don't realize as we do what the Russian plans are. Maybe we can get the British thinking the Russians are going beyond the boundaries they promised to keep earlier in the war.

"The English ought to see that the German national movement is really a danger to them, because if the Russians can organize the generals there will be an important fighting body of Germans the Russians can turn against England."

Ardennes Thrust Explained

Hitler apparently believed he could convince the English of a Bolshevist danger—one of his prime tub-thumping themes—up until mid-April. Then he began to doubt it, his former secretary said.

Herrgesell reported Hitler exhorted a dozen division commanders and their aids who gathered at Berchtesgaden on December 12, 1944, just before the Ardennes counteroffensive which he intended as an all-out blow to end in victory.

Hitler went into a long harangue on generalities—that Germany had a God-given mission. Hitler emphasized this would be the blow to pin down British and American forces and then Germany could turn full-strength against Russia. Perhaps by then the English would come into the fight against Russia, he quoted Hitler as saying.

SCHMELING RELEASED AFTER QUESTIONING

HAMBURG, May 18.—(AP) Max Schmeling, former heavyweight boxing champion who was taken into custody by two British soldiers, was released after several hours of questioning by security police with instructions not to try to leave Hamburg, it was learned today.

He now is living with friends at a roadside inn and daily goes to the sports center to swim or shadow box.

Sgt. Edward Wade and Cpl. Harry Atherton, who picked up Schmeling, said an English bulldog near a tavern led them to the former champion.

They were posting road signs and were trying to quiet the dog when Schmeling came out of the tavern and asked if he could be of service. They were boxing fans and they recognized him.

They said he told them he injured his knee and back in a parachute jump during the conquest of Crete, was discharged from the army, that he did not plan to reenter the ring but would like to visit America again.

A Miss Is as Good As a Mile—Or Better

WITH THE RCAF OVERSEAS—(AP) Martin Pederson of Hawarden, Saskatchewan, Canada, attacked a German railway freight yard with his rocket-firing Typhoon, seeking eight locomotives, and got a lucky break.

"I flew low to attack eight locomotives and shoot up the main line," he said. "I let loose two rockets. They overshot a bit and hit a 100-foot chimney.

"It toppled over, crushing the locomotives and blocking the railroad."

Allies and Italy Ask French to Quit Aosta Area

Would Set Up A.M.G. There; Rome Press Criticizes Reported Aims of Paris

ROME, May 18 (AP).—An Allied informant said today that the Allies and Italy are seeking to induce the French to withdraw from a valley region around Aosta in northwest Italy so that an Allied military government can be established there.

The informant, who declined to be named, said General Dwight D. Eisenhower's supreme headquarters has been asked to persuade the French to retire, and that Allied officers in northern Italy are also negotiating for the withdrawal of French civil ad-

Yanks Find War Art Caches In Alpine Roundup in Italy

WITH AMERICAN FORCES ON THE AUSTRIAN BORDER—(AP) In a fantastic "liberation" roundup through the Italian Tyrol Yank soldiers have uncovered an assortment of articles—the gold reserve of the Bank of Italy, a two-year supply of German ammunition and fabulous art treasures the Nazis had cached away in Alpine hideouts.

(A Rome dispatch said the gold was valued between $5,000,000 and $15,000,000, and the art objects "in the millions.")

Then there have been other things. A large amount of machinery, believed to have been snatched from factories in Milan and Turin and, very important to the GI's, 25 cases of Old Peiper Heidsick champagne. The GI's who discovered the champagne are keeping pretty quiet about it, however.

Lt. Louie Miller, Jr., Charleston, W. Va., and Maj. Marion Sigovich, Portland, Ore., discovered the gold on a tip from Italian patroits. It was in an Alpine vault near Fortezza on the Brenner Pass road. There were 153 kegs of gold bars and 55 boxes of coin.

A 349th regiment company of the 88th Division discovered a great hoard of manufacturing equipment. Nearby was a building completely filled with small arms. Another contained chemical warfare equipment. A third was completely equipped for manufacturing airplane parts.

The ammunition warehouse was built inside a chain of mountains. The whole layout stretched for ten miles and a German artillery officer said it was the Wehrmacht's ammunition reserve in Italy and there was enough on hand for two years, but the Germans' inability to get their guns north of the Po nullified the cache.

A task force of infantry out looking for SS troopers said to be hiding in the mountains came upon the art treasures from the museums of Florence.

Among the treasures were works by Raphael and Rembrandt and the sculptor Donatello.

ministrations from towns and villages of the region. A reported statement by a French Foreign Office spokesman that France will seek frontier adjustments from Italy at the peace table was received with hostility by newspapers here.

"If this is the spirit destined to triumph in Europe, the San Francisco Conference might as well adjourn and the hundreds of good men gathered there spare themselves further work," the independent newspaper "Il Tempo" commented.

"Il Risorgimento Liberale," organ of the conservatively inclined Liberal party, said "the Italians, who fought Fascism besides the French, appeal to the new democratic governments not to resort to Hitler methods."

SAKHALIN PUT IN LIMELIGHT

Soviet Officers Hold Training Meeting In Siberia

Moscow, May 18 (AP)—Moscow newspapers today prominently displayed a letter to Premier Stalin asserting that the northern Soviet half of the Russian-Japanese Pacific island of Sakhalin was "immemorably Russian land."

The Soviet Army newspaper Red Star, meanwhile, reported a training meeting of Red Army commanders in Far Eastern Siberia facing Japanese-occupied Manchuria.

The letter from the people of northern Sakhalin took up a third of a page of every Moscow morning newspaper and was sent on the twentieth anniversary of "liberation from Japanese occupationists" which its signers said coincided with victory over Hitlerite Germany.

Long An Irritating Question

Sakhalin long has been an irritating question in Japanese-Russian relations. Oil-bearing Sakhalin lies just north of the Japanese home island of Hokkaido. The northern half of the 559-mile long, 124-mile-wide island is Russian, the southern part is Japanese.

The letter, from "the toiling masses of Sakhalin," said they had dedicated themselves to the principle of not for one minute lessening our efforts in the cause of further strengthening the defensive growth of the military might of our homeland and strengthening the defensive power of Sakhalin."

Officers Give Lectures

A dispatch from a correspondent of Red Star datelined "Trans-Baikal Front"—that part of Far Eastern Siberia between Lake Baikal and Manchuria—meanwhile reported a successful twenty-day meeting of company commanders of ("apparently censored") formation. The meeting was held to acquaint officers with new military techniques and methods of training.

The dispatch said that officers had given lectures on tactics, signals and engineering.

This was the second report in two days of Red Army training programs. Yesterday, Red Star reported new summer field maneuvers in the Lwow and Caucasus areas.

Jap Claims Friendly Terms

The Soviets won recognition to northern Sakhalin in a Soviet-Japanese agreement of January 20, 1925, which was ratified May 1, 1925. Soviet scientists estimate that the island's oil resources are about 100,000,000 tons. Last year, the Soviet half produced almost 100,000 tons more oil than in 1943 and the signers of the letter to Stalin promised to increase production another 100,000 tons in 1945. The island also has rich coal deposits.

The Japanese call the southern half of the island "Karafuto." As a result of an agreement of March 30, 1944, Japanese concessions in northern Sakhalin were liquidated.

[A commentator on the Tokyo radio, meanwhile, said in a broadcast heard by the FCC, that Japan had established "a clear-cut structure according to which she is on completely friendly terms with the Soviet Union and on an all-out fighting basis with the Anglo-Americans."]

U.S. and Soviet Generals Meet at Victory Dinner

Simpson Gives High Decoration to Tsvetaev

MOSCOW, May 18 (AP).—"Red Star" reported today a meeting of Lieutenant General William H. Simpson of the United States 9th Army and Soviet Army General V. D. Tsvetaev, while American planes swept low overhead forming the letters "U. S. S. R."

The generals command armies which met on the Elbe southwest of Berlin while Germany was collapsing. Simpson pinned a high decoration on Tsvetaev and embraced him, then gave awards to other Russian generals and officers.

Tass said the Americans gave a dinner for the Russians at which toasts were drunk to "the Soviet high command, hero generals and gallant Soviet soldiers." A concert and entertainment by visiting American actors followed and "lasted late into the night."

Simpson spent several hours talking with Tsvetaev and said the conversation was "very useful," Tass added. American troops on his command were drawn up as honor guards and paraded in honor of the Russians.

As they marched, a flight of planes came from behind a forest and formed the letters "U S S R" in English. Then other fighters came in from the west and formed the letters in Russian.

RUSSIA CLAIMS STRONGEST RADIO

Moscow, May 18 (A. P.).—The a ssistant peoples Commissar of Communications, A. D Fortushenko, said today that the Soviet Union had the world's most powerful radio station. He said construction was begun in 1941 and completed in 1943. Most of the parts were manufactured at Leningrad during 1941-42 when the city was blockaded. The location and power of the station were not disclosed.

Military Meeting in Orient

MOSCOW, May 18 (AP)—The Army newspaper Red Star reported today that a training meeting of Red Army commanders in Far Eastern Siberia, facing Japanese-occupied Manchuria, had been held.

A dispatch from a correspondent datelined "Trans-Baikal Front"—that part of Far Eastern Siberia between Lake Baikal and Manchuria—reported a successful twenty-day meeting of company commanders. The meeting was held to acquaint officers with new military techniques and methods of training. The dispatch said that officers had given lectures on tactics, signals and engineering.

This was the second report in two days of Red Army training programs. Yesterday Red Star reported new summer field maneuvers in the Lwow and Caucasus areas.

The Soviet Union's claim to northern Sakhalin was recognized in a Soviet-Japanese agreement of Jan. 20, 1925, which was ratified May 1, 1925. Soviet scientists estimate that the island's oil resources were about 100,000,000 tons.

Sweden Offers Regrets Article Offended Stalin

Stockholm, May 18 (AP)—Sweden has expressed regret to Soviet Russia that an article of Premier Stalin in the Swedish weekly Obs gave an unfavorable impression of the Russian leader, an authoritative source said today.

The article, published several weeks ago, prompted the Soviet Government to ask confiscation of the issue.

The Soviet note called the article an "insidious attack on a leading Russian personality and the Russian people," Stockholmstidningen said.

Tito Asks Swiss For Count

Bern, May 18 (AP)—The Swiss Telegraph Agency said today the Swiss Government had received a request from Yugoslavia for custody of Count Giuseppi Bastianini, former Italian Ambassador to London. Swiss courts will determine, the agency said, whether Bastianini, who is interned here, shall be delivered on Yugoslavia's contention that he is a war criminal.

Tito Replies on Trieste

BELGRADE, May 18 (AP).—Marshal Josip Broz (Tito) replied today to the American and British notes on Trieste, but the content of the reply was not made available immediately.

It was considered likely, however, that the reply suggested a compromise similar to that proposed on the occupation of Austrian Carinthia, where Tito suggested that Yugoslav troops be allowed to continue their present occupation, but under the command of Field Marshal Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, British commander of allied forces in the Mediterranean area.

Quisling Art Trove Found; Hearing Up

Oslo, May 18 (AP)—Vidkun Quisling, who ruled Norway for Adolf Hitler, will be called for a preliminary hearing within a week as a war criminal, Minister of Justice Terge Wold announced today as Norwegians uncovered a fabulous fortune of stolen paintings and art objects in his purloined mansion.

The former puppet Premier, now imprisoned, is expected to be tried on charges of treason.

Wold said everything possible is being done to speed the trial which will follow the hearing.

"We have to study five years of criminal activity, and it takes time," he said. "But we have no intention of coddling Quisling."

With the puppet leader under police supervision, workmen began today the work of removing stolen art treasures and furniture from his purloined residence, Gimle. Art critics and Government officials were amazed at the fabulous wealth and priceless objects Quisling acquired in five years of rule.

Laval's Jail Fare: Boiled Lobster

Barcelona, May 18 (AP)—Pierre Laval, former Vichy Premier, spent his sixteenth day confined in a fortress here today, awaiting completion of negotiations on the means of transporting him to France.

[A Paris dispatch earlier quoted French official spokesmen as saying they believed he was already in France, being taken there by an Allied warship.]

Although there has been no official statement on the status of negotiations regarding Laval, the Spanish Government is reported ready to deliver Laval to British and American representatives jointly or separately, but not directly to the French, for transportation to France, possibly by warship.

Laval meanwhile was reported awaiting his fate philosophically. Those who prepare his food said he had a good appetite, showing a preference for cold boiled lobster.

U. S. TROOPS SEIZE IPO DAM ON LUZON

Close Jaws of Trap on Several Thousand Japs on Mindanao.

MANILA, Saturday, May 19—(AP) Forty-third Division Yanks and guerrillas captured the vital Ipo dam, source of one-third of Manila's water, and closed a trap on several thousand Japanese troops late yesterday.

In the southern Philippines, on Mindanao, the 31st Infantry division captured Valencia and its two adjacent airfields, which already were being put to American use.

Dam Taken Intact

Ipo dam strangely enough was taken intact although the Japanese had the opportunity and the demolitions sufficient to destroy it.

A guerrilla force under Col. Marcus Augustin closed the northern jaw of a pincers against light opposition but Maj. Gen. Leonard F. Wing's 43rd met harder fighting in slugging the southern jaw shut.

The action trapped a large Japanese force but the enemy still was fighting hard and appeared well supplied.

The final assault on the dam was preceded by one of the most intense aerial firebomb raids in this theater. More than 375 Thunderbolt and Lightnings of the Fifth Air force gave the area a severe two-day blasting.

Hold Part of Aqueduct

Capture of the dam does not bring Ipo water to Manila immediately. The Japanese still hold part of the aqueduct route.

Maj Gen. Clarence Martin's 31st division moved six miles in central Mindanao to capture Valencia and the two adjacent airdromes, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Two other Yank divisions, the 40th and the Americal, were moving down from the north and were only 40 miles from a juncture with the 31st. The two outfits scored a successful flanking maneuver around Japanese defenses at the Mangima river.

This was the first mention of Maj. Gen. William H. Arnold's veteran Americal division on Mindanao. This division last was invading the central Philippine Visayan islands.

Substantial gains against decreasing resistance was reported in the Davao area of southeastern Mindanao, where Maj. Gen. Roscoe Woodruff's 24th Division fought bitter hand-to-hand engagements after capturing Davao city.

The 24th thrust 4 miles northward to the edge of the Sasa airdrome.

Australian and Dutch troops reached the east coast of Tarakan Island, off Borneo, to bring the campaign there to a virtual end, although mopping up remains. The Aussies and Dutch have all the important points on the little island.

M'ARTHUR SETS TRAP FOR JAPS

Yanks Encircling Foe on Luzon and Mindanao.

Manila, May 18 (A. P.).—Two traps were closing today on sizable Japanese garrisons on Luzon and Mindanao in the Philippines. In central Luzon, the biggest enemy force yet enveloped in the archipelago was hemmed in by Major-Gen. Leonard F. Wing's Forty-third Division near Ipo Dam, chief water source for Manila.

The Nipponese are at least at regimental strength. They are well supplied with artillery, mortars and small arms. The Yanks have beaten off one enemy attempt to break out, killing fourteen Japanese.

In the central sector of Mindanao, southern island of the Philippines, Major-Gen. Rapp Brush's Fortieth Division and Major-Gen. Clarence Martin's Thirty-first Division, have another sizable enemy force squeezed between them along the Sayre highway.

Today's communique reported advances which narrowed the gap between the Fortieth and Thirty-first from fifty-five miles to forty-five miles. The Fortieth is driving south from the Del Monte air base center. The Thirty-first has pushed north to the edge of the air base of Valencia after putting the captured airstrip at Maramag into operation for transport planes.

A third trap, sprung on an enemy force of undisclosed size, was compressed by Major-Gen. R. B. Woodruff's Twenty-fourth Division near captured Davao on Mindanao. The enemy is caught between the Davao and Talomo Rivers.

The biggest operation announced today for the air force was a 185-ton Liberator bombing of Shinchiku, major Japanese base on northwestern Formosa.

CHINESE TROOPS NEAR PAOCHING

Japs Reported Preparing to Evacuate Several Cities on Coast.

CHUNGKING, May 18 — (AP) There were persistent reports here tonight that the Japanese are preparing to evacuate several pockets along the China coast between Hangchow bay and Hongkong, all of which might become death traps if any sizeable American forces landed nearby.

The points reported affected included Swatow, Amoy, Foochow and possibly Wenchow.

Chinese troops hotly pursued enemy forces over Hunan province's 1,500-foot hills today toward the key Japanese base of Paoching, guarding the communications city of Hengyang in Japan's vital supply corridor across China between Manchuria and Indo-China.

Chinese soldiers were within 18 miles northwest of Paoching and 73 miles northwest of Hengyang Thursday The Chinese high command indicated that the entire right wing of the abortive Japanese drive on the American air base at Chihkiang, 250 miles southeast of Chungking, had folded up.

The Chinese pursued these fleeing Japanese forces southeast from Yankchi 40 miles northwest of Paoching, and battled 55 miles from the Hengyang-Kweilin railroad, the main Japanese supply line southwestward to Indo-China.

At the same time, the Chinese occupied two more strongpoints due west of Paoching in the area south of Shanmen, 4 6miles from the base from which the Japanese launched their offensive toward Chihkiang. They were 11 miles from the main Paoching-Chihkiang highway, which if cut would isolate Japanese forces to the west from their base.

Paoching appeared to be the Chinese objective, preparatory to a counter-offensive toward Hengyang, the greatest communication center in Hunan province, and junction of the north-south railroad from Manchuria to Canton on China's south coast and the Hunan-Kwangsi railroad to Indo-China.

Fighting meanwhile continued outside Foochow, Japanese-held former treaty port on China's east coast from which Chinese assault forces were forced to withdraw after a five-day street battle.

In Honan province, the Chinese made slight progress in fighting which continued on both sides of the highway leading westward toward Shensi province from the Japanese base at Hsihsiakow, north of Laohokow which is 350 miles northeast of Chungking.

Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek today commended Chinese forces west of Hsihsiakow whose resistance was believed to have thwarted a Japanese attempt to invade Shensi for a strike against Siang or Chungking.

Claim Jap Division Destroyed

Chiang, in an order of the day, said the Chinese in southern Honan had destroyed the 110th Japanese Division and inflicted numerous casualties on the enemy.

United States 14th Air Force bombers and fighters, meanwhile, concentrated on supply lines of the "beaten Japanese armies" in Honan and Hunan, an American communiqué said. Supporting the advancing Chinese, American Mitchell bombers lashed enemy lines east of Paoching, between that base and Hengyang.

Strafing fighter-bombers also attacked river shipping on the Yangtze and the dock area at the great inland port of Hankow.

United States Army authorities issued a statement correcting some news reports implying that Maj. Gen. Robert B. McClure, chief of staff to Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, was commanding Chinese forces which smashed the Japanese drive on the air base at Chihkiang. McClure's "combat command," it was stated, was merely a liaison and advisory body.

Fighting Continues Outside Foochow

Chungking, May 18 (AP)—Fighting continued outside the east China coast city of Foochow today after Japanese reinforcements, rushed in from the near-by coastal towns of Lienkong and Mamoi, had forced the withdrawal of Chinese forces which entered the city a week ago.

The Chinese high command said more than 400 Japanese troops had been killed in street fighting in Foochow, former treaty port of 322,725, situated just across Formosa Strait from the northern tip of Formosa, in the area where the Japanese fear American landings.

Success In Hunan

In the Hunan province fighting, the Chinese said, organized enemy resistance northwest of Shanmen and southeast of Kaosha, a highway town 55 miles west of Paoching, has been crushed and Japanese units have suffered 1,000 casualties.

In the maritime province of Chekiang, Chinese troops captured the town of Wuyi, less than 20 miles southeast of the important Japanese bastion of Kinhwa on the Chekiang-Kiangsi Railway. Three hundred enemy troops were killed in the battle for Wuyi, the Chinese said.

The communiqué indicated that the right wing of the abortive Japanese drive on the American air base at Chihkiang, in Hunan, was folding up. It said the enemy southeast of Yangchi fled back to points from 25 to 18 miles northwest of Paoching, base of the enemy campaign, with the Chinese in pursuit.

CHUNGKING STIRRED BY PEACE REPORTS

CHUNGKING, May 18 — (AP) Chungking was stirred tonight by unconfirmed reports from London and San Francisco that Japan has handed a peace offer to the United States and Great Britain.

There was nothing official here to support the reports, and only Wednesday the Chinese Ministry of Information disclaimed any knowledge of Japanese peace feelers.

Although the tendency was to accept the reports with considerable caution, it was generally felt here that once Tokyo actually began bargaining in earnest the end would not be far off.

Chinese circles for some time have alleged the existence of an underground peace faction in Japan headed by former Premier Prince Konoye and secretly supported by big business interests anxious to avoid further destruction of Japanese industry.

VACATIONS URGED FOR CHINESE FARMERS

CHUNGKING, May 18—(AP) A minimum wage scale, a 48-hour working week and annual vacations with pay for Chinese farmers and laborers were among numerous measures advocated by the Sixth National Kuomintang congress today in outlining plans for postwar China.

The Kuomintang, or Government party, urged elimination of all kinds of exploitation of China's farmers, particularly loans at high interest rates, and advocated a fair distribution of land. It encouraged laborers and farmers to join a national labor union.

"Postwar social security, the Congress said, should come under two headings—vocational guidance insurance and relief, with priority for those who had contributed to the war effort.

The Congress also adopted a proposal to utilize $300,000,000 of Chinese deposits frozen in the U. S. for war and reconstruction purposes.

...ended "eugenic principles with sound bodies and minds" and the suppression of births from parents with hereditary weaknesses.

The congress also adopted a proposal to utilize $300,000,000 (American dollars) of Chinese deposits frozen in the United States for war and reconstruction purposes. Deposits belonging to "traitors, corrupt Government officials, profiteering merchants or notorious landowners" would be confiscated. Deposits of a "proper nature" would be repaid in installments after the war.

Would Seek U.S. Aide

The resolution requested the Government to seek co-operation in Washington for implementing the plan.

Another measure called for "fostering of the ideal of the happy home" and for guidance in "proper birth control."

The congress called for a war against venereal disease and proposed premarital physical examinations. Emphasis was placed on sex education and the inauguration of matrimonial inquiry services.

Other proposals sought better nutrition, an elevation of the standard of living, the popularization of physical education, the promotion of medicine and sanitation and a reduction of the marked differences in the ratio between male and female populations in different regions.

"Rational Control Of Aliens"

Provision also was made for "rational control of aliens seeking entry into China in order to bring about reciprocity and equality in the international flow of population."

The congress adopted a resolution yesterday appealing to China's Communists to honor their September, 1937, pledge to support the National Government and obey its orders.

The resolution, indorsing the policy of the central committee to seek a "political solution" to the Communist problem, said the Communists had persisted in "armed insubordination and refusal to carry out military and administrative orders of the National Government."

The congress advocated measures to improve the conditions of laborers, including a minimum wage scale, an eight-hour day and six-day week, annual vacations with pay and a postwar social security system.

Intermarriage Urged As Aid To Solidarity In China

Chungking, May 18 (AP)—The Sixth National Kuomintang Congress adopted resolutions today calling for strict bans against prostitution, abortion and concubinage and proposing "encouragement of cohabitation and intermarriage between different racial groups in order to strength national solidarity."

The Kuomintang is the Government party.

Other resolutions urged strict enforcement of monogamy, the prevention of easy divorce and the prohibition of marriage of males under 20 years of age and women under 18.

Bans Infanticide

The congress urged a strict ban against infanticide, slave labor and kidnapping.

One measure provided for "the encouragement of procreation of Japanese Troops Retreating Toward Moulmein in Burma

CALCUTTA, May 18—(AP) Thousands of bedraggled Japanese, large numbers in poor physical condition, fell back today toward Moulmein, which they seized early in 1942 in embarking on the conquest of Burma.

It was estimated that 44,000 Japanese soldiers, many of them rear echelon troops, were involved in the gerenal withdrawal all the way from near Thazi, 290 miles north of Rangoon, to Moulmein, which is 90 miles east of the Burmese capital across the gulf of Martaban.

A British task force caught and sank an eight-inch cruiser of the 10,000-ton Nati class Wednesday about 50 miles west of the Malay peninsula, the Admiralty reported in London).

Battle in Mountains

Near the center of this front the retreating Japanese put up stiff resistance east of Toungoo on the mountainous approaches to the Thailand border, but elsewhere no unified defense appeared.

(Tokyo radio, heard by the Federal Communications Commission, said the beaten troops would fortify and man Thailand's western border).

West of this sector betwen Toungoo and Prome, in western Burma, 12,000 more Japanese milled in a giant trap, trying to break out eastward.

Japanese opposition evaporated in western Burma north and east of Taungup, which is 185 miles northwest of Rangoon, where an estimated 5,000 disease-ridden enemy troops were cut off.

West Africans have cleared most of the area, moving as far as 30 miles unopposed and occupying former Japanese headquarters at An, 66 miles north of Taungup.

Jap Casualties Heavy

In Central Burma, small parties of Japanese suffered heavy casualties in attempts to filter east past the British astride the Mandalay-Rangoon railway.

Heavy aircraft of the eastern air command winged out over the Bay of Bengal in a long-distance strike at Chatham island jetties and marine workships in the Andaman islands. Installations were hard hit.

Other formations continued their hammering of the railway that links the great base of Singapore to Thailand, damaging two bridges south of Chumphon, which is on the Malay peninsula about 700 miles north of Singapore.

Rescued Flyer to See Fiancee

He'd Been Unreported Prisoner of Japs at Rangoon, but She Waited for Him.

Calcutta, May 18 (A. P.).—Miss Patty Norbury of Jacksonville, Ill., now on duty with an American war agency at Kandy, Ceylon, is awaiting leave to visit her fiance, Lieut. Roy Wentz, an Army hospital patient here recently rescued from the Japanese at Rangoon after eighteen months of unreported imprisonment.

The B-24 navigator, of Springfield, Ill., who was shot down near Bassein on December 1, 1943, is the envy of his wardmates. Wentz has not heard directly from Miss Norbury since his release, but he knows she has been looking for him and has believed him alive despite the fact he was reported missing.

On arrival at the hospital Wentz learned his fiancee had seen a newspaper article on the release of the first batch of prisoners from Rangoon and immediately had written liberated crewmen asking for news.

Under his pillow he has one of these second-hand letters asking about him. The Red Cross has advised him efforts were being made to obtain transportation and leave for Miss Norbury to visit him.

"Now, there's a girl to tie to for keeps," he said happily. "It was sure the biggest and best surprise a guy could have to come out of that hell hole and find his girl is only just around the corner instead of halfway around the world."

Wentz and Miss Norbury became engaged in October, 1942, just before he was ordered overseas.

23 NEW YORK MEN WIN HONOR FOR IRAN DUTY

TEHERAN, Iran, May 8 (Delayed) (AP)—Twenty-three New York officers and enlisted men were among members of Headquarters Company, 3342d Signal Service Battalion, honored by presentation of the Meritorious Service Unit Plaque for duty during the period from Aug. 5 to Nov. 5, 1944.

"The service of each officer and man of this company," the citation read, "has contributed materially to the installation and maintenance of a communication system in the Persian Gulf Command which is second to none for its size and efficiency. The discipline, military courtesy, appearance and maintenance of equipment of the personnel has been outstanding."

The award was made by Brig. Gen. Donald P. Booth, commanding general.

The New York men included:

Lieut. Richard O. Fox, Oneonta.
Lieut. Edward J. Kovacs, Poughkeepsie.
Staff Sgt. Alfred J. Osminkowski, Rochester.
T/4 Nicholas Mascitelli, the Bronx.
T/4 William Nagin, Brooklyn.
T/4 Stanley Sawicki, Binghamton.
T/5 Ralph Lamberti, New York City.
T/5 John E. D. Maguire, Brooklyn.
T/ Edward J. Ozanian, New York City.
T/5 Gerald Pollack, New York City.
T/5 Max E. Reindell, the Bronx.
T/5 Abraham Slomiak, Brooklyn.
Pvt. Leo Lapidus, the Bronx.
Master Sgt. Harold A. Christensen, New York City.
First Sgt. Stephen Tichansky, Whitestone, Flushing.
T/4 Joseph P. Diaz, New York City.
T/4 Leonard B. Carlson, New York City.
T/4 Robert C. Raynor, East Meriches.

Pfc. David Honig, New York City.
T/5 Samuel Liebman, New York City.
T/5 Samuel Liss, New York City.
T/5 Henry J. McHale Jr., New York City.
T/5 Theodore Schachter, New York City.

'LARGE ENEMY FLEET' OFF JAPAN, TOKYO SAYS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18—(AP) A "powerful enemy fleet" is maneuvering in waters south of Japan, the Tokyo radio reported without confirmation today, warning the homeland that its activities required a "rigid watch."

The broadcast, heard by the FCC, said the enemy fleet steamed out of the Marianas islands early this week. It added:

"Although it is not definitely known whether it is directed toward the Okinawas, its activities require a rigid watch."

(Powerful American and British fleets have been operating around Okinawa and other islands in the Ryukyus for nearly two months in support of the American invasion of Okinawa, which is only 325 miles south of Japan).

BIG ALLIED FLEET REPORTED LEAVING BASE IN MARIANAS

Foe Hints Attack on Japan May Be Imminent—Orders Rigid Watch.

San Francisco, May 18 (A. P.).—Alerting the homeland about a powerful Allied fleet steaming out of the Marianas which requires rigid watch, radio Tokyo acknowledged today to the Japanese that American troops are fighting in the immediate outskirts of Shuri on Okinawa.

The broadcast, directed to home audiences and recorded by the FCC, said that the fleet had left the Marianas last Sunday or Monday.

Following exhortations by Japanese war ministers to produce more planes and to be prepared to defend the homeland against attacks, the broadcast emphasized the possibility of such an attack momentarily.

A dispatch by the Domei news agency claimed without confirmation that Japanese flyers sank an American aircraft carrier and heavily crippled two cruisers and an unidentified vessel around Okinawa Wednesday night and Thursday morning.

Domei declared that the United States fleet is making up its severe losses in carrier strength with "small auxiliary aircraft carriers brought to the scene of battle from rear bases."

Eleven of these auxiliary carriers were spotted around Okinawa Thursday, Radio Tokyo asserted. It said the number of land-based aircraft has been increased on Okinawa and surrounding American-held islands.

Recognizing the importance of Okinawa, one of Japan's leading journalists, Ichiro (Soho) Tokutomi, asserted that the Okinawa campaign was "not just a fight for the possession of one island alone but the fate of our country, and our existence depends upon its outcome."

Broadcasters reported the Tokyo metropolitan police board has undergone an over-all streamlining to attain perfection in the defense of the capital.

A reorganization of Japan's Transportation and Communications Ministry to combat the empire's rising transportation crisis was reported by the Tokyo radio today.

Naoto Kohiyama, one of Japan's leading transportation experts, will head the new communications board which is set up under the general jurisdiction of the entire Cabinet.

The change was dictated by the prevailing war situation, said the FCC recorded broadcast.

JAPANESE REVAMP TRANSPORT SET-UP

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18 (AP)—The Japanese Government created a new communications board under general Cabinet supervision today, the Tokyo radio announced, to ease the empire's growing transportation crisis.

The agency, according to the Japanese Information Board announcement quoted in a broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, will "devote its entire effort to the accomplishment of transportation efficiency" which "greatly influences the war."

The change was made necessary, it was explained, by the "prevailing war situation"—probably an admission of the success of the air and sea blockade slowly tightening about Japan and of the efforts of American air attacks.

Naoto Kohiyama, Minister of Transportation and Communications in the Suzuki Cabinet, will head the new board. He is considered one of Japan's leading transportation experts.

Other broadcasts reported the streamlining of Tokyo's police force to perfect defense of the capital from invasion and acknowledged setbacks on Okinawa.

One of Japan's leading journalists, Ichiro Tokutomi, writing of Okinawa in the newspaper Mainichi, said: "The fate of our country, and our existence, depends upon its outcome."

U. S. Bombers Attack Four Formosa Cities

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18—About 80 Philippines based American bombers attacked four principal cities of Formosa and their airfields today, Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported tonight.

The broadcast, directed to the United States and recorded by the Federal Communications commission, said the bombers attacked Taichu and Shinchiku in northwestern Formosa, Takao in the southwest and Firan in the northeast. It said damage was extremely slight.

Domei also said six Allied carrier aircraft attacked Lhokseumawe on southeastern Sumatra Wednesday. It reported one passenger killed and three wounded as the planes strafed a passenger train.

Russia A Good Friend, Jap Says

San Francisco, May 18 (AP)—By severing all diplomatic ties with Germany, a Jap radio commentator said today, Japan is now on "completely friendly terms with the Soviet Union and on an all-out fighting basis with the Anglo-Americans." The commentator branded "propaganda" any talk of Japanese peace negotiations.

Damage Plane Factory.

Aboard Rear Admiral J. J. Clark's Carrier Flagship, off Japan, May 14 (Delayed) (A. P.).—The new Kumamoto aircraft assembly plant in north central Kyushu was damaged heavily in bombing strikes by Navy Avengers and Hell Divers today.

The Kumamoto plant never before had been bombed and the Japanese concentrated their fighter defense against Kyushu sweeps directed against the plane assembly works.

Hellcat and Corsair fighter pilots had a "turkey shoot," bagging about half of the sixty-two Japanese aircraft they shot down over Kyushu over the Kumamoto plant.

A power plant south of Kumamoto also was burned and carrier-launched bombers hit the Tachiarai machine works, previously damaged by Superfortress raids.

Eleventh Airforce Headquarters, Aleutians, May 17 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Army airmen sank a Japanese vessel tentatively identified as an escort destroyer or a small cargo ship Wednesday at Kataoka naval base on Shumushu Island in the Kuriles, where on May 11 they surprised an enemy convoy and accounted for six cargo and escort craft sunk or damaged.

Australia to Get Barley for Beer

Melbourne, May 18 (A. P.).—If shipping is available, Australia will receive hundreds of thousands of bushels of barley from America to relieve a possible beer drought in Australia, Minister of Customs R. V. Keane said today. A failure of the south Australia barley crops was responsible for the beer crisis.

Australians Gain.

Melbourne, Australia, May 18 (A. P.).—Australian troops of the Sixth Division are slowly and methodically reducing bitterly defended Japanese strong points south of Wirin Mission in the Wewak sector of northern New Guinea, an Australian Army communique announced today. Corsairs battered Japanese concentrations east of the Hongorai River on Bougainville in the Solomons.

CANADA WILL SEND FORCES TO FIGHT JAPS

EDMONTON, Alta., May 18.—(AP) Canada will send about 30,000 soldiers, a naval force of 13,500 and an unspecified number of air force personnel into the war against Japan, Prime Minister MacKenzie King announced tonight.

Apparently in reply to opposition criticism of his announced policy that only volunteers would be sent to the Pacific, and assertions that Canada was not making an all-out effort against Japan, the prime minister disclosed Canadian plans in a special statement.

"The broad lines of Canadian participation in the Japanese war were settled at the Quebec conference in September, 1944," he said.

The Prime Minister said the naval force would amount to about 13,500 men of all ranks, and the army would send a force composed of an infantry division supported "by the appropriate armored and ancillary troops to operate with the United States Army."

An air force also will be sent to the Pacific, although it precise character and strength have not yet been settled, King said, adding the scale of "the RCAF participation will not be disproportionate to that of the other two services."

Hazards Overcome In Rescue of York

MAY 19 1945

This is the second article by Alvin S. McCoy on the dramatic survival of the United States carrier Franklin. In the first he described the horror during and immediately after the first explosions and on through the beginning of the fight to save the mighty carrier.

By ALVIN S. McCOY
[War Correspondent of the Kansas City Star]
(Distributed by the Associated Press)

Aboard the U.S.S. Santa Fe in the Western Pacific, March 19 [Delayed]—"I've never been so scared in my life."

That remark was heard hundreds of times aboard the big carrier.

I said it and meant it. Many navy officers and men said it to me—and grinned. Stark fear isn't funny but it is easier when it is shared. Knowing that the dull, leaden weight in the pit of one's stomach, as you fight to control panic, is duplicated in everyone about makes it easier to bear.

As a survivor of the disaster, touched off by a Japanese bomb hit, and the only war correspondent aboard, I feel lucky, grateful to be alive and still too dazed to give a lucid account.

As Long As Three City Blocks

The flattop is about as long as three city blocks; as high as a four-story building. It has hundreds, perhaps thousands, of steel bulkheads enclosing water-tight compartments. One was killed, or is still living, depending on where he happened to be. Each person saw only what was happening in his own little confined area, unless he survived the hail of shrapnel on the hellish flight deck.

It was much like an artillery bombardment of a skyscraper building. Persons in one room, taking a direct hit, would be blown to bits, while those in an adjacent one might escape unscathed. No human power could have saved the men under direct bomb explosions or on the fire-swept-hangar deck.

Like Many Boiler Factories

I had gone to the "island" early in the morning to watch planes roar off to strike Japan. A chill wind swept the deck. Momentarily, everything was quiet. Air patrols reported no Jap planes in the vicinity. Feeling secure, ship's officers sent many men to breakfast from their battle stations. This correspondent — luckily — joined the group. A few minutes later the "island" was riddled.

Two decks below the hangar deck a Navy photographer was taking a picture of a seaman, so weary from two nights of alarms and loss of sleep, that he had fallen asleep sprawled on his back on a big pile of fuse cans, which resembled beer cans. Beside him on the deck were two 500-pound bombs, ready to go above.

I had just sat down to breakfast in the adjacent warrant officers' wardroom. I had taken one bite. About twenty other persons were at the two tables, covered with snow-white table cloths. Suddenly there was a dull clanging explosion like the bedlam of a thousand boiler factories. The carrier shuddered. No one moved.

Breakfast Is Untouched

"We've been hit!" someone cried.

The announcement was superfluous. Everyone knew it. More explosions followed, each jarring the ship. They appeared to come from the after area. Instinctively, I glanced at a clock on the wall which showed shortly before 7.10 o'clock. Men's faces around me turned pale. We were frightened, and admitted it. Everyone wondered whether the magazines were going up, and whether the ship was sinking. Smoke began seeping through the ventilator shaft in the ceiling.

"I've got rocks in my stomach," a warrant officer remarked with a grimace.

We grinned. We all felt the same way. Everyone was standing, saying little, waiting. Breakfast went untouched. No word came over the public-address system other than the first bugle notes of general quarters. It had been knocked out. Doors had been closed water-tight promptly after the hit. I recalled the bombs on the other side of the steel wall.

Minutes Seem Like Eternity

A door clanged open and men carried in two wounded, one with a gaping hole in his abdomen. Both were placed on the white table cloth, the breakfast dishes shoved aside. I was fascinated by the pool of blood than ran red on the table cloth. First-aid kits were found and the men were given hypodermics.

About fifteen minutes after the first series of explosions others slammed the ship. We grew more concerned. Still we waited. I knew then what claustrophobia—the fear of being confined—meant. Could we get out from our compartment below decks to fresh air? Were the passageways clear? Was the ship sinking? Those, and thoughts of home and family, raced through my mind.

Thirty or forty minutes after the bombing, minutes that seemed an eternity, a door opened and Chief Boatswain Chester Joseph Spiewak, New York city, a man with a profound knowledge of the ship, came in. He had been walking in an adjacent passageway when the blast picked him up, hurled him accurately through an open steel doorway and slammed him on his back on the deck [illegible] feet beyond.

[illegible]ly [illegible]ells Sweet

"You guys better get the hell out of here," he greeted us. "I think I can find a way."

It was the most welcome word we ever had heard. The group started single file, taking the wounded along. Spiewak went to a ladder (stairway), unscrewed a scuttle giving a small circular opening to the deck above and found the passageway clear. We went forward through numerous passageways, waded through some water and emerged on the forecastle deck at the bow of the ship, a region roofed over by the hangar deck. We were in fresh air. We could see the sea, jump over the sides if necessary. Never did air smell so sweet.

We went as we were, abandoning everything. In the biting cold air off Japan men began shivering from cold and tension. There were 400 or 500 men on this deck standing around, waiting. Everyone began putting on thick kapok life jackets and steel helmets from a pile on the deck. Wounded, on litters, were covered with blankets. Others began wrapping spare blankets around their shoulders. We were certain we would have to swim. Sailors began throwing lines and life rafts over the sides, while others tinkered with the anchor.

Hard To Maintain Footing

The hours dragged on. We could see cruisers and destroyers circling near by. The carrier listed so steeply it was difficult to keep one's footing. A destroyer came alongside to receive some wounded, and the glare of the blazing fire in the hangar deck reflected on its sides. On the other side of the carrier a pall of gray smoke was wafted miles to sea. Men huddled together at the highest side of the deck, waiting and waiting. Numbing fear showed on all faces.

Lieut. G. Weldon Gatlin, Fort Worth, Texas, a chaplain, turned physician to offer drinks of brandy to the coldest, or distributed packages of cigarettes from several cartons. Lieut. (jg) Stanley Graham, Winfield, Kan., a sandy-haired fire-control officer, appeared on the upper decks and shouted for volunteers to man fire hose. They went to work instantly.

"Who's in command here?" asked Lieut. Com. Joseph O'Callahan, senior chaplain, Boston, from a catwalk.

Chaplain Works Hard

Apparently no one was. There was no reply. The chaplain, who was all over the ship offering assistance, directed more men to the flight deck to help fight fire. A glimpse of the upper deck showed it so crowded that we returned to the forecastle deck. Lieut. Com. S. R. Sherman, San Francisco, flight surgeon, helped take the wounded off the flight deck, gave first aid to those on the forecastle deck, and then set up an emergency sick bay in the fore part of the ship.

The U.S.S. Santa Fe, came alongside, took some wounded over rope lines on stretchers, then cast off to the dismay of the huddled survivors. It returned quickly and stopped until the sides of the ships banged together in the swells. Men began to scramble frantically over a radio antenna to leap to the deck of the cruiser. Others swung over on ropes. Still I did not know whether the ship were being abandoned.

Maryland Man In Command

Sailors on the cruiser gave up their bunks and clothing to survivors from the Franklin. One sailor came aboard wearing an admiral's life jacket. Another was wearing a commander's coat. Completely fagged out, many lay down and quickly fell asleep. It had been five hours of constant fear before I boarded the cruiser, and shortly after the lines were cast off.

In the wardroom, virtually every officer from the Franklin continued wearing his life jacket and steel helmet as items too precious to abandon. They wore them even while eating. Everyone kept saying, "I'm glad to be aboard." What they really meant, and admitted, was, "I'm glad to be alive."

The rescue of the Franklin, and the saving of more than 800 of her crew provided one of the most amazing epics in American naval history.

Thirty minutes after the ship flamed from stem to stern in the first searing blast, Capt. H. C. Fitz, Severna Park, Md., commanding the Santa Fe, was ordered to take command of the rescue operations. Four destroyers were detailed to assist.

Explosion Shakes Stern

"When I saw those explosions, I wouldn't have given a plugged nickel for the Franklin's chances then," one officer commented.

Hazards of the rescue work were well known to Captain Fitz, who had been a witness to the explosion of the U. S. S. Princeton's magazines, when the U. S. S. Birmingham was alongside fighting fires and receiving crew personnel. If the magazines blew up, his own ship would be hurt. To tie up, dead in the water, gave a perfect target for land-based Japanese planes only minutes away. But several thousand lives were at stake in the event the Franklin went down. Captain Fitz did not hesitate.

Lines were shot to the Franklin, even as a terrific explosion shook the Franklin's stern. The cruiser, small by comparison, appeared to stand only half the length of the enormous carrier. The first wounded man was received on the cruiser at 10 o'clock, crossing the water gap on a stretcher swinging on the lines, three hours after the bomb hit.

Maneuvers Bring Praise

Fifteen minutes later the Santa Fe lost its position on the Franklin. Forward a radio antenna on the Franklin was raking the life line. The carrier had lost steering control, and there was doubt whether its magazines had been flooded. As the lines were cut, consternation showed on the faces of the men on the sloping carrier decks.

The Santa Fa circled the Franklin. Captain Fitz came in cutting across the carrier's bow at 25 knots, turned hard to starboard, and stopped his ship abruptly, its engines reversed, exactly alongside the carrier. He kept his engines going, forward and in reverse, to maneuver. Every sailor who saw the approach marveled at the seamanship, and it was long the talk of the rescue.

The two ships pounded together in the swells. Bringing his ship exactly alongside, despite the damage it would take, was necessary, Captain Fitz believed, because there was no time to evacuate more than a thousand persons by "travelers." The ships had to touch and did.

Another Cruiser Arrives

Men immediately began leaving from the main deck of the Franklin to the forward 6-inch gun turrets of the cruiser. Others dropped down lines to the cruiser's deck. Over a projecting radio antenna from the Franklin, men scrambled wildly, slipped, and jumped to the deck.

The cruiser's fire hoses pumped thousands of gallons into the flaming hangar deck, but could not reach the after section. An explosion of ammunition in the gun mounts, now afire, showered shrapnel which severed two of the cruiser's fire hoses but injured no one manning them.

Meanwhile, another cruiser, the U.S.S. Pittsburgh, picked up some survivors from the water then approached and cast a line to the Franklin. A towing cable was hauled to the Franklin, which had no workable equipment to lift it. The Santa Fe's winches were used to hoist the cable from the sea, and pass it to the Franklin. The line was made fast.

Just before 12.30 o'clock, five and one half hours after the bombing, the Santa Fe cast off, its rescue job finished. It had taken aboard all who were to go. In the two and a half hours it was tied up to the carrier, it had received 826 persons from the ship and the sea, including more than 90 wounded.

Jap Pilot Shot Down

One destroyer, the Hunt, with a normal complement of about 200, had taken 417 sailors from the sea. Another, the Marshall, had picked up 212. Scattered among seven ships were more than 1,000 more of the Franklin's officers and crew. Still other pilots had landed on various carriers of the task force.

The Japanese pilot who bombed the Franklin was shot down by the air group commander of the Franklin himself, in meager retaliation for the blow. The head of the air group is Commander E. B. Parker.

Commander Parker took off about eighteen minutes ahead of the bombing. He was orbiting for a rendezvous with his group, and was joined by a Navy wingman and two Marine pilots.

Jap Hit While Looping

They did not see the Japanese make his bomb run, but did see the carrier smoking and the Jap fleeing after his run.

"He climbed to 2,500 feet," Marine First Lieutenant Kenneth N. Linder, Arcadia, Cal., who accompanied the commander, related. "We closed fast. I was in the saddle and got in the first few shots, but they didn't appear to take effect.

"Then Commander Parker closed. He started firing—it was a single-engined bomber—and the Jap pulled up in a loop. Commander Parker followed in the loop, firing. He hit the Jap while he was looping. The Jap rolled over and went right down into the water. We circled our carrier, carried out our strike and then lighted on another carrier."

FRENCH OFFERED ZONE IN GERMANY

Willing to Turn Over Part of U. S. Occupation Area, Truman Says.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP) President Truman, reaffirming America's historic friendship with France, today expressed a desire to meet Charles de Gaulle and offered the French a portion of the American occupation zone in Germany.

In a formal statement issued after he conferred on a number of problems of "primary interest" between the two countries with Georges Bidault, French foreign minister, ~~the Chief~~ Executive also:

1. Welcomed any assistance France "and our other Allies" might bring against the Japanese that could be synchronized with operations already planned or underway.

2. Asserted the United States government and its people will continue to take all possible steps to "facilitate the recovery of France and of her people."

3. Declared France had emerged with renewed strength from the European war and had demonstrated her determination and ability to resume her "rightful and eminent" place among the nations which will share the major responsibility for maintaining European and world peace.

The President's statement, couched in the third person, was interpreted generally as an effort on the part of the new administration to erase any ill feeling that might have resulted from past friction between this government and De Gaulle.

But his statement that he would like to meet General De Gaulle was taken to refer to a conference just between the two, not with the other members of the Big Three in attendance. Asked Tuesday at a news conference whether De Gaulle would sit in on the next Big Three meeting, the President said it would embrace only him, Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin. Place and date of the meeting have not been determined.

FRANCE TO GET A PART OF U. S. ZONE IN REICH

Truman Reveals We Will Relinquish Territory for Occupation.

HAS TALK WITH BIDAULT

Voices Desire to Meet De Gaulle —Pledges U. S. Help for France's Recovery.

Washington, May 18 (A. P.).—President Truman told the French Foreign Minister today that the United States is willing to relinquish to France a part of the American zone of occupation in Germany.

The President, after a conference with Minister Georges Bidault, issued a statement saying that details of the relinquishment "have already been conveyed informally to the French Government and are now in the process of being formalized."

Mr. Truman expressed a desire to meet Gen. Charles de Gaulle, head of the French provisional government, and said that "there was a full appreciation by the United States Government of the part which France could and should play in the settlement of questions of world and European interests."

M. Bidault was asked whether he and Mr. Truman discussed suggestions that France participate in the coming Big Three meeting, he replied that the conversations were about political questions of the day, not especially about meetings.

Priorities for French Supplies.

President Truman added in his statement that the United States and its people "will continue to take such measures as will lie within their power to facilitate the recovery of France and of her people." He pointed out that this Government has taken extraordinary measures, despite American shortages, to arrange priorities for French procurement of supplies and to provide shipping for their movement to France.

What part or how much of the American occupation zone in Germany would be turned over to France was not specified. The exact zones to be controlled by Russia, Great Britain, France and the United States have not been officially announced.

Regarding the recent offer of Rene Pleven, French Finance Minister, to supply two or more French divisions to fight Japan, the President said he welcomed such assistance "as France and our other allies may bring to that struggle and which may be synchronized with operations already planned or under way."

The President said the American people and Government "realize that the French nation has emerged with renewed strength and vigor" from the European war and that it has demonstrated "its determination and its ability to resume its rightful and eminent place among the nations which will share the largest measure of responsibility in maintaining the future peace of Europe and the world."

Meeting Gratifies Frenchmen.

M. Bidault called at the White House on his arrival from San Francisco where he attended the world security discussions. He was accompanied by Henri Bonnet, the French Ambassador to Washington, who interpreted for him in talking to reporters. Their meeting with Mr. Truman, they said, was "on the most friendly and cordial plane and afforded the President a welcome opportunity to emphasize the bonds of friendship and mutual interest between the two countries."

It also marked another of Mr. Truman's diplomatic and military talks in praparation for a big three meeting. The President is overlooking no bet in regarding himself for his first session with Prime Minister Churchill and Marshal Stalin.

Where and when this meeting will take place remains for future negotiations. Now that the war in Europe is over some American officials believe Stalin might be persuaded to leave his home soil for the all-embracing peace talks.

The Statement on France

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The White House statement on the President's desire to meet with Gen. Charles de Gaulle and discuss France's participation in the settlement of international questions follows:

Statement by the President.

The President had the pleasure today of conversing with the French Foreign Minister, M. Bidault, upon his arrival from San Francisco and of discussing with him a number of problems of primary interest to France and the United States.

The President took the occasion at the outset to express the gratification of the entire American delegation at San Francisco for M. Bidault's cooperation and helpfulness and for the important and continuing contribution of the French delegation to the work of the conference.

The President made it abundantly clear that the American people and the American Government realize that the French nation has emerged with renewed strength and vigor from the catastrophe which it suffered and that it has demonstrated its determination and its ability to resume its rightful and eminent place among the nations which will share the largest measure of responsibility in maintaining the future peace of Europe and the world.

He expressed his desire to meet General de Gaulle and indicated that there was a full appreciation by the United States Government of the part which France could and should play in the settlement of questions of world and European interest.

In this connection, the President indicated that the United States was moved by the strongest ties of friendship, dating back to the founding of this nation. A strong France represents a gain to the world. As a consequence, the people of the United States have accepted reductions in their requirements of certain essential food items in order to permit increased shipments to the liberated countries of Europe, including France, where they are so urgently needed.

Also the Government of the United States has taken extraordinary measures, despite American shortages of essential supplies and shipping, to arrange priorities for French procurement of such supplies and to provide shipping for their transportation to France. The people and Government of the United States will continue to take such measures as will lie within their power to facilitate the recovery of France and of her people.

The President confirmed to M. Bidault this Government's complete willingness to relinquish to France a part of the American zone of occupation in Germany. Details have already been conveyed informally to the French Government and are now in the process of being formalized.

The President emphasized that we are faced with a still strong and deadly enemy in the Far East to whose defeat the total resources of this country, both in manpower and material, are pledged. He indicated that such assistance as France and our other allies might bring to that struggle and which might be synchronized with operations already planned or under way, would be welcomed.

The discussion was on the most friendly and cordial plane and afforded the President a welcome opportunity to emphasize the bonds of friendship and mutual interest between the two countries.

Pacific Airmen Take Heavier Toll

Washington, May 18 (A. P.).—The victory ratio of Navy and Marine aviators against Japanese aircraft is still climbing.

During the three months ending March 31, Navy and Marine aviators destroyed at least 1,782 Japanese aircraft while losing only 188, the Navy said today. The three months record brought the tally for the entire war to 11,601 to 2,070, a favorable score of 5.6 to one. As of January 1 the ratio was 5.2 to one.

Maben Named to Greek UNRRA.

Washington, May 18 (A. P.).—Appointment of Buell Maben of San Francisco as chief of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration's mission in Greece was announced today. He has been acting chief of the mission since the resignation of Laird Archer last March.

War Department Lists Amputation Cases

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The War Department today reported that 11,000 amputation cases had been treated in army hospitals in the United States up to May 1.

Approximately five per cent of the soldier patients have lost more than one limb, but none has completely lost both arms and legs. Six have lost three limbs and one lost part of four limbs as a result of freezing after an airplane crash.

Of the 11,000, approximately 4,000 have been discharged. Some expressed a desire to stay in service and have been assigned to help in the training of others who have been operated on.

WARSHIP NAMED ISBELL

Destroyer Will Be Christened in Honor of Hero on Franklin

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP)—The name Arnold J. Isbell has been assigned to a destroyer under construction at the Bethlehem Steel Company yards on Staten Island, N. Y. The Navy said today it is being named in honor of the late Captain Isbell, killed aboard the aircraft carrier Franklin.

Captain Isbell's widow of Washington, D. C., was designated by Secertary Forrestal to christen the vessel, which is tentatively scheduled to be launched Aug. 6.

Captain Isbell formerly was commanding officer of the escort carrier Card when she and her task groups received the Presidential citation for anti-submarine action in the Atlantic.

D. S. M. IS AWARDED TO COL. MARCUS

Washington, May 18 (A. P.).—The Distinguished Service Medal has been awarded to Col. David Marcus, who helped negotiate the surrenders of Italy and Germany, the War Department announced today.

Col. Marcus, chief of the Government branch and chief planner in the Civil Affairs Division of the War Department, formerly was Commissioner of Correction in charge of New York city prisons from 1935 to 1940.

The citation said that in addition to helping arrange the surrenders and drafting the surrender agreements he also had recommended and put into effect "important modifications of policies and procedures" concerning military government in the occupied areas.

"His efforts in every case contributed to the successes attained by the Civil Affairs Division," the citation added.

A graduate of West Point in 1924, Col. Marcus had been an Assistant United States Attorney prior to 1935. His wife lives at 1153 East 18th street, Brooklyn.

BONUS TO SOLDIERS WHO STAY ASKED

Washington, May 18 (A. P.).—Representative Starkey (D.-Minn.) today proposed a 50 per cent pay bonus for fighting men eligible for discharge but kept in the war.

The Army, recently announced a point system to ascertain those eligible for discharge but said that some would be retained even though they had the required 85 score.

Mr. Starkey's legislation would add 50 per cent to the base pay of such men, dating from the time they become eligible. It also would give the same pay hike to those who stay in uniform at their own request.

Although the Navy, Coast Guard and Marine Corps did not adopt the point system, the Starkey measure would permit members of those services to "borrow" the point card and apply it to themselves for pay increase purposes only.

Army veterans abroad who are eligible for discharge are being told about the War Manpower Commission's apprentice training program before they embark for home.

The program provides for on-the-job training in skilled trades, together with four hours of schooling a week.

Anzac-Indian Food for Yanks

Washington, May 18 (A. P.).—Australia, New Zealand and India have provided United States armed forces with 3,159,238,000 pounds of food as reverse lend-lease, Leo T. Crowley, Foreign Economic Administrator, reported today. He said that this food had a value of $283,767,000.

Mr. Crowley's report covered the period from March, 1941, to December 31, 1944. He said that additional thousands of tons of food had been provided under reverse lend-lease so far this year.

He said that meat, from the standpoint of volume, was the most important food received under reverse lend-lease. Through December Australia had turned over 318,544,000 pounds of meat, New Zealand 317,460,000 pounds and India 31,231,000 pounds. Beef and veal received under reverse lend-lease equaled three-fourths of the beef and veal furnished to all countries under lend-lease, Mr. Crowley said.

Truman Waits for G. I. He Wishes to Eulogize

His Congress Speech Depends on Sergeant's Arrival

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP).—Whether President Truman will address a joint session of Congress Monday depends on an Army sergeant.

The address, when made, will honor the 100th G. I. to win the Congressional Medal of Honor: Sergeant Jake Lindsey, twenty-four years old, of Lucedale, Miss.

Last night the White House said the speech would be made Monday, but Charles G. Ross, press secretary, said today final arrangements are incomplete. He didn't know whether it would be broadcast.

Apparently, the uncertainty is due to Sergeant Lindsey's timetable: The Army is flying him home, and if he gets here in time for Monday's speech it will be made. If not President Truman, the Commander in Chief, will wait on the sergeant.

Sergeant Lindsey will receive the medal for holding a five-man platoon against a German infantry company in action near Hamich, Germany.

TERMS CARTELS TRADE BURDENS

Biddle Aid Asserts Foreign Policy Is Weakened.

Washington, May 18 (A. P.).—Cartels have "seriously weakened" and "frustrated" America's foreign policy, Assistant Attorney-General Wendell Berge told Senators today. As chief of the Justice Department's anti-trust division, he urged passage of a bill requiring firms to file all foreign trade contracts for public scrutiny.

Cartels arrangements by which industry grants certain concessions in exchange for spheres of influence result in price fixing, market allocation and other "restrictive" practices, he said.

"Internationally, our foreign policy has in many respects been frustrated," Berge testified before a joint session of a Senate judiciary subcommittee and a special committee investigating oil industry practices.

"The Good Neighbor policy which is supposed to govern our relations with Latin America, the reciprocal trades treaties, our alien property policy, and other basic principles of America's conduct of foreign affairs have in many instances been seriously weakened by the interference of cartel activities.

"Indeed, it is difficult to see how our future policies, for example the Atlantic Charter, can be executed successfully, if the dispositions made by cartels continue into the post-war world.

"Of what effect will a peace treaty be which makes certain raw materials available on terms of equal access when secret cartel agreements make other disposition?" he said. "We must not permit cartels to undermine this very basic principle."

Berge asserted that Congress, when it passed the Sherman anti-trust laws fifty-four years ago, showed by its debate at that time it intended to include foreign commerce.

"I do not believe," he said, "that the foreign and domestic commerce of this country can be treated as though they existed in separate compartments. If our foreign commerce becomes cartelized, then we will have domestic monopolies."

BAN IS LIFTED FOR EUROPEAN MILITARY NEWS

Office of Censorship Eases Code for Press and Radio Operations.

PRICE CAN'T CONTROL SOURCE

Director Explains That Commander on Spot Has Responsibility for His Own Area.

Washington, May 18 (A. P.).—The Office of Censorship, redeploying its efforts exclusively to the Pacific war, today lifted most of its bans on military news of Europe. It issued a new combined press-radio code defining the Pacific Asiatic theater of operations, removing Europe from such a theater and making a score of deletions from the present code.

Director Byron Price, explaining the relaxations in the new code, summed up his views in this way:

"There are those, I believe, who think the code should continue in full force in Europe in connection with the policing of the peace. I happen to be one of those who take the opposite view. Censorship was provided for by Congress and has been endured by the people for the sole purpose of winning the war—and the only war we are now engaged in is with Japan."

Political Censorship.

He was asked at a news conference about statements that there is political censorship of news in Europe. His reply to this was:

"I don't see how a civilian agency (the Office of Censorship) in this country can change the policies of a military agency in Europe. The commanding officer has got to control his area. Also, it would be wholly inoperable for us to try to determine something happening thousands of miles away."

What the new code does is to remove specifically about a score of restrictions concerning the publication of news about military movements of troops and high officials in Europe and lower other bars against domestic news relating to such items as production. Here are some changes in the new code.

The former separate codes for press and radio are consolidated and the previous restraints on foreign language broadcasts and quizz programs eliminated.

All weather information is publishable.

The ban on sabotage news is removed, as is the section covering air raids.

Troop Movements Reportable.

Troop movements, except those alerted for transfer to the Pacific, can be reported. This modification also applies to troops in Europe coming to the United States before going to the Pacific, but continues, of course, the restrictions regarding units headed immediately for the Far East.

Soldiers can be identified as members of particular military units, except those in or going directly to the Pacific.

The number or character of ships under construction can be reported and advance information on the dates of launching or commissioning of merchant ships—but not naval vessels—given. The safeguards against either naval or merchant ship movements or their sinking from war causes,h owever, is continued.

Movement of diplomatic exchange ships (for internees and war prisoners) can be reported.

The restrictions on movements of aircraft, except those in or bound for the Pacific-Asiatic theater, is lifted.

Production Statistics.

Also publishable is information regarding rate of production for war goods, information on exports and imports and on stockpiles of strategic materials. The new code, however, continues the restriction on news of new or secret weapons, or the identity of plants making them. (In this connection, Price urged that press and radio consult with his office when uncertain about the definition of secret weapons.)

Information on prisoners of war, except Japanese, and enemy aliens henceforth is usable, as is the location of hidden art treasures. News stores regarding the travels of the President reverts to the status of pre-war days, with the long-standing request that no specific information on exact time of arrival or departures or precise routes be given.

The movements of diplomatic officials can be reported. Movements of ranking Naval or Army officials outside the Pacific-Asiatic area may be reported, though Price explained that care should be taken in referring to certain men whose work is so specialized that reports of their travels could be valuable clews for the enemy.

The restrictions on publication of photographs and maps are lifted in accordance with the removal of sections covering news.

Definition of Theater.

The Pacific-Asiatic theater of operations is defined as follows:

The Far Eastern combat zone, including the southwestern Alaskan peninsula, the land and water areas of the entire Pacific Ocean, except the coastal waters of South America, and extending westward on land and sea to and including Aden, Cape Town and the east coast of Africa.

The new code will be sent to editors and broadcasters in printed form next week.

SENATE APPROVES FEDERAL PAY RISE

Washington, May 18 (A. P.).—The Senate approved by voice vote late yesterday legislation extending to a million and a half Federal workers pay increases estimated to cost nearly $500,000,000 annually.

The measure, which now goes to the House, provides for an average raise of about 16 per cent, with greater increases for lower-salaried workers. The War Labor Board has approved the increases as being within the stabilization policy.

The legislation would raise overtime compensation to some extent but to a rate still less than the time and a half general in industry. The proposed change in basic pay rates for classified employees is the first since 1930.

A night differential of 10 per cent also would be provided under the legislation.

Relaxing Of U.S. Bans Sought In House Probe

Washington, May 18 (AP)—An immediate canvass of all Government controls, to see where and when they can be removed, began today in the House Postwar Committee.

Involved are such emergency regulations as rationing, credit restrictions and manufacturing priorities.

"We want to get back to a free economy in this country just as soon as war conditions will permit," Committee Chairman Colmer (D., Miss.) said. He hinted that some home-front easing off may be possible without hampering the Pacific war.

Open Hearings Slated

Colmer said the committee, in a few days, will hold open hearings to question the heads of all Government agencies now administering wartime controls of raw materials, manufacturing and construction, wages and finance.

The committee is gathering background information on priorities, distribution allocations and other Government restrictions, he said.

Involved will be such emergency agencies as the War Production Board, OPA, War Food Administration, War Labor Board, Office of Economic Stabilization and a number of Government financial subsidiaries.

Inflation Controls Stressed

The first relaxation probably should come on manufacturing and construction, Colmer said, to help maintain steady employment through conversion from a two-front to a one-front war.

"Controls on inflation must be maintained," the chairman asserted, "until all dangers to our economy have been erased." Checks will have to remain on unrestricted spending until production reaches a standard of living to hold prices in normal restraint, he explained. Other committee members expressed belief that wage controls probably should be among the last to go.

"We are going into the whole field of Government controls, and we are going into it thoroughly," Colmer continued.

Won't Hinder Military

"Of course, we are keeping in mind that Japan must be whipped, and if controls are needed to beat the Japs, then they'll stay.

"We're not going to do anything to interfere with the military."

But, Colmer added, military needs will be taken into consideration to see to what extent they justify continued civilian restrictions.

REPORTER FACES CONTEMPT CHARGE

MAY 19 1945

House Group Starts Action After Newsman Refuses to Supply Names.

WASHINGTON, May 18—(AP) A Congressional committee instituted contempt proceedings today against Albert Deutsch, 39, New York newspaperman, for refusing to identify confidential sources of information.

The action, by the House Veterans committee, may put the House on record for the first time on the question whether a reporter may be punished for refusing to violate a confidence placed in him by a news source.

Refused to Give Nams

Deutsch refused to tell the committee, investigating the Veterans' Administration, the names of "about five" Veterans Administration officials he said had given him information used in a series of articles he wrote for the newspaper PM. The articles criticized the Veterans Administration's medical program.

He said he could not identify the five because they gave him information with the understanding he would not use their names.

"I shall not violate that confidence," he said when Chairman Rankin (D-Miss) asked him to identify the five.

Deutsch said he considered himself "bound by my own personal integrity and professional ethics."

Told by Rankin that the oath he took as a witness was superior to "journalistic ethics," Deutsch replied firmly:

"I stand on the freedom of the press."

"There is no freedom of the press that permits a man to go in and gather information that is destructive to the public welfare and spread it before the public," Rankin retorted.

Insists Stories Constructive

Deutsch insisted his news articles were constructive. Only a small part of the information on which they were based, he told the committee, came from administration employes, most of it having come from conferences with medical men and from a first-hand investigation of Veterans' facilities.

When Deutsch refused to budge, the committee went into executive session and voted, reportedly 11 to 9, not to cite him for contempt. It then reopened the session, recalled Deutsch and again Rankin asked him for the names.

Again Deutsch refused to reveal them and the committee went back into closed session and decided on the contempt proceedings by a vote of 13 to 5.

CHINA REPORTS 'GOLD SCANDAL'

MAY 19 1945

Several Facing Impeachment Action After Buying Wave

Washington, May 18 (AP)—At least two Chungking banking officials, and possibly eighteen more, face impeachment proceedings in connection with China's multi-million-dollar "gold scandal," Chinese press reports said today.

News of the speculative buying wave which hit the Chungking gold market March 28, involving some gold loaned by the United States, is just coming to light here through tight censorship which the Chinese applied on export of the story.

Just before he left Washington last night to return to the San Francisco conference, China's Foreign Minister, T. V. Soong, authorized a statement that the guilty persons behind any dirty leak which caused the speculative wave will be punished drastically.

News Out Prematurely

An investigation which he ordered before he left Chungking is still in progress, it was learned, and he declined to comment further before he gets full details of what it discloses.

News leaked out prematurely that the official price of gold was to be raised from 20,000 Chinese dollars to 35,000 per ounce. Quick fortunes were made by those who got wind of the rise in time to buy gold at the old price.

Today it was learned here that a Chungking business daily, the Shang Wu Jih Pao, reported on April 25 that the control Yuan had instituted impeachment proceedings following an investigation.

Office Hours Extended

The paper said that the Central Bank of China, its subsidiary Central Trust, the Bank of Communications and the Bureau of Postal Savings and Remittance all extended their office hours on March 28 from 5 to 9 P.M. to facilitate gold transactions.

This extension could not have been ordered by underlings, said the paper, and must have involved the consent of several higher officers. It said some such officers "have been put under the category of impeachment."

It hinted that more than twenty persons were involved in the case and said the Chinese public "anxiously expected" that the court would question the important personages and those who presented transfer vouchers at the banks and bureaus on March 28.

Black-Market Deals Rise

Some of the gold involved was flown into China by American planes as part of a loan to enable the Chinese Government to stabilize its inflated currency by buying up surplus notes in circulation.

Speculation precipitated by the leak at least doubled a normal day's business, and black-market gold transactions leaped sympathetically in volume and price.

Although the news had not previously reached the outside world through Chinese censorship, it became widely known in China after T. V. Soong urged Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to order an investigation and a subsequent preliminary report disclosed the immense profits made in a few hours by insiders and speculators.

With apparent unanimity, the Chinese press, including papers usually sympathetic to the Government, took the disclosures as evidence of corruption among officials, and both Communist and Conservative papers labeled the affair as a disgrace to the nation.

Scandal In U.S.-Loaned Gold In China Revealed

Washington, May 18 (AP)—Details of a multi-million-dollar Chungking "gold scandal" involving yellow metal loaned by this country are coming to light here, despite a tight Chinese censorship.

The scandal stemmed from premature leak of a Chinese Government decision in March to raise the official price of gold, thus permitting Chungking speculators to make fantastic profits in a few hours.

Dr. T. V. Soong, Chinese Foreign Minister, took note of the incident late yesterday by authorizing the statement that drastic punishment awaits those involved.

No Further Comment

Soong declined further comment, however, explaining he has not yet learned the results of an investigation he ordered just before leaving Chungking last month for Washington and the San Francisco United Nations Conference.

But from his office here it was learned that:

On March 28 the official price of gold in China was raised from 20,000 Chinese dollars an ounce to 35,000 dollars. (The American price is $35 an ounce.)

Because information of the impending increase leaked, speculators and "insiders" made a financial killing by acquiring gold at the old price. The buying wave was said to have at least doubled a normal day's transactions in the metal.

Some Flown From U.S.

Some of the gold involved had been flown to China as part of a $500,000,000 loan to help stabilize China's inflated currency. The Government regularly sold this gold to retire some of the surplus currency notes inflating the money market.

However, black-market gold also responded with a rise in price, and fortunes were made and lost in a few hours.

Soong urged Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek to order an investigation, and it was a preliminary report of an inquiry by the Chinese Ministry of Finance that broke the story in China. It has been widely publicized there, but censorship on outgoing news kept the details from this country for weeks.

Senior Officers Blamed

One Chinese paper, the liberal Hsin Min Wan Pao, charged that "a few senior officers" of one Government organization made 45,000,000 Chinese dollars on 3,000 ounces of gold "in the twinkling of an eye."

The Communist paper, Hsin Hua Jih Pao, demanded to know who learned of the price rise, and what their punishment would be.

"To wind up the case ambiguously," said the paper, "will not only give rise to a protest from the Chinese common people but also from the Allied friends whose sweat and blood have made possible the transportation of gold into China by flying it in over the hump."

Hours Extension Charged

The Ta Kung Pao, normally a strong supporter of the Chungking Government, took a similar line. It contended that various banks and Government bureaus extended their office hours on March 28 to facilitate the sale of gold deposit notes, adding:

"This loan of gold has been given by our friendly ally, with much good will, for the purpose of deflating our currency and stabilizing our commodity prices. But once it has arrived in Chungking it is sold by official quotation and the black market and speculation immediately follows."

KUHN IS ORDERED BACK TO GERMANY

MAY 19 1945

WASHINGTON, May 18 (AP) An order deporting Fritz Kuhn, former German-American bund leader, back to now-conquered Germany was announced today by the Justice department.

For the 49-year-old Kuhn the order opened no prospect for renewing his activities. He has been under detention in this country as a "trouble maker" and officials said that on his arrival in Germany he will be dealt with as the U. S. Army sees fit.

The ouster was ordered by the Board of Immigration Appeals who classified him as an undesirable alien. It was the result of a series of legal proceedings involving his conviction in 1939 of larceny of bund funds and a denaturalization action taken by the government in 1942.

Admitted to the United States for permanent residence in 1928, Kuhn became a naturalized citizen in 1934. Eight years later he was denaturalized because, the government said, he had obtained his citizenship fraudulently by taking the oath of allegiance with mental reservations.

Kuhn received a two and one-half to five year sentence on the larceny and forgery charges. Paroled from prison he was taken into custody as an enemy alien and on July 8, 1943, was sent to Crystal City, Texas. In February, 1944, he was transferred to Kenedy, Texas, and in August of the same year was moved to Fort Stanton, New Mexico, where he and a number of other aliens described "trouble-makers" occupy a special stockade.

S.S. Franklin Back Home, Crippled But Unbeaten

Washington, May 18 (AP)—The aircraft carrier Franklin, which miraculously survived one of the severest ordeals of this or any war, is home.

She came home, sadly crippled but under her own power, her charred and battered hull manned by a skeleton crew of survivors. Now undergoing repairs at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, she will resume her place in the war against Japan.

Until now, Japanese radio propagandists never knew how close they came to being right when they boasted that the 27,000-ton vessel of the Essex class had been sunk. Without the incredible stamina and strength built into her and without the superhuman courage of her personnel, their claim might easily have been true.

832 Killed, Missing

As it was, the carrier suffered 832 men killed and missing and 270 wounded—more than one third the total complement—in blazing, agonizing hours.

Chance played into the hands of the lone enemy dive bomber that streaked suddenly out of the clouds within 60 miles of the Japanese coast on the morning of March 19 and dropped two 500-pound armor piercing bombs.

Released from low altitude, both scored direct hits. One exploded beneath the flight deck, on which armed planes were ready for take-off. The other went off on the hangar deck, where other planes, fueled and armed, were waiting to be taken to the flight deck.

Plane Shot Down

The attacking plane was shot down a moment later, but the bombs, exploding where they did, started a train of fires and explosions which for hours were to rend and torture the vessel.

The ship was operating as part of a fast carrier task force in the strike against remnants of the Japanese fleet in Japan's Inland Sea, Nippon's "private lake."

Explosion after explosion followed the initial blasts. Large bombs exploded and hurled men and planes the length of the ship. Smaller bombs, rockets and machine gun ammunition killed dozens who had survived the major explosions. Spreading fires fed by thousands of gallons of high test aviation gasoline added fury to the holocaust.

MAY 19 1945

A Mass Of Flames

The whole after end of the vessel's flight deck became a mass of flame and smoke. Airplanes disintegrated, and torrents of burning gasoline streaked across her decks. Bombs, rockets and bullets exploded all around, and splinters of wood and steel rained on survivors hugging the deck.

But, without panic, those who miraculously had escaped death or injury and the slightly injured moved in to fight the fires. Volunteers, including pilots, mechanics, officers and stewards, took over the job of regularly assigned damage control parties who had been killed or trapped by flames.

Among those especially cited by the Navy's account was the ship's chaplain, Lieut. Com. Joseph O'Callahan, of Boston, whose actions brought from one of the ship's senior officers: "He was the bravest man I ever saw."

The lean, scholarly Jesuit first moved around the burning, slanting and exposed flight deck administering last rites to the dying. Then he led officers and men into the flames, risking momentary death, to jettison hot bombs and shells. Then he recruited a damage control party and led it into one of the main ammunition magazines to wet it down and prevent its exploding.

Below decks, several hundred men were at breakfast when the explosions came, blocking all apparent exits with smoke, flame and smashed bulkheads. In the group was Lieut. Com. James L. Fuelling, the ship's flight surgeon, of Indianapolis.

"Everybody sit down," he ordered. "We're trapped here for the time being. Stay calm and be quiet. Use as little air as possible. Stay close to the deck and say a prayer."

Lieut. Donald A. Gary, Oakland, Cal., after promising to return, groped his way out of the compartment and found a circuitous escape route through ventilation tubing. He returned time after time, leading the survivors to safety. All but one of the trapped men were saved.

Men Fight As Others Die

While survivors were battling to keep the ship afloat, men still were dying in continuing explosions. Some were trapped, others leaped overboard to escape what seemed certain death. Others stayed at the undamaged guns to beat off repeated attacks by waves of enemy planes. No more hits were scored on the crippled ship.

A few hours after the first attack, the light cruiser Santa Fe came alongside to remove the wounded. These operations were interrupted, however, when one of the carrier's forward five-inch gun mounts caught fire and threatened to explode.

Later, after the cruiser's mercy mission had been completed, survivors of the carrier's air group were ordered to leave the ship. Early in the afternoon, after the fires were under control, the Franklin was taken in tow by the heavy cruiser Pittsburgh.

Patrol Overhead

Overhead, fighters flew a constant patrol. By the next morning one of the carrier's fire rooms had resumed operations and her severe list had been corrected. During the day, more power was recovered and the carrier worked up a speed of 23 knots under her own power. On the second day after the attack, 300 of her men were brought back aboard from other vessels which had picked them up, and she headed for home.

The Franklin, built by the Newport News (Va.) Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, was launched October 14, 1943, and commissioned January 31, 1944.

The Inland Sea action was the second in which the Franklin suffered damages requiring her return to the States. Last October 14, anniversary of her christening by Capt. Mildred McAfee, WAVE director, she was attacked by four Japanese torpedo planes while participating in a two-day strike at Formosa.

She escaped major damage then, but a few days later, at the battle for Leyte Gulf, she took a direct hit on the flight deck. That damage necessitated a return to the Puget Sound (Wash.) navy yard for repairs. She had just returned to action when the latest attack occurred.

MAY 19 1945

Officer Says Jeeps Aided On Franklin

New York, May 18 (AP)—Commander Henry H. Hale, of Gary, Ind., air officer of the damaged carrier Franklin, told today how four jeeps that miraculously escaped damage when Jap bombs struck the vessel aided in cleaning up wreckage and helping the ship limp 13,400 miles to New York.

"Through some freak these jeeps were undamaged although wreckage of planes and equipment were all over them," he said.

The jeeps were used to haul debris from the decks, carry supplies around the three-block-long ship and to furnish transportation for officers and men.

From Spam To Spam

Hale related that a plane was blown upside down by the blast. He said he learned later that its pilot had escaped unscathed.

"The only food locker we could open for a while held nothing but Spam," he continued. "We got awfully tired of Spam. Then we found one full of steaks. We ate so many steaks we got tired of them and wished we had more Spam."

Hale was up forward launching planes when the bombs struck the ship. After that he aided fire-fighting parties and helped remove wounded.

FRANKLIN CASUALTIES INCREASE TO 1,102

NEW YORK, May 18—(AP) The Navy announced today that 3[illegible] men died and 447 are missing—a total of 832 probable fatalities—in the bombing of the carrier Franklin by a Jap plane.

With 270 wounded—90 seriously—the total casualties stood at 1,102.

Previous Navy reports listed 341 dead, 431 missing and more than 300 wounded.

Letter From Sister Hero's Reward

New York, May 18 (AP)—Lieut. Com. Joseph Timothy O'Callahan, of Cambridge, Mass., the chaplain praised by his skipper as "the bravest man I've ever known," says he needs no reward for his role on the burning aircraft carrier Franklin.

The former Holy Cross mathematics teacher says he received all the reward he wanted during a brief stop at Pearl Harbor on the Franklin's long trip to the New York navy yard.

MAY 19 1945

"My sister, a nun in the Maryknol order, had been liberated from Santo Tomas prison camp in the Philippines, and I had a letter from her," he said.

The lieutenant commander, believed to be the first Jesuit to enlist in the Navy, directed rescue work aboard the stricken carrier as well as giving spiritual comfort to the wounded and dying. The Franklin's commander, Capt. Leslie E. Gehres, has recommended him for the Congressional Medal of Honor.

New Program Revealed To Ease Meat Shortage

MAY 19 1945

Government Gives Cattle Producers Guarantee Against Ceiling Price Cuts; Subsidies to Packers Boosted; Feeders to Receive Aid.

WASHINGTON, May 18.—(AP) The government gave cattle producers a guarantee tonight against ceiling price cuts, and at the same time set up a brand-new subsidy to feeders, in a general attack on the meat shortage.

Subsidies to packers of both beef and pork also were boosted.

The order, from Fred M. Vinson, War Mobilization director, provided for a bookkeeping record on cattle from the range to the butcher's block, to beat the black market.

Announcement of the program follows a clamor on Capitol Hill and elsewhere against existing regulations which critics contended were fostering maldistribution and illicit dealings in meats.

Truman Orders Action

President Truman was reported to have ordered Vinson to step in and straighten things out. Investigating committees of both Houses of Congress have complained of the current administrative policies, the Senate group has urged appointment of a food "czar" to take over the whole matter, after an extensive inquiry which centered on meat.

Principal emphasis in the new program was laid on the problems of the feeder—the man who takes range cattle and grain-feeds them to higher weight and grade. Cattlemen have complained that he is the "forgotten man" of the meat program, squeezed between the cost of range stock and what the packers can pay.

The price guarantee—assurance that there will be no cuts in ceilings or stabilization ranges without six months notice—and a special new subsidy of 50 cents a hundredweight directly to him, were Vinson's answers.

Plan Equitable Distribution

The program also covered plans for more equitable distribution of meat over the country, possibly extending to requirements that more or less meat, as the situation demands, be sent to certain areas and certain outlets.

The plan includes:

1. No downward revision in "overriding ceiling prices" or in the maximum of the stabilization ranges for beef cattle, except bulls, without at least 6 months advanced notice to producers.

2. Effective May 19, 1945, the Commodity Credit Corporation will pay a subsidy of 50 cents per hundred pounds to the seller of AA and A grade cattle marketed for slaughter (sold for $14.25 or more per hundred pounds, Chicago basis) weighing 800 pounds or more which have been owned by the seller 30 days or more.

Increase Pork Subsidy

3. The Defense Supplies Corporation will increase the pork subsidy payment 40 cents per live hundredweight, retroactive to April 1, 1945.

4. Subsidy payments on all grades of cattle will be increased by the defense supplies corporation 25 cents per live hundredweight, effective June 4, 1945.

The new subsidy rates will be as follows:

Grade AA $3 per hundred weight; grade A $2.95; grade B $1.90, and all other grades $1.25.

5. Set-aside orders for government purchases of meat will be adjusted by the War Food Administration so that a greater proportion of the government requirements will be drawn from those federally-inspected plants which are slaughtering more than their normal proportion of the total slaughter.

6. As a measure to combat black market operations, the OPA and WFA will "develop a plan by June 15 to show the movement of all livestock through public stockyards and public sales yards, so that information as to the destination of all such livestock will be available."

The feeder subsidy is expected to cost between $35,000,000 and $40,000,000 a year. It will be paid through local AAA farmer committees on the basis of feeders' sales receipts.

The new meat distribution program may involve increased government control over sales by individual packers and slaughterers. In order to remedy undue shortages in specific cities or individual stores, the government may direct packers to ship supplies to such storage-affected outlets. At present, the government is exercising no control over sales of the civilian portion of a slaughterer's output.

Vinson said the program was based on recommendations of the OPA and developed in discussions with representatives of the Office of Economic Stabilization, OPA, WFA, the Army, and the Defense Supplies Corporation. Recommendations of Senate and House committees investigating the food situation also were carefully considered, he said.

"While the new program is expected to improve distribution and to make more meat available in areas of the country where relative shortages have been most pronounced," the Vinson announcement said, "it will take some time for the effects of the program to be felt.

it was estimated that the shells would have weighed 120 pounds, with a 40-pound explosive war-head. The shells were to be carried to the site on a standard gauge railway built into the hills through a solid concrete tunnel 700 yards long, 30 feet high and 25 feet wide.

The whole installation, covering several acres, was protected by 18-feet concrete armor which, if it had been completed, would have been invulnerable to any known bomb.

Parts had been assembled for the construction of elevators. Outside the entrance was a 4,000 kilowatt electric generator, also enclosed in thick concrete.

The launching site, constructed by the Todt organization with slave labor, was only one of several large-scale sites under construction along the French coast. Others were at Wizernes, Watten, Lottinghem, Siracourt, Sottevaast, Martinvaast and on the Cherbourg peninsula.

Conditions To Prevent Travel In Europe Soon

New York, May 18 (AP)—A shortage of shipping and chaotic conditions in Europe will prevent tourist traffic for a long time to come, shipping representatives said today. Lack of food and housing will prohibit visits to the ruins of bombed out cities.

However, business men now are allowed to visit England, France and Switzerland. Freighters with a limited number of cabins—usually twelve—and planes already are transporting people the State Department considers business men.

The Maritime Commission recently turned over to the United States Lines three transports of the P-2 type, and these now are being converted into passenger liners.

Long-Range Rocket Guns Nazis' V-3 Secret Weapon

NEW YORK, May 18.—(AP) Batteries of long-range guns, capable of hurling rocket shells 100 miles, to rain down on London at the rate of 600 an hour; that was Germany's third secret weapon.

Prime Minister Churchill in his May 13 address, referred briefly to the V-3, calling it "multiple long-range artillery." If the weapon had been used, he said, it would have left "London as shattered as Berlin." The Allies blasted "the viper in his nest."

The discovery of the weapon and details of both its construction and destruction were contained in a report made available here today by the British Information service.

The diabolical instrument, designed to pour unrelenting death on men, women and children, was called "vergeltungswaffe-drei."

The launching site of the V-3 was discovered "only just in time," at Mimoyecques, near Calais. The British Information service, said the guns were 50 smooth-bore barrels, each 400 feet long and sunk into the hills at an angle of 55 degrees.

The guns had been arranged in two batteries of 25 each, trained on London, 95 miles away.

No ammunition was found, but

General Motors Named In $200,000 Libel Suit

New York, May 18 (AP)—A libel suit for $200,000 was filed in United States District Court yesterday against General Motors Company by the Watts-Wagner Company, Inc., manufacturers of a chemical fluid it says is designed to prolong the life of storage batteries.

The complaint claimed that General Motors publicly discouraged the use of such fluid in order to sell more storage batteries.

ROSENWALD AWARDS

Chicago, May 17 (A. P.).—The award of forty-six fellowships for 1945, worth a total of $83,500, was announced today by the Julius Rosenwald Fund, established in 1917 for the well-being of mankind.

The fellows are twenty-nine Negroes, fifteen white Southerners and two persons in the field of race relations, a new category opened to northern candidates this year. A chief interest of the fund has been greater opportunities for Negroes and improving rural education in the South.

This year's fellows include Dean Dixon, young New York conductor, who will devote his fellowship to developing his American Youth Orchestra, organized a year ago, into a major symphonic institution.

Bucklin Moon of New York, and John Harrison Beckler Jr., of St. Louis, were awarded the two new fellowships for race relations work. Moon, an associate editor with Doubleday Doran, will write a novel on Negro-white relationships in the South during the war years.

Other fellowship winners include:

Alice Elizabeth Catlett, George Washington Carver School, New York; Frances Leo Chandler, 520 Quincy street, Brooklyn; Ralph Waldo Ellison, 306 West 141st street, New York; Elizabeth Bruce Hardwick, 57 West 45th street, New York; Robert Harris, 237 Bleecker street, New York; Winifred Mason, 131 West Third street, New York; Mynor Preston Payne, Belleville, N. J.; Lawrence D. Reddick, College of the City of New York; Charles Everett Sebree, 235 Sullivan street, Brooklyn, and Kenneth Lee Spencer, 409 Edgecombe avenue, New York.

CUBAN'S CHARGES OF DICTATORSHIP STIR CONFERENCE

Violent Dispute Flares Between Delegates of Big, Small Nations.

VANDENBERG IN CLASH

Says Contribution of Big Powers to Victory Was More Than Just Words.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18—(AP) Delegates reported tonight that a fiery Cuban, speaking in a United Nations conference committee, had accused big nations of wanting to set up a "collective dictatorship" over the world.

In the most violent dispute yet witnessed by the conference, delegates said Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) called for other nations to entrust the great powers with "the same confidence and faith" in peace that they have in war.

It was another flare-up of controversies that have been sputtering between big and small nations at this conference called to build an organization to insure peace.

Touches Off Fireworks

Delegates said Francisco Aguirre of Cuba touched off the fireworks in a committee considering powers of a proposed all-nation general assembly. It was discussing specifically whether the assembly should have the right to "make recommendations in respect of any matters affecting international relations." The vote was 42 to 0 for that authority.

This is how the scrap developed, as reported by delegates who attend the closed door meeting:

Aguirre asserted that the big four countries sponsoring the conference—China, Britain, the United States and Russia—want "collective dictatorship, that the same totalitarian doctrine most of the world has been fighting seems to be the inspiration behind a new world league." Then he added:

"They want to put free countries under a new system of tutelage."

"We have won the war and should build the peace along the same ideals," delegates quoted Aguirre as saying.

Vandenberg Steps In

Then, according to other delegates present, Vandenberg stepped in. The Michigan Senator said he agreed "entirely with my able friend—that we have won the war—and that means the United Nations."

But, Vandenberg continued, "the contribution by big powers was more than just words. It was substantial and cannot be forgotten.

He remarked that the large nations had the faith and confidence of the rest of the world when they were winning battles.

"Why is it now that we are trying to win the peace that they don't have the same confidence and faith?"

Vandenberg said he thought the assembly had sufficient powers to discuss anything except questions under study by the Security council. He considered this limitation necessary to the council's ability to maintain peace.

At this point, Committee Chairman Victor Andrade of Bolivia broke in to say the discussion was getting off the point.

Andrade added, however, that while he represented a small country he felt that in comparison with the way the covenant of the League of Nations was written, democracy and liberty have advanced. Now, he said, the representatives of smaller nations are allowed to make suggestions and argue about the charter.

The conference's policy-making executive committee talked over ways of accelerating the drafting of a world charter and received, but three countries.

Mexico asked for representation of men and women under equal conditions as delegates of their nations in the general assembly. A conference committee already had recommended this.

Ask Health Organization

China called for quick establishment of an international health organization, to be supplanted by a permanent agency responsible to a social and economic council.

Ukrainia asked for inclusion of "the right to work" in a statement of the purposes of the economic and social council. Russia previously had requested this, and the committee studying the matter toned it down to "full employment."

The scrap broke out in the committee shortly before American delegates decided to give Russia three more days to decide whether to support the fusing of an inter-American and a world plan for maintaining peace.

Some Latin American nations were teaming up to prevent conference action on some big issues until they know what the Soviets are going to do.

But the American delegation decided it was better to play a waiting game than to risk another row with Russia.

The delegation drafted last week a formula which would let the Pan-American republics band together to resist attack on any of their number and at the same time would not jeopardize the over-all peace-keeping authority of a new world organization. The formula was relayed to Moscow last Saturday. No answer has come back yet.

Some American delegates were all for shoving the regional security issue into the conference without waiting for Soviet reaction. Others favored the more conciliatory process of holding off until Monday, and that view prevailed.

On another conference problem involving Russia, the United States, through Secretary of State Stettinius, formally declared today that independence of dependent peoples is an American objective.

U. S. Supports Self-Rule for Trustee Areas

Balks at Specific Pledge of Independence, but Says It Is America's Objective

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18 (AP).—The United States formally championed at the United Nations Conference today the right of dependent peoples to attain independence.

But its action fell short of supporting specific inclusion of the word "independence" in the charter of a new world organization. Russia is the big power backing that.

For areas to be protected by mandates and trusteeships, United States delegates are backing a proposal for "progressive development toward self-government in forms appropriate to the varying circumstances of each territory."

But Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius said in a statement: "It is our understanding that this policy clearly includes the attainment of independence of the people of a trusteeship area when they so desire and are prepared and able to assume the responsibility of independence."

Seeking to answer criticism from various sources and to clarify the United States stand, Mr. Stettinius asserted that "attainment of independence is one of the United States' objectives in any government of dependent peoples."

The "self-government" clause is part of a paper submitted to a conference trusteeship committee so it could have something to work on. It was offered on behalf of the Big Five—China, France, Britain, Russia and the United States.

Russia has proposed that independence be named an objective.

The British, perhaps concerned over the possible reaction in their colonial empire, have argued against writing in "independence." And Mr. Stettinius said the unanimous position of the United States delegation was to support the Big Five working paper without change.

Efforts to resolve United States and Russian differences over the trusteeships issue appeared to have made little progress.

Late today a conference committee on trusteeships was reported to have tentatively approved language saying that states administering dependent areas should try "to develop self-government in forms appropriate to the varying circumstances of each territory." The committee skipped over the question whether the word "independence" should be substituted or added, postponing action to a later meeting.

BIG POWER RULE BY VETO TO GET TEST AT PARLEY

It Appears Possible Some Modification of Plan Will Be Accepted.

SOVIET RIFT MAY BE RISKED

Americans Are Ready to Go Ahead With Formula for Defense by Regional Groups.

San Francisco, May 18 (A. P.).—The outspoken opposition of many small nations to the big-Power plan for a veto control of future peace-keeping machinery today nears a United Nations Conference test vote.

It appears possible that the big Powers—the United States, Russia, China, Britain and France—may accept some modification of the veto where peaceful settlement of disputes is concerned, although Russia could block this. But they all stand firmly on the proposal that no force should be used against any nation except when all five agree.

The prospects are that on a showdown the Powers can put over the voting formula as they want it with the argument that unless they stick together on great international issues of the future no peace-keeping league can hope to prevent war.

Meanwhile, the American delegation and probably others are about ready to risk a rift with Russia, if necessary, by going ahead with a United States formula for giving regional groups of nations the right to organize for their mutual defense in the event that the world league fails to protect them from armed attack. A Big Five meeting on this subject "was canceled yesterday when Ambassador Andrei Gromyko advised Secretary of State Stettinius he was still waiting for instructions from Moscow.

May Not Wait on Soviet.

If the Russians do not answer today, the Americans and British may go ahead without waiting for the customary Big Five agreement on all major issues. If the Russians accept their proposal, which would permit regional associations of nations to come to any member's defense in case of an armed attack, there will be revived Anglo-American hopes for harmony among the big Powers on their top problems.

Among these is a Russian demand for representation on a projected Trusteeship Council, which will have much to say about how dependent peoples shall be governed after the war. Russia is not now a colony-holding State, but the Russians have based their claim for a permanent seat on the Trusteeship Council on the argument that they must have equal representation with other major Powers on every important organ of the proposed new world league. The British have opposed bluntly the Soviet proposition.

In another phase of the trusteeship question, the Russians are demanding that one of the objectives of all mandates shall be the eventual "independence" of the peoples concerned. The British contend that many peoples prefer self-government to independence. The United States delegates still appear to lean toward the British view. Some of them feel that the Russians are sparring for political advantage in the Far East.

Chinese Offer Compromise.

China has brought forth a compromise that the promise be for either independence or self-government. Britain and the United States are against the compromise also.

Considerable support, apparently enough to put it over, is forming behind an Australian proposal to pledge the United Nations to respect each other's territorial integrity and political independence. Strong opposition is growing against a proposal to allow nations to limit the areas in which their forces might be used to enforce peace.

Efforts to speed up the work of the conference appear to have hit a peak in the committee on United Nations Principles headed by Mitry Z. Manuilsky, chief of the Ukrainian delegation and an old-time Bolshevik. Colleagues say Manuilsky handles the committee with great skill and good humor.

Yesterday he laid down the rule that each member limit his first speech on a subject to ten minutes and his second to five minutes.

The committee planning a World Court voted yesterday in favor of establishing an entirely new tribunal instead of continuing the present "Permanent Court of International Justice" at The Hague. This move to break with the past may prove to be symbolic of the temper of the conference in trying to make a clean start on peace-keeping machinery.

Gerald Smith left without protest, but with critical remarks about the Russians and the British, which he has sounded previously in his nationalist political arguments.

"THE BEST WAY TO PUT THAT CONFLICT BEFORE FOREIGN PEOPLES," HE SAID, "WAS BY MEANS OF THE USUAL CHANNELS--NEWS AGENCIES; FOREIGN CORRESPONDENTS; BRITISH NEWSPAPERS, PERIODICALS AND BOOKS, AND BY FEATURE BROADCASTS BY THE INDEPENDENT BBC."

THURTLE SAID THAT THERE WAS DANGER THAT AN OFFICIAL SERVICE EXPRESSING AN OFFICIAL POINT OF VIEW "WOULD NOT NECESSARILY BE AS TRUE A REFLECTION OF THE STATE OF OPINION AS THE OPINION SET FORTH BY OTHER AGENCIES."

(100) PARIS MAY 18-(AP)-ALLIED HEADQUARTERS DISCLOSED TODAY THAT MONEY WHICH GERMAN CIVILIANS HOARDED DURING THE WAR IS COMING OUT OF HIDING, NOW THAT CONFIDENCE IN THE CURRENCY IS RETURNING.

AT BAD GODESBERG, FOR INSTANCE, AMERICAN MILITARY GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS SAID THAT DEPOSITS IN LOCAL BANKS HAVE JUMPED FROM 3,000,000 TO 7,000,000 REICHSMARKS SINCE THE ARRIVAL OF AMERICAN TROOPS.

LOCAL BANKERS TOLD THE AMERICAN OFFICERS THAT THE INCREASE REPRESENTED HOARDED CURRENCY AND THAT PEGGING THE MARK AT 10 TO A DOLLAR HAD RESTORED CONFIDENCE, DESPITE A WIDESPREAD FEELING THAT GERMAN MONEY HAD BECOME VALUELESS.

PARIS, MAY 18-(AP)-SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED TONIGHT THAT ALLIED ARMIES ARE ESTIMATED TO HAVE FOUND 2,500,000 DISPLACED PERSONS IN GERMANY.

IT ORIGINALLY WAS ESTIMATED THAT UP TO 4,500,000 DISPLACED PERSONS WOULD BE FOUND IN SHAEF TERRITORY. THE ANNOUNCEMENT SAID IT WAS NOT YET POSSIBLE TO SAY WHETHER THE ESTIMATE WAS TOO HIGH OR WHETHER LARGE NUMBERS STILL WERE TO BE FOUND.

THE LARGEST NUMBER WERE RUSSIANS. OTHER NATIONALITIES ACCORDING TO NUMBER WERE FRENCH, POLES, ITALIANS, BELGIANS, DUTCH, YUGOSLAVS, CZECHS, GREEKS, LUXEMBOURGERS AND SMALLER EUROPEAN GROUPS.

MORE THAN 80 PER CENT OF THE DISPLACED PERSONS WERE IN TERRITORY OVERRUN BY GEN.OMAR BRADLEY'S 12TH ARMY GROUP--THE AMERICAN FIRST, THIRD, NINTH AND 15TH ARMIES.

WITH THE BRITISH SECOND ARMY, MAY 18-(AP)-THE DISAPPEARANCE OF APPROXIMATELY 50,000 SLAVE LABORERS HAS POSED A MAJOR MYSTERY FOR THE BRITISH MILITARY GOVERNMENT IN THIS GERMAN ZONE OF OCCUPATION.

MAJOR HUGH CAMPBELL, A STAFF OFFICER OF THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT AT LUNEBURG, SAID THE SLAVE LABORERS HAD BEEN STATIONED IN A CAMP AT NUEN GAMMA, ABOUT 10 MILES SOUTHEAST OF LUNEBURG.

THEY WERE KNOWN TO HAVE BEEN EMPLOYED AT SEVERAL BRICK FACTORIES, BUT WHEN THE CAMP WAS FOUND THEY WERE GONE.

HE SAID THE THEORY WAS THAT THE NAZIS HAD LOADED THEM ON THREE SHIPS, TOLD THEY WERE GOING TO NORWAY, AND THE SHIPS WERE SCUTTLED EN ROUTE.

HAMBURG, GERMANY, MAY 18-(AP)- BRITISH SECURITY POLICE OFFICIAL SAID TODAY HEINRICH HIMMLER'S WHEREABOUTS HAD BEEN ESTABLISHED IN THE HAMBURG AREA TWO DAYS AGO, BUT THAT A PATROL WHICH WAS SENT TO GET HIM HAD BEEN UNSUCCESSFUL.

THE OFFICER SAID THE LATEST RUMOR WAS THAT HIMMLER WAS CARRYING A LETTER WRITTEN BY GRAND ADMIRAL KARL DOENITZ AND FIELD MARSHAL WILHELM KEITEL ADDRESSED TO FIELD MARSHAL SIR BERNARD L.MONTGOMERY. ACCORDING TO THIS REPORT HIMMLER HOPED TO DELIVER THE LETTER IN PERSON AND THUS BE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY BY THE HIGHEST AUTHORITY IN THIS SECTOR. THE CONTENTS OF THE SUPPOSED LETTER WERE UNKNOWN.

THE OFFICER DENIED REPORTS THAT HIMMLER COULD BE PICKED UP AT WILL. "IF WE KNEW WHERE THIS FELLOW WAS, YOU CAN BET WE WOULD DO EVERYTHING TO BRING HIM IN," HE SAID.

THE FAMOUS PAINTING "SHIPWRECK," BY THE NORWEGIAN ARTIST GUDE, VALUED AT 70 THOUSAND KRONER (ABOUT $16,000 AT PRE-WAR EXCHANGE RATES) WAS IN QUISLING'S HOME.

WORKS BY THE NORWEGIAN ARTISTS MUSCH AND PEDEMAN, VALUED AT THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS, HUNG IN EVERY ROOM OF THE LARGE MANSION.

OFFICIALS SAID THAT IN ORIGINAL PAINTINGS ALONE QUISLING HAD BUILT UP A FORTUNE MEASURED IN THE MILLIONS OF DOLLARS.

QUISLING'S HUGE BANQUET ROOM, 100 FEET LONG AND 30 FEET WIDE, SEATING 100, WAS FURNISHED IN A MIDDLE-AGES STYLE. ALL THE FURNITURE FOR HIS LARGE BEDROOM AND STUDY CAME FROM KING HAAKON'S PALACE.

THE ESTATE WAS ENCIRCLED BY AN ELECTRICALLY CHARGED FENCE AND A FORCE OF 40 WAS EMPLOYED TO MAINTAIN A CONSTANT GUARD IN THE STONE BLOCKHOUSES ESTABLISHED AT THE GATEWAYS.

QUISLING'S LUXURIOUS LIMOUSINE, "A PRESENT TO MY FRIEND VIDKUN FROM THE FUEHRER," WEIGHED FOUR AND A HALF TONS AND WAS EQUIPPED WITH MACHINE GUNS.

TRIESTE, MAY 18-(AP)-THE YUGOSLAVS CALLED TOGETHER LAST NIGHT THE "GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF TRIESTE" ELECTED DURING THE PAST SEVERAL DAYS TO "RESTORE DEMOCRACY" TO THE DISPUTED PORT CITY. NO MENTION WAS MADE PUBLICLY OF THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN NOTES REQUESTING WITHDRAWAL OF THE YUGOSLAV FORCES.

(AN ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH FROM BELGRADE SAID MARSHAL TITO REPLIED TODAY TO THE IDENTICAL NOTES, DELIVERED TO HIM TUESDAY BY THE AMERICAN AND BRITISH AMBASSADORS. THE CONTENTS OF THE REPLY WERE NOT REVEALED BUT UNOFFICIALLY IT WAS CONSIDERED LIKELY TITO HAD SUGGESTED A COMPROMISE SIMILAR TO THE ONE HE PROPOSED ON AUSTRIA, LEAVING THE NEXT MOVES UP TO LONDON AND WASHINGTON.

(TITO, IT WAS LEARNED, HAD SUGGESTED THAT YUGOSLAV TROOPS REMAIN IN AUSTRIAN CARINTHIA BUT BE COMMANDED BY BRITISH MARSHAL SIR HAROLD ALEXANDER.)

THE TRIESTE ASSEMBLY MET IN A FLAG DECKED HALL AND WAS ADDRESSED BY MAJ.GEN.DUSAN KVEDER, YUGOSLAV COMMANDANT OF THE CITY, WHO CLOSED HIS SPEECH WITH THE WORDS, "LONG LIVE AUTONOMOUS TRIESTE WITHIN THE FEDERATION OF DEMOCRATIC YUGOSLAVIA."

THE ASSEMBLY DISCUSSED THE FORMATION OF A PEOPLE'S TRIBUNAL TO TAKE UP THE PURGE OF THE CITY AND DREW UP TELEGRAMS TO SEND TO TITO, MARSHAL STALIN, PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL.

MEANWHILE AT GORIZIA, ALSO IN DISPUTED VENEZIA GIULIA, THE YUGOSLAV LIBERATION FRONT MET AND ELECTED AN EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE FOR THAT CITY WHERE PARTISANS WERE REPORTED TO HAVE SUPPRESSED AN ATTEMPT BY SEVERAL HUNDRED ITALIANS TO FORM A BATTALION TO RESIST YUGOSLAV CONSCRIPTION. AN UNDETERMINED NUMBER WAS ARRESTED.

THE YUGOSLAV CONSCRIPTION ORDER, AFFECTING ALL MALES BETWEEN 17 AND 50 IN THE AREA EAST OF THE ISONZO RIVER, HAS NOT BEEN POSTED IN TRIESTE AS HAVE TEN OTHER YUGOSLAV PROCLAMATIONS REGULATING LIFE HERE. FOR THE PAST SEVERAL NIGHTS THE YUGOSLAVS HAVE BEEN SEEN MARCHING LARGE NUMBERS OF CIVILIANS OUT OF TRIESTE BUT IT IS NOT KNOWN WHETHER THESE ARE POLITICAL PRISONERS OR CONSCRIPTS.

THERE ARE AN ESTIMATED 35,000 YUGOSLAV PARTISANS HERE AND IN THE SURROUNDING COUNTRYSIDE, EQUIPPED WITH A CONSIDERABLE AMOUNT OF FORMER GERMAN ARMY MATERIEL.

ROME, MAY 18-(AP)-THE ITALIAN PRESS GAVE A HOSTILE RECEPTION TODAY TO THE REPORTED STATEMENT BY A FRENCH FOREIGN OFFICE SPOKESMAN THAT FRANCE WOULD SEEK AN ADJUSTMENT OF HER FRONTIERS AT THE FUTURE PEACE CONFERENCE.

THE INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER IL MOMENTO, ASSERTING THAT SUCH A GRANT WOULD SOW NEW "EXPLOSIVE HATRED," SAID:

"IF THIS IS THE SPIRIT DESTINED TO TRIUMPH IN EUROPE THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE MIGHT AS WELL ADJOURN AND THE HUNDREDS OF GOOD MEN GATHERED THERE SPARE THEMSELVES FURTHER WORK."

IL TEMPO, ANOTHER INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER, DECLARED IT USELESS FOR FRANCE TO PLACE EMPHASIS ON THE NEED FOR "STRATEGIC ADJUSTMENTS" BECAUSE "ANY SUCH ADJUSTMENT ALSO WOULD HAVE A TERRITORIAL CHARACTER SINCE THE FRONTIER CANNOT BE CHANGED WITHOUT TOUCHING TERRITORY."

THE LIBERAL CONSERVATIVE PARTY ORGAN, RISORGIMENTO LIBERALE, SAID THAT, "SINCE EVERYONE IS MAKING DEMANDS ON US TODAY, WE WOULD LIKE TO KNOW IMMEDIATELY HOW MUCH OF OUR TERRITORY THE PEACE CONFERENCE WILL GRANT US."

THE ENTIRE PRESS, MEANWHILE, CONTINUED TO GIVE PROMINENT PLAY TO THE TRIESTE DISPUTE. COMMUNIST PUBLICATIONS ADOPTED A CONCILIATORY TONE TOWARD THE YUGOSLAVS AND ACCUSED OTHER PARTIES OF SEEKING TO STIR UP NATIONALISTIC FEELINGS FOR THE PURPOSE OF CLOUDING AN INTERNAL SITUATION AND "SAVING THE REMAINS OF FASCISM."

THE CHARGE AT 5:30 A.M. BY A LARGE JAPANESE FORCE WAS COORDINATED FROM BOTH SIDES OF A ROAD.

YANK MACHINEGUNNERS WERE READY. THEY RAKED THE CONVERGING JAPANESE FORCE. AUTOMATIC RIFLE AND SMALL ARMS FIRE WAS ADDED. THEN GRENADES STARTED FLYING.

NIPPONESE DEAD PILED UP IN FRONT OF THE MACHINEGUN POSITIONS UNTIL THE BATTLE ENDED AT 7 A.M.

THE STORY WAS RELATED TODAY BY LT.ANDREW CHANCELLOR, 25, OF CATHEDRAL MANSION, PITTSBURG, PA., SHIP'S COMMUNICATIONS OFFICER.
"A JAP PLANE FLEW OVER AS WE WERE HEADING TO THE RESCUE OF ANOTHER DESTROYER THAT WAS SINKING," SAID CHANCELLOR. "WE TOOK SOME SHOTS AT HER AND WE THOUGHT WE BEAT HER OFF, AND EVERYBODY WAS HAPPY.
"SHE WAS DOING SOME FANCY FLYING. SHE MADE A SLICK TURN AND CLIMBED SO THAT HER BELLY WAS TOWARD US. WE SAW SOMETHING DROP BUT IT LOOKED LIKE A BELLY TANK SO NOBODY THOUGHT ANYTHING OF IT. A FEW SECONDS LATER THE RANGE FINDER REPORTED AN OBJECT WAS SPEEDING TOWARD US.
"IT WAS A STRANGE-LOOKING OBJECT, SILVER AND COMING LIKE LIGHTNING. THERE WAS A CANOPY ON IT PROTECTING THE PILOT WHO WAS OPERATING IT. IT WAS COMING SO FAST THE RANGE FINDER OPERATOR COULDN'T KEEP UP WITH IT. WE GUESSED 400 TO 450 MILES AN HOUR BUT THOUGHT THAT WAS FANTASTIC. LATER IT PROVED CORRECT.
"WE GOT OUR GUNS ON IT AND BEGAN FIRING, AND BULLETS STREAKED OFF IT. SUDDENLY IT EXPLODED BUT WHAT APPEARED TO BE A HUGE WARHEAD SUCH AS CARRIED BY TORPEDOES KEPT ON ITS COURSE.
"JUST BEFORE REACHING THE SHIP IT LEAPED OUT AND OVER THE DESTROYER AND STRUCK THE WATER ABOUT 200 YARDS ON THE OTHER SIDE.
"BEFORE IT EXPLODED WE COULD SEE THE PILOT PLAINLY. APPARENTLY AT SUCH A TERRIFIC SPEED HE COULDN'T REGULARE HIS DIRECTION SKILFULLY."

BY POPE HALEY

(ADVANCE)...WASHINGTON, MAY 18-(AP)-THE AIRCRAFT CARRIER FRANKLIN, WHICH MIRACULOUSLY SURVIVED ONE OF THE SEVEREST ORDEALS OF THIS OR ANY WAR IS HOME.

SHE CAME HOME, SAIDLY CRIPPLED BUT UNDER HER OWN POWER, HER CHARRED AND BATTERED HULL MANNED BYA SKELETON CREW OF SURVIVORS NOW UNDERGOING REPAIRS AT THE BROOKLYN NAVY YARD, SHE WILL RESUME HER PLACE IN THE WAR AGAINST JAPAN.

UNTIL NOW JAPANESE RADIO PROPAGANDISTS NEVER KNEW HOW CLOSE THEY CAME TO BEING RIGHT WHEN THEY BOASTED THAT THE 27,000-TON VESSEL OF THE ESSEX CLASS HAD BEEN SUNK. WITHOUTTHE INCREDIBLE STAMINA AND STRENGTH BUILT INTO HER AND WITHOUT THE SUPERHUMAN COURAGE OF HER PERSONNEL, THEIR CLAIM MIGHT EASILY HAVE BEEN TRUE.

AS IT WAS THE CARRIER SUFFERED 341 DEAD, 431 MISSING AND MORE THAN 300 WOUNDED--MORE THAN ONE-THIRD HER TOTAL COMPLEMENT--IN BLAZING, AGONIZING HOURS.

CHANCE PLAYED INTO THE HANDS OF THE LONE ENEMY DIVE BOMBER THAT STREAKED SUDDENLY OUT OF THE CLOUDS WITHIN 60 MILES OF THE JAPANESE COAST ON THE MORNING OF MARCH 19 AND DROPPED TWO 500-POUND ARMOR PIERCING BOMBS.

RELEASED FROM LOW ALTITUDE, BOTH SCORED DIRECT HITS, ONE EXPLODED BENEATH THE FLIGHT DECK, ON WHICH ARMED PLANES WERE READY FOR TAKEOFF. THE OTHER WENT OFF ON THE HANGAR DECK, WHERE OTHER PLANES, FUELED AND ARMED, WERE WAITING TO BE TAKEN TO THE FLIGHT DECK.

THE ATTACKING PLANE WAS SHOT DOWN A MOMENT LATER, BUT THE BOMBS EXPLODING WHERE THEY DID, STARTED A TRAIN OF FIRES AND EXPLOSIONS WHICH FOR HOURS WERE TO REND AND TORTURE THE VESSEL.

THE SHIP WAS OPERATING AS PART OF A FAST CARRIER TASK FORCE IN THE STRIKE AGAINST REMNANTS OF THE JAPANESE FLEET IN JAPAN'S INLAND SEA, NIPPON'S "PRIVATE LAKE."

EXPLOSION AFTER EXPLOSION FOLLOWED THE INITIAL BLASTS. LARGE BOMBS EXPLODED AND HURLED MEN AND PLANES THE LENGTH OF THE SHIP. SMALLER BOMBS, ROCKETS AND MACHINE GUN AMMUNITION KILLED DOZENS WHO HAD SURVIVED THE MAJOR EXPLOSIONS. SPREADING FIRES FED BY THOUSANDS OF GALLONS OF HIGH TEST AVIATION GASOLINE ADDED FURY
TO THE HOLOCAUST.

THE WHOLE AFTER END OF THE VESSEL'S FLIGHT DECK BECAME A MASS OF FLAME AND SMOKE. AIRPLANES DISINTEGRATED, AND TORRENTS OF BURNING GASOLINE STREAKED ACROSS HER DECKS. BOMBS, ROCKETS AND BULLETS EXPLODED ALL AROUND, AND SPLINTERS OF WOOD AND STEEL RAINED ON SURVIVORS HUGGING THE DECK.

BUT, WITHOUT PANIC, THOSE WHO MIRACULOUSLY HAD ESCAPED DEATH OR INJURY AND THE SLIGHTLY INJURED MOVED IN TO FIGHT THE FIRS. VOLUNTEERS, INCLUDING PILOTS, MECHANICS, OFFICERS AND STEWARDS, TOOK OVER THE JOB OF REGULARLY ASSIGNED DAMAGE CONTROL PARTIES WHO HAD BEEN KILLED OR TRAPPED BY FLAMES.

A50WX

AMONG THOSE ESPECIALLY CITED BY THE NAVY'S ACCOUNT WAS THE SHIP'S CHAPLAIN, LT. COMDR. JOSEPH O'CALLAHAN, 300 NEWBURY ST., BOSTON, WHOSE ACTIONS BROUGHT FROM ONE OF THE SHIP'S SENIOR OFFICERS: "HE WAS THE BRAVEST MAN I EVER SAW."

THE LEAN, SCHOLARLY JESUIT FIRST MOVED AROUND THE BURNING, SLANTING AND EXPOSED FLIGHT DECK ADMINISTERING LAST RITES TO THE DYING. THEN HE LED OFFICERS AND MEN INTO THE FLAMES, RISKING MOMENTARY DEATH, TO JETTISON HOT BOMBS AND SHELLS. THEN HE RECRUITED A DAMAGE CONTROL PARTY AND LED IT INTO ONE OF THE MAIN AMMUNITION MAGAZINES TO WET IT DOWN AND PREVENT ITS EXPLODING.

BELOW DECKS, SEVERAL HUNDRED MEN WERE AT BREAKFAST WHEN THE EXPLOSIONS CAME, BLOCKING ALL APPARENT EXITS WITH SMOKE, FLAME AND SMASHED BULKHEADS. IN THE GROUP WAS LT. COMDR. JAMES L. FUELLING, THE SHIP'S FLIGHT SURGEON OF INDIANAPOLIS.

"EVERYBODY SIT DOWN," HE ORDERED. "WE'RE TRAPPED HERE FOR THE TIME BEING. STAY CALM AND BE QUIET. USE AS LITTLE AIR AS POSSIBLE. STAY CLOSE TO THE DECK AND SAY A PRAYER."

LT. DONALD A. GARY, 320 MILLESBARE AVE., OAKLAND, CALIF., AFTER PROMISING TO RETURN, GROPED HIS WAY OUT OF THE COMPARTMENT AND FOUND A CIRCUITOUS ESCAPE ROUTE THROUGH VENTILATION TUBING. HE RETURNED TIME AFTER TIME, LEADING THE SURVIVORS TO SAFETY. ALL BUT ONE OF THE TRAPPED MEN WERE SAVED.

WHILE SURVIVORS WERE BATTLING TO KEEP THE SHIP AFLOAT, MEN STILL WERE DYING IN CONTINUING EXPLOSIONS. SOME WERE TRAPPED, OTHERS LEAPED OVERBOARD TO ESCAPE WHAT SEEMED CERTAIN DEATH. OTHERS STAYED AT THE UNDAMAGED GUNS TO BEAT OFF REPEATED ATTACKS BY WAVES OF ENEMY PLANES. NO MORE HITS WERE SCORED ON THE CRIPPLED SHIP.

A FEW HOURS AFTER THE FIRST ATTACK, THE LIGHT CRUISER SANTA FE CAME ALONGSIDE TO REMOVE THE WOUNDED. THESE OPERATIONS WERE INTERRUPTED, HOWEVER, WHEN ONE OF THE CARRIER'S FORWARD FIVE INCH GUN MOUNTS CAUGHT FIRE AND THREATENED TO EXPLODE.

LATER, AFTER THE CRUISER'S MERCY MISSION HAD BEEN COMPLETED, SURVIVORS OF THE CARRIER'S AIR GROUP WERE ORDERED TO LEAVE THE SHIP. EARLY IN THE AFTERNOON, AFTER THE FIRES WERE UNDER CONTROL, THE FRANKLIN WAS TAKEN IN TOW BY THE HEAVY CRUISER PITTSBURGH.

OVERHEAD, FIGHTERS FLEW A CONSTANT PATROL. BY THE NEXT MORNING ONE OF THE CARRIER'S FIRE ROOMS HAD RESUMED OPERATIONS AND HER SEVERE LIST HAD BEEN CORRECTED. DURING THE DAY, MORE POWER WAS RECOVERED AND THE CARRIER WORKED UP A SPEED OF 23 KNOTS UNDER HER OWN POWER. ON THE SECOND DAY AFTER THE ATTACK, 300 OF HER MEN WERE BROUGHT BACK ABOARD FROM OTHER VESSELS WHICH HAD PICKED THEM UP, AND SHE HEADED FOR HOME.

THE FRANKLIN, BUILT BY THE NEWPORT NEWS, VA., SHIPBUILDING AND DRYDOCK CO., WAS LAUNCHED OCT. 14, 1943, AND COMMISSIONED JAN. 31, 1944.

THE INLAND SEA ACTION WAS THE SECOND IN WHICH THE FRANKLIN SUFFERED DAMAGES REQUIRING HER RETURN TO THE STATES. LAST OCTOBER 14, ANNIVERSARY OF HER CHRISTENING BY CAPT. MILDRED MCAFEE, WAVEE DIRECTOR, SHE WAS ATTACKED BY FOUR JAPANESE TORPEDO PLANES WHILE PARTICIPATING IN A TWO-DAY STRIKE AT FORMOSA.

SHE ESCAPED MAJOR DAMAGE THEN, BUT A FEW DAYS LATER, AT THE BATTLE FOR LEYTE GULF, SHE TOOK A DIRECT HIT ON THE FLIGHT DECK. THAT DAMAGE NECESSITATED A RETURN TO THE PUGET SOUND, WASH., NAVY YARD FOR REPAIRS. SHE HAD JUST RETURNED TO ACTION WHEN THE LATEST ATTACK OCCURRED.

SUGAR LOAF HILL SCENE OF BITTER SEE-SAW BATTLE

Leathernecks Thrown Off Vital Hill Thursday, Regain Objective.

JAPS LOST 48,103

Nimitz Also Announces That U.S. Casualties Have Reached 30,526.

GUAM, Sunday, May 20.—(AP) Marines of the Sixth Division beat back a strong Japanese counterattack yesterday east of Takamotoji village in the battle for vital Sugar Loaf Hill, fiercest single action in the Okinawa campaign in which 48,103 Japanese have been killed through Thursday.

Casualties Announced

Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz announced American casualties for the Okinawa campaign, including fleet losses since it began carrier attacks on the enemy's inland sea March 18, total 30,526. Of these, 8,310 were killed or missing and 22,216 were wounded. Many wounded have returned to combat.

Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr's Sixth Division leathernecks were thrown off Sugar Loaf Hill a fourth time Thursday night but occupied it again Friday morning. This strategic promontory guards Naha, which cannot be occupied safely by American troops until it is totally occupied and all Japanese artillery entrenched in its southern slopes silenced.

Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr's 10th Army troops maintained firm pressure all along the southern Okinawa front yesterday, with the Japanese desperately throwing reserve reinforcements into the hand to hand struggle.

On the east flank of the Naha-Shuri-Yonabaru line, Maj. Gen. James L. Bradley's 96th Infantry Division troops, pushing southwest from Conical Hill, engaged in a three-hour close quarter hand grenade battle with the stubborn Japanese. Elements of this division, which seized much of the Yonabaru area, are moving westward to join the 77th Infantry and First Marine divisions in a three-division assault on Shuri, fortress city in the center of the enemy's defense line.

In the center of the Okinawa front, Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First Marine division and Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce's 77th Infantry division were attacking abreast on direct approaches to Shuri fortress from the north.

Fighting Bitter

Fighting was bitterly tough through heavily fortified ridges and hills around Wana town, northeast of Shuri.

Nimitz's casualty report listed 4,332 Tenth Army troops killed or missing on Okinawa through Friday. Of these, 3,093 were Army and 1,239 were Marines. The other 3,978 were Navy killed or missing through Wednesday.

Most of the fleet casualties were suffered in sustained Japanese air attacks on shipping off Okinawa, including Kamikaze crash dives by suicide pilots.

Tenth Army wounded on Okinawa for the 48 days included in Nimitz's report were 18,258, of whom 12,078 were soldiers and 6,180 Marines.

The fleet's wounded total was 3,958.

Nimitz said 139,858 Okinawa civilians had been taken under jurisdiction of U.S. Military government authorities.

Okinawa's most savage fighting still was being waged around Sugar Loaf Hill, where Nimitz reported "the Japanese have sacrificed large numbers of troops in defense of this key position before Naha."

Jap Reinforcements

The Japanese have been pouring reinforcements into the battle for this small, tunneled fortress, which strategically covers not only rubble-littered Naha but walled and moated Shuri as well.

Many of these Nipponese were killed by American artillery fire, making Japanese reinforcement efforts a costly sacrifice.

In its rough, difficult sector the 77th Division infantry called for very close support of airplanes and employed flame throwing tanks in a push against Japanese caves and ridge strong points. The 77th division made some gains on its right flank near Ishimmi town, a defense bastion immediately north of Shuri.

The Japanese, whose Banzai tactics and the appearance of officers in white uniforms indicates acceptance of eventual defeat as their fate on Okinawa, employed substantial artillery fire all along the line Friday in attempts to halt Yank attacks. Heavy American counter battery fire silenced several guns in the Sugar Loaf Hill area.

Few Jap Air Attacks

The Japanese, many of their staging airfields neutralized by B-29 and carrier plane raids in force have given American forces on and near Okinawa a virtual respite from aerial assaults the past week. A few enemy aircraft appeared over the Okinawa area Thursday evening. Two were shot down. Another small group appeared Friday evening. Fourteen were downed. There was no report of damage to American forces.

A fast carrier force made a sweep through the northern Ryukyus Thursday and Friday, blasting fuel dumps and buildings at Yaku, Tokara, Tokuno, Kikai, Gaja and Anami islands. Yank pilots destroyed five enemy aircraft; probably destroyed eight more.

Navy search Liberators and Privateers wrecked a train on Southern Honshu and attacked coastal installations. They sank a small cargo ship and a trawler and damaged much small shipping, including six coastal vessels. Another Navy search plane heavily damaged a medium oiler south of Korea.

Army Mustangs attacked Chichi Jima in the Bonins and Marine Corsairs and Hellcats struck the Palaus, Yap and the Marshalls in other land-based aerial activity.

Sugar Loaf Hill The Scene Of Fierce Fight

LINDSLEY

Guam, May 19 (AP)—One of the most crucial battles of the Okinawa campaign is being fought for tunneled Sugar Loaf fortress, a 150-foot hill covering the eastern approaches to the island capital of Naha and to moated Shuri, central hinge of the fortified line defended by an estimated 30,000 Japanese.

Japanese commanders are desperately throwing reserve troops into the struggle to hold the hill, even trying to move columns up in broad daylight, with little chance to escape observation.

The 29th Regiment of the United States 6th Marine Division is bearing the brunt of the battle for Sugar Loaf. The Marines clung to the northern slope of the hill, which they finally seized in the ninth attack in seven days.

Still Hold South Slope

Japanese still hold the southern slope and until it is cleared it apparently would be futile for the Marines to try to sweep through the empty ruins of Naha, through which increasing numbers of Yank patrols are prowling.

Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., 6th Marine Division commander, expressed the opinion that Japanese resistance may be broken on the present Naha-Shuri-Yonabaru fighting line because the Nipponese are sacrificing so many men and so much ammunition to hold Sogar Loaf and other key hills.

Communique Detail Lags

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz's communique today gave no reports on operations yesterday. He issued a unique official account of bloody feats of such small units as G Company of the 383d Regiment of the 96th Division beating off counter-attacking Japanese in an hour-long close-quarter grenade battle on Conical Hill.

These Japanese were led by an officer dressed formally, even to white gloves and polished dress boots. This gave evidence that some Japanese commanders realize their eventual death is certain and, characteristically, are preparing for a ceremonious exit.

Ceremonial Mourning Dress

Marines of Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's 1st Division have killed several Japanese officers dressed in ceremonial white uniforms, presumably formal mourning dress.

Dead and wounded Yanks were gathered up under artillery and mortar fire sprayed from hills and fortifications to the east toward Shuri Castle, in the center of Okinawa's tough, 4-mile defensive wall.

Many of the casualties were suffered when Japanese rolled grenades down the gray slopes into American positions.

Field commanders said the enemy was throwing his full weight into the defense of Sugar Loaf Hill to guard the flank of the vital Shuri defense line.

Tito Held Set To Use Force

Rome, May 19 (AP)—Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander declared today that Marshal Tito apparently intended to resort to force in backing Yugoslavia's claims to northeastern Italy and southern Austria—a course of action "all too reminiscent of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan."

Belgrade radio broadcast Tito's reply that the Yugoslav army, the same as other Allied armies, had the right to remain in territory it liberated and the presence of his troops in the disputed zone would not "prejudice decisions of the peace conference as to whom these territories belong."

Friendly Efforts Fail

Asserting that "we cannot throw away the vital principles for which we fought," Alexander told his land, sea and air forces in the Mediterranean theater that all his efforts to "come to a friendly agreement" with the Yugoslav leader had failed.

The question had been checked back to the governments of the United States and Britain, he said, and they now had "taken up the matter directly" with Tito.

"We are now waiting to hear whether Marshal Tito is prepared to co-operate in accepting a peaceful settlement of his territorial claims or whether he will attempt to establish them by force.

The Issues At Stake

"I send you this message so that you may know the issues which are now at stake."

Alexander said the Soviet Government had been kept fully informed, but there was no official indication whether Russia actively participated or what her stand might be.

A headquarters statement accompanying Alexander's message said Tito agreed in July, 1944, and again in February of this year that for military purposes the Allied forces of Alexander would occupy Venezia Giulia province, which embraces the disputed port of Trieste.

Yugoslavia agreed to occupy territory to the east. This embraced the port of Fiume and an area east of a line running roughly north of that city.

[This apparently would approximate the 1939 border between Yugoslavia and Italy.]

Plan Rejected

When Lieut. Gen. W. D. Morgan, chief of staff at Allied headquarters, went to Belgrade May 8 carrying a written agreement embodying those terms—including the use of "any Yugoslav civil administration already set up and working satisfactorily"—Tito rejected it.

The plan called for the withdrawal of all Yugoslav troops from Trieste and all other areas that Tito previously had agreed the Allies would occupy.

The statement reported that Tito told Morgan "an understanding cannot now be reached" and because of recent events the problem was "now a political one and not a military one."

Needs "Safeguard"

Tito offered Alexander facilities in the port of Trieste and on road and rail lines of communications into Austria but insisted that the area must remain under Yugoslav control.

Tito told Morgan that at the peace conference he would lay claim to territory west of the Isonzo River, which empties into the Adriatic west of Trieste.

New Zealand troops had made a juncture with the Yugoslavs in Trieste on May 2, and at the time Alexander announced he intended to use the port as a base for large Allied forces which would occupy Austria.

In today's Belgrade broadcast, Tito said "the needs of our Allies concerning ports and lines of communications have been completely safeguarded" in the spirit of the conversations in Belgrade in February.

Request Not Complied With

Alexander also informed Tito on May 11 that he had been ordered to occupy and administer the Austrian provinces of Styria and Carinthia and "requested Tito to forbid his troops to move over the Austrian frontier and to withdraw those already across," the statement said.

"This request, so far, has not been complied with."

Alexander's message to his troops asserted that the military was not attempting to settle territorial claims.

"We have no objections to the claims being put forward by Marshal Tito to the territory," he said. "His claims will be examined and finally settled with fairness and impartiality at the peace conference in exactly the same manner as other disputed areas throughout Europe."

Alexander declared "it is our duty to hold these disputed territories as trustees until their ultimate disposal is settled."

Tito's Reply Received

[It was learned in London that Tito's reply to the British note on Trieste had been received. Reliable sources said it failed to solve the difficulties and a further exchange of views wa snecessary. Whether the note was the same as the Belgrade broadcast was not learned.]

"We have stressed repeatedly," Belgrade radio said, "that we intend to submit our claims to the peace conference but we are not prepared to let Yugoslav territory be administered by (Italian Premier) Bonomi. We ask to be treated as equals, as Ilies."

The broadcast added that "it should never be forgotten that when Britain stood alone the Yugoslavs engaged 25 German divisions, which could have made all the difference at El Alamein," where the Germans were turned back in the battle that saved Egypt.

Tito Using Force To Back Claims, Briton Says

Rome, May 19 (AP)—Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander charged today that Marshal Tito apparently sought to establish claims to areas in northeast Italy and southern Austria by force "all too reminiscent of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan."

Six hours later a Belgrade broadcast quoting the Yugoslav leader declared "the honor of our army and the honor of our country demand the presence of the Yugoslav Army in Istria, Trieste, and the Slovene coastline."

The presence of Yugoslav troops in these areas does not "prejudice the decisions of the peace conference as to whom these territories belong," the broadcast added, quoting what it said was Tito's reply to notes sent him by the United States and Britain.

Message To Troops

Alexander, Allied commander in the Mediterranean, asserted in a message to his troops that "it is our duty to hold these disputed territories as trustees until their ultimate disposal is settled at the peace conference," and said he had been unable to "come to a friendly agreement" on the occupation with Tito.

His statement emphasized that "we have no objection to claims being put forward by Marshal Tito to the territory," but that such claims should be settled at the peace conference and not by "force of arms and military occupation" by the Yugoslavs.

Alexander said Tito previously had agreed to Allied occupation of the disputed areas, including Trieste, but that on May 8 Tito said the situation now had changed and the problem now was a poltiical and not a military one.

Slavs Claim "Legal Rights"

The Belgrade broadcast declared: "The Yugoslav Army, as one of the Allied armies, has equal rights with other Allied armies to remain in the territory she has liberated in the bitter struggle against the common enemy.

"The needs of our Allies concerning ports and lines of communications have been completely safeguarded in the spirit of talks between Marshal Tito and Field Marshal Alexander during visits by Field Marshal Alexander to Belgrade this winter."

In London, it was learned that Tito's reply to the British note had been received, but whether its text was the same as the Belgrade broadcast was not disclosed. Reliable sources there said Tito's reply did not resolve the difficulties, and that a further exchange of views was necessary.

At the same time, Allied headquarters disclosed that Tito agreed in July, 1944, and February, 1945, that for military purposes Allied forces should occupy the Venezia and Giulia region, including Trieste, while the Yugoslavs should occupy Fiume and an area to the east of a line running roughly north of Fiume.

Stresses "Our Duty"

Alexander, charging that Tito sought "by force of arms and military occupation to establish his claims," added that "it was to prevent such actions that we have been fighting this war."

The Allied commander declared: "It is our duty to hold these disputed territories as trustees until their untimate disposal is settled at the peace conference.

"I tried my best to come to a friendly agreement with Marshal Tito, but did not succeed."

When informed by his chief of staff that further military conversations with Tito appeared useless, Alexander sent a message to the Yugoslav leader bluntly telling him that the Allied command intended to continue using the port of Trieste and to maintain forces in northeastern Italy and Austria.

He warned Tito that Allied headquarters expected him "to take steps to assure that no regrettable incidents took place." Tito, he added, was asked "to forbid his troops to move over the Austrian border and to withdraw those already across."

"This request," he said, "so far has not been complied with."

Soviet Is Kept Informed

Alexander said "the United States and British governments have taken the matter up directly with Tito. The Soviet Government has been kept fully informed. We are now waiting to hear whether Tito is prepared to co-operate in accepting peaceful settlement of his territorial claims, or whether he will attempt to establish them by force."

[American correspondents in Belgrade were informed that while Tito's note had caused surprise and disappointment, there still was a feeling the situation could be finally resolved satisfactorily.

[A Trieste dispatch from Associated Press Correspondent Lynn Heinzerling said Tito's Partisans had withdrawn completely from the area west of the Isonzo River, but there was no indication of any movement from Trieste or the remainder of the disputed area east of the river, and there was no confirmation of reports that Tito had agreed to such a move.]

Referring to the agreement by Tito in July, 1944, and February, 1945, Allied field headquarters said Tito rejected its terms when that agreement was taken to Belgrade on May 8.

Tito said at Belgrade that "an understanding could not now be reached on the basis suggested and that recent events had changed the situation."

The statement declared that Tito likewise informed the Allied command that his civil administration in the disputed areas should remain in control and told Field Marshal Alexander's chief of staff, Lieut.-Gen. W. D. Morgan, who carried the written proposal to Belgrade, that "at the peace conference he would also claim territory west of the Isonzo."

YUGOSLAV LEADER RESENTS CHARGES MADE BY MARSHAL

Cannot Throw Away Principles for Which We Fought,—Alexander.

WARSHIPS IN BAY

Tito Again Rejects Request That He Withdraw Troops from City.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Yugoslav troops remained in disputed Trieste last night as Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander declared that Marshal Tito apparently intended to back his territorial claims with force—a course which he said was "all to reminscent of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan."

Tito, expressing resentment at Alexander's statement, again rejected an American-British request that his forces withdraw from the port city and all of northeastern Italy and southern Austria, saying Yugoslavs had the right to occupy territory they had liberated.

Developments included:

1. Alexander, as Allied commander in the Mediterranean, told his troops he had been unable to come to an agreement with Tito and that "we cannot throw away the principles for which we have fought."

Replies to Charge

2. Tito, replying in an interview with the Yugoslav telegraph agency, said he felt "resentment and surprise" and asserted that "an accusation" such as Alexander's "can only be thrown into the face of an enemy." He reiterated that Yugoslav was prepared to cooperate but "cannot allow herself to be humiliated or x x x tricked out of her rights."

3. The Belgrade radio broadcast that the Yugoslav leader in a formal reply to American and British notes on Trieste said the presence of his troops in the disputed zone would not "prejudice decisions of the peace conference as to whom these territories belong."

4. Acting Secretary of State Grew said in Washington that a Yugoslav note had been received and could not be reconciled with the American position. It reiterated Yugoslav territorial claims, Grew added, and proposed a method for solution. The acting secretary said the United States was consulting with other governments concerned, presumably Britain and Russia.

Yugoslavs Issue Decrees

5. In Trieste Yugoslav authorities issued decrees banning Fascist societies, confiscating property owned by Germans, and dividing the area into three districts for government purposes. There was no evidence of a Yugoslav withdrawal. Yugoslav and Allied troops in the city remained on friendly terms. Two British destroyers with guns pointing to the hills behind the city, were in the harbor with a number of other vessels.

6. An Associated Press dispatch from Belgrade said Tito's note caused disappointment at the U. S. embassy there but a feeling persisted that a settlement could be reached. Reliable sources in London said the note necessitated a further exchange of views.

Alexander's statement to his troops was made public with a statement saying Tito had agreed in July, 1944, and again in February of this year that Alexander's forces, for military purposes, might occupy Venezia Giulia province, which embraces Trieste. Yugoslavia agreed to occupy territory to the east to a line running north of Fiume. This line approximates the 1939 Yugoslav-Italian border.

Text of Allied Statements on Trieste Dispute

ROME, May 19 (AP)—Text of the official Allied military announcement on the occupation dispute with Marshal Tito:

Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, Supreme Allied Commander in the Mediterranean theatre, issued today the following special message to Allied armed forces in the Mediterranean Theatre of Operations:

(1) The territory around Trieste and Gorizia and east of the Isonzo River is part of Italy known as Venezia Giulia. The territory around Aillach and Klagenfurt is part of Austria.

(2) The above Italian and Austrian territory is now claimed by Marshal Tito, who wishes to incorporate it into Yugoslavia. We have no objection to claims being put forward by Marshal Tito to the territory. His claims will be examined and finally settled with fairness and impartiality at the peace conference in exactly the same manner as other disputed areas throughout Europe. Our policy publicly proclaimed is that territorial changes should be made only after thorough study and after full consultation and deliberation between the various Governments concerned.

(3) It is, however, Marshal Tito's apparent intention to establish his claims by force of arms and military occupation. Action of this kind would be all too reminiscent of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan. It is to prevent such actions that we have been fighting this war.

We have agreed to work together to seek an orderly and just solution of territorial problems. This is one of the cardinal principles for which the peoples of the United Nations made their tremendous sacrifices in the endeavor to obtain a just and lasting peace. It is one of the cornerstones on which our representatives, with the approbation of world public opinion, are now at work at San Francisco to build a system of world security.

We cannot now throw away vital principles for which we have all fought. Under these principles it is our duty to hold these disputed territories as trustees until their ultimate disposal is settled at the peace conference.

(4) Within these territories our duty and responsibility is to keep lawful order by our military forces and ensure peaceful and secure life for their peoples through our Allied Military Government. We may be relied upon to act impartially, as we do not covet these territories ourselves.

(5) In this situation I tried my best to come to a friendly agreement with Marshal Tito, but did not succeed. The United States and British Governments have therefore taken up the matter directly with Marshal Tito. The Soviet Government has been kept fully informed.

We are now waiting to hear whether Marshal Tito is prepared to cooperate in accepting peaceful settlement of his territorial claims or whether he will attempt to establish them by force.

(6) It always has been my policy to keep you all, whatever your rank, fully informed about the general situation and objects for which you have fought. I send you this message so that you may know the issues which are now at stake."

Army's Statement

The Army also released the following "background" statement on the Alexander-Tito talks:

Marshal Alexander pointed out to Marshal Tito [in conversations at Lake Bolsena in July, 1944] that their two forces would probably meet at a point somewhere along the coast at the head of the Adriatic Sea and that the line dividing the occupation zones should be established.

In the discussions that followed it was mutually agreed for military reasons that this line should run roughly due north of Fiume, with Marshal Tito's forces controlling the port of Fiume and the territory to the east of the line and Marshal Alexander's troops controlling Venezia Giulia.

More detailed discussions of the zones of occupation for the two forces after the defeat of Germany were held at meetings between Marshals Alexander and Tito in February, 1945, in Belgrade. The same general principles outlined in the talks at Lake Bolsena were again agreed to by Marshal Tito. He also agreed to the Allied Military Government for the Trieste area, and Allied planning for occupation of northeast Italy and Austria was based on Yugoslavia's adhering to commitments made by Marshal Tito at both of these meetings.

At the Belgrade meeting Marshal Alexander informed Marshal Tito that when forces under the Supreme Allied Commander occupied Austria it would be necessary for him to control lines of communication to and from Trieste as well as Trieste itself. The field marshal further pointed out this might readily involve control of all territory west of the 1939 frontier between Italy and Yugoslavia, and certainly would involve the establishment of an Allied Military Government in the areas in question.

He emphasized to Marshal Tito that this would be done without prejudice to the final peace settlement.

Marshal Tito's Reply

Marshal Tito replied he agreed and accepted the idea of an Allied Military Government, provided such civil administration as was established would remain. At the same time he agreed his civil authorities should be responsible to the Allied Military Government.

Marshal Alexander reported the results of the conference to the Allied Governments through the combined Chiefs of Staff.

Approximately two months later the predicted junction of the two forces had taken place, and Marshal Alexander congratulated Marshal Tito on his successes against the common enemy and informed him:

(1) That New Zealand troops under Lieut. Gen. Sir Bernard C. Freyberg entered Trieste on the afternoon of May 2, capturing some 7,000 Germans who were part of the enemy garrison.

(2) That due to recent successes of both forces an overlap of operational areas had resulted, but that this overlap should not cause any serious difficulties in view of the agreements reached at the Lake Bolsena and Belgrade meetings.

(3) That Allied military interests in the Department of Venezia Giulia remained exactly the same as had been outlined at the Belgrade meeting—namely, to use Trieste as a base for the large forces with which the Allies intended to proceed to Austria; that it was agreed the Allies must have effective control of Trieste through the AMG and road and rail communications leading from and into Austria.

To avoid any possibility of misunderstanding over the commitments agreed upon at Belgrade and Lake Bolsena, Marshal Alexander sent Lieut. Gen. W. D. Morgan, Chief of Staff at Allied headquarters, to Belgrade May 8, 1945, to meet Marshal Tito. General Morgan carried with him a written document outlining all points previously agreed upon by Marshals Tito and Alexander.

All of Marshal Tito's previous requests were incorporated, and the purpose of the written document was merely to verify once more, briefly and concisely, all the terms of the two previous meetings.

Points of Agreement

The agreement provided:

(1) That the Allies under Marshal Alexander were to control the port of Trieste and railways and roads from there to Austria via Gorizia and Tarvision to maintain Allied forces in northeast Italy and Austria and were to control a portion of the Department of Venezia Giulia required to safeguard this line of communications.

(2) That all naval, military, and air force units in the area were to be placed under Marshal Alexander's command.

(3) That Marshal Alexander should govern this area, using an Allied military government. Use would be made of any Yugoslav civil administration already set up and working satisfactorily.

(4) That to facilitate and simplify the workings of the agreements in paragraphs 1, 2 and 3, Marshal Tito would withdraw Yugoslav regular forces now in this area.

(5) That any irregular forces in these areas would either hand in their arms to AMG authorities and disband, or would withdraw from the area.

(6) That in order to establish safe shipping lanes in the north Adriatic and particularly the approaches to Trieste, the port of Pola and anchorages on the west coast of Istria between Pola and Trieste would be open to unrestricted use by Allied naval forces.

(7) That this agreement was limited purely to military matter and in no way would prejudice or affect the long-term policy regarding the ultimate disposal of Venezia Giulia.

On reading the document, Marshal Tito said that an understanding could not now be reached on the basis suggested and that recent events had changed the position.

Marshal Tito said that, owing to the changed situation, the problem was now a political one and not a military one. He considered that Yugoslavia had a right as one of the Allies to occupy those territories which it had conquered. He therefore did not intend to withdraw his forces from the area east of the Isonzo River which they now occupy and insisted his civil administration should remain in control there. He added that at the peace conference he would also claim territory west of the Isonzo.

Essence of Counter-Offer

Although he offered to Marshal Alexander facilities in the port of Trieste and on road and rail lines of communication leading from there into Austria, Marshal Tito insisted that this area must remain under Yugoslav control. The essence of his counterproposal was that the territory should be occupied by Yugoslav troops and that Yugoslav administration would be established.

General Morgan replied that he would submit a report of the meeting to Marshal Alexander, who in turn would have to consult with the Allied Governments because of the political aspects raised by Marshal Tito. He also told Marshal Tito that Marshal Alexander would be disappointed in the outcome of the meeting because he had expected, in view of the previous agreements, that matters would proceed differently.

When General Morgan returned to Allied Force Headquarters he reported to Marshal Alexander that, because of Marshal Tito's attitude, further military conversations would avail nothing.

On receiving General Morgan's report, Marshal Alexander sent a message to Marshal Tito stating that since the latter's counter-proposal raised a political issue, the matter would have to be referred to the British and United States Governments. Meanwhile he informed Marshal Tito that he would continue to use the port of Trieste and maintain Allied forces in northeast Italy and Austria. Further, he told Marshal Tito that he trusted he would take steps to assure that no regrettable incidents took place.

On May 11, 1945, Marshal Alexander informed Marshal Tito that he had been ordered by the British and American Governments to occupy and administer the provinces of Styria and Carinthia. He further stated that Allied troops had occupied Klagenfurt and Villach in Austria, where an Allied military government had been established, and had made a junction with Russians at Voitsberg, west of Graz.

In the same message Marshal Alexander requested Marshal Tito to forbid his troops to move over the Austrian border and to withdraw those already across.

This request has so far not been complied with.

suggested, and that recent events had changed the position.

Tito said that owing to the changed situation the problem was now a political one and not a military one. He considered that Yugoslavia had a right as one of the Allies to occupy those territories which it had conquered. He therefor did not intend to withdraw his forces from the area east of the Isonzo River which they now occupy and insisted his civil administration should remain in control there. He added that at the peace conference he would also claim territory west of the Isonzo.

The essence of his counter-proposal was that the territory should be occupied by Yugoslav troops and that Yugoslav administration would be established.

Morgan replied that he would submit a report of the meeting to Alexander, who in turn would have to consult with the Allied governments because of the political aspects raised by Tito. He also told Tito that Alexander would be disappointed in the outcome of the meeting, because he had expected that in view of the previous agreements that matters would proceed differently.

When Morgan returned to Allied Force Headquarters he reported to Alexander that because of Tito's attitude, further military conversations would avail nohing.

Alexander Sends Message

On receiving Morgan's report, Alexander sent a message to Tito stating that since the latter's counter-proposal raised a political issue, the matter would have to be referred to the British and United States governments. Meanwhile, he informed Tito that he would continue to use the port of Trieste and maintain Allied forces in northeast Italy and Austria. Further, he told Tito that he trusted he would take steps to assure that no regrettable incidents took place.

On May 11, 1945, Alexander informed Tito that he had been ordered by the British and American governments to occupy and administer the provinces of Styria and Carinthia. He further stated that Allied troops had occupied Klagenfurt and Villach in Austria, where an Allied military government had been established, and had made a junction with Russians at Voitsberg, west of Graz.

In the same message Alexander requested Tito to forbid his troops to move over the Austrian border and to withdraw those already across.

This request has so far not been complied with.

Background of the Tito Rift: Allies Issue Their Explanation

Allied military authorities at Rome issued a statement yesterday giving the background of the controversy centering in Marshal Josip Broz's (Tito's) insistence on Yugoslav occupation of Italian and Austrian territory despite Field Marshal Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander's representations, as Allied commander in the Mediterranean.

The statement, as reported by The Associated Press, said:

Alexander pointed out to Marshal Tito that their two forces would probably meet at a point somewhere along the coast at the head of the Adriatic Sea and that the line dividing the occupation zones should be established.

In the discussions that followed it was mutually agreed for military reasons that this line should run roughly due north of Fiume, with Marshal Tito's forces controlling the port of Fiume and the territory to the east of the line and Alexander's troops controlling Venezia Giulia.

Meetings in Belgrade

More detailed discussions in the zones of occupation for the two forces after the defeat of Germany were held at meetings between Alexander and Tito in February, 1945, in Belgrade. The same general principles outlined in the talks at Lake Bolsena were again agreed to by Tito. He also agreed to the Allied Military Government for the Trieste area, and Allied planning for occupation of northeast Italy and Austria was based on Yugoslavia adhering to commitments made by Marshal Tito at both of these meetings.

Seek to Verify Terms

U.S., Tito Views Irreconcilable, Grew Discloses

No Allied unity of purpose in Europe exists, Lord Winster declares.....Page 10

Washington, May 19 (AP)—Joseph C. Grew, Acting Secretary of State, said today that a Yugoslav Government note on the Trieste question had been received and that it could not be reconciled with the American position.

He said the Yugoslav note reiterated territorial claims to the Trieste area and proposed a method for solution.

The Yugoslav plan, however, he said, could not be reconciled with the American position which Grew outlined last Saturday.

Grew then declared against settlement of territorial disputes by unilateral action taken in the wake of armies on the march.

Orderly Adjustment Only

Today's statement was made in reply to a question as to whether the Yugoslav note had been received.

The Acting Secretary said that the American position is that it cannot acquiesce in the settlement of territorial disputes by forcible seizure, but must insist upon orderly adjustment of territorial controversies.

He said this Government is consulting on this problem with the other Government concerned.

It was understood that the other governments with which the United States is consulting on this problem are Britain and Russia.

Allies Hindered

Grew said that the situation in Venezia Giula, the region where Triste is located, is being complicated further by the continued infiltration of Yugoslav Partisan troops and their assumption of authority.

The moves, he said, directly affect the ability of the Allied commander to perform duties assigned to him in the occupation of Austria.

The Yugoslav note itself was not made public.

Tito Termed Surprised, Resentful To Alexander

London, Sunday, May 20 (AP)—The Yugoslav telegraph agency today quoted Marshal Tito as expressing "resentment and surprise" at Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander's statement that Tito's policies were "all too reminiscent of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan."

"Such an accusation can only be thrown into the face of an enemy but not to a tortured and bled-white ally who until now was recognized by all freedom-loving people as an example of heroism and self sacrifice in this great war of liberation," the agency quoted Tito as saying in an interview.

"Ready To Co-Operate"

"I declare once again that our Yugoslav Army in Yugoslavia is prepared to co-operate with the Allied forces, with the Allied countries, but at the same time I declare that Yugoslavia cannot allow herself to be humiliated or that she should be tricked out of her rights."

"I declare that Yugoslavia is prepared for collaboration and agreement on such a basis which shall not be insulting nor humiliating for herself as an ally."

WAR CRIMINALS IN BIG-3 LAP

Problem Of Trials May Speed Meeting Of Leaders

London, May 19 (AP)—The involved problem of just who is going to try big-shot German war criminals may speed a meeting of the "Big Three" leaders of the United States, Britain and Russia, diplomatic quarters said tonight.

Russia's long-standing refusal to join the sixteen-nation War Crimes Commission has posed problems of pressing importance since most of the German war criminals are falling into Anglo-American hands.

To Meet May 31

President Truman, Prime Minister Churchill and Premier Stalin, diplomatic quarters said, may take up the problems of the ultmate disposition of German war criminals.

On May 31 the War Crimes Commission will meet officially to discuss the best methods of bringing about close contact between the member governments and the commission itself.

But sources close to the commission reported that the conference would face the involved demands of member nations for custody and trial of individual prisoners on the various war criminals' lists. In many cases these overlap and conflict.

The conference also may attempt to reach an agreement on the procedure for trials and perhaps fix standards of punishment for the different degrees of war crimes.

Russia's Interest

Russia, however, is interested in these problems since she already has listed as war criminals some of those in Allied hands and a Moscow agreement provided for the return of war criminals for trial in the countries where the crimes were committed.

Under the still general plan, however, the four major powers would appoint prosecutors to handle the trial of top-ranking Germans whose crimes blanket Europe.

Still Undecided

Still up in the air are these questions:

1. What will be the procedure for dealing with Germans against whom just two countries have filed claim?

2. In case of mass punishment through forced labor for those convicted of lesser crimes, how will the allocations be made?

3. If Russia and other powers take different views on the guilt of members of the military outside of the Gestapo and the SS, how will the issue be resolved?

The commission itself has refused to express its views on these issues, and the Russian press has criticized the Allies for the delay in starting procedures and for the treatment of some of the ranking German prisoners.

Meanwhile, Allied authorities rounded up new batches of suspected criminals.

Ex-Czech Premier Taken

Rudolf Beran, Premier of Czechoslovakia in 1938-39, and a Czechoslovak banker naemd Kulis-Randa have been arrested as collaborationists, the French Press Agency said.

A Florence dispatch reported the arrest of Peter Koch—an Italian wanted in Rome as a major war criminal responsible for the torture of Italian patriots—and his mistress.

[The British radio said four French admirals of the Vichy regime were to be tried for "high treason" in connection with the scuttling of the French fleet at Toulon in November, 1942. The broadcast, heard by the FCC, identified the four as Admiral Jean Joseph Jules Noel de Laborde, commandant of the base at the time; Admiral Andre Amedee Abel Marquis, maritime prefect of Toulon; Admiral Jean Marie Charles Abrial, former commander in chief of the Vichy naval forces, and Admiral Gabriel Adrien Joseph Paul Auphan, former Vichy Secretary of State for Marine.]

STALIN STANDS PAT ON POLES

He Says Arrests Have No Link With Government Change

Moscow, May 19 (AP)—Marshal Stalin in his first public statement on the difficult Polish question said today that the recent arrest of sixteen Polish leaders had "no connection with the question of the reconstruction of the Polish Provisional Government"—a regime which he declared must be the "basic core" for any expanded unity group.

The Soviet leader contended his view on the Polish Provisional Government was in accordance with agreements reached between himself, Prime Minister Churchill and the late President Roosevelt at the Crimean conference and added that any agreement on the Polish problem would be reached on the "basic core" basis and only on that basis.

Stalin's statement was in written answer to a letter to him from Ralph Parker, Moscow correspondent of the London Times.

Nothing New In Position

There was nothing new in the Soviet position as stated in Stalin's letter since from the beginning of discussions on the reorganization of the Polish Government the Russians have maintained that the present Warsaw regime headed by President Boleslaw Bierut and Eduard Osubka-Morawski should be the basis for any expanded government.

Stalin also denied that the sixteen Poles arrested for alleged Fifth Column activities had been invited by the Soviets to attend any negotiations on the question of reorganizing the Polish Government. He branded their leader, General Okulicki, as a notorious diversionist and called the others lawbreakers.

"These gentlemen," the Russian Premier said, "were arrested in accordance with a law similar to the British defense of the realm act. The arrest was carried out by Soviet military authorities in accordance with an agreement concluded between the Polish Provisional Government and the Soviet Military Command.

Stalin Sees Problem Solved

"It is untrue that the arrested Poles were invited for negotiations with Soviet authorities. Soviet authorities do not and will not conduct negotiations with those who break the law on the protection of the Red Army rear."

While defining officially the terms on which the Soviet Union will agree to reorganizing the present Polish regime until time for a general election, Stalin, however, expressed belief that the problem could be solved.

At present negotiations are at a complete standstill with Soviet Foreign Commissar Molotov in Russia and the other two negotiators, United States Ambassador Harriman and British Ambassador Clark Kerr, not yet returned to Moscow from the San Francisco world security conference.

Points To Yugoslavia

Stalin in demanding that the present Polish regime, which is friendly to Russia, be used as the nucleus of any new government pointed to the "case of Yugoslavia where the National Liberation Committee was recognized as the main core of the United Yugoslav Government."

He also said the problem could be solved "if the question of the reconstruction of the Polish Government is resolved together with the Poles who at present have ties with the Polish people, and not without them."

Stalin also declared that any future Polish government must "pursue a policy of friendship with the Soviet Union and not a policy of 'cordon sanitaire.'" reports were heard here that arrangements were being pressed for a meeting of the Big Three. His statements were in a reply, broadcast by the Moscow radio, to a letter written by Ralph Parker, Moscow correspondent for the London Times.

Poles Must Be Friendly

The second condition, Stalin declared, was that any future Polish government must pursue a friendly policy with Russia, and not a policy of the "cordon sanitaire" against the Soviet Union.

The third essential for solution of the problem he said, was the resolving of the question of reconstruction "together with the Poles who at present have ties with the Polish people, and not without them."

Explains Arrests

Concerning the arrest of the sixteen Poles, Stalin said: "These gentlemen were arrested in accordance with the law protecting the Red Army rear from diversionists, a law similar to the British Defense of the Realm Act. The arrest was carried out by Soviet military authorities in accordance with the agreement between the Polish Provisional Government and the Soviet military command."

Stalin branded as "untrue" state-

Stalin Reveals Soviet Stand On Arrest Of 16 Poles

London, May 19 (AP)—Premier Stalin let the world know today that he will not consider the disputed arrest of sixteen Poles in negotiations for the reorganization of the Warsaw Government ordered at Yalta.

"The arrest of the Poles," Stalin said, "has no connection with the question of reconstruction of the Polish provisional government." These arrests have raised protests in the British House of Commons and in the United States.

Lists Rules For Agreement

Stalin laid down three "elementary" conditions for solution of the Polish question, the first of them recognition of the present Warsaw government as the basic core of a national unity government. At Yalta, President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill pledged recognition of the Warsaw regime as soon as [illegible] organized on a broade[illegible]

ments by the Polish exile government group in London that the arrested men were invited to Russia at the invitation of a Soviet office to discuss the Polish question.

"The Soviet authorities do not and will not conduct negotiations with those who break the law on the protection of the Red Army rear," Stalin asserted.

Russ Asked For Evidence

Both Great Britain and the United States had been reported by United Nations conference officials to have asked Russia for evidence against the sixteen Polish leaders.

The text of Stalin's letter:

"I have somewhat delayed my answer but this is understandable if one keeps in mind how busy I am.

"1. The arrest of the sixteen Poles in Poland with the well-known diversionist General Okulicki at their head has no connection with the question of reconstruction of the Polish provisional government. These gentlemen were arrested in accordance with a law similar to the British Defense of the Realm Act. The arrest was carried out by Soviet military authorities in accordance with an agreement concluded between the Polish provisional government and the Soviet military command.

Not Asked To Negotiate

"2. It is untrue that the arrested Poles were invited for negotiations with the Soviet authorities. The Soviet authorities do not and will not conduct negotiations with those who break the law on the protection of the Red Army rear.

"3. As far as the question of the reorganization of the Polish provisional government itself is concerned, it can only be solved on the basis of the Crimea decisions because no deviations from these decisions can be permitted.

"Elementary Conditions"

"4. I think the Polish question can be solved by agreement between the Allies only if the following elementary conditions are observed:

"(a) If in the reconstruction of the Polish provisional government the latter is recognized as the basic core of the future Polish government of national unity, similar to the case of Yugoslavia, where the National Liberation Committee was recognized as the main core of the united Yugoslav Government.

"(b) If as a result of the reconstruction a government is created in Poland which will pursue a policy of friendship with the Soviet Union and not the policy of the cordon sanitaire against the Soviet Union.

"(c) If the question of the reconstruction of the Polish Government is resolved together with the Poles who at present have ties with the Polish people, and not without them.

"Yours respectfully,

"STALIN."

U.S. Destroyers Given to Britain Still in Service

9 of 50 Over-Age Warships in '40 Trade Were Sunk; Some Used by Russians

LONDON, May 19 (AP).—The fifty over-age destroyers the United States took out of retirement to trade to Britain for leased bases in 1940 proved they still could take and give punishment in nearly five years of war duty. They remain in active British, Canadian and Russian service today, except for nine lost in action.

Two went down after sending U-boats to the bottom ahead of them. These were the former U. S. S. Mason, sunk on Oct. 18, 1941, and the old U. S. S. Branch, on April 11, 1943. Both were on Atlantic convoy duty.

One was sacrificed in the British commando raid on St. Nazaire in 1942 when the U. S. S. Buchanan, renamed the H. M. S. Campbelton, rammed her specially reinforced bow, filled with five tons of delayed-action high explosive, into the submarine locks and blew up much of the harbor works after the crew scampered to safety.

The first to go down was the U. S. S. Welles, renamed the H. M. S. Camerón, torpedoed in 1940. The last was the U. S. S. Swasey, which sank in the Atlantic last Sept. 17. Others officially listed as lost are the former U. S. S. Satterlee, McCall Hopewell and McCook.

Of the forty-one surviving craft nine have been loaned to Russia, seven were last reported in the service of Canada, four are in the Norwegian Navy and the remainder are on Royal Navy duty in the Atlantic and the waters around the British Isles.

Nearly a dozen submarine sinkings or assists are credited to the group of over-age warships, whose presentation as a stop-gap to Britain at a time when things looked blackest touched off a storm of controvery in the United States and set the pattern for future lend-lease grants.

Besides convoy duty on the Atlantic they escorted shipping on the perilous run to Murmansk, escorted troop transports and landing boats to Normandy on D Day and took part in commando raids.

Most of them were originally built for the first world war and had to be repaired in Britain, where all were renamed for British cities.

41 OF 50 TRADED DESTROYERS IN USE

London May 19 (A. P.).—Nine of the fifty overage destroyers traded by the United States to England in 1940 have been lost in action, but the remaining forty-one still are in active service after establishing themselves as outstanding fighting ships through nearly five years of war.

They have been in commando raids, guarded convoys against divebombers on the perilous Nurmansk run, escorted troops across the Channel on D-day and assisted in the hunting down and the sinking of nearly a dozen submarines in the North Atlantic.

Nine of them have been loaned to Russia, seven were last reported in use by the Royal Canadian Navy and the rest are prowling around somewhere in the Atlantic or in British home waters or on convoy in coastal patrol jobs.

The crew of H. M. S. Broadway, formerly the U. S. S. Hunt, was decorated in 1941 for action on convoy duty in the Atlantic. She was nearest to a submarine that was caught sneaking up on a freight convoy. She wheeled and was preparing to ram the submarine when the Nazi crew came tumbling out of the conning tower with their hands up in surrender.

As a sort of parting shot against the Nazis in behalf of all of its sister ships, one of the bartered and battered old destroyers recently had the honor of helping to bring a surrendered German U-boat into a Scottish port.

125,000 Evacuated

London, May 19 (AP)—Approximately 125,000 American and British Empire troops have been flown out of German prisoner-of-war camps since the European war ended, an official tabulation showed today as 100 Flying Fortresses evacuated 3,000 more men from a southern captured airport.

The RAF has brought nearly 85,000 liberated prisoners bask to England, while American bombers have returned about 30,000 men, many of them United States soldiers. The Americans are delivered to French ports, from whic hthey leave for home.

Italian Sub Sank British Battleship

London, May 19 (A. P.).—The British battleship Queen Elizabeth was torpedoed and sunk in January, 1942, by an Italian midget submarine which slipped into the harbor at Alexandria, Egypt, the Office of Naval Affairs said today.

The dreadnaught was refloated and taken to the United States for repairs, the announcement stated. It said no additional information was available.

Rudolf Beran Is Arrested Along With Banker

LONDON, May 19 (AP).—Rudolf Beran, Premier of Czechoslovakia in 1938-'39, and a Czechoslovak banker named Kulis-Randa have been arrested as collaborationists, the French Press Agency said.

A Florence dispatch reported the arrest of Peter Koch, an Italian wanted in Rome as a major war criminal responsible for the torture of Italian patriots, and his mistress.

[The British radio said four French admirals of the Vichy regime were to be tried for "high treason" in connection with the scuttling of the French fleet at Toulon in November, 1942. The broadcast, heard by the Federal Communications Commission, identified the four as Admiral Jean Joseph Jules Noel de Laborde, commandant of the base at the time; Admiral Andre Amedee Abel Marquis, maritime prefect of Toulon; Admiral Jean Marie Charles Abrial, former comm[illegible]r in chief of the Vichy naval forces, and Admiral Gabriel Adrien Joseph Paul Auphan, former Vichy Secretary of State for Marine.]

George Bernard Shaw Doubts Europe Can Long Keep Peace

London, May 19 (AP)—George Bernard Shaw, who in his eighty-eighth year published a provocative political guide for the human race, expressed doubt today that Europe could keep the peace for long, declaring that discords would multiply because "there is no harmony among the big powers."

His views were communicated in characteristic fashion — set down neatly and thriftily in red ink between the paragraphs or on the margins of a questioning letter sent to him—for he dislikes telephone discussions and rarely consents to personal interviews.

His replies are always trenchant, sometimes composed in a key which many persons would consider rude, generally leaving a great deal unsaid, partly because he never wants to go too far out on the limb of prophecy and partly because, as he has often put it, writing is his living, too.

To questions as to whether he considered the prospects good for a lasting peace in Europe based upon the continued co-operation of Britain, Russia, France and the United States, Shaw responded:

"No. How can anyone hope that men who have made such an unholy mess of Europe will now make a paradise of the world?

"The only hope is that circumstances will be too strong for them to do their worst all over again.

How Far Co-Operate?

"How far will they co-operate when the German bayonet is no longer at their throats? Eden and Molotov, for instance?"

It is his habit thus to counter question with question, suggesting difficulties in a given situation without pretending to supply the correctives, indeed implying at times that the chance of applying proper correctives may be remote.

"There is no harmony among the big powers," Shaw replied to a question about the Polish issue and the likelihood of its being settled amicably around the conference table. "Already Poland and Trieste are out of tune; and there will be dozens more discords. But Poland has to be set on its legs again somehow, harmony or no harmony."

No Intention Of Predicting

Then Shaw, whose recent "Everybody's Political What's What" astounded many who thought the famed octogenarian had lost his fire, parried the question: If you were to make a prediction about the Europe of ten years hence—its geography, the color of its politics, the degree of its recovery from the effects of war—what would the prediction be?

"I don't know until I make the prediction, which I have not the smallest intention of doing," he said. "All I can do is to assure you that all the predictions will prove wrong, as only damned fools will be conceited enough to make them."

Russ To Send Ultimatum To Tokyo, Turk Says

London, May 19 (AP)—A political commentator on the Turkish home radio said today the Russians were going to send an ultimatum to Japan warning that the Soviet Union was ready to enter the Pacific war unless Tokyo accepted "the conditions set up by the Allies."

Quoting "generally well-informed diplomatic circles," the Turkish commentator said Moscow had demanded that Japan give up all areas she has occupied to "eliminate the danger of Japanese assault bases against the Soviet Union."

QUISLING TRIAL TO BE SPEEDED

Norwegian Puppet's Home Yields Art Treasures.

London, May 19 (A. P.).—Norwegian authorities catalogued as evidence today an immense fortune in stolen art treasures found in the mansion formerly occupied by Vidkun Quisling, who, they said, would be summoned for a preliminary hearing, probably on treason charges, within a week. Minister of Justice Terge Wold said every attempt was being made to speed the trial of Hitler's luxury-loving puppet Premier.

"We have to study five years of criminal activity and it takes time," Wold said. "But we have no intention of coddling Quisling."

Officials said that of the treasures uncovered, the original

Czecho-Slovakia added Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the German High Command, to its list of more than 500 war criminals, according to a source close to the Czech Government. The Prague radio said two prominent Czechs were arrested on collaboration charges. The broadcast identified them as Rudolf Beran, Prime Minister of Czecho-Slovakia after Munich and former head of the Czech Agrarian party, and Dr. Opakar Krulis-Randa, industrialist who headed the "Czech League Against Bolshevism."

Two German Ports In Hands Of Navy For U.S. Troops' Use

London, May 19 (AP)—The German ports of Bremen and Bremerhaven have taken over by the United States Navy to maintain the American army of occupation in Germany and to embark troops returning to the United States.

Admiral Harold R. Stark, commander of United States naval forces in Europe, announced tonight that Vice Admiral Robert Lee Ghormley, recalled from Pearl Harbor, would command American naval forces in Germany. Admiral Arthur Granville Robinson, commander of ports and bases, will direct the activities at Bremen and Bremerhaven.

Bremen is Germany's largest port next to Hamburg, through which supplies for the British army of occupation will move. Bremen and Bremerhaven have 27 miles of docks. They are on the Weser River 30 miles apart.

About 4,000 navy personnel are getting the two bomb-battered ports ready for business. A navy spokesman said it should not be long before each port could handle at least 10,000 tons of shipping daily.

FREED RETURN BEING PUSHED

Estimated 40,000 Americans Involved In Negotiations

Paris, May 19 (AP)—Supreme Headquarters disclosed officially today that negotiations are "progressing satisfactorily" for the return of Allied prisoners liberated in Russian zones, including a nestimated 40,000 Americans.

Li eut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Civil Affairs Administrator in occupied Germany, recently gave that figure for the American involved, in addition to some 9,000 Allied prisoners, mostly American airmen, who were flown out of the Russian zone a short time ago through special arrangements.

No Details On Negotiations

"As soon as a working agreement has been reached, it will be made effective immediately," today's announcement said. No details were given concerning the nature of the negotiations fo rthe number of persons involved, except that the discussions were between representatives of SHAEF, American and British army groups, and the Soviet Union.

The Allies were wrestling with the still bigger problem of the disposition of German prisoners, numbering something in the neighborhood of 3,000,000. Reports in recent days suggested there has been a tightening of the method of dealing with them, although SHAEF had no comment to make.

Ban Goering Interview

The French are known to have asked for 1,000,000 prisoners to help rehabilitate France. 50,000 of them for the dangerous job of removing mines. The French also have an agreement with American military authorities whereby German prisoners will be placed in the Saar coal mines after a screening process.

SHAEF has placed a ban on further press interviews with Hermann Goering, Kurt Dittmar, Field Marshal Karl von Rundstedt, and other high-ranking German prisoners, presumably in a move to keep their comments from the German people.

Petain Denies Charge

Says Statement He Headed Fascist Cagoulards Is "Garbage"

Paris, May 19 (AP).—Marshal Henri Petain issued a statement today from Fort Montrouge, after he was questioned by officials, denying he ever headed the Fascist and anti-Communist Cagoulards (Hooded Ones) organization.

Petain, during the hearing, was told that at the collaborationist trial of Lieutenant General Mario Roatta at Rome witnesses testified that Petain headed the organization, the French Press Agency said.

Petain's statement said: "This is garbage fetched from special baskets to throw in my face."

French Seen as Firm on Italy

PARIS, May 19 (AP).—As responsible sources said the United States and Britain were exerting pressure on France to withdraw troops from forward positions across the Italian border following the western Allies' demand that the Yugoslavs retire from the disputed Italian region around Trieste, Government circles said the mixed French-Italian populations of the area "have given voluntary manifestations" of a desire for French citizenship.

They indicated the French Government would strongly resist any efforts to force the troops to withdraw, saying French control over the area was dictated by military necessity after Italian operations there in 1940 demonstrated "all too clearly" that it was a danger zone to French security.

Herriot Arrives In South France.

New Post For Quesada

Paris, May 19 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Ralph F. Stearley, 46, Brazil, Ind., has been appointed commander of the 9th Tactical Air Command of the 9th Army Air Force, succeeding Maj. Gen. Elwood R. Quesada, supreme headquarters announced today. Quesada's assignment was not disclosed.

15TH ARMY'S AREA KNOWN

BEACHEAD

Zone Held By Gerow 8 Times That Occupied In '18

SHAEF, Paris, May 19 (AP)—Supreme headquarters disclosed for the first time today that the United States 15th Army's zone of occupation includes everything between the Rhine and the German border, from Wesel in the north to Karlsruhe in the south, and a small triangle east of the Rhine from Coblenz north to Dortmund.

In the final occupation, however, much of the present zone is expected to be taken over by the French and British.

The 15th thus is governing approximately 14,000 square miles including the rich Saar basin, the Rhine valley and the western half of the industrial Ruhr. Aachen, Bonn, Cologne, Trier, Saarbrueckken and Duesseldorf are under its jurisdiction.

NIGHT

Eight Times Size Of Last Area

Under the command of Lieut. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, the 15th Army controls an area about eight times as large as the district supervised by the Americans after the first World War. According to best available estimates, 300,000 to 400,000 United States troops will make up the final American occupying force.

While military governors have no definite information on the present civilian population of the area assigned to the 15th, in prewar years approximately 11,000,000 persons lived in the region.

Already some 5,000 square miles of the area have been turned over by the 15th to non-Nazi German administrators. The area known as "Saar-Pfalz-Rhein-Hessen region" embraces the pre-war province of the Westmark Palatinate and that part of Hessen lying west and south of the Rhine. American military authorities will exercise a "supervisory" role over the German administrators.

Final Zone Not Revealed

Today's announcement, while stripping the secrecy from the role of the 15th, failed to outline the final American occupation zone in Germany.

At present attached to Gerow's Army are the 22d Corps under Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon, former commander of the 2d Armored Division, and the 23d Corps under Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Gaffey, former commander of the 4th Armored Division.

Divisions presently identified are the 94th Infantry, commanded by Maj. Gen. H. J. Maloney; the 28th Infantry under Maj. Gen. Norman D. Cota; the 66th Infantry, which it was revealed has been operating against German garrisons in the St Nazaire and Lorient areas on the French west coast, under Maj. Gen. H. F. Kramer, and the 17th Airborne Division under Maj. Gen. William M. Miley. In addition, there are numerous non-division units of all branches of the service.

15th To Be Augmented

However, the 15th will be augmented by additional units. This will not affect redeployment of troops now attached to the 15th or of units to be attached.

Redeployment is conducted now for the most part on an individual bases rather than by units and the troops under Gerow found eligible for discharge or transfer to the Pacific will be replaced by others.

Gerow, a veteran of the Normandy invasion when he led the 5th Corps onto the beaches as part of the 1st Army, assumed command of the 15th on January 16. The bulk of the 15th's headquarters personnel arrived in France last December, but the army actually operated only as a holding force in its few assignments, and finished the European war without having any real combat.

1ST BIG REICH REGIME SET UP

200 Non-Nazis Start Administration Under U.S. Order

POLICE

Neustadt, Germany, May 19 (AP)—Under the watchful eye of American occupation officials, the first provincial government of postwar Germany, carefully picked from over 200 non-Nazis, has begun administration of Westmark province, an area of more than 5,000 square miles in the United States zone of occupation.

Three American generals attended the inaugural ceremony yesterday of the new government and received a pledge from Dr. Hermann Heimerich, head of the German administration and former Mannheim mayor, who said:

"We are extremely grateful to you . . . we want to try to lead the German people out of catastrophe and work for reconstruction. Naturally, we will show loyalty in all of our work. We will discuss all of our problems openly. We who have been entrusted with this work do not entertain any mental reservations."

Rhine Area Next

Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Gaffey, commander of the 23d Corps, is military governor of the area under Lieut. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, of the 15th Army, which is also occupying German territory as far north as the Ruhr.

Until yesterday, German administrations had been reconstructed only on the level of municipalities and counties.

In addition to getting Westmark province revived a special detail of ocers from the 15th Army is seeking suitable German administrators for the Rhine province.

Various informal statements of these officers have indicated they are selecting Germans identified with the Social Democratic and Catholic Centrist parties before 1933.

Communists Do Not Figure

Known Communists have not figured importantly in this selection, although they were among the first anti-Nazis to make their identity plain to American authorities.

Catholic clergymen claim that a large majority of the population in Westmark and the Rhine is Catholic by faith.

The new oberpraesident heading the enlarged Westmark province, Dr. Heimerich, was mayor of Mannheim until ousted in 1933 by the Nazis as "undesirable." He was a member of the Social Democratic party since 1911 and a civil administrator since 1916.

Five Assistants Named

American officers named these five assistants to work under Heimerich:

Deputyoberpraesident Dr. Wilhelm Zutt, 54 ,a nattorney who resigned from the first World War veterans' organization when it was incorporated into the Nazi SA.

Legal and public safety chief, Dr. Hans Anschutz, 44, an attorney;

Labor and public relations chief, Adolf Rausch, 45, a German labor leader prior to his imprisonment in 1933 who was liberated from the Dachau concentration camp earlier this year;

Education and religious affairs chief, Emil Henk, 51, who claims to have been a leader in the Socialist underground and connected with the bomb plot against Hilter last July;

Public health and personnel chief, Dr. Alexander Mitscherlich, 36, a neurologist of the University of Heidelberg who was imprisoned by the Nazis for underground activities.

No Sympathy

Except for Heimerich the political affiliations of the members of the government were not made public by American authorities.

With Major General Gaffey, Maj. Gen. Norman D. Cota of the 28th Division, and the latter's artillery commander, Brig. Gen. Basil Perry, in attendance, the cautionary guidance to the provincial administrators was delivered by Lieut. Col. James R. Newman of Floral Park, Long Island, N.Y., military government officer.

Newman said the installation of the provincial government was "no dictated by any feeling of misplaced sympathy for our enemies."

DR. ROSENBERG IS CAPTURED IN FLENSBURG

CHAMBERLAIN

Heinrich Himmler Also Believed Hiding In 'Doenitz's Compound'

Hitler believed killed by SS colonel ..... Page 2

With British 2d Army, May 19 (AP)—A ranking British officer said today that Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi philosopher who through the years advocated the attack on Russia, had been picked up by a British patrol in a Flensburg hospital.

The officer, who had just returned from Flensburg, where he said he saw Rosenberg in the custody of British garrison troops, said that there were rumors that Heinrich Himmler was in the city—"Doenitz's compound"—and that an intensive search was being made for the Gestapo chief.

It was during this search for Himmler that the British found Rosenberg in a hospital suffering from a sprained ankle, the officer said.

Matter Of Days

"There is every reason to believe that Himmler sought protection from Doenitz and was granted it and that he is in his headquarters zone," the officer said.

"Personally I think it only a matter of days before he is rooted out. Rosenberg's presence in the compound without the knowledge of supreme Allied headquarters or the British troops clearly shows there is need for an investigation and the housecleaning now is being carried out."

The officer said Rosenberg's wife and his daughter, about 20 years old, also were taken into custody by an infantry brigade of the 11th Armored Division apparently dispatched by supreme headquarters officials who have headquarters in the German luxury liner, Patria, a mile or so off Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz's compound area.

"Sour Stomach"

Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, 52-year-old Nazi "philosopher with the sour stomach," was the leading exponent of the Nazi party's anti-clerical, anti-Semitic and anti-Bolshevik crusades.

He is the man who is believed at one time to have had the greatest influence in the direction of Hitler's foreign policy. It was he who convinced the German Führer that Germany should Nazify Russia and should invade the Soviet Union—an attempt which led to Nazi Germany's undoing.

It was Rosenberg who dreamed up the idea of the German "superman," only to see the "master race" fall back from Moscow to Berlin under the blows of the "inferior" Russians.

Reign Of Terror

As Reichminster for occupied eastern territories, Rosenberg was responsible for the reign of terror which subjugated the Baltic lands, his own White Russia and Poland, which he regarded as a "mongrel nation" and biologically impure.

Rosenberg had been Hitler's expert on Baltic and Russian affairs since 1919. During Hitler's writing of "Mein Kamp," Rosenberg visited the Führer-to-be every day in his prison, and their exchange of ideas reportedly accounts for the racial diatribes and dogma set forth in the Nazi "bible."

Rosenberg himself was a profuse pamphleteer. He wrote hundreds of books against the Catholic Church, the Protestant Church, freemasonry, the Jews, social democracy, the Bolsheviks and the Versaille treaty.

He is a fanatic exponent of Aryanism and was Hitler's deputy commissioner for the Nazi education of German children, but he was one of the most unpopular men in Hitler Germany. Hitler was said to be his only friend, the remainder of the Nazi big-shots his enemies. One of his jobs was head of the Nazi party's "foreign political office"—which had the task of indoctrinating Naziism into foreign diplomats and correspondens in Berlin.

Rosenberg5s name recently was linked with the desecration of museums and the exaermnation of thousands of Jews in eastern Europe.

COLONEL HELD HITLER KILLER

Secretary Says Guenche, SS Man, Was Assigned Job

COLONEL

Berchtesgaden, Germany, May 19 (AP)—The $5,000-a-year shorthand expert who shadowed Adolf Hitler with a notebook from 1942 until a few days before the Führer was reported dead, said today it was likely the German leader was killed by an SS colonel specifically assigned to the task—with Hitler's knowledge.

The statemen twas made by Gerhard Herrgessel, 36-year-old law-trained secretary who said he left Hitler in the caverns under the Berlin Reichschancellery shortly before midnight April 22. It was supported by six colleagues who recorded the most intimate meetings between Hitler and his henchmen since 1939.

Guensche The Man

The triggerman was identified as a Colonel Guensche, SS adjutant in charge of the underground chancellery in its last hours. His assignment, Herrgesell said, was to kill Hitler, make certain his body was disposed of in such a manner the Russians did not find it—then turn his gun on himself.

"Hitler was never out of Guensche's sight those last few days," Herrgesell said. "He acted as his peronal aide, taking telephone messages and remaining at his elbow. Hitler wanted to make certain he died instantly. He said he did not want to be wounded. He did not want to be captured by the Russians, nor did he want his corpse to fall into their hands."

Common Knowledge

Ludwig Krieger, Heinz Buchholl, Karl Thoet, Dr. Kurt Peschel, Dr. Ewald Reynitz and Hans Helling—they were present at Hitler's last birthday conference, supported Herrgesell, report.

They said they heard the plans discussed and it was common knowledge among Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Col. Gen. Gustav Jodl, Martin Bormann, Dr. Paul Joseph Goebbels and others with the Führer a tthe end.

In a long conversation with the schorlarly corps of historians—hired by Hitler to record his every utterance—additional bits of information were picked up to fit into the jigsak puzzle of the Führer's last days.

Goering Got It First

They all fit into two trends which run through the events from April 20 on—first, the desperate efforts by Hitler's closest advisers to persuade him to leave Berlin; second, Hitler's growing stubbornness, gradually changing to bitterness, which saw him telling them off one by one, leaders of the Luftwaffe, the Wehrmacht, even the SS.

Geoering got it first.

"Hitler told him that for the last year and a half the Luftwaffe was responsible for Germany's reversals," Helling said. "Goering did not answer—just shrugged his shoulders and looked down."

This outburst came at an April 20meeting in Berlin, and before it broke up, Helling added, Goering, with the attitude of a whipped pup, announced: "I don't see much reason for me staying here. I'm going south."

As he shook hands with Hitler, Bormann—who had developed a mutual feud with the Reichsmarshal—asked sarcastically: "How are you going to get out?"

The Russians at the time were in the suburbs of the Nazi capital.

"I can," Goering replied. "I'll make it by car, all right."

There was a strained silence when Goering left the room. It was broken by Hitler—staring at a map showing the advance of the Red Army—who said grimly: "Well, if we do go down, one thing is certain—it is not the wish of the English."

All Women Leave

The fact that it was Hitler's birthday did not ease the tension at a meeting attended by Keitel, Bormann, Jodl, General Krebs, a Nazi named Burgodorff, and General Winter. These decisions were made: Jodl was to take command in the north, Winter in the south and the headquarters staff in Berlin was to be stripped to essential personnel.

"All women were ordered to leave," Krieger said. "And only two recorders were to remain—Herrgesell and one other."

Events of the next two days were supplied by Herrgesell—a cold, sharp-eyed man who told of what he described as the dramatic hours in the headquarters hundreds of feet below the bomb and shell-pocked pavement of the Wilhelmstrasse.

Doenitz Goes April 21

"Even the explosions of the 10-ton RAF bombs could not be heard," he said.

Doenitz and his staff left on April 21 but night came without any clear-cut announcement from Hitler on his plan—whether he intended to remain in Berlin.

"Goebbels came in at noon," Herrgesell related, "and said he had just received a phone call. The Russians were in Prez Lauer Allee—just a 20-minute walk from the Reichschancellery. He told Hitler they had the city surrounded."

Hitler went on studying the map as if he did not notice. Goebbels hesitated and left the room.

At 12.30 o'clock, Hitler met with Keitel, Jodl, Bormann, Krebs and Goebbels for an hour. Detailed reports on the battle positions were discussed, but the answer to the big question still did not come.

The group was summoned again at 3 P.M., and Htiler told them, Hergesell said, not once but ten times, "I am going to stay in Berlin. I won't desert now. I will fall here before the chancellery."

The words were repeated over and over again as if the Führer relished the dismay and anxiety which was written over his colleagues' faces.

Then came a long series of pleadings by Hitler's followers trying to dissuade him from his fateful decision.

"We Must Hold On"

These were climaxed by one from Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop—disclosed today for the first time—and the only one which tempted Hitler to change his mind.

"The others whispered that Goebbels got him to do it," Herrgesell said. "Von Ribbentrop telephoned Hitler an dtold him: "Mein Führer, you must hold on. From one of my agents in Switzerland who has contact with high British military circles, I have just learned that British and Americans are going to fight against Russia. We must hold on.'

"Hitler's face lighted up for a moment, then he wilted and slowly, contemptuously said: 'That's what you say!' and hung up on him."

Keitel and Bormann remined Hitler of "what you told us months ago—we must fight as long as any of Germany is left. You said you wanted to fight until the piece of ground was gone and you had been thrice killed."

No Confidence

"I no longer have any confidence in the Wehrmacht," Herrgesell said Hitler began. "I have no confidence in the Luftwaffe for two years now—losing four planes to the enemy's one—and now I have lost confidence in the SS."

The words had the effect of a bolt of lightning, Herrgesell said. It was the first time Hitler had spoken so frankly to his military and political leaders.

"The Waffen SS in the 6th Army," Hitler went on, "was fighting the Hungarians in Russia—I was told I had 75,000 men when really there were only four divisions, more nearly 40,000 men. The attack collapsed in a few days. Dietrich (Gen. Sepp Dietrich) lied to me.

"Fegelein (SS adjutant to Hitler) told me there were 5,000 or 6,000 SS to defend Berlin. They are not SS at all. Just stragglers. Where are they? There are no more than 400 men in the barracks."

SS Gen. Wisch Captured.

Hamburg, May 19 (A. P.).—SS Gen. Wisch, commander of an elite armored unit, was caught today by British security officers in Hamburg and questioned regarding reports that he had helped to hide Heinrich Himmler in his home during a recent search of the area for the Gestapo leader. Gen. Wisch, suffering from a bullet wound he said he received in battle just before Germany's surrender, now is in a hospital.

Rosenberg Jailed.

Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, who directed the education of Germany in Nazi precepts, has been arrested by the Allies and placed in jail, the BBC said today in a broadcast heard by NBC. He was reported found yesterday in a hospital at Flensburg.

A member of Hitler's "old guard," Rosenberg became the ideological leader of the Reich in 1934. He also had headed the Nazi party's foreign political office and had served as Minister of Civil Administration in what formerly constituted eastern occupied German regions.

Cosmetics Plant In Hamburg Open

GERMAN PRISONERS TO BE RELEASED SOON

WITH THE U. S. NINTH ARMY IN GERMANY, May 19—(AP) German prisoners of war soon may be streaming back home by the thousands following a careful interrogation and intelligence scrutiny by American Army investigators.

Although no confirmation was forthcoming tonight from any headquarters, one Army officer said orders had been received to screen all prisoners immediately and release those found not to be security hazards, war criminals or ardent Nazis.

How rapidly such an investigation can take place appeared to be largely a matter of manpower. Except for routine cases, screening can be handled only by trained and experienced Army investigators. However the officer said sufficient preliminary screening has been done so that sizeable numbers of cases could be handled swiftly.

The prisoners released will not be out from under military surveillance since some Allied units will be occupying their home town areas, thus providing a local check on their activities.

Russians Help Germans Fight Food Shortage

Establish Free Trade and Profit System to Get Peasants to Sell Produce

MOSCOW, May 19 (AP).—The Red Army command in Russian-occupied Germany today re-established free trade and the profit system and encouraged peasants to sell or barter their surplus produce on the open market in a move to combat the serious threat of famine in the cities.

The new decrees, together with the establishment of a food ration in Berlin and Dresden greater than that the Germans had under Hitler in the last days of the war, was reported to have made a deep impression on the German people.

The new measures were announced by the Russian Commissar of Foreign Trade, Anastas I. Mikoyan, who told a "Pravda" correspondent that the Russians went into action after reports of near-famine in Berlin and Dresden.

The decrees were ordered as a means of getting devestated territory quickly working again. They follow pretty much the regulations in the Soviet Union, where peasants are allowed to sell their surpluses for private profit and where, in some liberated areas, the Russians have allowed free trade for profit.

Mikoyan said there were shocking scenes of starvation in and around Berlin with thousands of men, women and children constantly begging for bread scraps from Russian officers and soldiers.

He quoted letters from Red Army soldiers saying that Berliners were devouring grass from the parks and bark from the trees in their great hunger.

"All these conditions," he said, "forced our command to take measures to improve the German food situation."

"But that is not the only reason," Mikoyan said after returning from a visit to Berlin and Dresden. "The morals and traditions of the Soviet people prescribe that we treat humanely the peaceful inhabitants of conquered lands."

Mikoyan pointed out, however, that the measures were only for peaceful inhabitants and not for Nazis or ardent supporters of National Socialism.

Moscow Gardeners Get Trains

MOSCOW, May 19 (AP)—One hundred and ninety special trains will take Moscow residents to their gardens outside the city tomorrow in the largest mass gardening operation in the history of the Soviet Union. Dozens of special ticket offices will open early to accommodate the traffic.

Reds Demonstrate 'Flying Automobile'

Moscow, May 19 (A. P.).—Russia made public today several new Soviet passenger planes, including a single-engined "flying automobile" designed for a pilot and three passengers. The models were demonstrated at the Moscow airport. They were designed by Alexander Sergevich Yakovlev, designer of the Yak fighter, one of the mainstays of the Red Air Force.

The "flying automobile" has a seat for the pilot and one for a passenger beside him. Behind them are two more seats. All of the new planes are single-winged and air-cooled.

Russia Honors Joseph E. Davies

MOSCOW, May 19 (AP).—Joseph E. Davies, former American Ambassador to Russia and author of the book "Mission to Moscow," has received the Order of Lenin from the Soviet government.

Russ Warned Against 'Corruption' By Enemy

Moscow, May 19 (AP)—The army newspaper Red Star, in an editorial today, told Russians in foreign countries to be constantly on the alert "even against wine and women sent to corrupt them and win away secrets with song and grape."

"The guns are silent, but the combat is going on," the editorial stated. "The enemy will use the most cunning and villainous methods."

The editorial said "the advantage of the Soviet regime over the capitalistic system should be ingrained in the army as never before."

Reds Publish Slav Claims

Moscow, May 19 (AP)—Izvestia, official government newspaper, printed today an interview with Edward Kerdel, assistant president of the Yugoslav Council of Ministers, upholding Yugoslav claims to Trieste.

Kerdel stated that not only Trieste but Istria and the Slovenian maritime district were "liberated exclusively by the Yugoslav Army's own forces."

"From a formal standpoint," he said, "it is fully natural that the Yugoslav Army has the same rights on territory it occupied as have the rest of the Allied armies which occupied alien territory during the war.

"This territory is not alien, but our own national land," he added, "forcibly taken from Yugoslavia in the past."

World 'Tower Of Babel,' Vatican Paper Asserts

Vatican City, May 19 (AP)—The newspaper Osservatore Romano, deploring the use of force for the settlement of international differences, declared today that the present world political situation was a "Tower of Babel."

The newspaper said the words liberty, democracy and liberation were being deformed. What is "liberty" for some is "oppression" for others and for many "liberation" means "occupation," while others interpret "democracy" as meaning "absolutism," it said.

"The world was asked to participate in the immense catastrophe (of war) in order that it might be the last one," the newspaper said. "Yet too many already say another war is necessary in order to put an end finally to all wars."

Pope To Address Sport Clubs

Vatican City, May 19 (AP)—Pope Pius XII will speak over the Vatican radio at 10.30 A.M. tomorrow (4.30 A.M., Eastern War Time) during a special audience for members of Rome's sport and gymnastic clubs.

Bishop Oxnam Expected in Athens

Athens, May 19 (A. P.).—Methodist Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam of New York was scheduled to arrive in Athens today. He will be the guest of Archbishop Damaskinos, the Greek Regent, during his stay in the capital.

Russians Fume, Swedes Shrug At Tale Of Stalin 'Peccadillos'

Stockholm, May 19 (AP)—The Swedish Government has informed Russia it regrets that the Soviets considered offensive a Swedish magazine story citing "rumors" that Premier Stalin gave attention to "one on another girl" and that "after a night of heavy drinking he drove back to the Kremlin happily shooting his revolver."

The Foreign Office made it clear, however, that the magazine would not be confiscated as Russia had requested.

The Soviet Government protested teh article in a note saying that it was "incompatible with normal relations between Russia and Sweden."

"Steel Man"

Sweden's reply said the magazine's editor, Arvid Fredborg, had assured the Foreign Office that the publication, "Obs," had no intention of abusing or injuring the Soviet Union or its leaders.

The article was printed in the Obs April 20 issue under the title "Steel Man," which is the Russian meaning of the name "Stalin" and which in Sweden is the title of a comic strip.

The article began with a description of what it termed prerevolutionary Russia's love of saints. It said Stalin gave the Russian masses what they wanted by becoming "a new little father and the object for a religiou cult." The Russians, the sketch added, always wanted holy men to be "strong eaters, drinkers and lovers."

Of Great Energy

"Thus Stalin was never injured by rumors that after a night of heavy feasting and drinking he drove back to the Kremlin happily shooting his revolver," the article said.

"Or (was he injured by rumors) that he hopped up on a table and danced among the glasses, or that he let his happy feelings be increased by one or another girl."

The article also said that during his early years Stalin became "the leader of a group of Georgian professional revolutionists which engaged in robbing the mail and bank transports."

The Premier was described as a man of great energy, which the sketch said was "exceptional among the Russians." He worked himself into the Bolshevik party machinery by sheer effort, the magazine

First In Work, Power

Unlike Lenin and Trotsky, it said, Stalin never emigrated, "was unaffected by the west's effiminate influence," and never became an international socialist.

"His strength has been that he has never been an ideologist, the article said. "He kept belief in the Communist paradise only because it was useful for the country.

"His foremost idea always has been one and the same: to be first in work and power.

"One should not believe that the Russian masses interpret yesterday's pact with Berlin and today's alliance with London and Washington as any treachery. The Russian saint shall always exceed in cunning when it is a matter of handling foreigners."

"Provocative," But

The article said that Stalin has always been an outstanding organizer, particularly in army supply, and "it is in this respect that his contribution on the current war should be judged."

"He shaped Russian administrative apparatus," the sketch added. "He brought order out of the chaos caused by the civil war."

Stockholm's Social Democratic newspaper Aftontidningen described the article as "provocative" but said a person must be very "thin-skinned" to interpret it as an insult.

"The Russians themselves generally don't show such solicitude in presenting their views," the paper said.

The newspaper Tidningen declared that "it is in the country's interest that all such utterances be avoided."

Tidningen observed that the government has no pre-censoring power, but cited a section of Sweden's free press laws forbidding the publication of abusive articles directed at foreign powers."

Hitler Plan To Kill U.S., British Prisoners Told

By Thomas F. Hawkins

Bern, Switzerland, May 19 (AP)—Hitler wanted to kill all American and British prisoners in the closing days of the war against Germany, a Nazi official told Prof. Carl J. Burckhardt, president of the International Red Cross committee.

Burckhardt told me this after a press conference in which he discussed the difficulties of aiding prisoners and the impossibility of entering concentration camps in Germany.

He did not name the Nazi official, but perhaps it was Himmler's assistant, Ernst Kaltenbrunn, with whom Burckhardt conferred early in March.

Lacked Power To Enforce

Hitler even then lacked the power to enforce such wishes, Burckhardt said, and the Himmler group did not carry them out. Many political prisoners in concentration camps apparently were not so fortunate.

Burckhardt, in a general statement designed to refute San Francisco criticisms said the committee had made every effort to aid victims in concentration camps but that the Red Cross delegates never were permitted to visit these camps, except for a few in the closing days of the war. No convention exists authorizing such visits, he said, but prisoner-of-war-camp inspections are covered under international law.

Criticism Resented

An assistant of Burckhardt's, who made trips into Germany to convoy out the few thousand civilian prisoners whom the Red Cross was able to rescue during the spring, expressed resentment of the criticisms. The Red Cross committee, with only moral force and lacking legal backing, did all it could, he said, and several hundred thousand parcels of food and medicine were sent into a few concentration camps.

Burckhardt himself made only one short trip across the border in March. He did not see Himmler, but met Kaltenbrunner and lesser officials from whom he sought the release of political prisoners.

Kaltenbrunner agreed in principle, but the details were left to individual camp commanders. They were warned by Burckhardt that they would be held personally responsible.

Events moved so rapidly that committee envoys were unable to accomplish mass action before the war's end, Burckhardt added.

Recently the committee lost virtually all contact with Germany. It announced today it no longer had facilities for forwarding letters of inquiry about civilians, although efforts to arrange channels continue.

YANKS MARRY IN PILSEN

Red Cross Worker and Major in First All-American Wedding

PILSEN, Czechoslovakia, May 19 (AP)—Major Charles A. McIntosh Jr. of Dade City, Fla., and Miss Virginia M. Lackman of Bradford, Ill., a Red Cross worker, were married today in the Pilsen Methodist Church. It was the first all-American wedding held in Czechoslovakia since the country's liberation.

Miss Lackman, whose wedding gown was her uniform, spent twelve hours in a truck on her journey from Belgium, where the couple first met.

Lieut. Col. Harry V. Hamblen of Healdton, Okla., a chaplain, performed the ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner of Bushton, Kan., and 2006 Columbia Road, Washington, D. C., the commander of the Fifth Corps in the United States Third Army.

Skoda Works May Aid War on Japs

Pilsen, Czecho-Slovakia, May 19 (A. P.).—An Allied commission of experts is studying the bomb-shattered Skoda munitions works to learn whether they can be restored sufficiently to aid in the war against Japan.

American heavy bombers on April 25 smashed about 40 per cent of the buildings of Skoda's 126 factories covering more than 1,000 acres here, but reduced production by 70 per cent. The plants turned out tanks, tank destroyers, airplane engine parts and all types of heavy munitions for the German army.

5000 Danish Children Called Illegitimate

Copenhagen, May 19 (A. P.).—Five thousand illegitimate children of German fathers were born in Denmark during the five-year occupation, officials said today. German fathers of 1,400 of the children have acknowledged paternity, but the care of the mothers of the children is borne by the National Bank of Denmark through a special office set up in the Justice Ministry.

Belgian Miners Return

Brussels, May 19 (AP)—Seventy five per cent of Belgium's striking mine workers were back at work today following Premier Achille van Acker's threat to put strike leaders under arrest. Railwaymen, general transport employés and postmen have threatened to walk out next Monday.

Dutch Tapped Nazi Teletype System

Amsterdam, May 19 (AP)—It can be told now that under the noses of the Germans the Netherlands underground established a country-wide secret telephone network linking up small villages with an underground headquarters.

Aneta, Dutch news service, says the system was automatic and every one of the larger towns had its own central exchange. Once underground workers rowed across the Issel River at night to replace telephone lines after a bridge was blown up by the Nazis.

Tapped German Lines

"We even tapped the Germans' telephone lines," said an Amsterdam engineer. "I heard the conversation between Hitler and the German chief of police in Holland, Walther Rauter, September 7, when Rauter informed the Führer that Brussels had been taken by the Allied forces."

German teletypes also were tapped, giving the Dutch valuable information which they passed over their telephone lines to the Allies.

French Troop Arrival Stirs Lebanese Storm

Beymouth, May 19 (AP)—Arrival of 1,200 French troops in this capital of Lebanon when the protectorate was agitating for independence precipitated a stormy session of the Lebanese Parliament yesterday and left the atmosphere tense today.

In Cairo, the newspaper Al Balagn said Lord Killearn, British Ambassador, after a meeting with Premier Nokrashy Pasha, termed the situation in Syria and Lebanon "very delicate." The secretary of the general Arab league, Ardel Rahmen Azam Bey, conferred today with Lebanese officials.

300 FORTS BLAST HAMAMATSU AREA

Balked by Weather on Tokyo Mission, Bombers Hit Industrial Target.

GUAM, Sunday, May 20.—(AP) More than 300 Superfortresses, balked by adverse weather from attacking Tokyo in force, unloaded 2,000 tons of demolition bombs yesterday on the Hamamatsu industrial area of Honshu, 60 miles southeast of war-battered Nagoya.

The 21st Bomber Command said Hamamatsu was a secondary target, hammered because of thick cloud formations over the Nipponese capital. Radio Tokyo reported that the B-29 crews nonetheless let a few bombs drop on Tokyo—as a calling card.

Japanese broadcasters reported, without confirmation, that 30 more Superforts visited Japan's strategic waters, sowing mines in Wakasada bay and Bungo strait.

The Tokyo and Hamamatsu raids plowed up more vital war areas, adding to the 59.58 square miles of devastation spread by Marianas-based B-29s since last November in half a dozen of Nippon's largest cities.

A report by Maj. Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, commander of the 21st Bomber Command, said the bombed-out districts included 17 square miles in Tokyo and 11.3 square miles of Nagoya, Nippon's third largest city.

Twenty-First Bomber Command headquarters in Guam reported that some 300 of the big planes unloaded 2,000 tons of demolition bombs in their heaviest strike yet against the Hamamatsu industrial area, about 60 miles southeast of war-battered Nagoya. Hamamatsu, on Honshu island's coast, was hammered around the noon hour. Fighter planes escorted the bombers.

At Washington, a 20th Air Force communique tonight (Saturday, Washington time) said "the mission was directed at factory areas in Tokyo and Hamamatsu but because of bad weather conditions at Hamamatsu." No planes were lost to enemy action.

Bombing was by instrument from a medium altitude through an undercast making observation impossible, the communique said. There was little fighter opposition and only moderate flak.

Demolition bombs were used in both raids in contrast to the two heavy incendiary strikes against Nagoya, great aircraft production center, earlier this week. In the Nagoya attacks, involving some 500 Superforts each time, the Yank bombardiers unloaded more than 2,200,000 six-pound fire bombs.

Tokyo acknowledged the raid but said it was carried out by only 80 planes. The Japanese agency Domei reported that about 30 B-29s dropped mines in Wakasa bay, western Honshu facing the sea of Japan, while others were "believed" to have mined Bungo strait, southern doorway to Nippon's strategic inland sea.

Before the war the city of Hamamatsu, with a population of approximately 166,000, was a textile manufacturing center. After hostilities opened, the city's industries were converted to war production, such as plane propellers. The city has four airfields, military bases and is a railroad center.

More Than 400 Attack Targets in Tokyo and at Hamamatsu.

MINES SOWN IN JAP WATERS

Biggest Force Batters Industrial City Southeast of Nagoya—2000 Tons Dropped.

Guam, May 19 (A. P.).—More than 400 Superforts were reported over Japan today, bombing Tokyo and Hamamatsu industrial targets and laying mines in two vital waterways.

Some 300 B-29s raided Hamamatsu about noon in the heaviest strike and the only one announced by the Twenty-first Bomber Command here. They dropped more than 2,000 tons of demolition bombs in the greatest raid ever made on the industrial center.

The Twentieth Air Force in Washington and Japanese broadcasts both reported the strike on Tokyo by perhaps 150 Superfortresses. Japanese propagandists, who have taken to belittling the size of bomber strikes, said eighty B-29s were in the formation.

The Japanese Domei News Agency also reported two mine-laying expeditions. The enemy dispatch said that about thirty Superforts mined Wakasa Bay, western Honshu port on the Japan Sea, during the morning and another formation was believed to have dropped mines in Bungo "Strait," southwestern entrance to the Inland Sea.

Hamamatsu, an important pre-war textile manufacturing center, had converted to diversified war production, including manufacture of airplane propellers. The city, sixty miles southeast of Nagoya, has about 166,000 population.

It is an important railroad center and site of military bases, including four airfields.

The Superfortresses bombed from medium altitude, through an undercast so were unable to observe results of their attack with high explosives. Fighters, presumably Iwo Jima-based Army Mustangs, escorted the B-29s.

About the time the B-29s were leaving for Hamamatsu, Major-Gen. Curtis LeMay, commander of the Twenty-first Bomber Command, said that four raids on Nagoya's industrial plants and small home factories had destroyed 11.3 square miles of that third largest Japanese city. That is 22 per cent of Nagoya's area.

Thirty-three specific military targets, including two important Mitsubishi aircraft factories, the Mitsubishi Electric Manufacturing Company, three important Aichi aircraft works plants and Atsuta factory of the Nagoya Arsenal were virtually destroyed or heavily damaged in the series of four raids—March 12 and 19 with demolition bombs, Monday and Thursday with a total of more than 2,000,000 little fire bombs.

Gen. Lemay also said 59.58 square miles of six of Japan's largest cities, including some seventeen square miles of Tokyo, have been bombed out or damaged by B-29 attacks.

Today's raid was the first in force on Hamamatsu, whose urban industrial area was the chief target. Small raids, the last April 30, previously had been directed at the city.

The Monday and Thursday fire raids on Nagoa destroyed or damaged 5.9 square miles of war plants. Three—Mizuho branch of the Aichi Aircraft works, the Osaka machinery works and Nagoya plant No. 3 of the Tokai Electrode Company—were destroyed, reconnaissance photographs disclosed.

Ancient Nagoya Castle Fortress was damaged and several buildings in the castle were destroyed or damaged.

B-29 FLIERS DECORATED

Medals Are Awarded in India Among 'Billy Mitchell' Group

HEADQUARTERS, TWENTIETH BOMBER COMMAND, India (By Mail) (AP)—Recipients of decorations in the "Billy Mitchell" Group of this B-29 Superfortress command included the following from the New York metropolitan area:

Distinguished Flying Cross—Capt. Leslie J. Sloan of Newburgh and T/Sgt. James F. Mulligan of 365 East 193d Street, New York.

Air Medal—First Lieut. William J. Stoops of 485 Gramatan Avenue, Mount Vernon, and First Lieut. Paul P. Tosches of 121 Williams Avenue, Jersey City.

Oak Leaf Cluster to Air Medal—Capt. Theodore J. Michaliszyn of 116-24 126th Street, South Ozone Park, Queens; First Lieut. Frank W. Maloney of 97 Ryerson Street, Brooklyn; S/Sgt. Bernard Cohen of 1905 Bergen Street, Brooklyn; S/Sgt. Paul Abouchar of 532 Seventy-eighth Street, Brooklyn, and S/Sgt. Michael J. Herrighty of Irvington, N. J.

Bronze Star Medal—M/Sgt. William de Mayo of 288 West Seventh Street, New York; S/Sgt. Max Hodes of 6 Ludlow Street, New York, and S/Sgt. Joseph Costello of 292 Fairmont Avenue, Newark, N. J.

Okinawa Station Goes On Air Today

Okinawa, May 19 (AP)—Radio Okinawa, the newest addition to the United States armed forces' radio service in the Pacific, goes on the air tomorrow.

A dedicatory program will be held in an improvised studio of floor and sidewalks covered with canvas.

Broadcasting will be on a daily schedule, with programs built around the rebroadcast of United States radio show transcriptions. Shortwave news reports will be picked up from San Francisco and rebroadcast.

The Okinawa station will go into operation 49 days after the Easter Sunday invasion landing by troops of the 10th Army. It is a 50-watt, semi-protable outfit.

A staff of one officer and five enlisted men carried the equipment ashore early in the invasion and has been working since getting ready for "D" day on the air.

JAPS ON OKINAWA USED GIRLS' WIGS

Okinawa, May 19 (A. P.).—A new Japanese ruse was reported today by Marine Combat Correspondent Keith Topping of Hanford, Cal. He said Marines on Okinawa found a box containing wigs made of women's hair.

It was believed Japanese soldiers used the wigs to disguise themselves as women in emergencies. A soldier wearing a wig and a kimono might escape detection indefinitely.

Shared Foxhole with Pigs.

Okinawa, May 19 (A. P.).—Two Marines who dived into a foxhole in a night air raid had the company of a sow which would not budge. Master Sergt. Joe Tyson Jr. of Oregon, Mo., and Pfc. Walter Dahl of Puposky, Minn., the next morning found that she had six reasons for not moving—six little pigs. So they dug themselves another hole.

Wreck 196 Jap Planes.

Iwo Jima, May 11 (Delayed) (A. P.).—Mustang pilots of the Army's Seventh Fighter Command destroyed or damaged 196 Japanese planes in their first first month of operations from Iwo Jima against Nipponese mainland targets, headquarters said today. During the month the single-engine planes made the 1,500-mile round trip to Japan seven times.

30.24 25923

The Mustangs' 50-caliber machine guns were credited with knocking seventy Japanese planes out of the air over Tokyo, Nagoya and Yokohama, with a dozen more probably shot down. They destroyed twenty-eight more on the ground, and damaged eighty-six in aerial combat or by strafing.

The Mustangs also sank four enemy ships in Ise Bay and damaged a fifth.

YANKS SLAUGHTER TRAPPED JAP UNIT

MANILA, Sunday, May 20—(AP) U. S. doughboys fought a sharp battle for SAS airdrome in the Davao sector of Mindanao island Friday while on Luzon, Yanks and guerrillas carried on a bloody annihilation campaign against a large Japanese force encircled east of Manila.

Twenty-fourth division Americans captured seven six inch enemy guns at the southern fringe of SAS airdrome, north of captured Davao city. Other units seized three five-inch naval guns on Samal island in Davao gulf.

Japanese infiltration was so widespread in the mainland jungle battlefield that an American burial detail found itself cut off from the cemetery and had to fight its way through enemy lines to bury the dead.

Infantrymen knocked out 30 pillboxes and gun positions to take one knob of Polomo-Libby hill, a long, natural defense line.

In central Mindanao the 31st Division advanced along the Sayre highway four miles north of Valencia, where two airdromes were captured Thursday. American planes are operating already off these fields.

Heavy, medium and fighter bombers raked Formosa from Atsuyama in the north to Takao in the south, severely pounding airfields and factories, including alcohol and cement plants, a copper works and the Shoka aircraft assembly center.

Considerable rolling stock was wrecked and bridges and buildings were demolished. Large fires and explosions left thick smoke over the target area.

Patrol bombers destroyed three freighters offshore.

One American plane was reported lost and another missing in Gen. Douglas MacArthur's communique today.

Bombers sweeping the China sea and the mainland coast hit installations in the Yangtze river area in particular. A salvage craft, a freighter and two coastal ships were sunk. Rail facilities and motor traffic were harassed. Large fires were started in the Nanking area.

MacArthur reported that Yanks on Mindanao in the Philippines were forcing the Japanese from defensive positions and were driving the enemy into the hills.

Australian troops on northeastern New Guinea captured Cape Boram, flanking Wewak harbor and Boram bay.

Only minor clashes were reported on Tarakan island, off Borneo, where the campaign is virtually concluded.

Yanks Capture Dam Vital To Manila

Manila, May 19 (AP)—Attacking behind record front-line fire bombings, Filipino guerrillas and doughboys of the 43d Division recaptured Ipo Dam, source of a third of Manila's water supply, intact at the climax of a brightly lighted two-month mountain campaign.

Today the Yanks began the arduous task of cleaning out several thousand encircled Japanese who still hold part of the aqueduct to Manila, part of the same force that mysteriously failed to blow up the dam.

Capture of Ipo Dam was the biggest stride yet in the central Luzon campaign, during which the powerful Shimbu Line was shattered.

Broke Jap Spirit

The campaign marked the first important use in this theater of anti-aircraft searchlight as "artificial moonlight." Because of persistent nighttime Japanese infiltrations, sometimes in company strength and sometimes penetrating to the outskirts of Manila, Americans began playing lights on low clouds at night.

The reflected glow lighted the mountains, enabling United States artillery and mortar crews to continue firing through the night without endangering their own troops, and revealing infiltration attempts as soon as they came into the open.

On clear, moonless nights, searchlight crews risked Japanese artillery fire and played their beams directly on hillsides or into gulches.

"Artificial Moonlight"

These tactics, coupled with record fire bombings, broke the Nipponese spirit, whereupon the 43d Division and guerrillas closed a carefully prepared trap by seizing the dam.

Maj. Gen. Charles P. Hall, of San Antonio, Texas, 11th Corps commander who directed the operation, was decorated with the Distinguished Service Medal for his "aggressive leadership and thorough understanding of amphibious and jungle warfare."

Water Supply Not Secure

The guerrilla force, under Col. Marcus Augustin, usually called "Colonel Markings," reached the dam first. The 43d, approaching from the south, met harder going, killing more than 100 Japanese and capturing six 20-mm. guns. More than 375 Thunderbolts and Lightnings of the 5th Air Force paved the way for the final assault, dropping a ton of bombs for every ten Japanese along the battle lines.

In as much as the Japanese still hold part of the aqueduct route, capture of the dam does not assure Manila immediate use of the water.

To the south, the United States 38th Division moved toward the Wawa Dam, another source of Manila's water, by capturing high ground 3,500 yards northwest of Mount Batangan against heavy resistance, killing at least 200.

On Mindanao, the United States 31st Division captured Valencia and two all-weather grass air strips in the central part of the island.

The 40th Infantry Division, aided by units of the Americal Division, drove south along the highway toward a junction with the 31st. They bypassed a strong enemy position anchored to the Mangima river canyon and circled back on the highway at the village of Dalirig.

Sugar Acreage Off on Negros

MANILA, May 19 (AP).—Alfredo Montelibano, president of the Confederation of Sugar Planters Association, said today that less than 1 per cent of Negros Island's prewar sugar acreage is now in cultivation. He expressed doubt as to the wisdom of devoting five years to reviving the industry in view of the indefinite trade relations between the United States and the Philippines.

PAUL PATTERSON M'ARTHUR GUEST

Sunpapers' Publisher Arrives At Manila From China

Manila, May 19 (AP)—Paul Patterson, publisher of the Baltimore Sun, arrived here today on the invitation of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to familiarize himself with the military, political and economic situation on the Western Pacific front.

Patterson spent the last three weeks in China, where he talked with military and Government leaders.

Manila was a sadly changed place for Patterson, who previously made two air Clipper trips through here—in 1936 and 1940.

"I am amazed at the almost unbelievable destruction Japanese demolition has caused to this once lovely city," he said. "Even after seeing the London ruins this is like being in the battleline of fire."

Patterson plans to visit Guam and Saipan en route to the United States.

CHINESE RETAKE PORT OF FOOCHOW

CHUNGKING, May 19 — (AP) Chinese forces beat back a Japanese offensive 400 miles northeast of Chungking in Honon province today as other assault forces reoccupied the great east coast city of Foochow, the Chinese high command announced tonight.

The Honon battle cost the enemy 1,500 casualties, the Chinese said.

Southeast of Chungking in Hunan province, the Chinese were attacking Japanese points 19 and 25 miles northwest of Paoching, base of the Japanese' disrupted drive on the American airbase at Chihkiang.

Foochow was the first of China's important treaty ports to be freed from Japanese rule.

It was the second time in four years that the Chinese had won back the strategic port, 125 miles northwest of the Japanese island of Formosa. The former capital of Fukien province had been held by the Japanese since Oct., 1944, and previously was enemy-occupied for five months in 1941.

There were indications that Foochow, lying in the coastal defense region where an American invasion of the Chinese coast has been envisaged, was abandoned by the Japanese. There also were signs that enemy forces were pulling out of the east coast ports of Wenchow, Amoy and Swatow.

Against independent reports which suggested that the Chinese occupied Foochow virtually without bloodshed, the Chinese high command said the city of 322,725 persons was taken in a Chinese assault that smashed enemy resistance.

The Chinese communique said Chinese forces, which were driven out of the city Tuesday night after a brief penetration of the central city area, received reinforcements Wednesday and launched an attack against the city Thursday morning. By evening, the Chinese had beaten back the Japanese garrison and broken into the town, completing its occupation by 5 A.M. Friday.

Chinese quarters estimated the Japanese had about 1,000 troops inside the city. These forces were pursued eastward 9 miles along the north bank of the Min River to the outskirts of the small Min estuary port of Mamoi.

Other Withdrawals Seen

Chinese informants here said the Japanese already had withdrawn or were in the process of giving up the entire coastal region around Foochow, once famous for its tea and lacquer trade. Indications were that the Japanese were taking off in small ships, slipping northward up the coast by night.

Foochow is located in the Japanese defense area thrown up along the China coast against a possible American invasion. Its capture by the Chinese bolstered reports that the Japanese were preparing to abandon several pockets along the China coast between Hangchow Bay and Hong Kong.

Reports indicated that Wenchow, a port in Chekiang province 225 miles south of Shanghai, also might be evacuated by the Japanese, while there were signs that the Japanese at Amoy, 135 miles southwest of Foochow, and at Swatow, 170 miles northeast of Hong Kong, also were preparing to retire to Hong Kong.

Foochow Fully Retaken By Chinese

Chungking, May 19 (AP)—Chinese troops have completely reoccupied the strategic east coast port city of Foochow in an area where the Japanese have feared American landings, the high command announced today. There were indications that the enemy already had withdrawn or was in the process of withdrawing from the coastal region around the port.

There were signs that the Japanese in the area were slipping up the coast by ships in the night toward Shanghai.

There also were indications that the Japanese at Wenchow, port in the province of Chekiang, some 220 miles south of Shanghai, might follow the example of those at Foochow, and that those at Amoy and Swatow were preparing to withdraw southward to Hong Kong. All these ports are exposed to bombing from Philippine bases and are virtually cut off from Japan and Formosa.

Jap Offensives Weak

Japanese garrisons, in each instance a few thousand at the most, have virtually no offensive capability against any American forces which might land on the China coast, and in defensive operations would face annihilation.

Some observers in Chungking foresaw a possibility of Japanese abandonment of Southeast Asia in favor of positions north of the Yellow River, with the enemy evacuation from Burma to Thailand as the first step.

The Chinese high command said Chinese troops had broken into Foochow on Thursday night and had completed recapture of the city by Friday morning.

Japs Reported Fleeing

A dispatch to the newspaper Ta Kung Pao said enemy remnants were in flight to the northeast.

Meanwhile, there were persistent reports here that the Japanese were preparing to evacuate several pockets along the China coast between Hangchow Bay and Hong Kong, all of which might become death traps if any sizable forces landed near-by. The points reported affected included Swatow, Amoy and possibly Wenchow.

The Chinese had been driven from the former treaty port earlier this week after the Japanese threw in heavy reinforcements. Foochow is 125 miles northwest of Formosa.

Peace Offer Reports

The development was reported as Chungking was stirred by unconfirmed reports from London and San Francisco that Japan had handed a peace offer to the United States and Great Britain. There was nothing official here to support these rumors, and the tendency was to treat them with extreme caution.

The Chinese for some time have claimed the existence of an underground peace faction in Japan, headed by former Premier Prince Konoye and supported secretly by big business interests anxious to avoid further destruction of Japanese industry.

Chasing Japs In Hills

In Hunan province Chinese troops have been reported in hot pursuit of the enemy through the hills and toward the key Japanese base of Paoching, guarding the communications city of Hengyang in Japan's vital supply corridor from Manchuria to Indo-China.

At last reports the Chinese were within 18 miles of Paoching on the northwest and 73 miles from Hengyang, a junction of the Canton-Hankow railroad. The high command indicated the entire right wing of the Japanese drive toward the American air base at Chihkiang, 250 miles southeast of Chungking, had folded up.

G. I.s in China Discharged

CHUNGKING, May 19 (AP).—The Chinese combat command—American liaison and combat advisory organization under Major General Robert B. McClure—has sent its first shipment of personnel home under the War Department's point system. The shipment comprised of twenty-three enlisted men and one officer, averaging sixty-eight months' Army service. Thirteen men had more than thirty months' overseas

Normandy D-Day Force Reaches Pacific Zone

Honolulu, May 19 (AP)—An amphibious assault signal company, veterans of D-day at Normandy and the first complete military unit to be transferred from the European to the Pacific theater, has arrived in Hawaii.

The small outfit began training immediately for operations against the Japanese.

Australian Divisions Trap Bougainville Foe

San Francisco, May 19 (AP)—Two Australian army divisions—the 3d and the 11th— have scored important successes against the Japanese on by-passed Bougainville Island in the Solomons, the Australian War Department reported today.

The broadcast said that after bitter fighting Aussie troops almost completely cut off the Japanese on Bonis peninsula, northern front, while in the center of the island others captured Berry's Hill. In the south, tank-led infantry broke Japanese defenses at several points along the Horgoroi River.

Enrique Gil Reported Arrested In Argentina

Buenos Aires, May 19 (AP)—Friends of Enrique Gil, well known lawyer and prominent in cultural relations between Argentina and the United States, said today he had been arrested May 15, after publication of an article in the financial weekly, criticizing government policies.

It was known that the police had arrested Lucas Ayarragaray, Jr., editor of the weekly, Renovacion, published by the youth group of the Catholic institution, Accion Catolica. Meanwhile, Americo, Ghioldi, editor of the Socialist organ La Vanguardia, continued to be confined to the Villadevoto jail nearly a month after his arrest.

In Parana, capital of Entrerios province, authorities ordered the closing of El Diario and arrested its editor, Raul Uranga.

Daring Rescue Made By Two U.S. Flyers

An Advance Aleutian Base, May 12 [AP—Delayed] — Ensign Thomas E. Greenwood, of Crown Point, N.Y., pilot of a Kingfisher observation plane, and Myron T. Soucop, aviation ordnanceman 2c., of Two Rivers, Wis., today made a daring rescue of an Army P-38 pilot after he had been in the icy waters of Bering Sea 25 minutes.

The rescued airman, Second Lieutenant Bernard J. Ranklin, of St. Louis, was uninjured. His plane sunk almost immediately after crashing 35 miles off shore, and he spent ten minutes in the water at near-freezing temperatures before he was able to inflate his life raft and haul himself aboard.

Greenwood, on a routine mission, spotted Ranklin and landed on the rough seas. Greenwood taxied near the life raft and cut his motor. He and Soucop climbed out of their cockpits, and the latter, holding by one hand, reached down from the float with the other and hauled the army flyer aboard. Greenwood put Ranklin in the observer's seat and Soucop had to fly prone on the Kingfisher's fuselage.

Jap Children Learn Grenade Tossing

San Francisco, May 19 (AP)—Japan was reported by Radio Tokyo today to be training children to throw hand grenades in defense of the empire.

Premier Kantaro Suzuki named a former army leader to the Privy Council and Vice Admiral Ryozo Fukuda took command of the imperial fleet in China waters.

Tokyo said the children were becoming adept in grenade throwing and declared that Okinawa children already had "died heroic deaths" charging into American positions.

[No such instances has been reported in Okinawa dispatches to the United States.]

Honjo Appointed

Suzuki appointed General Baron Shigeru Honjo, former army commander in Manchuria and one-time chief aide-de-camp to Emperor Hirohito, to fill one of two Privy Council vacancies, another radio report recorded here said.

Yukio Sakurauchi, parliamentarian and former member of various pre-Pearl Harbor cabinets, was named to fill the other vacancy.

Fukuda took over the fleet after Tokyo issued an unconfirmed report that a new United States Navy force was moving on Nippon.

"Heavy fighting in the Pacific and the changes in Europe will naturally have complicated effects on the China situation," he said.

"Difficulties will naturally occur," but victory is possible "if we fight persistently to the last."

Mythical Assignment?

[Fukuda's Imperial China Fleet assignment may be somewhat mythical. Admiral William F. Halsey's carrier forces, in a series of China coast raids, failed to locate any "fleet" as such and almost daily United States air patrols from Korea to Indo-China fail to make contact with it.]

Another Tokyo broadcast, recorded here, asserted that "widespread speculation in all quarters of the globe except Japan" over peace offers has become "a source of annoyance" to a "reliable" Japanese authority.

The authority added: "Japan is too much occupied with keeping the war going."

ALLIED REPORTS OF PEACE FEELERS RAPPED BY TOKYO

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19—(AP) Tokyo broadcasters today said Allied reports of unofficial Japanese peace feelers were a "source of great annoyance" in Japan and were branded as "enemy propaganda."

Nothing is more remote from the Japanese mind than peace with the enemy, said Isamu Inouye, an editor of the Nipponese Domei news agency, in one of the broadcasts heard by the FCC.

The talk about "an imaginary Japanese peace proposal" is merely evidence that the Americans and English are tired of the war and want to get out of it, said a Spanish-language broadcast from Tokyo, intended especially for delegates to the San Francisco United Nations conference.

Meanwhile, Radio Tokyo said that Japanese school children are being trained to throw hand grenades in preparation for the expected American invasion of Nippon.

The speaker in glorifying the training told how Okinawa school children "gripping hand grenades in their small hands" charged to their deaths in American positions —a story which had no confirmation from U. S. sources.

Vice Adm. Ryozo Fukuda, newly appointed commander-in-chief of the Japanese fleet in China waters, predicted in a press interview that his countrymen will encounter "difficulties" in the prosecution of the war, now that the fighting in Europe is over.

Domei said that Premier Kantaro Suzuki has appointed Gen. Baron Shigeru Honjo, former Japanese army commander in Manchuria, and Yukio Sakurauchi, member of pre-Pearl Harbor cabinets, to fill vacancies in the privy council.

Honjo formerly was chief aide de camp to Emperor Hirohito and Sakarauchi has been one of the advisers to Suzuki's cabinet.

Tokyo radio also said that material salvaged from bomb-shattered Tokyo is being used in the construction of 5,000 semi-underground homes in the capital city, and that some bombed areas were being converted into war gardens.

Means of increasing the output of coal in Japanese-occupied north China will be considered in a conference of mine operators called by Nipponese embassy officials at Peiping.

PACT REACHED ON HARD-COAL MINERS' PAY

MAY 20 1945

Men To Get $1.37½ More A Day; Due To Resume Work Tomorrow

Washington, May 19 (AP)—John L. Lewis, agreeing with anthracite operators on a contract providing a $1.37½ over-all daily pay raise for miners, today called for resumption of work in hard-coal mines Monday.

Production in Pennsylvania's anthracite fields was halted May 1 when the old contract expired.

The 72,000 anthracite miners will vote on the new agreement in a referendum and it will be submitted next week to the War Labor Board and other Government agencies for approval. Thomas Kennedy, secretary-treasurer of the United Mine Workers, said complete details of the contract probably will not be announced until it goes to the board.

Word Sent To End Strike

Lewis, meanwhile, sent the miners word to end the nineteen-day strike and said he hoped "all mine workers will return to work in full force Monday morning."

Harold L. Ickes, Solid Fuels Administrator, who has been in charge of the anthracite mines since the Government took control of the strike-bound workings May 3, estimated that the strike resulted in the loss of 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 tons of anthracite.

It was Ickes who suggested the compromise increase of $1.37½ after the operators, during 46 days of negotiation, had boosted their original offer of $1.03 to $1.25 and Lewis had demanded increases totaling $1.79.

Glad They Will Be Back

In a statement, Ickes said he was "particularly glad to receive assurances that the anthracite miners will be back on the job digging coal Monday morning."

He asserted that supplies of anthracite will be critically short next winter, adding that both operators and miners "owe it to the nation and the future of the industry to produce every pound of fuel possible from now on."

Lewis and the operators agreed that the new contract is contingent upon a decision by Government officials whether it is acceptable under the wage-stabilization policy and on the awarding of price adjustments by OPA to cover the increases.

Provisions For Travel

The agreement contains provisions for underground travel time pay, overtime for work beyond seven hours a day and 35 hours a week, differentials for second and third shifts and increased vacation allowances. The travel-time pay is believed to be between $1.12½ and $1.20 a day.

Lewis, in a telegram to local unions, said "we consider the agreement an outstanding achievement and it is fully protective of the rights of our people."

The agreement is believed to be much the same as the bituminous contract signed April 11 which won speedy approval of the War Labor Board and of William H. Davis, Economic Stabilizer, with price increases averaging 16 cents a ton approved by the OPA.

Lewis and his scale committee said the agreement is within the terms of the Government stabilization program.

It is retroactive to May 1 and will run for one year, being terminable on notice after that time.

Ban On German 'Slave' Labor Is Anticipated

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The Army and Navy Journal said today it is expected some method will be devised which will prevent the use of German labor by France and Russia "from taking on the aspect of slavery."

The unofficial service publication made the observation in commenting on reparations demands to be made upon the defeated Nazi nation.

President Truman is determined, the Journal said, that the reparations "in kind will provide the maximum of rehabilitation and restoration of overrun territory," and that they shall insure the permanent disarmament of the country.

"Germany will be required to replace the industrial machinery she destroyed and arsenals, aviation plants and other war-making establishments will be transferred bodily to other lands. There may be dispute about the use of German labor which Russia and France particularly are demanding, but it is expected that some method will be devised which will prevent such use from taking on the aspect of slavery."

White House Tells World About Its Air-Raid Cellar

Washington, May 19 (AP)—Liberalization of censorship rules permitted printed reference today to the existence of an air-raid shelter 50 feet under the White House grounds.

The shelter was built immediately after this country entered the war and nearly everybody in town knew it existed. But until now stories about it could not be published.

The shelter was built in zig-zag fashion. It has a "bombproof" ceiling about nine feet thick, made of concrete and reinforced steel.

Off East Wing

It is reached by steps from the east wing of the White House and, as stated, it is 50 feet underground, which is pretty deep.

It connects with a big vault under the Treasury—across the street—which once was used for storing huge stacks of money. When Henry Morgenthau took over the Treasury Department, he distributed all this reserve money to Federal Reserve banks and let them worry about it.

Whether Mr. Roosevelt used to retire to the shelter during air-raid drills, or whether he ever ever saw it, the Secret Service men are not saying.

As an additional answer to the Luftwaffe, the White House installed machine guns on the roof. They were only a few of the neighborhood ack-acks which once prompted a visiting British officer to inquire if Washington was not "a bit stiff with guns."

Some of the guns, it's true, like those on the House Office Building, were only wooden models, manned by straw-stuffed dummies, but they looked pretty menacing from the air.

Staff Given Gas Masks

As a further precaution, the White House staff was provided with gas masks and for a time regular drills were held. Even the newspaper men regularly assigned to the White House press room were instructed in the art of adjusting the masks. They were excused from drills, however.

And at Hyde Park, President Roosevelt's private home, the Army set up an elaborate communications center, with magic-eye facilities and two-way radio telephone hookups. A company of MP's with full equipment was stationed at a neighboring estate owned by the late Archibald Rodgers, oil magnate, ready for any emergency.

Senators Vote Broad Study of Labor Relations

Small Business Committee Will Take Up Question of Unifying U. S. Agencies

WASHINGTON, May 19 (AP).—A broad study of labor-management relations, including the question of consolidating the government's present scattered labor agencies, was ordered today by the Senate Small Business Committee.

The chairman, Senator James E. Murray, Democrat, of Montana, said the purpose would be to promote co-operation of labor and management and suggest "sound government policies and procedures to assure that maximum employment in the country's smaller producing units is achieved and maintained."

He appointed Senator Brien McMahon, Democrat, of Connecticut, head of a subcommittee to conduct the inquiry. Other members will be Senator Murray and Senator George A. Wilson, Republican, of Iowa.

The move came at a time when President Truman is reported to have under study a reorganization and consolidation of the Federal labor services and agencies. Congressional circles have heard that the President wants former Senator Lewis B. Schwellenbach, of Washington, to head a reorganized labor department.

Senator McMahon, announcing that hearings will begin early in June, said the subcommittee proposes to develop these three main points:

1. The role of labor organizations as related to small business.

2. Methods of achieving full co-operation between labor and small business.

3. Government organizations and policies affecting labor and small business "with a view to streamlining them for future operations."

"Various interested parties have declared that there is much overlapping and duplication in government functions, with the result that both business and labor have difficulty in making plans for the future," Senator McMahon said. "The subcommittee will consider this question in detail and, if the facts warrant, recommend legislation to remedy any shortcomings."

Pauley Has Plan for Germany

U. S. Reparations Commissioner to Back Industry to Ward Off Starvation.

Washington, May 19 (A. P.).—Edwin M. Pauley, American member of the Allied Reparations Commission, said today the Allies should leave Germany enough light industry to maintain civilian economy.

"Otherwise," he told a reporter, "they will be a burden on us unless we want them to starve."

Pauley will leave by plane tomorrow for Europe with a group of his staff members. They will spend two weeks in Germany looking into her economic position before going to Moscow for the first sessions of the commission on which Russia, Great Britain and France also will be represented.

Pauley said his ideas differed from those of Secretary Morgenthau who once favored complete destruction of German industry and requiring the Germans to go in for agriculture only. He expressed the opinion that the only "substantial reparations" that could be expected from Germany probably would be in the form of labor and natural resources "as everything else has been destroyed or seized, including gold and foreign securities, as well as her securities in other countries."

He asserted Germany should be forced to return to liberated peoples what is left of the food and other goods stolen by the Nazis since the war began. Only enough should be left in Germany to provide a bare level of subsistence in the lean period now facing Europe, he added.

Feed Subsidy Fixed.

Washington, May 19 (A. P.).—A subsidy for cattle feeders to insure heavier animals before slaughter spearheads the Government's new plan to increase the civilian meat supply.

Fred M. Vinson, war mobilization director, announced a subsidy of 50 cents a hundredweight directly to feeders, effective today. In additional attacks on the meat shortage, Vinson ordered subsidy boosts to packers of both beef and pork.

The Government's new program to augment meat supplies and spread them more equitably along the home front also includes these key points:

1. Producers are guaranteed against ceiling price cuts without at least six months' advance notice, an assurance the industry long has desired. Vinson said it should encourage the movement of cattle into feed lots.

2. As a broadside against the black market, records on cattle from the range to the butcher will be kept. This is designed to counter leaks to illegal trade channels.

3. More meat for Government requirements will be taken from packing plants with a heavy slaughter and less from those with a light slaughter to achieve, Vinson said, more uniform distribution of available supplies for civilian use.

As a further step the Government may decide for the first time to direct packers to ship supplies to specific cities or individual stores experiencing undue shortages.

MEAT SUPPLY GAIN FORESEEN

More Beef By August Likely; Pork By Christmas

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The Government's new meat subsidies should mean more and better beef for housewives by August, a spokesman for meat packers said today. But he added it will be Christmas before pork supplies increase much.

Wilbur La Roe, Jr., counsel for the National Independent Meat Packers Association, gave this as the industry's estimate. In announcing the subsidies, Fred M. Vinson, War Mobilization Director, said "it will take some time for the effects of the program to be felt."

Generally, Congress members who have been critical of the OPA said the new subsidies will help but do not meet all their complaints against the meat price-control structure.

Disappointed As To Hogs

Chairman Anderson (D., N.M.), of the House Food Investigating Committee, called the order "a move in the right direction" which would be helpful on beef, but expressed disappointment that it did not establish a $13.50 support price on all weights of hogs. Hogs over 300 pounds are not now under support prices.

Other comments made it evident that the program had not headed off a fight to amend the Price Control Act as some Administration supporters had hoped it would.

"It has not changed the basic situation," Senator Taft (R., Ohio) remarked. He said he intended to press his amendment proposing a "substantial liberalization of the price policy" after the end of this year. This would allow businesses the same margin above cost after January 1 that they had on the average in the years 1938, 1939 and 1940.

Foresees No Change

Senator Hickenlooper (R., Iowa) also said he thought there was nothing in the order "that will change the attitude of a great many members of Congress that amendments ought to be made in the law."

Taft and Hickenlooper are members of a Senate Banking Subcommittee which now has legislation to extend the Price Control Act unchanged for a year beyond its present expiration date of June 30.

Representative Jenkins (R., Ohio), chairman of the Republican Congressional Food Study Committee, said that while the Vinson plan was "a step in the right direction, it still falls short of giving the producers and processors of meat the assistance which they need in order to again enter actively in the field of production and distribution."

Need For Feed Cited

Cattle feed, Jenkins said, must be made available in sufficient quantity and its price stabilized.

La Roe said the independent meat packers would continue to press for adoption of the so-called McKellar amendment. Introduced by Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.), this would direct that OPA allow "a generally fair and equitable margin" on processing of each type of live stock.

An amendment of this nature was recommended by the Senate Agriculture Committee after its food investigations.

La Roe said the packers would press for it because the new subsidy scale still would not enable many of them to break even on cattle slaughter. He said the new subsidies would, however, "help materially."

SIMPLE, UNSAVORY DIET FACES U.S.

MAY 20 1945

Situation More Acute, National Survey Shows

WPB to permit manufacture of 530,000 household refrigerators this year.....Page 7

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The war finally drove home to Americans today that they are no longer the world's best eaters and that to save others from starving they must go on a simple, unsavory diet.

Meat stores all over the nation are empty. The steak lover is eating fish.

Where butter is available, the housewife cannot afford the ration points.

It isn't going to get any better for many months. There'll be enough to eat, but the diet will be limited.

That is the unvarnished picture for 1945, at least while this nation and its allies are still fighting Japan and helping to avert starvation in war-ravaged Europe.

Some other countries, in fact, will eat better than America—a new and paradoxical situation.

What Survey Shows

The Associated Press surveyed the situation through local officials in this country, the Federal Agricultural Department and sources abroad, and found:

1. Only a few sections—in the Far West—have anything like normal meat supplies. Poultry is disappearing. The strain on the egg supply is being felt. Many places don't even have bologna or lunch meats. Stores are closing.

2. Germany faces possible famine next winter; the French and Belgians are solving their problem pretty well; the Balkans are in dire straits; Holland, Norway, Finland and Italy must have help if they are to eat; Spain, Egypt, Denmark, Sweden and Canada are eating well and in many commodities do not even have to ration.

Plain Diet But Good

In this country, says the Agriculture Department, the outlook for the next six months is:

There will be enough essential foods to maintain good diet, but that diet will have to be plain. Reduced supplies of meats, fats and sugar will lower the energy value of that diet from five to ten per cent. Americans ate excessively in 1944—about 150 pounds of meat per capita. The supply this year has been at a 115-pound rate, but that may go up to 126 in the fall.

We are eating so many eggs as a substitute that a serious shortage of that protein may develop. The calories available daily will be 3,200, compared to 3,500 last year. Only very active men and boys need 3,000 or more. In many areas of Europe it is being held to 1,200 to 1,800.

Sugar, which has been plentiful, may be approaching a crisis. A House committee was reported drafting a report that the Government mishandled the rationing and demanding that shipments abroad be cut.

Fred M. Vinson, war mobilization director, announced a program for increased subsidies to boost the meat supply, but he couldn't promise any immediate effect. Meantime, the Government's food experts urged a shift to more of a grain diet.

Domestic Situation

Here was the domestic situation at week end:

New England—OPA officials notified the Massachusetts State Government that the meat situation could be expected to improve in another month. Boston was without meat or youltry, eggs were being limited to one dozen a customer. A serious shortage was hitting hospitals and schools in Connecticut, so stringent that police action to take over institutions for emergency operation was contemplated. Rhode Island hit its lowest meat-supply point and local slaughter fell 52 per cent in four weeks.

East—In New York hundr butcher shops closed. Poul ceipts of 6,000 pounds in o were an all-time low. Without the egg demand was terrific customers streamed into the markets, wit hsalt-water fish ple ful. The city confiscated 3, pounds of black-market poultry.

Government Control Urged

New Jersey's poultrymen urge a system of Government purcha and allocation of poultry.

Baltimore's restaurants served sea food almost exclusively; stores went on a five-day week. A thousand West Virginia miners refused to work because there was no meat in company stores. In Detroit 75 per cent of the meat dealers were closing two to four days a week for lack of merchandise.

Philadelphia's hospitals and warplant cafeterias were unable to buy enough meat for more than one meal a week. Plant officials told WPB that production is being retarded as a result.

"Shortest Since Civil War"

A meat-industry attorney said it was the shortest meat supply since the Civil War. Buffalo had no poultry; meat was 30 per cent off, with almost no pork, and eggs were feeling the pinch. In Albany, meat, fish and poultry were almost completely missing, but there was plenty of fruit and vegetables.

Rochester had the same story, adding that New York truckers were paying well over the ceiling prices and making inroads into what poultry would have been available.

Pittsburgh was becoming a sausage city.

Camden's mayor asked President Truman by telegram to hear a "solution."

Difficulties In South

South—Atlanta stores had very little meat, saw no immediate improvement. Poultry was almost no existent, with the supply frozen the Army. Birmingham pack called it the worst shortage si the war started, without much p pect of change for another yea

Two mines in Kentucky down, with 750 men idle at Pik ville. A union man said they couldn't work without meat. New Orleans blamed a drastic cut in meat-slaughtering quotas in May for its unprecedented shortage, though thousands of cattle are available.

Chattanooga reported a large black market in meat, but a great percentage of consumers can't get enough meat. The packers said the situation was "very serious." Nashville reported "nothing like it before," and even sausage was scarce, but eggs and cheese were plentiful. It was fish and weiners in Memphis, where bacon was looked on as a forgotten luxury.

Called "Very Critical"

Knoxville called it "very critical" and said Government purchase is leaving nothing for civilians. Packers in Little Rock urged OPA to raise the kill quota of non-federally inspected slaughterhouses, from which 99 per cent of Arkansans buy their meat.

Mid-West—Iowa, leading producer of chickens, said most of the output was going into black market and not even the Army was getting its proper share. A freeze order by the Army was expected in two weeks. The State may produce 10,000,000 fewer chickens than last year.

Chicago couldn't meet the demand for meats and fish, and a truck strike didn't help the situation. St. Louis had to depend on eggs and cheese. Kansas City had its principal troubles in sugar, though pepper, all meats and even lunch meats were growing scarce. Minneapolis had butter, little poultry; expected beef to pick up in two or three months.

Wisconsin Acts

Wisconsin took its own steps. The Legislature passed a bill to permit growers to slaughter and sell on their own premises, though OPA warned that it would encourage black markets. Hatcheries which gave away day-old roosters now were selling them. The biggest cheese producer, Wisconsin didn't have enough aged cheese to go around.

West—Dallas headquarters for a six-State area reported meat very scarce. In San Francisco dealers informally started to ration eggs. Montana had a good beef supply and apparently enough poultry and eggs, one of the few bright spots. Colorado likewise wasn't being too pressed but was worrying about a farm-labor shortage and asking for more war prisoners to help.

Utah appeared self-sustaining too. Omaha creameries said much butter is spoiling because the people don't have the red points to buy it. Oregon had some meat. New Mexico called it a "meat famine."

High Spot Abroad

From abroad came this picture:

Spain—The Spaniards think they are luckier than others in supply of food but don't like the prohibitive prices. Butter was $1.35 a pound and up; eggs a dollar a dozen, meat ranging up to $2.75 a pound. Restaurants had abundant supply, a meal running from 10 to 50 pesetas. The ordinary Spaniard was being paid only 10 to 15 pesetas a day.

England—Britain was striving to maintain a tight ration of two ounces of butter a week, eight ounces of margarine, 24 cents' worth of meat. Vegetables were scarce and there was just about a pound of oranges a month available per capita.

Pleas For Food Sent To D.C.

[By the Associated Press]

Americans hungry for meat and some other foods looked to Washington for help today and had assurance that the Federal Government would do its best.

The pleas came from many directions—from New York, meatless and poultryless, short of butter and eggs; from Chicago, where a truck-driver strike hampered food deliveries a third day; from Camden, N.J., whose Mayor, George E. Brunner, asked President Truman for action.

N.Y. Has Much Fish

New York city had plenty of fish—so much that it virtually disappeared from many up-State markets. Meat and poultry continued scarce throughout the State.

Buffalo's meat supply was reported 30 per cent of normal. Thousands of butcher shops closed in the State. Some poultry hatcheries closed near Rochester and others limited operations because of an egg shortage.

No Virginia Ham In Va.

Virginia—Almer F. Hoelzle, of Richmond, secretary of the Virginia State Restaurant Association, said that if sugar becomes much scarcer salads, pastries and desserts may "have to be lopped off menus." Virginians can't find any Virginia hams and breakfast bacon is a rarity, although some fatback is still available. There are no chickens, and beef brought into stores in limited quantities is soon sold. Even sausage is scarce. Danville reports meat shortage to be the worst in history. Quotas on killing blamed. Butter also scarce.

Montana reported plentiful supplies of beef and poultry and an improving egg supply, although housewives lack the points to buy the available beef. In Utah, the food supply was generally satisfactory.

Other Western Reports

The situation elsewhere in the West was:

Spokane, Wash.—Civilian supplies of beef 40 per cent of normal, although more cattle on farms than before. These cattle will not be ready for market before August. Civilian supplies of pork 15 to 20 per cent of normal.

Albuquerque, N.M.—Meat famine in eastern New Mexico and tight supplies elsewhere. Roswell plant which processes meat for half dozen towns closed down remainder of May and other packing-plant shutdowns predicted. Poultry, rabbits and similar meat supplies also short. Vegetables plentiful.

Seattle—Potatoes scarce. Oversupply of butter, with shoppers without points with which to buy it.

Kansas City Lacks Meat

Kansas City—Meat scarce; very little veal, lamb and beef; no pork. Butter becoming scarce. Most of meat from huge Kansas City packing plants going to armed forces. Fruits, vegetables, milk and eggs plentiful.

San Francisco—Meats, margarine and poultry scarce. Poultry available only few hours daily

Colorado—Meat, oleo, lard and evaporated milk major shortages, although meat more plentiful than in most areas because of local intrastate packing plants.

Dallas Situation

Dallas, Texas—Meat very scarce. Fats and oils short.

Wichita, Kan.—Diminishing meat supplies throughout Kansas. Bruce Behmeyer, secretary of the Wichita Livestock Exchange, expects normal supplies of killing stock to start to market about mid-July.

Cincinnati — Beef extremely scarce and pork almost vanished, with no signs of immediate relief; one large packer declared two-week "holiday." Virtually no poultry, but butter plentiful.

30.24 25925

Boston—Meat supplies at rock bottom in Boston's Faneuil Hall Market district. Cold cuts were about the only thing available, and limited supplies of eggs were dwindling rapidly.

U.S. Lifts Some Censorship Curbs

Washington, May 19 (AP)—The Office of Censorship's new press-radio code removes most of the restrictions on European military news and lowers other bars against domestic news relating to the war.

Director Byron Price, releasing the liberalized code yesterday, said:

"There are those, I believe, who think censorship in this country should continue in full force in connection with the policing of the peace in Europe. I take the opposite view.

Some Changes Listed

"Censorship was provided for by Congress and has been endured by the people for the sole purpose of winning the war—and the only war we are now engaged in is with Japan."

Some of the changes in the new code:

Troop movements, except those alerted for transfer to the Pacific, can be reported. This modification also applies to troops in Europe who are coming to the United States before going to the Pacific, but continues the restrictions regarding units headed immediately for the Far East.

Sabotage News Ban Lifted

All weather information is publishable.

The ban on sabotage news is removed, as is the section covering air-raids.

Soldiers can be identified as members of particular military units, except those in or going directly to the Pacific.

Restrictions on movements of aircraft, except those in or bound for the Pacific-Asiatic theater, are lifted.

Information regarding rate of production for war goods, data on exports and imports and on stockpiles of strategic materials are publishable. The new code, however, continues restrictions on news of "new or secret weapons" or the identity of plants making them.

Theater Defined

Information on prisoners of war, except Japanese, and enemy aliens heneeforth is usable.

The code defines the Pacific-Asiatic theater of operations as:

The Far Eastern combat zone, including the southwestern Alaskan peninsula, the land and water areas of the entire Pacific ocean except the coastal waters of South America, and extending westward on land and sea to and including Aden, Capetown and the east coast of Africa.

Editors and broadcasters will receive printed copies of the new code next week.

Ratio Of Japs Killed To Yanks In Amphibious War, 14 To 1

Washington, May 19 (AP)—Pacific amphibious operations have resulted in the killing of fourteen Japanese for every American life lost.

The Office of War Information reported this today in a compilation of casualty figures for the Army and Navy, including the Marines.

Three Times Total Casualties

Even by including all American casualties—missing and wounded, in addition to dead—the ratio of Japanese dead still exceeds 3 to 1, OWI said.

Totals for the United States show 33,429 killed in action against the Japanese, 125,447 wounded and 4,175 missing, compared with 498,697 of the enemy killed or taken prisoner.

Only about 10,000 Japanese have been taken prisoner, leaving 488,697 listed as dead.

Army casualties for the Pacific amphibious campaigns total 17,681 dead, 64,697 wounded, 1,262 missing. Navy and Marine casualties: Killed 15,748; wounded, 60,750; missing, 2,913.

Exclude Losses On Ships

The figures on Japanese dead do not include "a great many thousands" drowned or killed in ships or barges sunk or damaged by air and naval action, killed by bombing behind Japanese lines, or fatally wounded or diseased in the garrisons which have been cut off and isolated.

Total army casualties as reported through March 31 in the Pacific, including the 1941-42 action in the Philippines, were given as 23,189 killed, 54,056 wounded and 18,549 missing, with 14,312 prisoners of war.

Army figures are for the United States only, and do not include losses suffered by the Australians who particiupated in various campaigns.

LOWER-TARIFF BRIEFS FILED

GOP Committeemen Condemn, Democrats Laud Proposal

Washington, May 19 (AP)—In a scathing criticism of "world planners and globocrats," Republican members of the House Ways and Means Committee assailed today the Administration's proposal to lower tariffs.

The ten minority members signed a dissenting report asserting that "if the present objective is ten billions of exports . . . we had better drop all talk of economic peace," for "any such quantity of exports will bring us head-on into conflict with Great Britain and with other nations whose markets we must invade if we are to attain that volume."

Democrats File Statement

But the fourteen Democrats, filing at the same time a formal statement of why they believe the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act should be extended for three years, with authority for further duty reductions, declared:

"Effective international co-operation in scaling down the barriers to world trade is essential if we are to . . . use our influence in favor of a more united and co-operating world."

The House will debate the issue next week. At stake is the Administration's proposal to extend the trade agreements act which expires on June 12 and to permit the President to reduce tariffs up to 50 per cent below the rates that prevailed on January 1

62 Pages Of Argument

"It is clear," the majority group said, "that, if after this war the nations are again persuaded by the urgings of minority interest, or are deceived by the false doctrines of economic nationalism, into following the shortsighted economic policies which divided them, economically and politically, after the last war, the economics of all nations will suffer and the political unity essential to work security will be endangered."

They used 62 printed pages to list their arguments in behalf of the program advocated by the late President Roosevelt and indorsed by President Truman.

Sugar-Handling Criticism Due

Washington, May 19 (AP)—A source close to the House Food Committee said today the group is drafting a sharply critical report charging the Government with mishandling sugar stocks to the point of extreme shortage.

The individual asked that his name be withheld. He said the document, which may be filed with the House next week, can be expected to blame the OPA, the War Food Administration and other Government agencies for an approaching sugar crisis that may be the worst of the war.

Expected Recommendations

The informant said the report, being prepared in secret, is expected to:

1. Demand a reduction in sugar allotments to foreign countries, particularly those which may use their supply to compete with American industry.

2. Blame "sloppy rationing" by OPA for a 400,000-ton overdraft of civilian sugar last year. The "overdraft" was the amount actually issued to civilians in excess of their allotments, with a consequent decrease in year-end stocks.

3. Demand a tougher rationing program to safeguard the sugar now in sight.

4. Recommend that the Government do everything possible to prevent further cuts in industrial sugar, now averaging 70 per cent of prewar supplies, by restricting quotas for army use, overseas shipment and home canning if necessary.

May Get Export Data

Some figures on sugar quotas for foreign countries—fixed by the combined food board which allocates an international sugar crop pool—may appear in the report, despite the fact the Government has labeled them "top secret." The committee has tried in vain to get the figures on the record—particularly quotas for France, Spain, Italy and Switzerland.

The report may accuse OPA of making a "paper cutback" in this year's home-canning allotment and putting it in effect too late to save any sugar. Home-canning quotas were fixed in mid-April. Committee members said much of the sugar already had been issued when OPA announced new limitations on local boards.

Farmers May Suffer

The result, committeemen said, is that city users—many "home canners" in name only—got their sugar before farmers could apply. Now local boards are faced with the problem of either refusing canning sugar to farmers who need it, or of overissuing sugar and risking an extreme national shortage late in the summer, they contended.

The report may declare Government food authorities have approved sugar allotments for foreign countries without getting sufficient information on supplies in this country.

It probably will concede that it is too late now to avert a shortage this year, but it will recommend price and manpower incentives to boost cane and sugar beet plantings both here and abroad. If the potential crop thus can be built up, the committee feels, the Government will be justified in dipping deeper into available stocks now which otherwise must be banked against the threat of further shortage.

Philippines Situation

Manila, May 19 (AP)—Alfredo Montelibano, president of the Confederation of Sugar Planters' Associations, said today that less than 1 per cent of Negros Island's prewar sugar acreage is now in cultivation.

He expressed doubt as to the wisdom of devoting five years to the reviving of the industry, in view of the indefinite trade relations between the United States and the Philippines.

Parity in Freight Rates Is Ordered East of Rockies

WASHINGTON, May 19.—(AP) The South, and the Western states out to the Rocky Mountains, today won their long fight for parity with the East in basic freight rates.

The Interstate Commerce Commission ordered, in effect, that as soon as schedules can be prepared an article moving by railroad freight shall take the same rate classification regardless of where it starts and stops. This applied even to the far western states.

The commission also directed that uniform class rates be established for the whole territory east of the Rockies, effectually eliminating present territorial divisions. The Far West had not petitioned for that change.

Only class rates were affected. In general, articles moving under class rates are those of the same general character, which are placed in a class and where the shipment is not large enough to demand a higher than the present first class rate. This means an increase in class rates for the east and a lowering of class rates for the other territories.

Because considerable time will be required to make the classification and rate changes ordered (commission observers estimated it might take as long as two years) the commission directed the railroads to provide temporary relief by raising all class rates within eastern territories of a single or closely related commodities being moved at a specified price for a specified haul. Products usually moved on commodity rates are such things as coal, lumber, grain, cotton and sand.

For this revision the commission recommended that a class rate scale approximately 15 per cent higher than the present first class rates of eastern territory be established as a base. This means an increase in class rates for the east and a lowering of class rates for the other territories.

Because considerable time will be required to make the classification and rate changes ordered (commission observers estimated it might take as long as two years) the commission directed the railroads to provide temporary relief by raising tory by 10 per cent and lowering all class rates in and between southern, western and southwestern territories, and between these territories on one hand and eastern territory on the other by 10 per cent.

The commission's decision, generally conceded to be the most important in its history, is not to be confused with the United States supreme court suit against the railroads instituted by the State of Georgia. Of a similar nature, the suit nevertheless is completely aside from the commission's action.

Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgia, who instituted the court action, has said it will be continued regardless of ICC action, "to complete the job of freeing the transportation system of America."

Agitating for a change in class rates and in rate classifications stems from a years-long demand of the south and west that uniform rates be established. Asserting that lower rates in the industrial east are discriminatory, spokesmen for the south and west have contended that the change would put other sections of the country in a position to compete with the east in the establishment and development of industry.

To the contentions of the south and west, spokesmen for the east have replied that although the south and west had higher class rates they enjoyed the advantage of lower commodity rates, especially on such commodities as cotton. The east argued that if class rates were to be revised, commodity rates should be looked into also.

The railroads, opposing the changes sought by the south and west, denied that present rates were discriminatory. They were, they said, in keeping with railroad costs for a territory of smaller population, of less industrial development, of smaller traffic volume.

Unusual Conflict

Referring at it did to the highly complicated freight rate structure of the nation—including literally millions of rates for thousands of items, points of origin and destination—the controversy was marked by an unusual conflict of opinions and interpretations of fact.

The railroads were allowed 90 days to state whether they will undertake to submit a uniform classification, and the temporary relief was ordered into effect by August 30. Discussing the temporary relief ordered, the commission said in a statement accompanying its 294-page decision:

"This will greatly reduce the differences in the levels of the class rates in the various class-rate territories, and will bring to a minimum the undue prejudice."

It added in its temporary relief order that the minimum charge per shipment on less-than-carload shipments moving at class rates is increased from 55 to 75 cents.

How long would be required to make the permanent adjustments ordered by the commission was anyone's guess, but persons close to the commission said it might take one, two or more years. A rate structure, they pointed out, that has grown up during the life of railroad transportation and which has become the most complicated subject in the transportation business cannot be changed easily or quickly.

Although the commission has suggested a basis for establishing the rates, the individual items will require study and in all probability an extensive revenue test will be necessary before revisions become permanent.

Rates Change Constantly

Freight rates change constantly through petitions of shippers, conferences between shippers and carriers, and as a result of ICC hearings. This right of shippers to request changes in particular rates for particular items between specified points is not removed by today's decision. Only the classifications will become uniform and the pattern of rates permanent.

Dissenting from the decision of the 11-man commission were Claude R. Porter and George M. Barnard.

Declaring that he favored "bringing together much more closely than they are now the respective class-rate structures of the country," Porter added:

"But I am forced to dissent from the majority report, first because of its one-sided and inadequate statement of a number of the important facts; second, because the class-rate uniformity called for by the findings of the majority, under which the same set of class rates is to be applied throughout the country from Portland, Maine, to El Paso, Tex., and from Bismarck, N. D., to Miami, Fla., and the manner in which it is to be accomplished, not only are without adequate support upon the record and ignore the standards of rate-making consistently followed by this commission throughout its 58-year history, but in my opinion ignore and are contrary to the best interests of the shipping public, as well as of the railroads, in each of the territories affected."

Pacific Shipping Needs Run To Gigantic Totals

By Herman R. Allen

New York, May 19 (AP)—A ship making the round trip from New York to the British Isles to carry supplies for the European war required about 65 days. This included layovers, loading and unloading time.

But a ship requires 90 to 150 days to make the round trip from the West Coast to the Philippines, from which it is possible China or Japan may be invaded. Including layovers, loading and unloading, it might make four trips or it might make only two full trips and part of a third in a year.

Difference In Needs

Thus, to supply one shipload a month for the Pacific war from the West Coast, four to six ships must be kept in constant operation. Only two ships were needed to supply a shipload a month to Europe.

Over-all distances are almost exactly twice as great in the Pacific supply story, but that isn't the only complication.

In invading Europe, General Eisenhower's troops had only to cross the twenty-mile English Channel. There is no such handy jumping-off place close to Japan or the mainland of China. Okinawa (if that island should be turned into an invasion base) is 320 miles from the southern tip of Japan. Both Okinawa and the Philippines are on a line some 600 miles from the China coast. Formosa, which might possibly be seized as a base, is about half that far.

Supplies Needed

An Office of War Information report says that from five to ten tons of cargo must be landed in an invasion for every soldier who hits the beach. OWI furnishes this table of supplies needed for an invasion force of 250,000 men in their first landing and then to maintain them for 30 days:

	Measurement in Tons
	First Landing	30 Days' Maintenance
Weapons and ammunition	200,000	33,000
Combat vehicles (tanks, etc.)	325,000	8,000
General purpose vehicles	525,000	5,000
Signal apparatus	50,000	1,000
Rations	12,000	36,000
Petroleum products	20,000	100,000
Other quartermaster supplies	...	13,000
Transportation	100,000	1,000
Engineering equipment	100,000	80,000
Chemical warfare equipment	25,000	2,000
Medical equipment and supplies	100,000	3,000
Air Corps equipment and supplies	...	20,000
Totals	1,557,000	332,000

(These supplies include everything from buttons to locomotives.)

Hypothetical Figures

To land 250,000 men and all their gear would require 5,000 separate beachings by all kinds of landing craft.

To maintain the men for 30 days would require the unloading of 30 to 35 Liberty ships and 15 tankers. And remember that to continue landing material at that rate for succeeding 30-day periods would require four to six times that many ships in constant operation.

Remember, too, that any full-scale invasion of Japan or China would involve many times 250,000 men.

For 100,000 Men

Here is a table supplied by the Army dealing with a force of 100,000 men with a breakdown on some of the materials needed to set up a base for them.

It involves a base camp for 10,000 men (the remainder presumably would be in forward areas, with another 10,000 returning to the base from time to time), hospital facilities for 10,000, nine airfields, 75 miles of railway to be built, plus roads, bridges, warehouses, etc.

These are just a few of the things that would be needed. Figures are in tons:

Lumber	61,547
Pipe and fittings	32,238
Laundry equipment	4,880
Railroad ties	17,275
Well-drilling equipment	110
Steel landing mats	11,100
Paving	1,600
Prefabricated buildings	3,280
Tools	75

And all that stuff has to be moved by ship, too.

Eisenhower Lauds Negro Service Men

New York, May 19 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower said in a letter made public today, "the American Negro has played an important part in many tests of battle and of service in this theater of war."

The letter, expressing hope for the success of the United Negro college fund for 1945, was addressed to the fund's chairman, Thomas A. Morgan. It continued:

"The best possible training will be needed by the American nation as a whole, including its Negro citizens, to conquer the many tests of peace. No one questions the right of American Negroes to adequate college facilities to provide postwar leadership for their race."

U-Boat Captain Suicide; Ship Docks At Portsmouth

Boston, May 19 (AP)—A German submarine commander committed suicide in a Boston prison today shortly before a Luftwaffe general and crewmen of another surrendered submersible,, the huge U-234, walked ashore at Portsmouth (N.H.) Navy Yard.

Captain-Lieutenant Fritz Steinhoff, commander of the U-783, which was brought to Portsmouth four days ago, punctured a wrist artery with part of an eyeglass he smashed in his Charles street jail cell, the 1st Service Command said.

Steinhoff and other members of his crew were lodged in the civilian jail temporarily pending transfer to a prisoner-of-war camp.

Three In Civilian Clothes

The 1,600-ton U-234, much the largest of the U-boats brought to United States ports and a prize catch in the roundup of the German undersea fleet in the North Atlantic, tied up at Portsmouth to disgorge Luftwaffe General Lieutenant Ulrich Kessler, several Luftwaffe lesser lights, three unidentified men in civilian clothes, eight submarine officers and a crew of 49 men.

The bodies of two Japanese, which were reported by the Navy aboard the undersea boat when it radioed its surrender from a point 500 miles off Greenland while en route to Japan, were not aboard. Navy officers said they apparently had been buried at sea after committing hari-kari.

"Treated Me Like A Gangster"

Kessler said nothing as he reached the dock, but the U-234's skpiper, Johans Henrich Fehler, declared to a Coast Guard officer: "Your men treated me like a gangster."

"That's just what you are," the Coast Guardsman — Lieut. Charles Winslow, of Portland, Maine—replied, "Get off!"

Three other German subs have been brought to Portsmouth this week.

The Army disclosed few details of Steinhoff's death. A German doctor, a member of Steinhoff's crew, gave first-aid treatment immediately after the commander was discovered by a military guard dying in his blood-spattered cell. A United States Army physician quickly ordered his transfer to Massachusetts General Hospital. He died soon after his arrival there.

Aviation Plans Found

The Navy listed Steinhoff's home as Kullstedt, Germany. When the burly six-foot skipper arrived at Portsmouth, he brusquely declared he did not have to submit to interviews by newsmen and went directly from the dock for examination by naval officers.

The U-234 also carried German aviation plans. The contents of the bales of records were not disclosed by United States naval intelligence officers.

The Nazis were whisked away in waiting busses, the first batch of captured U-boat crews to come into the base this week who haven't had a stopover at the Portsmouth naval prison.

Marines Glared Back

Many of the Germans were in the "schoolboy" category. One or two grinned halfheartedly as they walked slowly in the busses. Most of them eyed the Marine guards, who glared back.

A huge suitcase of one of the civilian passengers was toted by a sailor.

General Kessler was clad in the most immaculate uniform of the group. He saluted a Coast Guard officer and reported his name as he walked slowly down the gangway.

Seven of the submersible's crew were left aboard the craft.

Fehler wore a shabby blue uniform and a dirty white-topped hat.

German Couple Saved U. S. Flyer From Nazis

Pilot's Mother Gets Letter From Army Chaplain

CRANSTON, R. I., May 19 (AP)—How her fighter pilot son, Captain John T. Godfrey, of Providence, R. I., was sheltered for two days from enemy patrols by an elderly German couple was disclosed here today by Mrs. Reginald Godfrey.

The information, contained in a letter from Chaplain J. W. Bang, of the 45th Division, said that Godfrey was hidden in a woodshed, fed and clothed after having been shot down in Germany last August.

Bang said he had the story from Lieutenant Ralph Plumb, who was billeted at the German couple's home last month.

"Lieutenant Plumb told me he and seventy-five men reached the village on the night of April 23, and he k cked on the door of the cottage," the letter said.

"He said that night the old man drew a sheet of paper from a hiding place and displayed it proudly to him. It read: 'If you are an American, please be good to these old people. They were very good to me; in fact, they saved my life. Captain John T. Godfrey, U. S. A. A. F.'"

Godfrey, credited with thirty-six Nazi planes, tried unsuccessfully to escape to Switzerland, the letter stated, and was imprisoned. He and other American flyers were liberated fro Langwasser prison camp near Neurnberg b American forces last month.

Huge U-234 Arrives.

Portsmouth, N. H., May 19 (A. P.).—The huge Nazi submarine U-234, bearing a German general glided into this surrender port today and was anchored to a mooring buoy under the heavy guns of escorting vessels. The high ranking enemy officer was identified yesterday by the Navy as Major Gen. Ulrich Kessler of the Luftwaffe. The vessel also carried German air plans.

The undersea craft radioed its surrender a week ago while en route to Japan from a point 500 miles east of Greenland in the North Atlantic.

When the Coast Guard vessel, transferring the crew from the undersea boat to the dock, arrived at the Navy Yard the Luftwaffe general was among the first ashore. Kessler saluted as he stalked slowly out the gangway of the Coast Guard craft.

The submarine was commanded by Capt. Johans Heinrich Fehler. He was the last man to leave the Coast Guard craft. He turned to a Coast Guard officer as he reached the head of the way and said: "Your men

ed me like a gangster."
king him directly in the the Coast Guard officer,
Charles Winslow of Port-
Me., exclaimed:

d his men.
he bodies of two Japanese,
ported aboard the submarine, were buried at sea. The Navy had said that they committed harakiri. Three unidentified men wearing civilian clothing also were taken from the vessel.

Censorship shrouded further details concerning passengers and crew of the U-234, fourth Nazi U-boat to seek a berth off Portsmouth in the past five days.

Arrival of the huge 1,600-ton craft was awaited by the largest group of newsmen and photographers to assemble at the navy yard since the submarine Squalus sank near the Isle of Shoals in 1939.

Interviews Forbidden

Naval public-relations officers said members of the press must remain at least eight feet away from the Germans when they come ashore and that there would be no interviews.

War-Criminal Hunt Set

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 19 (AP)—Almost a score of army teams have been organized to track down Axis war criminals in the "biggest and most justifiable man hunt in history," Maj. Gen. Myron C. Cramer, Judge Advocate General said today.

In addition, he told a graduating class at the judge advocate general's school, the War Crimes Office of the Judge Advocate General's department has established branches in all war theaters and judge advocates in every Army unit have been ordered to investigate alleged atrocities.

"Every Last One"

"I reiterate," he said in a prepared address, "that so far as the War Crimes Office is concerned, we are going to round up every last one of these offenders against our service men and nationals if it is within our power and make them stand trial for their sins against God and man."

The pursuit and arraignment of "butchers and oppressors," he said, will tax to the utmost the capacity of the War Crimes Office and will become a major activity of the Judge Advocate General's office. Nevertheless, he added, the department "welcomes" the assignment.

"The trail of the beast is all over stricken Europe, and this nation owes a duty to its maimed and tortured dead to track down the terrorists and bring them to justice," he declared, adding that "the same is true in no less degree of the sadists of Japan who have literally raped the Philippines."

Investigation On Scene

The War Crimes teams, composed of department representatives, will make spot investigations at the scene of alleged brutalities and, when possible, get the testimony of witnesses or victims. Judge Advocates in every army unit will co-operate, he added, with other government agencies in "ferreting out the truth or falsity of reports of atrocities."

Cramer expressed gratification that Supreme Court Justice Robert H. Jackson had been named the United States representative in the prosecution of war criminals and pledged him the resources and services of the Judge Advocate General's department.

The 77 graduates boosted the total number of officers in the Judge Advocate General's department to 2,356—the largest in its history. All have had experience as practicing lawyers.

C.M.H. Posthumously Awarded To Iowan

Fort Dodge, Iowa, May 19 (AP)—The Congressional Medal of Honor, the nation's highest award for bravery, has been awarded posthumously to Capt. Darrell R. Lindsey, 25, bomber pilot, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Lindsey, of Fort Dodge, were informed today by the War Department.

Lindsey was the second Iowan to receive the decoration in this war. The other was Lieut. Dale E. Christensen, 24, of Gary, killed in action in New Guinea. Lindsey was killed in France. The awards were announced a week apart.

SOVIET PROPOSAL IS PLACED BEFORE BIG FIVE LEADERS

Amendment on Self-Defense Action Given to Foreign Ministers.

SEE LITTLE DIFFERENCE

Brief Study of Proposal Made—U.S. Considers Draft Today.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19—(AP) Russia submitted to the Big Five foreign ministers today the draft of a proposal accepting the principle of self defense action in coordinating regional groups of nations under a world peace-keeping organization.

Differing from an American-sponsored amendment in language, the Soviet proposal was reported to recognize the principle that individual countries or a group of nations have the inherent right to act immediately in self defense if the security council of a world league fails to preserve peace.

There seemed, at first appraisal, little if any difference in the substance of the Russian proposition and the American-sponsored proposal which has been accepted by Latin American nations during proceedings of the United Nations conference.

Like French Amendment

The Russian draft was said to follow rather closely in phraseology an amendment submitted previously by the French. There was speculation that the Soviets had approximated the French language in an effort to help solidify relations between those two countries.

The Soviet proposal, which was said to raise no objection to the use of the phrase collective defense, was given brief study by the Big Five today. It goes before the American delegation for additional consideration tomorrow noon.

The Americans hope then to compose differences in language and have a compromise proposition ready for submission when the Big Five meets later in the day.

There had been delay in Russian delegation Chief Andrei Gromyko hearing from Moscow.

After chalking off progress reports on creation of a new world court, the conference had begun marking time pending a break in Russian reticence on important conference problems.

Await Russian Move

Committees handling such issues as Big Five veto powers, regional security and trusteeships, had stopped on dead center. Various Latin American countries, insistent that the Pan American mutual defense arrangement must not be supplanted entirely by a world peace enforcing system, didn't want other major questions decided until Russia's position on regional security became clear.

The American delegation, which drafted a plan to let regional groups of nations act in concert to repel attacks without impairing the supreme authority of a world league, had decided to wait until Monday for an expression of Russian views before submitting their formula to the conference.

Delegation officials sought today to dispel any idea that anything in the nature of an ultimatum had been handed the Soviets. Some said the final draft of the regional arrangements plan had not been turned over to Russia's chief delegate, Andrei Gromyko, until Tuesday and that the normal processes of translation and decoding, sending a message to Moscow and getting a reply would take three days.

The U. S. delegates, in a meeting of their own, were reported to have given strong support to a Canadian proposal that any country whose forces would be used by the world organization to repel aggression should have a voice in deciding whether armed might should be employed.

Some of the Americans considered the Canadian position unassailable.

The United States, they say, would not let her Army and Navy be used as part of an international police force unless this country was consulted.

The British, too, are reported to be viewing Canada's position sympathetically. Russia's attitude on this point has not been determined.

In another field of conference endeavors, it was announced today one committee had decided that any member in arrears on financial contributions to the world organization should be deprived of voting rights.

Public Session Held

The first public session of any conference agency in more than a week was held this morning in San Francisco's War Memorial opera house. A commission handling the question of setting up a new international court of justice heard chairmen and rapporteurs of its two committees tell how they are getting along with their chores.

Substantial agreement has been reached on many points, they report, but some controversial problems still have to be settled. So there was nothing final to be turned over to the commission for approval at this next higher level.

There was something new to the setting in the opera house. Delegates marching down to their red velvet orchestra seats saw the blue and white flags of Argentina leading the parade of United Nations banners across the speaker's platform. By alphabetical pre-arrangement, Argentina came first.

And in the first seven rows of seats, cards on staffs designated the positions of the delegations, in the manner of state standards at national political conventions. Argentina, admitted late to the conference, was first also in the seating plan.

The commission president, Venezuelan Foreign Minister Carraciolo Parra-Perez, rapped the hour and a quarter meeting to order to receive a statement on results of committee labors.

"We shall not be able," he said, "to discuss profitably at this time these results, nor make decisions thereon, in view of the fact that certain drafting details are still pending with respect to the documents which are to be submitted to us."

He said he hoped the next commission meeting would be able to recommend final drafts for adoption by the entire conference. Before long, he said, the commission should be able to set a date for completing its tasks.

Approve 51 Articles

One committee had approved 51 of 69 articles of a statute for the new world court, but had skipped the controversial ones. They will be decided later. It had determined, also, that:

There should be 15 judges, no two from the same country, picked for character and legal qualifications, for 9-year terms. The terms of five of them would expire every five years. Any litigant would be entitled to have a judge of its own nationality on the court, which would be open originally to members of the United Nations and states which are parties to the statute.

The committee also has approved rules covering such things as official languages to be used, questioning of witnesses, and conditions regarding the rendering, entering the revising of judgments.

Another committee had approved the principle of diplomatic privileges and immunities for judges and court attaches. It was in "substantial agreement" that a world charter should make provision for registration of treaties and international agreements; for "dealing with obligations inconsistent with the charter," and for precluding any future treaties among member nations that might be inconsistent.

FULL EMPLOYMENT BACKED AT PARLEY

San Francisco, May 19 (A. P.).—The promise of "full employment," from which many of the United Nations have shied, today was one step closer to getting into the world charter.

The conference committee, which is outlining the role the Economic Council will play in the world organization, has approved "full employment" as part of the purpose of the Economic Council.

It must now go before a full commission meeting and then a plenary conference session. But, as one delegate put it, "few, if any nations, would have the nerve to stand up in a public commission meeting and oppose the principle of full employment." Australia's Foreign Minister, Herbert V. Evatt, immediately announced Australia would fight for the promise of full employment. Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov told reporters that Russia would like to see the United Nations pledge "to all workers the right to work."

The Big Four finally agreed to send all the amendments on "full employment" to a drafting committee which brought out this section:

"With a view to the creation of stability and well-being which are necessary for peaceful and friendly relations among nations based on respect for the principle of equal rights and self-determination of peoples, the organization shall promote:

"A. Higher standards of living, full employment, and conditions of economic and social progress and development;

"B. Solutions of international economic, social, cultural, health and other related problems, and

"C. Universal respect for, and observance of, human rights, and fundamental freedoms for all without distinction as to race, language, religion or sex."

The committee vote adopting this is a milestone in a two-year-long battle at various world conferences between Australia, on the one hand, and the United States and the United Kingdom on the other.

Closing Date Debated

San Francisco, May 19 (AP)—The conference executive committee headed by Secretary of State Stettinius yesterday received a proposal from Secretary-General Alger Hiss that the United Nations Conference end by June 2.

Big-nation representatives generally favored this date as a tentative goal, but Herbert V. Evatt, of Australia, protested sharply against any steam-roller tactics, saying the smaller nations' delegations lacked the manpower of the big ones to keep fully abreast of all issues and needed time to study them. Result: No decision will be given pending a meeting of the steering committee Monday.

San Francisco Puts Up Plaque For Roosevelt

Stettinius and Smuts Pay Tribute to President at Muir Woods Ceremony

SAN FRANCISCO, May 19 (AP).—In a cathedral-like grove of giant, ancient redwoods, a plaque was dedicated today to the memory of President Roosevelt.

"Here, among the great redwoods, this great man will find fitting and congenial company," said Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, Prime Minister of the Union of South Africa. "Here, henceforth will be the company of the giants."

Secretary of State Edward R. Stettinius jr., who dedicated the plaque at Muir Woods National Monument, across the Golden Gate Bridge from San Francisco, told delegates to the United Nations conference that "our beloved President is gone, but his spirit, like these trees, lives on to inspire and strengthen all those who shared his hopes for mankind."

Of the late President, Marshal Smuts told the assembly of delegates:

"No moment is greater or more fitting for the passing of the hero than the hour of victory. Such was Roosevelt's going, from the personal point of view—the intolerable burden dropped when the great task was done. There was the added glory of the great leader killed by the herculean job he had done—for such, indeed, was Roosevelt's fate.

Pedro Leao Velloso, Foreign Minister of Brazil, who suggested the tribute, told the gathering of United Nations delegates that President Roosevelt had possessed "exceptional intelligence, but he was, above all, a man of heart and a man of faith. There was a

San Francisco, May 19 (AP)—Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts, of South Africa, protested tonight against the confusion and special pressures he said are afflicting the United Nations conference. He also deplored the exodus of top statesmen.

Britain's Anthony Eden, France's Georges Bidault, Russia's V. M. Molotov have all left, and the South African Prime Minister said their departure "makes the position awkward for their colleagues who remain," and might imperil the peace charter's ratification later on.

NEW MEXICO KEPT TO TASK

Captain And 29 Others Were Killed Off Luzon Island

San Francisco, May 19 (AP)—The United States battleship New Mexico kept her guns blazing on bombardment schedule for five days after her captain and 27 other officers and men were killed by a Japanese bomb January 6 in Lingayen Gulf, Philippines.

This first battle damage to the 26-year-old battleship, which was in the Atlantic when so many of her sisters suffered at Pearl Harbor, was disclosed here today by the 12th Naval District.

Capt. Robert W. Fleming, USN, was killed when the bomb struck on the port navigating bridge.

Correspondent Also Killed

Also killed were William Chickering, of Honolulu and Piedmont, Cal., Time magazine war correspondent, and Lieut. Gen. Herbert Lumsden, British Royal Marines observer.

Their deaths, first announced shortly after the action, made the total on the ship 30.

The New Mexico was hit by the aerial bomb while engaged in the American pre-invasion bombardment of Luzon Island.

"For the remainder of the day and until the beaches were secured some five days later," the announcement said, "the New Mexico continued her scheduled bombardment."

Admiral Fraser Aboard

Material damage to the ship—nicknamed "The Queen" by her crew—caused little loss of battle efficiency. Repair parties quickly put out fires and cleared wreckage.

The announcement disclosed that Admiral Sir Bruce Fraser, commander of the British Pacific Fleet, also was aboard the New Mexico at the time as an observer.

Two anti-aircraft guns were knocked out by the bomb, but others effectively continued their fire on Japanese planes. The ship was repaired at Pearl Harbor and within a month was back at sea under a new commanding officer.

LONDON, MAY 19-(AP)- THE FUTURE OF PRIME "INISTER CHURCHILL'S COALITION GOVERNMENT THAT HAS SEEN BRITAIN SURVIVE THE WORST AND RISE TO VICTORY IN EUROPE APPEARED TODAY TO REST WITH THE ACTION OF THE LABOR PARTY CONFERENCE OPENING MONDAY.

CHURCHILL HIMSELF HAS THE POWER TO DECIDE WHEN THE WEK NATIONAL "INISTERS HAVE MADE IT CLEAR THEY WOULD VOTING WILL BE HELD, BUT LABOR WIN

FOLLOW INSTRUCTIONS EL_ OF DELEGATES TO THE PARTY CONVENTION ON WHETHER

MAY 20 1945

TO STAY UNTIL AN ELECTION IS SET.

SECTIONS OF THE LABOR PRESS HAVE MAINTAINED THAT SOME CONSERVATIVE LEADERS ARE URGING CHURCHILL TO CALL THE ELECTION IN JULY. THE MAJORITY OPINION, HOWEVER, APPEARS TO BE THAT THE VOTING WILL BE PUT OFF UNTIL OCTOBER.

NEVERTHELESS, A DISTINCT ELECTION FEVER IS O IN THE AIR. MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT IN THE ARMY AND SERVICEMEN WHO HAVE ANNOUNCED THEIR CANDIDACY HAVE BEEN CALLED HOME.

CABINET MINISTERS ALREADY HAVE BEGUN CAMPAIGNING. SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, LABORITE MINISTER OF AIRCRAFT PRODUCTION, TOLD A WREXHAM MEETING THAT THE WHOLE ISSUE FOR THE COMING ELECTION WAS

MAY 20 1945

"PLAN OR NO PLAN."

" IN SOME OF THE BASIC SERVICES AND INDUSTRIES WE NEED TO GO FURTHER FOR A PERMANENT SOLUTION THAN WE HAVE BEEN PREPARED TO GO DURING WAR," HE SAID." WE NEED TO SOCIALIZE THESE - - - PUT THEM UNDER PUBLIC CONTROL."

THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY, HAS ANNOUNCED A 12-POINT PROGRAM FLATLY DEMANDING "THE FULLEST OPPORTUNITY FOR INDIVIDUAL INITIATIVE AND THE REMOVAL OF WARTIME CONTROLS WHEN THE NECESSITY FOR THEM DISAPPEARS."

GENERALLY, POLITICAL COMMITMENTS TO SOCIAL REFORM HAVE BEEN STRONGER THAN EVER. ALL PARTIES ARE ADVOCATING PLANS WHICH VARY IN DETAILS BUT THEY AGREE ON THE BROAD PRINCIPLE OF STATE RESPONSIBILITY FOR SECURITY FROM THE CRADLE TO THE GRADE.

CONSCRIPTION IS ONE OF THE NEWEST ISSUES TO ARISE. THE LEFT WING WEEKLY, TRIBUNE, HAS WARNED THE LABOR PARTY AGAINST REACHING ANY AGREEMENT WITH CONSERVATIVES ON THIS QUESTION BEFORE VOTING DAY.

THE TRIBUNE HAS EXHORTED THE LABOR CLASS TO TAKE A STAND BY ITSELF, DECLARING "IF WE AGREE WITH THE TORIES THEN THE ISSUE CEASES TO BE POLITICAL. ON THE OTHER HAND IF THE TORIES DISAGREE WITH US IT MUST BE FOUGHT OUT AT THE POLLS."

THE TRIBUNE MAINTAINED LABOR SHOULD "SUPPORT COMPULSORY MILITARY SERVICE FOR A DEFINITE PERIOD LONG ENOUGH TO CONCLUDE THE WAR WITH JAPAN AND TO WIND UP THE IMMEDIATE POST WAR SITUATION."

IT PREDICTED THAT THREE YEARS SHOULD PROVE AMPLE FOR THESE PURPOSES.

AS DELEGATES BEGAN ARRIVING AT BLACKPOOL FOR THE LABOR CONFERENCE THERE WERE INDICATIONS THAT SOME OF THEM MIGHT PRESS FOR PARTY SUPPORT TO THE "POPULAR FRONT" CAMPAIGN , WHEREBY ALL PROGRESSIVE SO-CALLED PROGRESSIVE FORCES WOULD UNITE AGAINST THE CONSERVATIVES.

THE LABOR PARTY, HOWEVER, HAS SEVERAL TIMES REJECTED SUGGESTIONS FOR A UNITED CAMPAIGN WITH THE COMMUNIST AND LEFT-WING COMMONWEALTH PARTY.

LONDON, MAY 19-(AP)-- THE DRAMATIC STORY OF A CONVOY OF AMERICAN PLEASURE STEAMERS--DESCRIBED AS THE WIERDEST-LOOKING FLEET EVER TO BRAVE AN ATLANTIC CROSSING-- THAT FOUGHT ITS WAY TO ENGLAND IN THE FALL OF 1942 TO HELP IN THE LIBERATION OF EUROPE WAS TOLD FOR THE FIRST TIME TODAY.

ONLY FIVE OF THE 11 FRAIL INSHORE OR LAKE SHIPS ORIGINALLY CHARTERED BY THE BRITISH MINISTRY OF WAR TRANSPORT FINALLY GOT HERE.

THREE WERE UNABLE TO MEET THE STARTING DEADLINE, AND THREE WERE SUNK IN THE MID-ATLANTIC BY GERMAN SUBMARINES.

TITO WAS QUOTED AS SAYING THAT "I CANNOT BUT EXPRESS MY RESENTMENT AND SURPRISE AT THE IMPOSSIBLE COMPARISON THAT THE PRESENCE OF YUGOSLAV TROOPS IN ISTRA AND SLOVENE LITTORAL IS SIMILAR TO HITLER'S, MUSSOLINI'S AND THE JAPANESE' METHODS OF CONQUESTS."

"THE YUGOSLAV ARMY CHASED THE FORCES OF OCCUPATION WITH THE MIGHT OF ITS ARMS RIGHT TO THE RIVER SOCA AND BEYOND AND NO CHARACTER OF CONQUEST CAN BE ATTRIBUTED TO ITS PRESENCE IN THIS TERRITORY," HE SAID.

BY JAMES F.KING

LONDON, MAY 18-(AP)-MARSHAL TITO'S REPLY TO THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN NOTES ON TRIESTE HAS FAILED TO RESOLVE THE DIFFICULTIES AND FURTHER EXCHANGES OF VIEWS ARE NECESSARY, RELIABLE SOURCES SAID TODAY.

THE YUGOSLAV MINISTRY OF INFORMATION IN BELGRADE SAID THE REPLY REITERATED TITO'S PREVIOUS POSITION THAT HIS ARMY HAD THE RIGHT TO REMAIN IN THE DISPUTED ZONE--ISTRIA, TRIESTE AND THE SLOVENE LITTORAL--UNTIL A FINAL SETTLEMENT IS MADE AT THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

AN ASSOCIATED PRESS DISPATCH FROM BELGRADE SAID TITO'S NOTE CAUSED SURPRISE AND DISAPPOINTME

N

T AT THE U.S. EMBASSY, BUT A FEELING PERSISTED THAT A SATISFACTORY SETTLEMENT COULD BE REACHED.

THE BELGRADE RADIO DECLARED "THE HONOR OF OUR ARMY AND THE HONOR OF OUR COUNTRY DEMAND THE PRESENCE OF THE YUGOSLAV ARMY" IN THE ZONE, WHICH THE ALLIES INSIST IS NEEDED FOR SUPPLYING THEIR OCCUPATION FORCES IN AUSTRIA.

THIS PHRASEOLOGY WAS INTERPRETED IN BELGRADE TO MEAN THAT TITO HAD TURNED DOWN ALLIED DEMANDS THAT HE WITHDRAW HIS ARMY FROM THE DISPUTED PRE-WAR ITALIAN TERRITORY.

FIELD MARSHAL SIR HAROLD ALEXANDER HAD WARNED TITO AGAINST TRYING TO USE FORCE TO BACK HIS CLAIMS, AND THE BELGRADE RADIO SAID THE PRESENCE OF THE YUGOSLAV TROOPS IN THE AREA WOULD NOT "PREJUDGE DECISIONS OF THE PEACE CONFERENCE AS TO WHOM THESE TERRITORIES BELONG."

"THE NEEDS OF OUR ALLIES CONCERNING PORTS AND LINES OF COMMUNICATIONS HAVE BEEN COMPLETELY SAFEGUARDED IN THE SPIRIT OF TALKS BETWEEN MARSHAL TITO AND FIELD MARSHAL ALEXANDER DURING THE VISIT BY FIELD MARSHAL ALEXANDER TO BELGRADE THIS WINTER," IT ADDED.

LATER, THE BRITISH MINISTRY OF INFORMATION HEARD AN ENGLISH-LANGUAGE BROADCAST BY THE BELGRADE RADIO WHICH SAID:

"WE HAVE STRESSED REPEATEDLY THAT WE INTEND TO SUBMIT OUR CLAIMS TO THE PEACE CONFERENCE, BUT WE ARE NOT PREPARED TO LET YUGOSLAV TERRITORY BE ADMINISTERED BY BONOMI (ITALIAN PREMIER.)

"WE ASK TO BE TREATED AS EQUALS, AS ALLIES. NO ARMY OF ANY OF THE ALLIES HAS BEEN ASKED TO WITHDRAW FROM TERRITORY THEY OCCUPIED.

"IT IS SAID," THE BROADCASTER CONTINUED, "THAT OUR RADIO AND PRESS ARE UNDER SOVIET CONTROL. WHAT WOULD BRITAIN AND AMERICA SAY IF OUR PAPERS TALKED ABOUT BRITISH AND AMERICAN GENERALS IN THE WAY THE ALLIED-CONTROLLED ROME PRESS TALKS ABOUT OURS?

MAY 20 1945

A28

"THIS CAMPAIGN IS DOING GREAT DAMAGE TO OUR RELATIONS, AND CASTS DOUBTS ON ALLIED INTENTIONS."

THE YUGOSLAV AGENCY TANYUG REPORTED, MEANWHILE, THAT CIVIL AFFAIRS IN TRIESTE WERE TAKEN OVER BY AN ITALIAN-SLOVENE ANTI-FASCIST EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE FROM THE YUGOSLAV ARMY COMMANDANT, MAJ. GEN. DUSAN KVEDER.

IT SAID REPRESENTATIVES OF THE BRITISH, SOVIET, AND AMERICAN MILITARY MISSIONS ATTENDED THE CEREMONY.

THE DISPATCH SAID THE AIMS OF THE COMMITTEE WERE TO DEMOCRATIZE THE NATIONAL AUTHORITY, TO STRENGTHEN THE BROTHERHOOD BETWEEN ITALIANS AND SLOVENES AND TO PREPARE FOR DEMOCRATIC ELECTIONS.

BY W.W.HERCHER

LONDON, MAY 19-(AP)-MARSHAL STALIN'S FORMULA FOR SETTLEMENT OF THE POLISH PROBLEM MET WITH A MEASURE OF SYMPATHY FROM THE LONDON PRESS TODAY ALTHOUGH THERE WAS NO OFFICIAL REACTION FROM EITHER THE BRITISH GOVERNMENT OR THE POLISH GOVERNMENT IN EXILE.

LORD BEAVERBROOK'S SUNDAY EXPRESS SAID "WE MUST REALIZE THAT THROUGH THE WAR YEARS OUR VIEWS ABOUT POLAND HAVE BEEN FORMED LARGELY ON INFORMATION AND PROPAGANDA DISSEMINATED BY THE REFUGEE POLISH GOVERNMENT IN BRITAIN."

"WE ONLY NOW ARE BEGINNING TO REALIZE," THE EDITORIAL CONTINUED, "THERE IS ANOTHER COMPLETELY DIVERGENT VIEW ABOUT POLAND AND THAT THE MAJORITY OF POLES DO NOT ACCEPT THE VIEWS OF THE LONDON POLES AT ALL.

"OUR MOSCOW CORRESPONDENT DECLARES THAT IF WE TOOK THE TROUBLE TO BE OFFICIALLY REPRESENTED IN POLAND AND TO EXAMINE THE SITUATION DISPASSIONATELY ON THE SPOT, WE SHOULD SOON BE SUPPORTING THE POLES OF POLAND. THAT WOULD SEEM TO BE SOUND DEMOCRACY. WHY DON'T WE TRY IT?"

STALIN'S STATEMENT WAS A DIRECT CHALLENGE OF THE CLAIM BY THE POLISH EXILED GOVERNMENT THAT THE 16 POLES ARRESTED BY THE RUSSIANS--AMONG THEM ITS DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER--HAD BEEN INVITED BY SOVIET AUTHORITIES TO LEAVE FOR CONSULTATIONS ON THE NEW GOVERNMENT.

THE DISCLOSURE BY FOREIGN MINISTER V.M.MOLOTOV AT THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE THAT THE GROUP HAD BEEN ARRESTED TERMINATED CONSULTATIONS ON THE POLISH ISSUE AMONG THE SOVIET, BRITISH AND AMERICAN FOREIGN MINISTERS.

PRESS ASSOCIATION'S DIPLOMATIC CORRESPONDENT SAID STALIN'S STATEMENT THAT THE 16 POLES WERE NOT INVITED TO TAKE PART IN THE DISCUSSIONS AT MOSCOW "CANNOT BE CONTRADICTED, ALTHOUGH IT IS IN DIRECT OPPOSITION TO STATEMENTS MADE BY THE LONDON POLES."

THE POLES HERE DECLARED THE ARRESTS WERE A BREACH OF FAITH ON THE ART OF RUSSIA, A CHARGE WHICH BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES REGARDED SO SERIOUSLY THAT THEY BROKE OFF DISCUSSIONS AT SAN FRANCISCO

STALIN'S STATEMENT THAT THE RECONSTRUCTION OF THE POLISH GOVERNMENT

MUST BE BASED UPON THE CRIMEA RESOLUTIONS BROUGHT OUT AGAIN THE APPARENT DIFFERENCES OF OPINION IN INTERPRETING THEM.

THAT DIFFERENCE APPARENTLY CENTERED ON THE VETO POWERS OF THE SOVIET-SPONSORED PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT OVER CANDIDATES FOR A NEW COALITION GOVERNMENT.

THE PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT HAS SHOWN ANTIPATHY TOWARD THE WHOLE EXILE GOVERNMENT AND RECENTLY EXTENDED ITS OPPOSITION TO STANISLAW MIKOLAJCZYK, THE FORMER PREMIER OF THE EXILES AND A PEASANT PARTY LEADER PREVIOUSLY REGARDED BY MOSCOW AS SATISFACTORY.

THE PUBLICATION OF STALIN'S STAND FOUND SIR ARCHIBALD CLARK-KERR, BRITISH AMBASSADOR TO RUSSIA, IN LONDON. W.AVERELL HARRIMAN, U.S. AMBASSADOR TO RUSSIA, IS EXPECTED HERE SOON EN ROUTE TO HIS POST.

IT IS EXPECTED THEY WILL CONFER WITH PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL AND MIKOLAJCZYK ON THE POLISH QUESTION BEFORE RETURNING TO MOSCOW.

IN DIPLOMATIC QUARTERS, IT IS TAKEN FOR GRANTED THAT THEY WILL ACQUAINT STALIN FORMALLY OF THE PUBLICLY EXPRESSED DESIRES OF CHURCHILL AND PRESIDENT TRUMAN FOR A NEW MEETING OF CHIEFS OF STATE.

LONDON, MAY 19-(AP)-DR.ALFRED ROSENBERG, DANDY, SCENTED ARCH-PHILOSOPHER OF NAZIISM AND LEADER OF GERMANY'S ANTI-RUSSIAN "CRUSADE," HAS BEEN CAUGHT IN THE ALLIED DRAGNET OF FUGITIVE NAZI LEADERS, A DISPATCH FROM THE BRITISH SECOND ARMY FRONT SAID TONIGHT.

ROSENBERG, SOMETIMES CALLED HITLER'S "FATHER CONFESSOR" AND REICHMINISTER FOR FORMER GERMAN-OCCUPIED EASTERN EUROPE, WAS FOUND IN A FLENSBURG HOSPITAL, A BRITISH OFFICER SAID, AS THE SEARCH WENT ON FOR NAZI HANGMAN HEINRICH HIMMLER.

MEANWHILE, DIPLOMATIC QUARTERS SAID THAT THE INVOLVED PROBLEM OF JUST WHO IS GOING TO TRY BIG-SHOT GERMAN WAR CRIMINALS MAY SPEED A MEETING OF THE "BIG THREE" LEADERS OF THE UNITED STATES, BRITAIN AND RUSSIA.

RUSSIA'S LONG-STANDING REFUSAL TO JOIN THE 16-NATION WAR CRIMES COMMISSION HAS POSED PROBLEMS OF PRESSING IMPORTANCE SINCE MOST OF THE GERMAN WAR CRIMINALS ARE FALLING INTO ANGLO-AMERICAN HANDS.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN, PRIME MINISTER CHURCHILL AND PREMIER STALIN, DIPLOMATIC SOURCES SAID, MAY TAKE UP THE PROBLEMS OF THE ULTIMATE DISPOSITION OF NAZI WAR CRIMINALS.

ACCORDING TO A HIGH BRITISH OFFICER, ROSENBERG WAS TAKEN INTO CUSTODY BY BRITISH GARRISON TROOPS IN THE HOUSE-CLEANING OF GRAND ADM KARL DOENITZ' HEADQUARTERS AT FLENSBURG. HE WAS IN A HOSPITAL WITH A SPRAINED ANKLE.

ROSENBERG, WHO WROTE HUNDREDS OF TREATISES ON ANTI-SEMITISM AND AS DIRECTOR OF THE NORIDIC FAITH MOVEMENT WAS THE FORCE BEHIND THE NAZIS' ATTACK ON CHRISTIANITY, HAD THE FANCY NAZI TITLE OF "DIRECTOR OF PHILOSOPHIC OUTLOOK."

HIS WAS THE JOB OF INCULCATING THE NAZI PHILOSOPHY INTO GERMAN EDUCATION AND HE WAS DEPUTY COMMISSIONER FOR EDUCATION. IT WAS ROSENBERG WHO SUPPOSEDLY PUT THE BUG IN HITLER'S EAR TO ATTACK RUSSIA AND IT WAS THIS WHICH DID MUCH TO BRING ABOUT THE DOWNFALL OF BOTH ROSENBERG, A ONE-TIME WHITE RUSSIAN, HITLER, AND THE ENTIRE NAZI REGIME.

PARIS, MAY 19-(AP)-AFTER MORE THAN FIVE YEARS OF WAR, INCLUDING 22 MONTHS IN GERMAN PRISON CAMPS, TECH. SGT. HARRY T.BRUNDIDGE, JR., OF ST. LOUIS, A FLYING FORTRESS ENGINEER IN THE U.S. EIGHTH AIR FORCE, STILL WANTS A CRACK AT THE JAPANESE.

THE 26-YEAR-OLD FLIER, SON OF AN ASSOCIATE EDITOR OF COSMOPOLITAN MAGAZINE, WAS LIBERATED FROM STALAG LUFT ONE AT BARTH WHEN THE GERMANS ABANDONED THAT CAMP A FEW DAYS BEFORE THE REICH'S SURRENDER.

BRUNDIDGE TOLD THE STORY TODAY OF THE MONTHS OF NAZI BRUTALITY IN FIVE PRISON CAMPS WHERE HE WAS CONFINED, IN ONE OF THEM TWICE.

HE TRANSFERRED TO THE U.S. ARMY AIR FORCE ON MARCH 24, 1943, AFTER THREE AND A HALF YEARS IN THE RAF DURING WHICH HE FLEW 78 MISSIONS AS A BOMBER GUNNER IN AFRICA AND THE MEDITERRANEAN.

AS AN ENGINEER OF A FORTRESS CREW IN THE FAMOUS "HELLS ANGELS" GROUP BRUNDIDGE WAS SHOT DOWN DURING A RAID ON LE MANS, FRANCE, JULY 4, 1943. HE PARACHUTED TO EARTH 50 MILES SOUTH OF LE MANS BUT ENJOYED ONLY 12 DAYS OF FREEDOM.

HE OBTAINED CIVILIAN CLOTHES FROM THE UNDERGROUND AND MADE HIS WAY TO PARIS WHERE HE WAS HIDDEN BY FRIENDLY FRENCHMEN, BUT THE GERMANS FOUND HIS HIDING PLACE AND HUSTLED HIM INTO A CONCENTRATION CAMP 12 MILES OUTSIDE THE CAPITAL.

"I WAS THERE THREE MONTHS AND EIGHT DAYS," HE RECALLED. "WE WERE ON STARVATION RATIONS AND THE GESTAPO KICKED US AROUND A LOT. MY WEIGHT DROPPED FROM 185 POUNDS TO LESS THAN 140.

"THEY ROUNDED UP 30 OF US--ALL AMERICAN FLIERS--AND TOOK US TO A STALAG LUFT AT FRANKFURT, BUT AFTER TWO DAYS THEY TOOK ME TO STALAG 17B NEAR VIENNA.

BRUNDIDGE REMAINED THERE UNTIL THE SPRING OF 1944, WHEN HE WAS REMOVED TO STALAG LUFT ONE AND THENCE TO THE HYDEKRUG CAMP NEAR MEMEL.

"IN THE LATTER PART OF JULY WHEN THE RUSSIANS WERE GETTING CLOSE THE GERMANS DECIDED TO EVACUATE IT," HE CONTINUED. "AT MEMEL WE WERE PUT ON BOATS. ON OURS 2,000 MEN WERE PACKED INTO A HOLD LIKE SARDINES 65 FEET BELOW DECK. AFTER 36 HOURS WITHOUT FOOD OR WATER THEY TOOK US OFF AT SWINEMUENDE, HANDCUFFED US AND LOADED US INTO BOXCARS HEADED FOR STALAG LUFT FOUR NEAR BELGARD."

B119 QQQ

BRUNDIDGE SAID THAT WHEN THEY WERE TAKEN OFF THE TRAIN AT KIEFHEIDE, NEAR THE PRISON CAMP, THEY WERE TURNED OVER TO MORE THAN 200 YOUNG GERMAN SEAMEN WHO WERE TOLD BY A GERMAN AIR FORCE CAPTAIN: "THESE ARE THE AMERICAN GANGSTERS, THE SWINE WHO DESTROYED YOUR FAMILIES' HOMES AND KILLED YOUR LOVED ONES. YOU HAVE THREE

AND A HALF KILOMETERS (APPROXIMATELY TWO MILES) IN WHICH TO EXACT YOUR REVENGE."

BRUNDIDGE SAID THE SEAMEN FORCED THEM TO RUN ALL THE WAY TO THE PRISON CAMP, JABBING THEM WITH BAYONETS ALL THE WAY. ONE MAN HAD 57 BAYONET WOUNDS WHEN THEY ARRIVED, AND HE AND TWO OTHERS DIED FROM THE WOUNDS.

"THE GERMANS SHOT PRISONERS AT THE SLIGHTEST PROVOCATION AT THAT CAMP," HE SAID. "WE RECEIVED 10,000 RED CROSS PARCELS THERE, BUT THE GERMANS TOOK EVERYTHING OUT OF THEM AND GAVE US THE EMPTY BOXES."

BRUNDIDGE RELATED THAT WHEN THE RUSSIANS THREATENED THAT CAMP 1,500 PRISONERS WERE PUT ON A TRAIN WHICH TOOK EIGHT DAYS AND NIGHTS TO GET TO BARTH--A DISTANCE OF 115 MILES.

"IT WAS A WONDERFUL SIGHT WHEN THE GERMANS RAN OFF AND TURNED THE CAMP OVER TO COL. ZEMKE (HUBERT ZEMKE, MISSOULA, MONT.)" HE SAID.

WHEN THE WAR IN EUROPE BEGAN BRUNDIDGE WAS HONEYMOONING IN FRANCE WITH HIS WIFE WHOM HE MARRIED IN GREECE. THEY SAILED FROM CHERBOURG BUT AFTER SPENDING 11 DAYS IN NEW YORK THEY RETURNED TO ATHENS AND THENCE TO CAIRO, WHERE HIS WIFE'S FATHER RUNS A HOSPITAL.

THERE HE JOINED THE RAF. HIS WIFE AND FIVE-YEAR-OLD SON NOW LIVE IN CAIRO.

DURING HIS 60-DAY FURLOUGH HE INTENDS TO VISIT HIS FATHER IN NEW YORK AND HIS WIFE AND CHILD IN CAIRO.

"THEN I WANT A CRACK AT THE JAPS," HE DECLARED.

EVEN DURING THE PERIOD OF SETTLING THE CLAIMS--SHOULD THEY AGREE TO THIS MUCH--THEY SAID THEY WOULD INSIST THAT FRENCH MILITARY COMMANDERS REMAIN IN PHYSICAL CONTROL OF THE AREAS WHICH LIE ON THE ITALIAN SLOPES OF THE ALPINE SPUR BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES.

FINALLY, THEY SAID, THEY WERE PREPARED TO REMIND WASHINGTON AND LONDON THAT FRANCE IS NOT A PARTY TO THE ARMISTICE WITH ITALY. TECHNICALLY THE TWO COUNTRIES STILL ARE AT WAR. SOME RESENTMENT WAS EXPRESSED OVER THE FACT THAT A FRENCH COMMANDER WAS NOT PRESENT WHEN THE GERMAN ARMIES IN ITALY SURRENDERED LAST MONTH.

12TH ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, MAY 19-(AP)-ALLIED OCCUPATION FORCES ADMINISTERING GERMANY TODAY HAD NO PRECEDENTS TO GUIDE THEM--IT HAS NEVER BEEN DONE BEFORE.

OTHER WARS HAVE ENDED WITH OCCUPATIONS BUT WITH GOVERNMENTS OF THE DEFEATED NATION CONTINUING TO FUNCTION. THIS TIME A THOROUGHLY DEFEATED NATION OF 80,000,000 PERSONS HAS NO GOVERNMENT EXCEPT THAT WHICH THE ALLIES ESTABLISH.

AN OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT TODAY EMPHASIZED THAT THE FIRST BASIC POLICY OF THE NEW U.S. 15TH ARMY OCCUPYING FORCES UNDER LT. GEN. LEONARD T. GEROW IS THAT THE COMFORT, HAPPINESS AND WELFARE OF THE GERMAN POPULATION ARE ENTIRELY INCIDENTAL.

THE JOB HAS BEEN MADE THE MORE DIFFICULT BECAUSE OF THE HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF DISPLACED PERSONS WHO HAVE ADDED THEIR COMPLEX PROBLEMS TO THE BASIC TASKS.

OUR MILITARY AUTHORITIES REALIZE THAT ANY GREAT EPIDEMIC IN GERMANY WOULD SPREAD TO THE OCCUPATION TROOPS AND THAT A STARVING CIVILIAN POPULATION WOULD PRESENT A POLICE PROBLEM CALLING FOR MORE TROOPS. AT THE SAME TIME IT WAS STATED AGAIN THAT NO LARGE QUANTITIES OF FOOD WOULD BE IMPORTED.

THE MILITARY GOVERNMENT HAS ESTABLISHED A MAXIMUM DIET FOR THE GERMAN PEOPLE. IT IS ROUGHLY ONE-HALF OF THE AMERICAN AVERAGE IN CALORIES AND ONE-THIRD THE STANDARD DIET FOR AMERICAN TROOPS.

THE AMERICANS HAVE BROUGHT IN WHEAT SEED AND SOME VEGETABLE SEED AND THE GERMAN FARMERS ARE BEING GIVEN FIRST PRIORITY IN CLEARING THROUGH AMERICAN LINES SO THEY CAN RETURN TO THEIR PLANTING.

THE OFFICIAL STATEMENT ISSUED TODAY SAID: "UNQUESTIONABLY THE GERMANS ARE GOING TO SUFFER FROM THE RESULTS OF THE NAZI FOLLY IN RESISTING UNTIL THE ENTIRE TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM IN GERMANY WAS DISRUPTED BY THE WAR. X X X WE WILL UNDOUBTEDLY HAVE INSTANCES THIS WINTER OF PEOPLE IN CONGESTED INDUSTRIAL AREAS GOING HUNGRY FOR THE LACK OF TRANSPORT TO BRING AVAILABLE FOOD SUPPLIES FROM OTHER PARTS OF GERMANY."

MAY 20 1945

TYPHUS EXISTS IN GERMANY BUT IT IS NOT EPIDEMIC. A SANITARY CORDON HAS BEEN ESTABLISHED AT THE RHINE WITH SEVERAL "PORTS OF ENTRY" WHERE ALL CIVILIANS CROSSING WESTWARD ARE DELOUSED AND ALL WHO SHOW TYPHUS SYMPTOMS QUARANTINED.

MD113APEW

RELEASED FORMER MEMBERS OF THE GERMAN ARMY ALSO WILL BE FORCED TO ASSUME THE BURDEN OF THEIR OWN SUPPORT, WHICH OTHERWISE WOULD REMAIN THE PROBLEM OF THE AMERICAN ARMY.

ANY CASES OFFERING EVEN THE SLIGHTEST REASON FOR SUSPICION WILL BE RETURNED TO PRISONER OF WAR CAGES FOR FURTHER CHECKING, ACCORDING TO PRESENT PLANS.

SOME BADLY WANTED WAR CRIMINALS--SUCH AS THE KREISLEITER OF GARDELEGEN WHO ENGINEERED THE BARN BURNING OF 1,100 POLITICAL PRISONERS--ARE KNOWN TO BE HINDING SOMEWHERE IN PRISONER OF WAR CAGES DISGUISED AS SURRENDERED GERMAN SOLDIERS.

HAMBURG, MAY 19-(AP)-SS TROOPS ARE BEING CORRALLED ON THE ISLET OF NORDSTRAND OFF SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN BY THE BRITISH SECOND ARMY, TO LIVE IN AN ATMOSPHERE SOMEWHAT LIKE DEVIL'S ISLAND PENDING INTERROGATION AND TTRIAL.

A SECURITY OFFICER SAID THE SS ROUNDUP ALSO PREVENTED THEM FROM INFILTRATING TO THE REAR, WHERE MANY WERE DETERMINED TO CARRY OUT INSTRUCTIONS TO HAVE THE WEREWOLVES WELL ORGANIZED WITHIN TWO MONTHS.

SEVERAL THOUSAND SS MEN ARE EXPECTED TO BE COLLECTED IN THE NEXT FEW WEEKS ON NORDSTRAND, ONLY A FEW SQUARE MILES IN SIZE AND CONNECTED BY CAUSEWAY WITH THE ISLAND OF SCHLESWIG. THEY WILL BE REQUIRED TO BUILD THEIR OWN SHELTERS AND PLANT CROPS.

LARGE GROUPS OF THE SS ARE BEING CAUGHT DAILY IN THE SECOND ARMY AREA, AND MANY GERMAN CIVILIANS ARE COOPERATING.

ANOTHER PEN FOR SS TROOPS WAS ESTABLISHED IN FALLINGBOUTEL, NOTORIOUS CONCENTRATION CAMP BETWEEN BREMEN AND HAMBURG. MORE THAN 1,000 SOLDIERS WERE SENT THERE YESTERDAY FROM HAMBURG. GESTAPO AGENTS ARE BEING KEPT IN AN ACK-ACK BARRACKS AT HAMBURG.

THREE SMALL PENINSULAS ON SCHLESWIG-HOLSTEIN SOUTH OF NORDSTRAND ISLAND ARE BEING USED AS A COLLECTION CENTER FOR GERMAN ARMY TROOPS SOME 80,000 HAVE BEEN HERDED IN FOR SCREENING.

BERCHTESGADEN--THIRD ADD HITLER X X X THE BARRACKS UXOPENING QUOTES)

"YESERDAY STEINER (SS GENERAL) TOLD ME TWO DIVISIONS WOULD ATTACK--GO ON THE OFFENSIVE NORTH OF BERLIN. HE LIED. NOTHING CAME OF IT."

THE TIRADE ENDED WITH HITLER STANDING BEFORE THE GROUP HARDLY RECOGNIZABLE. HERRGESELL DESCRIBED HIM:

"THOUGH HE NORMALLY STOOD ERECT, HITLER WAS NOW HUNCHED INTO AN EXAGGERATED STOOP. HIS FACE WAS BLOATED AND PUFFY. HIS EYES HAD A BURNING, GLASSY STARE. HIS LEFT HAND, HELD CLOSE TO HIS WAIST, SHOOK CONVULSIVELY, UNCONTROLABLY. YOU COULD ALMOST SEE HIM AGE BY THE MINUTE. HIS HAIR WAS NOTICABLY GRAYER AND SEEMED THICKER. WISPS WHICH ORDINARILY DROPPED OVER HIS EYE WERE GONE AND HIS HAIR WAS COMBED STRAIGHT BACK.

"DR. MORRELL, HIS PERSONAL PHYSICIAN, HAD GIVEN HIM SOME TABLETS WHICH HE CARRIED IN HIS COAT POCKET. HE KEPT SUCKING AND MUNCHING THEM. FREQUENTLY HE STOPPED AND SIPPED A CUP OF TEA WHICH HAD GONE COLD."

THE TONGUE-LASHING TEMPORARILY BOLSTERED KEITEL'S COURAGE, FOR HE TOLD HITLER: "I AM NOT GOING TO LEAVE. THEY'LL SAY I AM A TRAITOR. I COULD NOT FACE MY FAMILY."

HITLER REMINDED HIM THAT RECORDERS WERE THERE AND "EVERYTHING IS WRITTEN," BUT KEITEL ARGUED; THE OLD MAN DOESN'T KNOW THINGS ARE SO BAD. HE WILL THE DESTROYS AND LEAVE BERLIN," HERREGESELL SAID. "I WAS TO FLY TO BERCHTESGADEN. I THOUGHT IT WAS ABOUT 8 P.M. I HEARD HITLER TELL BORMANN HE MUST GO SOUTH TO MAKE A NEW GOVERNMENT UNDER GOERING--THAT 'GOERING WILL NEGOTIATE' AND I LEFT TO START PACKING.

HERREGESELL SAID HE SAW EVA BRAUN 30 MINUTES LATER. SHE AND HITLER WERE TALKING IN A SMALL FOYER.

"IT WAS THE FIRST TIME I HAD EVER SEEN HER," HE SAID. "SHE WAS ALWAYS AT BERCHTESGADEN. SHE ASKED ME TO DELIVER A LETTER AND PACKAGE TO BERCHTESGADEN.

A104

"A FEW MINUTES LATER HITLER TOOK THE SIX GOEBBELS CHILDREN INTO

DR. MORRELL'S ROOM. NONE OF THEM WAS OVER 10 YEARS OLD. HITLER HAD TOLD GOEBBELS TO HAVE THEM COME. THE LAST I SAW, LORENZ--THE PRESS REPRESENTATIVE--BROUGHT HITLER SOME DISPATCHES. HE PLACED THEM ON A TABLE, PUT ON HIS GLASSES AND STOOPED OVER TO READ. IT WAS ABOUT 10 P.M. WHEN I LEFT WITH DR. MORRELL WHO WAS A SICK MAN. WE CAUGHT A PLANE AT GATOW AIRFIELD AT 1:45 A.M., APRIL 23.

"IT SEEMED QUIET THEN. I COULD HEAR ARTILLERY IN THE DISTANCE BUT THE SKIES WERE DARK. IT WAS RAINING. THERE WERE NO FIRES ON THE HORIZON. THE NEXT DAY THE RADIO ANNOUNCED THAT GOEBBELS HAD DECIDE TO STAY WITH HIS FAMILY AND FALL WITH HITLER. RADIO COMMUNICATION BETWEEN THE CHANCELLERY AND GEN. WINTER'S HEADQUARTERS WAS MAINTAINED UNTIL MAY 1. I KNOW BECAUSE IT WAS THEN WE LEARNED OF HITLER'S DEATH."

MAY 20 1945

INVESTIGATION SHOWED THE APRIL 25 RAID BY U.S. HEAVY BOMBERS SMASHED 40 PER CENT OF THE BUILDINGS AND 70 PER CENT OF THE PRODUCTION CAPACITY OF SKODA'S 126 FACTORIES SPRAWLED OVER THOUSANDS OF ACRES AROUND THIS AMERICAN OCCUPIED CZECH KUMM CITY.

ALTHOUGH THE UNITED NATION'S BROADCAST A WARNING TO THE 35,000 WORKERS TO STAY IN SHELTERS, IT WAS FOUND THAT APPROXIMATELY 200 SUFFERED CASUALTIES.

THE WORKS ARE BEING STUDIED BY A COMMISSION OF EXPERT TECHNICIANS FOLLOWING A PRELIMINARY AMERICAN ARMY INVESTIGATION CONDUCTED UNDER THE DIRECTION OF CAPT. MANUEL SHAPIRO, OF(10 PARK AVE) NEW YORK. THE EARLIER INVESTIGATION, WHICH INCLUDED A STUDY OF THE CONCERN'S RECORDS, SHOWED THAT TWO PREVIOUS RAIDS ON SKODA CAUSED LITTLE DAMAGE, ALTHOUGH OPERATIONS WERE GREATLY CURTAILED BY LACK OF SUPPLIES BEFORE THE AERIAL ONSLAUGHT IN APRIL.

A CZECH PATRIOT DISCUSSING THE RAIDS SAID, "WE WONDERED WHY YOU DID NOT DESTROY SKODA EARLY IN THE WAR AND THEN WONDERED WHY YOU FINALLY CAME OVER IN SUCH FORCE WITH THE WAR'S END SO NEAR."

THE AMERICAN ARMY INVESTIGATION SHOWED VIRTUALLY NO SABOTAGE OCCURRED THROUGHOUT THE SIX YEARS OF ENFORCED GERMAN OPERATION. SKODA SAID THE WORKERS' GREAT FEAR OF THE GESTAPO WAS RESPONSIBLE FOR THIS.

TRIESTE, MAY 19-(AP)-YUGOSLAV AUTHORITIES TONIGHT ISSUED THREE MORE DECREES REGULATING LIFE IN TRIESTE AND THERE WAS LITTLE TO INDICATE THAT DUEL OCCUPATION OF THIS DISPUTED PORT WAS ABOUT TO END.

YUGOSLAV TROOPS APPEARED TO BE INSTALLED HERE IN THE SAME STRENGTH AS BEFORE THE WESTERN ALLIES ASKED THEM TO EVACUATE AND THERE WAS LITTLE MOVEMEMT OF MILITARY TRANSPORT.

A DECREE ANNOUNCED BY THE YUGOSLAV-DOMINATED REGIONAL COMMITTEE OF NATIONAL LIBERATION PROVIDED FOR THE CONFISCATION OF ALL PROPERTY OWNED BY THE GERMAN NATION AND BY GERMAN CITIZENS OR PERSONS WHO FOUGHT FOR THE GERMAN CAUSE.

THE DOCUMENT ALSO

SET UP A TRUSTEESHIP FOR THE PROPERTY OF PERSONS WHO LEFT THE CITY AT THE TIME OF THE YUGOSLAVS' ARRIVAL.

THE COMMITTEE ALSO DECREED DISSOLUTION OF ALL FASCIST SOCIETIES, WITH THE COUNCIL OF FASCIST ADMINISTRATION EMPOWERED TO DETERMINE WHICH ORGANIZATION WERE FASCIST.

A THIRD DECREE SUBDIVIDED NEW TERRITORY OCCUPIED BY THE YUGOSLAVS INTO THE DISTRICT OF GORIZIA AND THE DISTRICT OF TRIESTE AND AN AUTONOMOUS DISTRICT EMBRACING THE CITY OF TRIESTE.

MEANWHILE RELATIONS BETWEEN THE YUGOSLAV AND WESTERN ALLIED OCCUPATION TROOPS APPEARED TO BE MORE FRIENDLY THAN EVER.

THE YUGOSLAVS HAVE APPOINTED TWO ENGLISH-SPEAKING LIAISON OFFICERS TO SMOOTH OUT NORMAL DIFFICULTIES WITH NEW ZEALAND AND AFRICAN TROOPS IN THE CITY.

BOTH THE YUGOSLAV FORCES AND A BRITISH HIGHLAND FORMATION PARADED IN DEMONSTRATIONS AT THE SAME TIME THIS MORNING. BOTH DREW A LARGE AUDIENCES.

YUGOSLAV PATROLS ARMED WITH SUB-MACHINE GUNS CONTINUED TO MOVE THROUGH THE CITY AT FREQUENT INTERVALS AND MANY ITALIANS STILL WERE IN HIDING ALTHOUGH MOST OF THE DAY THE STREETS WERE CROWDED WITH CIVILIANS.

MAY 20 1945

TWO BRITISH DESTROYERS WERE AT ANCHOR IN THE HARBOR, THEIR GUNS POINTING UP TO THE HILLS BEHIND THE CITY. A NUMBER OF BRITISH MINE SWEEPERS, LANDING CRAFT AND SMALLER VESSELS ALSO WERE THERE.

TITO'S FORCES HAD PLACED LESS THAN A QUARTER OF THE PORT'S FACILITIES AT THE DISPOSAL OF THE WESTERN ALLIES.

THE FOOD SITUATION REMAINED PRECARIOUS. THERE WAS PLENTY OF GREEN VEGETABLES, BUT PRACTICALLY NO OIL, MILK, BUTTER OR EGGS.

A MEAT RATION OF THREE OUNCES, ISSUED SEVERAL DAYS AGO, WAS THE FIRST IN MANY DAYS AND WAS CONSIDERED LIKELY TO BE THE LAST FOR SOME TIME.

MILITARY AUTHORITIES DISCLAIMED ANY KNOWLEDGE OF THE COURSE OF NEGOTIATIONS BETWEEN TITO AND THE UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN.

SOME MILITARY OBSERVERS ESTIMATED THAT TITO HAS MORE THAN 100,000 MEN IN THE AREA BETWEEN TRIESTE AND KLAGENFURT.

BELGRADE, MAY 19-(AP)-YUGOSLAV MARSHAL TITO'S REPLY TO AMERICAN AND BRITISH SUGGESTIONS THAT NO FRONTIERS BE CHANGED BEFORE THE PEACE CONFERENCE CAUSED "SURPRISE AND DISAPPOINTMENT" AT THE U.S. EMBASSY, IT WAS LEARNED TODAY.

THE MARSHAL'S REPLY -- CONTENTS OF WHICH WERE N O T DISCLOSED -- WAS DISPATCHED IMMEDIATELY TO THE STATE DEPARTMENT IN WASHINGTON.

THE YUGOSLAV FOREIGN OFFICE ALSO DECLINED TO REVEAL THE CONTENTS OF THE NOTE, BUT THE MINISTRY OF INFORMATION PLANNED A STATEMENT, WHICH WAS EXPECTED TO CONTAIN FURTHER AMPLIFICATION OF THE YUGOSLAV POINT OF VIEW CONCERNING THE DISPUTED TERRITORY OF VENEZIA GUILIA. THE TERRITORY WENT TO ITALY AFTER WORLD WAR ONE.

AMERICAN CORRESPONDENTS IN BELGRADE WERE INFORMED THAT WHILE THE NOTE CAUSED SURPRISE AND DISAPPOINTMENT, THERE WAS STILL FEELING THAT THE SITUATION CAN BE FINALLY RESOLVED SATISFACTORILY.

THERE WERE HARDLY MORE THAN THREE POSSIBLE ANSWERS WHICH COULD BE SENT BY TITO: ACCEPTANCE, REJECTION OR SUGGESTED COMPROMISE. OBVIOUSLY HE DIDN'T HAND BACK SIMPLE ACCEPTANCE, AND OUTRIGHT REJECTION APPEARED UNLIKELY. IF HE SUGGESTED A COMPROMISE, IT WOULD SEEM THAT HIS TERMS LEFT A LOT TO BE DESIRED FROM THE AMERICAN POINT OF VIEW.

THE YUGOSLAVS CARRIED OUT AN EXPANSIVE PROPAGANDA PROGRAM IN THE PRESS ON THE HOPES AND PLANS FOR THE DISPUTED TERRITORY BEFORE AMERICA AND BRITAIN FIRMLY STATED THEIR POSITIONS IN DIRECT COMMUNICATIONS WITH TITO.

THE INITIAL NEGOTIATIONS WERE CARRIED OUT BY AN EMISSARY FROM FIELD MARSHAL SIR HAROLD ALEXANDER'S HEADQUARTERS, WHO MAINTAINED IN TALKS THAT THE WHOLE PROBLEM WAS BASICALLY MILITARY. AFTER HIS TALKS FAILED TO RESULT IN AGREEMENT, DIPLOMATIC REPRESENTATIVES STEPPED IN AND PUT THE PROPOSITION ON A BASIS OF ALTERING A FRONTIER BEFORE THE PEACE CONFERENCE.

TRIESTE, MAY 19-(AP)-MARSHAL TITO'S YUGOSLAV PARTISAN TROOPS NOW HAVE WITHDRAWN COMPLETELY FROM THE AREA WEST OF THE ISONZO RIVER, AMERICAN MILITARY AUTHORITIES SAID TODAY, BUT THERE WAS N O INDICATION OF ANY MOVEMENT FROM TRIESTE OR THE REMAINDER OF THE DISPUTED AREA EAST OF THE RIVER.

THERE WAS N O CONFIRMATION OF REPORTS THAT TITO HAD AGREED TO MAKE SUCH A MOVE.

(THE BRITISH BROADCASTING COMPANY'S EUROPEAN SERVICE SAID CIVIL AUTHORITY FOR TRIESTE HAD BEEN HANDED OVER TO AN ITALO-SLOVENE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE AT CEREMONIES ATTENDED BY BRITISH, AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN MISSIONS. THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE WAS SAID TO HAVE ANNOUNCED THAT DEMOCRATIC ELECTIONS WOULD TAKE PLACE AS SOON AS POSSIBLE.)

THE MOVE FROM EAST OF THE ISONZO WAS ACCOMPLISHED WITHOUT INCIDENT.

AMERICAN AUTHORITIES SAID THE NEAREST APPROACH TO ANY FRICTION WAS THE RESULT OF MISUNDERSTANDING AT GORITZA. PARTISAN FORCES SET UP A ROAD-BLOCK ONE NIGHT WITH GUNS TRAINED ON AMERICAN SENTRIES A FEW YARDS DOWN THE ROAD, BUT WHEN THE AMERICANS SET UP THEIR OWN ROAD BLOCK, WITH GUNS AIMED AT THE YUGOSLAVS, PARTISAN OFFICERS EXPLAINED THAT THEIR ROAD BLOCK WAS N O T DIRECTED AT ALLIED TROOPS IN ANY WAY. BOTH ROADBLOCKS WERE REMOVED.

PARTISANS MOVED TO THE EAST SIDE OF THE ISONZO THROUGH AMERICAN AND BRITISH AREAS, AND THE TROOPS WERE INSTRUCTED UNDER TERMS OF AN AGREEMENT WITH TITO NOT TO PERMIT ANYTHING TO PASS FOR WHICH THE PARTISANS COULD NOT SHOW REQUISITION, BEYOND NORMAL EQUIPMENT.

TWO GERMAN TRUCKS WERE CONFISCATED WHEN THE PARTISANS WERE UNABLE TO PRODUCE PROPER PAPERS, BUT REPORTS THAT AMERICAN TROOPS WERE CONFISCATING QUANTITIES OF LOOT AT GUNPOINT WERE DENIED.

MEANWHILE IN ITALY AN ALLIED INFORMANT SAID THAT THE ALLIES AND ITALY WERE SEEKING TO INDUCE THE FRENCH TO WITHDRAW FROM THE TINY VALLEY REGION AROUND AOSTA IN NORTHWEST ITALY SO THAT AN ALLIED MILITARY GOVERNMENT COULD BE ESTABLISHED THERE.

(300)
(PRECEDE SAN FRANCISCO USS NEX MEXICO ADVANCE, MOVED AS A131FX THURSDAY NIGHT FOR USE AT 6 P.M., EASTERN WAR TIME, TONIGHT, SATURDAY, MAY 19)
BY JAMES LINDSLEY
GUAM, MAY 20-(AP)-TWO AMERICAN BATTLESHIPS, ONE A SLEEK COMPARATIVE NEWCOMER TO THE FLEET, THE OTHER A SALTY VETERAN OF 27 YEARS AT SEA, HAVE BEEN DEALING PUNISHING BLOWS TO JAPAN AS THE WAR MOVED CLOSE TO CENTERS OF ENEMY POWER.
THEY ARE THE WISCONSIN, COMMISSIONED APRIL 16, 1944, AND THE NEW MEXICO, PLACED IN SERVICE MAY 20, 1918, WHICH CARRIES A WALLOP BELYING ITS AGE, GREAT EVEN AS BATTLESHIPS GO.
THE LATEST ACTIONS FOR THE 45,000 TON WISCONSIN WERE AT IWO JIMA AND OKINAWA. AFTER THE LATTER ACTION, WHEN A FAST CARRIER TASK FORCE ATTACKED OKINAWA IN FEBRUARY, SHE RETIRED TEMPORARILY FROM THE COMBAT ZONE AND HER SKIPPER, CAPT. (NOW COMMODORE) EARL E.STONE, NATIVE OF MILWAUKEE, WIS., TURNED OVER HIS COMMAND TO CAPT.JOHN W.ROPER AND BECAME FLEET ADM.CHESTER W. NIMITZ'S ASSISTANT CHIEF OF STAFF FOR OPERATIONS.
THE WISCONSIN PARTICIPATED PREVIOUSLY IN OPERATIONS AGAINST LUZON, FORMOSA, THE CHINA COAST AND TOKYO IN DECEMBER, JANUARY AND FEBRUARY.
SHORTLY AFTER JOINING THE CARRIER TASK FORCE, THE BIG VESSEL RODE OUT ONE OF THE WORST TYPHOONS ON RECORD AND CAME THROUGH WITH SLIGHT DAMAGE, A TRIBUTE BOTH TO THE STURDINESS OF THE SHIP AND SEAMANSHIP OF THE CREWMEN. THIS STORM WAS IN PHILIPPINE WATERS DEC.18.
ON THE PHILIPPINES OPERATION, THE TASK FORCE STRUCK LUZON AIR-FIELDS LAST DECEMBER, THEN STEAMED TO FORMOSA FOR STRIKES THERE. JAN.6 AND 7 IT ATTACKED LUZON AND LATER THAT MONTH ENTERED THE SOUTH CHINA SEA IN WATERS NO AMERICAN SURFACE SHIPS HAD VENTURED FOR THREE YEARS.
THE WISCONSIN THEN MOVED NORTH TO TAKE PART IN THE FIRST GREAT CARRIER RAIDS ON TOKYO.
THE NEW MEXICO'S LATEST OPERATION WAS IN LINGAYEN GULF, LUZON, WHERE SHE SYSTEMATICALLY POUNDED THAT STRATEGIC ISLAND UNDER SAVAGE REPEATED JAPANESE AIR ATTACKS.
SHE KEPT HER GUNS BLAZING ON BOMBARDMENT SCHEDULE FOR FIVE DAYS ALTHOUGH HE CAPTAIN AND 27 OTHER OFFICERS AND MEN WERE KILLED BY A JAPANESE BOMB JAN.6 IN LINGAYEN GULF.

ABORD VICE ADM.MARC A.MITSCHER'S FLAGSHIP, MAY 18 (DELAYED)-(AP)-TWO CARRIER-BASED AIRMEN RESCUED FROM UNDER THE NOSES OF THE JAPANESE IN THE EMPEROR'S OWN INLAND SEA PROVOKED THIS COMMENT TODAY FROM SEASONED VICE ADM.MARC A.MITSCHER:
"NEXT WE'LL BE TAKING OUR PILOTS RIGHT OUT OF THE EMPEROR'S FISHING POND IN THE PALACE GROUNDS."
THE TWO MEN, DIVEBOMBER PILOT ENS.JOHN MORRIS, 24, OF 77 HOWARD ST., HAVERHILL, MASS., AND REARGUNNER CLETIS L.PHEGLEY, 23, FIRESTONE, MISS. (CABLE COPY) PARTICIPATED IN THE MAY 14 STRIKE ON KYUSHU.
"I WAS MAKING A DIVE ON USA AIRFIELD, KYUSHU," SAID MORRIS, "WHEN ENEMY GROUNDFIRE HIT MY ENGINE. I MADE A WATER LANDING AMONG SOME JAPANESE LUGGERS AND SAMPANS WHICH I HAD PREVIOUSLY STRAFFED.
"A SMALL JAPANESE TANKER BEGAN TO BEAR DOWN ON US WHEN WE GOT IN THE RAFT BUT OUR FIGHTER UMBRELLA BOMBED AND STRAFED IT AND TURNED IT AWAY AFTER IT CLOSED TO 200 YARDS."
AFTER REMAINING IN THE RAFT FROM 7 A.M. UNTIL NOON, TWO KINGFISHER SEAPLANES LANDED NEARBY.
THE FIRST, PILOTED BY LT.CHARLES TANNER, USN., 404 TANNER ST., SIKESTON, MO., PICKED UP MORRIS. THE SECOND, PILOTED BY LT.(JG) DONALD COMB, USNR., 4817 13TH AVE., MINNEAPOLIS, MINN., PICKED UP PHEGLEY.
COMB'S ENGINE DIED AND THE JAPANESE, ON SHORE, A MILE AWAY, TOSSED UP PLENTY OF AA FIRE AT THE COVERING FIGHTERS CIRCLING OVERHEAD, PHEGLEY SAID. "FINALLY COMB GOT IT STARTED ON THE THIRD CARTRIDGE," HE SAID.
LT.BURTON L.BURDEEN, 9755 OLYMPIC BLVD., BEVERLEY HILLS, CALIF., FLYING ONE OF THE FIGHTERS STRAFFED TWO JAPANESE DESTROYERS ATTEMPTING TO CLOSE WHILE LT.CMDR.FRED MICHAELIS, NEW SMYRNA BEACH, FLA., AND ENS.L.E.FURSE, JR., OF 1014 STEVENSON ST., FLINT, MICH., SHOT DOWN AN APPROACHING TWO-ENGINE JAP PLANE.
LT.TANNER, WHO HAS MADE TWO OTHER SIMILAR RESCUE FLIGHTS OFF THE RYUKYUS, SAID THAT THE "NEARBY NATIVES APPEARED DEFINITELY UNFRIENDLY -- AND NOTHING AT ALL LIKE NATIVE MISSOURIANS."

OKINAWA,(DELAYED)-(AP)-TWO FOUR-MOTORED PRIVATEERS PROVOKED THE FIRST APPRECIABLE AERIAL INTERCEPTION FROM A NEWTYPE JAPANESE FIGHTER.
AT THE ENTRANCE OF THE JAPAN SEA, PRIVATEERS PILOTED BY CMDR. ARTHUR FARWELL JR., 531 SOUTH SECOND ST., PENSACOLA, FLA., AND LT.ROBERT M.FINLEY OF HOLDENVILLE, OKLA., WERE ATTACKED BY THREE OR FOUR "JACKS"--NEW FAST SINGLE ENGINE FIGHTERS LOOKING MUCH LIKE THE AMERICAN THUNDERBOLT -- P-47.
WITHOUT SUCCESS THE JAPANESE TRIED TO HIT THE LARGE PRIVATEERS WITH PHOSPHOROUS BOMBS AND STRAFE THEM.
LT.(JG) CHARLES M.REEVES OF SANFORD, (CABLE COPY) N.Y., SAID: "THIS IS THE FIRST ENCOUNTER KNOWN BETWEEN JAPAN'S FIRST-LINE FIGHTER AND THE U.S.NAVY'S FIRSTLINE PATROL PLANE--WITH THE JACKS AGGRESSIVELY OFFENSIVE AND THE PRIVATEERS FOR A CHANGE DEFENSIVE."

GUAM, MAY 19-(AP)-LT.EUGENE A.VALENCIA, U.S. NAVY CARRIER HELLCAT FIGHTER PILOT, HAS FOUND THE JAPANESE "ZOOT SUIT BOYS"--NAVY NICKNAME FOR KAMIKAZE SUICIDE FLIERS--"FINE TURKEY SHOOT TARGETS.

SLIM, DARK-HAIRED VALENCIA, 24-YEAR-OLD VETERAN OF AIR BATTLES, HAS SHOT DOWN 22 JAPANESE PLANES. HE HAS BAGGED 16 OF THEM IN THE LAST THREE MONTHS. HIS HOME IS IN ALAMEDA, CALIF.

HE TOLD OF HIS EXPERIENCES AT A PRESS INTERVIEW, ALSO ATTENDED BY LT.CMDR.HERBERT HOUCK, 30-YEAR-OLD AIR GROUP COMMANDER OF (220 SOUTH FOURTH ST.) RIVER FALLS, WIS.; LT.HERBERT ECKARD, 23, OF HUNTINGTON PARK, CALIF., AND LT.ANGUS MORRISON, 26, OF WAYZATA, MINN.

VALENCIA DECLARED THAT HIS FOUR HELLCATS SAILED RIGHT THROUGH THE 38 JAP PLANES WITHOUT ANY TROUBLE.

"YOU'VE GOT TO WATCH OUT," HE SAID, "FOR MAYBE A COUPLE OF SMART 'MIDWAY BOYS' IN THESE BIG BUNCHES, BUT YOU DON'T HAVE TO WORRY IF YOU'VE GOT A WINGMAN COVERING YOUR TAIL.

"IF YOU CAN JUMP THREE JAPS BEFORE THEY KNOW YOU'RE COMING THEY JUST GET ALL CONFUSED AND DON'T KNOW WHAT TO DO."

IN FOUR ACTIONS NEAR OKINAWA, VALENCIA, ECKARD, HOUCK AND MORRISON HAVE SHOT DOWN 50 JAPANESE PLANES.

ECKARD AGREED WITH VALENCIA THAT THE JAPANESE APPARENTLY WERE SENDING OUT ONE OR TWO TRAINED KEY PILOTS TO LEAD GROUPS OF GREEN FLYERS.

MORRISON WENT AFTER A JAPANESE TORPEDO PLANE HEADING FOR AMERICAN SHPS OFF OKINAWA APRIL 17. "I WAS PRETTY EAGER TO GET THAT ONE--MY FIRST," HE RECOUNTED. "I COULD SEE MY TRACERS GOING INTO HIM BUT HE DIDN'T BLOW UP OR EXPLODE, LIKE IT SAYS IN THE BOOKS.

"I GOT A LITTLE PEEVED, I GUESS; SO I CLOSED IN AND CLIPPED OFF THE JAP'S RUDDER WITH MY WING. THAT FINISHED THE JAP. BUT CLIPPING HIS TAIL MADE QUITE A HOLE IN THE LEADING EDGE OF MY WING."

MORRISON WAS ABLE TO RETURN TO HIS CARRIER AND MAKE A LANDING WITHOUT MUCH DIFFICULTY, DESPITE THE DAMAGE.

HOUCK, HOLDER OF TWO NAVY CROSSES, DIRECTED THE AMERICAN CARRIER PLANE ATTACK THAT SANK THE JAPANESE BATTLESHIP YAMATO APRIL 7, JUST 50 MILES FROM SOUTHWESTERN JAPAN.

B16KX

SIX TORPEDO PLANES OF HIS GROUP PUT THE FINISHING "FISH" INTO THE STARBOARD SIDE OF THE ALREADY BADLY DAMAGED YAMATO, WHICH WAS THEN LISTING HEAVILY TO PORT.

"THERE WERE FIVE TORPEDO EXPLOSIONS," HOUCK RECALLED. "THEN THE YAMATO ROLLED OVER AND BLEW UP. THE DIAMETER OF THE EXPLOSION FLASH WAS BIGGER THAN THE LENGTH OF THE SHIP AND SMOKE MUSHROOMED THROUGH THE CLOUD OVERCAST 4,000 FEET UP. IT WAS THE BIGGEST EXPLOSION I EVER SAW."

IN RECENT WEEKS, HOUCK, FLYING A HELLKT FIGHTER, HAS BEEN LEADING STRAFING AND BOMBING ATTACKS AGAINST JAPANESE CAVES AND PILLBOXES ON OKINAWA.

HOUCK'S AIR GROUP HASN'T LOSST A PILOT IN AIR COMBAT WITH JAPANESE PLANES IN TWO MONTHS OF ACTION. THE GROUP HAS SHOT DOWN 140 NIPPONESE PLANES IN THAT TIME.

OKINAWA, MAY 18-(DELAYED)-(AP)-TWO NAVY PRIVATEER SEARCH BOMBERS, LOOKING FOR JAPANESE SHIPPING OFF KOREA, BATTLED A DOZEN ENEMY PLANES 30 MINUTES TODAY.

THAT WAS THE LARGEST INTERCEPTING FORCE YET ENCOUNTERED BY BOMBERS SEARCHING THAT AREA. IT WAS THE SECOND ENEMY INTERCEPTION IN THAT AREA IN TWO DAYS.

A PRIVATEER PILOTED BY LT.WILLIAM W.WARREN, ST.PAUL, MINN., SHOT DOWN ONE FIGHTER. ANOTHER PLANE PILOTED BY LT.GEORGE FAIRBANKS, WABASHA, MINN., PROBABLY DESTROYED A SECOND FIGHTER. AT LEAST ONE OTHER JAPANESE PLANE WAS DAMAGED.

OKINAWA, MAY 19-(AP)-ARTILLERY OBSERVATION OFFICERS TODAY DESCRIBED NAHA, BOMB AND SHELL BLASTED CAPITAL OF OKINAWA, AS QUIET AT NIGHT EXCEPT FOR OCCASIONAL OUTBURSTS OF FIRING.

MARINE LT.WILLIAM H.AGNEW, (343 RUTLEDGE AVE.) EAST ORANGE, N.J., WHOSE OBSERVATION POST IS JUST ACROSS THE ASATO RIVER FROM DOWNTOWN NAHA, SAID THE TORN CAPITAL CITY IS LARGELY QUIET ALTHOUGH HE HEARD OCCASIONAL RUMBLE OF TRUCKS. THESE QUICKLY WERE SILENCED BY ARTILLERY.

AGNEW IS THE FIRST MARINE DIVISION'S SIXTH ARTILLERY OBSERVER SINCE THE DIVISION CROSSED ASA RIVER, A SHORT DISTANCE TO THE NORTH, LAST WEEK. THREE OF HIS PREDECESSORS WERE KILLED AND TWO WERE WOUNDED.

ARMY LT.GERALD H.GROSH, (308 ORANGE ST.) GALION, OHIO, ARTILLERY OBSERVER, TOLD OF DESTRUCTION OF TWO JAPANESE MACHINE GUN POSTS WHICH OPENED UP IN DARKNESS ACROSS THE ASATO. SGT.L.G. CHRISTIANSON, ELLSWORTH, WIS., LED A BROWNING AUTOMATIC RIFLE TEAM OF THREE MEN AFTER HIS CAPTAIN WAS KILLED, FOUND THE JAPANESE GUNS AND KNOCKED THEM OUT.

OKINAWA, MAY 18-(DELAYED)-(AP)-"SUGAR LOAF HILL", A ROUNDED 150-FOOT RISE OVERLOOKING RUBBLED NAHA AND WRESTED FROM TENACIOUSLY-FIGHTING JAPANESE FOR THE NINTH TIME, REMAINED IN THE SIXTH MARINE DIVISION'S HANDS AT NIGHTFALL TODAY.
THE VETERANS OF ENIWETOK ATOLL AND GUAM REACHED THE TOP WITH THEIR LINES SPACED BY HEAVY CASUALTIES -- BUT THEY HUNG ON.
THIS FIGHTING HIGHLIGHTED TODAY'S FURIOUSLY CONTESTED ACTION.
JAPANESE COMMANDERS DREW HEAVILY UPON THEIR SUPPORTING TROOPS TO WAGE THE VIGOROUS BUT EXPENSIVE DEFENSE OF THIS KEY POINT ON THE NAHA-SHURI-YONABARU DEFENSE LINE.
AN ATTEMPT TO MOVE UP AN ESTIMATED 1,800 REINFORCEMENTS WAS BROKEN UP BY ARTILLERY FIRE, INFLICTING HEAVY CASUALTIES.
PROBABLY CORRELATED TO THE SUGAR HILL FIGHTING WAS THE UNUSUAL AMOUNT OF JAPANESE TROOPS MOVEMENT. ONE SECTOR REPORTED ABOUT 500 JAPANESE WITHDRAWING FROM A HILL POSITION WHILE ANOTHER COLUMN OF ABOUT 2,000 WAS SEEN TO TAKE SHELTER, PELL-MELL, UNDER A BRIDGE WHEN ATTACKED BY STRAFING AIRPLANES.
MAJ.GEN.LEMUEL SHEPHERD PUT MORE PATROLS AND A FEW AMPHTRACS ACROSS THE MUDDY ASATO ESTUARY INTO THE MAIN PART OF NAHA TODAY BUT MADE NO ATTEMPT TO HAVE HIS TROOPS DIG IN THERE WHILE STILL UNDER THE FIRE OF JAPANESE BATTERIES OVERLOOKING THE CITY.
ON THE EASTERN SIDE OF THE ISLAND, THE 381ST REGIMENT OF THE 96TH DIVISION SMASHED FORWARD FROM CONICAL HILL AT 8:30 A.M. AND BY NOON HAD PROGRESSED 200 YARDS ALONG THE RIDGE TO THE SOUTH. TANKS ROUNDED THE BASE OF THE RIDGE AND SUPPORTED THE ADVANCE. THE TANKS DREW ENEMY ARTILLERY FIRE FROM SOUTH OF YONABARU.
LT.COL.DANIEL NOLAN, 1046 WEST KENSINGTON ROAD, LOS ANGELES, SAID TWO JAPANESE MACHINE GUN POSITIONS HELD UP THE ADVANCE TEMPORARILY.
THE STATUE OF LIBERTY DIVISION -- THE 77TH -- BETWEEN THE MARINES AND THE 96TH WORKED TANKS AND INFANTRY AROUND THE SOUTHERN SLOPES OF HILL 140 ALSO CALLED "FLATTOP HILL."

THE JAPANESE, ANTICIPATING THE MOVE, HAD REINFORCED THEIR POSITIONS DURING THE NIGHT.
OTHER UNITS GAINED 150 YARDS APPROACHING ISHIMMI GETTING WITHIN 250 YARDS OF THAT VILLAGE.
PRECISION COUNTER ARTILLERY FIRE NEUTRALIZED SEVERAL ENEMY GUNS, DESTROYED SOME AMMUNITION DUMPS AND SEALED CAVE OPENINGS.
NAVAL RIFLE SUPPORT INCREASED IN INTENSITY, PARTICULARLY IN THE SIXTH MARINE DIVISION SECTOR, AND JAPANESE FIRE DECREASED APPRECIABLY.
UNABLE TO MOUNT CONCERTED ATTACKS, SINGLE JAPANESE AIRPLANES BOMBED THE FIRST MARINE DIVISION AREA LAST NIGHT AND BOMBED AND STRAFED TODAY.

ALEXANDER AND TITO INCLUDES TRIESTE, FIUME AND VENEZIA GUILIA PROVINCE. IT WAS CEDED TO ITALY IN 1918 AT THE CLOSE OF THE FIRST WORLD WAR.
THE REGION CENTERS ON THE BORDER PENINSULA OF ISTRIA, LONG A JUTTING FUSE TO THE POWDER KEG OF EUROPE. IT WAS ONE OF THE BIG TERRITORIAL DEMANDS OF THE ITALIANS IN THEIR LONG STRUGGLE WITH THE HAPSBURG EMPERORS WHO HELD IT FOR CENTURIES.
STRATEGIC TRIESTE (POP. ABOUT 250,000, MOSTLY ITALIAN-SPEAKING) IS AT THE HEAD OF THE ADRIATIC AND THE WESTERN BASE OF THE PENINSULA. IT WAS THE MAIN PORT OF THE AUSTRO-HUNGARIAN EMPIRE AND SOUTHERN GERMANY. ON THE MAP IT LOOKS LIKE A MAGNET FOR THE RAIL LINES OF CENTRAL AND EASTERN EUROPE, AS ISTRIA WAS FOR THE ITALIAN, SLAVIC AND GERMANIC PEOPLES IN THE PAST AND FOR DISPUTES BETWEEN THEM UP TO THE PRESENT.
VENEZIA GIULIA, SOMETIMES CALLED JULIAN VENETIA BECAUSE JULIUS CAESAR CONQUERED IT AS AN EXTENSION OF THE PROVINCE AROUND VENICE, TECHNICALLY OCCUPIES MOST OF THE PENINSULA EAST AND SOUTH OF TRIESTE UP TO THE PORT OF FIUME BEYOND THE EASTERN BASE, BUT THE NAME IS USED LOOSELY BY ITALIANS TO INCLUDE RIESTEAND ALL TERRI

SAN FRANCISCO, MAY 19-(AP)-VICE ADM. RYOZO FUKUDA, COMMANDER IN CHIEF OF THE JAPANESE FLEET IN CHINA WATERS, TOOK OVER HIS NEW DUTIES WITH AN APOLOGY, REPORTED TODAY IN A RADIO INTERVIEW:
"HEAVY FIGHTING IN THE PACIFIC AND THE CHANGES IN EUROPE WILL NATURALLY HAVE COMPLICATED EFFECTS ON THE CHINA SITUATION," HE SAID.
"DIFFICULTIES WILL NATURALLY OCCUR" BUT VICTORY IS POSSIBLE "IF WE FIGHT PERSISTENTLY TO THE LAST."
(FUKUDA'S IMPERIAL CHINA FLEET ASSIGNMENT MAY BE SOMEWHAT MYTHICAL. ADM. WILLIAM F. HALSEY'S CARRIER FORCES, IN A SERIES OF CHINA COAST RAIDS, FAILED TO LOCATE ANY "FLEET" AS SUCH AND ALMOST DAILY U.S. AIR PATROLS FROM KOREA TO INDO-CHINA FAIL TO MAKE CONTACT WITH IT).
ANOTHER TOKYO BROADCAST, RECORDED BY THE FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION, ASSERTED "WIDESPREAD SPECULATION IN ALL QUARTERS OF THE GLOBE EXCEPT JAPAN" OVER PEACE OFFERS HAS BECOME "A SOURCE OF ANNOYANCE" TO A "RELIABLE" JAPANESE AUTHORITY.
THE AUTHORITY ADDED: "JAPAN IS TOO MUCH OCCUPIED WITH KEEPING THE WAR GOING."
ONE OF THESE PREOCCUPATIONS, SAID RADIO TOKYO, IS THE BUILDING OF 5,000 SEMIUNDERGROUND HOMES IN BOMB-POCKED TOKYO FROM MATERIALS OBTAINED FROM BLASTED BUILDINGS.
FOR THE 220 JAPANESE TAKEN INTO ALLIED CUSTODY IN GERMANY AND ITALY -- RATHER THAN FLEEING FOR PROTECTION TO NEUTRAL RUSSIA -- THE JAPANESE GOVERNMENT ASSIGNED 500,000 YEN (APPROXIMATELY $90,000 PREWAR RATE) TO BE RELAYED TO THE ALLIES VIA SWITZERLAND.
THE U.S. MEANWHILE INFORMED THE JAPANESE MINISTRY IN SWITZERLAND, ADDED RADIO TOKYO, THAT 40 JAPANESE MOSTLY WOMEN AND CHILDREN WERE CAPTURED IN SOUTHERN GERMANY.

MAY 20 1945
BY HARRY T. MONTGOMERY
PRINCE ALBERT, SASKATCHEWAN, MAY 19-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER W.L. MACKENZIE KING CAME TO HIS OWN CONSTITUENCY OF PRINCE ALBERT TODAY, FIGHTING FOR RE-ELECTION JUNE 11 IN A POLITICAL BATTLE WHICH POSES THE FIRST SERIOUS THREAT TO CANADA'S TWO PARTY SYSTEM IN A QUARTER OF A CENTURY.
NOT SINCE 1921, WHEN THE PROGRESSIVE PARTY WON 64 SEATS AGAINST THE LIBERALS' 117 AND THE CONSERVATIVES' 50, HAS THE SYSTEM BEEN THREATENED AS IT IS BY THE CURRENT CAMPAIGN OF THE SOCIALISTIC CCF (COOPERATIVE COMMONWEALTH FEDERATION).
THE CCF IS MAKING THE FIRST IMPORTANT BID ON A NATIONWIDE SCALE SINCE ITS FOUNDING A DOZEN YEARS AGO. LAST FALL IT CAPPED A SERIES OF PROVINCIAL SUCCESSES BY WINNING 47 OF 55 SEATS IN THE SASKATCHEWAN LEGISLATURE AND WINNING THE RIGHT TO ESTABLISH ITS FIRST GOVERNMENT.
THE RISE OF THE CCF HAS TURNED THE CAMPAIGN INTO A THREE-WAY CONTEST WHICH MAY RESULT IN NO PARTY WINNING A MAJORITY OF SEATS IN THE FEDERAL PARLIAMENT AT OTTAWA. IN THIS EVENT THE NEW PARLIAMENT MIGHT SOON BE DISSOLVED AND ANOTHER GENERAL ELECTION CALLED.
INDICATIONS ARE THAT THE CCF MAY REPEAT IN SASKATCHEWAN ITS PROVINCIAL SUCCESS IN THE JUNE 11 ELECTION, TAKING FAR MORE SEATS THAN EITHER OF THE TWO OLD-LINE PARTIES, KING'S LIBERALS AND THE RESURGENT PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVES. THE PRIME MINISTER HIMSELF MAY FAIL OF RE-ELECTION IN SUCH A SWEEP, ALTHOUGH AT PRESENT HE IS REGARDED AS HAVING AN EDGE OVER HIS OPPONENTS.
WITH THE CCF BASING ITS APPEAL ON ITS LEFTIST PROGRAM, THE PRINCIPAL BITTERNESS IN THE CAMPAIGN HAS DEVELOPED BETWEEN THE LIBERALS AND THE PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVES. THIS FIGHT CENTERS AROUND THE GOVERNMENT'S CONSCRIPTION POLICY WHICH, INSTEAD OF CEASING TO BE AN ISSUE WITH THE END OF THE WAR AGAINST GERMANY, HAS BECOME A SUBJECT OF HOT CONTROVERSY IN CONNECTION WITH PLANS FOR THE WAR AGAINST JAPAN.

THE GOVERNMENT'S PLAN IS TO SEND ONLY VOLUNTEERS, A POLICY WHICH T CONTENDS WILL SUPPLY MORE THAN ENOUGH MEN TO CARRY OUT CANADA'S ROGRAM AS OUTLINED BY GREAT BRITAIN AND THE UNITED STATES AT THE AST QUEBEC CONFERENCE. KING DISCLOSED LAST NIGHT THAT THIS PROGRAM ALLED FOR 30,000 ARMY TROOPS, 13,500 NAVAL PERSONNEL AFLOAT AND A ORTIONATE NUMBER OF AIRMEN.
THE CONSERVATIVES, ATTACKING THIS ON THE GROUND THAT IT WILL SULT IN FIGHTING THE JAPANESE WAR CHIEFLY WITH VETERANS OF THE WAR EUROPE, HAVE PROPOSED DRAFTING FOR THE PACIFIC WAR HOME ARMY SCRIPTS WHO HAVE DECLINED TO VOLUNTEER TO FIGHT ABROAD.
DEFENSE MINISTER GEN. A.G.L. MCNAUGHTON WAS ESPECIALLY CRITICIZED BY THE OPPOSITION FOR REMARKING BEFORE HIS CONSTITUENTS IN SOUTHERN SASKATCHEWAN LAST WEEK THAT CANADA DOES NOT INTEND, "TO SLUG IT OUT HAND-TO-HAND WITH A FOE PERHAPS BETTER FITTED THAN WE TO SURVIVE IN THE JUNGLE WAR."

"WE WILL ASSIST TO SMASH THE JAP FOREVER WITH A MINIMUM OF MEN AND A MAXIMUM OF MACHINES AND EXPLOSIVES," HE ADDED.

THE GOVERNMENT'S CONSCRIPTION POLICY FOR THE JAPANESE WAR HAS, HOWEVER, DRAWN STRONG SUPPORT FROM THE FRENCH SPEAKING PROVINCE OF QUEBEC, COMPRISING NEARLY ONE THIRD OF THE DOMINION'S POPULATION. QUEBEC IS A TRADITIONAL ROCK-RIBBED LIBERAL PARTY STRONGHOLD, AND THE KING GOVERNMENT CANNOT BE RETURNED TO OTTAWA WITHOUT HAVING A GOOD SHARE OF ITS 65 SEATS.

WORKING AGAINST THE GOVERNMENT IN QUEBEC IS THE CONSCRIPTION POLICY FOLLOWED BY KING FOR THE WAR AGAINST GERMANY. IN THIS THE GOVERNMENT ADOPTED PARTIAL CONSCRIPTION LAST FALL TO PROVIDE NEEDED INFANTRY REINFORCEMENTS AFTER FIGHTING FOR FIVE YEARS ON THE VOLUNTARY SYSTEM.

WASHINGTON,MAY 19-(AP)-FRENCH FOREIGN MINISTER GEORGES BIDAULT AND AMBASSADOR HENRI BONNET CONFERRED THIS MORNING FOR NEARLY TWO HOURS WITH ACTING SECRETARY OF STATE JOSEPH C.GREW.

BIDAULT SAID AFTERWARD THAT HE AND GREW HAD COMPLETED "A TOUR OF THE WORLD" IN THE 100 MINUTES THEY HAD TALKED AND SAID THEY HAD NOT DISCUSSED A MEETING BETWEEN PRESIDENT TRUMAN AND GEN.CHARLES DEGAULLE.

HE ASSERTED THAT HE HAD DISCUSSED WITH GREW TODAY THE SAME THINGS HE TALKED ABOUT WITH PRESIDENT TRUMAN AT THE WHITE HOUSE YESTERDAY. HE SAID THE DISCUSSIONS DID NOT EXTEND BEYOND THE STATEMENT WHICH THE PRESIDENT ISSUED AFTER THE MEETING.

IN THE STATEMENT, PRESIDENT TRUMAN ASSURED BIDAULT OF AMERICAN INTEREST AND AID IN THE RESURGENCE OF FRANCE.

BIDAULT SAID HE WAS DELIGHTED WITH BOTH CONVERSATIONS AND THAT HE EXPECTED TO RETURN TO PARIS SOON.

HE VOLUNTEERED THAT GENERAL PROBLEMS CONNECTED WITH GERMANY WERE DISCUSSED THIS MORNING BUT SAID THAT THE QUESTION OF THE EXPANSION OF THE FRENCH OCCUPATION ZONE IN GERMANY WAS BEING SETTLED AT PARIS.

WASHINGTON,MAY 19-(AP)-THE ARMY AND NAVY JOURNAL SUGGESTED TODAY THAT THE NEXT CONFERENCE OF THE "BIG THREE" BE HELD IN BERLIN, "OR, SHOULD THE DEVASTATION OF THAT CITY PREVENT PROPER ACCOMMODATION, POTSDAM OR LEIPZIG."

"MR.CHURCHILL WOULD LIKE THE CONFERENCE TO BE HELD IN LONDON, BUT THERE IS NO PROSPECT OF THE SELECTION OF THAT CITY," SAID THE UNOFFICIAL PUBLICATION.

"PARIS IS OUT OF THE QUESTION BECAUSE OF THE ATTITUDE OF GENERAL DE GAULLE, WHO HAS FOUND CAUSE FOR RESENTMENT IN THE PRESIDENT'S STATEMENT THAT FRANCE WOULD NOT BE REPRESENTED AT THE CONFERENCE.

"IN THE CAPITAL OF CONQUERED GERMANY, IT IS POINTED OUT, THE BIG THREE WOULD GIVE A DEMONSTRATION OF UNITY WHICH WOULD IMPRESS THE WORLD AND AS IT WOULD BE UNDER RUSSIAN MILITARY CONTROL, THERE WOULD NOT BE THE INTRIGUE, CONFUSION AND NATIONAL PRESSURES WHICH IMPEDED THE NEGOTIATION OF THE TREATY OF VERSAILLES IN 1919."

THE JOURNAL SAID IT WAS "CONFIDENTLY EXPECTED" THAT PREMIER STALIN WOULD "RESPOND FAVORABLY" TO THE BIDS OF TRUMAN AND CHURCHILL FOR AN EARLY CONFERENCE.

"IT IS INCONCEIVABLE THAT HE WOULD GO SO FAR AS TO REBUFF HIS ALLIES," THE JOURNAL SAID.

NIGHT LEAD U.S. DELEGATES (200)

BY JACK BELL

SAN FRANCISCO, MAY 19-(AP)-DOMESTIC POLITICS CAUGHT UP WITH THE AMERICAN DELEGATION TO THE WORLD SECURITY CONFERENCE TODAY ON THE TOUCHY ISSUE OF WHETHER TO BACK A "FULL EMPLOYMENT" CLAUSE IN THE PROPOSED PEACE-KEEPING CHARTER.

THE U.S. DELEGATES DO NOT WANT TO BE PUT IN THE POSITION OF OPPOSING FULL EMPLOYMENT. YET THEY REPORTEDLY FEAR THAT AN AMENDMENT TENTATIVELY ADOPTED BY A CONFERENCE COMMITTEE MAY BREED TROUBLE.

AS DRAFTED BY THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE, THE WORLD LEAGUE'S SOCIAL AND ECONOMIC COUNCIL WOULD BE DIRECTED TO "PROMOTE: (A) HIGHER STANDARDS OF LIVING, FULL EMPLOYMENT AND CONDITIONS OF ECONOMIC AND SOCIAL PROGRESS AND DEVELOPMENT X X X ."

IN THE FIRST PLACE, THE WORD "PROMOTE" HAS AROUSED FEAR AMONG THE AMERICAN DELEGATES AS BEING SUBJECT TO INTERPRETATIONS OPENING THE DOOR FOR THE PROPOSED LEAGUE TO INTERFERE IN DOMESTIC AFFAIRS.

BEYOND THAT THE U.S. DELEGATES THINK THAT "FULL EMPLOYMENT" WILL BE SUSCEPTIBLE TO CYNICAL INQUIRY AS TO WHAT LEVEL OF WAGES WILL BE PAID.

THE AMERICANS REPORTEDLY FAVOR SUBSTITUTION OF THE WORDS "HIGH AND STABLE LEVELS OF EMPLOYMENT," BUT THEY FACE THE TECHNICAL PROBLEM OF GETTING THE COMMITTEE TO REOPEN THE SUBJECT AND TO MAKE CHANGES.

WHEN AND IF THEY DO, THEY MUST FACE THE RENEWED DEMAND BY SOVIET DELEGATES FOR INSERTION OF THE RUSSIAN-SPONSORED "RIGHT TO WORK" CLAUSE.

THREE U. S. COLUMNS ENVELOPING SHURI. STRONG POINT IN SOUTH OKINAWA LINE: ALLIES TAKE PRECAUTIONS ON TRIESTE

JAP BLOWS FALTER IN BITTER BATTLE FOR FORTRESS CITY

Foe 'Disintegrating as an Overall Fighting Unit,' Gen. Hodge Says.

ONLY 30,000 LEFT

Garrison Cut from 80,000; Soldiers and Marines Continue Advances.

GUAM, Monday, May 21—(AP) Some disintegration of Japanese resistance on Okinawa was seen today by Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge as three Yank divisions moved to encircle Shuri, a key enemy stronghold on the island from which the knockout blow can be delivered against Japan.

General Hodge, commander of the 24th Army Corps, told newsmen at Okinawa there was "some indication that the Japanese are disintegrating as an overall fighting unit." He noted a sharp decrease in enemy artillery shelling.

Only 30,000 Japanese troops are believed left of an Okinawa garrison which once was estimated at 60,000 to 80,000.

Marines Win Ridge

Tank-led Marines of the First division drove through intense small arms and mortar fire to ridges on the northwestern outskirts of moated Shuri and found that ancient capital of the Ryukyu chain, like the nearby Okinawa capital city of Naha, reduced to rubble and debris.

The Leathernecks fought 800 yards through elaborate defenses to gain the commanding heights. Hand-to-hand fighting occurred on the slopes.

Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce's veteran 77th Division infantrymen, repulsing three counter-attacks, captured a strongpoint 900 yards northeast of Shuri yesterday as the Tenth army's slow envelopment of that Okinawa fortress city continued.

While the 77th pushed its frontal assault on Shuri's fortifications, the First Marine division under Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle drove 800 yards south of Dakeshi town to close in on Shuri from the northwest.

10th Army Gains

Adm. Chester W. Nimitz' communique today said the Tenth army was gaining against stiff resistance "as it enveloped the enemy citadel of Shuri," but his report on Yank positions gave no indication the city was yet surrounded. No Americans are yet reported south, or even abreast, of Shuri.

On the east flank, Maj. Gen. James Bradley's 96th Infantry division, fighting eastward from bitterly-contested Conical Hill against intense fire, reached an elevation 1,600 yards east of Ishimmi town.

On the west flank the Sixth Marine division under Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr. held Sugar Loaf Hill, gained for the fifth time by the Yanks on Saturday, and made local advances east of the Naha suburb of Takamotoji.

Apparently the Leathernecks were making no attempt to occupy shell-battered Naha in force until heights covering that capital city on the east are cleared.

There was no break in the Tenth army pressure sustained against the strongly-entrenched Japanese since the four-division drive to envelop Shuri was launched May 11.

The greatest American gains for all of last week in the slow, tough battle approximated 800 to 1,000 yards.

Meet Strong Resistance

The Yanks throughout the day met strong resistance from caves and pillboxes and intense small-arms fire.

A few Japanese planes raided American positions early yesterday but no damage of consequence was reported.

Thunderbolts of the 318th Army Fighter group hit targets in the Ryukyus north of Okinawa Friday night.

Bombers of Fleet Airwing One sank a medium freighter and two small freighters in waters around Korea yesterday. A number of landing craft were damaged.

Search planes of Fleet Air Wing Four attacked Kokutan on Shimushu in the northern Kurile islands with bombs and rockets on Friday. Liberators of the 11th Army Air force bombed Kataoka naval base on Shimushu the same day.

In continued mopping up operations on Iwo Jima, the Marianas islands and the Palau islands, 141 Japanese were killed and 167 captured in the week ended May 12.

The Japanese appeared today to be scraping the bottom of their troop reservoir on Okinawa in suicidal efforts to hold the final American drive.

They are fighting with undiminished fanaticism as if sensing the realities behind a statement yesterday by Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., 10th Army commander on the island, that Okinawa will become a base "from which the death blow can be dealt the Japanese empire."

Announce Casualties

While the Japanese continued to desperately hurl reinforcements into the Naha-Shuri-Yonabaru line, Fleet Admiral Nimitz announced that 48,103 of the enemy had been killed from the American invasion date, April 1, to May 17.

There is increasing evidence that the Japanese have stayed "too long" on the present line, said Al Dopking, Associated Press front correspondent.

General Buckner, in a talk dedicating a small radio installation for Americans on Okinawa, said that every Japanese effort to bring aid to the "doomed and dwindling" enemy garrison had met with "disastrous failure."

Dopking said it is possible that the Japanese were sending service troops—rear echelon units such as cooks and mechanics—to the front as reinforcements.

Nimitz reported American casualties through May 18 were 4,332 Soldiers and Marines killed and missing and 18,258 wounded. Navy casualties for the entire Ryukyus campaign, which started March 18, were 3,978 killed and missing and 3,958 wounded, a total of 30,526 casualties for all American services.

The Japanese expended troops recklessly in attempts to hold tunneled forts on high ground such as Sugar Loaf Hill, which Sixth Marine division units repeatedly attacked and finally won the crest.

But the Japanese still held the southern slopes of Sugar Loaf Saturday, from which they could launch another counterattack against the Leathernecks.

Dominates Naha Approach

Sugar Loaf Hill dominates the eastern approaches of Naha, capital of Okinawa, where other units of the Sixth Marine division have a hold in the northern part of the city. It also guards the western approach to the fortress city of Shuri.

The First Marine division and the Army's 77th and 96th Infantry divisions are applying pincers to Shuri and its moated castle, fighting over hilltops or sifting around the flanks with tank and artillery support.

A great weight of artillery is being used by both the Americans and the Japanese, in the heaviest exchanges of barrages of any landing fighting in the Pacific war.

The Americans hold the edge in artillery with the aid of naval gunfire and aerial bombing, but Japanese gun positions dug into concrete emplacements are hard to blast out and when the barrages lift Yank tanks find the Nipponese field guns ready to meet them.

Dopking said American tanks took a beating from Nipponese 105mm guns firing pointblank from the heights. The Yanks were reinforcing their general Shermans with makeshift additional armor taken from disabled tanks.

OKINAWA TERMED KEY TO VICTORY

OKINAWA, May 20—(AP) Okinawa will become the base for the death blow at the Japanese empire, Lieut. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr., 10th Army commander, told a military radio audience today.

The general spoke at the dedication of Radio Okinawa, a 50-watt armed forces radio service setup which began transmission to the troops in this area today. Maj. Gen. Fred G. Wallace, island commander, participated in the dedication.

"Opening of this radio station," said Buckner, "constitutes another landmark in the development of a long-neglected island and affords cheerful means to bring us more closely in touch with each other and the rest of the world.

"I am grateful for the opportunity to express through this means my deep appreciation of the courage, loyalty and intelligent effectiveness of those who are now systematically destroying the enemy garrison of Okinawa and developing a base from which the death blow can be dealt the Japanese empire.

"It has been admitted by Japanese leaders that our possession of Okinawa spells defeat for Japan. Every effort of Japan to bring aid to its doomed and dwindling garrison in the south has met with disastrous failure."

Hodge Predicts Decline In Japanese Resistance

Okinawa, May 20 (AP)—Maj. Gen. John R. Hodge, commander of the 24th United States Army Corps, ses a prospective decline in Japanese resistance on this bitterly-contested island.

He told newsmen at a press conference today there was "some indication that the Japanese are disintegrating as an overall fighting unit."

Japanese artillery, he said, decreased 1,000 round a night recently.

Tension Is Increased in Yugoslavia; Americans Are Alerted to Quit City

BELGRADE, May 19.—(Delayed)—(AP) American and British diplomatic and civilian personnel in Yugoslavia were alerted by their embassies today to prepare for the eventuality of immediate evacuation as tension mounted in the dispute over the port of Trieste.

(Trieste dispatches said that Marshal Tito's commanders had moved their main headquarters out of the troubled Adriatic city, but that Yugoslav military control remained as tight as ever.

(Unconfirmed reports reaching Trieste said Tito's troops had agreed to withdraw from the Klagenfurt area of Austria, another disputed piece of territory. Credence was lent to the report by a Belgrade radio broadcast heard in London which indicated a withdrawal from Austrian Carinthia.

(The broadcast quoted the Belgrade newspaper "Borba" as saying: "Withdrawal of our troops from Carinthia does not mean our peoples will renounce their justified demand.")

Situation Critical

As another indication of the critical situation created by Tito's rejection of Allied demands to withdraw Yugoslav troops from Trieste, British and Americans were warned by their embassies to avoid any action which might cause personal clashes.

The best opinion, however, indicated that any evacuation—which apparently would take place only if the situation reached the point of open conflict—would be unnecessary. Allied diplomats still are hopeful of finding a friendly solution.

Evacuation plans came immediately on the heels of information that Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander had informed his command in the Mediterranean theater in a special message of the factors involved in the dispute and his revelation that an agreement with Tito had not been reached.

Despite the precautions, there was no indication of an unfriendly feeling against the two Allies in the streets of Belgrade, nor were there reports of any such feeling in Yugoslavia.

At the time of the British military negotiations here with Tito broke off, a government source said an agreement had been reached on the basis of Tito's demands that his troops remain in Trieste while giving the Allies the use of the port.

(The Allies insist that the port is needed to supply their troops in the occupation of southern Austria.)

Tito Replies to Alexander

Meanwhile, the Yugoslav agency Tanyug carried Tito's reply to Alexander's message to his troops.

"I cannot help displaying displeasure and surprise," Tanyug quoted Tito as saying, "at such an impossible comparison in which the presence of Yugoslav troops in the Istria and Slovenian coastland is likened to the methods of occupations of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan."

Alexander had said that Tito apparently intended to back Yugoslav claims to parts of northeastern Italy and southern Austria by force, an action which would be "all too reminiscent of Hitler, Mussolini and Japan."

"Such an accusation may be thrown into the face of an enemy," said Tito, "but not an Allied country which has suffered and which gave so much blood and which was acknowledged by everyone as an example of courage and suffering in a great liberating war."

The agency reported that Tito then asserted that the presence of his troops in the territory under dispute "cannot be considered as conquest" and that he denied energetically that there was any basis "for such an accusation."

"I say again," Tito continued, "that the Yugoslav army and Yugoslav are prepared to collaborate with the Allied forces and countries, but at the same time I say that Yugoslavia cannot permit itself to be humbled and its rights denied.

Tito Leaders Remove Trieste Headquarters

Trieste, May 20 (AP)—Marshal Tito's commanders moved their main headquarters out of Trieste last night following the sharp exchange of statements between Tito and Field Marshal Sir Harold R. L. G. Alexander, but there was not the slightest relaxation of Yugoslav military control apparent in the city today.

While the Yugoslavs maintained their hold on Trieste as tightly as ever, there were reports here that they had agreed to withdraw from the Klagenfurt area of Austria, but these could not be confirmed immediately.

Radio Indicates Move

[Credence was lent to the report by a Belgrade radio broadcast heard in London which indicated a withdrawal from Austrian Carinthia. The bradcast quoted the Belgrade newspaper Borba as saying: "Withdrawal of our troops from Carinthia does not mean our peoples will renounce their justified demand."]

During the morning, the Italian Garibaldi Division, which has been fighting with the Yugoslav partisans, was sent on parade through Trieste to the Piazza del Unia where it was reviewed by Col. Josef Beocic, chief of staff of the Yugoslav 4th Army, and by Frank Stoka, Yugoslav political commissar.

Tito Statements Printed

The two statements of Marsl Tito, responding to the Allied Mo

terranean commander in chief's message to his troops were published in the only newspaper in Trieste today under a Belgrade dateline, but Alexander's statement was not published.

The great Piazza del Unia square was almost empty this morning as the Garibaldi units marched in review. Perhaps 1,500 spectators lined the streets at the open end of the square, where formations of girl marchers threw roses at the Italian troops. Some twenty Yugoslav tanks took part.

The removal of Yugoslav headquarters from the city was believed to be part of a general redisposition of Yugoslav troops.

Food Shortage Acute

Meanwhile, a food shortage, so acute it may emerge as one of the determining factors in the dispute over Trieste, hovered over the city awaiting th outcome of Allied negotiations with Tito.

Trieste has been cut off from its normal larder in Fruili province. The Allied Military Government is unable to function in the city because of Tito's assumption of administrative control. The AMG administration stops at the Isonzo River, which the Yugoslavs have declared to be the northwestern border of "greater Yugoslavia."

Ask To Bring Food

Yugoslav military authorities, it was understood, have made overtures to the Allied authorities for permission to bring in food from the Padua area of Italy, but it was not likely that this would be permitted. Thousands of displaced persons, refugees and prisoners are streaming southward to Italy, making it unlikely there would be any surplus food in that normally fruitful area.

In addition, the Yugoslavs, having excluded the AMG from Trieste and permitted the use of only a fraction of this large port for Allied shipping, are now in a position where it would be difficult for them to make any further claim on Allied resources.

Large stocks of foodstuffs on the opposite side of the Adriatic apparently would have been available for this area had the Allied military government been permitted to establish itself in the city. Under the present uncertain situation and, with negotiations proceeding on a higher level, there was little likelihood of relieving the situation with these stocks.

Four Ports Cleared Of Mines

ENGLISH WILL QUIZ DUTCH NAZI LEADER

LONDON, Monday, May 21. — (AP) The Daily Mail said today that Arthur Seyss-Inquart, former Nazi high commissioner in Holland, has been brought by plane to England for questioning.

Seyss-Inquart, captured by the Canadian First Army, heads a list of war criminals compiled by the Dutch government.

The Daily Mail did not say where he was held or when he arrived.

Ex-Grand Mufti Taken To Paris, Swiss Report

London, Monday, May 21 (AP)—The Swiss radio said today the exiled Grand Mufti of Jerusalem, Mohammed Amein El Hasseini, had been arrested and taken to Paris by the French Army and would be turned over to the British.

The British have accused the former Grand Mufti of being Hitler's chief agent in the Middle East where, the government alleged, he has been fomenting trouble since 1937. He left Jerusalem in 1938.

The Swiss broadcast said Ferdinand de Brinon, who was Vichy Ambassador to the German occupation force sin Paris, also had returned to Paris.

Briton Declares Nazis Spread Malaria in Italy

Effect of Disease Overcome by Use of New Drugs

LONDON, May 20 (AP).—The Germans caused malaria to spread in Italy, but the effect of the disease was overcome by use of new drugs, an officer in the British Ministry of Health declared today.

P. G. Shute, a malaria specialist, said, "Thousands of our troops suffered from malaria caused by the Germans, who flooded and infested large areas with this deadly disease."

Shute flew to Italy with 1,000 mosquitoes in a muslin bag. In one hospital sixty-eight soldiers suffering from malaria volunteered to let the mosquitoes bite them.

In Britain the War Office appealed to the fighting troops for volunteers in experiments with the new drugs. One of the drugs was mepacrine, a German preparation which American and British medical men improved. The names of the two others remain secret.

Two hundred volunteers were bitten by the infected mosquitoes and fell ill with malaria. So successful were the experiments that mepacrine in its new form was flown to Italy and "our troops were restored to full health and strength," Shute said.

Shute explained that the virulence of malaria varies in different countries and that in Italy "it was very deadly." He said: "We had to do what we could for our troops. We were not able to obtain quinine, which is in Japanese hands."

Russians Install Mayor Of Berlin

London, Monday, May 21 (AP)—The Moscow radio said today that Dr. Arthur Werner, a German architect persecuted by the Gestapo, has been named mayor of Berlin.

Werner thanked the Allies for "liberating us from tyranny" in an address yesterday at the first meeting of the Soviet-controlled Berlin Administrative Council, composed of Berlin residents, the broadcast said.

"We wish to build a democratic republic," Werner was quoted. "We acknowledge our obligations. we are full of resolve to do our duty. People who have shown themselves to be anti-Fascist have entered the city municipal administration."

Other Berlin Officials

The broadcast listed Karl Marren, described as "a worker," as the deputy mayor, and Dr. Albrecht Werner as second deputy and food director. Werner, the report said, was saved by the Red Army after having been condemned to death for "an attempt on Hitler."

Others listed were Paul Scheiang, "former member of the Prussian Landtag," third deputy and planning director; Karl Scholtze, "former principal of a higher school," fourth deputy; and a "Professor Saürbruck, former member of the German Reichstag found in a concentration camp," director of health.

JAP CRUISER SUNK BY BRITISH SHIPS

Planes Hit Enemy Vessel First In Malacca Straits

London, Monday, May 21 (AP)—A Southeast Asia Command communiqué received here today announced that the sinking of a Japanese cruiser of the 10,000-ton Nati class in Malacca Straits the night of May 15 was accomplished at the cost of two dead and three wounded aboard the British destroyer Saumarez.

A Japanese destroyer was damaged in the same engagement.

The British Admiralty had announced the action Friday, saying that aircraft from the British carrier Shah first hit the enemy cruiser and that five destroyers followed up the strike and sank her with torpedoes.

Besides the Saumarez, destroyers in the action were the Venus, Vigilant, Virago and Verulam.

Churchill Snub By Labor Seen

Blackpool, England, May 20 (AP)—British Labor party leaders tonight were reported to have rejected an ultimatum from Prime Minister Churchill that unless Labor party ministers agreed to remain in the coalition government until the end of the war against Japan a general election would be called for July.

This development—reported unofficially after a secret meeting of the Labor Party Executive Committee—touched off a flurry of excitement among the 1,100 delegates arriving here for the biggest convention in the party's history opening tomorrow.

Position Not Entirely Clear

Deputy Prime Minister Clement Attlee was reported to have submitted Churchill's note to the executive committee, which decided to place the issue on the convention floor with the recommendation that the proposal be voted down.

The position of the Labor ministers was not entirely clear, but delegates were talking openly of the convention going on record in favor of their withdrawal from the Cabinet, which would precipitate Britain's first national election campaign in ten years.

The Labor party view as voiced by some of its leaders has been that an election should be held this fall, rather than in July. They contended that thousands of voters would be disenfranchised on the earlier date because they haven't had time to register on account of residence dislocations.

July 5 Election Forecast

Most British newspapers today forecast an election on July 5 on the strength of Churchill's reported unwillingness to compromise on the later date.

Attention of the delegates appeared tonight to be focused on domestic issues, among them the nationalization of key industries, housing and postwar employment, although more than a dozen resolutions have been proposed on international issues.

One resolution expressed "alarm" over the Government's policy toward Germany, maintaining that "delay" was "leading to a state of chaos that will compromise all chances of rebuilding a peaceful Europe."

Bishop Favors Easy Death For Defective Children

Nottingham, England, May 20 (AP). Bishop Ernest William Barnes, of the Church of England, today advocated euthanasia, or easy death, for defective children and medically controlled sterilization to lessen what he called the "scrub population."

"Fairly often we hear of a child being born pitiably defective in mind or body and of the parents' relief when it dies," the 71-year-old Bishop of Birmingham told the annual Co-Operative Congress.

"I am convinced that in such cases euthanasia should be permitted under proper safeguards.

Sees No Objection

"Equally, from a Christian standpoint, as I see the matter, there is no objection to medically controlled sterilization.

"We in England have avoided those problems, but they are problems which, for our national welfare, we must ultimately try to solve."

He said bad racial stock was a growing source or anxiety to thoughtful men in every country where Western civilization prevailed.

In the development of cattle, he declared, herds breeding at random sooner or later develop "scrub cattle."

Problem Families Created

Under harsh social conditions of other centuries, he added, defective children were not able to survive, but today, with human social services, problem children grew up to create problem families, and "consequently a scrub population was appearing and war intensified the process."

Dr. Barnes said science did not know enough of the laws by which bad or good qualities were inherited to lay down adequate rules for improving the qualities of racial stocks.

"We know," he added, "that mental defects are inherited and some improvement in present tendencies could be made by sterilizing our feeble-minded."

RUSSELL DAVENPORT AWARDED PURPLE HEART

WITH THE U. S. THIRD ARMY, May 20.—(AP) The Purple Heart was awarded today to Russell W. Davenport, New York city, former managing editor of Fortune magazine and personal representative of the late Wendell Willkie.

Davenport was wounded slightly while with the 11th Armored division near Wegscheid, Germany. He was correspondent for Collier's magazine and the New York Post at the time. The wound did not require hospitalization and he remained with the division throughout the operation.

Mayors To Hold Reins In Germany

With British 2d Army, May 20 (AP)—A British military government officer said today that the rule of Germany ultimately would be decentralized and placed under the administrative control of mayors supervised by the Allies.

Col. B. K. Thomas, of the military government operational and planning department, said the system will be imposed after enough "worthy burgomasters" are found.

German refugees in London are returning to help establish the administrative setup.

One Third Dismissed

"One third of the burgomasters have been dismissed after they had been checked carefully and found unsuitable," Thomas said. "New ones have been appointed who are respected by the people. The clergy has helped considerably in pointing out Germans with the qualifications we want.

"Burgomasters in the larger populated centers usually are found to have Hitlerite tendencies. Those in the outlying districts have held the title for 20 or 30 years and are still suitable for the job.

"Ultimately we hope to get a Germany governed by Germans under Allied control and this will come about by the process of finding worthy burgomasters who have never come under the influence of Nazism and who eventually will form the administrative branch of the government."

Special Sleuths Track Down Art Treasure Loot Of Nazis

With British 2d Army, May 20 (AP)—Supreme headquarters has sent special sleuths throughout Germany to track down art treasures valued at $500,000,000 stolen by a vast Nazi organization created for the purpose of looting on an incredible scale, it was disclosed today.

Capt. Felix Harbord, British member of SHAEF's twelve-man commission of "monuments, fine arts and archives," said much of the loot has already been recovered. Lists giving the location of [illegible] treasures, some of it [illegible] have been found.

Big Ammunition Dump

The strangest recovery to date was made by a British sergeant exploring an ammunition dump in the woods near Nuremburg. He showed up there in the town hall with three trucks loaded with German manuscripts and a collection of old coins.

Captain Harbord said it was the rarest collection of Eleventh Century articles in northern Germany. Among other treasures found was [illegible] a small sum and used [illegible] in order to obtain it from [illegible] family in Hungary, [illegible] had been for several gen[illegible] The family had refused [illegible] for it on one occasion. all the organized looting.

"Some of the loot was put up for sale, but was controlled by Goering, who finally got what he wanted at prearranged prices. He looted with great taste, and even went to the extent of taking over the famous Amsterdam art dealer firm of Gouldstiker.

"Cases of valuables removed from France have been discovered in a deep phosphate mine near Hannover. Other mines in the area were filled with loot, some of it invaluable in Germany and English culture, being traced through Hanoverian history."

Yank Soldiers View Goering's Art Booty

Berchtesgaden, Germany, May 20 (AP)—Hermann Goering's "private" art collection—valued at $200,000,000 and "acquired" when all Europe's treasures lay at the Nazis' feet—went on exhibition today to American GI's and officers.

The collection of Goering's loot went on show in a rustic three-story inn hidden away in the mountains south of this Bavarian village.

In the tiny, pine-walled rooms were stacked centuries-old paintings of Europe's masters and the rich collection of tapestries and rugs and gold and silver art objects plundered from Europe's museums by the pudgy Nazi Luftwaffe chief now an American prisoner.

Courtesy Of 101st

Outside the nameless little hotel hangs a banner: "The Hermann Goering art collection—through courtesy of the 101st Airborne Division." The GI artist who did the job acquainted himself admirably on the falcon head emblem of the division, but he had to paint over an error in spelling "Goering."

Scores of tourist American soldiers and officers threaded their way through the art objects and the maze of "positively no smoking" signs."

Most of the precious paintings came from Goering's "art train" which had been concealed in a tunnel. The inn was the best place Capt. Harry Anderson, of Ossining, N.Y., could find to display it.

A guide patiently lectured to those interested in learning what they were looking at. He was Walter Andrea Hofer, Goering's chief curator.

Beat Hitler's Agent

Hofer started with a Rembrandt and not too modestly related how he nosed out Hitler's agent in a race to get the prize painting from a Paris dealer.

"He told me I must take it immediately if I wanted it, because Hitler's man was coming the next day," he said. "I paid him 260,000 marks. It is one of the most important discoveries in several years."

The portrait, picturing a bearded man against a somber background, was not named. It was dated 1660.

Other Rembrandts included one of his sister, Elizabeth van Rijn, and another of his first wife painted in 1633.

Next Hofer showed two portraits by Franz Hals, the outstanding one that of a priest done in 1614.

Include Rare Landscapes

There were many Renoirs and Rubens's, including two "very rare" landscapes by the latter artist, famed for his portraits.

One of the Rubens's was "Bath of Diana"—that is the east end of it. Hofer said the other half was a copy of the original. Some time or another it was split in half and the original part in this one is the right section. He didn't know where the other original section was.

Goering had Rubens's "Crucifixion." Hofer said it was purchased from the Koenig Rugens collection—one of the largest.

In another room were five early Flemish paintings by Roger van der Weyden an dhis pupils, including Hans Memling and Gerard David, dating from the late Fifteenth Century.

Given To Frau Goering

One of these was recovered from Frau Goering—a $75,000 item from the Rothschild collection which Goering had given to his wife.

Andrea del Sarto's "Madonna" rested against a buxom, but unidentified nude reaching for a bowl of grapes. Goering's tastes seemed to run heavily toward boudoir subjects.

In all there were more than a 1,000 paintings in the exhibition—all of them originally intended to wind up on the walls of Goering's mansions.

Hamburg Raid Shelters Now Used As Hospitals

Hamburg, May 20 (AP)—Elaborately equipped ten-story air-raid shelters, built for the Nazis by slave labor are being used as hospitals for wounded and shocked Germans in this bomb-battered port city.

The largest is a black painted vault of thousands of tons of concrete. It required fifteen months to build and another three months to install machinery for electricity, air conditioning and water supply.

Eighty nurses and five doctors are usually on duty in the complete hospital unit taking up a part of three floors. This section is fully equipped with operating rooms and reserves of medicine. The wards hold 200 beds and 100 more could be placed in the halls.

Zeiss Factories Now Producing For Allies

Jena, Germany, May 20 (AP)—The world-famous Zeiss Optical Works and its glass-making subsidiary, Schott und Gen, are operating again—producing for the Allies.

American MP's as well as German guards wearing auxiliary police bands watch evey entrance to the complex buildings.

Capt. William Linder said United States Army ordnance now is ordering "a little of this, a little of that, or just about everything Zeiss used to make."

The Zeiss catalogue list included lenses, range finders, binoculars, mieroscopes. stertoscopes, ophthalmoscopes, micrometer gauges, dial-depth indicators.

FILM STAR SEEKS FATE OF MOTHER

Sister Of Marlene Dietrich Describes Berlin Quest

Belsen, Germany, May 20 (AP)—German-born Marlene Dietrich, branded by the Nazis as a saboteur for becoming an American citizen, is attempting to learn the fate of her aged mother in Russian-occupied Berlin, the movie actress' sister said tonight.

Marlene's sister, 50-year-old Mrs. Elizabeth Wills, said their mother's big watchmaking firm in the star's native Berlin had been seized by the Gestapo a year ago after their mother had been charged with sheltering Jewish refugees.

Mrs. Wills said their mother had been told that Marlene was guilty of sabotage for abandoning her German nationality.

Husband Is Theater Man

Mrs. Wills is living with her husband above a movie theater in Belsen military barracks.

The military camp is distinct from the Belsen concentration camp and Marlene's sister asserted that, although she had lived in Belsen for four years, she knew nothing of the atrocities committed near by.

Mrs. Wills' husband, George, was a theatrical producer in Berlin, but she said that in 1937 he was no longer permitted to continue this work because of his many Jewish friends. Later he became cinema manager at Belsen, where he and his wife have lived since 1941.

Restless During Interview

Her identity as Marlene's sister was disclosed when British soldiers went through her apartment recently and noticed large photographs of the star.

"I told them I was her sister and soon the news spread and Marlene heard that I was here," she said. "She came to Belsen on May 9 in General Eisenhower's personal plane which brought her direct from Munich."

Mrs. Wills was extremely restless during the interview. She appeared to fear that persons were overhearing her, and kept a watchful eye on the door. She has a 17-year-old son drafted last February into a military labor battalion. Mrs. Wills said she had not heard from him since she visited him April 1 at Muenster, where he had been ordered with others to defend the city or be shot by the Gestapo.

NAZI LEADERS' FUNDS FROZEN

Americans Allow Them $30 A Month For Living

In Germany, May 20 (AP)—The American Military Government froze the financial assets of Nazi leaders today and limited them to $30 a month for living expenses.

Their safety deposit boxes were sealed and institutions which yielded the Nazis income must make future payments into the frozen bank balances.

Lieut. Col. Charles L. Prather, staff financial expert for the 15th Army, explained:

"Our immediate purpose is simply to take hold of the assets to be sure they are not hidden or dissipated before legal claims can be determined."

No Restitution Attempt

No attempt has been made to deal with the return of property stolen from occupied territories or assets confiscated from victims of discriminatory Nazi laws.

"Restitution will come later and much of it will be handled by civilian courts of a reconstituted Germany which probably will be swamped with litigation for the next 100 years," Prather said.

Germans not on the American list for mandatory arrest and financial freezing are allowed to withdraw from their banks sums up to 1,000 marks ($100 at the occupation rate) monthly for living expenses, instead of the 300 marks allowed the Nazi "upper class."

Most German tax laws will be retained, Prather said, but those discriminating on the basis of race, creed or political opinion "are being suspended or abrogated to the extent necessary to eliminate such discrimination."

Most Pensions Will Stop

Prather predicted that pensions "in most cases" would stop for former loyal servants and militarists of the Nazi Reich.

"Exceptions will be that the old pensions may be continued when they are given for disabilities affecting ability to work and when they have been awarded to dependent widows or orphans. But there will be no Government support of a traditional military caste," he explained.

Prather, former professor of finance at Syracuse University, expressed belief that "the chances are good of the occupation being effected without a German financial collapse."

Similar To Arrest List

Nazis subjected to the special financial freeze make up a list virtually identical with those whose arrest is an automatic responsibility of the Allied counterintelligence corps.

They include all officers who served on the general staffs or the German Army, Navy or Air Force; Reichstag deputies, all members of the SS, all officers and noncommissioned officers of the Waffen SS and SA, police officials above the rank of lieutenant colonel, all members of the security police and secret state police, and all officials above the rank of captain in the administration of occupied territories.

SS GUARD HEAD DENIES BLAME

Officer Admits Atrocities Occurred At Buchenwald

With U.S. 30th Division in Germany, May 20 (AP)—Twisting his small, neatly uniformed body in nervous desperation, Karl Voelkner sat in the middle of a room at this division's counterintelligence corps headquarters and protested passionately that he was a good, kind, gentle German.

Finally the disgusted counter-intelligence men interrupted and asked him one question.

Yes, he admitted in a faltering voice, he was an SS Oberstrumführer and he was commander of the SS company which guarded the infamous Buchenwald concentration camp.

Confirms Atrocity Reports

He tried again to protest his complete innocence. But like bored interrogators at a police lineup the counterintelligence men broke in with more questions.

Yes, Voelkner continued, it was true that thousands of prisoners at Buchenwald had been tortured and cremated, that thousands more had been starved or experimented on with brutal "medical tests," that lampshades had been made from human skin, that countless other unbelievable atrocities had been perpetrated there. Yes, it was all true.

Suddenly he seemed to realize where the slow, inexorable questioning would lead and he squirmed anew with frantic fear.

"No, no! Not me, not me!" he whispered hoarsely, adding that his SS men were merely guards; that the horrors of Buchenwald had been committed by a headquarters company; that he was always "in trouble" with the camp commandant because he was "too soft."

In Disguise In Hospital

Voelkner was discovered in Schierke Hospital near Halberstadt, disguised as a Wehrmacht officer. The first thing he said after his arrest was that he had nothing to do with the horrors of any camp he had guarded.

In fact, he said, once when he took over a small camp of 1,500 Jewish slaves near Lietmeritz, Czechoslovakia, he actually improved conditions. He said that when he arrived things were so brutal that he realized the Jews soon all would be dead and he would be out of a job. So, he said, he eased things up so that not so many died each day as before.

Evidence Builds Up

Even as he talked the evidence slowly built up against him.

He joined the SS forces in 1932 and was such a "good" chieftain that in 1940 he was given command of one of the infamous SS Totenkopf battalions to guard concentration camps. That was when he was first sent to Buchenwald—but nothing which happened there was his fault, he repeated.

The counterintelligence corps men had heard that song before.

They listed what evidence he had given, labeled his case "Attention War Crimes" and ordered him shipped on back.

Obersturmführer Karl Voelkner moved out in short, mechanical steps under guard, his eyes jerking furtively from face to face to see how much impression his plea of innocence had made.

Liszt Home Is Found Little Damaged By Raids

Weimar, Germany, May 20 (AP)—The home of Franz Liszt is practically intact, although a blockbuster bomb fell only a few feet from it during an Allied air-raid.

Some of the composer's manuscripts were removed to a bank safe after the first bombings of Weimar.

The piano where the Hungarian-born genius wrote his rhapsodies and concertos is in tune. Many American soldiers have visited the Liszt home.

29th Takes Over At Bremerhaven

Bremerhaven, May 20 (AP)—This big German port was handed over by the British to the Americans in a ceremony today. It will be one of the main supply ports for the American army of occupation.

A Highland division, which had occupied the city, was supplanted by the 29th Division of the 9th Army.

The Union Jack was lowered while an American band played "God Save the King." The American flag was raised to the strains of "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Dock facilities were little damaged by bombing during the war, but the city itself took a bad beating.

Many Cripples Found Among Gestapo Units

Scheveningen, Holland, May 20 (AP)—A Canadian Army major said today that ten per cent of some 400 Gestapo members who have been processed here are crippled.

The major, Robert Prince, is the executive officer of a brigade which is screening Gestapo men and turning them over to the Allied War Crimes Commission for trial.

According to one estimate, at least 50 per cent of the 400 already screened—the majority of them non-commissioned officers who became infamous as jailers at various torture and prison camps—are likely to be sentenced to death.

17,000 Held In Four Areas

Gestapo men and members of associated units make up nearly one fifth of the total of more than 17,000 Germans who now are held in four concentration areas, three here and one at the city of Hook of Holland, by Major Prince's Brigade, part of the 3d Canadian Division.

The Gestapo chieftain is Major General Schungarth, who for years was righthand man to Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Nazi commissioner for Holland.

"I've never seen anyone as glad to get behind barbed wire," said Prince. "These Gestapo guys practically raced each other for the privilege of having us lock them up to get out of the way of the Dutch."

GABRESKI REACHES PARIS ON WAY HOME

PARIS, May 20 (AP)—Lieut. Col. Francis S. Gabreski, of Oil City, Pa., ranking ace of the United States Eighth Air Force, arrived here today on his way home after months in a German prison camp.

Col. Gabreski was forced down in Germany on July 20, 1944, after having chalked up a record of twenty-eight enemy planes shot down in combat. He was in good health, but he said that he had spent many hungry days in the Barth prison. He related this story of his capture:

"We'd been escorting bombers and were on our way home when we strafed an airdrome near Coblenz. I was shooting at a plane on the ground. I stuck the nose down a little to get on the target and the propeller hit the ground.

"Oil sprayed all over my windshield and canopy. If I had climbed a little to bail out I'd have been a sitting duck for flak, so I decided to crash-land.

"My engine was failing fast. Some trees and high tension wires were coming at me, so I set the plane on the ground at about 200 miles an hour. It finally stopped and I left it burning."

German troops from the airfield started chasing him, and civilians joined in. He kept out of their way for five days, but he was then caught by some German farmers and turned over to the Wehrmacht.

"The next morning Luftwaffe guards took me to an interrogation center at Dulag-Luft," Gabreski said. "There was a German interrogator there whom we called 'Stone Face' Scharff. As I opened the door and walked in he said: 'Why, Gabreski, we have been expecting you for a long time. Glad to see you.'"

Despite this cordial welcome, Gabreski was immediately put in solitary confinement for five days and then taken to a hospital for recuperation.

He said food, or the lack of it, was the chief topic in the camp to which he finally was taken. The only meat in the German ration was horsemeat, which was provided infrequently. Gabreski said he lost twenty-five pounds during his imprisonment, but gained twelve or fifteen back after he was liberated by the Russians.

Asked about his plans, Colonel Gabreski said: "I want some of that Pacific." He has been in the war since it began, having been stationed at Wheeler Field on Dec. 7, 1941. He was sent to England in the fall of 1942 and flew with the Royal Air Force, specializing in fighting with the Polish squadron. He has the Polish Cross for Valor, the Distinguished Service Cross, the Silver Star, the Distinguished Flying Cross with six Oak Leaf Clusters and the Air Medal with four clusters.

Rimini Evacuation Reported

Rome, May 20 (AP)—The Italian Ansa news agency said today that Allied authorities had ordered the evacuation of 25,000 residents of the coastal zone around Rimini, Adriatic port on Italy's east shore. Allied headquarters had no immediate confirmation of the report.

Milan Press Demands Government Revamping

Rome, May 20 (AP)—Milan newspapers today demanded immediate action on the promised reorganization of the Italian Government.

Milan's Socialist party newspaper Italian Libera called for a naw government "immediately, within two or three days, not within three months."

Members of Premier Ivanoe Bonomi's Cabinet are touring northern Italy, and discussions may begin this week toward the reorganization, which Bonomi said last year would take place as soon as all Italy was cleared of Germans.

Border Residents Said To Seek French Status

Milan, Italy, May 20 (AP)—French Government circles at Paris reported yesterday that the mixed French-Italian population in some of the occupied Italian border regions had "given voluntary manifestations" of a desire for French citizenship.

Approximately 100,000 residents of the rich Val d'Aosta area speak a French patois and French Alpinists were reported encouraging a plebiscite to transfer the region to France by offering favorable monetary exchange rates and tax exemption promises.

Italians sought to counter the movement with promises of greater autonomy for the region.

POPE LAUDS SPORT, WARNS OF EXCESS

VATICAN CITY, May 20 — (AP) Pope Pius XII declared today that sport based on fair play "elevates the spirit above small-mindedness, dishonesty and trickery," but he cautioned against participation to excess.

Speaking to thousands of Italian athletes gathered in the courtyard of St. Damaso, the Pontiff said:

"What would be the use of physical courage and force of character if Christians only exploited them for the worldly ends of winning a cup or giving themselves the airs of supermen?

"What would be the use of all this if they did not find within themselves—should this prove necessary—sufficient resolve to sleep a half hour less, or be late for training, rather than go without assisting at mass on Sundays?"

Declaring that athletes must be ready to subordinate everything to their duty as Christians, the Pope added:

"Many youths dedicate all their interest and activity to sport, and pay only slight attention to the demands of their studies and professions. Home for them only represents a hotel where they stay as strangers."

GERMANS FAIL TO LEAVE OSLO

Norwegians Complain Of Armed Men Staying In Capital

Oslo, May 20 (AP)—Norwegian Government and Allied military officials have received bitter complaints from Oslo citizens against the presence of armed Germans in the capital one week after the date selected for their departure to concentration areas.

There are 40,000 Germans in Norway and they have been treated with kid gloves so as not to incite any disturbances, but the stern discipline of the Norwegian home front has been put under a serious strain.

Farmers Report Demands

Farmers in the Oslo area are furious. They reported that fully armed Germans are visiting their homes and demanding fresh vegetables and other foods.

According to the agreement, all Germans should have evacuated Oslo and the immediate area on midnight May 12. Every day horse-drawn German caravans leave the city, but many Germans still remain.

In Oslo itself and its suburbs, prominent citizens are growing more and more impatient as German officers remain in the spacious homes which they took over during the occupation.

Hangs Norwegian Flags

One prominent resident, who had expected to be back in his German-occupied home by Norwegian independence day, May 17, found six German officers still there.

"Nevertheless," he said, "I hung out Norwegian flags around the borders of my estate. I suppose they'll destroy my furniture in retaliation now."

"Here we are free," he added, "and yet the Germans are still in my home and using my radio that I have not listened to in three years."

Greece Would Try German General

Athens, May 20 (AP)—The Greek Government prepared today to ask for the surrender as a war prisoner of the German general who was in command of the Nazi troops which conquered Greece in 1941—Field Marshal Siegmund Wilhelm List. He has been captured by American troops.

List's name headed a slate of Germans and Italians who ruled Greece in her darkest days. The names will be presented to the inter-Allied commission in London as war criminals who, in the Greek view, should be tried in Greece.

Italians Also On List

Others named included Lieut. Gen. Hans Speidel, Nazi military governor in southern Greece; Waldemar Andrae, military governor in Crete; SS generals Stroop, Simana and Dietrich.

Three Italian generals—Geloso, Vecchiarelli and Megaldi—also appear on the list.

Additional lists of German, Italian and Bulgarian war criminals will be prepared, Government officials added. These men will be accused of responsibility in the massacre of Greeks. A black paper containing war cirmes data also is being prepared for publication.

German 1st Army Places Schoerner In Yank Custody

St. Johann, Austria, May 20 (AP)—The German 1st Army today turned over to the American 42d Division Field Marshal Ferdinand Schoerner, commander of the Nazi troops who resisted the Red Army in Czechoslovakia after Germany's unconditional surrender.

Schoerner flew out of Czechoslovakia on May 8, deserting his troops in the field, and sought refuge with the German 1st Army group.

Schoerner had abandoned his uniform and donned a Tyrolean native costume as a disguise in an effort to elude capture. He thought he had reached safety when he got to a German army command post, but the soldiers there turned him over to the Americans.

He said he would have committed suicide if he had possessed a pistol.

Meanwhile, the hunt for Heinrich Himmler continued in southern Austria. An armored automobile identified as belonging to the former Gestapo chieftain was found near Neukirchen, south of Kitzbuhel. It was there Arthur Greiser, former Nazi overlord of Poznan, and SS Lieut. Gen. Heinz Reinefarth, Nazi defender of Kuestrin, were captured May 17.

Renegade Baillie-Stewart Caught By Yanks In Austria

With U.S. 3d Army in Austria, May 20 (AP)—Norman Baillie-Stewart, cashiered lieutenant in the Seaforth Highlanders who once broadcast Nazi propaganda to E from Hamburg, has been take custody by the United States 8 Infantry.

The Americans found the renegade Briton in a luxurious mountain hideout at Alt Aussee, Austria.

He possibly would have escaped detection, authorities said, had he not offered his services as an interpreter to the military government.

Known As "Officer In Tower"

Baillie-Stewart became known as "the officer in the tower" in 1933 when his identity was hidden by English authorities. Subsequently he was court-martialed on a charge of selling information to a German agent for 50 pounds, sentenced to five years' imprisonment and dishonorably discharged.

The British secret service said that after Baillie-Stewart was liberated in 1937 he first worked for an Austrian tourist agency, applied for Austrian citizenship and smuggled arms into Austria for the Germans.

Called Up With Volkssturm

After Hitler's Anschluss, Baillie-Stewart automatically became a German citizen and started his radio work. He married a German girl.

His propaganda work gained him an army deferment, but late in 1944 he was repored fired for departing from his script, and was called for duty with the Volkssturm. Claiming a liver ailment and other disorders, Baillie-Stewart retired to the Alt Aussee Mountain estate of a Countess Platin, where he was found.

PRAGUE QUICK IN RECOVERY

Czech City Wildly Acclaims Return Of Benes

Prague, May 20 (AP)—Occasional gunfire rattles in Prague streets as Russians and Czechs ferret German soldiers from cellars and attics eleven days after liberation of this capital. Only two days ago an exchange of shots in a cemetery interrupted a burial.

Otherwise Prague is recovering rapidly from the five days during which unarmed Partisans grabbed guns and even tanks from startled Germans and held strategic parts of the city until the Russians arrived. It is officially estimated 1,900 Partisans were killed. Many others are missing.

Tear Down Barricades

Prague turned out en masse to help tear down the barricades and clean the city for the dramatic return of President Eduard Benes May 15 after six years of exile. The job was too big for the thousands of German war prisoners and collaborators, including a Czechoslovak movie actress who was forced to sweep the street in a fur coat once given her by Gauleiter Konrad Henlein.

Prague went wild over Benes. He drove through the streets in an open car, although German snipers were still about. The President stopped in the center of the city where four German bombers, in a senseless last-fling, raid had destroyed nearly a dozen buildings, including the Fourteenth Century town hall, whose famous clock telling the hour, day, month and year, was a "must" on tourist lists for years.

Jews' Ration For Germans

Several thousand German residents of Prague, who got fat during the six years of occupation, now exist on the food ration formerly allotted Jews. Food in Prague generally is skimpy due to transportation difficulties, but there are no great shortages. Water, gas, electricity and telephones were available even during the Partisan revolt. The tramways resumed operations when the barricades were removed.

The Partisans started their revolt at noon May 5 with virtually no weapons, but soon seized enough to force the Germans to hand over additional armaments in large quantities.

One girl Partisan who seized a German bazooka destroyed three German tanks. And so it went.

Hearing the Partisans' radio pleas for assistance, the White Russian General Vlasov, who had been fighting for the Germans, came into the city in an effort to save part of his skin by helping out. The Partisans, of course, accepted his help.

Danes Hold Quisling Aide

Copenhagen, May 20 (AP)—Danish police today arrested Finn Storen, former Norwegian vice foreign minister and aide of Vidkun Quisling. Storen said he came to Denmark at Quisling's orders to try to arrange a loan from the Danish Government to repatriate Norwegians from Germany.

Writers Inspect Spain's Prison Camp

Madrid, May 20 (AP)—An investigation of Spain's Nanclares de la Oca prison camp was made Friday by nine foreign newspaper men at the request of the Spanish Ministry of Interior.

The investigation was invited after Interior Minister Blas Perez issued a formal denial of an Associated Press dispatch dealing with conditions in the camp, terming it "an accumulation of falsehoods and absurdities."

After a nine-hour investigation, during which the correspondents talked to many prisoners, they found nothing to show any foreigners had died as result of treatment they had received. Many prisoners said, however, that Spaniards had died as result of their treatment.

Original Charge Stands

However, conditions in the camp were such that the original statement that "floggings, insufficient food, forced labor and Fascist salutes are still the order of the day" can be repeated.

Prisoners who had been in the camp more than a year reported conditions had improved considerably recently, and prison officials said completion of additional barracks, showers and washrooms would further improve conditions resulting largely from overcrowding.

The newspaper men talked, individually or collectively, with more than 30 foreigners among 94 in Nanclares. They are combined with 710 petty thieves and similar malefactors, about 30 perverts, 15 social prisoners, and 100 black-market operators. Officials said Nanclares contained no Spanish political prisoners.

Franco Talks Of Unity

Valladolid, Spain, May 20 (AP)—Generalissimo Franco declared today that national unity had spared Spain the "horrors and conflagration" of the war and enabled the country "to face the future calmly and firmly."

Scuttling Probed In U-Boat Sinking

Nazare, Portugal, May 20 (AP)—A German U-boat, abandoned by its crew, sank off shore here early today and Portuguese naval authorities launched an investigation to determine whether it had been scuttled.

The Portuguese report to Allied representatives is scheduled to be made tomorrow. Meanwhile, the American naval attaché, Commander Kenneth Demarest, conferred with Portuguese authorities here on the incident.

The Nazare correspondent for the newspaper Diario Lisboa said the submarine, U-963 flashed distress signals at 3 A.M. and when a lifeboat went out to the craft its captain said his ship was full of water and asked for assistance.

The Portuguese ordered the U-boat to proceed to the nearest port, the correspondent said, but the commander and crew abandoned ship in rubber boats. The Portuguese towed the U-boat a short distance before it sank. The German crew and officers were interned.

German surrend[illegible] terms imposed by the Allie[illegible]ctly forbid the scuttling of a[illegible]s.

JAP CONVOY SUNK IN PHILIPPINES

Marine Bomber Sinks Five Ships Running Blockade to Formosa.

MANILA, Monday, May 21. — (AP) A Japanese effort to run five ships through the American air-sea blockade to Formosa failed Saturday when a Philippine-based Marine bomber sank the entire convoy, about 17,000 tons of shipping in all, in 75 minutes.

The greatest ship, of more than 5,500 tons, apparently was carrying troops, judging from the number of life rafts afloat. She sank when the Seventh Fleet plane strafed her gasoline deck cargo. The other ships were sent to the bottom with bombs and strafing guns.

This was reported today by Gen. Douglas MacArthur, whose communique told of further intense fighting on several Philippines fronts and of 369,818 Japanese killed and captured in the seven-month Philippine campaign, 14,488 in the last two weeks.

The 24th Division on southeastern Mindanao pushed two miles up the coast beyond contested Sasa airdrome, second largest of six airfields in the Davao area, and entered Panacan town. The Yanks have two prongs around the airdrome.

Stiff Fight Continues

A stiff battle between 24th Division elements and last-stand Japanese northwest of Davao city entered its third week with no sign of a major enemy collapse. One company of the 24th beat off four counterattacks by a single enemy platoon in one night.

The 31st Division in the interior of Mindanao pushed three miles north along the central highway to within 11 miles of Malabalay, capital of Bukidnon province.

43rd Pushes Ahead

The 43rd Division, captor of Ipo dam east of Manila on Luzon island Thusday, has opened the highway from Novaliches to the dam, which supplies one-third of Manila's water needs.

Filipino guerrilla units have landed at Dinahican point six miles from Infanta, on the Luzon east central coast, and pushed seven miles northward in a move to catch the Japanese from the rear.

American bombers pounded Formosa air bases, industrial plants and communication lines with 286 tons of explosives and in low level sweeps destroyed much rolling stock. Two bombers were lost in the attacks.

Australians continued the mopup of Japanese troops on Tarakan island, Dutch Borneo, while heavy and medium bombers blasted Nipponese installations at Kudat, Sibu and Bintulu on Borneo.

Allied planes swept the coasts of China and French Indo-China, hitting three vessels off Hongkong, starting fires in the Nanking area and pounding airdromes at Canton.

Australian captors of Wewak, on northeastern New Guinea, engaged Japanese troops at the edge of the Boram airfield and cleared Brandi plantation, three and one-half miles to the east.

Sharpshooter Dismayed As He 'Misses' 3 Times

Manila, May 20 (AP)—Tech. Sergt. Mike Hawn comes from Barbourville, Ky., the State famed for the accuracy of its squirrel gun toters.

So Mike was distressed when he took a pot shot at a Japanese head which appeared from a cave in the Balete Pass sector of northern Luzon only to see a Jap head reappear.

Three times he saw the head appear; three times he shot.

Hawn crawled forward wondering if his eye had lost its fine shooting edge.

SUPPLY MOVE ACCENTUATED

Emphasis Put On That Phase In Burma-China Area

Calcutta, May 20 (AP)—American operations in the Burma-India theater were entering a new phase today, with emphasis on delivery of supplies to China and diminishing combat efforts by United States troops.

Signalizing the change was the announcement of the consolidation of the headquarters of the India-Burma theater and the headquarters of the Services of Supply. Both will be under the command of Lieut. Gen. Dan I. Sultan, American commander in chief in the theater.

Maj. Gen. William E. R. Covell, Service of Supply commander, is returning to the United States for a new and important assignment, it was announced. The consolidation move, which has been under way for several weeks, is designed to set up a more efficient administrative unit and release personnel needed urgently elsewhere.

Prime Objective Of U.S.

"Our most important mission will continue to be the giving of maximum support to China," Sultan declared. "Every vehicle every ton of supplies delivered to China will aid in licking the Japs."

The increasing emphasis on movement of supplies is a logical result of the opening of the Burma road. That was the prime objective of United States ground fighters in this area from the beginning.

It is unlikely that either Chinese or American troops will be used again for combat in Burma. They have been inactive the last six weeks, while the British 14th Army carried the weight of the smashing Rangoon drive.

Movement Is Continuous

India and Burma remain vital transit routes for shipment of supplies to China, on the ground, in the air and by pipeline. Calcutta is the principal supply port for China. It is likely to remain so, even with Rangoon in Allied hands. Calcutta is organized and functioning as a supply fount, while considerable renovations must take place in Rangoon before it can approach the value of Calcutta.

Covell assumed command of the Services of Supply in the India-Burma theater in 1943. Since then Calcutta has become one of the most efficient ports in the American Supply Service, the pipeline has been extended into Burma and the Stilwell road has been completed.

Movement of supply to China is continuous, and the already huge totals are mounting every month.

CHINESE TAKE SECOND PORT

200 Japs Mowed Down Trying Stand At Diongloh

Chungking, May 20 (AP)—A second east coast port has been seized by Chinese troops in pursuit of Japanese fleeing by land and sea from the vital Foochow area, the high command announced today.

Approximately 200 enemy troops who tried to make a stand were mowed down as the Chinese stormed yesterday into Diongloh, a smaller Min River port 15 miles southeast of Foochow, the announcement said.

The Chinese drove on 3 miles east and also were heading northeast in an attempt to pin the Japanese against the sea.

Across the Min River other Chinese forces broke Japanese resistance and were nearing Mamoi, 8 miles east of Foochow and one of a half dozen points in the area which the enemy had fortified against an American invasion.

No Claim On Decisiveness

These latest successes tended to bolster rumors in Chungking that the Japanese were pulling out of numerous coastal positions all the way from Hangchow Bay, 650 miles southwestward, to Hong Kong, fearing they would be turned into pockets of death with an American landing.

The report came close on the heels of a high-command claim that a second Japanese offensive in inner China within a month had been hurled back after a four-day battle some 400 miles northeast of Chungking.

The high command made no claim that the battle was as decisive as that which routed the Japanese assault force which tried to seize the United States airbase at Chihkiang, 250 miles southeast of the capital.

Japs Rush Up Reserves

But from May 15 to May 18, its announcement said, the battle swayed west of the enemy's southern Honan province base of Hsihsiakow, and when it was over the Japanese fled, abandoning great stores of supplies.

The objective of this drive was not given, although Hsihsiakow long has been considered a likely base from which the enemy might drive into Shensi province or swing southward on Chungking itself.

But the Japanese were smarting from the earlier destruction of the 110th Division, and so they rushed up reinforcements from Hsihsiakow and struck behind a barrage of 4,000 shells, the Chinese said.

The Chinese were driven from two heights, but with the help of close-support warplanes they turned the tide, recaptured the heights in counterattacks, and the enemy turned east in retreat.

Dead Burned On Field

There was no time for the Japanese to pick up their stores of supplies, and even their dead, estimated at 1,500, were burned on the battlefield.

The retreat of the Japanese from the lost battle of Chihkiang far to the south continued, and it appeared they were trying to regroup along the east bank of the Tzu River just west of their Hunan province base of Shaoyang (Paoching), from which the offensive was launched.

The Chinese reported the Japanese had abandoned attempts to hold road blocks along the main highway from Chihkiang to Shaoyang between Tungkow and Taohwaping, 43 and 22 miles, respectively, west of Shaoyang.

U.S. Airbase Established

An American communiqué said medium bombers struck Siangtan, on the Siang River back of the enemy's Hunan lines, and attacked troops cut off west of Shaoyang.

Headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of United States forces in the China theater, disclosed that an American airbase had been established at Kweiyang, capital of Kweichow province 200 miles south of Chungking.

This key city on the military supply highway leading up from Kunming to Chungking was the objective of a Japanese invasion of Kweichow last year which reached within 65 miles of the city before it was turned back.

CHUNGKING SEIZES TWO IN GOLD DEAL

Others Also Will Face Charges in 'Scandal' Connected With the U. S. Bullion Loan

CHUNGKING, China, May 20 (AP).—Two junior officials of Central Trust, the Chinese Government banking agency that early in the war bought arms for Chinese armies, were under arrest today in connection with Chungking's multi-million-dollar "gold scandal." [This is the first dispatch from Chungking on the scandal, disclosed in Washington Friday. Some American-lent gold was involved.]

The two, and others not yet formally charged, are alleged to have bought gold certificates knowing the Government was going to increase the official price of gold from 20,000 Chinese dollars to 35,000 an ounce, effective the evening of March 28. On that day there was a rush for gold certificates that could be exchanged in six months for gold bullion. There had been a leakage of the Government's plan and anyone "in the know" could profit 15,000 Chinese dollars an ounce overnight.

There has been much agitation for cancellation of all suspicious transactions effected March 28 and for confiscation of purchase moneys involved. Many purchasers, however, bought through dummy operators and tracing the transactions would be difficult.

The biggest individual purchase was reported to have been 20,000 ounces, permitting an overnight profit of 30,000,000 Chinese dollars or $60,000 (American) at the black-market rate of 500 Chinese dollars to $1 (American).

Despite Government efforts to check China's runaway prices, some commodities in Chungking today cost more than 10,000 times the pre-war level. The Chungking retail price index April 30 was 1,250 times the figure before war broke out in July, 1937.

A pound of badly refined sugar, which used to cost 10 Chinese cents, now brings $1,100, Chinese. Calculated at the official exchange rate of $20, Chinese, to one American dollar, the cost would be $55, American, a pound. At the unofficiate rate of $600 to $1,000, Chinese, to one American dollar, the cost in American money is more than $1.80 a pound.

Chungking Prices Rise 1,250 Times

Chungking, May 20 (AP)—Despite Government efforts to check China's runaway prices, some commodities in Chungking today cost over 10,000 times the prewar level.

The Chungking retail price index April 30 was, by Government acknowledgement, 1,250 times the level before war broke out in July, 1937.

A pound of badly refined sugar, which used to cost 10 Chinese cents, now brings 1,100 Chinese dollars. Calculated at the official exchange rate of 20 Chinese dollars to 1 American dollar, the cost would be 55 American dollars a pound. At the unofficial rate of 600 to 1,000 Chinese dollars to 1 American dollar the cost in American money would be more than $1.80 a pound.

A good American shirt costs 35,000 Chinese dollars; an orange 200; a refrigerator 1,000,000 or more and a lipstick 10,000.

China to Get Oil Drills

Refining Equipment Also on Way From U. S. to Speed Production

KUNMING, China, May 20 (AP). — Installation of a moderate amount of refining equipment would boost considerably the petroleum production of northwest China, Lieutenant Colonel Charles H. Andrews, an American Army oil expert, said today.

His report followed a Washington announcement by the Petroleum Administration that both well drilling and refining equipment were en route to China. Some equipment has been in India for several months, awaiting reshipment.

Shell Lands Against Hip Of Yank But It's A Dud

With Sixth Marine Division, Okinawa, May 20 (AP)—First Lieut. Arthur M. Rawes, 23, Philadelphia, nearly caught a Japanese artillery shell on his hip pocket. It was a dud.

Rawes, an air spotter for the 6th Marine Division, had scaled a hill to take a look at the Japanese line and was on his way down when an artillery shell landed 50 feet ahead of him. He heard another one whistling and jumped behind a two-foot embankment.

The next thing he knew he was covered with dirt and felt something pressing against his thigh.

Japanese Shipping Hard Hit Along Korean Coast

Okinawa, May 18 [AP—Delayed]—Hunting was good along the Korean coast and Privateers, hard-hitting Navy air units, sank or damaged hundreds of tons of Japanese shipping and successfully fought off enemy air attacks.

Shortly before noon today bombers piloted by Navy Lieutenant Floyd F. Hewitt, Audubon, N.J., and Lieut. (jg) George Serbin, Bessemer, Mich., attacked a 4,000-ton freighter-transport. Hewitt dropped one bomb amidship and another on the bridge. Serbin made three strafing runs, and when the men left the ship was listing.

An hour later the Privateer of Lieut. Howard N. Turner, Jr., Cambridge, Mass., damaged a small oiler, and an hour after that Lieut. Oscar F. Braddock, of Jacksonville, Fla., sank a small oiler with two direct hits. Other Japanese ships were damaged.

Three Japanese planes attacked Turner and Braddock, but they escaped without injury after damaging one of the enemy attackers.

What? No Brandy! Oh, Well, He Still Has Size 11 Brogans

MAY 21 1945

MAC DONALD

Aboard a Fast Cruiser Off Ryukyu, May, 16 [AP—Delayed]—Lieut. Com. Edward W. (Red) Hessel, leader of a carrier fighter squadron, is glad that he wears size 11 brogans.

When he was shot down and landed in the water close to a Japanese island he used his shoes to bail out his life raft until a rescue plane picked him up.

Hessel, whose wife, Anne, lives at Chesterfield, Va., told this story:

"My plane was hit by 25 ack-ack while I was flying over heavily defended Minami Daito in the Ryukyus. I didn't know I had been hit until the section leader radioed that my plane was smoking. Then my oil pressure dropped to zero.

Gets Out Of Plane In Hurry

"I dropped my belly tank and prepared to make a water landing. My section leader, Lieut. (jg) Jerry M. Huffman, of Kansas City, Mo., coached me in riding my tail, reminding me to put the flaps down, lock my chest strap, and empty the guns to lighten the plane —things I might have forgotten in the excitement.

"I hit water a mile and a half offshore and landed pretty easy. The plane floated for about 30 seconds, which was plenty of time to get out if you are in a hurry. I climbed out on a wing as the plane began to settle. I jumped into the water and inflated the life raft. Planes kept circling overhead, marking my position. I waved to them to show them I was O.K. That's when I discovered size elevens are good bailers. I bailed for 30 minutes until a Kingfisher rescue seaplane landed and taxied over to me.

No Brandy There

"The rescue pilot, Lieut. A. B. Cendella, Jr., of Milford, Mass., shouted to me to climb up on a pontoon. I scrambled into the cockpit and found a blanket, but no brandy which I had heard they were supposed to have in rescue planes.

"Later, when I was safe aboard ship I still didn't get any brandy which rescued pilots are supposed to get for medicinal purposes. As a matter of fact, I haven't seen any of that brandy yet."

Japanese Radio Reports Task Force Nearing Kyushu

Allies Silent on Hint of New Sea Blow; Superforts Raid Tokyo.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20—(AP) Japanese broadcasts today said an Allied task force appeared to be "attempting" to approach Kyushu, southernmost of Nippon's home islands, and that Tokyo area airfields were raided this morning by about 80 American Superforts.

There was no Allied confirmation of the statements, heard by the FCC.

The Japanese-controlled radio at Hsinking, China, said squadrons of B-29s hit airfields in the Kanto district, in which Tokyo metropolis is located, and that results were "still under investigation."

Tokyo radio told of other American air assaults on Nanking, capital of the pupped Chinese government; on Formosa and shipping off southern Korea. One report said 60 Philippine-based bombers hit northern Formosa about noon yesterday. Another based on a Domei, Japanese news agency, dispatch said 160 bombers made the attack.

Premier Kantaro Sukuki exhorted a conference of Japanese officials of Asia to devise measures to speedily strengthen the "material phase of the war effort" in Nipponese-occupied China, Manchuria and Korea.

Japan desires "nothing but the uprooting of disturbing elements in East Asia and establishment of a new order of Great East Asia on the basis of moral principles," said the premier, as quoted in a Domei report.

Suzuki's plea apparently was aimed at increasing the war production of the occupied areas of the Asian continent, to help fill gaps torn in Nippon's production line by intensified American air attacks.

Fear Sea Attack

The Tokyo radio warning to the Nipponese that an Allied task force "again is on the prowl" of Kyushu was a sequel to last Friday's enemy broadcast which quoted "reports" that a powerful American fleet had left the Marianas last Sunday or Monday.

The only references in recent American communiques to naval units in the vicinity of Japan reported a U. S. carrier planes strike in the northern Ryukyus May 17 and 18, and Navy search plane sweeps along the south coast of Honusu (Tokyo's) island March 16, 18 and 19.

In these attacks shipping, airfields and grounded Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged, and a train was wrecked on the Honshu coast.

Domei made unconfirmed claims that Japanese air units sank five Allied submarines in the Malacca straits and off Lombok island, east of Bali in the Netherlands East Indies, during a 10-day period from May 10.

GOODS PLANNED FOR CIVILIANS

Wide Variety Of Supplies To Be Made After July 1

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Start of a new flow of peacetime goods for machine-minded America chiefly awaits release of the necessary metals, promised for July 1 by the War Production Board.

A major part of the country's manufacturing industries hold Government clearance to resume production of many items important to the American standard of living. The factories, for the most part, are waiting only for arrival of the date upon which WPB has promised a pool of uncontrolled steel, copper and aluminum.

Some notable gaps still appear in the industrial lineup—automobiles, stoves, radios and a few other elements prominent in the peacetime pattern of life.

Some Of Biggest To Start

But WPB has indicated its willingness to let even some of the biggest metal users—automobiles and refrigerators, for example—get started in the last half of the year.

The motor makers want to build 200,000 passenger cars in 1946 and WPB calls this a "pretty good approach," although unable to guarantee materials and unwilling so far to set a starting date. But refrigerators are so badly needed that WPB will grant priority help to get 500,000 built between July and December—one third the prewar production rate.

For the industries already released, ranging from airliners and typewriters to juke boxes and children's toys, the production ceiling will be limited after July 1 only by the amount of materials left over from munitions production for the Japanese war.

Sights Set Higher

Most of them have set their ultimate production sights higher than in any peacetime year. The refrigerator industry hopes to hit a rate of $370,000,000 annually against $280,000,000 in peak 1941, but calculates it will take twelve months to get there. Other industries have set similar lofty targets, counting on pentup consumer demand for new records in employment and sales.

Exactly 136 orders and regulations, affecting at least as many different industries, have been revoked by WPB. The agency began dropping controls a few days before V-E day and will shed more than 200 in all before slowing down.

When WPB wiped off its books the order "M-126" last week, it gave the green light—as of July 1— for the use of iron and steel in 1,200 common civilian products previously denied those metals.

Other Items Approved

Officially, the lid is off for typewriters and alarm clocks; for cameras and projectors; for automatic phonographs, amusement and gaming machines, for house trailers, streetcars, busses, fire engines, powercycles and light aircraft.

For sportsmen, there again will be shotguns, ammunition and golf clubs.

For housekeepers there are forthcoming electric lamps, cutlery, telephone, oil burners, galvanized ware, bath tubs and pie plates.

For builders there will be floor and wall furnaces, tools, hot water tanks, coal stokers, furnaces, radiators, various structural steel products; prewar quality pipe fittings, and metal windows.

Supplies For Business

Business will get office machinery and supplies, metal signs, teletype and telegraph installations, telephone switchboards, scales and balances, air conditioning and refrigerating equipment.

Many industries will get new equipment for manufacturing.

In some cases the relaxation did not involve the revocation of orders. Thus, WPB moved to increase farm machinery output simply by removing the quota limitations which formerly restricted output of farm implement firms.

ASK HOUSE VOTE IN DISPUTE OVER NEWS CONFIDENCE

WASHINGTON, May 20. — (AP) A definite Congressional declaration that a reporter should not be compelled to violate a news confidence was advocated today by Representative Wolcott (R-Mich) as the House faced a showdown on the issue.

"It generally has been taken for granted that a newspaper man should not be required to violate a confidence placed in him," Wolcott said in an interview. "But now that the question has been raised it should be settled, by legislation if necessary."

Wolcott referred to the controversy growing out of the House Veterans' committee decision last Friday to start contempt proceedings against Albert Deutsch, reporter for the New York newspaper PM, for refusing to disclose the names of Veterans Administration officials who gave him information used in articles criticising the veterans' medical program.

Deutsch had been subpoenaed and sworn as a witness in the committee's investigation of the Veterans Administration.

That the committee had no intention of backing down in its 13 to 5 decision to cite him for contempt was indicated by Chairman Rankin (D-Miss). Some committeemen, however, said they will not be surprised if the committee reverses itself when it meets again Tuesday.

"When witnesses come before the committee they are sworn to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," Rankin said. "When one flatly refuses to answer material questions, there is only one course left to use and that is to cite him for contempt."

Rankin said the committee recommendation that Deutsch be cited to the district attorney's office for punishment probably would be submitted to the House Tuesday. If the House backs up the committee, the case will be a matter for the district court to handle, but if it refuses, the case will end there.

Never before has the House been called upon to decide a contempt case involving what Deutsch called the "professional ethics of news reporting." It frequently has cited other witnesses who have refused to give information for various reasons.

Representative Monroney (D-Okla), a former newspaperman, commented, "I have always believed that a reporter has the same duty to protect his confidential news sources that a doctor or a lawyer has to protect confidences given professionally."

'MANAGER' URGED FOR U. S. EMPLOYES

WASHINGTON, May 20— (AP) President Truman was reported today to be "very interested" in a plan to name a "general manager" over all Federal employes.

The proposed special assistant to the President would be charged specifically with achieving economy and efficiency in the government's huge civil establishment.

The "general manager" would have authority to overrule regular agency heads on methods concerning procedure of operation and handling of personnel, but would not determine policy.

The plan was presented to Mr. Truman by Chairman Ramspeck (D-Ga.) of the House Civil Service committee, who has specialized for several years in Federal employment problems. He has authored much of the present civil service legislation.

"The President is seriously considering the proposal and is very interested in it," Ramspeck told a reporter.

"It fits in with his desire for better management policies in government.

"Mr. Truman, from his experience as a senator, recognizes the need for improving the operation of the units under the Executive department."

Ramspeck said the President could name the "general manager" under present legislation, by designating him as a special assistant. This would carry a $10,000 yearly salary. If a larger figure was desired Congress would have to act, however.

Ramspeck said one of the chief duties of the suggested new official would be to organize the enormous paper work handled by all bureaus.

"Helping untangle the red tape in this field alone would save the taxpayers millions each year," the Georgian declared.

"What we need is a man with broad experience in personnel and business management to step in and apply good common sense methods to operation of the Federal establishment," Ramspeck commented.

"We are operating the biggest business in the world, but we haven't kept pace with improvements and changes made by private enterprise."

DROUGHTS HIT FOUR NATIONS

Argentina, Brazil, Australia, South Africa Exports Cut

Washington, May 20 (AP)—The Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations reported today that droughts have materially reduced the output of food in the Southern Hemisphere just at the time of greatest need in liberated Europe.

A substantial reduction in production was reported for such exportating areas as Argentina, Brazil, Australia and South Africa. Europe normally takes the bulk of the exportable surplus of the Southern Hemisphere.

"Present indications are that drought conditions will tend to reduce Southern Hemisphere exports of meats and dairy products from the high levels of recent years," the office said in a report on Southern Hemisphere production of the past season.

Grain Supplies Cut

Grain supplies also have been reduced, particularly wheat and flour from Australia and wheat and live stock feed grains from Argentina.

The report said Australia's reduced output has made necessary a revision of Allied supply programs in the Pacific theater of war. Allied leaders had hoped to obtain considerable food support from Australia.

Flaxseed Crop Small

A lack of fuel in Argentina has necessitated, the office said, heavy burning of agricultural surpluses, such as corn, oilseeds and protein meals, which reduced or eliminated the carry-over surpluses in that country at a time of smaller crops and urgent foreign needs. Argentina still has a considerable reserve of wheat available for export, however.

Argentine production of flaxseed—an important source of vegetable oil needed for food and industrial uses—was the smallest since 1918, only about half the usual outturn. The corn crop was only a third that of the previous season. Cotton, rye, barley and rice also suffered.

Argentina's great cattle industry has been adversely affected.

Conditions in Brazil and Uruguay were similarly affected, the report said.

In the Union of South Africa, the drought was said to have produced a serious shortage of grains.

meat and dairy products. The meat shortage, which has been chronic for the past three years, has been intensified, the report said, while the shortage of grains and butter has become acute.

SOUTH IS ELATED OVER PARITY ON FREIGHT CHARGES

Interstate Commerce Commission Ruling Held Aid to Industries There.

EFFECTIVE AUG. 30

Southern Senators Hail Decision; Georgia to Press Fight on Railroads.

WASHINGTON, May 20 — (AP) The South's political leaders were jubilant today over the successful end of their long fight for "parity" in the class rates which are the base frame work of the freight rate structure.

They viewed a far-reaching Interstate Commerce commission decision as removing "a domestic tariff wall" against the South and the West, and predicted it would pave the way for greater industrial development. Spokesmen for those areas long have contended that higher class rates have put their manufacturing enterprises at a disadvantage in competition with the East.

Winding up an investigation which it launched in July, 1939, the ICC yesterday ordered a complete overhauling of the present jig-saw "class" rate structure and pending this:

1—A 10 per cent rate reduction in all parts of the country except in the East and the Far West, effective Aug. 30.

2—A 10 per cent rate increase in the East, effective at the same time.

Rates will remain unchanged west of the Rocky Mountains, where no petition for revision was filed.

Covers Far West

However, the commission also ordered nationwide application, covering the Far West too, of a uniform classification system, so that an article will fall in the same rate category no matter where it is shipped. Under the present set-up, for instance, a typewriter might fall in a high-rate class in one part of the country, a lower and less costly rate in another section, and still a third rate if it moved from one territory to the other.

The commission conceded this change will be a long and tedious task, possibly taking years.

The temporary rate adjustment, the ICC said, will greatly reduce the difference in the levels of the class rates in the various territories, and bring to a minimum the "undue prejudice" which it found to exist.

When the job is finally done, much of the present complexity will be removed from the class rate structure, though there still will be numerous exceptions.

In general the move is toward eventual uniform freight rates based on mileage.

Called 'Great Victory'

What it all means in dollars and cents no one could say today, but the South's spokesmen called it a "great victory."

Only class rates which from the standpoint of traffic tonnage are the least important of the different kinds of rates, were involved in the proceeding.

The great preponderance of all freight moves on commodity rates. grain and coal are examples. These are specially established charges for particular materials or articles, or related groups, for a specified haul.

In addition to class and commodity rates, there are "exception rates." Truck competition in recent years has accelerated the establishment of exception and commodity rates, even on less-than-carloads.

The ICC made a study of all carload traffic transported in Sept. 23, 1942, and found that 4.1 per cent moved on class rates, 10.7 on exception rates, and 85.2 on commodity rates.

Another study, covering the year 1941, showed that less-carload traffic in official (east) territory accounted for $150,263,282 in revenue, $55,899,927 in the southern region, and $100,678,278 in the western territory.

The commission said, however, that it could not be assumed all this traffic moved on class rates "because much less-carload traffic moves on rates other than class rates, particularly in southern territory."

But assuming that this traffic moved on class rates, 10 per cent lower rates would have reduced the south's freight bill by $5,589,992, the western district's bill by $10,607,827, while a 10 per cent increase would have boosted the east's bill by $15,026,328.

See Little Difference

Cost studies, the ICC said, show "little significant difference in the cost of furnishing transportation in the south as compared with the east. Railroads, and eastern interests, have agreed that on a ton-mile basis it costs more to haul freight in less populous areas.

The Southern Governors' Conference and other Southern proponents of class rate uniformity argued that the Southern class rate structure has retarded industrial development in that area; that whatever development has occurred has been largely in primary industries, and that rate parity with the east is essential to stimulate greater industrial development in the south.

Eastern interests have contended the south already has an advantage in certain commodity rates.

While the Mountain-Pacific territory was not directly involved in the lengthy hearings, the ICC said establishment of uniform classifications "will necessarily make changes in the measure of the class rates on certain articles within, and to and from, Mountain-Pacific territory."

The railroads opposed complete classification uniformity as "impracticable." They argued that commercial conditions would be disturbed by precipitate changes and that their revenues would be seriously affected.

The ICC proceeding is completely apart from a suit filed in the Supreme court by Gov. Ellis Arnall of Georgie against the railroads, charging monopolistic tactics in the fixing of rates.

Arnall said in advance of the ICC decision that the court action would be pressed "to complete the job of freeing the transportation system of America."

Here is how some of the southern leaders reacted to the ICC decision:

Senator Johnston (D.-S. C.): "I am elated."

Senator Bankhead (D.Ala.): "It will help to equalize commercial opportunity throughout the United States."

Senator Hill (D.-Ala.): "A great victory."

Senator Maybank (D.-S. C.): "One of the greatest steps forward that has happened to the south in many years."

Brunner, V.F.W. Head, To Visit War Theaters

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Jean A. Brunner, commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, will make an extended tour of military bases in the European and Mediterranean theaters.

Brunner will discuss with fighting men problems they will encounter in returning to civilian life.

Two More Identified On Captured U-Boat

Washington, May 20 (AP) — The Navy today made public the names of two additional German Luftwaffe officers aboard the huge Nazi submarine U-234 which surrendered last week after abandoning an attempted flight to Japan. They were Oberst Fritz Sandrat and Oberleutnant Karl Nieschling.

The 1,600-ton U-234 was brought into port at Portsmouth, N.H., yesterday under a heavily armed navy escort. The Navy previously had disclosed that Luftwaffe Generalleutnant Ulrich Kessler was aboard the craft.

The big submarine, fourth Nazi U-boat to seek a berth off Portsmouth in the last few days, surrendered in the North Atlantic about 500 miles east of Portsmouth. The Navy disclosed earlier that two Japanese committed hara-kiri aboard the U-234 shortly before it gave up. The vessel, in addition to the Nazi aviation officers, was carrying German air plans.

Senate Lilienthal Vote Put Off To Thursday

Washington, May 20 (AP)—The Senate vote on confirmation of David E. Lilienthal, present chairman, for a nine-year term on the Tennessee Valley Authority board of directors has been postponed again, until Thursday.

Originally slated to be taken up last Thursday, the vote had been put off until tomorrow because of the absence of Senator McKellar (D., Tenn.). The other Tennessee senator, Tom Stewart, has a Monday speaking engagement, necessitating a further delay.

Lilienthal's confirmation is considered certain, although he is opposed by both McKellar and Stewart. They issued a joint statement last week accusing him of attempting to use the TVA for his personal advancement and for the furtherance of controversial social experiments.

Air Transport Of Wounded Cited

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Army Air Forces transport craft have flown out of battle areas more than a million wounded or sick American and Allied soldiers since the early days of the war.

The AAF today said nearly 100 per cent of the battle casualties east of the Rhine in the final phase of the war were brought out by aircraft. More than 300,000 patients were evacuated from forward to rear areas by air in the period between D-day and V-E day.

The period covered by the report starts with the last four months in 1942 when mass air evacuation was initiated in the South Pacific in the Guadalcanal and New Guinea campaigns. In that period, approximately 18,000 men were flown out.

In 1943 AAF planes handled 155,527 patients; in 1944 there were 646,972. From January through April of this year, 312,982 wounded or sick men were brought out of the various world battle zones.

SABOTAGE WARNING IS GIVEN BY HOOVER

WASHINGTON, May 20 — (AP) Americans must remain alert for espionage and sabotage activities despite the end of the war in Europe, Director J. Edgar Hoover of the Federal Bureau of Investigation asserted today.

"The Japanese are now alone in the war with their backs to the wall, and they can be expected to become more desperate than ever," Hoover said.

"Now of all times we do not dare to relax our vigilance. All citizens are urged to report to the FBI or any other law enforcement agency suspicious activities which may concern national security."

Hoover disclosed that the FBI has handled more than 900,000 national security cases. Violations of sabotage statutes were found in 2,211 of 19,130 investigations, Hoover said, but in no instance was there any indication of enemy direction.

One Isle Vanishes, Another Appears

Washington, May 20 (AP)—The Navy reports a new island.

The hydrographic office announced the discovery of a new islet off the northwest coast of Colombia near the Gulf of Darien. Its appearance presumably was due to subterranean activity.

The Colombian gunboat Carabobo discovered an islet in the vicinity recently which was named Carabobo in honor of the discovering vessel.

When the discovery was reported to the hydrographic office, an investigation was made and it was found that Carabobo islet had again submerged but another had appeared closer inshore.

Patents Commissioner Conway P. Coe Resigns

Washington, May 20 (AP)—The resignation of Conway P. Cole as Commissioner of Patents for the Commerce Department, effective June 15, has been accepted by President Truman.

Coe, in his letter of resignation submitted last March, said that his Government work had entailed "many and serious personal sacrifices," and that he was desirous of returning to patent law.

FEPC COMPROMISE SEEN COLLAPSING

MAY 21 1945

Opposition Of Southern Senators Cause Of Trouble

Washington, May 20 (AP)—Efforts all but collapsed today to work out some compromise, acceptable to Southern senators, on legislation for a permanent postwar Fair Employment Practices Commission.

Senator Pepper (D., Fla.) still was pursuing the possibility, but Senator Ellender (D., La.) said he had given up.

Bill Before Committee

"I don't believe it will be possible to get together on anything acceptable," Ellender said. "The committee as a whole apparently doesn't want any bill without a full set of teeth in it."

The Education and Labor Committee has a bill by Senator Chavez (D., N.M.) and six others to create a permanent FEPC empowered to issue prohibitions against job discrimination because of race, creed, color, national origin, or ancestry. The commission could apply to Federal courts for enforcement of its orders.

Filibuster Threatened

A majority of the committee apparently was set to approve the measure at a meeting last Thursday but agreed to hold off a vote for a week while southern members, bitterly opposed, tried to work out something all could accept.

Ellender and Senator Johnston (D., S.C.) had served notice they would filibuster if the bill were brought to the Senate floor.

The present FEPC was created by an executive order from President Roosevelt which holds good only for the war's duration.

Posthumous Award To Sergt. Alvin Carey

Washington, May 20 (AP)—A doughboy who blasted out a German pillbox with grenades after he had been mortally wounded has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor posthumously, the War Department announced today.

The decoration—highest the nation can bestow—went to Staff Sergeant Alvin Carey, 28-year-old former construction worker of Laughlinstown, Pa., who lost his life on a hillside in Brittany, France, last August 23.

Carey, a machine-gun section leader, launched his one-man assault after machine guns in the pillbox had pinned his company down on the side of the hill.

With Carbine And Grenades

Arming himself with a carbine and all the hand grenades he could carry, he started crawling the 200 yards to the German position.

Fifty yards from the pillbox, he discovered a German in a foxhole and let him have a burst from his carbine. Then he went on, a target for a hail of bullets streaming from the pillbox.

Finally he reached throwing distance and began hurling grenades at a slit in the pillbox. The first ones bounced off, exploding outside. Then a blast of machine-gun fire caught him.

Pillbox Is Silenced

"Undaunted," the citation said, "he gathered his strength and continued his grenade attack until one entered and exploded within the pillbox, killing the occupants and putting their guns out of action."

With the pillbox silenced, Carey's company swept on up the hill.

The medal that Carey earned that day will be presented to his widow, Mrs. Anna Mae Carey, who lives with his mother, Mrs. Olive Carey, at Laughlinstown. Carey, a native of Lycippus, Pa., went to school in Laughlinstown.

TAFT HITS RUSSIA FOR SEEKING VETO ON USE OF FORCE

NEW YORK, May 20 — (AP) Senator Taft (R.-Ohio) contended today that Russia's insistence on a veto over the use of force by the proposed world organization "makes almost impossible the establishment of an international law."

This is so "since nothing can be law from which nations may exempt themselves," he declared in a speech at a rally sponsored by the American Polish Congress of Downstate New York and the coordinating committee of American Polish associations in the East.

Assails Boundaries

Taft criticized Russia's action in determining boundaries in eastern Europe on what he called "the basis of power and not of justice." He said it was "discouraging" to note "the apparent intention of Russia to dominate the governments of Poland and other countries in eastern Europe."

"Before the agreement at Yalta, which was perhaps misunderstood by the Russians, their attitude was entirely different," Taft said.

"Premier Stalin contends that his agreement in the Crimea conference with President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill covers Russia's insistence on the Moscow-sponsored provisional regime as the base of any government set up for Poland.

30.24 25-957

"Incidentally," Taft commented, "I see no reason why we should continue lend-lease to Russia under present conditions."

The Ohio senator, chairman of the Republican Steering committee in the Senate, said that because Russia insisted it must have veto power over the use of force to keep peace, every one of the big five nations must be given the same power.

"Not only is the organization helpless against the great powers themselves, but it is helpless against all of the satellites," he said.

"For instance, if Bulgaria, with the consent of Russia, should attack Romania, Russians could veto any action against Bulgaria, and this might easily be arranged in advance."

After the last war, he said, the five big nations would have been the United States, England, France, Italy and Japan. Italy, he contended, would have vetoed any action against itself in the Ethiopian affair, and Japan would have blocked action over the invasion of Manchuria.

"The truth is," he said, "that as long as vetoes are insisted upon, there is no real will to peace."

Lists 5 Policies

Taft listed five policies as requisite for peace:

1—Overwhelming victory in the war.

2—Creation of a world public opinion that international disputes must be settled by law and arbitration, not war.

3—Just settlement of political boundaries and the freedom of nations, with due regard to self determination.

4—Establishment of a system of sound economic cooperation between nations.

5—Foundation of an international organization to concern itself with the problems which lead to war, and to take action where such action can avert war.

Despite handicaps, Taft said he believed that the San Francisco conference on world organization "is proposing a plan which should be approved by the people and the Senate of the United States."

He said that while he could not see that the new organization would remove any of the causes of war, "it is infinitely better than a military alliance."

WAR CRIMINAL ACTION URGED

Red Papers Ask Quick Dealing With Doenitz And Aides

New York, May 20 (AP)—Moscow commentators, calling for an end of "the dangerous political game" of dealing with the "ersatz Doenitz government," questioned today why some Nazi war criminals "have not been caught for some reason or other" by Anglo-American military authorities.

Soviet newspaper comment, transmitted by the Russian Tass News Agency, also reviewed the Allies' handling of the "Doenitz incident" and asked: "How do they prepare to punish the Hitlerite criminals?"

The Soviet writer, B. Ilyin, in an Izvestia article, said that "a large group of the basest and most dangerous organizers of the sanguinary Hitlerite regime" had been seized or had given themselves up, but that "still others keep playing hide and seek with Allied military authorities; though the net seems to have been drawn around them, nevertheless they have not been caught for some reason or other." Ilyin's reference apparently was to the fact that Gestapo Chief Heinrich Himmler had not yet been arrested.

Assurances 'Conflicting'

Ilyin's article conceded that Doenitz's German "government" had been deprived of its radio station and that other measures had been taken as a result of public "indignation" in the United States and Britain.

The assurance given by Allied authorities, Ilyin asserted, "proved to be conflicting, equivocal and contradictory." As an instance, Ilyin said that Lieut. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's deputy military governor for occupied Germany, stated that Doenitz and Reichmarshal Goering were kept as "war prisoners" but the same day, Eisenhower's headquarters announced that Doenitz and his associates were "temporarily used" for the fulfilment of some administrative functions in Germany.

'Political Game' Alarms

Asserting that Eisenhower had gone to London, 'presumably to confer with (Prime Minister) Churchill and (Field Marshal Sir Bernard L.) Montgomery about the Doenitz incident," Ilyin then asked:

"How do they prepare to punish the Hitlerite criminals? The official order has been issued to treat them as war prisoners . . . whether or not this order applies to Doenitz is not specified."

Ilyin said that "the dangerous political game" was causing alarm in all countries and that it "already has ceased to be a mere accident and misunderstanding."

Views Of Doenitz Similar

"Who is in whose captivity?" he asked.

The unnamed commentator, "observer," meanwhile, voiced almost the same sentiments in Pravda, declaring that the Allies could uphold order in Germany without the aid of Doenitz and others around him.

Saying that public opinion in the Allied countries "demands an immediate stop to collaboration of military authority with the Ersatz government of Doenitz," the writer said that the "bankrupt heads of the German general staff, despite their utter defeat, are trying to begin the whole game anew."

Answers Own Question

"In conformity with the historical decisions of the Crimea conference . . . the German general staff must be destroyed once and forever and the Nazi party, Nazi laws and institutions must be razed off the face of the earth and all war criminals must be subjected to just and early retribution," he said.

The writer, K. Hoffman, also answered in Red Star his own question, 'Who is trying to create chaos in Europe?" by saying, "Is it clear that the defeated German instigators of the war and their foreign protectors want to create chaos?" Hoffman said that "the English and other freedom-loving peoples stand to lose" by truckling to Doenitz and his staff.

POST OF HONOR DISTURBS HERO

Lindsey Hears President's Plans Depend On Arrival

New York, May 20 (AP)—Tech. Sergt. Jake William Lindsay 24, the 100th hero of World War II to win the Congressional Medal of Honor, was a little worried today when he learned that arrangements for President Truman's joint address to Congress tomorrow depended upon his arrival in the United States.

Reaching LaGuardia Field after a flight from Czechoslovakia, Lindsey was shown a newspaper story stating that President Truman would present the medal to him before the joint session of Congress.

"Boy, that's something, holding up the President," he exclaimed. "I'm sure glad I made it on time."

Lindsey, who lives in Lucedale, Miss., will receive the award in a ceremony designed to honor all those awarded the Medal of Honor in the present war.

The infantryman was cited for an engagement in which he and four other men killed 200 Germans and destroyed seven tanks in the Hurtgen Forest, Hamich, Germany, last November.

96 On Crippled Carrier Franklin To Be Honored

New York, May 20 (AP)—On the flight deck of the crippled aircraft carrier Franklin, 96 officers and enlisted men will be decorated tomorrow for bringing the ship home after an attack from a bombing plane March 19 off the coast of Japan.

The medals, ranging from the Bronze Star to the Navy Cross, will be presented in a ceremony at 10.45 A.M., the Navy said, by Vice Admiral Aubrey W. Fitch, deputy chief of naval operations (air).

The Essex-class carrier is undergoing repairs in the New York Navy Yard.

Planes Of Four Nations Downed By Yank Flyer

New York, May 20 (AP)—Capt Lewis B. Curdies, 26, of Fort Wayne, Ind., holds a unique record among American fighter pilots.

He has shot down seven German planes, one Jap fighter, one Italian aircraft—and one American plane.

He downed the Yank plane, he explained today on the "Army Hour" broadcast, over Bataan Island between Formosa and the Philippines. Captain Curdies, ying over the area with his squadron, said he noticed an American C-47 heading for a landing on a Jap-held air strip.

"I tried to contact the pilot by radio," he said. "This failed.

I shot across the nose of the ship but still he came on. As a final resort I shot out his right, then his left engine. The plane plunged into the bay about 100 yards from shore. We saw twelve Americans bail out and into the yellow dinghies."

The Americans, including two Army nurses, were saved the next morning by a rescue mission, he said.

...bi Heller Leaves For Task In Palestine

New York, May 20 (AP)—Rabbi James G. Heller, of Cincinnati, national chairman of the United Palestine Appeal, left today for Palestine by air to study and help initiate a settlement plan for Jewish survivors of war and Nazi oppression in Europe, the organization said.

The appeal, fund-raising agency in the United States of the Jewish Agency for Palestine, Palestine Foundation Fund and the Jewish National Fund, is conducting a $35,300,000 drive to meet requirements for immigration, settlement and upbuilding of the Jewish National Home in Palestine this year.

Meatless Days For Nation Urged

New York, May 20 (AP)—Mayor F. H. LaGuardia proposed today the extension of meatless days throughout the United States as one of four steps he said would help alleviate the present meat crisis.

He also suggested rationing of meat in restaurants and other public eating places, rationing of poultry, and separation of red meat points from fats.

Chiding Washington officials for approving meatless Tuesdays and Fridays in New York city but doing nothing about it elsewhere, the Mayor said in his weekly broadcast:

"You ought to do the same elsewhere. Don't be afraid. You're in for three years."

LaGuardia declared that a ten point program put forward by the OPA early this month was ineffective.

"On behalf of the greatest city in the world I call on Washington to be realistic," he said. "It is not enough to get a headline, for you can't feed headlines to children."

Hungarian Treasury Seized By Americans

New York, May 20 (AP)—American troops have found and seized the Hungarian national treasury totaling $800,000,000 by pre-war exchange rates, in a monastery in Spital, Austria, the French Press Agency said tonight in a broadcast recorded by the Federal Communications Commission.

The broadcast said 80th Infantry Division soldiers found with the treasury a number of valuable manuscripts and works of art, various foreign securities, and "20 cases containing jewels and other objects belonging to the Hungarian court."

VISIT ROOSEVELT GRAVE

Puerto Rican Delegation Honors Late President in Ceremony

HYDE PARK, N. Y., May 20 (AP)—Puerto Rico paid tribute to the late President Roosevelt today.

Representatives from the island placed two wreaths on the Roosevelt grave in the rose garden of the Hyde Park estate.

The first wreath was placed by Luis Munoz Marin, President of the Senate, who represented the people. The second floral tribute was placed by Samuel Quinones, who represented the bar and journalists of Puerto Rico.

Others in the party of six were Jesus Pinero; Bolivar Pagan, resident commissioner of the Socialist party; Ernesto Cadiz of the Liberal party, and Antonio Pacheco Padro of the Popular Democratic party.

FUTURE IS BRIGHT, PRELATE DECLARES

BOSTON, May 20—(AP) Declaring that the "future looks very bright," Archbishop Richard J. Cushing of Boston today asserted that "labor must maintain its present high state of perfection."

Archbishop Cushing told 2,000 employes of the Boston Elevated at a communion breakfast that they have made not only working conditions but living conditions better, and the reason you've done it is because everyone is interested in everyone else."

"This is one big happy family, a model for others to look at in this part of the country. To keep things this way I urge you to keep your leadership where you want it to be."

"If you men and women give your best to the work you do," he said, "you can expect the best in return. Your relationship between union and employer can be assured. You can be assured of perfect union and employer can be assured. You can be assured of perfect working conditions and living wages."

Declaring that there was too much hatred, prejudice and intolerance, Archbishop Cushing told the group that "religion is useless unless we live according to its dictates."

"The individual has dignity because he has a soul. I believe nations should live, as individuals do with their families."

ARMY SEIZES PLANT IN N.C.

Strike-Bound Cocker Shops At Gastonia Taken Over

Gastonia, N. C., May 20 (AP)—By executive order of President Truman, the army took over today the plant of the Cocker Machine and Foundry Company, here, which has been tied up by a strike since last January because of labor disputes.

Pursuant to the order, the Army took possession of the facilities of the plant and the order directs the military authorities to operate or organize for operation, as deemed necessary, for the successful prosecution of the war.

Capt. Benjamin P. Anderson, of the Quartermaster General's department, arrived here as a representative of the War Department, and will direct the procedure.

Two AFL Unions Involved

The Cocker plants, makers of textile machinery needed in tire production, were closed in January because of two labor disputes. Some points have been agreed on, but one is yet in dispute and involves compulsory company maintenance of union membership. Two AFL unions, the International Molder and Foundry Workers Union and the International Association of Machinists, are parties to the dispute.

A total of 120 persons have been affected by the strike. The walkout occurred January 30, and since that time some of the machinists have returned to work, but none of the foundry workers.

Ex-Secretary Finds World Peace Aided Now by Unity Which Wilson Lacked

MAY 21 1945

Josephus Daniels, president and publisher of the Raleigh (N. C.) News and Observer, was Secretary of the Navy in World War I, an adherent of Woodrow Wilson, an interested observer of the fight for the League of Nations, and a supporter of the late President Roosevelt's efforts toward a permanent peace. In the following story he compares the temper of the nation during the League fight with the attitude today during the San Francisco Security Conference.

By JOSEPHUS DANIELS

RALEIGH, N. C., May 19 (AP) (Delayed)—My recollection is that the enthusiasm and determination for a world peace covenant were more manifest in 1918, particularly around Armistice Day, than they are as the day of deliverance cheers the people now.

I vividly recall that Thanksgiving observances in 1918, only a few days after the armistice had been signed, witnessed an outpouring of the people in the churches and in other gatherings, that prayers were offered everywhere that a warless world would follow the fighting.

I recall that I spoke to a great union meeting in Buffalo and never have I felt more unity and confidence that the forthcoming peace conference would fashion a way to end all wars.

About the same time I spoke at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York where the people were quite as earnest and zealous in expressing their determination that the fruits of war should be garnered in lasting peace. The sentiment in these two cities was expressed in like manner from coast to coast.

The proof that history repeats itself is seen in the overwhelming public opinion favoring a world organization to insure peace. Sentiment today parallels that which lifted people to the heights after the signing of the armistice Nov. 11, 1918.

How League Was Rejected

The only discordant note then came in the round robin that Senator Lodge and thirty-three other Senators sent to Paris when Woodrow Wilson was sweating blood to secure the adherence of his European colleagues to the immortal pact he brought home and gave to the Senate for ratification in July, 1919.

The welcome given to Wilson on his arrival by his countrymen came from the heart of the people of all parties and creeds. The dissenters then were unorganized; there was no hint of the propaganda or the organized opposition of aliens, protectionists, partisans and isolationists who were later to help Lodge and Reed sabotage the League in the Senate.

Soliciting Borah's cooperation, Lodge told him that he knew most of the newspapers, the preachers, the educators, those accustomed to write and speak, and "the man in the street" favored the League as presented by Wilson but, he argued, when they were educated as to the need for reservations, its ratification could be prevented. So he played for time and kept a treaty that ought to have been acted upon in a few days before the Senate.

As the Senate debated and wasted time, the high-protection money got in its perfect work. Many good people were misled and thus, while not wholly responsible for World War II, Lodge and the rest made it possible by seeing to it that the United States was AWOL at Geneva.

Forces Now Forging Peace

The only difference between the situation as to a world peace pact in 1919 and 1945 can be summed up in the old saying: "A burnt child dreads the fire." Seeing the fulfillment of Wilson's prophecy of a worse war in twenty years if we did not enter the League, the people are resolved not again to permit frontal or other attacks on the coming instrument of peace to succeed.

The Republican leaders of vision responded to the late President Roosevelt's appeal and are cooperating with President Truman in a patriotic spirit and are working to perfect a pact that will keep us out of a war.

There is another contributing factor that is working to prevent a second failure. The high protectionists now see that prosperity depends upon world trade and do not worship the great god protection as they did in 1919.

It is for these reasons I am confident that we shall not fail this time. But there are pitfalls to be avoided, prejudices to overcome and adjustments which must be made.

The League Covenant was not perfect, but there was provision by which it could be amended.

The coming covenant will not please everybody, but it is, as President Truman so well says, "Peace or chaos," and millions of the armed forces and all the rest of the people have highly resolved that there must not be another débâcle.

Survivor Of Iwo Jima Heads Indian Veterans

Chicago, May 20 (AP)—Pfc. Ira H. Hayes, one of the three survivors of the flag raising on Iwo Jima, was inducted yesterday as national commander of Indiana War Veterans, a division of the Congress of American Indians.

Private Hayes, a Pima Indian from Bapchule, Ariz., and his two buddies were honored at an Indian war-bond rally and luncheon sponsored by the Congress of American Indians and the Indian Council Fire, Chicago group.

Pfc. Rene Gagnon, of Manchester, N.H., and Pharmacist's Mate John Bradley, of Appleton, Wis., who also were in the famous picture of the flag raising taken by Joe Rosenthal, Associated Press photographer, were made honorary members of the Indian veteran group.

'Entire German Nation' Must Pay For War Guilt, Barkley Declares

PITTSBURGH, May 20.—(AP) Asserting the entire German nation must be made to pay "for what it has inflicted on mankind," Senate Majority Leader Alben Barkley (D-Ky) said today that punitive measures will have to be largely economic.

"The Germans must rebuild what they have destroyed," Barkley told a press conference. "They must not be allowed to reconstruct war plants or to have an army or navy."

Here to address the American Jewish Joint Distribution committee, Barkley said:

"The German nation should be made to feel the results of their evil doing. And we can't put them all in jail. There aren't enough jails."

Barkley, who last week reported to Congress findings of the special congressional investigation committee on atrocities viewed at Nazi concentration camps at Buchenwald, Nordhausen and Dachau, termed the horrors there, "calculated, designed, sadistic, brutal and heathenish."

He added, "the people couldn't help know what was going on."

The veteran Democratic senator called for immediate punishment of war criminals "without dragging it out or too many legalistic technicalities."

The job of reeducating Germany is a big one, Barkley said but he emphasized:

"We mustn't assume that it is impossible, for we can't leave a festering sore in the center of Europe to start another war."

Not Recognized as Officers

9,000 German Prisoners Unable to Prove They Are Non-Coms

OMAHA, May 20 (AP).—More than 9,000 German prisoners of war in the 7th Service Command area who claimed to be non-commissioned officers will not be recognized as such, due to lack of proper credentials, command headquarters announced today.

The headquarters said only those able to prove existence of actual German Army warrants or other official credentials would be recognized as N. C. O.'s and therefore be exempted from all except supervisory labor under provisions of the Geneva Convention.

Many of the prisoner non-coms were found to be from the S. S. (Elite Guards), the Volkssturm and other elements of the Nazi armed forces, which are not considered part of the German Army proper—the Reichswehr—the announcement said.

FRENCH WANT NAZIS TO PAY WITH GOODS

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20—(AP) A "bank" of goods and services instead of money is being proposed by French officials as Germany's reparation for destruction wrought by the Nazi armies during four years in occupied Europe.

The "capital" of this bank would be the sum total of goods and services which the United Nations decide Germany owes the rest of Europe for the ravages of war.

This would, in the words of French delegates here, be the total of existing goods and available manpower plus whatever the Allies decide should be produced within a certain period of years.

Under this plan, each victim nation would have a drawing account in the bank commensurate with the destruction and sufferings caused by Nazi aggression.

BIG FIVE LEADERS AGREE TO CHANGE ON REGIONAL PLAN

Individual and Collective Self-Defense Provided in Armed Attack.

WEEK'S DELAY ENDED

American Delegates Change Language to Wording Asked by Russians.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 20—(AP) The Big Five foreign ministers agreed today on the text of an amendment placing regional associations of nations under the supervision of a proposed world organization.

The major nations were reported to have reached a complete understanding on a proposal to amend the Dumbarton Oaks formula, to provide for individual and collective self defense action in case of armed attack until such time as the Security Council takes adequate measures to maintain or restore peace.

Ends Week's Delay

The agreement ended a week's delay in presentation of an amendment drafted by the United States delegation, with the approval of Latin American countries, to the United Nations Conference. The proposal will be laid before a conference committee tomorrow with the formal backing of the United States, Great Britain, Russia, China and France.

Agreement on the exact wording of the amendment came after American delegates had shifted some of the language of the proposal to meet suggestions made by Moscow. The Russian suggestions were made at a Big Five meeting yesterday after others of the great powers had waited nearly a week for the Kremlin's reaction to this important issue before the conference.

Parley Called

Immediately after the Big Five action, Secretary of State Stettinius was reported to have called in chairmen of all the Latin American delegations he was able to contact on short notice, for a night meeting to study the final draft of the amendment governing regional compacts. His effort was to speed conference approval of this key provision of a world organization charter.

Overnight study of the Russian proposal apparently convinced United States delegates that there is no material difference of opinion between them and the Soviets.

It was learned that the change in the text of an amendment proviously proposed by the United States to the Dumbarton Oaks formula for organizing the world was so slight, as the result of Russian suggestions, that the Five Powers were certain to agree on the final wording.

What the Russians wanted was to get away from predicting in advance that the world organization might fail to settle a dispute. They suggested a more positive approach, which was satisfactory to the entire American delegation and the rest of the Big Five.

The key sentence in the American proposal to which the Russians objected on grounds it implied the possibility of failure says:

"Nothing in this charter impairs the inherent right of self defense, either individual or collective, in the event that the Security Council does not maintain international peace and security and armed attack against a member state occurs."

The text has not been made public, but it is understood the changes now substantially agreed on would make the sentence read something like this:

"Nothing in this charter impairs the inherent right of self defense, either individual or collective, in event an armed attack against a member state occurs until such time as the Security Council takes adequate measures to maintain or restore international peace and security."

NEGRO COUNCIL ASKS TROOPS BE RETURNED

OAKLAND, Calif., May 20.—(AP) The National Negro Council today announced adoption of a resolution calling on President Truman "to correct discrimination against returning Negro troops."

The announcement said the Negroes complained that their demands for combat service had been "almost entirely ignored," and that as a consequence under the point system of reckoning credit for discharge, Negroes "are destined to be the last to be returned home."

At the same meeting, the council announced, a resolution was unanimously passed commending Governors Thomas E. Dewey of New York and Earl Warren of California for their support of equal rights regardless of race, religion, color, or national origin.

THE CITY WON'T BE A RESORT AGAIN FOR MANY YEARS TO COME. IT HASN'T HEARD A SHOT FIRED IN ANGER, BUT IT LOOKS AS IF IT HAD BEEN THE SITE OF ONE OF THE WAR'S MAJOR CONFLICTS--ENTIRELY AS A RESULT OF BACK-FIRING V-1S AND V-2S SET OFF IN THIS VICINITY.

IN ADDITION, THE GERMANS LEVELED ONE WIDE SWATH OF HOUSES BETWEEN HERE AND THE HAGUE IN ORDER TO PROVIDE A FIELD FOR FIRE.

IN A STRETCH OF DUNES RUNNING NORTH FROM HOOK OF HOLLAND, THEY BUILT AN ELABORATE SYSTEM OF GUN POSITIONS AND BUNKERS, INCLUDING ONE FIRE CONTROL POINT WHICH EXTENDS FOUR STORIES UNDERGROUND AND IS FILLED WITH THE MOST ELABORATE TYPE OF EQUIPMENT, COMPARABLE WITH THAT OF THE MOST UP-TO-DATE WARSHIP.

THEY ALL STAND EMPTY NOW--A MEMORIAL TO THE NAZI BELIEF THAT THE WESTERN ALLIES MIGHT SEEK A SHORTER ROUTE THROUGH GERMANY THAN THE ROUNDABOUT WAY THROUGH FRANCE.

OKINAWA,MAY 20-(AP)-THE FAMOUS 318TH ARMY FIGHTER GROUP, WHICH MADE THE MARIANAS UNHEALTHY FOR JAPANESE FLIERS, HAS MOVED INTO THE RYUKYUS SEEKING BIGGER AND BETTER GAME--AND EXPECTS IT WITHOUT DELAY.

FLEET ADM.CHESTER W.NIMITZ'S COMMUNIQUE YESTERDAY DISCLOSED PARTICIPATION OF THE 318TH IN THE OKINAWA CAMPAIGN IN SUPPORT OF GROUND TROOPS.

THE GROUP IS COMMANDED BY COL.LEWIS M.SANDERS, 37, OF FORT WAYNE AND ELKHART, IND., (WIFE AT 2,738 PINE GOVE AVE., CHICAGO, ILL.), WHO SHOT DOWN A JAPANESE DIVE BOMBER AT PEARL HARBOR DEC. 7, 1941.

THE 318TH WAS ACTIVATED AT WHEELER FIELD, HAWAII, IN THE AUTUMN OF 1942 AND STARTED OPERATING FROM SAIPAN JUNE 22, LAST YEAR. IN THE MARIANAS CAMPAIGN, IT ESTABLISHED A BOMB TONNAGE RECORD TOPPED BY FIGHTERS ONLY DURING THE FINAL PRE-INVASION SOFTENING OF THE FRENCH COAST, ACCORDING TO CAPT.WILLIAM FRELIGH (2,301 STURDEVANT AVE.), DETROIT, MICH., MEMBER OF SANDERS' STAFF.

"THE GROUP FLEW CLOSE GROUND SUPPORT AT SAIPAN AND TINIAN. DURING THE TINIAN CAMPAIGN IT WAS THE FIRST GROUP TO USE INCENDIARY BOMBS," FRELIGH SAID.

THE GROUP HIT PAGAN, KEEPING ITS RUNWAY NEUTRALIZED, AND ATTACKED OTHER MARIANAS TARGETS.

NINETY-FIVE PER CENT OF THE MARIANAS MISSIONS WERE GROUND SUPPORT UNTIL THE GROUP ACQUIRED SOME LONG-RANGE P-38 LIGHTNINGS IN MID-NOVEMBER AND STARTED HITTING IWO JIMA AND TRUK. IT DOWNED FOUR ZEROS IN ITS FIRST TRUK RAID NOV. 22. IT ADDED THREE MORE AT TRUK JAN. 14. THE BIGGEST DAY WAS AT IWO JIMA, JAN. 11--THREE ZEKES AND FOUR BETTY BOMBERS. CAPT.JUDGE (CABLE COPY) WOLFE, 28, (CANAL-LEWISVILLE ROAD), COSHOCTON, OHIO, GOT TWO. THE GROUP ALSO DESTROYED A SMALL JAPANESE TRANSPORT VESSEL THAT DAY.

IN A LITTLE OVER NINE MONTHS OPERATING FROM SAIPAN, THE GROUP SHOT DOWN 45 JAPANESE PLANES.

THE FLIERS SAY THEY ARE GLAD TO GO INTO THE RYUKYUS, WHERE FREQUENT ENEMY COUNTERATTACK IS ASSURED.

THE GROUP'S DEPUTY COMMANDER IS LT.COL.HOMER COX. (ADDRESS UNAVB.)

MAJOR DEJACK WILLIAMS, 27, LONG BEACH, CALIF., AND MAJ. JOHN J.HUSSEY, JR., SEACLIFF, LONG ISLAND, N.Y., WHO EACH SHOT DOWN A ZERO AT TRUK, ARE SQUADRON COMMANDERS.

OTHER TOP FLIERS IN THE GROUP INCLUDE MAJ.WARREN ROESER, 25, (2440 169TH ST.), FLUSHING, LONG ISLAND, N.Y., WHO DOWNED THREE JAPANESE PLANES IN THE MARIANAS CAMPAIGN.

WITH THE 10TH ARMY ON OKINAWA, MAY 20-(VIA NAVY RADIO)-(AP)-MARINES AND DOUGHBOYS OF THE 10TH ARMY CONTINUED TO BATTER THE SHURI LINE YESTERDAY, SCORCHING PART OF ZHE CAPITAL CITY OF NAHA SOUTH OF THE ASATO RIVER.

MARINES OF THE 6TH DIVISION STILL WERE UNABLE TO CROSS THE ASATO AS THE JAPANESE RESISTED WITH MACHINE GUNS AND ARTILLERY. TO THE EAST DOUGHBOYS WERE BUSY MOPPING UP ENEMY FORCES BEHIND THE AMERICAN LINES. THESE JAPANESE HAVE BEEN HAMPERING THE YANKS' SUPPLY LINE.

A SMALL HILL, WHICH HAS BEEN DESIGNATED CHARLEY HILL IN THE NEIGHBORHOOD OF CONICAL HILL, HAS BEEN HOLDING UP THE ADVANCE OF THE 24TH ARMY CORPS. POCKETS OF THE ENEMY TRAPPED BEHIND THE LINES YESTERDAY FORCED THE 27TH DIVISION TO MOVE UP SUPPLIES BY TANKS.

THE 383D REGIMENT OF THE 96TH DIVISION HAS COMPLETED THE TASK OF SECURING CONTROL OF HOTLY CONTESTED CONICAL PEAK AND MAJ.THOMAS ROUMELL, 1521 ST. CLAIR AVE., DETROIT, MICH., SAID HIS MEN WERE LOOKING DOWN ON YONABARU, EAST COAST TOWN AND ANCHOR FOR THE SHURI LINE, 700 YARDS AWAY.

YONABARU, LIKE NAHA, HAS BEEN VIRTUALLY LEVELLED BY ARTILLERY AND NAVAL GUNFIRE. DOUGHBOYS TELL OF HEARING JAPANESE TRUCKS MOVING ABOUT IN THE TOWN AT NIGHT AND AMERICAN ARTILLERY IS STILL POUNDING IT. OKINAWA, MAY 20-(AP)-FIVE BEDRAGGLED DOUGHBOYS, TWO OF THEM WOUNDED, MADE THEIR WAY DOWN INTO AMERICAN LINES BEFORE DAWN TODAY AFTER SPENDING FOUR NIGHTS AND THREE DAYS BEHIND ENEMY LINES.
THEY WERE SURVIVORS OF PATROLS CUT OFF AND ALMOST COMPLETELY WIPED OUT IN AN ATTACK ON A HILL CALLED "LOVE" AND OVERLOOKING THE APPROACHES OF YONABARU TOWN. ONLY A FEW MEN ESCAPED GETTING HIT ON THE ASSAULT AS THE JAPANESE SWEPT THEM FROM THE REAR, SIDES AND FRONT WITH MACHINE GUNS AND MORTARS.
THIS MORNING AT 1:45 A.M., PVTS. KEITH E.COCHRAN, IPSWICH, S.D., AND KENNETH A.BOYNTON, 25 GRAMERCY PARK, ROCHESTER, N.Y., BOTH REPLACEMENTS WHO SAID THEY JOINED THE 77TH DIVISION THE DAY OF THE LOVE HILL ASSAULT, CAME STRAGGLING INTO AMERICAN LINES WITH TWO WOUNDED BUDDIES.
A LITTLE LATER, SGT.DONALD B.WILLIAMS, MONROE, WIS., CAME IN AND TOLD THIS STORY:
"WHEN WE CAME DOWN LOVE HILL, I HELPED A MAN WHO HAD BEEN WOUNDED BY A GRENADE. HE HAD TO HIT THE GROUND SEVERAL TIMES ON THE WAY BACK. BULLETS WHIZZED OVER OUR HEADS. THE WOUNDED MAN GOT HIT TWICE MORE IN BOTH ARMS WHILE WE WERE LYING THERE AND I HAD TO HOLD HIM TO KEEP HIM FROM ROLLING DOWN THE HILL."

WILLIAMS SAID HE AND THE WOUNDED SOLDIER STAYED IN A SMALL DEPRESSION IN THE GROUND UNTIL DARKNESS, AND THEN HE HALF CARRIED THE INJURED MAN DOWN THE HILL TO A TOMB, INTO WHICH THEY CRAWLED.
LATER, WILLIAMS CREPT TO A HILLTOP AND TOOK A HALF-FILLED CANTEEN OFF A DEAD AMERICAN SOLDIER. HE GAVE THE WATER TO HIS WOUNDED COMPANION.
THE NEXT DAY VOLLEY AFTER VOLLEY OF ARTILLERY SHELLS POUNDED THE HILL, FOLLOWED BY AN AIR STRIKE, AND WILLIAMS THOUGHT THE AMERICANS WERE GOING TO ATTACK, BUT THEY DIDN'T.
THAT NIGHT WILLIAMS AGAIN CREPT UP TO THE HILLTOP AND GOT A CANTEEN OF WATER. WHEN HE RETURNED SOME JAPANESE CAME BY THE ENTRANCE OF THE CAVE AND FIRED INTO IT WITH A BAZOOKA THEY'D CAPTURED. WILLIAMS WAS KNOCKED OUT BY CONCUSSION AND THE WOUNDED MAN WAS HIT IN THE CHEST WITH A SHELL FRAGMENT.
WHEN WILLIAMS REGAINED CONSCIOUSNESS HE SAW TWO JAPANESE CRAWLING INTO THE HOLE. HE SHOT ONE OF THEM THROUGH THE HEAD WITH A PISTOL HE'D TAKEN OFF A NIPPONESE OFFICER EARLIER, AND THE OTHER MAN FLED.
WILLIAMS STAYED THROUGH THE NEXT DAY AND NIGHT AND ON THE FOLLOWING NIGHT, WITH HIS COMPANION PRACTICALLY DEAD, HE DECIDED TO MAKE A BREAK FOR IT. HE'D HAD NO FOOD OR WATER FOR THREE DAYS.
THE SERGEANT WAS SO WEAK FROM THE LACK OF WATER AND FOOD HE WAS BARELY ABLE TO DRAG HIMSELF ALONG. WHEN HE REACHED THE BOTTOM OF THE HILL HE FELL INTO A SHELLHOLE FILLED WITH WATER.
"I JUST LAY THERE AND DRANK ALL I COULD," WILLIAMS SAID.
HE STARTED OUT AGAIN, BUT THE MOON MADE TOO BRIGHT A LIGHT SO HE FELL BACK INTO THE SHELL HOLE AND WENT TO SLEEP "FOR ABOUT FOUR HOURS, I GUESS."
FINALLY, WILLIAMS MADE THE AMERICAN LINE AT DAYBREAK, YELLING TO HIS BUDDIES "DON'T SHOOT. HOLD YOUR FIRE."

BOYNTON AND COCHRAN TOLD OF GETTING INTO A TOMB WITH THEIR TWO WOUNDED COMPANIONS AND THEN PUTTING ROCKS BACK AT THE ENTRANCE. THE JAPANESE REGISTERED MORTAR AND MACHINEGUN FIRE ON THEM.
THE NEXT NIGHT AN OLD MAN AND WOMAN AND A GIRL ABOUT 10 YEARS OLD CAME INTO THE TOMB. THE AMERICANS HAD DISCOVERED ANOTHER ROOM FOR HIDING, SO THE OKINAWANS DIDN'T FIND THEM UNTIL THE NEXT MORNING. THE WOMAN GOT THEM TWO CANTEENS OF WATER OUT OF A SHELL HOLE AND THEN THE OKINAWANS STAYED AROUND ALL DAY COOKING FOOD, WHICH BOYNTON AND COCHRAN BELIEVE THEY TOOK TO JAPANESE SOLDIERS ON THE HILLTOP.
ON THE FOURTH NIGHT THE YANKS DECIDED TO MAKE A BREAK FOR IT. THEY ARRIVED WITHIN AMERICAN LINES JUST AHEAD OF WILLIAMS.

PRINCE ALBERT, SASKATCHEWAN, MAY 20-(AP)-PRIME MINISTER W.L. MACKENZIE KING, SEEKING TO BE RETURNED TO OFFICE IN ONE OF THE MOST IMPORTANT ELECTIONS OF CANADA'S MODERN TIMES, IS CAMPAIGNING HERE IN HIS OWN CONSTITUENCY AMONG COMPARATIVE STRANGERS WHO ONLY A YEAR AGO VOTED OVERWHELMINGLY FOR THE SOCIALISTIC CCF.

ALTHOUGH THE 70-YEAR OLD PRIME MINISTER HAD REPRESENTED THIS CONSTITUENCY SINCE 1926, HE HAS NEVER LIVED HERE AND UNTIL YESTERDAY HAD NOT BEEN HERE SINCE A BRIEF TOUR IN 1941. THE SMALL-TOWN AND RURAL VOTERS WHO HAVE SENT HIM TO OTTAWA AS A MEMBER OF PARLIAMENT DO NOT REGARD HIM AS THEIR OWN INDIVIDUAL REPRESENTATIVE, BUT RATHER ABSTRACTLY AS A POLITICAL LEADER NOT VERY CLOSE TO THEM.

KING IS SPENDING THREE AND A HALF DAYS AMONG THESE VOTERS, MEETING THEM AT TEAS, AT CHURCH, AT SMALL COUNTRY MEETINGS AND AT SOME LARGE TOWN MEETINGS. HE WAS UNDOUBTEDLY TOLD UPON HIS ARRIVAL HERE SATURDAY NOON THAT A PACKED MOTION PICTURE THEATER AUDIENCE HAD BOOED HIS APPEARANCE ON THE SCREEN THE NIGHT BEFORE.

MAY 21 1945

KING'S MOST THREATENING OPPONENT IS THE CANDIDATE OF THE CCF (COOPERATIVE COMMONWEALTH FEDERATION), EDWARD LEROY (CAP R) BOWERMAN, A MORMON PREACHER-FARMER WHO PREVIOUSLY WAS NOT ESPECIALLY WELL-KNOWN HERE. TWO OTHER CANDIDATES ARE IN THE FIELD, REPRESENTING THE PROGRESSIVE CONSERVATIVE PARTY AND THE SOCIAL CREDIT PARTY. THE FORMER IS A MODERN VERSION OF THE OLD-LINE TORY PARTY, TRADITIONAL FOE OF KINGS LIBERALS, AND THE LATTER CHARACTERIZED BY UNORTHODOX MONEY THEORIES, HAS RUN THE GOVERNMENT IN THE ADJOINING PROVINCE OF ALBERTA FOR SOME YEARS.

THE CCF, IN ITS GREATEST SUCCESS SINCE ORGANIZATION A DOZEN YEARS AGO, SWEPT INTO OFFICE LAST JUNE IN SASKATCHEWAN TO WIN ITS FIRST PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT, AND THE VOTERS OF THIS TERRITORY AROUND THE TOWN OF PRINCE ALBERT PLUNGED WHOLEHEARTEDLY INTO THE TREND.

IN FEDERAL MATTERS, HOWEVER, THEY ARE EXPECTED TO BE LESS RADICAL. THE PROVINCIAL VOTE WAS REGARDED AS COMBINING THE CCF ADHERENTS STRENGTH WITH THAT OF "PROTEST VOTERS" DISAPPOINTED IN THE LIBERAL PROVINCIAL REGIME. SINCE LAST YEARS BALLOTING THE SOCIALISTIC PARTY IS BELIEVED TO HAVE LOST STRENGTH HERE, ESPECIALLY IN THE FEDERAL FIELD.

LIBERAL PARTY WORKERS FOUND GREAT SATISFACTION IN THE FACT THAT MANY KNOWN CCF ADHERENTS ATTENDED A PUBLIC MEETING OF SEVERAL THOUSAND

CONSTITUENTS IN THE LOCAL ARMORY SATURDAY NIGHT, AND APPLAUDED THE PRIME MINISTER.

KING, ALTHOUGH SPEAKING TO A GROUP COMPOSED LARGELY OF FARMERS AND RESIDENTS OF THIS NON-INDUSTRIAL SMALL TOWN DEVOTED MOST OF HIS 75-MINUTE SPEECH TO LABOR AFFAIRS, STRESSING HIS PERSONAL EARLY WORK IN LABOR AFFAIRS AND THE LEGISLATION HIS GOVERNMENTS HAVE ENACTED DURING HIS 18 YEARS AS PRIME MINISTER.

MAY 21 1945

THIS WAS REGARDED AS AN ~~OUTRAIGHT~~ OUTRIGHT ATTEMPT TO MEET THE PROGRESSIVE APPEAL OF THE CCF PROGRAM.

KING, WITH GREAT PERSONAL CHARM IN A SMALL GROUP, IS MEETING AS MANY PEOPLE AS POSSIBLE DURING HIS STAY HERE, BUT NONETHELESS HE IS REMOTE FROM THEM. A RELATIVE RECLUSE IN THE DOMINION CAPITAL AT OTTAWA, HE STAYS CLOSE TO HIS HOTEL ROOM HERE EXCEPT WHEN HE IS ATTENDING SCHEDULED FUNCTIONS. HE KNOWS FEW PEOPLE HERE WELL.

YET THE VOTERS OF THIS CONSTITUENCY, WITH A POPULATION OF 45,000 SCATTERED OVER 10,000 SQUARE MILES, ARE TO DECIDE UPON THE RETURN TO PARLIAMENT OF A MAN WHO FIRST BECAME PRIME MINISTER IN 1921 AND HAS SERVED EVER SINCE EXCEPT FOR A FEW MONTHS IN 1926 AND FROM 1930 TO 1935. UNDER THE BRITISH PARLIAMENTARY SYSTEM MEMBERS OF PARLIAMENT, FROM AMONG WHOM THE GOVERNMENT IS CONSTRUCTED, DO NOT HAVE TO RUN FROM THEIR PLACES OF RESIDENCE.

THE ELECTION, TO BE HELD JUNE 11, IS REGARDED AS IMPORTANT NOT ONLY BECAUSE OF DIFFICULT TIMES AHEAD IN THE PERIOD OF RECONSTRUCTION AND DURING THE WAR AGAINST JAPAN, BUT ALSO BECAUSE THE STRENGTH OF THE CCF MAY RESULT IN THE ELECTION OF THREE LARGE GROUPS IN PARLIAMENT INSTEAD OF

THE TRADITIONAL TWO, WITH NONE HAVING A CLEAR MAJORITY.

IF KING SHOULD BE DEFEATED HE MAY RUN IN A BYE-ELECTION IN ANOTHER CONSTITUENCY REGARDED AS SAFE AND THEREBY AS LEADER OF HIS PARTY WOULD CONTINUE TO BE PRIME MINISTER PROVIDED HIS LIBERAL COLLEAGUES WIN SUFFICIENT STRENGTH IN THE NEW HOUSE OF COMMONS.

1st Army On Move To Pacific, War Department Says; Japs In U.S. Marine Uniforms Fail In Attack

VETERANS TO GET 30 DAY FURLOUGHS BEFORE NEW TASK

Many Men Will Be Released from Service Under Point System.

PLAN REPLACEMENTS

War Department Statement Praises Record of Gen. Hodges Army.

WASHINGTON, May 21 — (AP) The United States served grim notice on Japan tonight that the First army, which played a leading part in cracking Hitler's European fortress, is headed for the Pacific war.

Openly, as if scorning Japan's ability to make any use of the information, the War department announced that the powerful outfit commanded by Gen. Courtney H. Hodges "is on the move" toward the Japanese.

As of April 12 there were 16 divisions of roughly 12,000 men each announced as comprising the First army. Thus, unless the Army's strength has increased or decreased since then, approximately 192,000 men would be involved in the transfer.

30 Day Furloughs

The Army is being redeployed by way of the United States and its personnel will receive 30 day furloughs.

The announcement came at the close of a day in which President Truman declared, at a congressional ceremony honoring a medal of honor winner, that the United States is preparing to strike at Japan "in overwhelming force." It underscored recent warnings by the President and others that it would be wise for Japan's part to surrender quickly.

The War department statement concerning the First army said:

"It is being redeployed by way of the United States, and its personnel will receive furloughs before proceeding to the war against Japan.

"The divisions and army corps that fight with the First army against Japan will not necessarily be the same as those that fought in Germany. However, enough veteran units and veteran personnel will take the field under Gen. Hodges to insure the same vigorous assault against the Japanese as was made by the First army against the Germans.

Proud Record

"The fighting record of the First army ranks with the proudest in the Allied Expeditionary forces. Although the Army itself did not enter combat until the invasion of the Normandy coast several of its units took part in its original landings in North Africa, Sicily and Italy.

"Troops of the First army parachuted into France before H-hour on D-day, led the way across the German frontier, broke through the Siegfried line, seized and established the Remagen bridgehead and were the first to make junction with the Russians at the Elbe. Hundreds of thousands of Germans were killed or captured by the First army in its battles across France, Belgium and Germany.

"Under the point system for the release of men with extended and arduous combat service, many of the present personnel of the units to be sent into the Pacific with the First army will be separated from their organizations before they leave Europe and replaced by men who do not have enough points to qualify for discharge."

Georgia to Welcome Hodges

ATLANTA, May 21 (AP).—The State of Georgia will this week welcome home its private-to-general hero of the European area, General Courtney Hicks Hodges of Perry, Ga.

General Hodges and his party including a general representing the Army Air Forces, four or five other general officers commanding divisions, several other officers and twenty-four enlisted men, will be flown from Paris to arrive in Atlanta Thursday for an official Georgia homecoming celebration.

General Hodges—the general who confounded the Germans, captured Paris and drove on to Belgium—and those accompanying him will be given an official welcome at the request of General of the Army George C. Marshall, chief of staff, Mayor William B. Hartsfield announced.

He will be met at the municipal airport by Mayor Hartsfield, Major General Frederick E. Uhl, commanding general of the 4th Service Command, and Brigadier General Edward Smith, personal representative of General Marshall.

Announcement of the names of those accompanying General Hodges has not been made, but general officers will represent all branches of the combat services and are to be selected by General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower.

SUICIDAL ATTACK OF JAPS SMASHED WITH HEAVY LOSS

Nipponese Troops Use Captured Marine Uniforms and Equipment.

25 PLANES DOWNED

Flaming River of Oil Rolls Down on Jap Defenders of Hill.

By LEIF ERICKSON

GUAM, Tuesday, May 22.—(AP) A large force of Japanese—some of them wearing American Marine uniforms and using captured U. S. weapons—strongly attacked Sixth division Marines in the Naha sector of Okinawa Sunday night, but were repulsed with heavy losses.

Fierce action, some of the hottest of the long southern Okinawa campaign, raged all along the Naha-Shuri-Yonabaru line but Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz said the 10th U. S. Army made advances on both flanks of the center.

Attacking before dawn, 77th division infantry captured Taira Machi, north of Shuri, despite intense small arms fire. This Statue of Liberty division already was within 900 yards of citadel Shuri's northeast fringes. Fighting doggedly all day and throwing back enemy attempts to retake Taira, the 77th moved south of the town in the evening.

Suicide Attacks Halted

Three groups of Japanese, in suicidal demolitions missions, tried to destroy tanks in the First Marine sector. All were repulsed.

The 96th infantry division moved slowly south toward Yonabaru town on the east coast although it was subjected to intense inter-locking machine gun fire throughout Monday.

About 35 Japanese planes, making their first strong air attack on Okinawa shipping in several days, damaged five light American vessels Sunday evening. Twenty-six of the attackers, which came in at low level, were destroyed by fighter planes and ships' anti-aircraft.

Maj. Gen. Andrew D. Bruce's 77th division launched its surprise attack at 6 a. m.—not long after Maj. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr's. Sixth division Marines had fought off the Japs' counter-attack by 400 to 600 Japanese. Half of the attackers were killed and the rest driven back by the leatherneck veterans.

Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner, Jr's. 10th Army attacked heavily along most of the Okinawa front throughout yesterday against continued stiff resistance from cave and pillbox-entrenched Nipponese.

The 77th division's attack in darkness was the most spectacular push. The Doughboys were met by intense small arms fire, After daylight, the Japanese counterattacked, trying to drive the Yanks back out of Taira. But the assault was repulsed and Bruce's infantry pushed on south from the vollage toward Shuri.

Nimitz's communique did not state how close this put the forward elements to that keystone of the southern line.

The suicidal assault in the Fifth regiment sector of Maj. Gen. Pedro A. Del Valle's First Marine division was made by three separate groups of Japanese carrying satchel demolition charges tied around their waists.

Their attack was intended to blow up leatherneck tanks. The infiltrations were stopped, with no damage reported to the tanks.

OKINAWA MARINES REACH RIDGE OVER SHURI RUINS

Flame-throwing Tanks Lead Troops 800 Yards Through Stiff Enemy Defenses.

JAPS BELIEVED WEAKENING

Three Divisions Tighten Pincers Around Key to Foe's Line Across Isle.

Guam, May 21 (A. P.).—First Marine Division troops have driven to the crest of the last ridge before the Okinawa fortress city of Shuri in a tank-led drive through 800 yards of ferociously defended ravines and draws.

Elaborate Jap hillside defenses were cleared by flame-throwing tanks and riflemen as they climbed the steep inclines until the tanks could go no farther and the battle turned into a hand to hand, cave-by-cave struggle.

Shuri, lying below the hilltop position of the Marines, was a pile of rubble from the incessant bombardment and bombing to which it has been subjected.

Lieut. James Paulos, commander of a company which seized one ridge overlooking the ancient capital of Ryukyuan monarchs, said his men had been subjected to heavy mortar fire all the way up the ridge.

Meantime the Seventy-seventh Infantry Division advanced to within 900 yards of Shuri on the northeast, throwing back three counter-attacks, and elements of the Ninety-sixth Infantry Division moved within 1,600 yards of the walled, moated city on the east. The Sixth Marine Division sent elements eastward toward Shuri from its positions in suburbs of Naha, present capital of Okinawa.

Japs Seen Weakening.

Despite continued Jap resistance, Major-Gen. John R. Hodge said there "was some indication that the Japanese are disintegrating as an overall fighting unit." Hodge told newsmen the enemy was firing 1,000 fewer artillery and mortar shells a night than formerly.

Nevertheless, an estimated 30,000 Jap survivors of Okinawa's original garrison of 80,000 or more troops yielded, yard by yard, only in death. Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported 48,103 Japs had been killed on Okinawa through Thursday. He gave no prisoner figures.

American casualties were announced as 30,526 Army, Navy and Marine, including pre-invasion fleet carrier attacks on the Ryukyus and Japan. Yanks were killing Japs at the rate of eleven to one American lost in ground fighting. Nimitz's figures were 4,332 soldiers and Marines killed and missing; 18,258 wounded. Added to these were 3,978 killed and missing naval personnel; 3,958 wounded.

Shuri Reduced to Rubble.

Paulos, from Tooele, Utah, said Shuri had been reduced to rubble and debris. All that stands is the wall of an oriental palace which rises above the city. Shuri, second largest city on Okinawa, is not expected to fall easily, however. Jap still command ridges and hills from which they can pour artillery and mortar fire into it. One is Sugar Loaf hill. Sixth Division Marines captured its crest four times, lost it as many, and finally occupied the top the fifth time they seized it. Nipponese, however, remained intrenched in the southern slopes, from where their guns commanded both Naha and Shuri. These guns must be silenced before either Shuri or Naha will be tenable for Yanks.

The famous 318th Army Fighter Group, which made the Marianas unhealthy for Jap flyers, has moved into the Ryukyus, seeking bigger and better game—and expects it without delay. Admiral Nimitz's communique yesterday disclosed participation of the 318th in the Okinawa campaign in support of ground troops. Major John J. Hussey Jr. of Sea Cliff, L. I., N. Y., who shot down a Zero at Truk, is a squadron commander. Top flyers in the group include Major Warren Roser, 25, 24-40 169th street, Flushing, Queens, who downed three Jap planes in the Marianas campaign.

Because of bad weather, there was little enemy aerial activity. Thunderbolts of the 318th Fighter Group, attacked targets in the northern Ryukyus and Navy bombers ranged to Korea, sinking one medium and two small freighters. They damaged a number of landing craft. Navy bombers and Army Liberators attacked the Kuriles.

Still mopping up in captured territory, Yanks killed 141 Japanese and made 167 prisoners in the Marianas, Palaus and on Iwo Jima in the week ended May 12.

BRITISH PAPERS URGE EARLY BIG 3 PARLEY

London, May 21—(AP)—The British Press clamored today for an early meeting of the Big Three to settle a multiplicity of vexing problems in shattered Europe as tension mounted in the dispute over the Adriatic port of Trieste.

"The time has come when Allied leaders must rally their peoples to a united front for peace as they did in war," declared the Daily Sketch, adding that "some of the issues are beginning to assume the nature of international crises" and "there are still darker clouds ahead."

The Trieste dispute, the Polish problem, punishment of Nazi war criminals and plans for Allied government of Germany, said the Daily Telegraph, "should be arranged on generally uniform principles between the Allies at once. Any differences which exist are far more superficial than fundamental, but differences which are allowed to drift on too often end by becoming disastrous."

A Belgrade dispatch said American and British diplomatic personnel and civilians in Yugoslavia were alerted by their embassies yesterday to prepare for the eventuality of immediate evacuation. But Associated Press Correspondent William B. King reported there was no sign of unfriendly feeling toward the Allies in the capital and any evacuation, according to the best opinion there, would take place only if the situation reached a point of open conflict.

Russia To Build New Czech Army

London, May 21 (AP)—Czechoslovakia, turning to Soviet Russia for aid and guidance, will establish a new Soviet-trained and equipped army of undisclosed size, the Czech News Bureau announced tonight.

The announcement emphasized Russia's new westward influence among the smaller nations once welded by France into the prewar "cordon sanitaire."

Plans for the army were disclosed on the heels of the return to Prague of Czech President Eduard Benes who, with other members of the Government in exile, had spent several weeks in Moscow.

Size To Be Secret

Before the war the Czech army was trained by France. Now, a news bureau spokesman said, new circumstances and Czechoslovakia's new mutual assistance agreement with Russia made it desirable to accept military aid and advice from the Soviet.

Basis for the new Czech army, whose size will remain a military secret, will be the Soviet-sponsored Czech army formed in Russia during the German occupation. Gen. Ludvig Svoboda is commander in chief and Gen. Josef Bocek is chief of staff. The prewar Czech army numbered approximately 1,200,000 men and was armed with the latest French equipment.

Academy Destroyed

The Soviets, the bureau spokesman said, have agreed to enroll a number of young Czech officers and enlisted men at all Soviet military schools and give them the same training afforded Red Army men. Czech units which were trained in Britain will be absorbed and retained in the new army.

The spokesman said the Czech Government considered it essential that a new officer corps be trained at once because the Germans had executed most of the Czech general staff and had destroyed the national military academy at Hranice.

Czechoslovakia's new relationship with Russia was reflected in a mass meeting in Prague Sunday thanking the Red Army and Marshal Stalin for liberating the country, the Prague radio said in a broadcast reported in New York by the Federal Communications Commission.

MYSTERY FLIGHT THWARTED NAZIS

London, May 21 (A. P.).—Strapped in the bomb bays of two unarmed Mosquito planes, a 56-year-old English business man and a Government supply expert raced across the North Sea two years ago and beat the Germans out of the ball-bearing output of Swedish factories.

The risky adventure related today was one of the many "backstage" thrillers of the war that couldn't be disclosed until victory.

In June, 1943, when American and British bombers had virtually stopped German production, Nazi diplomats endeavored to induce Sweden to step up ball-bearing exports to Germany.

Wilhelm Siberg, Swedish-born managing director for a British ball-bearing factory, and H. W. A. Waring, a veteran Ministry of Supply official, were chosen by London to block the German efforts.

Fast Mosquitos were the only planes that stood a chance of evading interception. Never before had they carried passengers. For three hours Siberg and Waring huddled in the bomb bays, oxygen masks strapped to their faces as the Mosquitos roared along at 30,000 feet. A short time later the British emissaries negotiated successfully with Swedish manufacturers a deal which kept the Nazis from obtaining the ball bearings.

The trip started a secret air service between Britain and Sweden that handled diplomatic mail, critical materials, and "very important persons."

GENERAL ELECTION LOOMS IN ENGLAND

BLACKPOOL, England, Tuesday, May 22—(AP) Great Britain's first general election in ten years appeared imminent today after laborite ministers rejected Prime Minister Churchill's proposal for extension of the coalition government until the end of the Japanese war and opposed a proposaled referendum on continuing the present parliament.

Political observers at the labor party's national convention here predicted that Churchill would announce in parliament later today that King George VI intended to dissolve the parliament in three weeks and that the election would be held July 5.

The coalition government, formed in 1940 just before Dunkerque, when Britain was fighting with her back to the wall, appeared likely to crumble in the wake of the developments. Laborite ministers were opening their campaigns.

While the laborites flatly rejected Churchill's proposals, leaders of the Liberal party and the Liberal National party expressed willingness to continue the coalition at least temporarily.

Sir Archibald Sinclair, head of the Liberal party, said his group doubted the wisdom of prolonging the present parliament and would prefer an election in late autumn, but would be willing to discuss "the possibility of preserving the government under your (Churchill's) leadership until the end of the Japanese war."

LABORITES REJECT CHURCHILL'S PLEA

Blackpool, England, May 21 (A. P.).—Labor party members of the Cabinet rejected tonight Prime Minister Churchill's suggestion that they stay in the coalition government until the end of the war with Japan. Their action put up to Churchill the next move—whether to call for a summer general election. A breakup of the coalition government is probable

Major Clement Attlee, deputy Prime Minister, and Home Secretary Herbert Morrison announced that the whole issue had been thrashed out behind closed doors by more than 1,100 delegates to the Labor party conference, that the delegates had voted unanimously to turn down Churchill's proposal.

The labor ministers, announcing they were in favor of an autumn election, took the view that Churchill's proposal was a deliberate effort to cash in on his immediate prestige in behalf of the Conservative party. They said they were ready to fight it out in a summer election, however, if Churchill so decides.

An alternative Churchill proposal that the Labor members remain in the Government and a referendum be conducted on whether the life of Parliament should be further prolonged also was turned down by the Labor delegates. The Labor ministers said they were prepared to carry on in the Government until autumn but they could not agree to any indefinite extension of Parliament.

Churchill Note On Coalition to Party Leaders

Wants the Present Union Continued Until Decisive Victory Over Japanese

LONDON, May 21 (UP).—The complete text of Prime Minister Churchill's letter to party leaders asking for maintenance of the coalition government:

From talks I have had with you and your principal labor colleagues, I have gathered the impression that the Labor party, instead of leaving the government on the defeat of Germany, would be willing to continue the coalition until autumn.

I have given the most careful and anxious though to this suggestion, and I regret to say that in its present form I cannot feel it would be in the public interest.

A union of parties like that which now exists should come together and work together, not for a particular date without regard to world events, but for achievement for some great national purpose transcending all party differences.

For the last five or six months our Ministerial and Parliamentary affairs have been increasingly affected by the assumed approach of a general election at the end of the German war. This has not conduced to national interest so far as domestic affairs are concerned.

Offers a Proposal

I therefore make you the following proposal, which I earnestly hope you will not readily reject, namely, that we should fix upon another object for our joint endeavors and adjourn the question of our separation until it is gained.

The First Lord of the Admiralty has already expressed in his speech in the City of London his regret that a general election should be held before the Japanese war was finished. It would give me great relief if you and your friends were found resolved to carry on with us until decisive victory has been gained over Japan.

In the meanwhile, we would together do our utmost to implement proposals for social security and full employment contained in White Papers which have been laid before Parliament. On this basis, we could work together with all the energy and comradeship which has marked our long and honorable association.

I am conscious, however, in the highest degree of our duty to strengthen ourselves by a direct expression of the nation's will.

If you should decide to stand on with us, all united together, until surrender is compelled, let us discuss means of taking the nation's opinion—for example, a referendum on the issue whether in these conditions the life of this Parliament should be further prolonged.

Partial text of the reply of Deputy Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee, Labor party leader:

I would earnestly ask you to reconsider your decision to hold an election under circumstances which are bound to cause bitter resentment among men of the fighting services.

Should you, however, decide on an election in July despite all disadvantages to the electors set out in this letter with which you are familiar, responsibilitiy must, and will, of course, be yours.

It has been the view of the Labor party, which I think you share, that a rushed election like that of 1918, before the electorate, and especially those serving overseas, have had a fair opportunity of considering candidates and policies, would be utterly wrong and would gravely weaken the authority of any government resulting from such an election at a time when public confidence would be especially necessary. . . .

My colleagues and I do not share your view that the country's interests would be prejudiced by continuance of the present government until autumn.

On the contrary, we think there would be a great advantage in the government which has successfully brought the nation through the war continuing for a short time in order to deal with immediate problems in the international field and especially to help bring to a successful conclusion the San Francisco Conference.

MAGNETIC POLE CROSSED

British Lancaster Returns to Montreal With Weather Data

LONDON, May 21 (AP) — The Lancaster Aries, which flew over the geographical North Pole last week, crossed the North Magnetic Pole yesterday.

The Air Ministry, announcing this today, said the plane had taken off from Goose Bay, Labrador, Saturday afternoon, reached the Pole and returned to Montreal shortly after noon Sunday.

The flights were to collect meteorological and radar information and to study polar region flying conditions.

War-Surviving Pier Burns

FOLKESTONE, England, May 21 (AP)—Victoria Pier in this town on England's southeast coast survived cross-channel shelling and air raids during the war only to be wrecked by a raging fire last night. Thousands enjoying the Whitsun Bank holiday watched as the pier went up in smoke and flame.

Gen. Eisenhower's Double Unharmed. Nazi Plot a Hoax

By GEORGE TUCKER AND AUSTIN BEALMEAR

PARIS, May 21—(AP) A gigantic hoax perpetrated by the Germans at the time of the Ardennes offensive last December was taken so seriously by the Allied command that a double replaced Gen. Eisenhower in the latter's official car and a drastic curfew was clamped on the Paris area to foil would-be Nazi assassins.

In an atmosphere which increased steadily in intensity, military police patrolled the streets of the capital and at least 43 roadblocks were set up covering all approaches to the city. Hundreds of arrests were made and there were numerous casualties as .50-caliber machineguns ripped into vehicles which ignored the roadblocks.

The story of the Nazi "plot" to kill Eisenhower and other high-ranking Allied officers—one of the top secrets of the European theater—became public property only last Thursday, after the U. S. Seventh Army captured Lt. Col. Otto Skorzeny, aide to Gestapo chief Heinrich Himmler.

Censors permitted the disclosure that Skorzeny, who effected the spectacular rescue of Mussolini from Italian custody in 1943, was reported to have planned to lead a band of picked killers wearing American uniforms in a bold foray into the Allied rear at the height of Von Rundstedt's "bulge" offensive.

Supplies Missing Links

In an official statement today Col. H. G. Sheen, chief of counter-intelligence at Allied headquarters, cleared up some of the missing chapters of the "plot" that threw Paris into confusion for days.

"We know now," he said, "that this was only a story and never at any time did Skorzeny or any of his people plan to carry out such an operation."

Evidence now has been gathered, he said, which shows conclusively that the Nazis planted the story of the assassination plan among their own forces to increase their morale and to sow confusion among the Allies, who were certain to get wind of it.

On the other hand, Skorzeny at the time of his capture last week was quoted by the service newspaper, Stars and Stripes, as saying he actually had planned an attempt on Eisenhower's life.

Sheen declined today to say when and how counter-intelligence arrived at the conclusion that the entire plot was a hoax, but it was recalled that roadblocks were maintained for months on all roads leading to Eisenhower's headquarters and that the utmost precautions were taken to protect other Allied officers.

The American officer who volunteered to serve as a decoy and occupy Eisenhower's official car on trips between St. Germains and Versailles was Lt. Col. Baldwin B. Smith of Chicago, who bears a striking resemblance to the Allied commander-in-chief.

"When Smith sat in the general's car you couldn't tell the difference," declared Lt. Albert Buonnano of Cranston, R. I. "Their smiles are identical and from the rear they look exactly alike."

Throughout the period of the emergency Eisenhower's four-star car moved smoothly on its appointed rounds without a single incident to enliven the adventure for Smith. Nothing was thrown at him except salutes.

Plot or Hoax

Col. Sheen, reconstructing the German plot—or hoax—said that when the Nazis were planning the Ardennes offensive they called in Skorzeny and told him to prepare "special operations" in connection with the drive.

Skorzeny called on numerous elements of the German army to provide personnel who could speak English, especially with an American accent. The officers and men selected were formed into a special group and underwent intensive training.

They were schooled in impersonating Americans, down to such details as the American way of opening a package of cigarettes and the American habit of eating with the fork in the right hand. They were planted in American prisoner of war camps, where they learned the latest G.I. slang.

They received American uniforms and weapons and jeeps and were trained in their handling. About Dec. 8 they and 800 other specialists got the remainder of their equipment, including faked credentials. Throughout the training it was always implied that Skorzeny would lead a picked party of 60 desperados through the Allied lines to assassinate Gen Eisenhower and other Allied officers, Sheen said. The Germans themselves believed it to be true.

However, the real mission of the specialists merely was to spearhead the Nazi armored attack on Dec. 16, destroying bridges and creating as much confusion as possible behind the American lines Sheen said it now was known.

"For several days we had no means of knowing the enemy's intentions," he continued. "We didn't know exactly what Skorzeny's people were planning to do, and we weren't going to take any chances."

Sheen said that Skorzeny did not accompany his specialists in their daring foray. Within a week all except about 10 of the party of 150 were killed, and they probably now are in prison camps. Of those captured alive in American uniforms, some 50 were tried and executed, Sheen said. Others were shot while trying to escape.

Sheen said that Skorzeny would be tried for his part in the Ardennes treachery and probably on numerous other charges.

The Paris curfew was imposed without warning on the night of Dec. 21. Since it was believed that Skorzeny's agents might be infiltrating the capital in American uniforms, the curfew was designed to clear all soldiers from the streets at a given moment. It worked just like that. Thousands of troops vanished as if they had dropped through trap doors.

For nine days the angry doughboys, who had planned a big Christmas in Paris, remained cramped in doors without knowing the reason.

Had any of Skorzeny's men succeeded in entering Paris during this period they would have been detected in a matter of minutes.

Double Sat In for Eisenhower When Treachery Was Feared

Chicago Man Volunteered to Act as Decoy —Assassination Plot Is Revealed as Nazi Propaganda Hoax.

Paris, May 21 (A. P.).—An American lieutenant colonel was used as a double for Gen. Eisenhower last December, after the Germans had voiced threats against the Allied commander's life, it was disclosed today. Supreme Headquarters added, however, that the plot was merely a hoax—a story the Germans spread to heighten the morale of their own troops.

The double, Col. Baldwin B. Smith of Chicago, was placed in Eisenhower's automobile on journeys between St. Germain and Versailles. He volunteered for the role of decoy when the Army clamped an iron-tight curfew on the Paris area and set up the most elaborate machinery of the war to prevent any possible attempt to destroy Supreme Headquarters and to assassinate the commanding general.

In appearance Eisenhower and Smith are so strikingly alike that they are frequently mistaken for each other. "When Smith sat in the general's car, you couldn't tell the difference," said Lieut. Albert Buonnano of Cranston, R. I. "Their smiles are identical, and from the rear they look exactly alike."

Did Not Know It Was Hoax.

Lieut.-Col. Otto Skorzeny, aid to Gestapo Chief Henrich Himmler and alleged leader of the picked assassins directed to kill Eisenhower, was captured by the American Seventh Army last Thursday. Censors then permitted release of the plot story, one of the top military secrets of the European theater. The story went that Skorzeny organized a party of highly trained saboteurs to infiltrate the Allied lines in the early stages of Von Rundstedt's breakthrough, and they were told that Skorzeny, the kidnaper of Mussolini, would lead them in the assassination of Eisenhower and other high ranking Allied officers.

Col. H. G. Sheen, chief of Counter-intelligence at SHAEF, declared of the story today: "But we know now, what we did not know at the time, that this was only a story, and that never at any time did Skorzeny or any of his people plan to carry out such an operation."

Sheen said that Skorzeny himself did not accompany his party when it dropped behind the Allied lines to commit sabotage. He said that evidence has been gathered showing conclusively that the story of the assassination attempt was planted among the Germans. (1.) To increase their morale by making them believe their boss was going to lead them in a daring exploit that would bring victory, and (2) to confuse the Allies—for the Germans knew that some of the saboteurs would be captured and questioned, and that they would talk.

Lead to Great Precautions.

When Skorzeny was captured, he was quoted by the Stars and Stripes, the Army newspaper, as saying that he planned an attempt on Eisenhower's life.

The story—told by Germans who were caught wearing American uniforms — also was sufficiently convincing to bring about the utmost precautions for the personal safety of Eisenhower; his chief of staff, Lieut.-Gen. Walter Bedell Smith; and other high ranking Allied officers including the commanders of Army groups and armies.

Skorzeny, 37 and a Viennese-born S. S. Oberstrumbanfuehrer, was selected long ago to head the sabotage and special operations section of the German secret service because of his powerful physique, his aggressive personality and keen mind, Sheen declared.

Smith, the Eisenhower double, is now commander of the Third Battalion, 156th Infantry, in Germany.

Nazi Field Marshal Is Captured; Hunt For Himmler Being Pressed

Paris, May 21—(AP)—Field Marshal Ferdinand Schoerner, commander of hold-out Nazi troops who resisted the Red Army in Czechoslovakia many days after Germany's unconditional surrender, was an American captive today—turned over to the 42nd Division by troops of a German Army command post.

Schoerner, who deserted his troops in the field and flew out of Czechoslovakia May 8, was disguised in a Tyrolean native costume when he sought refuge with the German First Army group, only to be surrendered promptly to the Americans.

Hunt for Himmler

The manhunt for Gestapo chief Heinrich Himmler continued. An armored automobile identified as having belonged to him was found near Neunkirchen, close to the area where Arthur Greiser, former Nazi overlord of Posnan, was caught on May 17.

(Moscow commentators last night demanded to know why some Nazi war criminals had not been captured by British-American authorities. The Soviet writer B. Ilyin said that "a large group of the bases and most dangerous organizers of the sanguinary Hitlerite regime had been seized, but that "still others keep playing hide and seek with Allied military authorities. Another commentator said public opinion in the Allied countries "demands an immediate stop to collaboration of military authority with the ersatz government of Doenitz.")

Ultimately, Germany will be decentralized and placed under the administrative control of local mayors under Allied supervision, a British military government officer said, after a sufficient number of "worthy burgomeisters' are found. German refugees in London will return to help in establishing the administrative setup.

Assets Frozen

The American military government froze finacial assets of Nazi leaders yesterday, limiting them to $30 a month for living expenses. Those affected, all of them liable to arrest, included all general staff officers, Reichstag deputies, SS members officers and non-commissioned officers of the Waffen SS and SA, police above the rank of lieutenant colonel, security police, Gestapo members and all above the rank of captain in the administration of occupied territories.

The loot of the Nazi inner circle still is being tracked down. Supreme headquarters has sent special agents throughout Germany to seek art treasures valued at $500,000,000, stolen by a vast Nazi organization created for the purpose of plundering on an almost incredible scale.

Part of the loot—Hermann Goering's "private" art collection valued at $20,000,000 and "acquired" by the Nazis—was displayed to American troops and officers at Berchtesgaden.

In Austria, the 80th Division of the U. S. Third Army has taken into custody Norman Baillie-Stewart, cashiered lieutenant of the Seaforth Highlanders, who once broadcast Nazi propaganda to Britain from Hamburg.

France Seen Facing Crisis

Rumors Circulate That Labor Leaders Plan General Strike—Conferences Held.

Paris, May 21 (A. P.).—Rumors that French labor leaders were planning a national general strike circulated through financial and industrial circles today and the belief was expressed that the country approached a crisis in internal affairs.

Officials of the Central Committee of Labor Unions said important conferences were held over the week end but denied general strikes were emminent.

Meanwhile, a survey of basic stocks and bonds showed that Paris Bourse quotations have slipped sharply within the last few weeks and particularly since the recent municipal elections. These were dominated by Communists and Socialists in the original polling. Supplementary elections last week in communities where clear majorities have been established confirm the leftist trend.

BourseQuotations Decline.

Bourse quotations showed a steady decline since the end of April in the following issues: Bank of Paris, Suez capital, Rio Tinto, Royal Dutch, Debeers. The heaviest decline in Suez probably was due to a rumor the Government might nationalize those holdings. Significantly, South African gold mining stocks were the only ones gaining.

Financial experts said the election results and Government ordinance making it illegal to transfer stocks anonymously were factors directly affecting the decline in the market. General internal conditions also were exerting a depression effect.

Conversely, the financial black market registered a steady rise in the price for both American and British money. Paper dollars officially were worth 50 francs. Sources said that on May 1, the black market was paying 145 francs per dollar and now pays 170. Gold dollars allegedly bring 1,235 francs. Prices for the British paper pound was listed at 530 francs.

Strikes Increase Tension.

Industrial troubles appeared increasing with a general strike at Lyons and the Rhone region last week! a walkout among coal miners at Pas de Calais and an explosion at the Ghome du Rhone factory, which was believed the result of sabotage. The Lyons general strike was induced by a dissatisfaction attributed to the food situation and a demand among workers that the region be put on a wage parity with Paris labor.

The strike among coal miners was considered exceptionally serious. The French coal industry hasn't been able to build up reserves fo rthe coming winter and most of France's industrial machine runs on coal.

State Treasure Of Hungary Is Found By Americans In Austrian Alps

Bedlmedr

Paris, May 21—(AP)—The state treasure of Hungary, including the total gold reserve behind all Hungarian currency in circulation, was uncovered recently by the U. S. 80th Infantry Division on a rocky, pine-covered crag high in the Austrian Alps.

The treasure trove, hidden in the ancient mountain village of Spital am Pyhrn, was unearthed by Hungarian-born M/Sgt. William J. DeHuszar of Chicago, Ill.

It included 4,000,000,000 Pengos ($130,000,000 at the present rate of exchange), 29,000 kilograms of gold bullion worth $30,000,000, complete sets of Hungarian bank note plates for printing all Hungarian currency, plus other wealth representing most of the capital interest and individual deposits of Hungary brought from Budapest before the Russians captured that city.

Also in the mountain top chapel cellar were more than 1,000,000 Reichsmarks, $159,000 in American currency, six cases of priceless Hungarian art treasures, including historical 14th century illuminated manuscripts belonging to the ancient Magyar kings, and 20 cases containing jewels and other valuables once the property of the Royal Hunagrian Court.

This wealth in money, art and jewels was watched over by the pro-Nazi president of the Royal Bank of Hungary and some 500 financial experts, clerks, bookkeepers and other employes, guarded by 200 picked Hungarian gendarmes.

Supreme headquarters said Nazi Gestapo agents tried to hijack the treasure shortly before the arrival of 80th Division doughboys. The Gestapo had the active co-operation of the Hungarian bank president, who was an appointee of the puppet premier, Dr. Ferenc Szalasi.

But a patriot Hungarian stalled on the job and deliberately mislaid keys and vital records and generally sabotaged the German attempt at plunder. When the Americans arrived the Germans fled in panic.

The president of the royal bank, to whom Dr. Szalasi had given power of atterney over the bank in direct violation of the Hungarian National Constitution, has since been arrested by American authorities.

The personnel manager of the bank, an ardent Nazi and formerly an obscure bank employe whose salary was increased nearly six times under Nazi sponsorship, has also been placed under arrest.

DARING DEEDS AID PRISONERS

SHAEF Tells How Airborne Teams Worked In Europe

Bedlmedr

Paris, May 21 (AP)—Special airborne reconnaissance teams were employed in daring exploits behind enemy lines that succeeded in obtaining information on conditions in Nazi prisoner-of-war camps, supreme headquarters disclosed today.

SHAEF disclosed that 2,173,000 Allied prisoners, including 75,850 Americans, had been held in 70 German war camps in mid-March.

In one instance food and medical supplies were dropped by parachute to prisoners in a camp still in possession of the enemy.

Allied officials learned from recovered prisoners that Stalag 9-A, Altengrabow, near Magdeburg, was being used as a concentration camp for war captives from five other camps. The officials wanted to know the number of prisoners, their location and food and medical requirements.

Two Teams Captured

They decided to use airborne teams for that purpose.

Two teams dropped into the Altengrabow area were captured and taken to the camp headquarters. Two others remained concealed in the woods, where they were able to make contact with prisoners and communicate with their own headquarters.

The senior officer of one of the captured teams persuaded the German camp commandant to permit him to transmit desired information to Allied headquarters by radio.

Within six days arrangements were completed for evacuation of all the British, American and French prisoners to places within the American lines. Eventually terms were drawn up between the commander of the Allied division operating in the area and the German commandant for surrender of the entire camp.

Supplies Down By Parachute

Allied officials learned, too, that prisoners in the camp at Neu Brandenberg, 70 miles north of Berlin, were sorely in need of food and medicine. They were dying at the rate of ten a day from acute dysentery, caused by malnutrition.

Supplies for 2,000 prisoners were dropped by parachute.

By May 17, 62,960 Americans, 130,140 British, 603,940 French and a number of Belgians and Dutch nationals were evacuated from Germany. All of the Americans, 118,900 British and 99,270 French were moved out by air. As many as 36,000 prisoners have been flown out in one day.

2,173,000 Prisoners Were Held By Germany

Paris, May 21 (AP)—Supreme headquarters announced today that 2,173,000 Allied prisoners of war, 75,850 of them American, were held in 70 German camps in mid-March and that Allied parachute troops were dropped behind enemy lines to secure information about their comrades.

In at least one case, food and medical supplies were parachuted to prisoners in a German camp still in enemy hands.

From liberated prisoners, it was learned that Stalag 9A at Altengrabow was being used as a concentration center for prisoners of war from five other camps. Six special Allied airborne reconnaissance teams were parachuted into the Altengrabow area to obtain information on the number of prisoners and their food and medical requirements.

Saar Return To France Called For On Placards

Paris, May 21 (AP)—Placards calling for restoration of the rich coal-producing Saar Valley to France appeared today on Paris billboards.

They were destributed by an organization listed as the French Saar Association.

"When France was strong the Saar was French," and "for security of country and that of our children the Saar must be French," the placards read.

The French Government has restricted itself to formal announcement that it expects the important coal-bearing region to come within the French zone of occupation.

The Saar was given France under the Treaty of Versailles. It was returned to Germany in 1935 after a plebiscite of the inhabitants.

Leon Blum's Wife Wed Him In Nazi Prison

Paris, May 21 (AP) — Madame Blum, wife of the former Premier of France, Leon Blum, said today that she and the former French leader were married in a prison camp after the German authorities had given her permission to leave Paris to be with him in Germany.

Madame Blum, an attractive woman of about 40, is four years older than Blum's only daughter. Blum is 73.

"There was no ceremony or anything like that," Madame Blum said. "Our marriage was registered and the Germans gave me permission to stay in prison with my husband."

PARIS, May 21 (AP)—Continuing to round up an assortment of Nazis, Fascists and other war criminals, the United States Third Army captured Dr. Franz Anton Basch, a leader of Hungarian Nazis, who organized a volksbund in Hungary in 1939.

Edward Dietze, former chief of German anti-Allied propaganda and boss of the radio commentator Lord Haw Haw, was seized in the First Canadian Army sector.

U. S. Officer Finds Daughter in Leipzig Ruins

Long Search Through Bombed Cities Ends as Lovely Girl, 19, Walks Into His Arms.

By DANIEL DE LUCE.

Duesseldorf, Germany, May 21 (A. P.).—An American officer who hunted through the bombed wastes of German cities for his long lost daughter told a stranger-than-fiction story today of the "Cinderella of Leipzig."

Short, stocky, baldish Major Arnold Wilson Samuels of Columbus, Ohio, who served nearly a decade as a reading clerk for the Ohio House of Representatives and talks as prosaic as your next door neighbor, came overseas to fight Germany for a second time, and this time also to save his only child.

"In February when my division, the Ninety-fourth, was storming Trier, I asked permission of my commander, Major-Gen. Harry J. Maloney of Dundee, N. Y., to go in with the first wave of combat infantry," said the 44-year-old Samuels.

"I was assistant G4 for the division and my job was concerned with supply and transport—not combat—but Gen. Maloney knew that I had not seen my daughter, Elaine Marilyn, since 1928, when she was 3 years old, and my first wife had taken her back to her maternal grandparents in Trier. He granted my request."

The Ninety-fourth, dubbed "Roosevelt's Butchers" by the enemy radio's female commentator, "Axis Sally," made quick work of Trier.

Heard Family Had Moved.

"I searched Trier, which had been pretty badly hit," Major Samuels said, "and my emotions were an unpleasant mixture of fear and hope for what I might find. But the suspense didn't end. Some of the townspeople said they thought the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Heinrich Schroeder, had moved to Leipzig with my daughter several years before. I simply had to wait while the battle of Germany dragged on."

The Ninety-fourth rolled through Ludwigshafen, then turned north to help in reducing the big Ruhr pocket. Leipzig was heavily pounded by the Allied Air Forces. Major Samuels read of super-blockbusters of eleven tons which had been dropped there.

Outcome in Leipzig.

As the Ninety-fourth neared the end of its Ruhr task Leipzig fell. Gen. Maloney issued a seven-day leave—"illegal as hell but very kind," according to Major Samuels—for the latter to visit the big city in Saxony.

Lieut. Anton Viditz-Ward of 24-25 28th street, Astoria, L. I., accompanied Major Samuels because he knew Leipzig intimately from student days. Gen. Maloney gave them a Mercedes sedan, booty of the battlefield, for the trip.

Major Samuels took along documents which established that after serving in France with the First Division in 1918, he had become a Medical Corpsman with the Army of Occupation; that a few months after non-fraternization rules were rescinded in November, 1919, he married Gerda Schroeder, daughter of a Trier jurist. Their own daughter was born in Columbus, Ohio, in 1925.

"I was very shaky as we drove to Leipzig," Major Samuels said. "I didn't know whether I might find Elaine Marilyn dead or horribly maimed. I had heard a lot about Nazi practices for German girls. The prospect was terrifying. I prayed a lot on the way to Leipzig."

Within the ruins of Leipzig, Major Samuels found an American Military Government office and reported. He waited there while Viditz-Ward went alone to find whether anything remained at an address on Steinstrasse, last known residence of the Schroeder family.

"An officer had just told me I'd have to clear out of Leipzig," Major Samuels said. "My permit to leave there was no good and I was a blamed nuisance. Then Viditz came back. He had been gone only forty-five minutes. With him was the sweetest young girl I had ever seen in my life. She took one look at me and was in my arms. I guess I was stunned with happiness."

Only House Still Standing.

Lieut. Viditz-Ward explained today that the Schroeder house was the only one still standing in the neighborhood. The grandparents, both in their seventies, and their grandchildren had escaped injury in seven heavy air raids.

On the door of the house was a name plate, "Elaine Samuels—American."

"Well," said Major Samuels, "the next thing was to have Elaine Marilyn examined by our counter-intelligence. I wanted that as much as any one, for her sake. The report showed that her grandparents had carefully guarded her from contacts with the Nazi system. They had always insisted that the Nazis recognize that she was an American girl. She had all her papers with her, too, a certificate of citizenship from the American Vice-Consul in Leipzig in 1940, her Ohio birth certificate and a copy of her parents' marriage license."

Major Samuels said that he visited briefly with the Schroeders and thanked them for the care of his daughter. He told them of his first wife, from whom he has long been divorced and who resides in a penthouse on West 57th street in New York. They explained they hadn't seen Gerda since a visit in 1935 when her anti-Nazi remarks made it difficult to obtain another German visa.

En route back to Ninety-fourth Division headquarters in Duesseldorf, the Samuels party stopped for supper in Nordhausen and an American military policeman suddenly appeared.

"He gave us the once over," Major Samuels said, "and asked: 'Isn't this unusual?'"

Joke is on Military Police.

Major Samuels said he replied: "What's unusual in an American officer eating a meal with his daughter? Then a whole detail of Military Police came in. They had been alerted that there was 'something very big going on' but they enjoyed it when they learned the joke was on them, although it ruined a supposedely sensational case of fraternization."

The interview with Major Samuels was interrupted by the appearance of a lissome, dark-haired, brown-eyed girl of 19 in a flowered silk dress.

"My daughter," the major said proudly. "It was a sort of a Cinderella story finding her among the ashes of Leipzig, but now it's as if everybody in the Ninety-fourth Division considered himself to be her father. We have a family suite in the divisional hotel. At our mess she was served the first eggs and oranges she had eaten in four years, and the first chocolate candy she'd had in six years."

Smilingly shyly about her broken English, Elaine Marilyn said studying English was the most important thing she was doing now. A bystander, Lieut. George C. Walsh of Miami, Fla., volunteered: "You're getting along O. K. in our jitterbugging lessons, too, young lady."

"Sometimes," Major Samuels said, "I think it's all a dream and some one will stick a pin in me and I'll have to wake up. I only found Elaine Marilyn on April 25, but I'm going to have a tough time accustoming myself to the military in the Army again when she goes home to the States, and I go puttering off to the C-B-I or somewhere else."

Hitler Was Physical Wreck Near War's End Says Doctor

By HOWARD COWAN

BERCHTESGADEN, Germany, May 21 — (AP) A 59-year-old man who said he was Hitler's personal physician since 1936 declared today he gave the Fuehrer injections of glucose and caffeine regularly in order to sustain his energy during the last months they were together.

He said his name was Dr. Theodore Morrell. He was gravely ill in a hospital, suffering from a stroke he said was caused when Hitler berated him in a fit of anger on April 21.

This was his story:

Morrell called on Hitler in his underground headquarters in the Reichschancellery in Berlin the morning of April 21 for his regular 15-minute consultation, held every other day.

"I was outside the Fuehrer's door talking excitedly and I knew something was in the air," Morrell said. "They said it was ridiculous for Hitler to remain in Berlin, and that they must force him to go to Berchtesgaden.

"Dr. Strohfeger of the SS told me I had known the Fuehrer for a long time, and he suggested I give him an injection of glucose or something stronger as a stimulat. He was physically worn out."

Morrell said he told Hitler: "Mein Fuehrer, we have thought it over and decided you are very tired. I am going to give you an injection to make you feel better."

Flew Into Rage

Despite the fact that Hitler had been receiving injections from Morrell for several months he went into a rage and shouted: "Do you think I am crazy? You're trying to give me morphine.

"You're fired. Get out. Go home and take your medical uniform off. Forget I ever had anything to do with you!"

Morrell said he collapsed at Hitler's feet. Later he recalled waking up in the Fuehrer's bunker. Hitler seemed remorseful, Morrell added, and offered to have him removed to a safer place.

Morrell said he left Berlin the next night for Berchtesgaden in the same plane with Gerhard Herrgessel, the last of Hitler's shorthand secretaries to leave him.

Morrell explained that he administered the glucose and caffeine intravenously to Hitler every other day for the past several months. He prescribed the treatment because of the terrific strain Hitler was under, and to relieve painful cramps and colic that affected Hitler after meals.

Morrell described Hitler as a difficult patient, who refused to submit to X-ray examinations for cancer in order to dispel rumors that he was suffering from that disease.

Morrell said that Hitler had gall bladder trouble and in the fall of 1944 was in bed for a week because of jaundice.

More recently, Morrell added, he had feared that Hitler might become afflicted with heart trouble. He said a Berlin throat specialist removed a polymp from Hitler's throat in a minor operation.

Morrell declared he was not an eye-witness to the bombing attempt on Hitler's life, but was one of the first to reach his side.

"I found him in a state of ecstasy," Morrell related. "His hair was singed, his face was bleeding, his trousers were torn and his leg was scratched.

"He was sitting and saying over and over: "Think of it. Think of it. Nothing has happened to me. Just think of it.'

"I was astonished to find his pulse absolutely normal."

Morrell said that Hitler had a nervous twitch of the right leg and left arm which disappeared for a while after the bombing incident. Later the arm resumed its convulsive trembling and became even worse.

Morrell said the blast ruptured Hitler's eardrums and later caused a slight continuing head discharge.

Thankless Patient

He described Hitler as an "egocentric" and a thankless patient who used to fly into rages. He said there was nothing to the story that Hitler chewed rugs.

"It was much worse when he grew pale and quiet and remained that way for several minutes," Morrell related. "These scenes were invariably followed by some ruthless order. Some one was killed, removed from office, or something equally drastic."

"He was easily annoyed—a man who could not stand to be interrupted in conversation. In a group he demanded that he lead the conversation. I've seen him terribly annoyed at himself when illness made him unable to perform as he wanted."

Morell said he was convinced that Hitler did not commit suicide—"it was absolutely inconsistent with a man of his type."

Of Hitler's feminine companion, Eva Braun, Morrell said:

"She was respected among the inner members of Hitler's entourage as Hitler's wife. A marriage undoubtedly was consummated, but I know very little about his love life."

Dutch Art Prize Recovered From Frau Goering's Nurse

Berchtesgaden, May 12 (AP)—A prize painting from Hermann Goering's art collection—valued by United States Army art experts at $1,000,000—was recovered tonight.

Jan Van Meer's seventeenth century "Christ and the Adultress" was found in the possession of Choista Gormans, Frau Goering's nurse.

Capt. Harry Anderson, Ossining, N.Y., fine arts expert of the 101st Airborne Division, made the discovery in Schloss Fisch Horn, near the Zellam See, where Goering's wife has been staying.

Frau Goering Questioned

The castle, under guard of the 506th Parachute Infantry Regiment, became a likely spot to look after Anderson found evidence in Goering's luxury railroad cars that the Dutch artist's painting was somewhere in the vicinity.

Anderson questioned Goering's wife, but she denied any knowledge of it.

As the captain walked downstairs, the nurse followed him and said:

"If you're collecting all of Goering's paintings perhaps you'd better take mine. Come with me."

Wrapped Around Stovepipe.

The nurse went to her room and pulled out a four-foot length of stove pipe wrapped in a blanket..

"I don't know what it is," she said. "He just told be to keep this and I'd never have to worry for money again the rest of my life."

Anderson unwrapped the blanket and found Ver Meer's masterpiece wrapped around the stove pipe.

KRUPP ARMAMENT RULER IS OUSTED FROM HIS MANSION

By DANIEL DE LUCE

ESSEN, Germany, May 21.—(AP)—Alfred Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, former ruler of the Krupp armament empire, was evicted today by American officers from his mansion and moved into the gardener's cottage on his Essen estate.

The palatial Krupp family home, staffed by 220 servants, was taken over by Maj. Gen. Ernest N. Harmon's U. S. Twenty-second corps as military billets.

Herr Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, who admitted joining the Nazi party in 1936 and having become a standarten fuehrer (colonel) in the Nazi-sponsored national flierger korps, is still under investigation by Allied counter intelligence and is technically under "house arrest."

The blond, angular industrialist, in frequent conversations with American interrogators, was reported to have urged that "my plants" be allowed to start production on rails, locomotives, bridge girders and other equipment necessary for the restoration of German communications.

He maintained that despite the heavy bomb damage to the great Krupp works they could "almost immediately" reach about 40 per cent of their pre-war production for civilian needs.

The resumption of the Krupp works production, he asserted, was an "essential step" towards the feeding of Germany during the next winter, because otherwise food could not be imported with the present transportation facilities in time to meet the acute emergency.

Werewolf a Phony, Too.

Wuppertal, Germany, May 21 (A. P.).—A month of American police work in the Ruhr has exposed the Nazi werewolf as one of Joseph Goebbels's biggest propaganda phonys.

Here in the American Military Prison, a former luxurious German police headquarters, more than 200 German youths have been examined concerning the much-touted underground sabotage army that was to fight in the Allied rear. No such resistance has been encountered across the Rhine. The only tangible werewolf activity has been the scrawling on alley walls in a few Ruhr towns of the threat: "Traitor, beware! The Werewolf Watches!"

The American officers have concluded from the questioning of the Germans that the werewolf was a hasty, makeshift organization set up by the Nazis in the mistaken assumption that there would be a real fighting front deep in Germany for a very long time. The werewolves were regarded as completely expendable, it now appears, and were set loose in bands of three to choose targets of sabotage as they wished—and to take the consequences. Apparently they received vague instructions to try to reach German lines after they had used up their supplies of ammunition to enable German Military Intelligence to learn what they had done.

Hitler's Photographer Captured

Rosenheim, Germany, May 21 (AP). Heinrich Hoffman, Hitler's personal photographer, was captured by the 7th Army a week ago. He registered a double complaint from his prison cell today: (1) He had had no champagne for a week, and (2) all his negatives were destroyed in the bombings of Berlin.

Russell Davenport Gets Purple Heart

With the United States Third Army, May 21 (A. P.).—The Purple Heart was awarded yesterday to Russell W. Davenport of New York, former managing editor of Fortune Magazine and personal representative of the late Wendell Willkie.

Davenport was wounded slightly while with the Eleventh Armored Division near Wegscheld, Germany. He was correspondent for Collier's magazine and the New York Post at the time. The wound did not require hospitalization and he remained with the division throughout the operation.

With U.S. 3d Army, May 21 (AP)—Dr. Stefan Tiso, Premier of Slovakia since August, 1944, was captured by Brig. Gen. Frank L. Adams-Muenster, Sunday night, it was announced today.

Edward Dietze Captured

WITH THE CANADIAN FIRST ARMY, May 21 (AP).—Edward Dietze, former chief of the German anti-Allied propaganda, has been captured by Canadian counter-intelligence agents, it was announced today.

The dapper, one-time radio commentator, who broadcast accounts of the summer and winter Olympic games in 1936, was the bost of Lord Haw Haw, the notorious British traitor. He also fostered the practice of trying to persuade Allied troops in prisoner camps to broadcast or send messages to their relatives over the German radio.

GERMANS RETURN BY THOUSANDS TO RUINS OF BERLIN

Moscow, May 21—(AP)—Germans are returning by the thousands to the ruins of Berlin where 20 Russians administrative districts have registered 2,000,000 inhabitants.

Dispatches from the Reich capital said streets are crammed by returning residents arriving in carts, wagons, on bicycle and afoot. More than 4,000,000 lived in Berlin before the war.

Electricity has been restored in some less heavily bombed districts. Water and sewer systems are operating in several others. The railway system is functioning around the ring. Buses, street cars and some sections off the subway are reported operating. But many sections of the subway still are flooded.

Guards still patrol the Wilhelmstrasse district where search continues among the rubble of government buildings for fugitive Nazi leaders.

Correspondents said the palace of Sans-Souci for many years the residence of Frederick the Great, and the Summer residence of Kaiser Wilhelm II, had been stripped of their furniture and art by the Germans.

Gustav's Grandson To Wed Commoner

Stockholm, May 21 (AP)—Defying royal objections to his marrying a commoner, Prince Carl Johan, youngest son of the Swedish Crown Prince, has become engaged to the editor of a women's weekly magazine any may take her to America to live.

The fiancée of the 28-year-old Prince is Mrs. Kestin Wijkmark, who formerly was married to Dr. Henning Wijkmark, Swedish theologian.

A statement issued by the Royal Palace today said 80-year-old King Gustav V had refused his grandson permission for the marriage, and another statement from Crown Prince Gustav Adolf said Prince Carl's engagement had been entered into without his father's consent.

Older Than Fiance

The romance is of several years' standing. The Prince and Mrs. Wijkmark, who is older than her fiancé, have been friends for six years. Two years ago their engagement was reported in the newspaper Aftonbladet, but the entire edition of the paper was recalled at the request of the King.

Under Sweden's basic law, the Prince will lose his right of succession by marrying a commoner.

The newspaper Expressen said today the marriage probably would occur in England during the summer and that the couple then planned to go to New York, where the Prince would represent Swedish business interests.

Swedish Prince Asks Permission To Wed Commoner

Stockholm, May 21—(AP)—The newspaper Expressen said today that Prince Carl Johan, youngest son of the Swedish Crown Prince, had asked King Gustav to permit him to marry a commoner.

She is a magazine editor, Mrs. Kerstin Wijkmark. Under basic Swedish law, the Prince would lose his right to succession by such a marriage.

Expressen said the 28-year-old Prince probably would marry in England during the Summer and establish residence in New York where the Prince would represent Swedish business interests.

Partisans

Trieste, May 21 (AP)—[illegible] troops were evacuating [illegible] Austria tonight and a hi[illegible] Allied officer expressed optimism [illegible] at an agreement would be reached on Trieste—second sore spot irritating relations between Marshal Tito and British forces.

The Yugoslavs began moving out of the Austrian provinces of Carinthia and Styria—zones of British military occupation—which they previously had declared had become a part of "Greater Yugoslavia" along with disputed Trieste and Istria in northeastern Italy.

They moved out quickly in trucks brought in by the British 8th Army and it was expected that they all would be over the border by night-fall.

Seized Newspaper

The Yugoslavs had infiltrated into Austria after advance parties of the 8th Army had entered, and at Klagenfurt had seized a newspaper plant.

Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander in a message to his Mediterranean command had included Southern Austria in the zone which he said Tito apparently intended to occupy by force of arms.

[The Luxembourg radio broadcast a statement it said was carried by the Belgrade radio declaring that the Yugoslav Government was ready to negotiate direct with Italy for a settlement of the Trieste question.

[This account said that Yugoslavia did not plan the lone occupation of Trieste and the Istrian Peninsula.]

Editorial Conciliatory

The orders to move were issued after an officer of the 3d Yugoslav Army conferred with Gen. C. F. Keightley, of the British 5th Corps.

The Yugoslav-controlled newspaper Il Nostro Avvenire published for the first time today Alexander's message to his troops on the gravity of the dispute over Trieste, but the tone of its editorial was conciliatory.

"The maintenance of peace is the task of everybody," the editorial said. "Now less than ever must we yield to the intrigues of our enemies, who always have tried in vain to spread discord among the Allies."

Neither Can Do Good Job

For all that, the same confused situation existed in this Italian port which the British want to supply their occupation forces in Austria.

It is a dual occupation and neither the British nor the Yugoslavs are able to perform a satisfactory job.

In Moscow the Russian press published accounts on the Trieste situation without comment, but the British press declared that such disputes increased the need for an early me[illegible]ie Big Three.

South Austria

While [illegible]gh Allied officer said he [illegible]timistic over the prospect[illegible]ttling the Trieste question, [illegible]terated the Allied contentic[illegible] Tito's forces did not liberat[illegible]e Adriatic port.

Could Have Held Out

He asserted that a garrison of 7,000 Germans surrendered to New Zealand troops here, and they could have held out for some time against Tito's forces.

Tito has taken the position that the city was liberated by his forces who had the same right as other Allied armies of occupying liberated territory.

The Allied forces are using only a fraction of Trieste's port facilities to bring in supplies for their troops in this immediate area, although they had planned to make Trieste a main base of supply for the occupation of Austria.

As a result, the supply problem has been made more difficult and much of it is going overland by motor transport.

Serious Food Shortage

In addition to supplying the 8th Army troops in Austria, the British must look after 250,000 German soldiers and 130,000 refugees.

The problem of disarming the Germans in this territory also has been made more difficult by the presence of the Yugoslavs, the officer declared.

He said the Yugoslavs appeared to be trying to gather as much German equipment as possible and it is believed they have large quantities in their possession.

There is a serious food shortage here and elsewhere in the Trieste area, but the Allied Military Government has taken no steps since it so far has had nothing to do with the administration in Italy east of the Isonzo River, which includes the entire disputed zone.

The Yugoslavs have firmly asserted their intention of administering this region pending final settlement at the peace conference of whether it shall go to Italy or Yugoslavia.

The officer said Allied troops had been good diplomats while watching action foreign to their methods—people being marched through Trieste's streets with their hands tied behind them, and private property, including mattresses and household goods, being requisitioned.

yield to the intrigues of our enemies who always have tried in vain to spread discord among the Allies.

"Tito's Yugoslavia does not wish—now that the people have reached the peace they longed for so long to be the cause of perturbation, but she must have the right to validate her dignity and respect and while one can discuss everything and find a pacific solution to satisfy various parties there can be no negotiation on rights and dignity."

Partisans Patrol City

Partisan patrols meanwhile still moved through the streets of the city and there was no indication of any relinquishing of Yugoslav military administration of the city.

Il Nostro Auvenire declared Yugoslavia's reply had been "firm and dignified" and did not withdraw from the previous position that the occupation and administration of Trieste was proper and "in line with the practice followed everywhere by the Soviet Union and the Anglo-Americans."

It declared Yugoslavia was willing to leave the ultimate disposition of Trieste and surrounding areas to a peace conference.

There was no explanation, however, of previous declarations that Trieste, Istria and parts of Carinthia and Styria in Austria had become part of a "Greater Yugoslavia," nor of the substitution of Yugoslav names for the previous Italian names of villages east of Isonzo.

No Allied Food

The Allied Military Government, headed by Lieut. Col. Joseph Schultz, of Louisville, Ky., remained outside the city. There was little prospect of Allied food being sent in so long as the Yugoslav administration continued.

Bread stores and vegetable markets were open during morning hours in an attempt to alleviate the situation, but authorities were agreed there were difficult days ahead unless some way was found to move in food stocks. The city has been cut off from its normal larder in Fruili Province.

Yugoslav overtures for permission to bring food from the Padua area seemed doomed to fail, since thousands of displaced persons, refugees and prisoners are streaming toward Italy, making it likely that there would be no surplus.

Yesterday the Italian Garibaldi Division, which has fought beside Yugoslav Partisans, paraded through the almost empty Piazza del Unia Square, and was reviewed by Col. Joseph Beccic, chief of staff of the Yugoslav Fourth Army, and by Yugoslav Political Commissar Frank Stoka.

The reviewing stand displayed the American, British and Russian banners along with Yugoslav and Trieste standards.

Easing Of Trieste Crisis Hinted By Partisan Paper

Text of Marshal Alexander's Message Is Published by Yugoslav-Controlled Press in Disputed Italian Port—Conciliatory Note Seen

Trieste, May 21—(AP)—The Yugoslav-controlled newspaper here adopted a conciliatory tone today as Yugoslav authorities published the text of Marshal Sir Harold Alexander's message to his troops on the dispute over Italian and Austrian territory.

The newspaper Il Nostro Avenire gave Trieste citizens and most of Marshal Tito's soldiers what probably was their first news of Alexander's statement which brought the gravity of the dispute into the open in Trieste, but the tone of the editorial seemed to offer the prospect of a settlement.

"The maintenance of peace is the ...k of everybody," said the editor-... now less than ever must we

Fascist Police Leader Is Slain By Yanks

Rome, May 21—(AP)—Maj. Mario Carita, chief of the Fascist SS police under the Germans in Northern Italy, was killed by soldiers of the U. S. 88th Infantry Division Saturday in a mountain fight out near Suisi.

A Stars and Stripes correspondent reported that Carita seized a pistol and, fired as doughboys entered. A soldier was wounded and Carita's companion, Emilia Chianni, was shot through the neck before Carita was slain by a burst from a tommy gun. Both the soldier and the wounded woman were expected to recover.

Documents taken at headquarters of General Wolff, German SS chief in Northern Italy, showed he had given Carita between two and three million lire in the two weeks before the surrender.

Rome Left-Wing Editor Freed

ROME, May 21 (AP).—Carlo Andreoni, editor of the Left-Wing weekly newspaper "Partisan," who was arrested ten days ago by Allied authorities on grounds of military security, has been released. Allied quarters said no political reasons were involved.

ROME, May 21 (AP).—Caribinieri today arrested Settimio Rosciani, Fascist Republican charged with responsibility for the execution of more than 200 Italian patriots and their supporters and of numerous Allied prisoners.

Italian King Recovers Wealth

ROME, May 21 (AP)—King Victor Emanuel's coin collection—reported to be worth $20,000,000—has been recovered from the Germans and returned to Rome. An official announcement said the collection, in twenty-four iron-bound chests, had been turned over to the United States Eighty-eighth Infantry Division by SS General Wolff.

Togliatti Breaks Political Truce

Milan, May 21 (AP)—Palmiro Togliatti, head of the Italian Communist party and vice president of the Italian Council of Ministers made a brief balcony appearance here today in response to shouts from a throng of fist-raising Communists estimated at 15,000.

Preceded by parades that had all of the earmarks of a well-organized political gathering, the mass meeting suddenly shattered the week end calm that had descended on conferences of the five anti-Fascist parties in Milan within the past few days.

Decision Not Made

Allied officials had not yet decided whether Togliatti's balcony appearance and the gathering in the streets had broken a ruling that no political speeches and no open political gatherings could be held during a current visit of the government ministers to northern Italy.

Both Togliatti and Pietro Nenne, head of the Socialist party, skirted the ruling yesterday by addressing well-packed sessions at their party headquarters.

Parades In City

Togliatti today appeared on the balcony at party headquarters in the Porta Garibaldi, saluted a throng of persons assembled there and thanked them for their support.

Following his appearance on the balcony, parades filed through the streets of Milan with their members singing "The Red Flag" and carrying Communist banners, most of which demanded a more thorough Fascist purge and the dismissal of Premier Bonomi, who was now not expected to visit the city.

Sanctification Approved

Vatican City, May 21 (AP)—Pope Pius XII today decreed promulgation of a decree approving sanctification of Ludivico Grignion de Montfort, French founder of the missionaries of the Society of Mary and of the Daughters of Wisdom. De Montfort died in 1717 and was beatified in 1888.

Spanish Prison Denied A Clean Bill of Health

6 Newsmen Refuse to Absolve Nanclares Camp

MADRID, May 21 (AP).—Nine foreign newspaper men who inspected Spain's Nanclares de la Oca prison camp at the invitation of the Spanish Interior Ministry found no evidence that any foreign prisoners had been killed, but refused to sign a prepared statement that neither foreigners nor Spaniards had died as a result of prison treatment.

Several prisoners told the visitors that Spaniards had died as a result of floggings. The newspaper men interviewed thirty out of ninety-four foreigners in the prison along with approximately 850 other persons serving criminal sentences. Officials said there were no Spanish political prisoners at Nanclares.

The investigation was invited as result of an Associated Press account of a report on camp conditions prepared ten days ago by a social worker. The May 11 Associated Press dispatch said a former Nanclares prisoner reported three foreigners had died of beatings and eleven Spaniards had been beaten or shot to death at the camp.

After the newspaper men had questioned the prisoners, the camp commander demanded they all sign a paper declaring "before God" that neither "three foreigners nor eleven Spaniards" died at the camp. The correspondents refused, and a stormy scene followed during which the commander cajoled, threatened and finally demanded that Associated Press correspondent Charles S. Foltz alone sign the paper. A foreign office representative finally convinced the commander that the newspaper men could not be forced to sign.

The correspondents said they refused, not because they had any evidence that any foreigners had been killed, but because they would not sign such a statement under duress.

QUISLING HASN'T ALL HIS BUTTONS

Police Remove Them For Fear He May Kill Himself

Oslo, Norway, May 20 [AP—Delayed]—Police have removed all buttons from Vidkun Quisling's clothes to eliminate the possibility of suicide, an officer at Moellergaten 19 Prison said today.

The former puppet Premier is dejected. It was felt that he might break the buttons and use their jagged edges to cut his wrists.

He paces his cell continually, muttering over during the defense which he is expected to present at his trial for treason.

The officer said the prisoner argues his case for hours at a time, declaring as if to a judge and jury that he, Quisling, saved Norway from a terrible fate by assuming control and pretending to co-operate with the Germans.

In Better Health

The police officer, who requested that his name not be used, said Quisling is in better health than when he entered prison.

The Norwegian Government still is reluctant to release any news about the man whose name became synonymous with traitor. Yesterday the British intelligence officer with the occupation forces was notified that the military and public relations officers of the Norwegian Government had requested censorship to forbid passage of any news concerning Quisling.

The censors said they could stop only news violating military or political security, and have relayed the request to Supreme Headquarters Allied Expeditionary Force.

New U. S. Envoy to Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 21 (AP)—Monnett B. Davis, new United States Minister to Denmark, arrived by special plane from London today soon after the announcement in Washington of his appointment.

GERMAN OVERLORD OF DANES ARRESTED

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, May 21 (AP)—The Allied Military Commission today arrested Dr. Werner Best, former German Commissioner for Denmark who since the German capitulation has been held in custody by the Danes at his villa.

Best was taken to an unidentified place of detention for questioning. Although he had been heavily guarded, he had continued to live in his luxurious quarters and on several occasions was permitted to visit the Swedish Legation. These visits resulted in strong criticism in the Danish press.

Hollanders Brave Rain For Liberation Parade

The Hague, May 21 (AP)—Jamming the rain-drenched streets of this Dutch capital, thousands of Hollanders turned out today to watch Prince Bernhard take the salute of 12,000 Canadian 1st Army troops and 1,000 members of the Dutch Forces of the Interior.

The parade of the Canadian and British troops had been delayed two weeks. But the unbroken rain did not keep away thousands of city people and others from neighboring towns who came in to see the liberating army's military demonstration.

The bad weather forced the abandonment of an air display by the RAF 84th Group, which supported the Canadian Army through the Western-front campaign.

Taking the salute with Prince Bernhard were Gen. Henry D. G. Crerar, commander of the Canadian 1st Army, and his staff, together with the Mayor, Dr. S. J. R. de Monchy.

Arabs Protest French Inroads

Cairo, May 21 (AP)—The newly formed Arab League of seven Arab states strongly protested today the movement of French troops into the member nations of Syria and Lebanon, and declared the league would safeguard "the independence of any threatened member."

A statement issued by the league secretary, Gen. Abdel Rahman Azzam Bey, said the league considered the French action as "representing an imperialistic frame of mind."

Meanwhile, reports here said Arabs throughout Palestine would go on a general strike Tuesday in sympathy with Syrian and Lebanese strikes protesting the presence of the French forces.

Negotiations Refused

At Damascus, Syria's acting premier, Djemil Mardam Bey, announced that both Syria and Lebanon had refused to negotiate the problem with France.

Syrian tribal leaders were reported to have offered their services to the Government, declaring they would defend Syrian independence with their lives.

The Syrian Home Minister, Assaly, announced that 8 persons were killed and 25 wounded in a clash with French soldiers in the northern Syrian city of Aleppo. Demonstrations were reported at Damascus.

In the Lebanese capital of Beyrouth, where 500 French troops were reported to have landed, the French were represented as maintaining that the presence of their military forces was necessary and that full respect was held for Syrian-Lebanese independence.

Arab quarters here said the strikes in Lebanon and Syria would be halted or considerably diminished in order to "create an atmosphere of calm" for discussions of the situation by both parliaments, which meet within the next 24 hours.

French officials here said only that they were awaiting information and instructions from Paris.

The Arab League's statement—its first foray into interantional politics since its formation two months ago—declared that "the French are precipitating matters by sending troops into Syria and Lebanon.

To Guard Liberty

"These states consider the French proposals reactionary, representing an imperialistic frame of mind," the statement said. "These forces are meant to strengthen France's hand for final settlement of the Levant (states) problem.

"The Arab League will not fail in its duty to safeguard the liberty and independence of any threaten-ea member."

Azzam Bey said the one-time French Premier Edouard Herriot had discussed the situation with Syrian and Lebenese leaders, and expressed the hope that he would help in arranging a settlement.

The league secretary emphasized that Great Britain, Russia and the United States recognized the independence of Syria and Lebanon and said "we are particularly grateful for the unhesitating United States stand with regard to their independence."

The league's members are Egypt, Iraq, Transjordan, Saudi-Arabia, Syria, Lebanon and Yemen.

BRITISH ADVANCE IN BURMA CHASE

Jap Rear Guards Fighting Hard To Cover Retreat

Calcutta, May 21 (AP)—British troops advanced 3 miles today against strongly resisting Japanese rear guards screening the withdrawal of the enemy from southern Burma into Thailand. The British reached a point 9½ miles east of Toungoo and possibly within 50 miles of the Thailand border.

There is evidence that the Japanese were abandoning all supplies in an attempt to evacuate as many men as possible. Patrols of the 19th Division found 150 bullock carts filled with Japanese ammunition and stores, left in the headlong flight of main enemy columns.

Jap Casualties Heavy

Mopping-up operations were proceeding all over reoccupied Burma. The Japanese were still attempting to escape eastward along the Irrawaddy River, and heavy casualties were inflicted on a Japanese party ambushed at Zalon, on the river's east bank 9 miles northwest of Rome.

Heavy bombers of the Strategic Air Force hit rail yards and rolling stock at Chumphon, on the Kra isthmus, 240 miles southeast of Bangkok. Medium bombers strafed Pegu, 45 miles northwest of Rangoon.

British Continue Mop-Up In Burma

Calcutta, May 21— (AP) —British 14th Army troops have made a further advance east of Toungoo and mopping up operations over the whole area of Southern Burma are continuing successfully, a Southeast Asia Command communique said today.

Casualties were inflicted on the Japanese in an action at Zalon, on the east bank of the Irrawaddy, nine miles northwest of Prome.

Heavy bombers of the Eastern Air Command attacked railway yards at Chumphon on the Kra Isthmus.

China Coast Mined By Australian Airmen

Melbourne, May 21—(AP)—A few days after the Americans landed in the Philippines last October, Royal Australian Air Force Catalinas began to mine the China coast and have been at it ever since, Air Minister A. S. Drakeford said today.

The Catalinas are manned by American and Australian crews, he said, reporting that their efforts have spread chaos among Japanese shipping.

CHINESE PERIL JAP LIFELINE

Strike At Supply Corridor In Drive Southward

Chungking, May 21 (AP)—Chinese troops, in preliminary counter-offensive blows against an estimated 2,000,000 Japanese troops in China and Manchuria, have launched a new drive in the south against Japan's vital lifeline to Indo-China, the high command announced tonight.

The [illegible] offensive, 330 miles south of Chungking and 150 miles north of Indo-China, already has ripped out one major bastion in the Japanese supply corridor across China—the heavily fortified Kwangsi province rail town of Hochih, a communiqué said.

Aided By U.S. Planes

The new drive, supported by the United States 14th Air Force, coincided with a call by the national Koumintang congress for a speed-up of China's general offensive. In the highest estimate of Japanese forces ever made by Chinese sources, a Koumintang announcement said there were 2,000,000 enemy troops garrisoning China and Manchuria.

Chinese assault forces on the East China coast captured another escape port for Japanese forces fleeing Foochow, taking the Min River estuary coastal town of Mamoi, 9 miles east of the big reoccupied treaty port.

The Chinese also carried their banner 17 miles northeast of Foochow to the outskirts of coastal Lienkong as they pursued the enemy and all but cleared out the Japanese defense area around Foochow—suggested as a possible American landing spot.

Stormed From 3 Sides

In southern China, Chinese warriors launched their offensive against the western side of the Japanese corridor across China on Saturday morning, storming Hochih from the north, west and south.

By evening one column had broken in through the west gate of the city, which lies on the Kwangsi-Kweiyang (Kweichow) railroad, and after two other columns slashed through Japanese resistance and battered their way into the city's heart.

Mowing down 400 Japanese soldiers in street fighting, the Chinese put the enemy garrison to flight and completely occupied the city at 7 P.M. Sunday. The Japanese took to their heels in a southeasterly direction.

Hochih lies 93 miles west of the rail junction of Liuchow on the great north-south railroad from Manchuria to Indo-China, and United States Mustangs, supporting the Chinese, swept up and down the railroad east of Liuchow, lashing enemy positions and supply trains.

Road Block Established

West of Hochih the Chinese established a road block and cut off the escape of Japanese forces to the west in the rail township of Chingchengkiang, westernmost point of Japanese occupation in Kwangsi.

In Hunan province Chinese troops and American bombers and fighters joined in to lessen the threat of a renewed Japanese drive toward the American airbase at Chihkiang, 250 miles southeast of Chungking.

Over the week end there were some indications that the Japanese were attempting to regain the initiative on a limited front after the failure of their recent offensive, but the Chinese combat command said today that the threat had diminished when the Japanese, who bypassed Sinning, 60 miles southwest of the enemy base of Shaoyang (Paoching) were forced to withdraw after reaching a position 6 miles northwest of Sinning.

Hurled Back After Gain

At the height of their renewed thrust, the Japanese Saturday pushed [illegible] miles southeast of Chihkiang airbase, but the Chinese defenders hurled back the enemy to points south and southeast of Sinning.

Twenty-three miles northwest of Shaoyang, another Japanese column made a slight unopposed advance to the Chukowpu area.

Both Japanese movements possibly were designed to divert pressure from an encircled enemy group in the Shanmen area, 46 miles west of Shaoyang. A Japanese unit of 2,000 men had been fighting for several days in the area to break out of a Chinese encirclement and fall back to Shaoyang.

Late reports said that the Japanese had succeeded in smashing out of the Chinese ring and were fighting their way eastward with extremely difficult terrain favoring their chance of reaching their main lines, though their casualties have been heavy.

Elsewhere along an 80-mile front in Hunan province fighting died down to a large extent with the opposing armies again in approximately the same positions as when the enemy started his ill-starred offensive in early April. American planes, however, kept up a relentless bombing and strafing of enemy communications behind Shaoyang.

Far to the north, the Chinese captured Mataochi, nine miles northwest of the Japanese-held bastion of Hsihsiakow in southern Honan 35 miles east of the Shensi provincial border and 400 miles northeast of Chungking.

Still farther north, the Japanese were reported attacking in the direction of the Lingpao-Lunghai railroad east of Tungkwan, gateway to northwestern China.

Chinese Retake Hochih, Key Jap Strong Point

Bastion on Kwangsi-Kweichow Railroad, West of Liuchow, Recaptured — Enemy Also Loses Port in Foochow Sector

Chungking, May 21—(AP)—Chinese troops in a sudden offensive in Kwangsi Province have recaptured Hochih, important Japanese bastion on the Kwangsi-Kweichow Railroad, 95 miles west of the rail junction city of Liuchok, the Chinese High Command announced today.

On the East China Coast, Chinese troops hammering eastward from the captured city of Foochow—possible American invasion port—have occupied Mamoi, eight miles distant, and other Chinese reached the vicinity of Lienkong, 20 miles northeast of Foochow, the High Command said. The coastal successes were scored in yesterday's fighting.

Hochih was one of the Japanese strong points screening the enemy corridor to Indo-China. Repeated Chinese attacks had failed to dislodge the strongly entrenched Japanese there during the Winter campaign.

Chinese forces on the east coast also seized another port in the Foochow area, and rumors persisted that enemy troops were evacuating numerous China Coast positions which they feared would be turned into death traps in the event of an American invasion.

Diongloh, a small port on the Min River 15 miles southeast of Foochow, fell to Chinese troops on Saturday. Across the river other forces were nearing Mamoi, eight miles east of Foochow and one of several points which the Japanese had fortified against American landings. Approximately 200 Japanese who tried to make a stand at Diongloh were wiped out, the Chinese said.

These new successes seemed to bolster the rumors that the Japanese were clearing out of coastal positions all the way from Hangchow Bay 650 miles southwestward to Hongkong. The reports followed a Chinese announcement that approximately 1,500 Japanese had been killed in a four-day battle some 400 miles northeast of Chungking which turned back the enemy's second offensive within a month in Inner China.

The battle, which started on May 15 west of the enemy's Southern Honan base of Hsihsiakow, was won with air support after the Chinese had been driven from two heights, the Chinese said. The fleeing enemy left behind great stores of supplies.

Headquarters of Lieut. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, U. S. commander in the China theater, disclosed that an American air base had been established at Kweiyang, capital of Kweichow Province and situated 200 miles south of Chungking on the Chungking-Kunming military highway.

Kuomintang Thanks Big 3

Predicts Japan Will Make Last Stand on Mainland

CHUNGKING, May 21 (AP).—A manifesto issued today at the conclusion of the sixth Kuomintang (Nationalist party) Congress expressed gratitude to the United States, Great Britain and Soviet Russia for aid given China.

The declaration predicted that Japan "in desperation is certain to make her last stand on the Chinese mainland," and said China's most urgent task is "to strengthen her armed forces for decisive battles and destruction of the enemy."

Only by liberation of Manchuria, the return of Formosa to China, the restoration of independence to Korea and total extermination of Japanese aggression "may we consider victory to be completely won," the document added.

Yanks Score 10-Mile Gain In Central Mindanao Drive

Manila, Tuesday, May 22 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Clarence Martin's 21st Infantry Division swept 10 miles up central Mindanao Sunday to within 1 mile of Malaybalay, capital of Bukidnon province, reaching the edge of the main airfield, Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

The 31st was within 25 miles of a juncture with the 40th and Americal Divisions moving southward along the Sayre highway. The meeting will bisect [illegible] southern Philippine island.

Clear Area Around Airdrome

In the Davao sector of Mindanao the 24th Division moved 2 miles north of captured Panacan town and completed clearing the area around the big Sasa airdrome.

P-T boats continued the destruction of the former Japanese torpedo boat base at Piso point in Davao gulf.

On Luzon island the Yanks steadily drove the Japanese back into the Cagayan valley along the mountainous Balete Pass, closely supported by bombers and fighters which dropped 238 tons of explosives.

P-T boats bombarded Japanese shore defenses on the Luzon east coast.

Formosa Harbor Bombed

Philippine-based bombers ranged in strength over Formosa for the sixth straight day, concentrating on harbor installations at Keilung, rail yords and airdromes at Toyohapa and Taito, and scattered industrial targets on the big island.

A total of 327 tons of bombs were dropped, with excellent effect, MacArthur reported. Only anti-aircraft fire was encountered.

Search planes in coastal waters sank a freighter and damaged three others.

Three Jap Ships Sunk

Patrol bombers in the China Sea sank three freighters and bombed the island outpost of Pratas reef west of Palawan. Rail installations in French Indo-China and near Nanking were other targets.

On Tarakan Island, Australian and Dutch patrols penetrated to within 3 miles of the north coast while bombers struck airdromes and harbors neighboring Borneo. The seaplane base at Balikpapan, on eastern Borneo, was set ablaze.

The two Australian forces on northeastern New Guinea moved to within 2 miles of a juncture near captured Wewak. The western column cleared the Boram airdrome.

General Dalton Killed

As the Yanks gained ground on all Mindanao and Luzon fronts Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported the loss of one of the youngest generals in the United States Army—Brig. Gen. James L. Dalton, 35, assistant commander of the 25th Division. A Japanese sniper's bullet ended the general's life May 16 in the Balete Pass sector of Luzon as the young officer inspected a front line ravine.

MacArthur referred to Dalton as "distinguished and intrepid," and announced his death with "great sorrow."

Dalton, whose widow and two daughters live in Kennebunkport, Maine, was buried yesterday in Santa Barba army cemetery, near Binalonan, 100 miles north of Manila.

NAVY PLANE BAGS 5-SHIP JAP CONVOY

Action Takes Place Off Formosa—Foe Losses Up in Philippines

Manila, May 21—(AP)—In one of the war's outstanding aerial feats, a single Philippines-based Navy patrol plane destroyed an entire Japanese convoy of five ships, totaling 17,000 tons off Formosa Saturday Gen. Douglas MacArthur reported today.

The largest ship, more than 5,500 tons, was a troop carrier, judging from its numerous liferafts.

A total of 369,818 Japanese have been killed and captured in the seven months' Philippines campaign, 14,408 of them in the last fortnight, MacArthur announced.

Japanese forces driven north of Davao into a succession of defense lines on Mindanao Island appeared to be weakening.

A U. S. 24th Division column which speared up the coast, throwing a flank threat at stoutly defended Sasa Airfield, did not meet resistance until the end of a full day's advance. At nightfall, it overcame strong Nipponese positions 3,000 yards northwest of Ipil Village.

Jap Counter-Blows Halted

Other elements of the 24th knocked out strong Japanese resistance around Tugbok on the main Japanese escape route into the mountains.

One company beat off four counter-attacks by a single Japanese platoon one night.

The Sayre Highway on North Central Mindanao was opened to the Yanks as far as Dalirig Village as the 40th and Americal Divisions drove south. Advancing northward toward a juncture, the 31st bucked sniper fire to reach within 11 miles of Malaybalay, provincial capital of Bukidnon.

On Luzon, where fog and rain added to the toughness of the fight, Yanks cleaned out resisting pockets in the Balete Pass of the northern sector and in the Ipo pocket east of Manila.

Big Foe Force Circled

The 38th took high ground overlooking the confluence of the Marikina and Bosabosa Rivers.

The 43d Division, captor of Ipo Dam, has encircled one of the largest Japanese forces trapped since the beginning of the Philippines campaign. The pocketed Japanese were subjected to a terrific attack by Fifth Air Force Lightnings, Thunderbolts and Mustangs carrying jellied gasoline firebombs. The frantic Japanese attempted to fire mortars at their aerial tormentors, without effect.

More than 90 Liberators returned to Formosa Friday, continuing smashes at airfields which are believed to be sending planes against Okinawa. Two planes were lost to anti-aircraft fire.

The preceding day one plane was also lost. The three were the only heavies lost in the aerial campaign against Formosa.

Aussie veterans captured Hill 105 on Tarakan Island, off Borneo, mid point of the Nipponese defense line in the center of the island.

Diggers in British New Guinea captured Brandi plantation, near captured Wewak, and reached the eastern edge of Boram airfield after a mile advance.

GEN. DALTON DIED BY SNIPER'S SHOT

Manila, May 21 (A. P.).—Brig. Gen. James L. Dalton, 35 years old, one of the youngest generals in the Army, was killed by a Japanese sniper near Balete pass on northern Luzon island, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced "with great sorrow" today.

Dalton, whom MacArthur referred to as "distinguished and intrepid," was killed May 16. Dalton whose widow and two daughters live in Kennebunkport, Me., was assistant Twenty-fifth Division commander. His body was buried today in the Santa Barbara Army cemetery near Binalonian, 100 miles north of Manila.

He commanded the 161st Regiment, formerly part of the Washington State National Guard, through the Guadalcanal and New Georgia campaigns in the Solomons, and on Luzon in the battle of San Manuel where the main Japanese tank strength was smashed. He was killed while inspecting a front line ravine which formerly sheltered the enemy command on that front.

Dalton was the second general to be killed on the front lines of Luzon, principal island of the Philippines. Major-Gen. Edwin D. Patrick, commander of the Sixth Division, was killed March 15.

WITH U. S. MARINES NEAR SHURI, Okinawa, May 21. — (AP) Leathernecks of the Fifth regiment, First Marine division, are looking down on Shuri castle, key to the stubborn Japanese defensive belt stretching from Naha, capital of Okinawa, on the west, to Yonabaru on the east coast.

To reach the vicinity of the outskirts of Shuri—once a town of 17,000 population and now a heap of rubble—the devildogs had to crack the Wana ridge area, one of the last natural barriers to the ancient Shuri castle just behind the town.

Tanks driven to within a few yards of the enemy's lines spearheaded the attack.

Burning oil was poured down on the Japanese-infested ridge before Shuri town after dark. Drums of oil were brought to the front in amphibious tractors and hauled to the top of the ridge with ropes pulled by 16-man teams. The Marines punched holes in the drums and poured the contents down the rugged coral bluff.

"The whole cave-pocked bluff burst into flames and lit the sky with a pinkish glow that silhouetted Shuri in front of us," said Capt. Lawrence K. Hennessy, Schenectady, N. Y., comander of the company which made the fire attack.

Maj. Gen. Pedro Del Valle, Alexandria, Va., First division commander, who has been fighting in the Pacific since the beginning of the Guadalcanal campaign, watched his men, also veterans of Guadalcanal, from a hilltop vantage point.

The general said the Japanese were using more artillery here than he had ever seen them use before and "it's a bunch of nasty hardware sailing through the air."

PBY Plane Is Ambulance For Wounded Marine

Okinawa, May 21 (AP)—An American Navy PBY plane became an ambulance today to save the life of a Marine, flying him from the front to a rear hospital.

The Marine was near death from shock after being caught in the explosion of a Japanese land mine. Two navy physicians, Lieuts. Burton V. Scheib, Toledo, Ohio, and William A. Hopkins, Atlanta, knew it might be fatal to evacuate the wounded leatherneck to a hospital over 30 miles of rock-strewn, rutted roads. They telephoned the 6th Marine Division surgeon, Navy Captain Don S. Knowlton, of Washington, and he got the patrol bomber to land in a cove near the front.

The wounded man, transferred to and from the PBY aboard a rubber boat, was in the divisional hospital in twenty minutes.

B-29S OVER KYUSHU

San Francisco, May 21 (A. P.).—The Japanese Domei News Agency said today that "some twenty" Marianas-based B-29s flew over Kyushu Island early today and "appeared to have laid mines" in the Kanmon Strait between Kyushu and southern Honshu. The unconfirmed account was recorded by the FCC.

U. S. TASK FORCE IS WORRYING JAPS

San Francisco, May 21 (A. P.).—An Allied task force "again is on the prowl" and "appears to be attempting to approach Kyushu," the Jap Domei agency said in a broadcast intercepted by the FCC yesterday.

The dispatch noted that since last Thursday Allied carrier aircraft raids against Kyushu and the Amami Archipelago, south of Kyushu, had been increasing, and since dawn Saturday the enemy has been active over that area.

"In view of the northward strike of enemy warships on May 13 and 14, coupled with the fact that the enemy task force again is on the prowl after leaving its bases in the Marianas, we can surmise that the enemy is up to some new scheme," Domei said. "The enemy armada appears to be attempting to approach Kyushu, but we cannot as yet predict what course the enemy fleet will take."

TOGO WOULD SOLVE JAPS' CHINA POLICY

San Francisco, May 21 (A. P.).—The "key to overcoming the crisis confronting Japan" lies in a solution of her basic Chinese policy, the Japanese Foreign Minister, Shigenori Togo, said today.

In a broadcast dispatch recorded by the FCC, Domei, the Japanese official news agency, said that Togo, at a meeting of Japanese diplomatic representatives in occupied China, defined the Chinese policy as "aimed at the establishment of friendly relations between Japan and China, with respect to the principles of reciprocity in the economic sense and equality in political matters, in addition to giving support to China's independence, defense and unification."

Critical developments in the war situation have led Japan to mobilize her 20,000,000 students for active participation in the defense of the homeland, Domei, said earlier.

The mobilization order, effective tomorrow, would convert all students in educational institutions, from the universities down, into a Student Corps which will receive special training "to qualify them for active combat duties."

A diploma will be granted for unfinished studies "in case of death," it was stated.

POLISH RADIO SAYS OFFICERS SEIZED

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A Moscow radio operated by the Soviet-sponsored Polish Warsaw government said last night that a number of Polish army officers who opposed the exiled Polish government in London had been imprisoned in Jerusalem by London Polish military authorities.

The Polish-language broadcast, reported by the Federal Communications Commission, said the officers' prison was "governed by extremely severe regulations" and one officer who was "freed by the pressure of public opinion" was paralyzed and seriously ill when he left.

"Some of them have been condemned by the (Gen. Wladyslaw) Anders military tribunal to 15 years imprisonment," the report declared. "Polish democratic public opinion must x x x demand the immediate release of the imprisoned Democrats."

The broadcast also attacked the Sanajca, a group formed in 1926 by high Polish officers, saying it was fighting against "Polish democracy" with "murders and sabotage." And that "this proves x x x Polish Fascism has by no means capitulated."

Regent of Iraq U. S.-Bound

Emir Prince Abdul-Ilah to Leave Baghdad Today

The regent of Iraq, Emir Prince Abdul-Ilah, will leave Baghdad today by plane for a visit to the United States, it was reported yesterday in an overseas dispatch to the Office of War Information.

Captain Archibald Roosevelt, grandson of President Theodore Roosevelt and assistant military attache at the American legation in Baghdad, who speaks Arabic, will be a member of the official party as far as Washington, the dispatch said. The plane bringing the regent and his party, a Douglas-54, was said to be the one by which Soviet Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov made his recent return flight to Moscow.

Congress Sees Hero Honored

Lawmakers Cheer as Truman Bestows Medal on Lindsey, Who Killed 20 Germans.

Washington, May 21 (A. P.).—A ramrod-stiff G. I. sergeant from the shrapnel-splattered battlefields of Europe stood before his President and the Congress of the United States today to receive the Congressional Medal of Honor.

The sergeant, slender, black-haired Jake W. Lindsey of Lucedale, Miss., was the 100th infantryman to receive the coveted award, highest in his country's gift.

Senators and Representatives cheered and applauded—a few with excited yels—as the technical sergeant bowed his head to receive the blue-ribboned war trophy from President Truman.

"This is a proud and moving occasion for every American," the President said in remarks broadcast over all major networks.

"It follows the complete victory of the Allied forces over a powerful enemy in Europe. It finds us striking devastating blows in the Pacific. We are preparing to strike them later in overwhelming force."

A Precedent for Congress.

Mr. Truman joined in the applause as the young Mississipian, accompanied by Chief of Staff Gen. George C. Marshall, accepted the award and stepped from the House dais. It was the first time that the halls of Congress had become the theater for a Congressional Medal presentation. Members of the Cabinet and the top military commanders looked on as the decoration was presented.

Sergt. Lindsey entered the bright-lighted House chamber with Gen. Marshall. They stepped rapidly to a speaking stand below the rostrum to await the President's arrival. Lindsey kept his eyes fixed straight ahead, now and then dropping a glance to his parents and his sister, who looked on from the House floor.

The members of Congress stood during the presentation. Five times they interrupted President Truman with applause as he recounted the exploits of the hero of an infantry action at Hamich, Germany, on November 16. Once during the applause Gen. Marshall was overheard saying in an aside to Sergt. Lindsey: "Give 'em a bow. Give 'em a bow."

The soldier who bravely faced overwhelming odds in battle found the occasion almost too much for him. He swallowed several times and his features never relaxed from their stern immobility, except when he shook hands with the President.

After the ceremony Sergt. Lindsey was the guest of honor at a private Capitol luncheon attended by President Truman and congressional leaders. Representative Colmer (D.-Miss.), the young sergeant's Congressman, was host at the luncheon.

Text of the Address.

The text of the President's address follows:

Mr. Speaker, Mr. President, Members of Congress: we are assembled here today to confer the nation's highest decoration on a young American soldier. It so happens that Tech. Sergt. James W. Lindsey of Lucedale, Miss., is the 100th infantryman to receive the Medal of Honor in this war for bravery above and beyond the call of duty. Through him, we pay a grateful nation's tribute to the courage of all our fighting men.

The history of this war is filled with countless acts of valor by our soldiers and sailors and Marines under fire. Those who win the Medal of Honor have displayed the highest quality of courage.

We have heard in the citation what Sergt. Lindsey did. His inspiring deeds on the battlefield require no further praise from any man. They stand—with the deeds of the others on whom this decoration has been conferred—in the finest tradition of American heroism.

This medal, to repeat, is given for gallantry at the risk of life beyond the call of duty. No officer ordered Sergt. Lindsey to stand alone against a company of the enemy. No officer ordered him when wounded to engage eight Germans in hand-to-hand combat. Those decisions came from his own heart. They were a flash of the nobility which we like to think is a part of every American. They were the unselfish valor which can triumph over terrible odds. They were the very essence of victory.

Since the beginning of this war, 223 Medals of Honor have been awarded to members of the armed forces. Of these, 162 have gone to the Army, thirty-three to the Navy, twenty-seven to the Marine Corps and one to the Coast Guard. One hundred of the men so decorated have been infantrymen, and of them fifty died in performing the acts for which they were honored.

Symbolic Honor for Infantry.

It seems fitting that in this symbolic ceremony we should honor an infantryman. There is little glamour in his service. He faces not only the enemy before him, but the cold and heat, the rain and snow, the dust and mud, which so often makes his life miserable. These things he endures, and rises above them to such valorous deed as those we celebrate today.

This is a proud and moving occasion for every American. It follows the complete victory of the Allied forces over a powerful enemy in Europe. It finds us striking devastating blows in the Pacific. We are preparing to strike them later in overwhelming force.

Before the battle against Japan is won, we shall have other men to honor — men whose deeds, like those we celebrate today, will have brought closer our inevitable victory.

I hope that every man and woman in our nation today will reverently thank God that we have produced such sons as these. With their high courage as inspiration, we cannot fail in the task we have set ourselves.

It is with gratitude and pride that as President of the United States, and in the name of Congress, I have presented the Medal of Honor to Technical Sergeant Jake W. Lindsey.

Killed Twenty Germans.

Sergt. Lindsey was a platoon leader in the Sixteenth Regiment of the First Army's First Division when the Nazis counter-attacked near Hamich, Germany, last November 16. A fresh company of Germans, aided by five tanks, concentrated the full force of their assault on the remnants of his platoon.

Although wounded in the knee, he refused to be evacuated. Time and again he repulsed the advancing Nazis with his accurate rifle fire. When his ammunition gave out he fixed his bayonet, and, exposing himself to fire, met the enemy in open terrain.

Closing in, he slashed and stabbed, killing three and capturing three. During the entire action he accounted personally for twenty killed, an untold number of wounded, and three captured. He also knocked out two machine guns and captured two others.

Sergt. Lindsey arrived in New York by plane yesterday from Czecho-Slovakia.

Born on May 1, 1921, at Isney, Ala., Sergt. Lindsey enlisted February 6, 1940, at Montgomery, Ala. The consent of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Lindsey, was necessary for his enlistment since at that time the legal age for enlistment was 21 years.

In addition to today's award, he wears the Silver Star, awarded September 25, 1943, for gallantry in action with the Sixteenth Infantry, and the Purple Heart, awarded December 1, 1944, for wounds received in action.

Army Officers To Retain Rank As Reservists

Members of A. U. S. Will Be Allowed to Keep Highest Grade in Active Service

WASHINGTON, May 21 (AP).—Commissioned officers may join the Officers' Reserve Corps after the war with the highest temporary rank held at the time active service is ended, the War Department announced today.

The provision applies only to officers of theh Army of the United States and not to Regular Army commissioned men.

Reserve officers represent 25 per cent of the officer strength of the Army in this war, and it is expected the strength of the post-war organized reserve corps "will be several times greater than it has been in the past," the department said.

Appointment in the Officers' Reserve Corps will be offered for an initial period of five years.

The department said that "some temporary adjustment in rank probably will have to be made, particularly in cases of younger reserve officers, while on extended active duty with the regular Army or National Guard to co-ordinate ages and grades."

A general staff reserve policy committee has been studying the subject of the post-war organized reserve corps since last October.

G.I.'s Over 40 Now Eligible For Discharge from Service

WASHINGTON, May 21 — (AP) G.I.'s over 40 years old or more now are eligible for discharge if they apply for it.

The War department announced this today, barely a month after an earlier decision to allow those over 42 years to leave service.

Moreover, a further reduction in the age levels is in prospect, the department said, but explained that for the present it is holding to the 40 year level because of men younger than that would jeopardize operations and slow down the release of combat veterans under the point system of discharge.

In the case of the 40-41 year olds, commanders will be permitted to hold them for not more than 90 days if replacements are not available at the time the application for discharge is made.

About 30,000 enlisted men in the Army are in the 40 and 41 year age group. Approximately 60,000 are 42 years or older. The average age of an army man is between 25 and 26.

The latest reduction in age brings the level down near the 38 years at which men were at one time released for essential industry and agriculture. That policy was followed for only a few months, being terminated in July, 1943.

The department said the point system indirectly involves age consideration because the average age of fathers (one of the heavily weighted factors in the system) is several years above the average for soldiers without children.

The 40-year level for discharge also is applicable to WACS. In the case of WACS, they must have served one year or more, either in the United States or overseas. About 8,000 WACS are eligible under this provision.

SPECIAL MEDAL IS VOTED F.D.R.

House Acts After Objection By Republican

MAY 22 1945

Washington, May 21 (AP)—A "special medal of honor" for posthumous award to Franklin D. Roosevelt was voted by the House today, after a Republican objected to a "Congressional Medal" for the late President.

Language identifying Mr. Roosevelt as "commander in chief" was stricken from the bill, which now goes to the Senate.

May Be New Design

The House parliamentarian said the award of a "special medal of honor" probably would mean the striking of a new design.

The measure, by House Democratic Leader McCormack, originally proposed to award the late President a medal similar to the one presented by President Truman today to Tech. Sergt. Jake Lindsey. It was blocked when first brought up two weeks ago, by the objection of Representative Robsion (R., Ky.).

Today, as previously, the bill came up on the unanimous-consent calendar, where one negative vote would put it aside.

Robsion Again Objects

Robsion again objected, and proposed that the legislation identify Mr. Roosevelt as a civilian. He argued that the Congressional Medal of Honor should be awarded only to members of the armed forces who go far beyond the call of duty in actual combat.

McCormack told the House that medals of honor in the names of Congress had been awarded to Commander Richard E. Byrd, Floyd Bennett, Charles Lindbergh and others.

However, the Democratic leader finally agreed to award of a "special medal" and, instead of writing in language identifying Mr. Roosevelt as a civilian, agreed to a compromise proposal by Representative Jenkins (R., Ohio) that the "commander in chief" identification be stricken.

Provision In Bill

Under these conditions, the bill passed without objection. The bill as passed provides:

"That the President of the United States is authorized to award posthumously, in the name of Congress, a special medal of honor to the late Franklin Delano Roosevelt, in recognition of his peerless leadership and his heroic courage as a pioneer of new frontiers of freedom, his gallant and unselfish devotion to the service of his country, and his everlasting contribution to the cause of world peace."

JAPAN TO BE HIT BY OVERWHELMING BLOWS; TRUMAN

MAY 23 1945

By FRANCIS J. KELLY

WASHINGTON, May 21 — (AP) Before a cheering Congress President Truman today awarded the nation's highest medal to Tech. Sergeant Jake W. Lindsey and predicted that men like him will strike "overwhelming" blows against Japan.

Rebel yells pierced a roar of applause as the slight, dark-haired "one man army" from Lucedale, Miss., relaxed his stiff military stance and stooped forward slightly to make it easier for the Commander-in-Chief to drape a loop of pale blue silk around his neck. From the ribbon dangled the Congressional Medal of Honor, the 223rd awarded to American fighting men in this war, the 100th to be won by an infantryman.

The medal, Mr. Truman reminded the Senators and representatives gathered in the House chamber, is given for gallantry at the risk of life beyond the call of duty.

Alone Against Enemy

"No officer ordered Sergeant Lindsey to stand alone against a company of the enemy," he said. "No officer ordered him when wounded to engage eight Germans in hand-to-hand combat. Those decisions came from his own heart."

The assemblance cheered, and cheered again when the President continued:

"They were a flash of the nobility which we like to think is a part of every American. They were the unselfish valor which can triumph over terrible odds. They were the very essence of victory."

The President said it seemed fitting that the symbolic ceremony honored an infantryman.

"There is little glamor in his service," he said. "He faces not only the enemy before him, but the cold and the heat, the rain and the snow, the dust and the mud, which so often make his life miserable. These things he endures, and rises above them to such deeds as those we celebrate today."

Promising that the triumph in Europe will be followed by blows in "overwhelming force" in the Pacific, the President predicted that "before the battle against Japan is won, we shall have other men to honor—men whose deeds, like those we celebrated today, will have brought closer our inevitable victory."

The 24-year-old sergeant marched into the packed chamber beside General of the Army George C. Marshall. Both soldiers—the tall, stern-faced chief of staff and the slender Mississippi fighting man—wore summer khaki. As they mounted the speaker's dais the general leaned toward the sergeant and murmured words of encouragement.

Lindsey's face was set and unsmiling. He permitted himself a brief glance toward his mother and father and sister who were sitting in the front row just like the members of Mr. Truman's cabinet. The same self-possession was evident a few moments later when the President strode up to shake first his hand, then that of General Marshall.

Leaning toward a battery of microphones, Marshall suggested that the audience arise as he read the official citation:

"For gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of life above and beyond the call of duty on November 16, 1944, in Germany. Technical Sergeant Lindsey led his platoon reduced to six from its original strength of 40 . . . intense enemy counter-attack . . . exposed to heavy machine gun, rifle and tank fire . . . knocked out two machine guns . . . although painfully wounded, he engaged eight Germans . . . hand-to-hand combat . . . fearlessness . . . fighting courage. . ."

As the words rolled out, Lindsey's mother hastily wiped her eyes. So did Senator Barkley of Kentucky, and many another in the audience.

President Truman placed the ribbon around the sergeant's neck and walked around to the back to fasten the clasp. The job complete, he clapped the young hero on the shoulder. Lindsey braced and threw him a snappy salute.

DE GAULLE SET FOR MEETING WITH TRUMAN

Bidault Makes Strong Bid For Collaboration During Reconstruction

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Gen. Charles de Gaulle agreed today to the meeting with President Truman which the American Executive had suggested last week.

Georges Bidault, French Foreign Minister, announced de Gaulle's approval of the idea in a statement bidding strongly for American-French collaboration in the post-war world.

The American and French moves were accepted as indicating a strong inclination on both sides toward closer relations.

There had been friction for a long time, first over American delay in according de Gaulle's regime full acceptance and later over failure to count the French leader in on British-Russian-American conferences on war and peace.

"I Hope Not Distant'

Mr. Truman, in hailing Thursday's statement, reaffirmed the United States' historic friendship for France and expressed American gratification that France had emerged from the war determined and able to resume her "rightful and eminent" place among the nations.

MAY 21 1945

With reference to the Truman-de Gaulle meeting, Bidault said:

"The meeting which General de Gaulle, in answer to the wish expressed by the President of the United States, will have with him in the future—I hope not distant—will be a new step toward a closer Franco-American friendship which is dear to both our peoples and, I am convinced, which makes also for the maintenance of that solidarity existing between us and our other great Allies as well as all the United Nations."

'With Deep Satisfaction'

He said it was "with deep satisfaction that I read the passages of the President's statement which referred to the recognition of the role France must play in the settlement of European and world problems as well as in the re-establishment and maintenance of peace."

ALCOA IN DENIAL OF ICKES' CLAIM

WASHINGTON, May 21 — (AP) The Aluminum Company of America today denied any connection with Aluminum Company of Canada and accused Secretary Ickes of "unfair criticism based on misstatements of fact."

In a letter to Chairman Murray (D.-Mont.) of the Senate Small Business committee, Alcoa said it wanted "the records set straight" on testimony by the Internior Secretary last Monday.

Ickes discussed the Shipshaw Power Project in Canada, and aluminum purchases by the United States from Aluminum of Canada, expressing particular objection to a current contract for 250,000,000 pounds.

He urged that companies other than Alcoa be encouraged to take over the government's aluminum projects, to lessen reliance on one company for the strategic metal. He said the big Shipshaw power project in Canada was built with U. S. government money, on a $68,000,000 interest-free loan. He added that its existence was a surprise to him, and to President Roosevelt until 1943.

The Alcoa letter, signed by I. W. Wilson vice president in charge of operations, attributed to Ickes four "glaring misstatements."

Quoting from the stenographic record, Wilson said Ickes told the committee he believed the Shipshaw agreement between the United States' metals reserve corporation and Aluminum company of Canada "was an arrangement between Alcoa and the government."

"Alcoa was not a party to this arrangement directly or indirectly," the letter said. "None of the officers or employes of Alcoa had any knowledge of the arrangement until several moths after the contracts were made."

In reference to Ickes' statement that Alcoa and aluminum of Canada have the same officers and directors, Wilson quoted from court findings in anti-trust proceedings decided earlier this year:

"At no time has any director or officer or employe of Aluminum Company of America been also a director or officer or employe of aluminum, limited." The court added that at no time since organization meetings in 1929 for subsidiaries which aluminum, limited, acquired from Alcoa has there been any such connection between Alcoa and any aluminum, limited, subsidiary.

Aluminum of Canada is a subsidiary of aluminum, limited.

Objecting to Ickes' statement that power is generated at Shipshaw "just for the Aluminum Company of America," Wilson wrote that "not a single kilowatt of power has ever been generated at Shipshaw for the Aluminum Company of America, directly or indirectly."

Sallada Named Head Of Navy Air Bureau

Washington, May 21 (A. P.).—President Truman nominated Rear Admiral Harold B. Sallada to be chief of the Navy's Bureau of Aeronautics with the same rank. He will replace Rear Admiral Dewitt Clinton Ramsey, who has been chief of the Bureau of Aeronautics since August 6, 1943. Admiral Ramsey's new assignment was not announced immediately.

The President also nominated Monnett B. Davis of Colorado to be Minister to Denmark. Davis is now a personal representative of the President in Denmark with the rank of minister.

Admiral Sallada, 50-year-old native of Williamsport, Pa., and a resident of Norwood, Ohio, commanded a task force in the Pacific from September, 1943, until last February 21 when he was ordered to return to Washington for further assignment. He previously had served in the Bureau of Aeronautics, the last time from April, 1942, until he went to the Pacific in September, 1943.

Lilienthal Wins Senate Approval

Washington, May 21 (AP)—The Senate today confirmed the nomination of Chairman David E. Lilienthal for a new nine-year term as a director of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

It was a voice vote, with Senators McKellar and Stewart, Tennessee Democrats, against the nomination.

McKellar, before the vote, repeated the statement he and Stewart read into the record a week ago.

McKellar emphasized that he and Stewart found the appointment "personally obnoxious." That usually has meant defeat of a nomination.

Stewart said "it was a sour day for the whole South" when President Truman reappointed Lilienthal.

SOUTHERN BLOC SLOWS CREATION OF FEPC GROUP

Washington, May 21—(AP)—Southern Democrats claimed today to have blocked a move for early creation of a permanent fair employment practices commission.

They told a reporter that:

1. A majority of the House Rules Committee has refused to approve legislation to establish a permanent FEPC, thus denying it a place on the House calendar.

2. A move by Chairman Norton (D.-N. J.) of the House Labor Committee to force floor consideration of the measure by means of a discharge petition has bogged down.

3. The Senate Labor Committee has not approved the legislation, and even if it should Southern Senators have promised to filibuster it to death in that chamber.

The bill would set up a seven-member FEPC with authority to prevent discrimination among potential job holders because of race, color or creed. The present FEPC is a temporary, wartime agency, operating with executive department funds.

Mrs. Norton's petition would discharge the rules committee of further responsibility for the measure and send it to the floor for immediate debate.

It requires 218 signatures, however, and Representative Cox (D.-Ga.) said "less than 100" have signed it although it has been on file nearly three weeks.

DIVORCE RULE IS UPHELD

Supreme Court Backs N.C. On Nevada Decrees

Washington, May 21 (AP) — A state which refused to recognize a pair of Nevada divorces was upheld by the Supreme Court today.

In a 6-to-3 decision, it affirmed a North Carolina finding that the six weeks spent by the applicants in Nevada getting the decrees did not make them bona fide residents of that State.

Justice Black Gives Warning

Justice Black, in a vigorous dissent joined by Justice Douglas, warned that the opinion makes uncertain the validity of uncontested divorce decrees in all states, but Justice Murphy saw "no startling, or dangerous implications in the judgment."

The Federal system has created a legal situation whereby "one state can grant a divorce of validity in other states only if the applicant has a bona fide domicile . . ." the majority decision by Justice Frankfurter stated.

The appeal followed retrial of a case in which the Supreme Court ruled in 1942 that uncontested Nevada decrees were valid in all states if no question was raised about Nevada's finding that the applicants were domiciled there. Such a question was not raised in the 1942 proceedings.

Divorce, Returned To N.C.

The principals are Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Williams, of Pineola, N.C. They obtained Nevada divorces from former mates, were married to each other and then returned to North Carolina. The latter State convicted them of bigamous cohabitation. They contended that North Carolina was not honoring the 1942 Supreme Court decision.

Justice Black asserted the couple were deprived of their constitutional rights and that the opinion "will cast a cloud over the lives of countless numbers of the multitude of divorced persons in the United States."

He estimated that 85 per cent of the divorces of 5,000,000 persons throughout the country were obtained in uncontested proceedings.

Ever Present Danger

"Ever present will be the danger of criminal prosecution and harassment," he declared.

"In reality," he went on, "the petitioners are being deprived of their freedom because the State of Nevada, through its Legislature and courts, follows a liberal policy in granting divorces."

"They had Nevada divorce decrees which authorized them to remarry. Without charge or proof of fraud in obtaining these decrees, and without holding the decrees invalid under Nevada law, this court affirms a conviction of petitioners for living together as husband and wife."

Possible Punishment

Under the decision, Justice Black declared, "No person can exercise any right whatever under an uncontested divorce decree without subjecting himself to possible penitentiary punishment. . . .

"If . . . the court's object is to make divorces dangerous, its object has been accomplished. I think divorce policy is the business of the people and their legislators—not that of this court."

But Justice Murphy, in a special concurring opinion, commented:

"All of the uncontested divorces that have ever been granted in the 48 states are as secure today as they were yesterday or as they were before our previous decision in this case.

Later Re-Examination

"Those based upon fraudulen domiciles are now and always have been subject to a later re-examination with possible criminal consequences.

"Whatever embarrassment and inconvenience resulting to those who have made property settlements, contracted new marriages or otherwise acted in reliance upon divorce decrees obtained under conditions found to exist in this case are not insurmountable."

The states have power to pass laws validating such settlements or marriages, he pointed out.

Justice Rutledge in a dissenting opinion noted the majority "is careful not to say that Nevada's judgment is not valid in Nevada."

Justices Roberts, Stone, Reed and Jackson concurred with Justice Frankfurter.

Closely Related Case

In a closely related case, the court upheld unanimously a Pennsylvania Supreme Court decision which ruled out a Nevada decree on similar grounds. The divorce was obtained by William F. Esenwein, who later petitioned for release from a support order obtained by his wife when they separated 21 years before.

Esenwein's petition was denied by Pennsylvania courts, which held the Nevada divorce to be insufficient. While he dissented in the North Carolina case, Justice Douglas, in a concurring opinion joined by Justice Black, noted a basic difference between "the problem of marital capacity and the problem of support."

The court accepted for review three cases in which newspaper publishing companies contended the Federal wage-hour law did not apply to them because they were not engaged in interstate commerce.

Oral Argument Ended

Decisions cannot be reached before the next term of court, however, since oral argument is at end for this session and court will adjourn after next Monday unless the term is extended.

The court upheld, 7 to 0, a Federal District Court ruling that District of Columbia hotels cannot make service charges on long-distance collect telephone calls placed by guests from their rooms.

STETTINIUS SEEKS TO SPEED SESSIONS

Secretary of State Hopeful Conference May Conclude Work in June.

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21—(AP) Secretary of State Stettinius announced today that the United Nations conference had set for its goal completion of a new world charter early in June.

He told a news conference, too, that he expected to spend a day or two in Washington this week conferring with President Truman and State department officials on a series of problems unrelated to the conference. He added that he would return immediately and remain for the rest of the conference.

Stettinius talked to reporters in the auditorium of the veterans building immediately after a meeting of the conference steering committee which took steps to speed up the deliberations now in progress.

It was learned the steering committee formally approved a time table, previously circulated among all delegations, suggesting that the conference ratify the charter of a new world league "in the first week of June."

After that, plenary sessions of the entire conference will approve and sign the charter.

"I wish to emphasize," Stettinius said in a formal statement, "that while every effort will be made to reach these goals, we must not sacrifice either opportunity for full and free discussions or the utmost care in drafting in the interests of speed alone.

STETTINIUS SEEKS TO SPEED SESSIONS

"The establishment of the world organization for which we came here to write the charter is the only foundation upon which we can proceed to deal successfully with these other problems in the construction of lasting peace."

When asked whether President Truman might attend the final plenary sessions, Stettinius had no comment.

In the secretary's absence, the American delegation will be headed by Senators Connally (D.-Tex.) and Vandenberg (R.-Mich.), the vice-chairmen, serving in rotation.

Specific steps taken today toward a compromise on another big problem—trusteeships—added to the chances that the conference might finish its monumental enterprise in another fortnight.

Compromise Near

A move to promise either eventual independence or self-government to colonial peoples under international rule was reported to have been agreed upon substantially by representatives of the British and American delegations.

Russia has been battling for inclusion of the goal of independence. Britain and the United States so far have preferred the naming of self-government. The Chinese suggested listing both.

Commander Harold E. Stassen of the American delegation and Lord Cranborne for the British were reported today to have agreed generally to support the Chinese formula.

As this boost to conference progress developed, the policy-making steering committee distributed to delegates a time-table suggesting that all committees and sub-committees which have been sifting amendments to the charter and drafting its various chapters, complete the job "by the end of the present week."

Sixteen of them—the biggest assortment thus far — were meeting today and tonight in answer to the call for speed.

MAY 21 1945

—The text of a progress report on the United Nations Conference that Edward R. Stettinius jr., Secretary of State, made today follows:

"The steering committee met this afternoon to review the progress made by the conference and to consider procedures for its remaining work. Progress has been very satisfactory and we hope it will be possible to complete the drafting of the charter in about two weeks. Procedures which will assist in reaching that goal were adopted by the steering committee.

"It is hoped that the technical committees wil lbe able to complete most of their work this week by consolidating amendments of a generally similar nature, so that they can be considered in groups rather than separately, and by assigning the actual drafting of proposals to subcommittees.

"Proposals adopted by the technical committees will be reported immediately to the co-ordination committee, which will examine them in relation to the charter as a whole and redraft them in charter form. This procedure will be followed even when the proposals form only part of a chapter or a section.

"Committees may at the some time report their proposals to the appropriate commissions for simultaneous review of substance. This procedure is within the discretion of the committees.

"Proposals which have been redrafted in charter form by the coordination committee will then be reported to the commission for final commission action.

"It is hoped that this second stage can be reached in the week beginning May 28th. After the commissions have acted, the charter as a whole will be reported to plenary sessions of the conference for final approval and signature.

"I wish to emphasize that while every effort will be made to reach these goals, we must not sacrifice either opportunity for full and free discussion or the utmost care in drafting in the interests of speed alone. The end of the war in Europe had placed us face to face with many urgent problems which require the attention of the delegates at this conference. But the establishment of the world organization for which we came here to write the charter is the only foundation upon which we can proceed to deal successfully with these other problems in the construction of lasting peace."

Parley Reaches Agreement On Regional Defense System

Plan Preserving Hemisphere Arrangement Puts United Nations Conference Past Its Biggest Stumbling Block.

San Francisco, May 21 (A. P.).—Agreement among the Big Five and the Latin American nations on plans for regional self-defense systems within a world organization today put the United Nations conference safely past its biggest stumbling block.

Russian acceptance of the regional plan, with only minor changes in wording, was followed by signs that a smooth and early solution of Soviet-American differences over a system of international trusteeships is close at hand.

Furthermore, the satisfaction of the Latin American republics over the fact that the regional defense system in this hemisphere will be preserved melted their opposition to decisive action on other major conference issues, mainly a veto-voting system for the Big Powers in the proposed World Security Council.

As the fourth full week of the conference opened, many United Nations' leaders were hopeful that the job of charting the new international league could be finished by June 2. Proposals for speeding up the work to meet that deadline were ready for a steering committee session today.

American military authorities were understood to feel that the security arrangements already agreed on or in the making offer full protection to the United States, regardless of how the projected league works out.

Maneuvering Over Safeguards.

Much of the maneuvering to date has been due to the efforts of all the nations, but particularly those of the big Powers, to set up as many safeguards as they can for their own future protection. Thus Russia early obtained the agreement of the Big Five to allow defense treaties against future Axis aggression to remain unchanged under the world organization system.

United States policy, on strictly security questions, is concerned with three main objectives:

1. To chart the world organization in such a way as to minimize war-breeding friction among the big Powers and provide protection against aggression wherever it may occur in future.

2. To preserve the inter-American defense system as a means to Western Hemisphere security and unity against attack from within or without. United States officials say the regional defense plan now agreed on provides for this.

3. To prepare the way for the development of American land, sea and air bases on the Pacific islands wrested from Japan. The problem here arises in connection with international trusteeships. The United States has put forward a plan which would allow the Security Council to approve—but not prevent—the development of such bases.

Wanted Council to Pick Bases.

Russia proposed to alter this plan in such a way that the council itself would designate the bases to be developed. Under the veto voting formula this would mean that any one of the Big Powers could block a base project. The point has been a subject of controversy for more than a week.

Now, however, it is expected that Russia may not insist on its proposal and that the United States idea will prevail. On another trusteeship dispute—whether to promise colonial peoples independence or self-government—possible compromise was seen:

The regional defense agreement was announced by Secretary of State Stettinius last night following a heavy schedule of meeting through the week end. On Saturday Ambassador Andrei Gromyo, chief of the Soviet delegation, went to a Big Five meeting with fresh instructions from Moscow. These instructions suggested a change in the wording of the plan already agreed to by the other powers and the Latin American nations. It made no fundamental change in the statement that any state in the United Nations, or any group of states, had the right of self-defense in case of attack.

Big Five Gave Approval.

Language experts worked over the United States and Russian drafts Saturday night and Sunday. Latin American leaders had a preliminary look at the revised plan Sunday morning. The American delegation approved it Sunday noon and the Big Five formally okayed it—for presentation to a conference committee today—yesterday evening. Subsequently sixteen Latin American delegations gave their indorsement. The other four were absent from the meeting where this occurred.

Here is the key provision of the amendment, as revised:

"Nothing in this chapter impairs the inherent right of individual or collective self-defense if an armed attack occurs against a member State, until the Security Council has taken the measures necessary to maintain international peace and security.

"Measures taken in the exercise of this right of self-defense shall be immediately reported to the Security Council and shall not in any way affect the authority and responsibility of the Security Council under this charter to take at any time such action as it may deem necessary to maintain or restore international peace and security."

Japan Places Students In 'Agrarian Militia'

SAN FRANCISCO, May 21—(AP) Japan today mobilized its 20,000,000 students on a full wartime basis, the Japanese Domei news agency reported, and began formation of an "agrarian militia" for defense of the homeland.

As these moves to combat an expected invasion developed, Tokyo radio reported that the government looked to a solution of its basic Chinese policy as the "key to overcoming the crisis" confronting the empire.

Broadcasts reporting these developments were recorded by the FCC.

Tokyo had nothing further to say, concerning its unconfirmed claim of the last few days that a powerful Allied fleet was on the move south of Japan.

The plan to mobilize students for active participation in defense measures was announced by the ministry of education. Students will receive special training "to qualify them for active combat duties." Domei said the decree "is applicable to all educational institutions from the university down" and that not only students and faculty members "but the entire people as well must comply in consideration of his majesty's concern."

Adult farmers and juvenile farmers from 14 to 19 will be drawn into the Agrarian militia which, radio Tokyo said will be organized on the principles "of the oneness of soldiering and farming."

The statement on Japan's basic policy toward China came from foreign minister Shigenori Togo and was made to the empire's representatives in occupied China, meeting in Tokyo.

Togo's definition of that policy, as quoted by Domei, referred to establishment of friendly relations between the two countries, in economic and political matters "in addition to giving support to China's independence, defense and unification."

Another Domei dispatch reported a categorical denial by Sadao Iguchi, spokesman of the Japanese board of information that Japan has "ever proposed peace to the United States and Great Britain."

Luxembourg Envoy Sees Possibility Of Lasting Peace

San Francisco, May 21—(AP)—Foreign Minister Joseph Bech of Luxembourg who in 30 years of European diplomacy has seen the world plunged into two great wars, holds out the shining hope of peace forever.

The gray-haired, mustached 58-year-old diplomat declared that he is neither an optimist nor a pessimist.

"I'm just a realist," he explained in an interview last night, "and looking at the overall picture from a realistic view point I am convinced that peace for generations to come—possibly forever—is within our grasp.

"Never in history have so many men had such an opportunity of underwriting world peace as we delegates to the United Nations security conference."

HARD COAL MINERS RETURN TO PITS AS STRIKE IS ENDED

SCRANTON, Pa., May 21—(AP) Miners in Pennsylvania's hard coal fields dug into the task of producing anthracite today for the first time since April 30 when their union contract expired.

Miners in the Lackawanna valley near Scranton had to use emergency means to get to their collieries as the two day old work stoppage of Scranton's 400 bus and trolley operators continued to tie up traffic throughout the area.

J. J. Forbes, manager of the anthracite industries for the solid fuels administration, with headquarters in Wilkes-Barre, since the government took over the hard coal fields. Said 326 of the 333 anthracite mines under government control since May 3 were working today. He said 93 per cent of the industry's manpower of 68,800 were at their jobs.

Today's output was estimated at 85 to 90 per cent of the normal daily production, he said.

Details of the contract were released today after the War Labor Board in Washington took the new contract under consideration.

The contract, approved Saturday, contains a wage increase of $1.37 1-2 cents per day for every member of the United Mine Workers organization, regardless of whether employed in the mines or outside.

For the first time in the history of the anthracite industry, portal-to-portal pay was approved in the contract. The pay increase amounts to $1.12 daily with the remaining 25 1-2 cents to be made up by increasing the hourly rate of second and third shifts.

An increase in vacation pay from $50 to $75 also was approved as well as time and one half for every hour worked over a specified seven-hour daily shift and for all work over 35 hours per week.

The new contract, like the bituminous agreement signed by UMW head, John L. Lewis and soft coal operators April 11, runs indefinitely, but may be reopened after one year on 10 days notice.

DRIVERS DEFY WLB'S ORDER

Chicagoans Vote To Continue Five-Day Work Stoppage

Chicago, May 21 (AP)—Members of the Chicago Truck Drivers Union (independent) voted tonight to defy a War Labor Board back-to-work order, issued yesterday in Washington, and to continue their five-day work stoppage which has paralyzed Chicago's trucking facilities.

Tonight's special meeting was called by officials of the union on their return from Washington, where WLB members told representatives of the striking union "the Government will be forced to act" if the strike was not ended by tomorrow morning. The drivers were left to choose between returning to their jobs and Government intervention.

More than 1,000 drivers decided by a standing vote, which appeared to be unanimous, to continue the walkout after the vote was requested by Edward Fenner, executive director of the union.

$5 Weekly Raise Sought

Fenner viewed the standing vote and said to those on the platform: "It's unanimous, don't you agree? We'll stay out."

Fenner told the men before the vote was taken that "the only way to win a strike is to remain out until our demands are met by the National War Labor Board. We won't return until our demands are met and we, your officers, will not agree with anybody until we have reported to you and until you are satisfied."

"If they take our striking privileges away from us," Fenner added, "we may as well turn our union into a social club. We don't want to defy the Government, but we believe we ought to get a $5 weekly raise, a 48-hour week and two weeks' vacation with pay."

Action By Truman Asked

After the vote was taken, Steve Slahor, president of the union, told the men, "don't forget in unity there is strength. If we are to weaken now we should have given in to the WLB the first day."

The walkout cut heavily into deliveries of perishable foods, war materials, drugs and other essentials. Management representatives asked intervention by President Truman under the War Labor Disputes Act as AFL union drivers began demonstrating sympathy with the independent strike over dissatisfaction with a WLB wage increase award.

Lloyd K. Garrison, WLB vice chairman, informed the strikers that board policies prevented any reconsideration of the wage question while the strike was in force.

One hundred army trucks were handling loads of war goods with Government bills of lading, but dealers in food and drugs watched helplessly as their stocks dwindled.

24 GI's Are Injured In Train Derailment

Piqua, Ohio, May 21 (AP)—Twenty-four soldiers, all veterans of two or more years of overseas service, were injured today when a troop train was derailed on an embankment near downtown Piqua.

There was no immediate explanation of the derailment. Eight cars of the 14-car westbound train were derailed, two of them plunging down a 20-foot embankment, and three others falling part way down the fill.

Capt. John B. Mitchell, officer in charge of the train, said there were nearly 400 officers and men aboard the train, which was enroute to Camp Atterbury, Ind., Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and Fort Bliss, Texas. All of the men, he said, were to report at one of the three camps before going home on furloughs. Names of the injured men were withheld by military orders.

Okinawa Veteran Loses Plane Seat to Sinatra

MT. VERNON, Ill., May 21—(AP) Eugene E. Harshbarger, signalman 3-c, said today his return from the Pacific war area was a little delayed at Los Angeles, because he lost his seat on an airliner to Frank Sinatra.

Harshbarger, a veteran of the Iwo Jima and Okinawa invasions, related he was bumped at Los Angeles recently by "The Voice" who had a priority higher than that held by the sailor.

Sinatra was leaving on an important trip, Harshbarger said, adding that the singer remained at the airport with him until he was assured that Harshbarger would get a reservation on the next plane.

In New York city, George Evans, agent for Sinatra, said the latter was traveling on a No. 3 priority under government orders.

"The government arranged all travel," Evans said adding that Sinatra had been alerted for an overseas USO tour.

He said Sinatra would leave shortly.

Jurists, Educators Urge Constitution For United Nations

New York, May 21—(AP)—A group of 22 prominent jurists, legislators, and educators have asked the American delegation to the San Francisco Conference to create a United Nations constitution and a Supreme Court with power to judge when individuals or nations violate its provisions.

In a letter sent to the delegation, they declared:

"In order to accomplish the expressed purpose of the Dumbarton Oaks proposals to establish an international organization" and "to maintain international peace and security," it is necessary that a set of rules of fundamental law be agreed upon and be incorporated in a constitution or organic law, and that a Supreme Court of the United Nations be established with judicial power to determine when those laws have been violated by nations or the individuals who compose them."

Zoltan Vas Reported New Budapest Mayor

New York, May 21 (AP)—The Moscow radio said today that Zoltan Vas had been elected Mayor of Budapest by the "community council" in the Hungarian capital.

The broadcast said that Vas "had successfully solved the difficulty of food problems and thereby earned the gratitude and the affection of the public."

Vas, a member of the Hungarian Communist movement presumably succeeded Dr. Janos Csorba, who was reported on April 10 by the Hungarian radio to have been named as Mayor.

China's Post-War Rail Plans

BALTIMORE, May 21 (AP).—E. S. Mao, a member of a party of Chinese railway officials touring the United States, said today that China plans to construct at least 20,000 miles of railroads within ten years after the end of the war. Mr. Mao, superintendent of the Liukiang Locomotive and Car Works, said that since the war approximately 90 per cent of China's 13,000 miles of railroads had been destroyed. One of the first jobs of the Chinese people, he said, will be that of rehabilitating the present railway system to make it usuable until the new construction can be completed.

$13,325 Raised for Yugoslavia

LOS ANGELES, May 21 (AP).—The American Committee for Yugoslav Relief raised $13,325 last night at a dinner honoring Stanoje Simic, Yugoslav Ambassador to the United States. Paulette Goddard, John Garfield, Burgess Meredith and Peter Coe, of the screen, were among the guests. Miss Goddard contributed a gold and diamond pin to auction.

MARCH FIELD, Calif., May 21—(AP) A four-engined bomber missing since May 12 on a combat training flight was found wrecked Saturday night in an isolated mountain region 20 miles north of Fort Bragg in northern California, March Field army air base authorities announced today. All 11 occupants were dead.

60 CANADIAN SHIPS TO AID WAR ON JAPS

Ottawa, May 21 (A. P.).—Sixty Canadian ships and 13,500 volunteer Navy men will serve in the Pacific in the war against Japan, Navy Minister Abbott announced today.

The Navy men will receive bonuses of about $10 a month for seamen, which will make the Pacific pay rate about $54 a month as compared with $60 a month for American combat troops. Similar bonuses for Army privates in the Pacific have been announced.

The fleet will probably be under the command of Capt. Harry G. DeWolf, Assistant Chief of Staff. Two new light aircraft carriers nearing completion, described as the largest warships Canada has ever had, the Cruiser Uganda, already in action in the, the cruiser Ontario, several destroyers and thirty-six of Canada's newest frigates will make up the fleet. The carriers will be manned by 1,300 men each.

MAY 21 1945

BY ROMNEY WHEELER

LONDON, MAY 21-(AP)-MARSHAL TITO OF YUGOSLAVIA APPEARED TONIGHT TO HAVE EASED DIPLOMATIC AND MILITARY TENSION OVER THE OCCUPATION OF TRIESTE AND ITS SURROUNDING AREA, POSSIBLY UNDER MOSCOW PROMPTING.

DIPLOMATIC SOURCES WITH CONTACTS IN THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE DESCRIBED THE SITUATION AS "DEFINITELY IMPROVED" AND THERE WAS A DISPOSITION TO REGARD THE PROBLEM AS RIPE FOR AN EARLY SOLUTION.

ALREADY, TITO WAS WITHDRAWING HIS TROOPS FROM SOUTHERN AUSTRIA, ONE OF THE POINTS OF DISPUTE.

YUGOSLAV OCCUPATION HEADQUARTERS HAD BEEN WITHDRAWN FROM TRIESTE, ALTHOUGH THE MILITARY SITUATION THERE WAS UNCHANGED WITH BOTH BRITISH AND YUGOSLAV TROOPS OCCUPYING THE ADRIATIC PORT.

WHILE DELEGATES PURPORTING TO SPEAK FOR THE CITIZENS OF TRIESTE SENT A BELLICOSE MESSAGE OF ALLEGIANCE TO TITO, PROGRESS WAS APPARENT ON DIPLOMATIC LEVELS.

DIPLOMATIC CHANNELS SAID IT HAD BECOME QUITE CLEAR IN THE LAST 24 HOURS THAT THE YUGOSLAVS WERE PREPARED TO SEEK A SOLUTION WITHOUT ARMED FORCE, AND THAT TITO'S GOVERNMENT HAD INDICATED A WILLINGNESS TO DISCUSS THE QUESTION WITH THE ALLIES.

(A SIMILAR VIEW WAS TAKEN BY THE COMMUNIST DAILY BORBA, PUBLISHED IN THE YUGOSLAV CAPITAL, WHICH SAID IN AN EDITORIAL BROADCAST BY THE BELGRADE RADIO THAT THE YUGOSLAV GOVERNMENT HAD STRESSED THESE TWO POINTS:

("FIRST, THAT IT DOES NOT INTEND TO ANNEX THESE TERRITORIES UNILATERALLY BEFORE A PEACE CONFERENCE THAT WILL FINALLY SETTLE THE QUESTION OF SLOVENE COASTLINE AND TRIESTE, I.E., BEFORE THE POSSIBILITY OF A DIRECT AGREEMENT BETWEEN ITALY AND YUGOSLAVIA.

("SECOND, THAT FOR THESE REASONS YUGOSLAVIA IS PREPARED TO DISCUSS THE SITUATION...SO AS TO FIND, IN AGREEMENT WITH THE ALLIES, A SOLUTION THAT WILL SATISFY BOTH PARTIES AND WILL NOT BE CONTRARY TO THE INTERESTS OF THE POPULATION OF THESE TERRITORIES." THE BROADCAST WAS RECORDED BY THE FEDERAL COMMUNICATIONS COMMISSION.)

DEVELOPMENTS WERE INDICATED ON TWO DIPLOMATIC FRONTS--FIRST TITO'S APPARENT READINESS TO DISCUSS DIRECTLY WITH ITALY THE LONG-TERM STATUS OF THE TERRITORY, AND SECOND HIS INCLINATION TO DISCUSS THE PRESENT STATUS OF OCCUPATION WITH THE ALLIES.

WHETHER THIS ABOUT-FACE WAS DUE TO A FRIENDLY SUGGESTION TO TITO FROM MOSCOW WAS UNKNOWN IN LONDON, BUT THERE WAS SPECULATION THAT THIS MIGHT HAVE TAKEN PLACE.

IT WAS REGARDED BY PERSONS FAMILIAR WITH THE BRITISH FOREIGN OFFICE THAT THE SETTLEMENT OF THE IMMEDIATE QUESTION OF OCCUPATION WOULD BE THROUGH DIPLOMATIC CHANNELS RATHER THAN BY DIRECT TALKS WITH FIELD MARSHAL SIR HAROLD ALEXANDER, SUPREME COMMANDER IN THE MEDITERRANEAN THEATER.

A33

THERE WAS NO IMMEDIATE OFFICIAL CONFIRMATION OF REPORTS BY THE BELGRADE RADIO THAT DIRECT NEGOTIATIONS HAD BEEN OPENED WITH THE ITALIAN GOVERNMENT IN REGARD TO TRIESTE, BUT DIPLOMATIC SOURCES ACCEPTED THEM AS AUTHENTIC.

TITO'S WITHDRAWAL OF YUGOSLAV TROOPS FROM CARINTHIA AND STYRIA IN SOUTHERN AUSTRIA SUGGESTED SINCERITY ON THE PART OF THE BALKAN LEADER IN ATTEMPTING TO REACH AN AMICABLE DECISION.

A DISPATCH FROM TRIESTE SAID THAT THERE WAS NO RELAXATION OF YUGOSLAV MILITARY CONTROL WITHIN THE CITY DESPITE THE REMOVAL OF THE MAIN HEADQUARTERS.

DELEGATES CLAIMING TO REPRESENT THE CITIZENS OF TRIESTE SENT A MESSAGE TO TITO SALUTING HIM AS "THE LIBERATOR OF OUR CITY" AND DECLARING:

MARSHAL TITO'S COMMANDERS, MEANWHILE, MOVED THEIR MAIN HEADQUARTERS OUT OF TRIESTE FOLLOWING A SHARP EXCHANGE OF STATEMENTS BETWEEN THE PARTISAN LEADER AND BRITISH MARSHAL SIR HAROLD ALEXANDER. THIS WAS BELIEVED, HOWEVER, TO BE PART OF A GENERAL RESHUFFLE OF YUGOSLAV TROOPS AND THERE WAS NO RELAXATION OF YUGOSLAV MILITARY CONTROL APPARENT IN THE CITY, SAID A TRIESTE DISPATCH FROM ASSOCIATED PRESS CORRESPONDENT LYNN HEINZERLING. MAY 21 1945

HEINZERLING SAID THERE WERE UNCONFIRMED REPORTS IN TRIESTE THAT THE YUGOSLAVS HAD AGREED TO WITHDRAW FROM THE KLAGENFURT AREA IN THE DISPUTED SECTOR OF THE AUSTRIAN PROVINCE OF CARINTHIA.

A FOOD SHORTAGE SO ACUTE THAT IT MIGHT EMERGE AS ONE OF THE DETERMINING FACTORS IN THE DISPUTE HAS HEIGHTENED THE PROBLEM, HEINZERLING ADDED. IT WAS UNDERSTOOD, HE SAID, THAT YUGOSLAV MILITARYNAUTHORITIES HAD MADE OVERTURES TO ALLIED AUTHORITIES FOR PERMISSION TO BRING IN FOOD FROM THE PADUA AREA OF ITALY. BUT IT WAS UNLIKELY THIS WOULD BE PERMITTED. SINCE THOUSANDS OF DISPLACED PERSONS STREAMING INTO ITALY

WERE BELIEVED LIKELY TO SHARPEN THE FOOD SITUATION IN THAT NORMALLY FRUITFUL AREA.

THE YUGOSLAV NEWS AGENCY TANYUG QUOTED TITO AS SAYING THAT HE WAS SURPRISED AND DISPLEASED WITH MARSHAL ALEXANDER'S STATEMENT SATURDAY, WHICH LIKENED TITO'S METHODS WITH THOSE OF HITLER AND JAPAN. THE AGENCY QUOTED TITO AS SAYING THE PRESENCE OF HIS TROOPS IN THE TERRITORY UNDER DISPUTE "CANNOT BE CONSIDERED AS CONQUEST."

"I SAY AGAIN," TITO WAS QUOTED, "THAT THE YUGOSLAV ARMY AND YUGOSLAVIA ARE PREPARED TO COLLABORATE WITH THE ALLIED FORCES AND COUNTRIES, BUT AT THE SAME TIME I SAY THAT YUGOSLAVIA CANNOT PERMIT HERSELF TO BE HUMBLED AND HER RIGHTS DENIED." MAY 21 1945

BLACKPOOL, ENGLAND, MAY 21-(AP)-MISS ELLEN WILKINSON, A MEMBER OF THE BRITISH DELEGATION TO THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE, SAID TODAY THAT PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT CALLED THE CONFERENCE FOR APRIL BECAUSE "HE KNEW THAT HE HAD NOT LONG TO LIVE" AND "HE FELT THAT HE HAD SOMETHING TO GIVE THE WORLD."

"PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT," SHE SAID IN A SPEECH PREPARED FOR DELIVERY BEFORE THE BRITISH LABOR PARTY'S NATIONAL CONFERENCE, "EVEN BEFORE THAT FINAL MEETING AT YALTA, I AM TOLD, KNEW HISCDAYS WERE NUMBERED".

"IN FIXING THE DATE OF APRIL 25," SHE ADDED, "HE WAS THROWING THE DICE WITH DEATH. ALAS, DEATH WON. HAD HE BEEN THERE, SOME OF THE DIFFICULTIES CONSEQUENT UPON A TOO EARLY MEETING WOULD HAVE BEEN SMOOTHED AWAY. WITHOUT HIM THEY WERE ALL TOO PLAIN."

MISS WILKINSON ADDED THAT "DESPITE THE INEVITABLE DIFFICULTIES OF SUCH A CONFERENCE AT SUCH A TIME, IT IS TERRIBLY IMPORTANT FOR THE BUILDING OF A PEACEFUL WORLD THAT IT WAS HELD AT ALL. IT WOULD HAVE BEEN SO EASY TO LET THE FUTURE OF THE WORLD LIE IN THE HANDS OF THE BIG POWERS. IN EFFECT THAT WOULD HAVE MEANT THE BIG THREE -- THE UNITED STATES, RUSSIA, AND THE UNITED KINGDOM. DICTATORSHIP IS NO LESS DISTATORSHIP WHETHER IT IS EXERCISED BY BIG POWERS OR BY A MASTER RACE."

SHE SAID THAT DIFFERENCES AT THE CONFERENCE WHICH MIGHT HAVE BLOWN IT "SKY HIGH WERE KEPT WITHIN THE BOUNDS OF REASON AND DISCUSSION BY MEN WHO WERE WELL AWARE THAT THERE WAS NO ALTERNATIVE TO THIS CONFERENCE BUT A RETURN TO THE HORRORS OF MUTUAL SUSPICION AND INTERNATIONAL ANARCHY."

ERNEST BROWN, LEADER OF THE LIBERAL NATIONAL PARTY, EXPRESSED UNQUALIFIED SUPPORT OF CHURCHILL, INFORMING HIM IN A LETTER THAT "WE SHALL BE GLAD TO DO ALL IN OUR POWER TO SUPPORT YOU IN YOUR HEAVY RESPONSIBILITIES UNTIL VICTORY OVER JAPAN IS WON."

MORE THAN 1,100 DELEGATES TO THE LABOR PARTY'S NATIONAL CONVENTION HERE, SOME ALREADY WAVING CAMPAIGN BANNERS, ROARED DOWN CHURCHILL'S PROPOSAL THAT THE UNITED FRONT BE CARRIED ON INDEFINITELY AS WELL AS HIS ALTERNATE SUGGESTION THAT THE WHOLE ISSUE BE TAKEN TO THE PEOPLE BY REFERENDUM.

CLEMENT ATTLEE, LABORITE DEPUTY PRIME

ER, IN A PERSONAL LETTER TO 10 DOWNING STREET, EMPLOYED THE BLUNTEST LANGUAGE HE EVER USED IN ADDRESSING CHURCHILL.

IT WOULD NOT BE "EITHER RIGHT OR POSSIBLE" TO EXTEND THE PRESENT PARLIAMENT, WHICH ALREADY IS 10 YEARS OLD, HE SAID, AND HE CONDEMNED THE REFERENDUM PLAN AS A "DEVICE....ALIEN TO ALL OUR TRADITIONS... WHICH HAS ONLY TOO OFTEN BEEN THE INSTRUMENT OF NAZISM AND FASCISM."

ATTLEE WROTE THAT CHURCHILL, BY OBJECTING TO AN AUTUMN ELECTION, WAS "DEPARTING FROM THE POSITION OF NATIONAL LEADER" AND "YIELDING TO PRESSURE OF THE CONSERVATIVE PARTY, WHICH IS ANXIOUS TO EXPLOIT YOUR OWN GREAT SERVICE TO THE NATION IN ITS OWN INTEREST."

THE LABOR PARTY'S ACTION PUT IT UP TO CHURCHILL WHETHER HE WOULD CALL A GENERL ELECTION THIS SUMMER.

ESHOULD YO

"SHOULD YOU, HOWEVER, DECIDE ON AN ELECTION IN JULY," ATTLEE WROTE CHURCHILL, "THE RESONSPIBILITY MUST AND WILL OF COURSE BE YOURS."

ATTLEE AND OTHER LABOR LEADERS CONDEMNED ANY SUMMER ELECTION IDEA ON THE GROUNDS THAT SERVICE MEN OVERSEAS WOULD NOT HAVE TIME OR A FAIR OPPORTUNITY TO CONSIDER CANDIDATES AND POLICIES.

THE DEPUTY PRIME MINISTER SAID THAT ANOTHER "RUSH ELECTION" SUCH AS THAT HELD IN 1918 WOULD "GRAVELY WEAKEN THE AUTHORITY OF ANY GOVERNMENT AT A TIME WHEN "PUBLIC CONFIDENCE WOULD BE ESPECIALLY NECESSARY."

ATTLEE PLEDGED THE LABOR PARTY'S "FULLEST SUPPORT TO THE WAR UNTIL JAPAN IS DEFEATED" BUT TOLD CHURCHILL:

"WHEN THIS WILL BE IS NOT CERTAIN. WE HOOE IT MAY BE SOON, BUT IF IT WERE TO BE PROLONGED WE SEE ARISING IN A MUCH MORE ACUTE FORM ALI THOSE DIFFICULTIES WHICH YOU APPREHEND AT THE PRESENT TIME IN THE DOMESTIC SPHERE AND WHICH YO GIVE AS AN OBJECTION TO CONTINUING TO AUTUMN."

ATTLEE SAID THAT HE AND HIS PARTY COLLEAGUES IN THE WAR CABINET THOUGHT THERE WOULD BE "A GREAT ADVANTAGE IN THE GOVERNMENT WHICH HAS SUCCESSFULLY BROUGHT THE NATION THROUGH THE WAR CONTINUING FOR A SHORT TIME IN ORDER TO DEAL WITH THE IMMEDIATE PROBLEMS IN THE INTERNATIONAL FIELD AND ESPECIALLY TO HELP TO BRING TO A SUCCESSFUL CONCLUSION THE SAN FRANCISCO CONFERENCE."

HE ADDED THAT HE HAD HOPED THAT "THE LONG AND HONORABLE ASSOCIATION WHICH HAS BROUGHT THE COUNTRY THROUGH SO MANY PERILS TO VICTORY" WOULD BE "BROUGHT TO AN END BY COMMON AGREEMENT AND WITHOUT CONTROVERSY."

PARIS, MAY 21-(AP)-A BRITISH GENERAL HEADQUARTERS "PHANTOM" REGIMENT HAS OPERATED SECRETLY THROUGHOUT THE WAR IN EUROPE AND AFRICA AS THE SWIFTEST COMMUNICATIONS LINK BETWEEN FRONTLINE ALLIED TROOPS AND OVERALL COMMANDERS IN THE REAR, IT MAY BE DISCLOSED.

THE UNITED STATES ARMY HAS PERFECTED A SIMILAR UNIT ON AN EVEN LARGER SCALE AND THE OUTFIT WENT INTO ACTION A MONTH BEFORE GERMANY SURRENDERED.

LT.COL.A.H.MCINTOSH, COMMANDER OF THE PHANTOM REGIMENT OF 150 OFFICERS AND 1,250 MEN, TOLD CORRESPONDENTS TODAY THAT HIS PATROLS HAVE ACCOMPANIED ASSAULT FORCES AND AIRBORNE TROOPS ON EVERY IMPORTANT MISSION SINCE THE NORMANDY LANDINGS. TH

Y SUPPLIED INFORMATION ON THE PROGRESS OF BATTLE AND THE STRENGTH OF THE ENEMY HOURS BEFORE NORMAL COMMUNICATIONS CHANNELS.

IN BROADCASTING INFORMATION FROM NEW ENEMY LINES, THE PHANTOM PATROLS USED SPECIAL TRANSMITTING AND RECEIVING SETS INVENTED FOR THE BRITISH ARMY. THEY USED A FOOLPROOF CODE WHICH THE GERMANS NEITHER COULD BREAK DOWN IN INTERCEPTION NOR DECIPHER UPON CAPTURE.

THE INVENTION PERMITTED MESSAGES TO BE BROADCAST AT THE RATE OF 30 WORDS A MINUTE. A TRANSMITTER, AS EASY TO OPERATE AS A TYPEWRITTER, SCRAMBLED THE MESSAGES AS THEY WENT OVER THE AIR AND A RECEIVER PIECED THEM TOGETHER AUTOMATICALLY.

DURING THE 11 MONTHS WAR ON THE WESTERN FRONT, MCINTOSH'S MEN SENT MORE THAN 70,000 MESSAGES FROM BATTLE AREAS TO HEADQUARTERS OF THI 12TH AND 21ST ARMY GROUPS. EIGHTY AMERICAN EXPERTS WERE ASSIGNED TO THE PHANTOM REGIMENT, WORKING PRINCIPALLY AT HEADQUARTERS.

PARIS, MAY 21-(AP)-RUMORS THAT FRENCH LABOR LEADERS WERE PLANNING A NATIONAL GENERAL STRIKE CIRCULATED THROUGH FINANCIAL AND INDUSTRIAL CIRCLES TODAY AND THE BELIEF WAS EXPRESYED THAT THE COUNTRY APPROACHED A CRISIS IN INTERNAL AFFAIRS.

OFFICIALS OF THE CENTRAL COMMITTEE OF LABOR UNIONS SAID IMPORTANT CONFERENCES WERE HELD OVER THE WEEK-END BUT DENIED GENERAL STRIKES WERE IMMINENT.

MEANWHILE, A SURVEY OF BASIC STOCKS AND BONDS SHOWED THAT PARIS BOURSE QUOTATIONS HAVE SLIPPED SHARPLY WITHIN THE PAST FEW WEEKS AND PARTICULARLY SINCE THE RECENT MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

THESE WERE DOMINATED BY COMMUNISTS AND SOCIALISTS IN THE ORIGINAL POLLING. SUPPLEMENTARY ELECTIONS LAST WEEK IN COMMUNITIES WHERE CLEAR MAJORITIES HADN'T BEEN ESTABLISHED CONFIRMED THE LEFTIST TREND.

BOURSE QUOTATIONS SHOWED A STEADY DECLINE SINCE THE END OF APRIL IN THE FOLLOWING ISSUES: BANK OF PARIS, SUEZ CAPITAL, RIO TINTO, ROYAL DUTCH, DEBEERS. THE HEAVIEST DECLINE IN SUEZ PROBABLY WAS DUE TO A RUMOR THE GOVERNMENT MIGHT NATIONALIZE THOSE HOLDINGS.

SIGNIFICANTLY, SOUTH AFRICAN GOLD MINING STOCKS WERE THE ONLY ONES GAINING.

FINANCIAL EXPERTS SAID THE ELECTION RESULTS AND GOVERNMENT ORDINANCE MAKING IT ILLEGAL TO TRANSFER STOCKS ANONYMOUSLY WERE FACTORS DIRECTLY AFFECTING THE DECLINE IN THE MARKET. GENERAL INTERNAL CONDITIONS ALSO WERE EXERTING A DEPRESSING EFFECT.

CONVERSELY, THE FINANCIAL BLACK MARKET REGISTERED A STEADY RISE IN THE PRICE FOR BOTH AMERICAN AND BRITISH MONEY. PAPER DOLLARS OFFICIAL-LY WERE WORTH 50 FRANCS. SOURCES SAID THAT ON MAY 1, THE BLACK MARKET WAS PAYING 145 FRANCS PER DOLLAR AND NOW PAYS 1,235 GOLD DOLLARS ALLEGEDLY BRING 1,235 FRANCS. PRICES FOR THE BRITISH PAPER POUND WAS LISTED AT 530 FRANCS.

INDUSTRIAL TROUBLES APPEARED INCREASING WITH A GENERAL STRIKE AT LYONS AND THE RHONE REGION LAST WEEK; A WALKOUT AMONG COAL MINERS AT PAS DE CALAIS AND AN EXPLOSION AT THE GHOME DU RHONE FACTORY, WHICK WAS BELIEVED THE RESULT OF SABOTAGE.

THE LYONS GENERAL STRIKE WAS INDUCED BY A DISSATISFACTION ATTRIBUTED TO THE FOOD SITUATION AND A DEMAND AMONG WORKERS THAT THE REGION BE PUT ON A WAGE PARITY WITH PARIS LABOR.

THE STRIKE AMONG COAL MINERS WAS CONSIDERED EXCEPTIONALLY SERIOUS. THE FRENCH COAL INDUSTRY HASN'T BEEN ABLE TO BUILD UP RESERVES FOR THE COMING WINTER AND MOST OF FRANCE'S INDUSTRIAL MACHINE RUNS ON COAL.

BERCHTESGADEN, MAY 21-(AP)-HITLER'S SECRETARIES SAID TODAY THE INABILITY OF THE GERMAN AIR FORCE TO MEET THE CHALLENGE OF BRITISH, AMERICAN AND RUSSIAN AIRCRAFT GAVE HIM SOME OF HIS WORST MOMENTS OF THE WAR.

IT WAS DIRECTLY RESPONSIBLE FOR THE COOLNESS THAT GREW UP BETWEEN HITLER AND HERMANN GOERING.

THE SECRETARIES SAID THE COOLNESS BETWEEN HITLER AND GOERING FINALLY BROUGHT ON AN OPEN BREAK BETWEEN THE TWO AND WHEN IT WAS ALL OVER HITLER HAD WORKED HIMSELF INTO SUCH A STATE THAT HIS PHYSICIAN ORDERED HIM TO BED FOR A WEEK.

SEVEN CONFIDENTIAL SECRETARIES WHO RECORDED THE SECRETS OF THE STAR CHAMBER SESSIONS BETWEEN HITLER AND HIS HENCHMEN PROVIDED THESE DETAILS TODAY AFTER REFRESHING THEIR MEMORIES FROM THEIR SHORTHAND NOTES.

THE HISTORIC FEBRUARY, 1944, OFFENSIVE BY THE BRITISH AND AMERICAN AIRFORCES--WHICH WAS DESIGNED TO WIPE OUT GERMAN FIGHTER PRODUCTION AND CLEAR THE WAY FOR THE ALLIED INVASION--PRODUCED THE FIRST RIFT WITH GOERING.

"THE PRODUCTION OF GERMAN FIGHTERS BOGGED DOWN COMPLETELY IN FEBRUARY, 1944," HANS HELLING, WHO SEEMS MOST FAMILIAR WITH GERMAN AIR FORCE AFFAIRS, RELATED.

"THE UPSHOT WAS THAT PRODUCTION WAS TRANSFERRED FROM THE AIR MINISTRY TO THE MINISTRY OF MUNITIONS AND ARMAMENTS."

THE SHIFT REMOVED PRODUCTION FROM GOERING'S PROVINCE.

"THERE HAD BEEN MANY EXCUSES FROM GOERING THAT (PRODUCTION MINISTER ALBERT) SPEER'S STUPID MANPOWER POLICIES WERE TO BLAME FOR THE LOW PRODUCTION," HELLING SAID.

"BUT THE SHARPEST DIFFERENCES BETWEEN HITLER AND GOERING WERE OVER FUNDAMENTAL MATTERS. HITLER CONSTANTLY PREACHED THAT HE MUST HAVE SUPERIORITY IN THE AIR. HE REALIZED THAT FROM THE START. BUT HE ADVOCATED A LIGHT, FAST, HIGH-ALTITUDE BOMBER--LIKE THE BRITISH MOSQUITO--WHOSE ONLY DEFENSE WOULD BE ITS SPEED. GOERING REFUSED TO AGREE THAT HIS TWO BASIC TYPES THE MESSERSCHMITT 109 AND THE FOCKE-WULF 190 WERE INADEQUATE.

"HITLER FRETTED BECAUSE PLANES WERE NOT ARMED WITH HEAVIER CALIBER GUNS. I REMEMBER WHEN HE COMMENDED A FLIER FOR SHOOTING DOWN A BOMBER WITH A 220 MM. CANOON AT 100 FEET. HE BECAME ANGRY AND SAID IT SHOULD HAVE BEEN A 3.7 OR EVEN HEAVIER GUN. THE PILOT SHOULD NOT HAVE HAD TO APPROACH SO DANGEROUSLY NEAR HIS TARGET.

"'NO WONDER,' HITLER SAID, 'WE LOSE FOUR PLANES TO THE ENEMY'S ONE.'

"CAREFULLY HOARDING ALL THE FIGHTERS HE COULD TO MEET THE EVER-INCREASING THREATOF INVASION, HITLER WAS ABLE TO SCRAPE UP 12 SQUADRONS OF 68 PLANES APIECE A FEW WEEKS BEFORE THE NORMANDY D-DAY--816 PLANES.

"SO MANY PLANES WERE RUINED IN MOVING THEM AROUND TO FORWARD AIRFIELDS THOUGH THAT THE AVERAGE SQUADRON'S STRENGTH WAS ONLY 35 PLANES WHEN THE INVASION DID COME.

A105

"FROM THE CONVERSATIONS BETWEEN GOERING AND HITLER IT SEEMED THAT WAS ONE OF THE WORST FAULTS OF THE LUFTWAFFE--SO MANY PLANES WERE RUINED BEFORE THEY EVER GOT INTO THE AIR."

UNDER THE NEW PRODUCTION AUTHORITY GERMAN AIRCRAFT PRODUCTION ROSE TO 5,100 PLANES IN THE MONTH OF AUGUST, 1944. OF THESE 3,500 WERE NEW PLANES AND 1,500 WERE SALVAGED AND REPAIRED CRAFT. THIS FIGURE INCLUDED EVERYTHING, FIGHTERS, BOMBERS, TRANSPORTS AND COURIER CRAFT. BUT THIS FIGURE BEGAN TO DWINDLE SOON AND THE END OF THE WAR FOUND THE NAZI AIR BOSSES--FOLLOWING HITLER'S ORDERS--WORKING FEVERISHLY ON NEW MODELS.

"WHAT ABOUT THE HEINKEL 177 THAT GOERING MENTIONED?" HELLING WAS ASKED.

ALL SEVEN SECRETARIES MADE WRY FACES AND SNORTED AND GESTURED THEIR CONTEMPT.

"IF GUENSCHE HADN'T KILLED HITLER THE HE-177 WOULD HAVE," SAID HELLING. HE REFERRED TO HITLER'S BODYGUARD IN BERLIN WHO, THE SECRETARIES SAY, WAS DETAILED TO SEE THAT HITLER DID NOT FALL INTO THE HANDS OF THE RUSSIANS AND TO KILL HIM AND DISPOSE OF THE BODY.

"THAT WAS THE BIGGEST FLP OF THE WAR," HE ADDED. "THEY HAD 50,000 PEOPLE WORKING ON THE PRODUCTION OF THAT PLANE THAT TOOK 10 TONS OF FUEL FOR ONE FLIGHT AND ONLY GOT A TOP SPEED OF 250 MILES AN HOUR."

THAT WAS THE BOMBER WHICH GOERING SAID WOULD HAVE REALLY SURPRISED THE ALLIES IF HE HAD EVER BEEN ABLE TO GET IT INTO ACTION. BUT FROM THE REACTION OF HITLER'S SECRETARIES IT WOULD HAVE BEEN THE GERMANS WH WOULD HAVE BEEN SURPRISED.

THE PRODUCTION OF JET-PROPELLED PLANES WAS EQUALLY DISAPPOINTING.

"THEY WERE SUPPOSED TO BE READY TO GO INTO PRODUCTION AT THE BEGINNING OF 1943," HELLING SAID.

BUT IT WAS A YEAR AND A HALF LATER BEFORE THEY COULD SEE ANY RESULTS. ALTOGETHER 1,200 JETS AND 2,500 POWER ELEMENTS WERE PRODUCED.

THE SURPRISE ATTACK ON ALLIED AIR BASES ON THE CONTINENT ON JAN. 1, 1945 DURING THE ARDENNES OFFENSIVE WAS STAGED STRICTLY AGAINST HITLER'S WISHES, HELLING SAID.

"HE OPPOSED THE OFFENSIVE USE OF THE FEW FIGHTERS WHICH WERE OPERATIONAL," THE SECRETARY DECLARED. "'EVERY PLANE LOST OVER AMERICAN TERRITORY MEANS A PILOT LOST TOO,' THE FUEHRER SAID. 'THEY HAVE SO MANY AIRFIELDS NOW IT MAKES NO DIFFERENCE ANYWAY.' BUT GOERING MADE THE ATTACK ANYWAY AT DAWN ON NEW YEARS' DAY THROUGHOUT BELGIUM AND PARTS OF FRANCE.

"HITLER NEVER DID LEARN HOW MANY PLANES WERE LOST. IT WAS AT LEAST 400. GOERING FIRST SAID 250 BUT EVERY TIME THERE WAS ANOTHER MEETING HITLER WOULD ASK HIM AND GOERING WOULD SAY 25 MORE, 40 MORE WERE MISSING. FINALLY IT JUST WASN'T BROUGHT UP ANY MORE.

A106

"HITLER SAID HE NEVER WANTED TO ATTACK ON THAT SCALE AGAIN."

HERE THE MEN WHO RECORDED THE CONFERENCES BETWEEN HITLER AND HIS CLOSEST ADVISORS--AND MANY OF THE CONFERENCES AT WHICH HITLER HIMSELF WAS NOT PRESENT--SAID HITLER NEVER WAS TRUTHFULLY INFORMED OF AMERICAN PRODUCTION FIGURES. THE FIGURES WERE DELIBERATELY WITHHELD FROM HIM FOR FEAR OF HIS ANGER AT GERMANY'S INABILITY TO MATCH THEM.

ONE OF HITLER'S THREE OUTSTANDING TANTRUMS OF THE WAR WAS THROWN AS A RESULT OF THE "DEFEAT OF THE GERMAN AIRFORCE AT STALINGRAD AND THE COLLAPSE OF THE EFFORT TO SUPPLY THE TROOPS BY AIR TRANSPORT."

SAID LUDWIG KRIEGER, OLDEST OF THE SECRETARIES.
"ANOTHER WAS IN FEBRUARY, 1945, WHEN GUDERIAN WAS SUPPOSED TO ATTACK IN POMERANIA. HITLER HAD TOLD HIM TO WAIT A FEW DAYS LONGER, BUT GUDERIAN ATTACKED PREMATURELY AND FAILED."
THE THIRD OUTBURST WAS WHEN HITLER AND GOERING HAD WORDS IN SEPTEMBER, 1944, OVER THE CONTINUED FAILURE OF THE LUFTWAFFE. HITLER WAS ILL FOR A WEEK AND HAD TO BE PUT TO BED BEFORE HE RECOVERED FROM THE EFFECTS.

ARNOLD SAID HE WAS 18 YEARS OLD AND THAT HE HAD NOT BEEN INDUCTE INTO THE WEHRMACHT BECAUSE OF ILLNESS. HE LOOKED 14 OR YOUNGER.
"HE IS THE TYPE OF HITLER JUGEND WHO WOULD HAVE BETRAYED HIS MOTHER TO THE GESTAPO IF SHE HAD LISTENED TO FOREIGN RADIO BROADCASTS OR DONE ANYTHING ELSE VERBOTEN," SAID FORSTER.
ARNOLD SAID HIS AMBITION TO SERVE THE FUEHRER HAD NOT STOPPED SHORT WITH MEMBERSHIP IN THE HITLER JUGEND. AN ADULT LEADER ORDERED HIM TO ATTEND SABOTAGE SCHOOL AT LANGENBERG. WHEN ARNOLD TOLD HIS MOTHER SHE OBJECTED STRENUOUSLY, HE SAID, BUT HE LIED TO HER AND WENT. HIS FATHER WAS A SOLDIER AND HAD BEEN AWAY FOR MONTHS.

WEIMAR, GERMANY, MAY 21-(AP)-EXCEPT FOR THE VIGILANCE OF SOME ANTI-NAZIS AT JENA, THE REMAINS OF GERMANY'S GREAT LIBERAL POETS, JOHANN WOLFGANG VON GOETHE AND FRIEDRICH VON SCHILLER, WOULD HAVE BEEN BLOWN TO BITS ON ORDERS OF THURINGIAN GAULEITER FRITZ SAUCKEL, WEIMAR'S MILITARY GOVERNOR, MAJ.WILLIAM M.BROWN, SAID TODAY.
INSTEAD, BROWN HAD THE SARCOPHAGI OF THESE TWO ILLUSTRIOUS GERMANS BROUGHT BACK FROM JENA TO THE CRYPT OF THURINGIAN PRINCES WHERE THEY HAD REPOSED SINCE THE MAUSOLEUM WAS ERECTED HERE IN 1824.
HERE'S HOW VIRGINIA-BORN BROWN, WHO NOW LIVES AT SCARSDALE, N.Y.,

TELLS THE STORY:

"SAUCKEL HAD GIVEN ORDERS THAT THE SARCOPHAGI WITH THE REMAINS OF GOETHE AND SCHILLER WERE TO BE BLOWN UP IN THE EVENT OF ALLIED INVASION OF THURINGIA LEST THEY FALL INTO THE HANDS OF THE AMERICANS WHO HE SAID WOULD DESECRATE THEM. THE ANTI-NAZIS LEARNED OF THIS AND ONE NIGHT MOVED THE SARCOPHAGI FROM THEIR REGULAR PLACE IN A JENA VAULT AND SHOVED THEM BEHIND SOME CHESTS, BOXES AND OTHER STORED GOODS SO THEY COULD NOT BE FOUND. AFTER THE FALL OF THE NAZI REGIME THEY INFORMED ME.

MAY 21 1945

"SEVERAL DAYS AGO I HAD THEM BROUGHT BACK TO WEIMAR. WE HELD A CEREMONY OF RECOMMITTING THEM TO THE PRINCES' CRYPT UNDER THE TITLE OF "HEIMKEHR GOETHES UND SCHILLERS" (THE RETURN HOME OF GOETHE AND SCHILLER). I FINISHED MY LITTLE ADDRESS BY QUOTING GOETHE'S FAMOUS LINES: 'UEBER ALLEN GIPFELN IST RUH.' (ABOVE ALL THE MOUNTAIN TOPS IS PEACE.)

"AS A FURTHER TRIBUTE TO WEIMAR'S GREAT POETS, I HAD WREATHS LAID AT THE MONUMENTS OR GRAVES OF GOETHE, SCHILLER, HERDER AND WIELAND."

MAY 21 1945

BROWN ALSO IMMEDIATELY HAD "OFF LIMITS" SIGNS PLACED ON THE HISTORIC DWELLING PLACES OF GOETHE AND SCHILLER, BOTH OF WHICH WERE BADLY BOMB-DAMAGED BUT WHICH PROBABLY COULD BE RESTORED AS WELL AS THE HOMES AND RESIDENCES OF OTHER WEIMAR LEADERS OF CULTURE.

THE SIGN ON GOETHE'S HOME READS: "STRICTLY OFF LIMITS TO ALL TROOPS. THIS IS THE HOUSE WHERE GOETHE LIVED AND DIED. HE WAS THE GERMAN SPIRIT OF LIBERTY AND THIS HOUSE SHOULD NOT BE DAMAGED FURTHER."

566

ANOTHER FACT BROWN ENCOUNTERED AFTER BECOMING MILITARY GOVERNOR WAS THE EXISTENCE OF THE "EMMY GOERING FOUNDATION," THE INCOME FROM WHICH WAS USED TO SUPPORT 70-YEAR-OLD ACTORS AND ACTRESSES. GOERING'S WIFE BEFORE HER MARRIAGE WAS AN ACTRESS AT THE WEIMAR THEATER WHERE THE REICHSMARSHAL SAW HER AND FELL IN LOVE WITH HER.

"THE JOKER ABOUT THE FOUNDATION," BROWN SAID, "WAS THAT GOERING DID NOT CONTRIBUTE ANY MONEY TO IT AT ALL. HE SIMPLY MADE A CERTAIN DUTCH INDUSTRIAL FIRM SUPPLY THE FUNDS. NATURALLY, FOR THE SAKE OF THESE PENNILESS OLD STAGE PEOPLE I UNBLOCKED THE FOUNDATION'S ACCOUNT BUT YOU MAY REST ASSURED IT DOES NOT CARRY EMMY GOERING'S NAME ANY LONGER."

MAY 21 1945

BROWN PRIDES HIMSELF ON THE FACT THAT HE APPOINTED AS WEIMAR'S CHIEF BURGOMEISTER UNDER THE ALLIED MILITARY GOVERNMENT AN EDUCATOR--HIS NAME WITHHELD FOR SAFETY REASONS--WHO ONLY A FEW DAYS BEFORE HAD BEEN A POLITICAL PRISONER AT THE INFAMOUS BUCHENWALD CONCENTRATION CAMP WHERE HE HAD BEEN DRAGGED IN 1933 WITH 700 OTHER WEIMAR NONCONFORMISTS.

MADRID, MAY 21-(AP)-FRANCISCO RODRIGUEZ MARTINEZ, DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC SECURITY TOLD FOREIGN NEWSMEN TODAY THAT SPAIN'S NANCLARES DE LA OCA PRISON CAMP WOULD BE A "MODEL " CAMP WHEN COMPLETED.

MEANWHILE, THERE WERE REPORTS THAT REPRISALS HAD BEEN TAKEN AGAINST FOREIGN PRISONERS WHO SPOKE TO NEWSMEN WHO VISITED THE CAMP.

RODRIGUEZ' STATEMENT WAS MADE TO NINE NEWSMEN WHO INSPECTED THE CAMP LAST WEEK AT THE INVITATION OF THE SPANISH INTERIOR MINISTRY. THESE NEWSMEN FOUND NO EVIDENCE THAT ANY FOREIGN PRISONERS HAD BEEN KILLED BUT REFUSED TO SIGN A PREPARED STATEMENT THAT NEITHER FOREIGNERS NOR SPANIARDS HAD DIED AS A RESULT OF PRISON TREATMENT.

THIS AFTERNOON, A PERSON WHO LEFT NANCLARES SUNDAY REPORTED THAT FOUR FOREIGNERS OUT OF THE 10 WHO TALKED TO THE NEWSMEN PRIVATELY UNDER AN AGREEMENT WITH THE PRISON COMMANDER HAD BEEN PUT IN SOLITARY CONFINEMENT.

THE OTHER SIX WERE SAID TO HAVE BEEN PUNISHED AND ALL FOREIGNERS IN THE CAMP WERE REPORTED KEPT INCOMMUNICADO.

THE NEWSMEN'S INVESTIGATION OF THE CAMP WAS A RESULT OF AN ASSOCIATED PRESS ACCOUNT OF A REPORT ON CAMP CONDITIONS 10 DAYS AGO BY A SOCIAL WORKERS.

RODRIGUEZ, WHO RECEIVED NEWSMEN IN THE HEADQUARTERS FROM WHICH HE COMMANDS ALL SPAIN'S NATIONAL POLICE FORCES, INCLUDING THE SECRET POLICE, SAID THAT THE FOREIGNERS IN NACLARES CAMP WERE THERE "ONLY UNTIL THEY WANT TO LEAVE AND CAN LEAVE SPAIN." HE SAID THAT THERE WERE NO SPANISH POLITICAL PRISONERS AT THE CAMP.

RODRIGUEZ SAID THAT THE RECORDS OF THE 10 FOREIGN PRISONERS QUESTIONED PRIVATELY BY THE NEWSMEN SHOWED THEY HAD SUFFICIENT DIET, THEIR WEIGHT REMAINING FAIRLY STABLE. HE AGREED TO SEND THE CORRESPONDENTS COPIES OF THE POLICE RECORDS OF THE 10 MEN.

LIBEN, CZECHOSLOVAKIA, MAY 21-(AP)-AMERICAN INGENUITY HAS MOUNTED THE LANGUAGE PROBLEM SO TROOPS CAN DATE THE PRETTY CZECH GIRLS.

IT WORKS THIS WAY:

THE EAGER THIRD ARMY TROOPER FINDS A CZECH YOUTH WHO SPEAKS A

LITTLE ENGLISH AND G.. ES HIM A PACKAGE OF CIGARETS. THEY WALK DOWN THE STREET UNTIL THEY FIND THEIR QUARRY.

WITH THE CZECH BOY TRANSLATING, THE GI ARRANGES A DATE AND THE THREE WALK OFF TO THE GIRL'S HOUSE OR SOME PUBLIC PLACE. WHEN THE GI AND GIRL START UNDERSTANDING THE AMERICAN, THE CZECH BOY TAKES OFF. THAT LEAVES EVERYONE HAPPY: THE BOY GETS THE CIGARETS, THE GI GETS GIRL, GIRL GETS GI.

PILSEN STILL IS CELEBRATING ITS LIBERATION ALTHOUGH THE THIRD ARMY TOOK THE MUNITIONS CITY BACK ON MAY 6. THE CZECHS TREAT EVERY TROOPER AS IF HE WERE GEN. EISENHOWER.

RIJSSEN, HOLLAND, MAY 21--PLANS FOR JOINT ALLIED OCCUPATION OF BERLIN HAVE HIT A SNAG AND IT APPEARED TONIGHT THE 1ST CANADIAN ARMY'S "BERLIN BRIGADE" WILL NOT BE GOING TO THE GERMAN CAPITAL AS PLANNED.

NO ONE HERE KNOWS WHAT CAUSED THE HITCH IN PLANS TO SEND THIS TOKEN OCCUPATION FORCE TO BERLIN FOR A MONTH, BUT THE WHOLE SITUATION NOW IS UNCERTAIN. POSSIBLY THE CITY IS IN SUCH BAD SHAPE THAT PLANS TO ACCOMMODATE TROOPS OF THE WESTERN ALLIES ARE NOT FEASIBLE.

A REPORTED SWITCH IN PLANS WHICH WOULD MAKE LEIPZIG HEADQUARTERS OF THE ALLIED CONTROL COMMISSION INSTEAD OF BERLIN MAY HAVE HAD SOMETHING TO DO WITH IT.

THE CANADIAN BRIGADE IS STILL STANDING BY AND THEY'LL BE THE MOST DISAPPOINTED CANADIANS IN EUROPE IF THEY DON'T GO.

THE TROOPS HAVE BEEN COUNTING HIGHLY ON THE HONOR OF GOING TO BERLIN AND HOPE A FAVORABLE DECISION WILL COME WITHIN THE NEXT WEEK.

OSLO, MAY 21-(AP)-THE GERMANS STRIPPED NORWAY OF ITS FISH SUPPLIE DURING THE OCCUPATION, BUT APPARENTLY THEY DIDN'T CARE FOR COD LIVER OIL AND FOR THAT REASON THE NORWEGIANS REMAINED FAIRLY HEALTHY.

THIS UNDERGROUND IN COD LIVER OIL, WHICH THE NORWEGIANS DRANK DAILY, WAS DISCLOSED TODAY BY DR. JOHANNES ZENNER OF OSLO, WHOSE WIFE WAS BORN IN CHICAGO.

EARLY IN THE OCCUPATION, HE SAID, NORWAY PHYSICIANS GOT TOGETHER AND DECIDED TO PROMOTE THE EXTENSIVE USE OF THE FISH OIL TO COUNTER-ACT MALNUTRITION.

THE NORWEGIANS WERE GETTING ONLY A TINY PIECE OF MEAT A YEAR, HEAVY BREAD LOW IN FOOD CONTENT, ONLY ABOUT 25 POUNDS OF POTATOES YEAR AND NO FRESH VEGETABLES. SOME BLACK MARKET FOOD WAS AVAILABLE AND OTHER WAS COMING IN FROM DENMARK AND SWEDEN.

THE DOCTORS SPREAD THE WORD TO ALL THEIR PATIENTS. THE HOME FRONT AND THE UNDERGROUND ALSO PASSED THE WORD ALONG.

AND BEFORE LONG, ALL OVER NORWAY NEARLY EVERY FAMILY WAS TAKING A DAILY DOSE OF COD LIVER OIL--WHICH THE GERMANS HAD DISDAINED TO TOUCH--AND MAINTAINING A REMARKABLE DEGREE OF HEALTH.

NAGO,OKINAWA--(DELAYED)--A MARINE PATROL ON A SEARCH OF MOTOBU PENINSULA APRIL 24 FOUND THE BODIES OF A MARINE PILOT AND HIS OBSERVER, THE LATTER WITH HIS THROAT CUT. THE TWO HAD BEEN MISSING ON A FLIGHT FROM YONTAN AIRFIELD SINCE APRIL 8.

FIRST LT.REASON G.NEWTON OF LEBANON JUNCTION AND GILBERTSVILLE, KY., A FORMER HIGH SCHOOL PRINCIPAL, SAID HIS PATROL FOUND THE BODY OF THE PILOT STILL BEHIND THE CONTROLS OF HIS TINY, UNARMED ARTILLERY OBSERVATION PLANE. THE OBSERVER'S BODY WAS LYING SEVERAL FEET AWAY FROM THE PLANE.

ONE OF THE OBSERVER'S LEGS HAD BEEN BROKEN AND THERE WAS A MORPHINE SYRETTE, USED TO EASE PAIN, THRUST IN THE LEFT ARM. ANOTHER SYRETTE LAY ON THE GROUND NEARBY.

THE PILOT, LT.NEWTON SAID, HAD BEEN MACHINE-GUNNED IN THE BACK, WHILE THE OBSERVER'S THROAT HAD BEEN SLASHED FROM EAR TO EAR. WHETHER THE PLANE WAS SHOT DOWN OR CRASHED BECAUSE OF MECHANICAL FAILURE IS NOT KNOWN.

AT THE TIME OF THE CRASH ON APRIL 8 ALL MOTOBU PENINSULA WAS STILL IN THE HANDS OF THE JAPANESE. ORGANIZED RESISTANCE IN THAT AREA DID NOT END UNTIL APRIL 20 AND MOPPING UP OPERATIONS CONTINUED.

THE REMNANTS OF THE CRASHED PLANE, LT.NEWTON SAID, HAD BEEN CAREFULLY CAMOUFLAGED.

OKINAWA, MAY 21-(AP)-THE "MIDNIGHT PATROL" IS ON THE LOOSE OVER OKINAWA, AFTER MORE THAN A YEAR OF FLYING NIGHT MISSIONS OVER THE MARSHALL ISLANDS WITHOUT SIGHTING A SINGLE JAPANESE PLANE.
WITHIN THE LAST SIX NIGHTS THESE MARINE FLIERS HAVE SHOT DOWN SI NIPPONESE PLANES--FIVE OF THEM BROUGHT DOWN BY TWO PILOTS IN ONE EVENTFUL NIGHT.
"WE'RE THE OLDEST AND MOST HIGHLY TRAINED NIGHT FIGHTER OUTFIT IN THE PACIFIFIC," SAID LT.COL.MARION MILTON MAGRUDER OF LEXINGTON, KY., WHO ALSO IS ONE OF FORMER GOV. LAFOON'S KENTUCKY COLONELS.
"WE ARE MAKING A BETTER RECORD THAN ANY OTHER OUTFIT BECAUSE OF THAT LONG TRAINING PERIOD IN THE MARSHALLS, IN WHICH WE WORKED OUT OUR OWN TECHNIQUES SPECIALIZING IN HEADON ATTACKS.
"WE'RE A REAL MIDNIGHT PATROL BECAUSE WE FLY DURING THE DARKEST PART OF THE NIGHT. OTHER OUTFIT GET MOST OF THEIR KILLS AT DAWN OR DUSK, BUT OURS ARE SCORED IN FULL DARKNESS."
MAGRUDER, WITHOUT DISPARAGING THE FINE NIGHT FIGHTER RECORDS OF SUCH OTHER OKINAWA SECTOR OUTFITS AS THAT SKIPPERED BY MAJ.CLAIR CHAMBERLAIN OF ROCHESTERN,MINN., STILL POINTS PROUDLY TO THE FIVE JAP PLANES DOWNED BY TWO OF HIS FLIERS IN 45 MINUTES THE NIGHT OF MAY 18. OKINAWA,MAY 21 (AP)-BRIG.GEN.WALTER DUMAS OF THE U.S. 10TH ARMY STAFF SAID TODAY NEITHER NAHA OR SHURI, OKINAWA'S TWO LARGEST CITIES, ARE OF ANY MILITARY VALUE IN THEMSELVES, SO THERE IS NO REASON TO TRY TO TAKE THEM IN A HURRY.
"IT IS OBVIOUS THAT WE MUST HAVE THE HIGH GROUND AROUND THOSE CITIES BEFORE WE CAN MAKE ANY USE OF THEM," SAID DUMAS, OF TEMPLE, TEX., IN A PRESS CONFERENCE.
THE GENERAL SAID THE FIRST PHASE OF THE OKINAWA CAMPAIGN WAS "OUR LANDING APRIL 1 VIRTUALLY WITHOUT OPPOSITION--A SURPRISE TO US ALL" AND THE SWIFT OCCUPATION OF MOST OF THE ISLAND.
IT WAS DURING THIS PHASE THAT THE MARINES OF TH

E THIRD MARINE AMPHIBIOUS CORPS SWEPT OVER THE CENTRAL AND NORTHERN PART OF THE ISLAND ENCOUNTERING LITTLE OPPOSITION, AND THE ARMY'S 24TH CORPS MOVED SOUTH TO COME SMACK AGAINST THE MAIN JAPANESE DEFENSES.
THE ARMY TROOPS BROKE THROUGT THE FIRST STRONG NIPPONESE HILL DEFENSE LINE AND THE ENEMY FELL BACK TO OPEN THE SECOND PHASE OF THE CAMPAIGN, DUMAS SAID.
"NOW WE ARE IN THE SECOND PHASE," HE SAID. "THE THIRD PHASE WILL BEGIN WHEN THE ENEMY HAS RETREATED SOUTH OF THE NAHA-SHURI-YONABARU LINE.
"REDUCED STRENGTH AND LONGER AND MORE THINLY SPACED LINES ARE WORKING AGAINST THE JAPANESE, BUT THAT DOESN'T MEAN WE'LL MAKE SPECTACULAR PROGRESS. IT WILL BE HARD SLUGGING ALL ALONG.
"THE JAP HAS ONE ADVANTAGE--HE IS UNDERGROUND. THE ATTACKER HAS TO GET OUT INTO THE OPEN.
"THE JAPS HAVE BEEN TRYING COUNTERATTACKS MORE OFTEN RECENTLY, AS THEY ALWAYS DO WHEN THINGS BECOME DESPERATE."
DUMAS SAID THE 10TH ARMY WAS FOLLOWING CONSERVATIVE PRACTICES IN COMPILING ENEMY CASUALTY FIGURES, AND WILL ACCEPT IN ITS COUNT OF DEAD ONLY THOSE JAPANESE BODIES ACTUALLY BURIED.
THE LATEST FIGURE FOR JAPANESE LOSSES ISSUED IN THE MAY 20 COMMUNIQUE WAS 48,103 KILLED FROM APRIL 1 THROUGH MAY 17.
IT WAS ESTIMATED THAT THERE WERE AROUND 85,000 NIPPONESE SOLDIERS IN THE OKINAWA GARRISON WHEN THE AMERICANS LANDED.

MANILA, TUESDAY, MAY 22-(AP)-TWO-THIRDS OF A BIG JAPANESE FORCE TRAPPED IN CENTRAL LUZON'S IPO POCKET WERE LIQUIDATED SUNDAY BY THE 43RD INFANTRY DIVISION AND GUERILLAS, A SPOKESMAN AT GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS ANNOUNCED TODAY.
THE SPOKESMAN, ELABORATING ON THE GENERAL'S COMMUNIQUE, ADDED THAT ALL ORGANIZED RESISTANCE SOUTH OF METROPOLITAN ROAD HAD BEEN ELIMINATED.
IPO DAM ITSELF, SOURCE OF ONE-THIRD OF MANILA'S WATER, WAS CAPTURED THURSDAY IN AN ACTION WHICH ENCIRCLED NIPPONESE DEFENDERS. SUBSEQUENTLY, A TANK-LED COLUMN SPLIT THIS FORCE IN TWO BY TAKING METROPOLITAN ROAD.
ONE HUNDRED DEAD JAPANESE WERE COUNTED ON THE ROAD AND 400 IN A CAVE AND IN ROAD DEFENSES KNOCKED OUT OR ABANDONED.
THE 38TH INFANTRY DIVISION, OPERATING A FEW MILES SOUTHEAST, CONTINUED ITS DRIVE TOWARD THE WAWA DAM BEHIND A 150-PLANE, 5TH AIR FORCE EXPLOSIVE AND FIRE BOMB STRIKE. ON CENTRAL LUZON'S PACIFIC COAST, THE FIRST CAVALRY, MOVING NORTH TOWARD JAPANESE POSITIONS AT INFANTA, HIT OPPOSITION NINE MILES SOUTH OF THAT OBJECTIVE AND WAS FIGHTING IT OUT WITH A NIPPONESE FORCE EQUIPPED WITH MORTARS, ARTILLERY AND SMALL ARMS.
ON MINDANAO ISLAND, THE 24TH INFANTRY DIVISION CAPTURED SASA AIRDROME NORTH OF DAVAO AND NOW HOLDS FIVE OF SIX AIRFIELDS IN THAT AREA. THE FIELD WAS DEFENDED STUBBORNLY.

ILLUSTRATING FEROCITY OF THE FIGHTING NORTH OF DAVAO, A BATTALION MEDICAL OFFICER, CAPT. SIDNEY B.LAURIA, WATERBURY, CONN., ALONE ATTENDED 262 CASUALTIES IN THREE DAYS AND NIGHTS OF FIGHTING. IN ONE THREE-HOUR PERIOD, HE ATTENDED 50 MEN DURING A MORTAR BARRAGE.
IN CENTRAL MINDANAO, MAJ.GEN.CLARENCE MARTIN'S 31ST INFANTRY DIVISION SWEPT 10 MILES NORTHWARD TO WITHIN ONE MILE OF MALAYBALAY, CAPITAL OF BUKIDNON PROVINCE. IT REACHED THE EDGE OF THE AIRFIELD AND WAS WITHIN 25 MILES OF A JUNCTION WITH THE 40TH AND AMERICAL (CORRECT) DIVISIONS WHICH ARE MOVING SOUTHWARD ALONG SAYRE HIGHWAY.

WITH U.S. SIXTH MARINE DIVISION, OKINAWA, MAY 20-(DELAYED)-(AP)-FIGHTING AROUND SUGAR LOAF HILL NEAR THE WESTERN FLANK OF THE JAPANESE NAH-SHURI-YONABARU DEFENSE LINE IS SO STRENUOUS AT NIGHT THAT THE FOURTH MARINE REGIMENT HAD TO MOVE IN DURING DAYLIGHT TO RELIEVE THE 29TH.
WHEN THE JAPANESE SPOTTED THE TROOP MOVEMENT THEY OPENED UP WITH A HEAVY ARTILLERY BARRAGE ON THE SECTOR AMERICAN ARTILLERY REPLIED IN FORCE AND THE CHANGE WAS MADE WITH LIGHT CASUALTIES.
COL. ALAN SHAPLEY, COMMANDER OF THE FOURTH REGIMENT AND A VETERAN OF NEW GEORGIA, BOUGAINVILLE AND GUAM, SAYS NOWHERE HAS HE SEEN THE JAPANESE FIGHTING HARDER OR SO WELL DUG IN.
SIXTH DIVISION MARINE OFFICERS LOOKED FOR HEAVY FIGHTS IN NAHA, OKINAWA CAPITAL WHERE THERE WERE INDICATIONS THAT THE NIPPONESE WERE STRONGLY DUG IN, AND HALF MOON HILL WHICH MAY HAVE INTERLOCKING TUNNELS WITH SUGAR LOAF.
SHAPLEY SAID THIS INTERLOCKING TUNNEL SYSTEM MAY BE ONE REASON THE JAPANESE HAVE BEEN ABLE TO HANG ON SO STUBBORNLY TO SUGAR LOAF, WESTERN ANCHOR OF THE SHURI DEFENSE LINE AND GUARDIAN OF THE EASTERN APPROACHES TO NAHA.
"THESE JAPS ARE WELL DUG IN," SAID SHAPLEY, "AND WE ARE AT A GREAT DISADVANTAGE.
BUT HE EMPHASIZED HIS FOURTH MARINE REGIMENT, MADE UP OF FORMER CARLSON AND EDSON RAIDERS, WOULD TAKE THE GROUND THEY WANTED. AS SHAPLEY'S MEN PULL THROUGH SUGAR LOAF THEY SWING INTO POSITION WHERE THEY CAN WHEEL TO THE LEFT TO HIT SHURI FORTRESS OR TO THE RIGHT IN A FLANKING DRIVE ON NAHA.
(SHAPLEY'S WIFE LIVES AT 2517 LA SALLE GARDENS SOUTH, NEW YORK CITY; AND HIS FATHER, CAPT. LLOYD S. SHAPLEY, USN, RETIRED, AT 1329 TAYLOR, SAN FRANCISCO.)
SOME MARINE OFFICERS EXPRESSED BELIEF THE JAPANESE WERE GETTING "PUNCHY" FROM CONTINUED AMERICAN ARTILLERY POUNDING. THEY SAID THE NIPPONESE WERE COMING OUT OF THEIR CAVES WHEN ATTACKED INSTEAD OF STAYING IN THEIR HOLES AS IN THE PAST. THE CHANGE IN TACTICS MAY BE CAUSED BY SHELLSHOCK.

AP SPECIAL WASHINGTON SERVICE
(ADVANCE) WASHINGTON, MAY 21-(AP)-CONGRESS WAS TOLD TODAY THAT IF GERMANY IS PERMITTED TO REBUILD HER WAR POTENTIAL THROUGH CARTEL AGREEMENTS SHE WILL BE READY IN ANOTHER GENERATION TO LAUNCH WAR AGAIN.
THE WARNING CAME FROM REP.VOORHIS (D-CALIF) IN A SPEECH PREPARED FOR DELIVERY IN THE HOUSE.
"THOSE IN MANY COUNTRIES WHO BELIEVE IN 'BUSINESS AS USUAL', EVEN WITH THE ENEMY, ARE ALREADY BUSILY AT WORK AND HAVE BEEN FOR A LONG TIME," HE SAID.
"IT WILL TAKE, IN MY JUDGMENT, ALL THE EARNESTNESS AND DETERMINATION OF PATRIOTIC AMERICANS TO PREVENT ANOTHER THROTTLING OF WORLD COMMERCE BY GERMAN-DOMINATED CARTELS AND ANOTHER BUILDING UP OF GERMANY'S POWER TO MAKE WAR BY THE VERY SAME METHODS THAT WERE EMPLOYED AFTER WORLD WAR I."
VOORHIS URGED THE HOUSE FOREIGN AFFAIRS COMMITTEE TO ACT PROMPTLY ON A RESOLUTION HE HAS INTRODUCED TO ESTABLISH A GOVERNMENTAL POLICY REGARDING CARTEL AGREEMENTS.
THE RESOLUTION WOULD DIRECT GOVERNMENT AGENCIES TO PREVENT AMERICANS FROM ENTERING INTO CARTEL ARRANGEMENTS WITH INDUSTRIES OF ENEMY NATIONS AND ALSO TO USE ALL POSSIBLE MEANS TO PREVENT SUCH NATIONS FROM BUILDING UP THEIR WAR POTENTIALS THROUGH OPERATIONS IN OTHER COUNTRIES.
"THERE WILL BE THOSE IN OUR OWN COUNTRY AND IN ENGLAND AND ELSEWHERE WHO WILL FEEL THAT 'BUSINESS AS USUAL' WITH THE GERMAN CARTELS WILL BE TO OUR INTEREST," SAID VOORHIS.
"THEY WILL TELL US THAT, SINCE THE RUSSIAN GOVERNMENT CONTROLS COMPLETELY ALL THE INDUSTRIES OF THAT NATION, CARTELS AND MONOPOLIES ON OUR PART CONSTITUTE THE ONLY ANSWER TO THAT SITUATION. TO MY MIND THIS IS AN OUTRIGHT CONFESSION OF DEFEAT BEFORE WE START."
THE CALIFORNIAN, IN A LENGTHY REVIEW OF CARTEL OPERATIONS PRECEDING THE WAR, ASSERTED THAT GERMAN INTERESTS ARE AGAIN SEEKING TO ENTRENCH AND REBUILD THEMSELVES IN THE ECONOMIES OF OTHER NATIONS.

TROOPS CIRCLE RUBBLED TOWN IN QUICK THRUST

Veteran Infantrymen Spear into Yonabaru in Pre-Dawn Assault.

OPPOSITION LIGHT

Rain, Mud Slow Action on Central, Western Fronts.

ELLISON

GUAM, Wednesday, May 23 — (AP) Veteran infantrymen of the Seventh division speared into Yonabaru, eastern anchor of the stiff Japanese line across southern Okinawa, in a surprise pre-dawn assault yesterday and threw an encircling arm around the rubbled city.

Maj. Gen. Archibald V. Arnold's crack Seventh, back in action after a two week rest, made its quick thrust against light opposition, in bad weather and thick mud. Tank support was impossible.

Overlook Two Towns

The infantrymen who swept around Yonabaru reached heights overlooking the towns of Rioi and Itarashiku, about 1,000 yards south of Yonabaru. They were in the northern end of a long ridge line which dominates the communication road net south of embattled Shuri.

Yonabaru still was not fully secured up to last night but the Japanese apparently did not intend to try to hold it. Admiral Chester W Nimitz said today Yonabaru had been "thoroughly reduced by our gunfire and bombing."

Addition of the Seventh division to the Okinawa fighting bolstered total U. S. strength to five divisions—some 75,000 men. Until now maximum strength has been about four divisions on the southern Okinawa front.

Rain and mud the past few days slowed action on the central and western sectors.

The 96th infantry division, which gave way on the extreme east flank to the Seventh, pressed southwestward from bloody Conical hill in a sector where it has been fighting a bitter hand-to-hand battle for a week clearing enemy strong points.

The success of Maj. Gen. James Bradley's 96th in pushing the Japanese off ridges north and northwest of Yonabaru cleared the way for the Seventh's spectacular thrust into Okinawa's fifth largest city, which had a prewar population of 5,000.

Some Japs Caught

It seemed probable some Japanese were caught between the Seventh division troops inside Yonabaru and those forming the encircling arm to the west.

The Seventh's thrust appeared aimed at heights dominating a key road junction in the Kamizato region southeast of Shuri, at a time when the Japanese already are suffering supply difficulties.

Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, commanding the Third Marine Amphibious corps, told Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haughland that "there are indications we are sealing off Japanese communications south of Shuri. When the Jap loses his communication, his forces disintergrate and he will then break into small pockets."

Another heavy night counterattack against Maj. Gen. Pedro A Del Valle's First Marine division on the west flank was turned back with 80 Japanese killed.

Twelve to 15 Japanese planes attacked American shipping in the Okinawa area at dusk Monday. Eight were shot down and the remainder were chased off. No damage was reported.

American commanders at Okinawa forecast the breakdown soon of organized last-stand Japanese resistance on the island under the continuous grinding pressure of U. S Tenth army infantry and Marines.

"If the weather doesn't impede us I think we will break the Jap resistance soon," said Maj. Gen. Roy Geiger, commander of the Third Amphibious Marine corps' Sixth and First divisions at the front.

The Yanks will "capture this island in the comparatively near future," said Vice Admiral Richmond K. Turner, commander of naval forces around the island.

Turner said Okinawa, three-fourths in American hands, already is a base for aerial attacks on southern Japan, only 325 miles to the north, and on Formosa and enemy air bases in the Ryukyus.

The American drive along the sulphuric four-mile southern Okinawa battleline put the Yanks closer to Shuri town and castle, central key to the Japanese defense, while advances were made Monday on both flanks, headquarters said yesterday.

Five Ships Damaged

Thirty-five Japanese planes dived in for lowe-level attacks on American ships off Okinawa Sunday evening, damaging five light U. S. units. Only nine of the Nipponese aircraft escaped destruction.

A furious 500-man Japanese counterattack Sunday night on Sugar Loaf hill, west coast height on the Okinawa line, was turned back by Sixth division Marines who had secured the crest after 11 bloody attacks.

Then the Leathernecks pushed 200 yards south of Sugar Loaf Monday, winning a limestone ridge on their right flank to dominate the Asato river, which flows through Naha, Okinawa capital city, front reports said.

Another Marine surge in this area took the Devildogs to the crest of Half Moon hill, but Japanese command of a nearby height kept the Americans from cleaning up the reverse slopes of the hill.

Some of the Japanese in the charge up Sugar Loaf hill wore American Marine uniforms and carried U. S. weapons. The enemy left 200 dead on the hillside. Marine losses also were heavy.

On one slope were the bodies of 30 Marines and 15 Japanese, and Pfc. Paul R. Hunter, Lake Worth, Fla., commented: "That's the first time I've ever seen a hill with more Marine bodies than Jap bodies."

In the center the 77th infantry division captured the town of Taira-Machi, 500 yards north of Shuri, Monday and then pressed slowly onward after throwing back a Japanese counterattack aimed at retaking the town.

The First Marine division, on the 77th's right flank, clung to the ridges won in the vicinity of Wana against heavy Japanese opposition.

Patrols Enter Town

Patrols of the 381st regiment, 96th division, entered the ruined town of Yonabaru on the east coast, drawing some sniper fire.

The 96th division units moving westward to aid the pincer operation against Shuri met intense Japanese interlocking machinegun fire from a series of hills which the doughboys have dubbed "Mike," "Love" and "Charlie."

While the Japanese resistance remained bitter and they continued to throw forward their reckless charges in attempts to hold or retrieve hill positions, Admiral Turner said the enemy's courage was "the courage of desperation."

"It seems that the Japanese have about their last reserves in the line," Turner said, in agreement with other high American officers who also pointed out that the Nipponese have no choice of reinforcement.

General Geiger said breakdown of Japanese resistance on the island would come with failure of the enemy's line of communications, and there are indications that the Americans are sealing off these lines to the south of Shuri.

"When the Jap loses communications his forces will disintegrate, and he will then break into small pockets," Geiger said.

British carrier planes bombed military targets in the Sakishima group of the southern Ryukyu chain Sunday and Monday. U. S. Navy search bombers harassed shipping in the East China sea and waters south of Honshu.

Nimitz reported a few casualties were caused when Japanese bombers raided Iwo Jima Monday night. Two enemy planes were shot down.

Mopping up operations on Iwo and islands in the Marianas from May 13 through May 19 resulted in 94 Japanese killed and 134 captured.

Both Sides Suffer Heavy Losses on Sugar Loaf Hill

HADSELL

By the Associated Press.

GUAM, May 22.—American infantrymen and Marines today fought toward the battered fortress city of Shuri from three sides against fierce Japanese resistance as Yank partols entered the port of Yonabaru and bloody enemy counterattacks were baten back by determined Marines.

("The Japanese courage on Okinawa is the courage of desperation," said Vice Admiral Richmond Kelly Turner aboard his flagship as he confidently predicted "we will capture this island in the comparatively near future."

("If the weather doesn't impede us," said Maj. Gen. Roy Geiger, commander of the 3d Marine Amphibian Corps. "I think we will break Jap resistance soon.")

An estimated 500 Japanese, some of them wearing American Marine uniforms and carrying American weapons, counterattacked fiercely agaist the 4th Marine Regiment of the 6th Marine Division on Sugar Loaf Hill, with heavy casualties exacted on both sides.

Two hundred dead Japanese were found after the attack was repulsed and at least 100 others were believed killed, but Marine casualties also were heavy.

Pfc. Paul R. Hunter of Lake Worth, Fla., commented after looking over one slope where about 30 Marines and 15 Japanese lay dead.

"That's the first time I have ever seen a hill with more Marine bodies than Jap bodies."

Patrols Enter Yonagaru.

Across the island, the 391st Regiment of the 96th Infantry Division sent two patrols into Yonabaru, one along the seawall and the other along the road. The latter went all the way through town without seeing the enemy, although it drew a slight amount of rifle fire.

The 77th Division, in the center of the line, caught the enemy off balance with a surprise predawn attack and within an hour and a quarter had captured the town of Taira, 500 yards from Shuri, where from high ground they looked on the smoking ruins of the one-time second largest Okinawa city.

The 307th Regiment, using tanks, flamethrowers, and self-propelled guns, made a surprise assault on a hill 1,100 yards east of Shuri late Sunday, killing nearly 300 Japanese in taking the hill and paving the way for later advances in extremely bitter fighting.

Associated Press War Correspondent Al Dopking said the Sugar Loaf Hill action was preceded by an hour and a half of intense Japanese artillery and mortar shelling.

Will Not Be Occupied at Once.

Brig. Gen. Walter Dumas of the 10th Army staff told Associated Press Correspondent Vern Haugland that Shuri, in the center of the line, no longer has military importance and the break-through to the city will not be followed by immediate occupation.

All high ground around Shuri, whose ancient castle fortress is shattered by shells and bombs, must be secured before any use can be made of that second city of Okinawa.

One of the heights yet to be taken is Half Moon Hill, a few hundred yards from dearly won Sugar Loaf Hill in the 6th Marine area on the west flank.

Marines led by Lt. Col. Reynolds Hayden of Washington were in a fierce battle for Half Moon Hill. They had reached the crest of the hill, but were unable to take the reverse slopes because the enemy held a tiny knoll from which they were covering the crest with machine gun fire.

Japs Routed From Caves.

Half Moon Hill is believed connected with Sugar Loaf by tunnels. This means of reinforcement and supply aided the Japanese in driving the Marines off Sugar Loaf's summit 10 times before the crest finally was held after the 11th attack.

The 5th Regiment of the 1st Marine Division seared the Japanese from caves and holes on the south slope with flaming oil.

The 1st Marine Division under Maj. Gen. Pedro del Valle, Alexandria, Va., an artillery expert, gave the northern approaches to Shuri a night-long shelling in preparation for a tank-led advance.

Gen. del Valle noted a definite dropping off in Japanese artillery fire as observation posts on the ridges are captured by the relentless Yanks.

Three groups of suicidal Japanese carrying satchel demolition charges tied to their waists tried to destroy tanks of the 1st Marine Division, but all were repulsed.

35 Planes Attack Shipping.

About 35 planes Sunday evening made the first strong Japanese air attack on Okinawa shipping in several days. They damaged five light vessels in low-level sweeps, Admiral Chester W. Nimitz reported. Twenty-six were shot down.

Japanese broadcasters claimed Japanese planes destroyed or heavily damaged five ships, including a light cruiser sunk, at Okinawa Sunday night.

Search planes of Fleet Air Wing 1, which began flying from Okinawa bases only a few weeks ago, already have sunk 86,880 tons of Japanese shipping and damaged 81,500 tons. They have destroyed 21 Japanese planes and damaged 15.

CALL WILL BE CUT 25 PCT. IN JULY, HERSHEY REVEALS

MAY 22 1945

Larger Number of Occupationally Deferred Men 18 to 29 to Be Called.

YOUNG MEN NEEDED

Local Boards Ordered to Review Cases of Registrants 30 to 38.

WASHINGTON, May 22 — (AP) Indefinite blanket deferment of men 30 and over who remain in "useful" jobs was ordered today by Selective Service.

NIGHT

This liberalized policy, effective at once, results from the narrowing of the war to one front, Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey announced at a news conference.

He disclosed that the draft call will be cut about 25 per cent to 90,000 men a month beginning in July.

But Hershey predicted at the time that as a result of the new leniency for older men, it will be necessary to call an increasing number of occupationally deferred registrants 18 through 29.

M'Nutt Silent

30.24 25997

At San Diego Paul V. McNutt, War Manpower Commission chairman, declined comment on Gen. Hershey's announcement which was in apparent contradiction to McNutt's statement Saturday in San Francisco that the draft would cut sharply into supervisory personnel in the higher-age groups, and that no further deferment certificates for key men would be issued.

The policy change covering older men affects principally those 30 through 33, who up to now have been required to be "necessary men regularly engaged" in an essential activity. The change puts them on the same footing as men 34 through 37, who have been required only to be engaged in essential work.

In the future occupational deferments granted to men 30 and over no longer will be subject to review every six months, but will be good for an indefinite period, Hershey added.

Boards to Review Cases

Selective Service instructed local boards to review the cases of all registrants 30 through 37 who are in 1-A and to defer any who may qualify under the new more liberal policy.

Hershey emphasized that draft boards will have wide discretion in determining the essentiality of a job, and indicated that those engaged in important consumer goods production will receive consideration in the granting of deferments.

The draft director explained that while the War Manpower Commission's list of essential activities will continue to be used as a guide, local boards "are not in any way restricted or limited by the list."

Local boards also were instructed to handle with "sympathetic consideration" the cases of all fathers 30 and over, and to resolve in their favor any decision where doubt is involved.

Hershey pointed out that fathers of three or more children are immediately entitled to 36 of the 85 points the Army requires for discharge.

He said that prevailing job jumper penalties will be continued in effect for the entire draft age span of 18 through 37. This means that occupationally deferred registrants who quit jobs without permission of their local board will be subject to induction.

"I don't believe," Hershey said, "that local boards will be very sympathetic toward men over 29 who voluntarily leave jobs for which they were deferred."

The draft director ordered local boards to review immediately the cases of all 4-F and limited service registrants 18 through 29.

Young Men Needed

"The armed forces have reiterated that their need is for young men, preferably below 30 years of age," Hershey stated. "The supply of registrants is extremely limited.

"There is a very large number in the age group 18 through 25 who have been found disqualified for general military service or qualified for limited service only. It appears reasonable to believe that substantial numbers of these registrants may now be found qualified for military service either by reason of the need of the armed forces for younger men or because of a change in the registrants' physical condition."

Hershey said the policy of certifying key men 26 through 29 for deferment will be continued "pending receipt of more accurate information concerning the urgency of certain war production programs and services."

He made it clear, however, that these as well as the younger men soon will be subject to a stricter policy of occupational deferment.

Beginning in July, Hershey said, 45 per cent of the monthly call will be filled from the ranks of men becoming 18 years old. Thirty-three per cent of the 90,000 call will come from men 19 through 25, while the balance—22 per cent—will be made up of men 26 through 29 and such older men as "we can't avoid taking."

This latter reference was to men 30 and older whose jobs do not contribute to the war or to other "useful" work.

Comments on Policy

In outlining the more liberal policy for men 30 and over, Hershey said:

"These workers, together with the increasing numbers of veterans who will be released by the armed forces, will make it possible for employers to replace many registrants in the younger age group who have heretofore necessarily been deferred."

Where registrants 30 through 37 are temporarily unemployed because of war production cut-backs or "other good and sufficient cause," local boards will consider deferment on the basis of their last job, Hershey said.

The only proviso is that such a registrant "make a continued effort to obtain employment in an activity in war production or in the national health, safety or interest, or in essential agriculture or work deemed by the local board to be useful to the community."

MAY 22 1945

'USEFUL' WORK QUALIFIES ONE FOR DEFERMENT

Gen. Hershey at Same Time Predicts Heavier Call for Younger Men.

4-FS TO BE REVIEWED AGAIN

Induction Quotas Will Be Cut 25 P. C. Below Current Rate, Beginning in July.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—Selective Service announced today a policy of indefinite deferments for men who have reached their thirtieth birthday and who are engaged in "useful" work. At the same time it predicted a heavier call of younger men to military service.

Major-Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, draft director, said at a news conference that as a result of the war's end in Europe "occupational deferment policy must be liberalized" for registrants of the ages 30 through 37.

This course, effective immediately, means that these older men will not be drafted so long as they say in work considered useful by local boards. It means, too, that deferments will not require renewal at the end of six-month periods, as heretofore.

Gen. Hershey also announced that the draft call, beginning in July, will be cut about 25 per cent below the current rate. That will put it at 90,000 men, as compared with 120,000 at present.

Review of 4-F Files Ordered.

The draft director instructed local boards to review at once the files of 4-F and limited service registrants 18 through 25. Where there is reason to believe "they may now be qualified for military service," they should be forwarded for re-examination, Gen. Hershey said.

For men 26 through 29, the prevailing certification policy of Government agencies will be continued for the present. Gen. Hershey predicted, however, that "the time is coming when more of these men occupationally deferred will have to be drafted."

The certification policy, put into effect early this year to protect a "hard core" of key men in war production, will continue in effect "pending receipt of more accurate information concerning the urgency of certain war production programs and services," Gen. Hershey said.

"The armed forces," he continued, "have again stated that there is need for young men, preferably below 30 years of age."

In view of this, he added, the requirement that men 30 through 33 be necessary men as well as engaged in an essential activity, is being eliminated. This puts such registrants on the same basis as men 34 through 37, who have needed merely to be "regularly engaged in an activity in support of the national health, safety and interest or useful to the community, or in an activity in war production or an agricultural occupation essential to the war effort."

Boards Receive Full Discretion.

"Local boards," Gen. Hershey's memorandum said, "have full authority to determine what may be considered in the national health, safety or interest."

He added that the War Manpower Commission's list of essential activities will continue to be used as a guide, but he emphasized that local boards "are not in any way restricted or limited by the list."

Gen. Hershey predicted that the draft calls beginning in July will be made up this way:

Men becoming 18 years old, 45 per cent of the 90,000; men 19 through 25, 33 per cent, and men 26 through 29, together with those 30 and over "we can't avoid taking," 22 per cent.

Soldiers Recalled From Industry.

The Army today began the recall of all soldiers lent to industry as the result of man power shortages. The first groups ordered back to active service included approximately 400 highly skilled men, such as physicists and chemists, and 700 men under the age of 30 who had been working in copper mines.

The War Department said the men were being recalled to active duty because of the demobilization of 1,300,000 soldiers under the point rating system.

The 400 highly skilled men will be returned to the Army at the expiration of their present periods of inactive duty while the 700 copper miners will be brought back as quickly as possible. The recall of the 700 left approximately 1,200 older soldiers in the copper mines.

Eventually more than 10,000 other soldiers released to work in foundries, rubber, aluminum, textile and other industrial plants will be restored to active service. These will be recalled either as their periods of inactive duty expire or, in the case of those released for indefinite periods, as quickly as the industry can spare them.

Man-power Pool Forming.

The department pointed out that the partial demobilization will create a man-power pool of discharged veterans from which industry may draw men possessing key skills.

The Army also rescinded regulations providing for the release of skilled soldiers to work in war plants. Soldiers in that category were placed on inactive duty and transferred to the Enlisted Reserve Corps for the period of time that they were authorized to work in industry. They received the regular industrial pay, but gave up their Army compensation during that time.

Some soldiers were also given short furloughs to work on the construction of war plants, but most of those already have returned to active duty. They were given their basic Army pay and the regular industrial wage while they were on such furloughs.

Inductions Halt Here Tomorrow.

Halting of induction tomorrow into the armed services of all New York men who have passed the age of 30 was ordered this afternoon by Col. Arthur C. McDermott, New York city director of Selective Service.

Seventy-two men already ordered to report for induction tomorrow morning will be sent back unless they are volunteers, Col. McDermott said.

There are 23,721 men in New York city between the ages of 30 and 33 classified as 1-A who are affected by the new order, announced by Gen. Hershey in Washington. In a directive to all local boards, Col. McDermott said that local boards are to have jurisdiction in determining whether men over 30 years are in useful occupations.

Hershey's Memorandums on Draft Changes

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP).—Following are the complete texts of two memorandums which Major General Lewis B. Hershey, Selective Service Director, has issued to local draft boards concerning changes in draft policy:

30 YEARS AND OVER

Local Board Memorandum No. 115-J.

Issued: May 19, 1945.

Subject: Occupational classification pending amendment and reissuance of local board memorandum No. 115.

1. Changing conditions—(A) The termination of the European war is resulting in material changes in the man-power situation both with respect to military personnel and war production. This necessitates revision of local board memorandum No. 115, particularly with respect to registrants eighteen through twenty-nine, who must be made available for military service in greater numbers, and registrants ages thirty through thirty-three and thirty-four through thirty-seven, who should be given greater consideration for occupational deferment. All of these changes cannot be made until more accurate information is available concerning the urgency of certain war production programs and services. The 42A special (revised) procedure will be substantially restricted in a new local board memorandum No. 115 which is now in process of amendment and reissuance. Until that time such procedures will remain in full effect, with no mandatory reopening of a registrant's case upon receipt of a certified form 42A (special-revised).

(B) The armed forces have again stated that their need is for young men preferably below thirty years of age. They have indicated that the calls for men in July and succeeding months will be reduced to about 90,000 a month. Accordingly, occupational deferment policies must be liberalized so as to reduce the total number of men to be inducted in the age group thirty through thirty-three and thirty-four through thirty-seven to a minimum and occupational deferments restricted as to younger men so as to make available such men for military service. Cutbacks in plants engaged in war production should make available for employment older workers or those disqualified for military service. These workers, together with the increasing numbers of veterans who will be released by the armed forces, will make it possible for employers to replace many registrants in the younger age group who have heretofore necessarily been deferred.

2. Regulations amended for registrants ages thirty through thirty-three. As a result of the reduction in calls and the armed forces' re-emphasis on the induction of young men, Selective Service regulations have been amended to remove the requirement that a registrant age thirty through thirty-three must be "necessary to and regularly engaged in" an activity in support of the national health, safety or interest, or an activity in war production or in an agricultural occupation or endeavor essential to the war effort in order to be eligible for deferment in Class II-A, Class II-B or Class II-C. Under the amended regulations, a registrant in the age group thirty through thirty-three, as well as those in the age group thirty-four through thirty-seven, should be deferred in Class II-A, Class II-B or Class II-C if he is merely "regularly engaged in" one of such activities or in an agricultural occupation or endeavor essential to the war effort. Local boards have full authority to determine what may be considered in the national health, safety or interest. While the list of essential activities attached to Local Board Memorandum No. 115 may be used as a guide, local boards are not in any way restricted or limited by this list.

3. Consideration of Fathers.—Local boards in considering the occupational deferment of a father, age thirty through thirty-seven, should weigh the case with sympathetic consideration. Among other things, the local board in classifying a father should consider the cost to the government under the service men's dependents allowance act which would result in the event such father is inducted into the armed forces; also the fact that the War Department has announced its demobilization policies and is crediting a father of three children with thirty-six points, which is the equivalent of thirty-six months of active service in the armed forces. Summary of New Draft Orders

By The Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, May 23—The text of the Selective Service statement summarizing changes in draft policy follows:

Emphasizing that the needs of the armed forces are for men under 30 years of age, national headquarters of Selective Service today announced that local boards are being requested to liberalize occupational deferments so as to reduce the total number of men to be inducted in the 30 through 37 year old group—particularly those who are fathers—and to review cases of registrants in the age group 18 through 25 who have heretofore been rejected for general military service or found qualified for limited service only, and forward for re-examination those whom they have reason to believe may qualify for military service.

The five main points covered in the local board memorandum are:

(1) Need of the armed forces for young men,

(2) Review by local boards of cases of IV-F and limited service registrants 18 through 25, and forwarding for re-examination those who there is reason to believe may now be qualified for military service,

(3) Liberalization of deferment policies for men over 30, especially for those who are engaged in work useful to the community.

Cutbacks Are a Factor

(4) The fact that cutbacks in war plants will make older men available for war production jobs, thereby enabling the release of younger men now occupationally deferred for military service; and also that discharged veterans will be available in increasing numbers to replace the younger men now holding occupational deferments, and

(5) The 42A (special revised) procedure will remain in full effect pending receipt of more accurate information concerning the urgency of certain war production programs and services.

"The armed forces have again stated that there is need for young men, preferably below 30 years of age," states the memorandum announcing that revised requirements provide that to be eligible for occupational deferment a registrant 30 through 33, as well as a registrant 34 through 37, need merely be "regularly engaged in an activity in support of the national health, safety and interest or useful to the community, or in an activity in war production or in an agricultural occupation or endeavor essential to the war effort." It was previously required that registrants 30 through 33 be found "necessary to" as well as "regularly engaged in" the occupations described in order to be eligible for occupational deferment.

The cases of all registrants 30 through 37 who are now in Class 1-A or in the conscientious objector classes are to be reviewed by the local boards and those registrants found to be qualified for occupational deferment under the new more liberal policies will be reclassified even though an order to report for induction has been issued.

"Local boards," states the memorandum, "have full authority to determine what may be considered in the national health, safety or interest." The War Manpower Commission's list of essential activities is to be used as a guide, but local boards were instructed that they "are not in any way restricted or limited by the list."

"Local boards in considering the occupational deferment of a father, age 30 through 37, should weigh the case with sympathetic consideration," the memorandum states.

"Among other things, the local board in classifying a father should consider the cost to the Government under the Servicemen's Dependents Allowance Act which would result in the event such father is inducted into the armed forces; also the fact that the War Department has announced its demobilization policies and is crediting a father of three children with thirty-six points, which is the equivalent of thirty-six months of active service in the armed forces.

"All cases of doubt shall be resolved by the local board in favor of a father-registrant age 30 through 37."

Officers at national headquarters pointed out that approximately 90 per cent of the remaining men over 30 are fathers.

The memorandum states that the armed forces have indicated that the calls for men in July and succeeding months will be reduced to about 90,000 per month.

Stress Put on Youth

In stressing the necessity for obtaining as many young men as possible, the memorandum states, "Cutbacks in plants engaged in war production should make available for employment older workers or those disqualified for military service. These workers, together with the increasing numbers of veterans who will be released by the armed forces, will make it possible for employers to replace many registrants in the younger age group who have heretofore necessarily been deferred."

Officers at national headquarters pointed out that occupational deferments have been granted in the national interest and for the purpose of giving employers an opportunity to train replacements and that except for men having highly specialized training employers had more than four years in which to train replacements for their younger men.

Cases of registrants 18 through 25, who have been previously rejected because of physical disabilities, or qualified for limited service only, are to be reviewed and those of them who local boards have reason to believe may be acceptable for military service are to be forwarded for pre-induction examinations.

Officers at national headquarters expressed the opinion that many registrants, previously rejected, may now be acceptable because of changed conditions since V-E Day or because of improvement in their physical condition.

All of the changes in the regulations which may be necessary, states the memorandum, "cannot be made until more accurate information is available concerning the urgency of certain war production programs and services." However, there will soon be a revision of procedure and revised regulations which will further restrict granting of occupational deferments for men in the 18 through 29 year old group.

Consideration for Unemployed

Local boards are authorized to consider registrants 30 through 37 for continued occupational deferment "on the basis of their last employment, if they are temporarily unemployed by reason of cutbacks, or other good and sufficient cause, provided the registrant makes a continued effort to obtain employment in an activity in war production or in the national health, safety or interest, or in essential agriculture or work deemed by the local board to be useful to the community."

Under the new regulations the words "completed his service" are to be written on the cover sheet of the file of registrants who have been demobilized and those who have been found to have "already made a sufficient contribution to the war effort as a member of the land or naval forces of the United States." Such registrants are to be retained in 1-C classification and may not be reinducted without specific authorization of the Director of Selective Service or unless they volunteer.

The amended regulations provide for a new classification 1-G in which shall be placed any registrant who is a member of the land or naval forces of a cobelligerent nation. In this classification may also be placed "any registrant who has been separated from the land or naval forces of a cobelligerent nation on or after Sept. 16, 1940, by a type of discharge equivalent to an honorable discharge or a discharge under honorable conditions from the land or naval forces of the United States, provided it is found that such registrant should be relieved from any future consideration for classification into a class available for service because the registrant has already made a sufficient contribution to the war effort as a member of the land or naval forces of a cobelligerent nation."

of doubt shall be resolved by the local board in favor of a father-registrant age thirty through thirty-seven.

4. Determination of "Regularly Engaged In."—In determining whether a registrant is "regularly engaged in" an activity in the national health, safety or interest, or in war production, local boards are authorized to consider registrants for continued deferment in Class II-A or Class II-B on the basis of their last employment, if they are temporarily unemployed by reason of cutbacks, or other good and sufficient cause, provided the registrant makes a continued effort to obtain employment in an activity in war production or in the national health, safety or interest, or in essential agriculture.

5. Review of Classifications.—Local boards are hereby directed to review the cases of registrants ages thirty through thirty-seven who are now in Class I-A, Class I-A-O or Class IV-E and if the local board finds that a registrant qualifies for occupational deferment under these more liberal classification policies, it shall reopen the case of such registrant and classify anew even though an order to report for induction has been issued.

6. Filling Calls.—It is recognized that this action will make it difficult, if not impossible, for local boards to completely fill their calls for the remainder of May and in June. The issuance of this local board memorandum should not be interpreted as meaning that the needs of the armed forces for the numbers called are not as urgent as they have been in the past. The War Department's plan for the release of veterans who have contributed their full share in combat duty cannot be made fully effective unless trained replacements are available. Every effort should therefore be made to meet future calls in full from the age group eighteen through twenty-nine, including those who have been previously rejected for general military service (see Local Board Memorandum No. 77-E), plus those in the older age groups who do not contribute to the national health, safety or interest, war production or essential agriculture, and those who voluntarily leave the employment for which they were deferred without a favorable determination by the local board.

LEWIS B. HERSHEY, Director.

18 THROUGH 25 YEARS

Local Board Memorandum No. 77-E.

Issued: 5-19-'45.

Subject: Re-examination of registrants ages eighteen through twenty-five.

1. The armed forces have reiterated that their need is for young men preferably below thirty years of age. The supply of registrants in this age group is extremely limited. There is a very large number of registrants in the age group eighteen through twenty-five who have been found disqualified for general military service or qualified for limited service only. It appears reasonable to believe that substantial numbers of these registrants may now be found qualified for military service either by reason of the need of the armed forces for younger men or because of a change in the registrants' physical condition.

2. Local boards should review the cases of registrants in the age group eighteen through twenty-five who have heretofore been found disqualified for general military service or found qualified for limited military service only and, except as provided in Paragraph 3, forward for pre-induction physical examination those whom they have reason to believe may be qualified for military service. Local boards should seek the advice of the local board examining physician or the medical advisory board with respect to individual registrants, but the provisions of the Local Board Memorandum No. 77-A are waived with respect to the registrants herein described.

3. No useful purpose would be served by the re-examination of registrants in the age group eighteen through twenty-five who would be deferred under current classification policies even though physically qualified for military service. Therefore, local boards should not forward such registrants for pre-induction physical examination.

4. Registrants may be forwarded for pre-induction physical examination under the provisions of this memorandum without changing their present classifications. If after pre-induction physical examination they are found qualified for military service, their cases should immediately be reopened and reconsidered.

5. Registrants forwarded under the provisions of this memorandum may be included in the regular call for pre-induction physical examination, but in no case should such registrants constitute more than one-third of the local boards' pre-induction call unless authorized by the state director.

CHURCHILL SEEKS GENERAL ELECTION

Prime Minister Stung by Labor Party's Refusal to Continue Coalition.

LONDON, May 23 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill, stung by the Labor party's refusal to continue in his coalition government until the end of the Japanese war, in effect called today for a quick general election to end the present "bickering" of the British cabinet.

In a letter to Deputy Prime Minister and Labor Party Leader Clement Attlee, Churchill mentioned no date, but he generally was expected to announce tomorrow or Thursday that he was advising the King to dissolve parliament in three weeks, with an election to be held July 5.

Labor Rejects Proposal

The Labor party, in convention at Blackpool, rejected yesterday Churchill's proposal that the war-born coalition stick together until victory over Japan, yet the party had desired to postpone an election until autumn.

Churchill, taking the attitude that, since the coalition would not work with him until the end, the issue should be decided at once, said flatly that a prolonged electioneering atmosphere until autumn "might soon weaken the country before the world."

Administrative efficiency already is suffering from this atmosphere, he said.

The prime minister's letter to Attlee was made public shortly after the labor delegates had adopted a 12-point platform aimed at the ultimate establishment "of a socialist commonwealth of Great Britain."

The labor program called for sweeping nationalization of Britain's industry, specifically naming coal mines, railroads and all other forms of inland transport and iron and steel plants as the first to be taken over. Public ownership of the Bank of England also was advocated.

Churchill closed the door very firmly against any continuation of the coalition through the summer—as suggested in a letter from Attlee—when he replied that withholding the balloting until October "would mean that from now on until October outside the government and even within it we should be continually preparing for an election."

"We have already suffered several months of this electioneering atmosphere which," he said, "I am sure is already affecting administrative efficiency."

Churchill said he was seeking only to achieve "tolerable conditions under which we could work together" and added that it was clear "that these no longer exist and it is odd that you should accompany so many unjust allegations with an earnest request that we go on bickering together until autumn."

Churchill's letter mentioned no specific date for the dissolution of the government and the first general elections in 10 years but the whole tenor of the letter underscored the probability that an election was imminent.

The next move still appeared to be up to Churchill. Presumably This would come when he asks King George VI to dissolve parliament. He has said previously that when such a time came he would appoint a "caretaker" government to serve for the interim period until the election results are decided.

By agreement between the coalition cabinet members, the king will give three weeks notice of his intention to dissolve parliament. On top of this will come the normal period of 17 days between the dissolution and the balloting. Votes will not be counted until 20 days after they have been cast because of the absentee soldier vote. Results will be announced on the 21st day, the nation being without a parliament for 38 days.

Socialist Program for Britain Is Adopted by Labor Party

Calls for Sweeping Nationalization of Industries—Churchill Seen Moving for Election This Summer.

London, May 22 (A. P.).—The British Labor party today adopted a twelve-point program aimed at establishment of "a Socialist commonwealth of Great Britain."

The move came as Prime Minister Churchill faced by a decision of the Labor party to withdraw from the coalition government, was expected to ask King George VI to dissolve Parliament and thereby precipitate Britain's first general election in ten years.

Churchill virtually assured a summer election today in a letter to Clement Attlee rejecting the Labor party's suggestion that the balloting be delayed until fall. The Prime Minister expressed regret that the Socialists had turned down his proposal to continue the coalition government until the end of the war against Japan and said that continuation of the coalition short of that period "might soon weaken the country before the world" because of "bickering" within the Government.

No Date Set Yet.

Churchill's letter did not, however, name a specific date for the voting nor did tonight's official London Gazette contain any notice of dissolution for Parliament. Consequently the exact date for the election remained undetermined but most observers believed it would be July 5. The London press, which has been urging an early meeting of the Big Three to settle the Polish issue and other European problems, said that with the elections coming up any such meeting was out of the question until late in July or August.

The 1,100 Labor party delegates meeting at Blackpool at the party's national convention gave swift approval of the twelve-point Socialist platform which virtually meant the opening of the political campaign. The Blackpool program bluntly termed the Labor party a socialist party and called for sweeping nationalization of industry, specifically naming coal mines, railroads and all other public forms of transportation, and iron and steel plants as the first to be taken over by the Government. Public ownership of the Bank of England also was advocated.

Laborite Hugh Dalton confidentally predicted labor would win a comfortable majority for the first time in history. There has been a labor government in Britain before, but the party never has held an overall majority. Dalton asserted, "a British socialist government would be far more able to remove Russian suspicion of England than a British tory government."

Alarmed by Anti-Soviet Talk.

Several speakers voiced grave concern over what they called "poisonous anti-Soviet propaganda" which they said was becoming evident in Britain and among British troops on the Continent.

Debate on the international part of the party's platform was put off until tomorrow. Dalton said the Labor party was firmly opposed to any restriction on Jewish emigration to Palestine, declaring it was "thoroughly wrong and politically indefensible to put obstacles in the way of any Jews who wanted to go there."

Text of Churchill Letter

LONDON, May 22 (AP)—Following is the text of Prime Minister Churchill's letter to Clement R. Attlee today:

I am sorry to receive your letter of May 21 in which you reject my proposal that we should work together until the defeat of Japan is achieved and the job is finished. In this letter you tell me that our only course is to prolong the present coalition until a general election in October.

This would mean that from now until October outside the Government, and even within it, we should be continually preparing for an election.

We have already suffered several months of this electioneering atmosphere, which, I am sure, is already affecting administrative efficiency and might soon weaken the country before the world at a time when, above all others, it should be stronger.

I agree with what you say in your letter that it is on the problems of the reconstruction of the economic life of the country that party differences are most acute.

"What is required," you say, "is decisive action. This can only be forthcoming from a Government united on principle and policy."

I agree also with your statement that "my colleagues and I do not believe that it would be possible to lay aside political controversy now that the expectation of an election has engaged the attention of the country."

For my part, I am sure that a continuance of uncertainty and agitation would be harmful to the whole process of the recovery of our trade and the change-over of industry.

It is not good for any country, and it is impossible for any coalition, to live for so long a time under the spell of an approaching general election. Least of all is this possible in a world where events are so tumultuous and dangerous as now.

Opinions are much divided as to how party advantage may lie between a July and an October election, and I regret the aspersions with which you have darkened this correspondence.

I have concerned myself solely with trying to create tolerable conditions under which we could work together. It is clear from the tone of your letter and the feelings of your party that these no longer exist and it is odd that you should accompany so many unjust allegations with an earnest request that we should go on bickering together till autumn.

Such a process would not be a decent way of carrying on a British Government.

I regret that you should speak of "rushing" an election. Foreseeing what might arise at the close of the German war, we discussed, as you will remember, the whole question of procedure in detail in the War Cabinet.

The normal period between a dissolution and the poll is seventeen days, and it was you and your colleagues who proposed that there should be at least a three weeks' additional interval, in view of the special circumstances prevailing.

We gladly accepted this reasonable request, and the unanimous decision of the Cabinet was made known by you on Jan. 17 when you announced in the House of Commons that the King had been graciously willing for this occasion to announce his intention to dissolve Parliament at least three weeks beforehand.

Churchill To Stand In New Constituency

London, May 22 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill will stand for election for a new constituency at the forthcoming general election but most of the voters will be his old constituents.

Churchill represents outer suburban Epping in Essex county, but a recent act of Parliament which sought to make the constituencies more equitable in the number of voters resulted in Churchill being nominated for the newly created Woodford division.

Though opposition parties may nominate a candidate up to nine days before polling day, Conservative headquarters as yet have had no notification of an opponent for the Prime Minister. Churchill's record would make it extremely unlikely he would be defeated, though loss of his seat at a general election by a Prime Minister is not without precedent—Ramsay MacDonald, National Labor Prime Minister having lost his seat in 1935.

At the last general election in Epping ten years ago Churchill polled 34,849 votes, his Liberal opponent 14,439, and a Laborite 9,751.

POLES CONTRADICT STALIN ON ARRESTS

London, May 22 (A. P.).—The Polish Government in Exile said today that it possessed the text of a letter in which Soviet authorities invited sixteen Polish leaders, now under Russian arrest, to political conversations with Red Army authorities.

The announcement contradicted a statement May 18 by Marshal Stalin that the arrested Poles were not invited for negotiations by the Russians.

The Polish Government statement said:

"There can be no doubt that the arrested Polish leaders had been invited by Soviet authorities for negotiations. The Polish Government possesses the text of a letter by which Col. Pimenov of the NKVD (secret police) invited Vice-Premier Jan. Jankowski and Major-Gen. Leopold Okulicki, former Commander in Chief of the dissolved Home Army, for political conversations."

The announcement said Pimenov identified himself as a representative of the command of the First White Russian front.

"Pimenov described the object as clarification of the atmosphere and disclosure of the democratic Polish parties in order that they may take part in the general current of democratic forces of independent Poland."

BIG U-BOAT GIVES UP

London, May 22 (A. P.).—One of the largest of the German U-boats which harassed Allied shipping throughout the war, the 250-foot U-776, sailed up the Thames into the heart of London today in defeat. A British crew brought her into the city after her Nazi commander had surrendered the craft at Weymouth. The U-boat was tied up at Westminster pier, in the shadows of Parliament buildings. The public will be permitted to inspect the submarine Thursday.

BERLIN TIME ADVANCED

LONDON, May 22—(AP) A proclamation by the Russian military commander of Berlin, broadcast today on the Berlin radio, ordered Berlin residents to move their clocks ahead one hour to conform with Moscow time.

Dandelions for Rubber

LONDON (AP).—Experimental cultivation in Britain of dandelions grown from Russian seeds has yielded rubber "nearly as good as plantation rubber," the Imperial Institute reports.

New British Corporation To Assist Industry

London, May 22 (AP)—Formation of a $100,000,000 Government-sponsored finance corporation for British industry was announced tonight.

The organization will provide medium and long-term capital for development in the immediate post war years.

Lord Hyndley, director of the Bank of England, has been named chairman, and will be assisted by eight leading British business men.

The corporation has been formed jointly by the Bank of England and British insurance investment companies which will furnish the capital.

In addition to the share capital of $100,000,000, the corporation will have borrowing powers of $500,000,000, it was announced.

LEVANTINES FIGHT FRENCH

Armed Clashes Occur Throughout Syria, Lebanon

London, May 22 (AP)—New clashes between French troops and the Syrian and Lebanese populations broke out in the Middle East today as political unrest continued to spread.

Fighting against French troops occurred throughout Syria and Lebanon although a general strike in both states, scheduled for today, was called off as the Parliament sat in reportedly continuous session.

To Stay On Defensive

The French Cabinet also was reported in a lengthy night meeting which was prolonged beyond midnight and the Paris radio said that French troops in Syria had been ordered to take up "protective dispositions" but to "remain on the defensive."

[The Beirut radio said that the Lebanon Government had broken off negotiations with France over the French demands for concessions and that the break had been approved by the Chamber of Deputies.

[The French Press Agency said the Syrian and Lebanese Ministers in Paris this afternoon handed a joint protest note to the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The Beirut and French broadcasts were heard by the FCC.]

Proposals Rejected

Tension increased in the Middle East as Syria rejected French proposals for concessions and began recruiting volunteers for a national army. The dispute became acute last week after the landing of French troops in Lebanon. Lebanon and Syria claimed violation of sovereignty.

Cairo dispatches said tonight that the French attitude remained firm in the Levant states, and that there were no new prospects for an early settlement.

The Arab states throughout the Middle East were watching the Syrian-Lebanese struggle closely.

In Jerusalem, the Arab newspaper Atdjaa said a country-wide general strike was being observed by Arabs "in sympathy with the Syrians and Lebanese over violation of their independence."

London, May 22 (AP)—The situation of the Danish island of Bornholm in the Baltic Sea was clarified somewhat today by a friendly exchange between the Russians and the Danish foreign minister, J. Christmas Moeller.

Danish apprehension arose when the Russians occupied the island and cut communications with Denmark for the first few days.

Back to Copenhagen, Moeller expressed confidence that Soviet forces would withdraw when they had mopped up German troops resisting surrender on the island. Moscow dispatches said that some recalcitrant Nazis still held out.

Relations Restored

The Russian Tass news agency reported that diplomatic relations between the Soviet Union and Denmark had been restored, while the Danish radio said steamer service between Copenhagen and Bornholm was to be reopened partly in the next few days.

But the long-standing "Polish Question" was far from being settled.

The controversy over the sixteen arrested Polish leaders—said by Premier Stalin to be charged with actions against the Red Army in Poland—was fanned by a claim by the London Poles that they possess a letter from Soviet authorities inviting the arrested leaders to hold political discussions with the Russian military command.

Czech-Hungarian Tension

The London Poles have charged that the arrested Poles were taken prisoner by the Russian secret police after arriving for the discussions. Stalin last week denied that the Poles had been invited to negotiate.

While the fate of the Czechoslovak province of Ruthenia remained uncertain, with indications that it might be ceded to Russia, tension also appeared to exist between Czechoslovakia and Hungary over the reported Czech intention of expelling Hungarian-speaking minorities from border areas unless they proved they had been anti-Fascist.

Moscow's Hand Seen in Tito's Shift on Trieste

London Hopes Solution Is Near as Yugoslavs Leave Austria

By the Associated Press.

LONDON, May 22.—Marshal Tito appeared today to have executed a complete about-face in his attitude toward the occupation of Trieste and the surrounding area, giving rise to speculation in London that the Yugoslav leader might have received a friendly suggestion from Moscow to change his stand.

Diplomatic sources close to the British Foreign Office said the situation was "definitely improved" and there were indications of an early solution.

Withdraw From Austria.

Tito was withdrawing his Partisan forces from Southern Austria, one of the points of dispute, and Yugoslav occupation headquarters had been removed from Trieste, although both British and Partisan troops remained in the Adriatic port.

American troops moved out of Gorizia today and began to occupy the strategic heights to the east of the disputed city, in what was described by a high Allied official as a peaceful penetration into territory which has been occupied heretofore, if at all, by Yugoslav troops, according to a dispatch from a Chicago Daily News foreign correspondent attached to the 8th Army headquarters.

American reinforcements were expected to replace the outnumbered garrison in Gorizia once it had deployed itself in the mountains beyond the city.

(Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark and Maj. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, the dispatch said, arrived in Trieste this morning for the second time within a week. They will inspect the American garrison in the city and, presumably, will later proceed to other American camps and bases in the Venezia-Giulia area.

(In Trieste, the dispatch continued, the tension has increased, if anything, despite the assertion of a high Allied official yesterday that he was optimistic regarding the possibility of a peaceful settlement of the territorial dispute. He admitted, however, that he was basing his optimism more on the obvious fact of Anglo-American military superiority than on any evidence of a political rapprochement between the Allies.)

Ready to Confer.

There were indications of Tito's apparent readiness to discuss with Italy a long-term status of the disputed territory and with the Allies the present status of occupation. Sources close to the British Foreign Office believed the matter of immediate occupation would be settled through diplomatic channels, rather than through direct talks with Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, Allied Mediterranean commander.

It was believed in London that the Yugoslavs were prepared to agree to a peaceful but temporary settlement of the dispute and would press their territorial claims at the peace conference.

This was borne out by a Belgrade broadcast of an editorial which appeared in the Communist daily Borba, published in the Yugoslav capital. The paper declared the Yugoslav government had stressed "that it does not intend to annex these territories unilaterally before a peace conference that will finally settle the question of the Slovene coast line and Trieste, i. e., before the possibility of a direct agreement between Italy and Yugoslavia."

Seek Satisfactory Solution.

The editorial added "that for these reasons Yugoslavia is prepared to discuss the situation * * * so as to find, in agreement with the Allies, a solution that will satisfy both parties and will not be contrary to the interests of the population of these territories."

Tito previously had taken the position that Trieste was liberated by his forces and that they had the same right as other Allied armies to occupy liberated territory.

Italy received the port by the treaty of St. Germain in 1919, after occupying Trieste in 1918.

Meanwhile, a dispatch from Rome said Allied headquarters had formally denied that there was any connection between the situation at Trieste and the evacuation of the civil population in the zone around the Adriatic port of Rimini.

MONTGOMERY TO HEAD BRITISH FORCE IN REICH

LONDON, May 22 — (AP) Prime Minister Churchill announced today the appointment of Field Marshal Sir Bernard L. Montgomery as commander-in-chief of British forces of occupation in Germany and the British member of the Allied control council in Germany.

The text of the announcement:

"By command of the King, the prime minister announces that Field Marshal Sir Bernard Montgomery, KCB, DSO, has been appointed commander in chief of the British forces of occupation in Germany and British member of the Allied control council in Germany. His chief representative for control questions will be Lt. Gen. Sir Ronald Weeks, KBC, CBE, DSO, MC."

MAI 22 1945

Bacon, Cooking Fat Rations For Britons Are Reduced

LONDON, May 22—(AP) Minister of Food J. J. Llewellin told Britons today that effective next Sunday their weekly bacon ration would be cut 25 per cent and cooking fats 50 per cent as their part in the struggle against a world food shortage.

Britons also were told that they would have to make their clothes last longer and stretch their clothing coupons over an additional month this year.

Hugh Dalton, president of the Board of Trade, announced that 24 coupons issued Feb. 1 would have to last seven months instead of six but generous exceptions were made for men and women leaving the armed forces. Children also will receive a further issue Aug. 1.

The news came as the United Kingdom, finished with its victory celebrations, tried to adjust itself to immediate post-war needs in Europe.

Three Ounces Weekly

Britons now will get only three ounces of bacon a week for person, instead of four, and one ounce of fat instead of two.

But Llewellin assured the British people that their share of sugar and cheese would be approximately the same as last year. However, their soap allowance also was pared one-eighth except for young children and industrial purposes.

While the meat ration escaped the latest economy measure, Llewellin said that butchers would have to accept one-seventh of their supplies in canned corned beef.

The minister, who recently returned from a food conference in Washington, explained that the United States, Canada and the United Kingdom had agreed to the principle of equal sugar consumption per person — even though it meant that the North American countries would have to accept bigger cuts.

Cut Oils, Fats

The three countries, he said, also had agreed to reduce their consumption of oils and fats proportionately, adding that no meat could be expected from America until the last quarter of 1945.

Llewellin told the British that the liberation of Europe had created demand for food greater than anticipated.

The Germans, he said, greatly increased the difficulties by their "insane determination" to continue resistance long after defeat was apparent.

He said Britain must resign itself to the fact that there was no prospect of an improvement in diet during 1945, although he would have liked to announce an increase in supplies as one of the fruits of victory.

The only hope he gave the British was that they would get better quality and more fish with the reopening of the North sea fisheries and he said Britain hoped to import larger quantities of fresh fruit from overseas.

North Ireland To Hold Election

Belfast, May 22 (A. P.).—Prime Minister Sir Basil Brooke of Northern Ireland announced today that a general election would be held June 14, after nominations June 4. The Ulster Parliament will be dissolved Friday.

3 ALLIES WILL TAKE FLENSBURG CONTROL

U. S., Britain, Soviet Sending Parties to German Area—Some Reich Prisoners Freed

GESTAPO MEN GET TRIP

They Are Being Sent to Russia —Anti-Nazi Groups in Bavaria and Austria Aid the AMG

PARIS, May 22 (AP)—Both the western Allies and the Russians are dispatching "control parties" to Flensburg, near the Danish frontier, to use the German High Command as an intermediary in controlling and administering German forces, Supreme Allied Headquarters announced today.

The Allied delegation, headed by Maj. Gen. Lowell W. Rooks as Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's representative, has been instructed to work in close collaboration with the Soviet group.

A brief announcement that the control parties were moving in on the "Flensburg group" of Grand Admiral Karl Doenitz indicated that the Allies had decided to demand the utmost assistance from the German High Command before disposing of it.

SHAEF Explains Move

"The main object of the Supreme Headquarters control party is to impose the will of the Supreme Commander on the German High Command and to make such use of the O.K.W. [Oberkommando Wehrmacht] as may be practical and expedient in controlling and administering the German forces in the A.E.F. area of occupation," the announcement from General Eisenhower's headquarters said.

Used strictly as a go-between, the German High Command will take orders from General Eisenhower's representatives and pass them on in the form of directives to the beaten German forces. Presumably the same system will be employed in the Russian zone of occupation.

The Allied control party also will have the task of collecting and safeguarding documents of the German High Command.

Included in the Allied group, besides General Rooks, are Brig. Gen. Ned Schramm of the American Army as Senior Air Officer, Capt. G. O. Maund of the British Navy as Senior Naval Officer and Brig. E. J. Foord of the British Army and the intelligence section of SHAEF.

Allied headquarters announced that some German prisoners of war, such as farmers and skilled laborers urgently needed to get Germany's economy working again, were being discharged and returned to full civilian status. The discharges are subject to careful security control "in order to insure that no persons wanted as war criminals or on grounds of security shall be released," the announcement pointed out.

"The male groups so far affected consist of agricultural workers, coal miners, transport workers and such other key personnel as may be urgently required in order that farm production and certain industries essential to the purpose of the occupation may commence at once," the statement said.

A dispatch from Hamburg quoted a well-informed British military source as saying that members of the Gestapo and the SS were being rounded up by the hundreds in that region and sent to Russia in labor crews to repair war damage. The informant said the Russians were using the island of Nordstrand, just off Schleswig-Holstein, as a gathering point for such prisoners.

U. S., British and Reds Plan Link With Flensburg Group

German High Command to Be Intermediary in Controlling Reich's Troops—Big Three Names Emissaries.

MAI 22 1945

Paris, May 22 (A. P.).—Supreme Headquarters announced today the appointment of Major-Gen. Lowell W. Rooks as Gen. Eisenhower's representative at Flensburg, and disclosed that Allied occupation troops would use the German High Command as an intermediary in controlling German troops.

Gen. Rooks has been deputy assistant chief of staff in operations at SHAEF. He was named to command a group known as the supreme headquarters control party at Flensburg. The group is composed of British-American representatives of the Allied armies, navies and air forces.

It includes Brig.-Gen. Ned Schramm, U. S. A., senior air officer; Capt. G. O. Maund, Royal Navy, senior naval officer, and Brig. E. J. Foord, of the British Army and intelligence section of SHAEF.

Russians Sending Group Two.

The Russian High Command is sending a similar party to Flensburg and Rooks has been instructed to work in close collaboration, SHAEF said.

"The main object of the Supreme Headquarters control party is to impose the will of the supreme commander on the German High Command and to make such use of the Okw (Oberkommando Wehrmacht) as may be practical and expedient in controlling and administering the German armed forces in the area of occupation," the SHAEF announcement said.

The central party also has been charged with collecting and safeguarding documents of the German High Command.

The implication drawn from the brief announcement was that the Allied command has decided to get the utmost out of the German High Command before disposing of it. The German High Command will take orders from Eisenhower's representatives—and presumably from the Russians in regard to their sphere of influence—and pass on to the beaten Germans the Allied directives.

Major-Gen. Warren F. Draper, chief of the public health branch of Supreme Headquarters, said today that the food situation throughout Europe was grim and estimated it would become serious in Germany within sixty days.

"There isn't enough food in sight to keep some people of Europe from going hungry," Gen. Draper told a press conference.

To Regain Civilian Status.

Allied Headquarters also announced that selected groups of German prisoners were being given discharges and released to return to farms and factories in a move to facilitate Allied occupation. The discharge of certain groups of German prisoners and disarmed Volkssturm personnel as well as certain classes of women prisoners, was authorized by Gen. Eisenhower, the announcement said.

They will revert to full civilian status and as such are not subject to military control beyond that imposed on all civilians in occupied Germany through the military government.

The announcement said that "male groups so far affected consist of agricultural workers, coal miners, transport workers and such other key personnel as may be urgently required in order that farm production and certain industries essential to the purpose of the occupation may commence at once."

In addition to required workers, all men over the age of 50 will be discharged, the announcement said, and all women will be discharged, subject to the discretion of Army group commanders to retain medical personnel and certain clerical categories should their services be required.

30.24 26001

The discharges, begin at once, will be subject to careful security control "in order to insure that no persons wanted as war criminals or on grounds of security shall be released," according to Allied authorities.

WHEELER REFERRED TO U.S.

Eisenhower Puts Berlin Trip Up to State Department

PARIS, May 22 (AP)—Senator Burton K. Wheeler (Democrat, of Montana) asked Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today to seek permission from the Russians for his Senatorial committee investigating communications possibilities to visit Berlin and was informed that such a request would have to go through the State Department.

But the Supreme Commander added that if the State Department could obtain the authorization the Army would be happy to furnish transportation.

Italy Separatist Decree Reported

Paris, May 22 (AP)—A group designated as the Committee of Liberation of Northern Italy has proclaimed the independence of the French-occupied Aosta Valley area in an agreement with local authorities, the Socialist newspaper Le Populaire reported today.

The newspaper said administrative, cultural and economic autonomy were proclaimed, with both French and Italian as official languages, for the disputed border-valley region, from which Britain and the United States were reported seeking the withdrawal of French troops.

Several Hundred En Route.

Paris, May 22 (A. P.).—Several hundred officers and men of American First Army headquarters units are en route to the Pacific via the United States, but Gen. Courtney H. Hodges's out fit in the Far East probably wil r little resemblance to the army which spearheaded the Allied drive to victory in Europe.

Just how many combat units that fought under Hodges on the continent will be retained in the First Army for the Pacific war cannot yet be disclosed.

Some combat troops who for reasons of military necessity will not be eligible for immediate discharge probably already are on their way.

The best information here is that the vast majority of troops to be assigned to the shifted First Army will go through normal redeployment channels. This means the entire army will be regrouped, with most of its personnel coming from the surplus pool to be formed in the United States under the redeployment program.

Hodges and his staff, however, will have the same Pacific headquarters setup they had in Europe.

French Cabinet And Labor Clash

Paris, May 22 (AP)—A showdown appeared to be developing tonight between the French Government and the trade unions as the Cabinet, after a 4½-hour session, refused the General Confederation of Labor demands for nation-wide increases in wages for workmen.

Responsible sources said the Government declined to meet the union's demand for the wage boosts on the ground that the immediate issue to be met is the danger of inflation and that resulting rises in prices would nullify wage increases.

A meeting of labor leaders was called for midnight as soon as the Cabinet decision was made known.

The situation was regarded as tense and carrying the potentiality not only of a general national strike, but the possibility of breaking down the Government.

The first statement from the labor meeting said it was probable that one quarter of French labor will be called out on strike, but emphasized that such a decision has not been taken formally.

DENIED BY PETAIN

Paris, May 22 (A. P.).—Marshal Petain today denied any knowledge of the organization or operations of the Cagoulards (hooded ones), a French Fascist group.

Appearing more rested than at any time since his return to France from Germany, the 89-year-old former chief of state of the Vichy government gave spirited answers during two hours of preliminary questioning at Montrouge Fortress where he has been confined awaiting trial on a charge of "collusion with the enemy."

Asked if he knew anything of killers who were said to have belonged to the Cagoulards, Petain replied: "The question itself is an insult and the accusation is satanic."

250,000 IN EUROPE DUE HOME IN JUNE

4 Divisions Alerted For Transportation To U.S.

LONG

Washington, May 22 (AP)—The Army said today that during the redeployment of troops mail to a soldier overseas should be sent to the current address until the soldier advises he has a new address or asks withholding of mail until a permanent address is obtained.

Paris, May 22 (AP)—Troop shipments to the United States in June will number 250,000, compared to the 84,000 soldiers that will have left by the end of this month, an official statement said today.

Several hundred officers and men of Gen. Courtney H. Hodges's 1st Army, which is being moved to the Pacific via the United States, already are en route home.

Four infantry divisions from the European theater—the 86th, 97th, 95th and 104th—already have been alerted for redeployment in June. They will leave in the order named and will go to the Pacific by way of the United States, the announcement said.

June Start Seen

Forces which will have left the Continent by the end of May will include 29,500 sick and wounded, 28,000 freed American prisoners, 15,500 potential discharges, and 11,000 in redeployed troop units.

Additional shipments which will have left the Continent by the end of June will include 20,500 sick and wounded, 15,000 freed American prisoners, 35,000 potential discharges and 130,000 men in redeployed troop units.

It was emphasized that these figures do not include men being redeployed directly to the Pacific. Transfer of troops to the United States by plane also is expected to begin in June.

15,000 A Month

[A dispatch from Casablanca today said the first group of veterans from the Allied Mediterranean theater arrived there by plane Monday, en route home on the new 15th Air Force-Air Transport Command combination ferry. This ferry is scheduled to carry 15,000 men a month from Italy to the United States by the end of August.]

European theater schedules also call for shipment of 4,000 American Navy personnel to the United States in May and 5,000 in June.

The first four divisions being redeployed were chosen from among those which were the last to arrive in this theater. Top priority on shipping space must go to units being deployed to the Pacific directly or indirectly as long as the war against Japan continues, headquarters said.

Readjustment Due

MAY 22 1945

These divisions will undergo readjustment of personnel before leaving this theater. Men having adjusted service rating scores above 85 are being replaced, insofar as time permits. Those not replaced here will be replaced in the United States before their outfits move on to the Pacific.

There are sufficient replacements available in this theater, headquarters said, but time is a limiting factor. Once in the United States, every man in the division will get a furlough and the divisions probably will undergo additional training there before going to the Pacific.

The Divisions' Records

The 86th Division landed in the European theater November 10, 1944, and went into action in March west of Regensburg, Germany. It was one of the first units across the Danube.

The 97th arrived August 12, 1944, and was part of the 15th Army during the holding operation on the west bank of the Rhine. Later it joined the 1st Army to help liquidate the Ruhr pocket.

The 95th arrived Sept. 19, 1944, and participated in the capture of Metz. It made the Moselle river crossing and won honors for its Thionville bridgehead operations, the capture of Saarlautern and the crossing of the Saar river.

The 104th landed Sept. 15, 1944. It helped the British clean out the Scheldt estuary, participated in the capture of Dueren and Cologne and in the breakthrough across the Roer river to the Rhine.

FREED YANKS REASSURED

Eisenhower Tells Of Own Effort To Speed Men Home

CHARLES KILEY

St. Valery En Caus, France, May 22 (AP)—General Eisenhower told more than 40,000 repatriated American prisoners of war today that he is personally doing everything to get them home as soon as possible.

The supreme commander, addressing his huge audience over a hastily constructed public-address system from a position atop a truck, said he had issued orders for America-bound ships carrying prisoners of war to be loaded to capacity, even to the extent of asking men to share individual beds and to sleep in shifts in order to fulfill their wishes of getting home soon "even if we have to swim."

Accompanied By Senators

General Eisenhower was accompanied by Senators Burton K. Wheeler (D., Mont.), Albert W. Hawkes (R., N.J.), E. W. McFarland (D., Ariz.) and Homer Capehart (R., Ind.), together with Maj. Gen. F. E. Stoner, War Department representative with the Federal Communications Commission, and Paul Porter, chairman of the FCC. The congressional group, in Europe to study world-wide communications systems, had called on the supreme commander this morning and was invited to accompany him on his flying visit here.

The repatriates—about 40,000 enlisted men and 3,500 officers—were captured two months to two years ago in Sicily, Italy, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany. Some have been awaiting shipment home for three weeks, others for only a few days. They represented the 8th, 9th and 15th air forces and practically every combat ground force which was in action in the Mediterranean and European theaters.

Still Fighting Japan

In his address to the thousands of repatriates, the supreme commander said he felt sure there wasn't one among them "who has forgotten we are still at war with Japan."

"We are doing everything in our power to get you out of here and back home to see your families," Eisenhower added. "But, there is a great deal of activity now in progress to take care of the war with Japan, and if we can't supply the shipping for you immediately it is only because we must also think of your fellow-soldiers fighting in the Pacific."

"Speaking for everyone in America," the general continued, "I want to express our gratitude to you all for defeating Germany. You men carried the ball for us and we will not forget it."

Before Eisenhower spoke he was given a thunderous ovation by the repatriates.

Another roar went up after the general motioned for quiet and said, "Say, I'm just a GI, not a movie star."

Anti-Nazis Are Helping

WITH THE UNITED STATES SEVENTH ARMY in Germany, May 22 (AP)—Allied Military Government officials in Bavaria and Austria are getting a lot of voluntary help from self-styled anti-Nazi groups, but are steering clear of political entanglements.

Members of the Austrian resistance movement are being used for police, health and service activities. The situation in Austria is such that officers said there might be some relaxation of the rigid non-fraternization rules imposed on all Allied troops in enemy country. But it is not the same in Bavaria, although there have been estimates that as much as 80 per cent of the population is anti-Nazi.

In Munich, birthplace of nazidom, at least two apparently strong political parties are clamoring for recognition. One is the Bavarian Freedom Action party, headed by a Dr. Gernegroess. The AMG already has notified this group that it cannot be recognized and must cease its political activity. The other is the Bavarian Police Aid group, headed by a former police commissioner named Weismann. Its aid in ferreting out Nazis has been accepted, but its political activities otherwise have been curbed.

A third group, the German Alpine Society, showed up at Augsburg. It purports to represent a Bavarian freedom movement.

AMG officers disclosed that a number of members of the Bavarian nobility have offered aid. Their advice has been accepted in some cases, particularly regarding the backgrounds of would-be office-holders.

Meanwhile the AMG is screening the Munich populace in a search for school teachers and replacements for Nazi civil servants. Of 10,000 city employes, 230 held responsible positions. Of these 230, only forty have been retained.

NAMED HEAD IN RHINELAND

Dr. Hans Fuchs Selected Government Leader

MAY 2

U.S. 12th Army Headquarters, Germany, May 22 (AP)—Dr. Hans Fuchs, 70, pre-Nazi president of the Rhine province, was selected today as head of the German governmen for the 15th Army's occupation zone, which covers 14,000 square miles and had a prewar population of 11,000,000.

Selection of Fuchs was made by Lieut. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, commander of the 15th Army and military governor of its zone of occupation.

Fuchs, a veteran of the first World War and prominent in the Catholic party of the Venter, will be known as "Oberpraesident of the Rheinprovinz military district," which is 50 per cent larger than the political unit which was Rhine province in the Weimar German republic.

"Cabinet" Member Identified

One member of Fuch's "cabinet" also was officially identified tonight. He is Dr. Karl Mueller, 60, who will be food and agricultural chief of the military district. He was imprisoned by the Nazis for two months in 1933 after being removed as provincial food administrator. The Gestapo arrested him again in 1943.

Both Fuchs and Mueller have been active in construction of a new government and other leading officials already have been selected.

The new state will have as its capital Bonn, famous university town of the Rhine 15 miles southeast of Cologne.

The Fuchs administration will have no power over policy, but will be responsible for operation of the government under American military supervision.

The new government covers the districts of Dusseldorf, Aachen, Cologne, Trier, Coblenz, the Saarland, Pfalz and Hessen.

Tanks Disperse Crowd Of 5,000 at Cologne

By the Associated Press.

12th ARMY GROUP HEADQUARTERS, May 22.—An unauthorized meeting of 5,000 Germans at Cologne Sunday was broken up by American troops who fired over the heads of the crowd.

The meeting was organized as a welcome for some Germans returning home from the Buchenwald concentration camp. The authorities called in the troops after the appearance of signs which said the Americans were treating Nazis too mildly. Army reports said the crowd dispersed without disorder.

HITLER PROFITED BY STAMP RACKET

GOEBBELS

Rosenheim, Germany, May 22 (A. P.).—Adolf Hitler, who fed the German people the myth that he didn't collect a cent in salary from the German state, obtained untold sums by the simple expedient of an overcharge on postage stamps.

A lot of those stamps are going to be burned now by the Allied Military Government and replaced by occupation postage. Some of the six pfennig stamps with a 24-pfennig overcharge "for the Fuehrer" will be preserved as historical curiosities, however, because they helped finance Hitler's pretentious private estate above Berchtesgaden and guest houses scattered over the Reich.

Heinrich Hoffman, who was Hitler's personal photographer for years and possibly his business adviser in addition, said the Fuehrer worked the stamp scheme to get funds for his personal use. In the years when Hitler was riding high the German people were only too glad to plunk down an extra 24 pfennigs for his glory every time they bought a stamp. Each stamp bore an overcharge notation.

Hoffman, now a prisoner of war, also built himself up a private fortune with his monopoly on taking and distributing pictures of Hitler. Every German household was compelled to have and display at least one picture of the Fuehrer.

Hoffman is credited by some who knew him before the war with having possibly the biggest fortune in Germany outside the top ranking Nazi leaders.

Slender Chance Saved Hitler In July 20 Bomb Explosion

Berchtesgaden, May 22 (A. P.).—The attempt to assassinate Hitler last July 20 would have succeeded if a colonel had not kicked a little black briefcase, said Heinz Buchholz, a shorthand expert who was in the barracks at Rastenburg, East Prussia, when the bomb went off.

Buchholz, who escaped with only minor cuts from glass, continued recording Hitler's conferences until April 20, when he was ordered to leave Berlin.

Here is the story of the effort of Col. Von Stauffenberg to kill Hitler:

"Hitler had a conference every day at lunch time. His headquarters was in the forest near Rastenburg. The code name was Wolfsschanze.

"There were about twenty-five people in the room, which was at the end of the barracks and had windows on three sides. It was the first time Hitler had ever seen Stauffenberg, and Field Marshal Keitel introduced him. Stauffenberg was forming the new Volks Grenadier divisions.

Case Put Under Table.

"Col. Stauffenberg set his brief case under the long heavy table and stepped back behind and to the right of Hitler. Hitler was standing in the center of the long table which was spread with maps. On his right was Gen. Hensinger, then Col. Brandt.

"The conference had just begun when Col. Brandt kicked Col. Stauffenberg's briefcase and seemed annoyed that it was in his way. He stooped and picked it up and set it over about a foot—on the outside of the thick oak slab that supported the end of the table.

"The conference proceeded and at 12:40 some one called Col. Stauffenberg to the telephone. At 12:45 the brief case exploded with a big burst of yellow flame and black smoke.

"For a few moments it was quiet. Everybody was deafened by the noise. Then every one started yelling 'Where is the Fuehrer?' Keitel got him by the arm and started out.

"I jumped out of one of the windows and ran around to the door. Hitler was walking to his underground bunker a few feet away. His trousers were torn and his uniform was soiled. His hair and face were blackened, but he did not seem to be hurt. He kept pushing away every one who tried to help him."

Room Was Surrounded.

"When I went into the room, Col.-Gen. Gustav Jodl was ordering the place to be surrounded so that no one could leave. Soldiers were everywhere and they helped the injured, and the ambulances were beginning to arrive.

"Col. Brandt, who had been nearest to the briefcase, even after he had moved to the outside of the table, died that night. One of his legs had been blown off.

"Hendreich Berger—he was sitting across the table from Col. Brandt taking notes—died in the afternoon. Both of his legs had been blown off.

"Luftwaffe Gen. Korten died the next day. A big splinter from the table had penetrated his abdomen.

"Major-Gen. Schmundt, Hitler's chief adjutant, lost an eye and a foot and died six weeks later.

"Investigators said that if Col. Brandt had not by chance moved the briefcase Hitler would have been killed or seriously injured. As it was, the table end shielded him from the blast."

Moscow, May 22 (A. P.).—A Tass dispatch from Warsaw today said the first general Polish Peasants' Congress, attended by 1,500 delegates, had resolved "to hurl aside those seeking to harm relations between Poland and the Soviet Union or to start a civil war in the country."

The Congress also expressed confidence in the foreign policy of the present Soviet-sponsored Provisional Government at Warsaw, the Russian news agency said.

Moscow, May 22 (A. P.).—A Tass dispatch from Berlin today said that more than 500 stores had reopened in the Reich capital, selling bread, meat, cereals and potatoes to the population. In addition, the report said, about a dozen music halls and thirty-six movie theaters are functioning. Gas plants were reported started up in all districts.

Swedish Prince Plans To Wed Despite Ban

By the Associated Press.

STOCKHOLM, May 22.—Sweden's "Panzer Prince," 28-year-old Carl Johan, will override the wishes of his grandfather, King Gustaf V, to marry Mrs. Kerstin Wijkmark, 35, once-wed member of Stockholm's cafe society.

A captain in a Swedish tank regiment, Carl Johan is the third of Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf's five sons to renounce his succession to the throne for love. His older brothers, Princes Lennart and Sigvard, already are married to commoners. Only Prince Gustaf Adolf, the direct successor to his father, and Prince Bertil retain their succession rights.

The engagement of Carl Johan and the brunette journalist was announced at the week end. It followed a six-year acquaintance.

The daughter of a Swedish doctor of theology, Mrs. Wijkmark is editor of the Swedish woman's weekly, Vecko Revyn. Noted for her own attractive dress, she rose quickly to her editorial post as a result of her taste for fashions and a talent for selecting magazine material.

YANKS JOIN BRITISH UNITS NEAR TRIESTE

Clark Inspects Forces In Area; Alexander Reported There

MAY 22 1945

Rome, May 22 (AP)—Allied headquarters announced tonight that the 8th Army today had occupied positions on a line running northward from Trieste to a point 5 miles east of Gorizia.

The announcement said that towns occupied during the day included Montespino and Tarnova and that the United States Army 2d Corps had reinforced the British 8th Army and moved into Gorizia.

Clark In Trieste

Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the 15th Allied Army Group, and Maj. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff of the 5th Army, inspected Allied troops in Trieste and in their new positions east of Gorizia and in the Udine area during the day.

[Reuters, quoting the Rome radio, reported that Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander also had arrived in Trieste.]

Confers With McCreery

Clark also conferred with Lieut. Gen. Richard L. McCreery, commander in chief of the 8th Army, and Lieut. Gen. John Harding, British 13th Corps commander, at their command posts.

The text of the announcement from Allied 15th Army Group headquarters:

"During May 22 the 8th Army completed a further stage of its forward concentration into Venezia Giulia. Positions have been occupied on a line running northward from Trieste to a point 5 miles east of Gorizia. Towns occupied during the day include Montespino and Tarnova.

"Gen. (Richard L.) McCreery's 8th Army has been reinforced by Lieut. Gen. (Geoffrey) Keyes's powerful United States 2d Corps, which has moved into the Gorizia area to augment Allied forces."

DECISION IS NEAR ON BORNHOLM ISLE

Stockholm, May 22 (A. P.).—Authoritative Danish circles expressed belief today that a decision would be reached this week whether Russia would continue to occupy the strategic Danish island of Bornholm, near the western end of the Baltic Sea.

Red Army troops, estimated at 5,000, landed there immediately after the German surrender with the announced purpose of cleaning up the Nazis. Copenhagen dispatches said only small pockets of Germans remain.

Foreign Minister J. Christmas Moeller visited Bornholm Saturday. Gen. Surtjenko of the Red Army went from Germany to Bornholm in a swift motorboat Saturday to attend a banquet at which Moeller and his associates were honored.

[Moscow announced the resumption of diplomatic relations with Denmark today. A Moscow dispatch said Soviet units were expected to remain on Bornholm until the island's security was established definitely.]

The biggest immediate problem on the island of farms, fisheries and quarries is the reconstruction of houses destroyed by Russian bombers which attacked on May 8 after the German SS commander announced he would not capitulate. The Danes are seeking to arrange delivery of pre-fabricated wooden houses from Sweden.

Diplomatic Talks Proceed In Air of Conciliation

BELGRADE, May 21 (Delayed) (AP).—Diplomatic talks concerning the Trieste situation made progress today in an air of conciliation and there were indications that a compromise would be announced shortly.

The friendly atmosphere, caused by Marshal Tito's assurance that he was prepared for agreement, contrasted to the tenseness which existed when first statements were issued by Tito and British Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander concerning the occupation of Trieste and other territory by Tito's Partisans.

From the trend of present talks it appeared that a compromise agreement would likely contain the following provisions:

1. Yougoslav troops to remain as part of the occupying forces under the command of Marshal Alexander, supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean.

2. Allied military government to be set up in the disputed territory as in other occupied lands.

3. Assurances to Yugoslavia that Fascist elements will not be allowed to retain any form of control.

4. Cessation of Yugoslav political activity which the Allies construed as an effort to incorporate the disputed territory immediately into the Slovene state.

Want Freedom From Fascists.

The official newspaper, the Communist daily Borba, said in an editorial that "Yugoslavia is not against forming a transitory military administration in these regions but only under conditions that this administration asssures a bleeding people complete legal and factual protection from Fascists elements."

The general feeling of compromise was expressed by a man close to the negotiations who said: "We are going to have a discussion, not a fight."

A sidelight to the Trieste situation was Tito's appointment of Gen Peko Dapcevic as commander of the 4th Yugoslav Army, the force presently in Trieste.

Dapcevic, although still in his early 30s, is one of the leading soldiers of the new Yugoslavia. He replaced Gen. Peter Rapcen, who was placed in command of the 1st Yugoslav Army.

(A Tass dispatch to Moscow from Belgrade declared that Italian planes had tried to break up a celebration of 30,000 Horvatians and Italians at Pola, Istrian port 60 miles south of Trieste, in which a greeting was sent to Tito. It said Yugoslav comment was that the planes "acted not only as an enemy of Horvatian Istrians, but also as an enemy of the freedom-loving Italian minority."

King Leopold Suffering From Heart Trouble'

Brussels, May 22 (AP)—An official bulletin made public today said King Leopold had suffered "acute heart trouble" at Salzburg last week and "for the time being is unable to travel." The bulletin, signed by the King's physician, was dated May 19.

Three physicians, including two heart specialists and one lung specialist, were attending the King, the bulletin said.

The general impression in Brussels is that the King, although urged by the Royalists and Catholics to return to Belgium, does not intend to reign again and that his failing health after the hardships of his internment under the Germans will provide sufficient reason.

Joint Occupation Plans For Berlin Are Stalled

By the Associated Press.

RIJSSEN, Holland, May 22.—Plans for joint Allied occupation of Berlin have hit a snag and it appeared today that the Canadian 1st Army's "Berlin Brigade" will not be going to the German capital as planned.

No one here knows what caused the hitch in plans to send this token occupation force to Berlin for a month, but the whole situation now is uncertain. Possibly the city is in such bad shape that plans to accommodate troops of the Western Allies are not feasible.

A reported switch in plans which would make Leipzig headquarters of the Allied Control Commission instead of Berlin may have had something to do with it.

Danish War Criminals May Go To Greenland

Copenhagen, May 22 (AP)—Danes convicted of war crimes may be sent to Greenland for hard labor in the cryolite mines pending a decision over whether the death penalty shall be instituted in Denmark.

A proposal legalizing capital punishment will be introduced in Parliament Friday. If both houses pass the bill, it probably will be submitted to a referendum.

Gen. Huebner Takes Post In Entertaining Troops

By the Associated Press.

PILSEN, Czechoslovakia, May 22.—Off-duty life for the American troops occupying Pilsen is just one party after another.

The 5th Corps and its 2d Infantry Division have command posts here. One night the grateful Czech citizens entertain the soldiers. The next night the soldiers repay the social obligation.

Nearby lakes provide boating and swimming. The weather is just right for such sport. Six days after the city's liberation the Pilson opera festival—dedicated to the Americans—opened with Smetana's "Bartered Bride." Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner of Bushton, Kans., and Washington, D. C., addressed the opera audience to express the appreciation of his 5th Corps.

Yanks, British Extend Control Over Trieste

Troops Push into Territory Garrisoned by Yugoslav Forces.

TRIESTE, May 22—(AP) American and British troops extended their control north and east of the Isonzo river above Trieste today, pushing into Yugoslav-garrisoned territory and it was believed that the tense period in this disputed area was about over.

(Allied headquarters in Rome announced that the Eighth army had occupied positions along a 20-mile line running north from Trieste to a point five miles east of Gorizia and taken the towns of Montespino and Tarnova. The penetration was described as a "further stage of their forward concentration into Venezia Giulia."

Clark Tours Position

(During the day, the new positions were inspected by Gen. Mark W. Clark, commander of the Allied 15th army group.)

While there was no information here on the next steps contemplated by the U. S. and British governments, it was understood that Marshal Tito's Yugoslav government had agreed, in its latest note to Washington and London, with minor stipulations to all proposals put forward for a peaceful settlement of the argument whether the Trieste zone should belong to Yugoslavia or Italy.

Indication of the easing of tension was received with enthusiasm by Allied troops, many of whom had never celebrated V-E day properly because of the situation here.

One doughboy who had been standing guard at a bridge for days said with feeling: "The sooner I can kiss this part of the world goodbye the better I'll like it."

Critical Food Shortage

It was expected that the spectacle of armed Yugoslav and Allied patrols moving through the streets of Trieste soon would end. There was a critical shortage of food. An Allied military government team headed by Lt. Col. Joseph D. Scholtz of Louisville, Ky., was waiting outside the city ready to set up its administration.

Word that the Yugoslavs apparently had relented in their determination to hold the region until their claim could be formally settled came only a few hours after American and British troops had pushed in force into the hilly country north of Trieste in the Gorizia area.

There was no opposition from Yugoslav forces, who apparently were surprised by the sudden eruption of Allied troops and watched them pass with surprise in their eyes at such overwhelming force.

Many Yugoslav sentires saluted smartly as Allied officers passed and at some points Yugoslav trucks drew off to let long lines of Allied vehicles pass. Today's penetration varied in depth, but the average advance appeared to be about six miles beyond previous Allied positions.

The American 91st infantry division and the 10th mountain division are operating as part of the British Eighth army in securing supply lines from Trieste into Austria.

TITO REPORTED TO ACCEPT OUR TRIESTE PLANS

Dispute Over Occupation of City Ends While Eighth Army Troops Move.

AIM IS SECURING OF PORT

Yugoslavs Are Said Still to Have Soldiers There, but No Incidents Occur.

Trieste, May 22 (A. P.).—The dispute over the occupation of Trieste appeared ended today at about the time the Americans and British troops of the Eighth Army undertook peaceful penetration of the country Marshal Tito had claimed for Yugoslavia.

It was understood that the Yugoslav Government had agreed to all Allied proposals put forward, with modifications.

The Eighth Army earlier had pushed about six miles from the Isonzo River and the coastal road to Trieste, causing increased tension in the ten-day political deadlock.

While there was no official announcement here immediately of the contents of a new note Marshal Tito had sent to the British and United States Governments, the atmosphere was extremely optimistic.

An Allied Military Government team headed by Lieut.-Col. Joseph D. Scholtz of Louisville, Ky., has been waiting outside Trieste since its liberation in readiness to take over administration of the port city.

Allied trucks, tanks and armored cars moved over the roads north of Trieste in the Gorizia area.

Yugoslav troops offered no opposition in the areas visited and by late today, there was no report of incidents between troops of the two armies. One American, however, was wounded when he stepped on a mine near a roadblock. The mine was believed to have been laid by the Germans.

Operation Uneventful.

[The British radio said Field Marshal Sir Harold Alexander, supreme Allied commander in the Mediterranean, had gone to Trieste with the chief of staff of the United States Fifth Army.]

The American and British troops wore no battle helmets, but carried their usual arms.

In the hills northeast of Gorizia where a battalion of the United States Ninety-first Division moved into new positions, Lieut.-Col. Howard W. Reynolds of Hartford, Conn., said that his trip up the winding mountain roads was uneventful. The Tenth Mountain Division, which spearheaded the last Fifth Army offensive in Italy below Bologna, has moved over and come under Eighth Army command. Long columns of its transport moved up north of Gorizia. A battalion of the Ninety-first Division, which had been sitting in San Giusto Castle in Trieste for more than a week as part of the Allied force, withdrew from the Adriatic port city to rejoin its division.

Objective Is to Secure Port.

The objective of the Allied forces in the area is to secure the port of Trieste—an objective they have not yet achieved completely due to the dispute with the Yugoslavs—and to protect supply lines from Trieste to Austria.

The penetration eastward today followed a conference yesterday between the Yugoslav commander at Gorizia and the American commander, during which the Yugoslav officer said American patrols had been moving too far east. All Allied troops in Trieste have been ordered to carry arms.

Last evening the Yugoslavs sent twenty-seven tanks on a tour of the city, passing some points several times. Their patrols continued to roam the city, each member armed with a tommygun. At the corner of the Piazza dell Unita, a Yugoslav machine gunner had built himself a small bunker of rocks.

Yugoslavs Salute Allies.

In spite of this heightened tension, both sides seemed to be straining to avoid anything which would cause an incident. Many Yugoslav sentries saluted smartly as Allied officers passed in convoys. At some points, Yugoslav trucks drew off the roads to let long lines of Allied motorized vehicles pass.

No effort was made to move Yugoslav units. They remained and Allied formations went past them.

Nimitz and Osmena Hold Talks at Guam

GUAM, May 22.—President Sergio Osmena of the Philippines conferred today with Admiral Chester W. Nimitz. Mr. Osmena is en route from Washington to Manila.

Also here is Senator Tydings, Democrat, of Maryland, chairman of the Senate committee created to investigate conditions in the reconquered Philippines.

Geiger Also Predicts Early End of Resistance

OKINAWA, May 22 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Roy Geiger, commander of the Marine 3d Amphibious Corps, today forecast the breakdown of Japanese resistance on Okinawa soon because of the failure of their lines of communication.

"We made good progress considering the defenses we're up against," he said at a press conference. "If the weather doesn't impede us I think we will break the Jap resistance soon."

Japanese defenders on Okinawa, Gen. Geiger said, were supported by "the most effective artillery we have yet encountered in the Pacific."

He noted that the occasional display of a white flag by Japanese on the island battleground didn't mean surrender to them but the announcement of a banzai charge.

Marine flyers over Okinawa yesterday observed the 33d anniversary of Marine aviation by "doing the job they were sent to the Pacific to do," said Maj. Gen. Francis Mulcahy, commander of the 2d Marine Wing.

"That is," he added, "to destroy the Jap air, sea and ground strength wherever they can be reached."

Marine fighter pilots reached and brought down eight planes Sunday and Sunday night in helping ward off persistent attacks on American Ryukyu Island invasion forces.

Okinawa's Fall Near, Turner Declares in Praising Buckner

By Julian Hunt, representing the combined American press. Distributed by the Associated Press.

ABOARD ADMIRAL TURNER'S FLAGSHIP OFF OKINAWA, May 21 (Delayed).—Vice Admiral Richmond Kelly Turner, commander of the gigantic amphibious assault on Okinawa, predicted today that Lt. Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner's 10th Army "will capture this island in the comparatively near future."

"The Japanese courage on Okinawa is the courage of desperation," Admiral Turner said after visiting command posts with Gen. Buckner on a tour across the island. "It seems that the Japanese have about their last reserves in the line and that the determination of our generals and our troops will soon put these Japs into ultimate limbo."

Praises Buckner's Success.

Speaking in the highest terms of the "tremendous accomplishments" of Gen. Buckner and his command, both in the bitter struggle for Southern Okinawa and the speedy development of occupied areas, Admiral Turner said:

"No longer should we say to Japan, 'Here we come', but now with the accomplishments of our troops in Okinawa, and with our activation of airfields of great importance we should say, 'Here we are.'"

While the Navy "has its own difficulties, contending with suicidal air attacks," Admiral Turner said, the Navy "greatly admires and respects the accomplishments of the soldiers on shore and has full confidence that these experienced troops will soon get the entire island into our possession."

Citing the herculean development of works ashore, the admiral said: "In this relatively short time here a great road system has been built where no roads existed before except for cattle trails and footpaths.

Airfields Already in Operation.

"Several airfields are in operation and every day from these hundreds of airplanes go aloft and bomb the Japanese. Every day at this early stage we have airplanes from Okinawa over Japan.

"We no longer are merely defending this position, but we already are using it for important attacks. Think what it will be like a month from now!"

Emphasizing again that American forces are not "just sitting there taking it" and that the aerial offensive from Okinawa has been definitely launched, Admiral Turner concluded:

"We can say already, from Okinawa we are attacking the southern part of Japan, also Formosa, Amami Oshima and Sakishima Gunto. In a very short time we will have additional airfields on Okinawa, and planes which will be able to plaster the defenses of Japan."

250 Okinawa Civilians Hide In Wells 6 Weeks

Okinawa, May 22 (AP)—Nearly 250 civilians crept out of two tunneled wells behind American lines today, ending six weeks of life underground that left them stooped, stiffened and blinking.

They were discovered when 77th Division soldiers mopping up behind their lines just north of Shuri fortress heard noises underground, apparently coming from two 50-foot wells.

Two American-Japanese interpreters investigated. One lowered the other into the well where he discovered crowded caves.

After some persuasion, 149 emerged from one hole and 95 from the other. The people said they were natives of Shuri and had fled from their homes when American attacks on Okinawa started.

TOWN SEIZED ON MINDANAO

31st Division Takes Provincial Capital Of Malaybalay

Manila, Wednesday, May 23 (AP). Maj. Gen. Clarence Martin's 31st Division occupied the north central Mindanao town of Malaybalay with its adjacent airfield and Maj. Gen. Roscoe Woodruff's 24th Division pushed to within 2 miles of the last enemy-held airfield near Davao, headquarters reported today.

The 31st, driving toward a juncture with the 40th and Americal divisions, moved in from the south on Malaybalay, provincial capital of Bukidnon province.

24th Gains 4 Miles

The 24th gained 4 miles, to the outskirts to Bunan, to reach within 2 miles of Licanan airdrome.

Aloft, a 325-ton bomb load was loosed northeast of Manila by attack and fighter bombers in support of ground operations in the Cagayan Valley of Luzon. The fortress island of Formosa, University airdrome at Canton and railroad facilities near Nanking, China, were other targets.

In two sectors, warships were in action in support of ground actions. Naval units supported Australians and Dutch troops mopping up on Tarakan Island, north Borneo. Other naval units supported the Aussies in the bypassed sector around Wewak, British New Guinea.

Planes delivered effective blows on airdromes on Dutch Celebes and sank an 8,000-ton freighter-transport in the harbor of Balikpapan, Borneo.

Yanks Shelled From Hills

Malaybalay, a town of 18,000 population, was occupied Sunday against negligible opposition. Some enemy artillery shelled the Yanks from hills 2 miles to the northeast. The airfield has two grass strips but is virtually of no military importance.

On Luzon's east coast, the 1st Cavalry Division took Port Real on the coast highway south of Intanta Sunday. Patrol torpedo boats supported the operation with a miniature navy bombardment Saturday and Sunday. Two sides of the Infanta triangle now have been closed by cavalry men and guerrillas.

Under aerial cover, tanked soldiers of the 38th Division launched a drive in the Wawa dam sector of central Luzon, pushing toward the convergence of the Bosabosa and Marikana rivers in the Manila watershed.

Wiping Out Trapped Foe

With a spearhead of tanks, a column of the 43d Division and guerrillas wiped out two thirds of the large Japanese force trapped in the region of Ipo Dam, also a unit of Manila's water supply system. Some 500 Japanese bodies were counted in that sector.

With Japanese resistance shattered around Sasa airdrome, north of Davao City, by the 24th Division, a regiment under Col. Jock Clifford pushed 2 miles beyond Panacan village without opposition.

From the 5th Air Force base, Russel Brines, Associated Press correspondent, reported that last Saturday's aerial strike against Formosa by Philippine-based bombers and fighters was the heaviest yet by land-based aircraft on Formosan targets. Returning flyers said they destroyed 6 ships and 36 small craft and damaged 14 others.

Protection For Okinawa

Since last January 11 Yank flyers from the Philippines have unloaded 9,000 tons of bombs on Formosa in an effort to neutralize the island and protect the American invaders of Okinawa to the northeast from raids by Formosan-based planes.

Meanwhile, the 13th Air Force sent 25 bombers last Friday against Brunei Bay on the west coast of British Borneo. The American 7th Fleet threw a half dozen Venturas against the same targets. Ten Liberators pounded the great Borneo oil center at Balikpapan.

Australian and Dutch forces on Tarakan, just off Borneo, were within 3 miles of the north coast.

The Aussies on New Guinea reached the base of Cape Moem, Japan's last coastal point in the Wewak sector. The known Japanese dead in the New Guinea cleanup now totals 4,112.

BOMBERS BLAST FORMOSAN PORT IN RECORD RAID

Planes From Philippines Sink 43 Ships in Blow to Seal Blockade.

SCHEDLER

Manila, May 22 (A. P.).—The heaviest air strikes ever made on Formosa in four months of raiding by Philippines-based bombers were reported today.

Associated Press War Correspondent Russell Brines reported from the Fifth Air Force base that airmen returning from last Saturday's record raid on Formosa had sunk six ships and thirty-six small craft and damaged fourteen other vessels of all types.

About 250 bombers and fighters were in the record assault aimed at jamming the cork into the principal shipping leak through a tight aerial blockade around the fortress island and crippling air centers from which Okinawa is being bombed.

Attack Lasts Several Hours.

The bombers dropped 390 tons of bombs, mostly 2,000 pounders, during a several-hour attack. This brought the total to more than 9,000 tons poured on the island off the China coast since January 11.

Harbor installatioss at Kiirun on the northern tip were the main objective. Nearly 100 Liberators raked the business district and harbor area of Kiirun, hitting in a series of closely timed waves. For the past four months, Fifth Air Force officers said, Kiirun has been the only Formosan port from which shipping has been able to evade the American blockade.

Meanwhile, forty-eight Mitchells bombed other targets and fighters strafed railroads and other communications.

Kiirun is a sizable, compact town built around an excellent harbor. It was so engulfed with smoke and bomb scattered dust that results of yesterday's attack were not observed. Photographs, however, showed direct hits on drydocks, warehouses and railroad yards.

Two-thirds of Pocket Wiped Out.

Just three days after capture of Ipo Dam in the Manila watershed, infantry of the Forty-third division, aided by guerrillas, wiped out two-thirds of a large enemy force trapped in the area. A tank-led column split Jap troops by seizing Metropolitan Road and then liquidated organized resistance south of that key highway. At least 500 enemy bodies were found.

A few miles to the southeast the Thirty-eighth Infantry Division drove toward Wawa Dam. Some 150 planes of the Fifth Air Force paved the way with explosives and fire bombs.

The First Cavalry ran into stiff opposition nine miles south of Infanta on central Luzon's east coast, while other Americans drove steadily ahead down Balete Pass toward the Cagayan Valley, breadbasket of northern Luzon. Bombers and fighters closely supported the Balete action.

Mindanao Drives Gain.

In north central Mindanao the Thirty-first and Fortieth Divisions were only twenty-five miles apart in their drive to split the second largest Philippine island. Between them lies a considerable Jap force. Driving north along the Sayre Highway, the Thirty-first advanced ten miles to within one mile of Malaybalay, capital of Bukidnon province. It fought on the edge of the town's two small airfields. The Fortieth gained slightly in its drive to link up with the Thirty-first, but was delayed temporarily in Mangima Canyon, where it cut to pieces a strong band of bypassed Nipponese. The Fortieth captured two old American 75 mm. guns and a 37 mm. cannon apparently abandoned by Yank troops when the Japs overran the island.

On southeast Mindanao the Twenty-fourth Infantry Division captured Sasa Airfield north of Davao, fifth of the area's six airfields to fall. The Japs resisted fiercely.

Australian and Dutch troops on Tarakan Island off Borneo drove to within three miles of the north coast. Sixth Division Australians driving east from Cape Borem on northeast New Guinea reached the base of Cape Moem, last remaining Jap coastal point in the Wewak area.

Flyers in Wide Raids.

The Australian Army communique said today more than 800 Japs died in the attempt to prevent occupation of Wewak, bypassed earlier by American troops. Total of known enemy killed by the Aussies in their cleanup campaign mounted to 4,112.

MAY 22 1945

For the sixth consecutive day Philippine planes hit land and sea transportation facilities, munition dumps, shipyards, dispersal centers and other war installations at Formosa, along the China coast, French Indo-China, Borneo, New Guinea and the Solomons.

Japanese Civilians On New 'Death March'

Manila, May 22 (AP)—A "march of death" involving the slaughter of Japanese civilians at the hands of Nippon soldiers was reported today by American army officers. Some Filipinos also were killed.

Officers of the 40th Division said they discovered bodies of 62 slain Japanese civilians and 22 Filipinos and found nine wounded Nipponese civilians on a Panay hillside. Capt. Wesley Loga, of Lakeview, Mich., a medical officer who was called to tend the wounded, heard this story:

About 400 Japanese civilian residents of Iloilo were forced to march from the metropolis when 40th Division troops advanced. One Japanese woman said the marchers were unable to sleep for three consecutive nights. On the fourth night they were permitted to stop, and as they rested the Japanese soldiers moved among the exhausted men, women and children slashing and stabbing with bayonets.

Col. Schechter Honored

Wins Legions of Merit for Radio Work Under MacArthur

MANILA, May 22 (AP)—Lieutenant Colonel Abel A. Schechter, of 180 East Seventy-ninth Street, New York City, received the Legion of Merit today for "exceptionally meritorious conduct" in establishing an extensive radio transmission system for General Douglas MacArthur's command.

Colonel Schechter, who was director of national radio news and special events for the National Broadcasting Company in New York, accepted a special commission last August to become director of the Army's radio branch in the Southwest Pacific.

He is returning to the United States where he will probably revert to civilian status. He was formerly a newspaper man in New York City and Providence, R. I.

Record Raid Lashes Formosa Harbor to Cut Off Jap Shipping

Airfields Used by Foe In Attacking Okinawa Also Are Targets

By the Associated Press.

BRINES

WITH UNITED STATES 5th AIR FORCE, Luzon, P. I., May 20 (Delayed).—About 250 bombers and fighters lashed Formosa yesterday with a record assault aimed at jamming the cork into the principal shipping leak through a tight aerial blockade around the fortress island and crippling air centers from which Okinawa is being bombed.

Philippines-based bombers dropped 390 tons of bombs, mostly 2,000-pounders, during a several-hour attack marking the heaviest and largest land-based raid on Formosa. This brought the total to more than 9,000 tons poured on the island off the China coast since January 11.

Harbor Installations Blasted.

Harbor installations at Kiirun on the northern tip were the main objective. Aircraft also sank six vessels and 36 small craft, and probably sank or damaged 14 other vessels including two subchasers and minelayers.

Nearly 100 Liberators raked the business district and harbor area of Kiirun, hitting in a series of closely timed waves. For the past four months, 5th Air Force officers said, Kiirun has been the only Formosan port from which shipping has been able to evade the American blockade.

Meanwhile, 48 Mitchells bombed other targets and fighters strafed railroads and other communications.

Kiirun is a sizable, compact town built around an excellent harbor. It was so engulfed with smoke and bomb scattered dust that results of yesterday's attack were not observed. Photographs, however, showed direct hits on drydocks, warehouses and railroad yards.

No Longer Offensive Threat.

All smashed at shipping caught in Kiirun Harbor, which is both a commercial port and naval base.

During four months of steady assaults on Formosa, bombers have concentrated on 26 main targets. Officers said the island is no longer an offensive threat and will not be as long as the aerial blockade is rigidly maintained. However, Japanese ground forces are amply stocked with guns, munitions and supplies. They are probably able to sustain themselves indefinitely.

The Japanese also have an undetermined number of aircraft and sizable stocks of gasoline on Formosa.

The enemy tried to extend these when it began construction a few months ago of a large naval base at Toshien, which has an excellent harbor. Then tunnelled extensively into adjacent hills for supply dumps. American airmen seriously crippled the project.

KWANGSI CHINESE ADVANCE 22 MILES

MOSA

New Thrust Made Into Jap Link With Indo-China

Chungking, May 22 (AP)—Chinese troops, hurling back strong enemy counterattacks, have thrust 22 miles into Japanese lines in the initial blows of China's new offensive against the south end of the enemy lifeline to Indo-China and Burma, the high command disclosed tonight.

The developing Chinese offensive in Kwangsi province, 150 miles north of Indo-China, was regarded by Chungking observers as the war's most serious Chinese threat to the west flank of Japan's trans-China supply corridor.

Strike From Hochih

Striking out from the captured Japanese bastion of Hochih, 330 miles south of Chungking, Chinese forces were sweeping eastward along the Kwangsi-Kweiyang (Kweichow) railroad toward the vital Japanese-held rail city of Liuchow.

Liuchow, biggest and most powerful Japanese stronghold in southern China, lies astride the long north-south railroad cutting across China that links Manchuria with enemy outposts in Indo-China and Burma.

The Chinese were advancing along the north and south embankments of the Kwangsi-Kweiyang railroad, and the Chinese command announced that forces below the railroad had advanced 9 miles and recaptured Chinchengkiang, 85 miles west of Liuchow.

These forces repulsed two Japanese counterattacks, while other Chinese troops bypassed Chinchenkiang on the south and were pressing toward Hwaiyuanchen, an important rail bastion 50 miles west of Liuchow.

Advance North Of Line

North of the east-west railroad line that winds up in Liuchow, another force had advanced 22 miles, chewing up all Japanese opposition, and reaching the suburbs of Szengen (Szeenhsien), 73 miles northwest of Liuchow.

In three other provinces—Fukien, Hunan and Honan—Chinese troops claimed successes.

In coastal Fukien, the Chinese cleared all Japanese troops from the area south of the Min River estuary beyond Foochow, after pushing north from the small port of Diongloh.

Some Japanese troops fled north across the river mouth, but their escape was imperiled by a Chinese spearhead which captured a point 12 miles northeast of Foochow, and thrust to the suburbs of Lienkong, 17 miles northeast.

Escape To Sea Menaced

Reports from the front said the Japanese in Lienkong were panic-stricken. Their escape road to the sea, 4 miles away, was threatened and the ships in which they hoped to escape north along the coast to Shanghai were being subjected to constant air attack.

Some Japanese forces were pushing northward along the highway from Foochow to Loyuan, 31 miles northeast of Foochow, in the hope of finding a better escape route but the high command said Chinese forces were intercepting them.

In Hunan province, Chinese forces overcame enemy resistance 25 miles west of Shaoyang (Poaching), former American airbase 60 miles west of the rail city of Hengyang, killing 300 Japanese.

Nineteen to 25 miles northwest of Shaoyang, the Chinese reduced two strong points. United States 14th Air Force medium bombers and fighters joined the battle and killed hundreds of Japanese, an American communiqué said.

MAY 22 1945

Farther north, Chinese soldiers in Honan province almost completed the encirclement of a Japanese group west of Hsihsiakow, 35 miles east of the Shensi frontier and 400 miles northeast of Chungking.

While the Japanese were threatened with encirclement at a point 6 miles beyond Hsihsiakow, other Chinese units struck to points 4½ miles north and 2 miles west of that bastion.

Almost 100 miles to the north, Chinese troops, with close air support, repulsed repeated Japanese attacks on their positions south of the Lunghai railroad towns of Shanhsien and Taying. The Japanese suffered heavy casualties.

SOONG SISTERS WIN KUOMINTANG SEATS

Chungking, May 22 (A. P.).—Two of China's famous Soong sisters—Mme. Chiang Kai-shek and Mme. Sun Yat-sen—were among 222 members of the New Central Executive Committee of the Kuomintang (Government party) elected by the Sixth National Kuomintang Congress, which closed yesterday. Both became members for the first time.

Among other new members was Hollington K. Tong, Vice-minister of Information. Most of the prominent members, such as T. V. Soong and H. H. Kung, were re-elected.

Arab Unrest Spreads After 8 Die in Clash With French in Syria

O'BRIEN

By the Associated Press.

CAIRO, May 22.—Agitation against reinforcement of French troops in Syria and Lebanon spread through the Pan-Arab states today following the killing of 8 persons and the wounding of 25 others in a clash with French forces in the Syrian city of Aleppo.

An Arab general strike throughout Palestine was forecast in reports to Cairo as the newly formed Pan-Arab League rallied around Syria and Lebanon.

At Damascus, Djemil Mardam Bey, Syria's acting Premier, announced that both countries had refused to negotiate further with France.

Parliaments Meet Today.

Parliaments of Syria and Lebanon were scheduled to meet during the day. Arab circles in Cairo predicted that protest work stoppages in both countries, which formerly were under French mandate, would be eased to "create an atmosphere of calm."

Reports of the Palestine sympathy strike emphasized pan-Arab sentiment against the position of the French, who were reported to have landed 500 troops in the Lebanese capital of Beyrouth. The month-old Arab league of seven Arab countries issued a statement yesterday saying the French action represented "an imperialistic frame of mind."

The Paris radio said the movement of French forces was necessitated by military development in the Far East, where French Indo-China is under Japanese occupation.

30.24 . 26005

The radio added these movements did not affect France's recognition of the independence of Syria and Lebanon, but that France was responsible for order in Lebanon.

Natives Back Independence.

It was reported from Damascus, the Syrian capital, that native tribal leaders had offered their services and had expressed their willingness to defend Syrian independence with their lives.

Gen. Abdel Rahman Mazzam Bey, secretary of the Arab League, said here that Syrian and Lebanese leaders had discussed the situation with Edouard Herriot, former president of the French Chamber of Deputies, who now has returned to France. Mazzam Bey expressed the hope Herriot might arrange a settlement.

The league, which includes Egypt, Iraq, Transjordan, Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Syria and Lebanon, said in its statement that "the Arab League will not fail in its duty to safeguard the liberty and independence of any threatened member."

It declared "the French are precipitating matters by sending troops into Syria and Lebanon" and that "these forces are meant to strengthen France's hand for the final settlement of the Levant problem."

NIEMOLLER SEES GENERATION LOST

Cairo, May 22 (A. P.).—Germans between the ages of 22 and 30 are regarded as a "lost generation" by Pastor Martin Niemoeller, militant German Lutheran, Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam, president of the Federal Council of Churches, said today.

The New York Methodist Bishop came here from a lengthy tour of Europe. He said he conferred with Niemoeller at a Naples hotel, where the German minister has been residing since his liberation from a Nazi concentration camp.

Bishop Oxnam said Niemoeller told him he saw little possibility of successful collaboration with Germany as a nation until after "a long period of controlled re-education." He suggested that the basis for such re-education should be a thorough policy of truth-telling about Nazi policies and practices.

Because of the indoctrination of Nazi beliefs in Germans between the ages of 22 and 30, Bishop Oxnam quoted Niemoeller as proposing that the United States should direct its re-education efforts at Germans under the age of 22.

FIRST SOLDIERS FLY NEW ROUTE

G. PALMER

Veterans Are Coming Home Via Mediterranean.

MAY 22 1945

Casablanca, May 21 (Delayed) (A. P.).—The first group of American troops to be headed home over the new air ferry route via the Mediterranean—eighty men chosen from among the oldest veterans of the United States Fifth Army—arrived here today from Pisa, Italy.

The soldiers were flown on the first leg of a four-hop flight in stripped-down Flying Fortresses of the United States Fifteenth Air Force, making a non-stop 1,380-mile flight along the eastern coastlines of Corsica and Sardinia and over Algiers and Oran in eight hours.

The ferry service they are inaugurating is expected to be carrying from 15,000 to 20,000 veterans home each month by the end of August. The route is operated by two bomber groups of the Fifteenth Air Force and the Air Transport Command.

Men in the first flight are veterans of the North Africa landings and the fighting in Tunisia, Sicily, Italy and Southern France. They represent the Infantry, Combat Engineers, Anti-Aircraft, Combat Military Police, medical detachments and other branches of the service. Here they will transfer to ATC planes for the overseas hop.

Col. Hampton in Charge.

The traffic from Pisa and Naples to Casablanca is being handled by the 463rd and 483rd bomber groups.

The homeward bound force here today is commanded by Col. "Easy Mike" Hampton of Uvalde, Tex., a veteran of twenty-five combat missions, who recently was released from a hospital after recovering from a wound received last March 16 in a Vienna raid. Col. Hampton also commands the 463rd group. Col. Joseph Stanley, Phoebus, Va., leads the 483rd.

The deputy commander of the force is Lieut.-Col. Harry Robb, Lincoln, Neb., who has just returned from Russia after being shot down in a Berlin raid March 24. Both groups trained together at McDill Field, Fla.

Japs Claim Six Hits In Iwo Airfield Raid

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—Domei, Japanese news agency, today reported Japanese planes scored at least six hits on Iwo Jima's Motoyama airfield in a surprise raid last night.

The unconfirmed broadcast, recorded by the Federal Communications Commission, said the attack caused fires and explosions.

Japanese Commentator Dies

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22 (AP)—The Japanese Domei agency today reported the death of Kiyoshi Kiyosawa, Japanese "diplomatic commentator." Kiyosawa, most recently noted for his propaganda attacks on the San Francisco Conference, died of "acute pneumonia." He was 55 years old.

REPORT HONSHU HIT

San Francisco, May 22 (A. P.).—Japanese domestic broadcasts reported three American Superforts bombed southern Honshu today, including the city of Nagoya and the Hamamatsu area. The broadcasts were recorded by the FCC.

JAP SOVIETISM IS SUGGESTED

Broadcast Cites Efficiency Of Leader Like Stalin

San Francisco, May 22 (AP)—Japanese broadcasts today emphasized the need for controlling "peace agitation," and called for a leader like Joseph Stalin and for an "inspiration" such as Sovietism to combat the empire's greatest crisis.

Naisuki Nakano, procurator-general, was quoted by the Domei news agency in a broadcast recorded by the FCC as frankly admitting the growth of peace agitation." . . . in a portion of the populace" because of the war situation.

Said To Order Arrests

Nakano was reported as ordering arrests for "any speech that might cause disorder in the national unity." His statement on the situation was made to the first meeting of the presidents of the courts of appeals and chief public procurators, held Monday.

"The first thing to be stressed in regard to ideological violations," Domei quoted Nakano as saying, "is the control of speech and action agitating peace." He added that it was "impossible to repulse the enemy outside Japan if there is no perfect unity within Japan."

The Tokyo Shimbun pointed to the "powerful leadership, based on Sovietism," of Stalin and said Japan could draw from this type "inspiration and ingenuity" necessary to defeat the "Anglo-American capitalist aggression."

Sovietism, said the newspaper article quoted by Domei, had "completely regenerated" Russia under Stalin, and enabled the Soviet Union to overcome "a danger of defeat far greater" than that facing Nippon.

Plans Study Of New Arms

Domei also reported the appointment of Lieut. Gen. Reikichi Tada as president of the Cabinet Board of Technology. It was said he would devote himself "to the study of the new arms destined for the special attack corps"—suicide units.

Tada, president of the Japanese Science Mobilization League, succeeds Dr. Hideji Yagi, who resigned. In recent months, as air and sea blockade cut sharply into Japan's merchant shipping from the occupied areas, Tada has been quoted by Japanese broadcasts as advocating development of synthetic substitutes for oil and other products to make the homeland "self-sufficient in vital war resources."

A new rice-control system to establish self-sufficiency for the various regions independently was announced by the Tokyo radio. It said this new Government measure was designed to prepare Japan for an "area-by-area" defense of the home islands.

Agitation for Peace Growing in Japan, High Official Admits

By the Associated Press.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 22.—A high Japanese official admitted growing "peace agitation" in the homeland and called for the arrest of any person making speeches "that might cause disorder in the national unity," the Domei news agency said today.

The official, Procurator Gen. Namisuki Nakano, was quoted as declaring yesterday that "the growing critical situation of the war" has led to a "tendency toward peace agitation."

"It is impossible," he told the presidents of the courts of appeals in a meeting attended by Premier Kantaro Suzuki and President Seiichi Shimoyama of the Japanese supreme court, "to repulse the enemy outside Japan if there is no perfect unity within Japan."

The broadcast quoted Nakano as admitting present economic conditions "allow for no optimism."

In an earlier broadcast, the Tokyo radio told of American leaflets dropped from Super Fortresses and warned that any one not turning them in would be penalized.

The Tokyo radio said Japan's wartime education act, under which 20,000,000 students in the country were mobilized on a full wartime basis to participate actively in the defense of the homeland, was made effective today.

Promulgation of the act was accompanied by dissolution of the Japan Youth Associations, the broadcast said activities of their members will be included in the new student corps.

GI'S RECALLED FROM INDUSTRY

Army Returning 10,000 Soldiers To Active Service

MAY 22 1945

Washington, May 22 (AP)—The Army today began the recall of all soldiers loaned to industry as the result of manpower shortages.

The first groups ordered back to active service included approximately 400 highly skilled men, such as physicists and chemists, and 700 men under the age of 30 who had been working in copper mines.

The War Department said the men were being recalled because of the demobilization of 1,300,000 soldiers under the point-rating system.

700 To Return At Once

The 400 highly skilled men will be returned to the Army at the expiration of their present periods of inactive duty, while the 700 copper miners will be brought back as quickly as possible. The recall of the 700 left approximately 1,200 older soldiers in the copper mines.

Eventually more than 10,000 other soldiers released to work in foundries, rubber, aluminum, textile and other industrial plants will be restored to active service.

These will be recalled either as their periods of inactive duty expire or, in the case of those released for indefinite periods, as quickly as the industry can spare them.

The department pointed out that the partial demobilization will create a manpower pool of discharged veterans from which industry may draw men possessing key skills.

Regulations Rescinded

The Army also rescinded regulations providing for the release of skilled soldiers to work in war plants.

Soldiers in that category were placed on inactive duty and transferred to the Enlisted Reserve Corps for the period of time that they were authorized to work in industry. They received the regular industrial pay, but gave up their army compensation during that time.

Some soldiers were also given short furloughs to work on the construction of war plants, but most of those already have returned to active duty. They were given their basic army pay and the regular industrial wage while they were on such furloughs.

Aimless Jap Balloon Attacks Made on Western Mainland

WASHINGTON, May 22 — (AP) Aimless Japanese balloon attacks have been made on the western U. S. mainland for several months, the Army and Navy announced today.

Carrying a few small bombs, the unmanned balloons float without control, their main purpose believed to be to set brush and forest fires. No property damage has resulted from the enemy's fantastic effort," the announcement said.

The balloons are of gray, white or greenish-blue paper, about 33 feet in diameter. They are "known to have landed or dropped explosives in isolated localities," it was stated, but it was emphasized that the attacks "should not be viewed with alarm."

The military made the announcement as a warning to the public unexploded bombs may be found in isolated places and should be avoided, it stated.

The balloons have been the talk of the west for months. Until today, however, the Office of Censorship forbade any mention of them in the press.

Asking the public to keep specific information of the balloons from the enemy, the War and Navy departments said today the attacks were scattered and aimless, without military threat, but detailed facts might help the Japanese to correct their methods.

"There is always the possibility that unexploded bombs may be found lying in isolated spots or concealed in wooded areas," the statement said.

"Some may be buried in melting snow. With the coming of warm weather and the end of the school session it is desirable that people and especially children, living west of the Mississippi river, be warned of this possible hazard and cautioned under no circumstances to touch or approach any unfamiliar object."

The War department has started an educational public safety campaign in cooperation with schools and civic organizations.

The enemy would be aided greatly by exact information about time, locality and effect of the balloons in helping him to evaluate his efforts, it was stated.

Silence Is Asked

Civilians were asked to do as press and radio have done and "refrain from spreading news of any specific balloon incident of which they may hear."

In asserting that the attacks "should not be viewed with alarm," the announcement said:

"Due to the large areas of the United States and the variable nature of the winds, the possibility of a hit in any specific area is remote. The chances that any given place would be hit by these attacks is only one in many millions."

"Editors and broadcasters, cooperating splendidly with the office of censorship, have done a remarkably effective job of keeping all details from the enemy," the departments said.

They advised readers and listeners to understand that reports were omitted to keep information from the enemy.

The public was urged to keep a careful watch "for possible forest fires started by incendiary bombs. Thus far, no such incident has occurred."

Early in the war Japanese submarines lobbed shells into the vicinity of Astoria, Ore., and also into an oil field in southern California. The only other known direct attack on the U. S. mainland was when a small, submarine-launched airplane dropped incendiary bombs in the vicinity of Mount Emily, Ore.

The announcement about the balloons referred to the attacks as long range but officials declined to elaborate. The starting place or places remained undisclosed.

Japanese-controlled land areas are vast distances away, giving rise to speculation that the explosives were launched closer to this continent, perhaps from submarines. Officials would not comment.

However, the announcement contained a possible indication that the origin may have been on the other side of the Pacific.

"It is the viewpoint of the departments," it stated, "that the possible saving of even one American life through precautionary measures would more than offset any military gain accruing to the enemy from the mere knowledge that some of his balloons actually have arrived on this side of the Pacific."

Jap Long-range Balloons Have Attacked Western U. S.

Army and Navy Reveal Sporadic Attempts as Warning to Those West of Mississippi —No Property Damage, Says Report.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—The War and Navy departments reported today that the Japanese have been making a "fantastic effort" to bomb the western United States mainland with free balloons.

The long-range balloons, made of paper and carrying small bombs, are unmanned. Some of them are known to have landed or dropped explosives in isolated sections, but there has been no damage to property, the joint statement said.

Except for the shelling by a Japanese submarine of a southern California oil field in February, 1942, at little damage, the balloon bombs constitute the enemy's only direct strike at the continental United States.

This was the first time that the public generally had been told of the balloon attacks, although they were known to many newspaper men and others.

The joint statement said the disclosure was being made so that a public safety campaign could be undertaken to prevent possible damage or injury from the balloons. There is always a possibility, the statement said, that unexploded bombs may be found in isolated spots concealed in wooded areas or buried beneath melting snow.

With the approach of warm weather and the end of the school season, the statement added, "it is desirable that people and especially children living west of the Mississippi River be warned of this possible hazard and cautioned under no circumstances to touch or approach any unfamiliar object."

No Cause for Alarm.

The Army and Navy said they wanted to reassure the nation that the balloon attacks are so scattered and aimless that they do not constitue a military threat.

"They should not be viewed with alarm," the statement said. "Due to the large areas of the United States and the variable nature of the winds, the possibility of a hit in any specific area is remote.

"The chances that any given place would be hit by these attacks is only one in many millions."

The armed services said they took the position that the possibility of saving even one American life through precautionary measures would more than offset any military gain which the enemy might make from the mere knowledge that some of the balloons had arrived on this side of the Pacific.

Will Conceal Details.

The enemy would like to know the exact time the balloons arrived, the locality and their effect the statement said, adding:

"Such information would permit him to evaluate the results of his fantastic effort and possibly correct his methods."

The statement said this specific information will be kept back from the enemy if possible.

The balloons, which carry a few small bombs, were described as being of gray, white or greenish-blue paper and about thirty-three feet in diameter. The main purpose of the bombs, it was said, is believed to be to set brush and forest fires. The balloons cannot be controlled by the enemy.

However, the two services warned that the bombs are dangerous and should not be touched by any one who is not familiar with them.

So far, there have been no reports that incendiary bombs have started any forest fires but the Army and Navy emphasized that a careful watch must be kept.

Urging editors and broadcasters to continue their co-operation with the censorship office on the balloon operations, the two services said that newspaper readers and radio listeners should also understand that details of the balloons are being omitted from news reports to keep the enemy from obtaining further information on the attacks.

In case the balloons cause a casualty, the statement said it will serve the national interest if the press and radio and all civilians refrain "from connecting such casualty with enemy action."

The services also asked civilians to follow the example of the newspapers and radio and refrain from spreading news of any specific balloon incident.

AGE LIMIT LOWERED

WASHINGTON, May 22 — (AP) The Women's Army corps today lowered from 50 to 38 years the age limit for the enlistment of WACs.

Lilienthal Begins New 9-year Term

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—Chairman David E. Lilienthal embarked today on a new nine-year term as director of the Tennessee Valley Authority. Re-appointed by President Truman, Mr. Lilienthal won Senate confirmation yesterday by a voice vote with Senators McKellar and Stewart, Tennessee Democrats, opposing.

HOUSE UNIT STARTS PROBE INTO SUGAR

Committee Inquires Into Cuban Production Cut

Washington, May 22 (AP)—The House Food Committee tonight investigated reports that the Cuban Government has ordered 1945 sugar production curtailed at a time when world stocks are approaching their lowest ebb.

"We're going to look into this," said Committee Chairman Anderson (D., N.M.), "to see whether Cuba is limiting sugar production."

The United States has bought the 1945 Cuban crop, but the two countries have not come to price terms on the 1946 production.

To Call CCC Officials

Anderson said he would call in officials of the Commodity Credit Corporation, which negotiated the purchase of Cuba's 1945 crop.

The Congressman received an unsolicited letter from a Havana sugar producer saying the Cuban Government had limited sugar-mill output for this year.

The producer, Viriato Guiterrez, wrote that Cuba, on May 3, fixed a quota for one of his mills which would permit him to turn out 112,184 fewer bags of sugar than the 320,000 he planned for this season.

Effect Of Restriction

Anderson, making public the letter today, said the restriction on that mill alone would remove about 20,000 tons of sugar from this year's crop, and pointed out that the limitation, spread through the country, could reduce production by several hundred thousand tons.

In his letter Gutierrez said he intended to ignore the restriction order, and he told Anderson the limitation came at a time when Cuba owes it to the world to turn out all the sugar she can.

In a sugar shortage report filed with Congress today, the food committee urged that the Government "open negotiations immediately for the purchase of the 1946 Cuban and Puerto Rican crops."

N. A. M. HAS WAY TO END CARTELS

MAY 22 1945

Urges a World Exchange of Scientific Data.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—The National Association of Manufacturers urged today an international exchange of scientific information to improve business as a substitute for cartels. R. J. Dearborn, president of the Texico Development Corporation, told a Senate committee in behalf of the N. A. M.:

"N. A. M. is firmly opposed to cartels, whether private or governmental, and it believes in adherence to and enforcement of anti-trust laws."

Dearborn recommended that patent contracts be recorded in the United States Patent Office for the information of the Government.

"The public," he said, "has erroneously been led to believe that patent licenses restrain trade although a patent license is a waiver of the patentee's right to exclude some one from making, using or selling his invention.

"A cartel is characterized by a restraint of trade. This is the very antithesis of a patent license."

Proposes Post-war Program.

He said exchange of scientific and technical information through patent agreements should be encouraged and urged this post-war program.

1. Requiring the filing of all patent agreements in which a foreign country is involved.

2. Filing of domestic agreements "to remove the unjustified suspicion that manufacturers are entering into secret agreements contrary to public policy.

3. Set up safeguards to prevent business secrets from reaching competitors.

The Senate group, headed by Senator O'Mahoney (D.-Wyo.), is winding up hearings on legislation that would require filing of all foreign contracts. The measure has been described as being aimed at cartels which operate in restraint of trade.

THREE ALLIES CO-ORDINATING RECONVERSION

Truman Reveals Step Taken to Equalize Burden of War in Pacific.

FOR U. S., BRITAIN, CANADA

19th Lend-Lease Report Shows We Have Supplied Russia With 13,300 Planes.

Washington, May 22 (A. P.).—President Truman said today that American, British and Canadian reconversion plans are being co-ordinated so that each country will bear its fair share of the Pacific war burden. He added, in transmitting the nineteenth report on lend-lease operations to Congress, that the mutual aid program will continue as "a military necessity" until final victory.

"There will be substantial reductions in the total volume of Allied war production now that Germany has been defeated,' the report said. "Both in the United States and abroad these reductions will permit some reconversion from war to civilian production and some increase in commercial exports.

"Plans for reconversion in the United States, Britain and Canada are being co-ordinated on a broad front so that these nations will be devoting equitable shares of industrial capacity to the war against Japan. Such adjustments must remain subject, of course, to the overriding consideration of maintaining the most effective flow of war supplies to win total victory over Japan."

Covering the period through March 31—more than a month before Germany's collapse—the report was silent on future lend-lease to Russia, which is not at war with Japan. It said however:

"The lend-lease programs of war aid to our Allies have also been adjusted and reduced to take into account the end of hostilities in Europe and the new military situation. Future programs of lend-lease aid will continue to be based, as in the past, on the controlling consideration of the most effective prosecution of the war."

13,300 Planes Sent Russia.

Total lend-lease shipments to Russia for the period covered by the report were listed at $8,410,000,000, with $3,285,000,000 sent in the last twelve months. Included were 13,300 airplanes, "more than to any other ally," 6,800 tanks and 312,000 tons of explosives.

Lend-lease aid to all Allies amounted to $38,971,797,000, exclusive of consignments valued at $784,383,000 to commanding generals for transfer in the field to lend-lease countries. Most of the latter were turned over to the French forces in North Africa and to China.

Actual exports totaled $29,310,457,000. In addition to the shipments to Russia, Great Britain received $12,775,392,000; Africa, the Middle East and Mediterranean area $3,813,058,000; China and India $2,023,339,000; Australia and New Zealand $1,257,089,000; Latin America $226,859,000 and other countries $805,025,000.

The report did not explain the difference between total aid and actual exports, except for a $4,164,606,000 item for "shipping and other services."

It estimated reverse lend-lease for 1944 at $2,531,672,000, bringing the total received by this country to January 1, 1945, to $4,656,315,000. Of that amount $3,352,247,000 came from the United Kingdom.

Fabricated House Rumor Assailed

"This reverse lend-lease aid is mostly in the form of supplies and services furnished to our armed forces overseas," the report added.

The report denounced as "fiction" what it said were "rumors" that the United States is sending to Britain as lend-lease several hundred thousand pre-fabricated houses which are consuming a substantial portion of American lumber. Actually, it said, "we are using about two-thirds of 1 per cent of our national lumber supply in 1945 to provide 30,000 temporary emergency houses for war workers" in England to help replace some of the 500,000 homes destroyed.

Other "fiction" cited in the report includes rumors that Britain is not getting any meat from Canada because she can get it from the United States under lend-lease, that the United States has furnished large quantities of cigarettes to other nations and that lend-lease exports to Britain have enabled that country to maintain its export trade at a comparatively high level while American exports declined.

It said (A) that Canada shipped Britain one-third of her total production of meat, (B) that lend-lease cigarette shipments accounted about 1¼ per cent of American production and (C) that British export trade has declined drastically while our own "has not fallen substantially below the pre-war level."

In his transmittal letter President Truman said:

"While the bulk of the United Nations forces were engaging the Nazis in Europe, Allied forces succeeded in piercing the perimeter of Japanese defenses and established the bases from which decisive offensives can be launched. Now all of the might and power of the United States, the British Empire, France, the Netherlands and our other allies can be brought to bear, together with the Chinese forces, against Japan.

MAY 22 1945

"Long and costly as the struggle ahead may be, it has been immeasurably shortened by the system of lend-lease and reverse lend-lease."

1st Army to Be Shifted To Pacific Via U. S. With 30-Day Leaves

Divisions May Be Altered; Unit Is First Sizable Force to Be Transferred

By the Associated Press.

The American 1st Army, which blazed a path for Allied troops across the German frontier and broke the Siegfried Line, soon will be stalking Japanese.

Numbering some 150,000 men a month ago, the Army commanded by Gen. Courtney H. Hodges is being redeployed by way of the United States, with 30-day furloughs awaiting its members here.

It is the first sizable contingent the War Department has officially announced will move from the European theater to the Pacific.

30.24 26007

Troops of the 1st parachuted into France before H hour on D day. Then, in one of the most dramatic campaigns in American military history, the Army slashed through France, Belgium and into Germany killing or capturing hundreds of thousands of Nazis. Units of the 1st were credited with the capture of Paris.

Made First Rhine Crossing.

Breaking through the vaunted Siegfried Line to lead the way into the Reich, the 1st seized and established the Remagen bridgehead over the Rhine.

Gen. Hodges' men, too, were the first to join the Russians at the Elbe.

Gen. Hodges, a tough and resilient commander, has served over 40 years in the Army. He worked his way up through the ranks.

The War Department's announcement last night said:

"The divisions and Army corps that fight with the 1st Army against Japan will not necessarily be the same as those that fought in Germany. However, enough veteran units and veteran personnel will take the field under Gen. Hodges to insure the same vigorous assault against the Japanese as was made by the 1st Army against the Germans."

Fighting Record Praised.

The 1st Army's fighting record, the announcement said, "ranks with the proudest in the Allied Expeditionary Force. Although the Army itself did not enter combat until the invasion of the Normandy coast, several of its units took part in its original landings in North Africa, Sicily and Italy."

The announcement came only hours after President Truman had said bluntly that the United States is amassing "overwhelming force" to strike the Japanese. The Chief Executive's statement was made to a joint session of Congress honoring a Congressional Medal of Honor winner—a 1st Army technical sergeant, Jake W. Lindsey of Lucedale, Miss.

It was Mr. Truman who in his first week in office went over the heads of the Army high command to give Gen. Hodges, along with George S. Patton, jr., 3d Army commander, four-star rank.

Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, earlier had told Senators that Gens. Hodges and Patton couldn't be raised to full generals because they commanded only one army each, rather than an army group.

But Mr. Truman disagreed.

As of April 12, the 1st Army was composed of four corps, embracing 13 divisions. These corps and divisions, together with their commanding officers, were announced as follows:

Third Corps—Maj. Gen. James A. Vanfleet.

Fifth Corps—Maj. Gen. Clarence R. Huebner.

Seventh Corps—Maj. Gen. J. Lawton Collins.

Eighteenth Airborne Corps—Maj. Gen. Mathew B. Ridgeway.

Divisions.

First Infantry—Maj. Gen. Clift Andrus.

Second Infantry—Maj. Gen. Walter M. Robertson.

Third Armored—Name of commander not available.

Seventh Armored—Maj. Gen. Robert W. Hasbrouck.

Eighth Infantry—Brig. Gen. Bryant Moore.

Ninth Infantry—Maj. Gen. Louis A. Craig.

Sixty-ninth Infantry—Maj. Gen. Emil F. Reinhardt.

Seventy-eighth Infantry — Maj. Gen. Edwin P. Parker.

Eighty-second Airborne — Maj. Gen. James M. Gavin.

Ninty-ninth Infantry—Maj. Gen. Walter Lauer.

Hundred and Fourth Infantry—Maj. Gen. Terry Allen.

Hundred and Sixth Infantry—Maj. Gen. Donald A. Stroh.

Twenty-eighth Infantry — Maj. Gen. Norman D. Cota.

22,000 Freed Yanks To Return This Month As Army Speeds Work

By the Associated Press.

About 22,000 American soldiers liberated from Germany in the closing stages of the war will be back in the United States by the end of this month.

Others of the 100,000 held by Germany as the collapse came will be sent home as swiftly as possible, the War Department says. The men are coming back both by air transport and ships.

Col. Albert L. Warner, war Intelligence Division chief, explains that many of the men were released in camps deep in Germany and others in areas into which the Russians advanced.

Strain on Facilities.

They are being moved as rapidly as possible to American camps where medical attention, good food and part of their back pay await them.

"The limitations on transport and communication facilities inside Germany make for delay in hearing from some of the liberated men," Col. Warner says. "Every facility at the War Department command is being used to expedite reports.

"In addition to the official notifications, which the adjutant general is sending to the next of kin as soon as the names are received at the War Department, each prisoner now is being authorized to send one personally composed message, free of charge, over Army signal facilities, to insure that some word is received by the families of these men as soon as possible. Commercial telegraph facilities and the mails are also open to liberated prisoners, without restriction, to send word to their families. Also the Red Cross is expediting reports."

Special Section Speeds News.

The department said it had established a special repatriation section of the casualty branch to keep families informed of the movements of liberated prisoners, their return to their outfits or news of their expected arrival. In ports here, telegraph and telephone facilities are provided to expedite news of homecomings.

Department officials say that next of kin are notified as swiftly as possible, but that in some instances, where a liberated prisoner is in need of early treatment back home or at some rear area base overseas, he is hurried there immediately and that such details as notification are carried out later. As a result no estimates are available of the percentage of next-of-kin notifications.

Of all American soldiers reported prisoners in the various theaters since the start of the war, 19,876 have been listed as exchanged or returned to military control.

LEND-LEASE CUTS SEEN BY TRUMAN

MAY 22 1945

WASHINGTON, May 22 — (AP) President Truman told congress today reductions in war production and lend-lease "will be possible even as we and our Allies throw augmented forces into the decisive offensives against the Japanese."

The United States, Britain and Canada are coordinating their reconversion plans, the President said in the 19th report on lend-lease operations, so their industries will share equitably in the continuing war.

"Such adjustments must remain subject, of course," he said, "to the overriding consideration of maintaining the most effective flow of war supplies to win total victory over Japan."

Mr. Truman reported that the United States furnished its Allies with a total of $38,971,797,000 in goods and services under lend-lease, from the time it was started, March 11, 1941, to March 31, 1945. In the same time, reverse lend-lease to this country was estimated at $4,656,315,000.

In stating that the lend-lease program has been reduced to take account of the end of European hostilities and adjusted to the new military situation, the President made no mention of Russia, which is at peace with Japan. However, he said:

"Future programs of lend-lease aid will continue to be based, as in the past, on the controlling consideration of the most effective prosecution of the war."

U.S. Speeds Relief For West Europe

Washington, May 22 (AP)—President Truman tonight set the machinery in motion to speed civilian supplies to liberated nations of western Europe.

In letters to four Government agencies he ordered that, so far as feasible, priority be granted for the "minimum civilian requirements" of France, Belgium, Holland and other countries ravaged by war.

Follows Rosenman Report

In effect, the White House action translated into official Government policy the recommendations of Samuel I. Rosenman, special assistant to the President, in Rosenman's recent report on rehabilitation and relief needs of the liberated areas.

Food, fuel and the transportation equipment to haul them are foreseen as the major needs of a continent which some officials believe is heading into the coldest and perhaps the hungriest winter since the start of war.

While the task of helping feed western Europe already has bitten into home-front food supplies in the form of recently reduced American rations of sugar, fats and oils, a WPB spokesman said that the "hard-goods" requirements of Europe should be met with comparative ease.

Effect On U.S. Small

John D. Small, chairman of WPB's committee on industrial controls, said:

"As far as railroad equipment, farm machinery, pumps for Holland, and machinery for rehabilitating European industry are concerned, the shipments should take only a fractional part of United States production and should neither delay reconversion nor affect the domestic economy."

Rosenman's report, cited in the Truman letters, said that, just as the United States has been the largest producer of the United Nations in wartime, "so will it naturally be looked to as the principal source of civilian supplies for these countries."

The President then added: "It is the established policy of this Government to accept this responsibility as far as it is possible to do so."

Calls For Priorities

"As a matter of national policy, therefore," he continued, "I request your agency to grant the priority necessary to meet the minimum civilian requirements of those of our allies who have been ravaged by the enemy, to the fullest extent that the successful prosecution of military operations and the maintenance of our domestic economy permit."

The letter went to Chairman J. A. Krug, of WPB; Marvin Jones, War Food Administrator; Chairman Leo T. Crowley, of the Committee on Foreign Shipments, and Harold L. Ickes, Solid Fuels Administrator for War.

DEUTSCH CASE CALLED 'DEAD'

House Review Of Contempt Proceedings Deferred

MAY 22 1945

Washington, May 22 (AP)—Amid indications that the case is dead, the House Veterans Committee today deferred reconsideration of its contempt proceedings against Albert Deutsch, reporter for the New York newspaper PM.

The matter will not be presented to the House until the committee again has considered it, Committee Chairman Rankin (D., Miss.) said. Earlier a high Administration man said he had told Rankin the contempt citation "wouldn't get 75 votes if it reached the floor" of the House.

The committee last Friday recommended that Deutsch be held in contempt after he refused to identify Veterans' Administration officials who gave him information used in articles criticizing the medical program for war veterans.

Rankin's Disclosure

Before the committee's action can become effective, however, it must be approved by the House in the form of a resolution turning over the case to the local Federal district court.

Rankin told reporters today he did not expect to take up the case "for several days." Asked specifically when it would be brought to the House, he said he did not know, adding that before anything is done he would consult the committee.

Rankin's disclosure came after Representative Rogers of Massachusetts, ranking Republican member, told reporters the Deutsch case "is dead," following a closed committee meeting late today. Other committee members expressed the same opinion.

Question Another Writer

Earlier, Mrs. Rogers said she would press for reconsideration of the 13-to-5 vote by which the committee acted last Friday.

The committee spent four hours today questioning Albert Q. Maisel, writer of several articles in monthly magazines, concerning information on which he based sharp criticism of the Veterans' Administration's medical program.

At the conclusion of the first day of his testimony, the 36-year-old New Yorker was accused by Rankin of having "gone a long way toward discrediting the greatest system of veterans' hospitals the world has ever known.

Based On Impressions

Under close questioning by Representatives Gibson (D., Ga.) and Scrivner (R., Kan.), Maisel acknowledged he could not prove his published statements that many veterans hospital doctors could not hold jobs elsewhere; that they had "sneered" at veterans' requests for surgical treatment, and that they had shown a "callous" attitude toward patients.

Those conclusions he insisted, were based on his own impressions after a first-hand investigation of many veterans' hospitals.

Maisel said food was served so cold that 400 patients at the Castle Point, N.Y., tuberculosis hospital signed a complaint against it.

Patients Complained

He asserted also that patients had complained on exorbitant fees charged for cashing Government checks. He charged that, over his protest, a mental patent at the Lyons (N.J.) hospital had been given the new "shock treatment" for demonstration purposes.

During his inspection at Lyons, he said, several patients lay on the floor outside the physiotherapy room awaiting treatment while the clinical director received a facial treatment. The official's explanation, Maisel said, was that the treatment "would do him as much good as it would the patients."

Questioning Pointed

Questioning of Maisel became so pointed and persistent as to details at one point that the writer of "Third Rate Medicine For First Rate Men" told the committee he believed it was "quibbling over words" and "the meaning of the English language."

When Representative Cunningham (R., Iowa) announced that he had visited several hospitals during the Easter recess and had interviewed 500 patients, all of whom "resented" Maisel's articles, Maisel suggested that conditions had been changed since publication of his articles and public announcement that Congress was investigating.

100,000 Ships Added to Navy During the War

It Will Need 10,000 New Officers a Year in Future, Senator Walsh Reveals

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP).—The United States Navy, world's biggest, now has almost as many shitps and boats as it had men in 1938.

This was disclosed today with the announcement that 100,000 vessels of all categories have been added to the force of 7,695 which existed on Dec. 7, 1941—the day the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor. In 1938, the fleet had only 109,065 officers and men.

The 100,000 craft include 1,500 combatant ships of the lines; 82,266 landing ships and craft and 557 auxiliaries. The rest consists of patrol and mine craft and small boats.

The Navy wants 10,000 new officers a year after the war, it was disclosed today.

Senator David I. Walsh, Democrat, of Massachusetts, chairman of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, revealed these post-war plans at a committee hearing in which approval was given to a bill increasing to fifteen the Annapolis quota for the District of Columbia.

The academy now has 3,100 enrollees. Senator Walsh said the Navy wants to double that.

"The plans now call for 10,000 young ensigns a year," he said.

HEAVY ORATORY LAUNCHES HOUSE TARIFF BATTLE

WASHINGTON, May 22 — (AP) Democrats shouted today that the tariff vote will test whether congress wants world cooperation or isolationism. Republicans fired back that administration lower tariff proposals are "imbecilic and fantastic."

With heavy oratorical barrages, the House took up an issue as old as the two political parties—and party lines again were drawn tight.

Rep. Doughton (D-NC), 81-year-old Ways and Means committee chairman, opened for the Democrats, calling for enactment of legislation giving President Truman broad new postwar power to cut tariffs in reciprocal trade agreements with other nations. He declared:

MAY 22 1945

"We can talk our heads off about world cooperation at Dumbarton Oaks, at San Francisco, or other points of the compass, but an inclination for action is a lot more convincing to our Allies with whom we must work out a more permanent and secure peace.

"Our vote on this bill will be the first real test as to whether or not we are willing to participate in international cooperation or revert to a policy of economic and political isolation."

Rep. Knutson (R-Minn) set off the Republican attack, declaring that this "tumble-weed variety," of reciprocity makes "Uncle Sam a glorified Santa Claus," an "Uncle Sap" to the rest of the world.

The State department, meanwhile, threw new administration weight into support of the measure. Acting Secretary Grew said in a statement that "the fate of the reciprocal trade agreements act may well tip the balance" toward "narrow economic nationism," or "the opposite goal of lowered barriers, more trade, greater productivity and greater material well-being."

Knutson said the State department's "give-away-our-markets" program is an "imbecilic and fantastic one-way trade program" that will put American workers in competition with low paid foreign labor, and result in unemployment in this country.

MANSFIELD EXPECTS RUSSIAN WAR IN EAST

WASHINGTON, May 22 (AP)—Representative Mike Mansfield, Democrat, of Montana, predicted today that Russia would join the war against Japan.

Mr. Mansfield added that unless China was unified soon, such a development might split China into two separate states. Disunity in China is so great, he said—he recently served as a personal observer for the late President Roosevelt in the India-Burma-China theatre—that it may force this country to switch its strategy in the war with Japan.

If China is not unified, he declared, "it is quite possible that we will shift our plans for beachheads on the China coast to a direct assault on the Japanese home islands themselves." Mr. Mansfield said that Russia's entry into the conflict might produce these two Chinese states:
